Chapter 1

Description of Lingodbhava form

नमो रुद्राय हरये ब्रह्मणे परमात्मने ।

प्रधानपुरुषेशाय सर्गस्थित्यंतकारिणे ॥१॥

Salutation to Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva, who are the cause of the creation, sustenance and destruction, who are the foremost and the lord of Puruṣa, being the supreme soul.

नारदोऽभ्यर्थ्य शैलेशो शङ्करं सङ्क्षेप्ते ।
हिरण्यगर्भं स्वर्लीने ह्यविमुक्ते महालये ॥२॥
रौद्रे गोप्रेक्षके चैव श्रेष्ठे पाशुपते तथा ।
विघ्नेश्वरे च केदारे तथा गोमयुकेश्वरे ॥३॥
हिरण्यगर्भं चंद्रेशो ईशान्ये च त्रिविष्टे ।
शुक्रेश्वरे यथान्यायं नैमिषं प्रययौ मुनिः ॥४॥

Once, the sage Nārada, after adoring Śiva at the sacred places like Śaileśa, Saṅgameśvara, Hiranyagarbha, Svarlīna, Avimukta, Mahālaya, Raudra, Goprekṣaka, Pāśupata, Vighneśvara, Kedāra, Gomayūkeśvara, Hiranyagarbha, Chandreśa, Iśanya, Triviṣṭapa, Śukreśvara and other holy places, reached the sacred place of Naimiṣāraṇya.

नैमिषेयास्तदा दृष्टा नारदं हृष्टमानसः ।
समभ्यच्छासनं तस्मै तदोग्रं समकल्पयन् ॥५॥

The people of Naimiṣa felt delighted on the arrival of Nārada. They honoured him well after welcoming him and provided him with an appropriate seat.

सोपि हष्टे मुनिवरैर्दत्तं भेजे तदासनम् ।
संपूज्यमानो मुनिभिः सुखासीनो वरासने ॥६॥
चक्रे कथां विचित्रार्था लिङ्गमहात्म्यमाश्रिताम् ।
एतस्मिन्नेव काले तु सूतः पौराणिकः स्वयम् ॥७॥
जगाम नैमिषं धीमान् प्रणामार्थं तपस्विनाम् ।
तस्मै साम पूजां च यथावच्चक्रिरे तदा ॥८॥

Nārada also took his seat delightfully so provided to him. Having been thus adored by the sages appropriately, Nārada discussed with them wonderful stories, together with the glory of the Sivalingas. At the same time, the sage Sūta, who was well-versed in the Purāṇas himself arrived in order to worship the sages, in the Naimiṣāraṇya. The dwellers of Naimiṣāraṇya welcomed him with the recitations of stutis and songs, because he happened to be the pupil of (Romaharṣayaṇa) Krṣṇadvaipāyana Vyāsa. Therefore, all the sages of Naimiṣa became desirous of listening to the stories of the Purāṇas. Then they enquired from the sage Sūta about the glory of Sivaliṅga as propounded in the Purāṇas.

नैमिषेयास्तु शिष्याय कृष्णद्वैपायनस्य तु ।
अथ तेषां पुराणस्य शुश्रूषा समपद्यत ॥९॥
दृष्टा तमतिविश्वस्तं विद्वांसं रोमहर्षणम् ।
अपृच्छंश्च ततः सूतमृषिं सर्वे तपोधनाः ॥१०॥

The dwellers of Naimiṣa said—

O immensely learned sage Sūta, you, in order to achieve the knowledge of the Purāṇas eulogised the sage Kṛṣṇa Dvaipāyana Vyāsa and acquired from him the deep knowledge of the stories of the Purāṇas. O sage, well-versed in the Purāṇas, we would like to hear from you the stories about the glory of Śivalīngas as propounded in the Purāṇas. Nārada, the great son of Brahmā, has arrived here after going on pilgrimage to the sacred places of Rudra and worshipping all the auspicious Śivalīngas there. You are a devotee of lord Rudra, we and the sage Nārada are also devoted to lord Rudra. It would, therefore, be quite appropriate that in the presence of the sage Nārada, you conduct discourse on the importance and glory of Śivalīngas as brought out in the Purāṇas, because you have achieved everything relating to dharma and you must be possessing the best of the knowledge for the same.

सफलं साधितं सर्वं भवता विदितं भवेत्।
एवमुक्तः स हष्टात्मा सूतः पौराणिकोत्तमः॥१६॥
अभिवाद्याग्रतो धीमात्रादं ब्रह्मणः सुतम्।

नैमिषेयांश्च पुण्यात्मा पुराणं व्याजहार सः॥१७॥

When so addressed by the sages, Sūta, the foremost of the glorious orators on Purāṇas, was immensely delighted at heart. Then, the virtuous Sūta first of all bowed in reverence to Nārada, the son of Brahmā. Then, he also bowing in reverence to all the ascetics present there, started reciting the Purāṇa.

सूत उवाच

नमस्कृत्य महादेवं ब्रह्माणं च जनार्दनम्।
मुनीश्वरं तथा व्यासं वक्तुं लिङ्गं स्मराम्यहम्॥१८॥

Sūta said—

Before reciting the Liṅga Purāṇa, I bow in reverence to Śiva, Brahmā and Viṣṇu and then offer my salutation to the sage Vyāsa.

शब्दब्रह्मतनुं साक्षाच्छब्दब्रह्मप्रकाशकम्।
वर्णाच्चियमव्यक्तलक्षणं बहुधा स्थितम्॥१९॥
अकारोकारमकारं स्थूलं सूक्ष्मं परात्परम्।

सर्गप्रतिष्ठासंहारलीलार्थं लिङ्गरूपिणम्।
प्रणम्य च यथान्यायं वक्ष्ये लिङ्गोद्भवं शुभम्॥२४॥

I bow in reverence to Parameśvara, whose body is Śabda-Brahman, who exposes Śabda Brahma, whose limbs are indestructible, whose virtues remain un-exposed, but who exposes himself as Vidhi (or destiny) who is formed by the mystic syllable Om, the one who is gross as well subtle, who is greater than the greatest, whose form is represented in Om, whose face is Rgveda, the tongue is Sāmaveda, the throat is Yajurveda and the heart is represented in Atharvaveda. The one who is Īśvara— beyond Pradhāna and Puruṣa. Who is beyond birth and death, the one who having been influenced with tamoguṇa is represented as Kālarudra, when influenced with rajoguṇa is represented as Brahmā, and when influenced with sattvaguṇa is represented by the all-pervading Viṣṇu, who inspite of being devoid of the three guṇas is known as Maheśvara, the one who while pervading in form of Pradhāna displays himself initially in seven forms, then in sixteen and finally in the twenty six forms. The one who is the main root of Brahmā, and the one who indulges in the sport of the creation, preservation and destruction of the universe, taking to the form of Śivalīṅga. I bow in reverence with devotion to the same lord Parameśvara and then recite the auspicious Litiga Purāṇa.

इति श्रीलिङ्गमहापुराणे पूर्वभागे लिङ्गोद्घवप्रतिज्ञावर्णनं
नाम प्रथमोध्यायः॥१॥

Sūta said—

In earlier times, the excellent Litiga Purāṇa was created by Brahmā himself, which was based on the incidents occurred in the Isānakalpa. Basically it had a crore of chandas (metres). Subsequently, in the age of Dvāpara, it was classified into eighteen parts, at the start of which is Brahmāṇḍa Purāṇa. The Litiga Purāṇa happens to be the eleventh of the eighteen parts. This is what has been heard by me from the sage Vyāsa.

अस्यैकादशसाहस्रे ग्रंथमानमिह द्विजाः ।
तस्मात्संक्षेपतो ब्रह्मे न श्रुतं विस्तरेण यत्॥४॥

O Brahmavādins, the number of metres in this Purāṇa runs to eighteen thousand. I shall describe them in brief, because I have not heard about them in detail.

चतुर्लक्षेण संक्षिसे कृष्णद्वौपायनेन तु ।
अस्यैकादशसाहस्रैः कथितो लिङ्गसंभवः॥५॥

This Purāṇa was briefed by Kṛṣṇadvaipāyana Vyāsa in four thousand metres, then the Litiga Purāṇa was summarised in eleven thousand metres.

सर्गः प्राधानिकः पश्चात् प्राकृतो वैकृतानि च ।
अण्डस्यास्य च संभूतिरण्डस्यावरणाष्टकम्॥६॥

The detail of the first and the second creation is there and then there is the mention of the globe having been covered with eight layers.

अण्डोद्भवत्वं शर्वस्य रजोगुणसमाश्रयात् ।
विष्णुत्वं कालरुद्रत्वं शयनं चाप्सु तस्य च॥७॥

Then Brahmā emerged out of the globe. Viṣṇu emerged out of rajoguṇa besides Rudra. There is also a mention of Viṣṇu's sleeping in the oceanic waters.

प्रजापतीनां सर्गश्च पृथिव्युद्धरणं तथा ।

Primary creation

सूत उवाच

अलिङ्गो लिङ्गमूलं तु अव्यक्तं लिङ्गमुच्यते ।
अलिङ्गः शिव इत्युक्तो लिङ्गं शैवमिति स्मृतम्॥१॥

Sūta said—

Absolute is the base of the one possessed of qualities. The apparent Prakṛti possesses qualities, while Śiva is absolute, but Prakṛti is believed to be linked with Śiva.

प्रधानं प्रकृतिश्वेति यदाहुर्लिङ्गमुत्तमम् ।
गंधवर्णरसैर्हीनं शब्दस्पर्शादिवर्जितम्॥२॥
अगुणं धूवमक्षय्यमलिङ्गं शिवलक्षणम् ।
गंधवर्णरसैर्युक्तं शब्दस्पर्शादलक्षणम्॥३॥
जगद्योनि महाभूतं स्थूलं सूक्ष्मं द्विजोत्तमाः ।
विग्रहो जगतां लिङ्गमलिङ्गादभवत्स्वयम्॥४॥

Saguṇa or the one with qualities is called Pradhāna or Prakṛti. But Śiva is absolute, devoid of fragrance, colour, taste, sound, touch, who is stable and eternal (on the other hand). Pradhāna or Prakṛti possess fragrance, colour, taste, sound and touch. O Best of the Brāhmaṇas, this is the source of the origin of the universe and is found in gross and subtle forms. This is the material form of the universe. As a simple form it originates from Nagana or absolute.

सप्तधाचाष्टधा चैव तथैकादशधा पुनः।
लिङ्गान्यलिङ्गस्य तथा मायया विततानि तु॥५॥

It was initially divided into seven parts, and then into eight and eleven parts. Thus, with the influence, the absolute becomes Saguṇa (possessing qualities).

तेभ्यः प्रधानदेवानां त्रयमासीच्छिवात्पकम्।
एकस्मात्रिष्वभूद्विश्वमेकेन परिरक्षितम्॥६॥
एकेनैव हतं विश्वं व्यासं त्वेवं शिवेन तु।
अलिङ्गं चैव लिङ्गं च लिङ्गालिङ्गानि मूर्तयः॥७॥
यथावत्कथिताश्चैव तस्माद्ब्रह्म स्वयं जगत्।
अलिङ्गी भगवान् बीजी स एव परमेश्वरः॥८॥
बीजं योनिश्च निर्बाजं निर्बाजो बीजमुच्यते।
बीजयोनिप्रधानानामात्माख्या वर्तते त्विह॥९॥

Out of them, a group of three gods emerged. Out of these three, the cosmos appeared out of one, the second one protects it and the third one destroys it. Thus, this universe pervades in Śiva. Thus, the Trimurti is divided into ītīga, alīṅga and ītīgālīṅga. Brahman is the cosmos himself. The Absolute Śiva is the source of the seed. The Parameśvara is the seed, the womb as well as without seed or the seed which does not sprout. The seed without sprout becomes the cause of cosmos. The word soul is used for the seed, the womb and for the invisible tattva.

परमात्मा मुनिर्बह्या नित्यबुद्धस्वभावतः।
विशुद्धोयं तथा रुद्रः पुराणे शिव उच्यते॥१०॥

The one who is known as Rudra, Brahmā and Viṣṇu is called Śiva in the Purāṇas. Therefore, it itself is eternal, resplendent and the pure Prakṛti.

शिवेन दृष्टा प्रकृतिः शैवी समभवद्विजाः।
सर्गादौ सा गुणैर्युक्ता पुराव्यक्ता स्वभावतः॥११॥

When Śiva maintains Prakṛti, he becomes

Saivī. O Brāhmaṇas, initially the Prakṛti was invisible but at the time of the start of creation, the same Prakṛti, in combination of the guṇas, takes to visible form.

अव्यक्तादिविशेषांतं विश्वं तस्याः समुच्छितम्।
विश्वधात्री त्वजाख्या च शैवी सा प्रकृतिः स्मृताः॥

The entire cosmos which starts from the invisible form and ends in gross form, is born of the same. Thus, the Saiva Prakṛti is the creator of the cosmos and is called unborn.

तामजां लोहिता शुक्लां कृष्णामेकां बहुप्रजाम्।
जनित्रीमनुशेते स्म जुषमाणः स्वरूपिणीम्॥१३॥
तामेवाजामजोऽन्यस्तु भुक्तभोगां जहाति च।
अजा जनित्री जगतां साजेन समधिष्ठिता॥१४॥

The individual soul is devotedly attached to the unborn Prakṛti of red, white and black colours, the aja (unborn) is single inspite of its being the mother of many. He resorts to her in her manifest form, and after enjoying, eschews her when he becomes unattached. This Prakṛti is the creator of worlds when presided over by Puruṣa.

प्रादुर्बभूव स महान् पुरुषाधिष्ठितस्य च।
अजाज्ञया प्रधानस्य सर्गकाले गुणैस्त्रिभिः॥१५॥

Mahat was developed at the time of creation at the instance of Puruṣa out of Pradhāna, consisting of three guṇas and was presided over by Puruṣa.

सिसृक्षया चोद्यमानः प्रविश्याव्यक्तमव्ययम्।
व्यक्तसृष्टिं विकुरुते चात्मनाधिष्ठितो महान्॥१६॥

With the urge to create, the Mahat being presided over by Puruṣa, enters the unchanging unmanifest Pradhāna and creates the manifest.

महतस्तु तथा वृत्तिः सङ्कल्पाध्यवसायिकाः।
महतस्त्रिगुणस्तस्मादहङ्कारो रजोधिकः॥१७॥

तेनैव चावृतः सम्यगहङ्कारस्तमोधिकः।
महतो भूततन्मात्रं सर्गकृद्धै बभूव च॥१८॥

Out of Mahat evolved (i) Sāttvika ahārīkāra, characterised by the conception and determination, besides (ii) Rajas ahārīkāra consisting of three guṇas, but rajas was prominent out of them, and (iii) tamasa ahārīkāra in which tamas was prominent. The subtle elements emerging out of Mahat became the nucleus of all creation.

अहङ्कारच्छब्दमात्रं तस्मादाकाशमव्ययम्।
सशब्दमात्रोत्पश्चादाकाशं शब्दकारणम्॥१९॥

The sound of the subtle element emerged out of ego and from it emerged the unchanging ether. Thereafter, the ego, the cause of sound enveloped the ether.

तन्मात्राद्भूतसर्गश्च द्विजास्त्वेवं प्रकीर्तिः।
स्पर्शमात्रं तथाकाशात्तस्माद्वायुर्महान्मुने॥२०॥

O Brāhmaṇa, the creation of the gross elements from the subtle elements, is expounded in this manner. O great sages, the subtle elements ‘touch’ evolved out of the ether and the air evolved out of the same.

तस्माच्च रूपमात्रं तु ततोग्निश्च रसस्ततः।
रसादापः शुभास्ताभ्यो गंधमात्रं धरा ततः॥२१॥

From the air evolved the subtle element colour and from these emerged Agni (fire), from where evolved the subtle element taste, whence the water. From these evolved the subtle element smell and from it the earth.

आवृणोद्धृतथाकाशं स्पर्शमात्रं द्विजोत्तमाः।
आवृणोदूपमात्रं तु वायुर्वाति क्रियात्मकः॥२२॥
आवृणोद्रसमात्रं वै देवः साक्षाद्विभावसुः।
आवृण्वाना गंधमात्रमापः सर्वरसात्मिकाः॥२३॥

O Excellent Brāhmaṇa, the ether enveloped the subtle element touch. The air with the activity of blowing, enveloped the subtle element colour. The fire enveloped the subtle element, the waters having the nature of taste, enveloped the subtle element smell.

क्षमा सा पञ्चगुणा तस्मादेकोना रससंभवाः।
त्रिगुणो भगवान्विद्विगुणः स्पर्शसंभवः॥२४॥
अवकाशस्ततो देव एकमात्रस्तु निष्कलः।
तन्मात्राद्भूतसर्गश्च विज्ञेयश्च परस्परम्॥२५॥

Therefore, the earth comprises of five qualities; the waters have four, the fire has three, the air has two and the ether has one quality. Thus, the creation of elements originated from the subtle elements through their mutual interaction.

वैकारिकः सात्त्विको वै युगपत्संप्रवर्तते।
सर्गस्तथाप्यहङ्कारदेवमत्र प्रकीर्तिः॥२६॥

The Vaikārika and the Sāttvika creation takes place simultaneously, yet, here it is explained as having been evolved gradually in the aforesaid manner.

पञ्च बुद्धाद्रियाण्यस्य पञ्च कर्मेन्द्रियाणि तु।
शब्दादीनामवात्पर्य मनश्चैवोभयात्मकम्॥२७॥

For the purpose of perceiving sound and the rest, there are five organs of senses and five organs of action. Mind is also a sense, belongs to both the categories. The eleven senses evolve out of ego.

महादादिविशेषांता ह्यण्डमुत्पादयन्ति च।
जलबुद्बुदवत्समादवतीर्णः पितामहः॥२८॥

The constituents of creation, beginning with Mahat or intellect and ending with Viśeṣa (earth) generates the cosmic egg where from Brahmā, arose like the water bubble.

स एव भगवान् रुद्रो विष्णुविश्वगतः प्रभुः।
तस्मिन्नण्डे त्विमे लोका अंतर्विश्वमिदं जगत्॥२९॥

He alone is Rudra and Viṣṇu pervading the universe. These worlds are enshrined in the cosmic egg and the universe is lodged within that cosmic egg.

The cosmic egg is externally enveloped in water, ten times its magnitude. The water is externally enveloped by fire ten times its mass. The fire is externally enveloped by air, ten times its mass. The air is externally enveloped by the ether, ten time its magnitude. The ether is enveloped by ego, the cause of sound. The ego is enveloped by intellect and the intellect is enveloped by Pradhāna. They say that the cosmic egg has seven coverings, in which Brahmā is seated on lotus. There are crores and crores of eggs in existence.

तत्रतत्र चतुर्वक्त्रा ब्रह्माणो हरयो भवाः ।
 सृष्टाः प्रधानेन तदा लब्ध्वा शंभोस्तु संनिधिम् ॥ ३४ ॥

In all these cosmic eggs, there are lodged four faced Brahmās, Viṣṇus and Rudras, who all were created by Pradhāna, after coming into contact with Śiva.

लयश्वैव तथान्योन्यमांघतमिति कीर्तितम् ।

The dissolution is also mutual, but it begins from the end and goes upto the beginning. The great lord is the sole agent for this creation, sustenance and dissolution.

सर्गेच रजसा युक्तः सत्त्वस्थः प्रतिपालने ।
 प्रतिसर्गे तमोद्रिक्तः स एव त्रिविधः क्रमात् ॥ ३६ ॥

In creation, he is endowed with rajas, in sustenances with sattva and with tamas in dissolution. He alone possesses the subtle nature in due order.

आदिकर्ता च भूतानां संहर्ता परिपालकः ।

 प्राकृतः कथितस्त्वेष पुरुषाधिष्ठितो नाया ।
 सर्गश्वाबुद्धिपूर्वस्तु द्विजाः प्राथमिकः शुभः ॥ ३९ ॥

He is the first creator of all beings besides being their protector and the destroyer. So, the lord Maheśvara is the lord of Brahmā. He is also known as Śiva, Sadāśiva, Bhava, Viṣṇu and Brahmā, since he is all. All the worlds are lodged in the egg and so is the creator Brahmā. Thus, the elemental creation of Prakṛti has been described by me. It is presided by Puruṣa; O Brāhmaṇas, this auspicious creation with intellect (Mahat) at top is primordial.

Start of creation

सूत उवाच

अथ प्राथमिकस्येह यः कालस्तदहः स्मृतम्।

सर्गस्य तादृशी रात्रिः प्राकृतस्य समाप्तः॥१॥

दिवा सृष्टि विकुरुते रजन्यां प्रलयं विभुः।

औपचारिकमस्यैतदहोरात्रं न विद्यते॥२॥

Sūta said—

The period of the duration of the natural creation is said to be a day of Brahmā. There is the similar period for the night as well. The lord resorts to creation during the day time and the dissolution comes at night. He for himself has neither a day nor a night in true sense of the term. The term of day and the night is used in a secondary sense.

दिवा विकृतयः सर्वे विकारा विश्वदेवताः।
प्रजानां पतयः सर्वे तिष्ठत्यन्ये महर्षयः॥३॥
रात्रौ सर्वे प्रलीयंते निशांते संभवंति च।
अहस्तु तस्य वैकल्पो रात्रिस्ताद्विग्निधा स्मृता॥४॥
चतुर्युगसहस्रांते मनवस्तु चतुर्दश।
चत्वारि तु सहस्राणि वत्सराणां कृतं द्विजाः॥५॥
तावच्छती च वै संध्या संध्यांशश्च कृतंस्य तु।
त्रिशती द्विशती संध्या तथा चैकशती क्रमात्॥६॥

During the day, all the Vikṛtis – the Viśvedevas, the Prajāpatis, and the sages stay by. During the night, all of them are dissolved. They are created again at the end of the night. His one day constitutes one kalpa. His night too stands for another kalpa. There are fourteen Manus by the time a thousand sets of four yugas come to a close. O Brāhmaṇas, the Kṛtyuga consists of four thousand years. Four hundred, three hundred, two hundred and a hundred years respectively, constitute the period of transition both at the beginning and end of the yuga.

अंशकः षट्शतं तस्मात्कृतसंध्यांशकं विना।

मर्त्यस्य चाक्षणोमत्स्याश्च ततस्त्रिंशतिका कला।

कलात्रिंशतिको विप्रा मुहूर्त इति कल्पितः॥९॥

The amśaka, therefore, is one-sixth of the duration of each yuga. The period of duration of Tretā, Dvāpara and Kaliyuga is respectively three thousand, two thousand and a thousand years without their amśaka parts. That of Kṛta has been mentioned above. The men of holy rites, fifteen winks in the eyes of a man of normal health, in normal condition constitute a Kāṣṭhā. Thirty such Kāṣṭhas make a Kalā. Thirty such Kalās make one Muhūrta.

The night contains fifteen such Muhūrtas and the day another such Muhūrtas. A lunar month according to human reckoning constitutes the night and the day of Pitṛs. Divided further, the dark half constitutes the day and the bright half constitutes their night, when they go to sleep. Thirty human months make one month of the Pitṛs. The period of three hundred and sixty months calculated according to human reckoning make one year of Pitṛs.

मानुषेणैव मानेन वर्षाणां यच्छतं भवेत्।

A hundred years when calculated according to human reckoning, make three years of Pitṛs.

दश वै द्वयधिका मासाः पितृसंख्येह संस्मृता।
लौकिकेनैव मानेन अब्दो यो मानुषः स्मृतः॥१४॥

On the other hand, the twelve months

according to human calculation make one year (of the mortals), while twelve months of the manes, according to their own calculations, make one year (of the mortals). Twelve months of the manes (according to their own calculation) constitutes their one year.

एतद्विष्महोरात्रमिति लैङ्गेऽत्र पठ्यते ।
दिव्ये रात्र्यहनी वर्षं प्रविभागस्तयोः पुनः॥१५॥

As per Liṅga Purāṇa, one human year constitutes the period of day and night for the manes. Their days, nights and years and their further divisions are as follows.

अहस्तत्रोदगयनं रात्रिः स्याद्विक्षिणायनम् ।
एते रात्र्यहनी दिव्ये प्रसंख्याते विशेषतः॥१६॥

The period of Uttarāyana (northern transit of the sun) is the day for the manes, the period of Dakṣināyana (southern transit of the sun) constitutes their night. These days and nights are calculated in accordance with the reckoning of the Devas.

Thirty human years constitute a divine month. O Brāhmaṇas, a hundred human years constitute three divine months and ten days. Three hundred and sixty human years constitute a divine year. Three thousand and thirty human years constitute a year of the seven sages. Nine thousand and ninety years, according to human calculation, make a year of Dhruva. Thirty six thousand human years make a century of divine years. The people who are well-versed in arithmetic say that three hundred and sixty thousand years of humans, constitute the period of a thousand divine years.

The duration of a yuga is calculated according to the divine reckoning. The first yuga is known as Kṛta; thereafter comes Tretā and then Dvāpara and Kali. O men of holy rites, these are the names of the four yugas. Hence for the number of years of each yuga, which have been mentioned earlier in the divine reckoning are now being counted according to the human reckoning. The Kṛta consists of one million and four hundred forty thousand human years. Tretā is of one million and eight hundred thousand years. Dvāpara is of seven hundred twenty thousand years, while Kali is of three hundred and sixty thousand years. Thus, the duration of four yugas, without the period of junction and transition totals to three million, six hundred thousand human years. In case, the Sandhyā periods are also added, the set of four yugas will consist of four million, three hundred and twenty thousand years. A little over seventy one sets of four yugas - Kṛta, Tretā, Dvāpara and Kali, constitute a Manvantara. The number of human years in a manvantara are thirty crores six million seven hundred and twenty thousand. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the period of a manvantara, according to this Purāṇa is not more than this.

चतुर्युगस्य च तथा वर्षसंख्याप्रकीर्तिता ।

चतुर्युगसहस्रं वै कल्पश्वैको द्विजोत्तमाः ॥३६॥

The number of years in one set of four yugas have been mentioned earlier. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, a thousand such sets of yugas constitute a Kalpa (of Brahmā).

निशांते सृजते लोकान् नश्यन्ते निशि जंतवः ।

तत्र वैमानिकानां तु अष्टाविंशतिकोटयः ॥३७॥

During the night of Brahmā, the creatures perish; at the end of night, they are created again. There are twenty eight crores of gods who move in the aerial chariots.

मन्वंतरेषु वै संख्या सांतरेषु यथातथा ।

त्रीणि कोटिशतान्यासन् कोट्यो द्विनवतिस्तथा ॥३८॥

During the manvantaras and the intermediary periods, their number is increased to three hundred and ninety two crores.

कल्पेऽतीते तु वै विप्राः सहस्राणां तु सप्ततिः ।

कल्पावसानिकांस्त्यक्ता प्रलये समुपस्थिते ।

महर्लोकात् प्रयांत्येते जनलोकं जनास्ततः ॥४०॥

O Brāhmaṇas, during the last kalpa, their number came down to seventy eight thousand. In all the kalpas, this remains the position in brief. When the dissolution becomes imminent, the people abandon the persons surviving on the last day of the kalpa and go to Janaloka from the Mahar world.

कोटीनां द्वे सहस्रे तु अष्टौ कोटिशतानि तु ।

कल्पार्धसंख्या दिव्या वै कल्पमेवं तु कल्पयेत् ।

कल्पानां वै सहस्रं तु सर्वमेकमजस्य तु ॥४२॥

The number of years in half a kalpa by the divine calculation is two thousand eight hundred and sixty two crores and seven millions. The kalpa too shall be similarly calculated. A thousand such make a year of Brahmā.

वर्षाणामष्टसाहस्रं ब्राह्मं वै ब्रह्मणो युगम् ।

सवनं युगसाहस्रं सर्वदेवोद्भवस्य तु ॥४३॥

Eight thousand years of Brahmā make his yuga. A thousand yugas of Brahmā constitute a Savana.

सवनानां सहस्रं तु त्रिविधं त्रिगुणं तथा ।

Nine thousand such Savanas constitute a day of Rudra.

O great sages, the names of the kalpas of Brahmā are given here, which are Bhavodbhava, tapas, Bhavya, Śambha, Kratu, Rtu, Vahni, Havyavāha, Sāvitra, Majjāliya, Madhyama, Vairāja, Niśāda, Mukhya, Meghavāhana, Pañcama, Citraka, Ākūti, Jñāna, Manas, Sudarśa, Br̥hma, Śvetalohita, Rakta, Pītavāsa, Asita and Sarvarūpaka. O excellent sages, thousands and crores of such kalpas have already elapsed.

गतानि तावच्छेषाणि अहनिश्यानि वै पुनः ।
परांते वै विकाराणि विकारं यांति विश्वतः ॥५०॥

At the end of a kalpa, whatever remains of creation produced during day and night is destroyed.

लीलया देवदेवेन वर्गास्त्वीदृग्विधाः । कृताः ॥५३॥

The destruction is subject to the behest of lord Śiva. When the creation is annihilated and the Pradhāna is stationed in itself, both Pradhāna and Puruṣa come to a stand still or remain inactive. O Brāhmaṇas, it is only when the three guṇas are not in equilibrium that the creation takes place. When they are in equilibrium, the creation is dissolved. The great lord is the cause of both. The creation is effected by him sportily in this manner.

असंख्याताश्च संक्षेपात् प्रधानादन्वधिष्ठितात् ।
असंख्याताश्च कल्पाख्या ह्यसंख्याताः पितामहाः ॥

अप्राकृतस्य तस्यादिर्मध्यांतं नास्ति चात्मनः ॥५६॥

Such creations through the agency Pradhāna are innumerable. The kalpas together with Brahmās and Viṣṇus, are innumerable. But lord Śiva is only one. The activities of Prakṛti, emerging from Pradhāna, are due to his support. The activities as characterised by guṇas are threefold and destructible, but the (uncreated) ātman has neither a beginning, nor middle nor an end.

पितामहस्याथ परः परार्धद्वयसंमितिः ।
दिवा सृष्टं तु यत्सर्वं निशि नश्यति चास्य तत् ॥५७॥

The life time of Brahmā is divided into two halves known as Parārdhas. What is created during his day time is destroyed during the night.

भूर्भुवः स्वर्महस्तत्र नश्यते चोर्ध्वतो न च ।

The worlds Bhur, Bhuvaḥ and Svar besides Mahar perish, only the worlds above remain intact. At night, when the mobile and the immobile perish, and a vast sheet of water spreads like a single ocean, Brahmā goes to sleep in the water. He is known as Nārāyaṇa. At the end of the night, he wakes up and beholds a void what used to be the world of mobile and immobile beings. Then he, the most excellent among the knowers of Brahman, decides to create. He assumes the form of a boar and lifts the earth submerged in the waters. He lifts it up and places it as before, together with all the rivers, rivulets and oceans.

With great effort, he makes the earth even and collects together all the mountains burned by fire on earth. Then he sets up the four worlds Bhuḥ etc. as before. He, being the lord creator, then decides to create everything afresh.

This creation of Brahmā, which is shrouded by ignorance, is declared to be the primary one, from which the creation of unmoveable (plants and mountains etc.) emerged. He considered this creation as incapable of causation. Still he thought of creation. While he thus meditated, his neck became horizontal.

At first, the horizontal creation called tiryaksrotas emerged from him, the next was the ūrdhvatasrotas, mainly characterised by goodness. Then came the avārkasrotas. Thereafter, emerged anugraha (emotions) and lastly the bhūtādi. The first creation of Brahmā is known as mahat, the second of tanmātras or bhautikas. The third was the sense organ as aindriya. The fourth was of the immoveables as mukhya, the fifth was of animals as tiryapyonis, the sixth of gods as daivikās. The seventh was of the mankind as mānuṣa, the eight (of emotions) anugraha, the ninth was of kumāras or kaumāras. There are Prākṛta and Vaikṛta creations as well.

O excellent sage, formerly, Brahmā created Sananda, Sanaka and Sanātana. By refraining from the worldly activities, they attained the Supreme Being. With his yogic exercise, he created Marīci, Bhṛgu, Aṅgiras, Pulastya, Pulaha, Kratu, Dakṣa, Atri and Vasiṣṭha. These nine sons of Brahmā were the knowers of Brahman and were the excellent Brāhmaṇas. They are known as the expounders of Brahman and were equivalent to Brahmā himself.

He got three more sons viz., Sanikalpa, Dharma and Adharma. Adharma always hovers round Dharma. There were, thus the twelve progenies of Brahmā of unknown origin.

The eternal lord had initially created R̥bhu and Sanatkumāra, who became the expounders of Brahman. Being free from the sexual desire, they remained bachelors and gained wisdom, equivalent to Brahmā. They were omniscient and possessed of all the merits. I shall now state the names of the wives of the Brāhmaṇical sages and the birth of their progenies, O excellent sages.

The lord created Virāja (Manu) and Śatarūpā as Virājanī, who was ayonijā or not born of a womb. She bore two sons and two daughters to Manu. The elder was known as Priyavrata and the younger as Uttānapāda. The elder daughter was known as Ākūti and the second one was known as Prasūti.

Prajāpati Ruci married Ākūti and Dakṣa married Prasūti – the mother of the worlds and the great yoginī. Ākūti gave birth to a son named Yajña and a daughter named Dakṣiṇā. Dakṣiṇā gave birth to twelve illustrious sons. Prasūti, who performed a great penance, gave birth to twenty four daughters from Dakṣa. They were known as Śraddhā, Lakṣmī, Dhṛti, Puṣṭi, Medhā, Kriyā, Buddhi, Lajjā, Vapus, Śānti, Siddhi, Kīrti, Khyāti, Satī, Sambhūti, Smṛti, Prīti, Kṣamā, Sannati, Anusūyā, Ūrjā, Svāhā, Araṇi and the virtuous Svadhā. All of them were duly married. The first thirteen daughters – Śraddhā to Kīrti, were married to Dharma. The intelligent Bhṛgu married Khyāti, Śukra or Bhārgava married Araṇi. Marīci married Sambhūti, Aṅgiras married Smṛti. Thereafter, Prīti was married to Pulastyā, Kṣamā to Pulaha, Sannati to Kratu, Anusūyā to Atri, Vasiṣṭha to Ūrjā, Svāhā to Vibhāvasu and Svadhā to Pitṛs.

Satī who was the mental creation of the lord was adopted as his daughter by Dakṣa. She being the mother of the world, attained Rudra as her husband. At the beginning of the creation, Brahmā had created Rudra, who possessed the body of half man and half woman. The creator then said to himself, “Divide yourself”, who then divided himself into two. It was then that she (Satī) was born.

तस्याश्वैवांशजाः सर्वाः स्त्रियस्त्रिभुवने तथा।
 एकादशविधा रुद्रास्तस्य चांशोद्भवास्तथा॥२९॥

All the women in the world are born of the same female part. Similarly all the eleven Rudras emerged out of his male part.

Everything feminine in gender is she herself and everything masculine is Rudra himself. Keeping Rudra in view, lord Brahmā looked at Brahmā and said – “Worship her as she is of good holy rites, the mother of all the worlds, of mine as well as yours. If the word Putrī is interpreted as the one who saves from the hell “Put”, she will become the excellent wife of Rudra and the mother of the universe. She will be your daughter known as Satī. Thus, urged by Brahmā, Dakṣa took her to be his daughter and respectfully gave her to Rudra in marriage.

The thirteen wives of Dharma, including Śraddhā and others, have already been mentioned. I shall now mention the progeny of Dharma from other wives in due order.

These are the offsprings of Dharma.

Dharma produced from Kriyā (activity) and Buddhi (intelligence), two sons known as Daṇḍa and Samaya (agreement) of the former, Apramāda (non-erring) and Adharma are fifteen in all. Bhṛgu's wife Khyāti gave birth to Śrī who became the spouse of Viṣṇu and two sons known as Dhātri and Vidyātri, who subsequently became the sons-in-law of Meru. Prabhūti, the wife of Marīci, gave birth to two sons. Pūrṇamāsa and Mārīcī and four daughters known by the names of Tuṣṭi, Dr̥ṣṭi, Kṛṣi and Apaciti.

Pulastya begot of Prīti, two sons, Dattorṇa and Vedabāhu, besides a daughter known as Dr̥ṣadvatī. Sannati, the wife of Kratu, gave birth to sixty thousand sons who were known as Bālakhilyas. Smṛti, the wife of Aṅgiras, gave birth to four daughters known as Sinīvālī, Kuhū, Rākā and Anumatī, after obtaining three sons known as Anubhāva, Agni and Kīrtimān.

Anasūyā, the wife of Atri, gave birth to six children including a daughter named Śruti and five sons known as Satyanetra, Bhavyamūrtī, Āpa, Śanaiścara and Soma. The sixth was Śruti as mentioned above. The affectionate mother Ūrjā bore to Vasiṣṭha seven handsome sons known as Rajas, Suhotra, Bāhu, Savana, Anagha, Śatapas and Śukra. To the god of fire who identifies himself with Rudra and is the eldest son of Brahmā, besides being the very life of the people, Svāhā bore three sons for the welfare of the three worlds.

The manes are of two types, viz. Yajvans and Ayajvans, Yajvans are also called Agniśvāttam while Ayajvans are called Barhiṣads as well.

Svadhā gave birth to a mental daughter Menā. This mind born daughter is well-known in the world.

Menā produced Maināka, Krauñca, besides Umā and Gaṅgā. This mind born daughter is well-known, the world over. Gaṅgā became most sacred by coming in touch with the body of Śiva. Svadhā gave birth to a mental daughter known as Pṛthvī, which feeds the yajñas besides being the support of the yajñas. The lady with the lotus like face became the spouse of the king of the mountains.

Sūta said—

There are three sons of Agni – the fire god, known as Pāvaka, Pavamān and Śuci. When the fire is produced by rubbing, it is called Pavamān. When it is produced with lightning, it is called Pāvaka and when it is produced from the sun, it is called Śuci. All the three are the sons of Svāhā. Their number

The words of the manes are nectar like. I shall highlight their life stories individually subsequently in exclusive chapters. Satī – the adopted daughter of Dakṣa, who appeared in future (as Pārvatī – the daughter of Himavān), married Rudra.

In due course of time, she pronounced a curse on her father and then immolated herself. Rudra on his part, thinking about her, created several Rudras in his own form. All the worlds honoured them. At the behest of Brahmā, lord Rudra had created them. All of them were created at a mere smile of Rudra at once.

तैस्तु संच्छादितं सर्वं चतुर्दशविधं जगत्।

All the fourteen lokas were covered like the city of Bāṇasura. All of them were of different types. They were eternal and everlasting besides being spotless. Finding them before him, Brahmā said— “Salutation to you, O Rudras! O gods with three eyes, you are all powerful, omniscient, besides being grand. Some of you are long in size, some have short size, while the others are dwarfish in nature. You have the golden hair.

Our eyes are dazzling with your resplendence. You are eternal, full of wisdom, devoid of struggle and impurity. You are the sons of Rudra devoid of emotions. You are the all pervading soul.” After so eulogising the Rudras, Brahmā circumambulated them and said to Rudra.

नमोऽस्तु ते महादेव प्रजा नार्हसि शङ्कर।
मृत्युहीना विभो स्तूष्टं मृत्युयुक्ताः सृज प्रभो॥१७॥

O lord, salutation to you! O great Rudra, it would not be proper for you to create people devoid of death. O lord, you should create people so that they may have to face death after some time.

ततस्तमाह भगवान् हि मे तादृशी स्थितिः।
स त्वं सृज यथाकामं मृत्युयुक्ताः प्रजाः प्रभो॥१८॥

Then the great lord Rudra said— “It is not my nature. O Brahmā, you should create the people who might be subject to death.”

लब्ध्या सप्तर्ज सकर्लं शङ्कराच्चतुराननः।
जरामरणसंयुक्तं जगदेतच्चराचरम्॥१९॥

Thus, at the specific desire of Rudra, the four-faced Brahmā, then created the perishable beings who were mobile and immobile.

शङ्करोऽपि तदा रुद्रैर्निवृत्तात्मा ह्यधिष्ठितः।
स्थाणुत्वं तस्य वै विप्राः शङ्करस्य महात्मनः॥२०॥

विमुख्यो विगुणत्यागो विज्ञानस्याविचारतः।
तस्य चास्य च संधानं प्रसादात्परमेष्ठिनः॥२४॥

Because of the decline of Rudra from the creation of perishable creatures, he achieved the title of Sthānu. O Brāhmaṇas, only Rudra is competent for the same. He is the supreme soul devoid of dejection and can take to material form at will. The lord showers the rain of pleasure on all the creatures and such he is called Śāṅkara. He is the all pervading soul. A person who takes refuge in yoga getting upset with the worldly danger and gets detached discarding the worldly activities and the pleasures, lord Śiva bestows boon on him. The detachment develops from the complete knowledge. Discarding of the knowledge serves as the opposite reward for the same. It is only by the grace of lord Śiva that the confluence of the knowledge and the detachment takes place.

धर्मो ज्ञानं च वैराग्यमैश्वर्यं शङ्करादिह ।

ये शङ्कराश्रिताः सर्वे मुच्यन्ते ते न संशयः ।
न गच्छन्त्येव नरकं पापिष्ठा अपि दारुणम् ॥ २६ ॥

The bestowing of boon by Śiva results into achieving of Dharma, Jñāna (knowledge), detachment and the enhance of fortunes. One achieves beatitude simply by taking refuge with him. So much so, that even if such a person commits a sin, he does not have to fall in the hell.

आश्रिताः शङ्करं तस्मात्प्राप्नुवन्ति च शाश्वतम् ।

Therefore, taking refuge with the lord, the people achieve everlasting salvation from the worldly life.

ऋष्य ऊचुः:

कोटयो नरकाणां तु पच्यन्ते तासु पापिनः ।

The *R̄si*s said—

Those who do not take refuge with him fall in the twenty eight crores of hells, overshadowed by the horrible illusion, where the sinners are tortured. He is the support of all the living beings. He is beyond change. He is the lord of the lokas besides being a great soul. Usually, he is invoked and prayer is offered to him. When he increases tamoguṇa, he is called Kāla-Rudra, when he increases Rajoguṇa, he is called Brahmā and when he increases Sattvaguṇa, he is called Viṣṇu. When he is deprived of all these guṇas, he is called Maheśvara. O learned Sūta, you tell me now, by doing which types of activities and neglecting what types of deeds, a person falls in the hell? We are anxious to know about the same.

Chapter 7 The esoteric secrets of Śiva

सूत उवाच

रहस्यं वः प्रवक्ष्यामि भवस्यामिततेजसः
प्रभावं शङ्करस्याद्यं संक्षेपात्सर्वदर्शितः॥१॥

Sūta said—

At the outset, I shall speak out in brief the secrets of Śiva possessing the enormous lustre, relating the divine knowledge.

योगिनः सर्वतत्त्वज्ञाः परं वैराग्यमास्थिताः ।
प्राणयामादिभिश्चाष्टसाधनैः सहचारिणः ॥२॥
करुणादिगुणोपेताः कृत्वापि विविधानि ते ।
कर्माणि नरकं स्वर्गं गच्छत्येव स्वकर्मणा ॥३॥

The yogins well-versed in the principles or the doctrines, who owned the great detachment, who are linked with the eight angas of prāṇāyāma and who are compassionate, achieve the heaven or the hell as per their deeds.

प्रसादाद्यायते ज्ञानं ज्ञानाद्योगः प्रवर्तते ।
योगेन जायते मुक्तिः प्रसादादखिलं ततः ॥४॥

By your grace, the knowledge arises and yoga functions through knowledge. Mokṣa is achieved through mokṣa and everything can be achieved by his grace.

ऋष्य ऊचुः:

प्रसादाद्यदि विज्ञानं स्वरूपं वक्तुमर्हसि ।
दिव्यं माहेश्वरं चैव योगं योगविदां वर ॥५॥

The sages said—

O best of yogis, if the perfect knowledge comes through grace, you kindly speak out about the form and feature as well as the divine yoga of lord Śiva, by means of which the grace is achieved.

कथं करोति भगवान् चित्यारहितः शिवः ।
प्रसादं योगमार्गेण कस्मिन्काले नृणां विभुः ॥६॥

How does the lord devoid of anxiety bestow his grace on the people by means of the yogic ways and at what time?

रोमहर्षण उवाच

देवानां च ऋषीणां च पितृणां सन्त्रिधौ पुरा ।
शैलादिना तु कथितं शृण्वन्तु ब्रह्मसूनवे ॥७॥

Sūta said—

You may listen as to what had happened

earlier, as mentioned by Nandī to Sanatkumāra, the son of Brahmā, in the presence of the gods as well as the manes.

व्यासावताराणि तथा द्वापरांते च सुब्रताः ।
योगाचार्यावताराणि तथा तिष्ये तु शूलिनः ॥८॥

O sages! O performers of holy rites, you first listen to the birth of Vyāsas, which happened at the end of Dvāpara yuga and the incarnation of lord Śiva as Yogācārya in the age of Kali.

तत्रतत्र विभोः शिष्याश्वत्वारः शमभाजनाः ।
प्रशिष्या बहवस्तेषां प्रसीदत्येवमीश्वरः ॥९॥

The four disciples of lord Śiva who had controlled themselves completely the doctrines of Śiva, spread the said doctrine in the four different areas. Soon many disciples were taken by them which pleased the lord.

एवं क्रमागतं ज्ञानं मुखादेव नृणां विभोः ।
वैश्यांतं ब्रह्मणाद्यं हि घृण्या चानुरूपतः ॥१०॥

The perfect knowledge of the lord was spread orally to the people of the first three castes, i.e. Brāhmaṇas, Kṣatriyas and Vaiśyas in an appropriate manner. This was done out of compassion.

ऋष्य ऊचुः:

द्वापरेद्वापरे व्यासाः के वै कृत्रांतरेषु वै ।

The Sages said—

It would be quit appropriate if you enlighten us about those Vyāsas who incarnated in Dvāpara age and also about the manvantaras and kalpas in which they incarnated.

Sūta said—

O Brāhmaṇas, you may please listen to me. I shall speak out the details about the Vyāsas who incarnated in the Varāha kalpa of the Vaivasvata manvantara which is still current. I shall also speak about the Rudras in all the manvantaras. They functioned as guides and instructors of perfect knowledge of the Vedas and the Purāṇas in all the circles of the yugas.

Now you listen to Yogeśvara in the age of Kali.

The first Manu was— (1) Svāyambhuva, son of Brahmā. Then, Svārocīṣa was the Manu. (2) The subsequent Manus were— (3) Uttama, (4) Tāmasa, (5) Raivata, (6) Cākṣuṣa, (7) Vaivasvata, (8) Sāvarṇi, (9) Dharma, (10) Sāvarṇika, (11) Piśaṅga, (12) Apiśaṅghābha, (13) Śabala and (14) Vārāha. The Manus are also designated according to the vowels beginning with ‘a’ and ending with ‘au’. O excellent Brāhmaṇa, they are also classified according to their colours as śveta, pāṇḍu (grey), rakta (reddish), tāmra (copper-coloured), pela (yellow), kapila (tawny), kṛṣṇa (black), sýāma (dark), dhūmra (smoke-coloured), sudhūmra (deep smoke-coloured), apisarga (non-tawny), pesarīga (tawny), trivarṇa śabala (three-coloured) and kālāndhura (extremely black). Thus, all the holy Manus have been mentioned by name, letters and colour. Those identical with vowels are in brief mentioned as the leaders of the Manvantras. Among them, the seventh Manu is Vaivasvata represented by the vowel r and black colour. The seventh Manu is also a leader of the Devas. I shall mention the yogins in the repeated cycle of yugas in the kalpas that have passed by and those that are yet to come.

The present kalpa in the seventh manvantara is known as Vārāha. Now listen to the yogic incarnations of the lord and their line of disciples in due order, in all the kalpas and manvantaras. In the first Kali age of Svāyambhuva Manu, they were Śveta, Sutāra, Madana, Suhotra, Logākṣī, Jaigīṣavya, Dadhvāhana, Ṙṣabha, Ugra, Atri, Subālaka, Gautama, Vedaśīrṣā, Gokarṇa, Guhāvāsin, Śikhaṇḍabhrta, Jatāmālin, Aṭṭahāsa, Dāruka, Lāṅgulī, Mahākāya, Śūlin, Daṇḍin, Muṇḍīśvara, Sahiṣṇu, Somaśārmā, Nakuliśa. O man with holy rites, the incarnations as Yogācāryas of the lord in all the cycles of four ages in the Vaivasvata manvantara have been recounted as twenty-eight.

O excellent sage, in every Dvāpara age, there are Vyāsas in the same manner. The following are the recurring disciples of these Yogeśvaras, each one of whom had four disciples.

These include Śveta, Śveta-Śikhaṇḍin, Śvetāśva, Śvetalohita, Dundubhi, Śatarūpa, Ṛcīka, Ketumān, Viśoka, Vikeśa, Vipāśa, Pāpanāsana, Sumukha, Durmukha, Durdamī, Duratikrama, Sanaka, Sananda, Sanātana, Ṛbhu, Sanata, Sudhāman, Virajas, Śaṅkhapāda, Vairājas, Megha, Sārasvata, Suvāhana, Meghavāha, Kapila, Āsuri, Pañcaśīkha, Välkala, Parāśara, Garga, Bhārgava, Aṅgīras, Balabandhan, Niramitra, Katuśrīga, Lambodara, Lamba, Lambaka, Lambakeśaka, Sarvajña, Samabuddhi, Sādhya, Sarva, Sudhāmā, Kaśyapa, Vasiṣṭha, Virajas, Atri, Devasada, Śravarṇa, Śraviṣṭhika, Kuṇi, Kuṇibāhu, Kuśarīra,

These noble souls are the disciples of yogins in all the cycles of the four yugas.

They are all devoid of impurities, almost identical with Brahman and engaged in the path of gaining knowledge. They are devoted to Paśupati, the great Siddhas and have the ashes smeared over their bodies. There are hundreds and thousands of disciples. They attain Paśupata yoga and Rudra's world. All beings from Devas to Piśācas are said to be Paśus. Since lord Rudra is their overlord, he is known as Paśupati. O Brāhmaṇas, the yoga evolved by Rudra, the overlord of the Paśus, is known as Paśupata Yoga which leads all the persons to their blissful prosperity.

Chapter 8

The zones of Yoga

सूत उवाच

संक्षेपतः प्रवक्ष्यामि योगस्थानानि सांप्रतम्।
कल्पितानि शिवेनैव हिताय जगतां द्विजाः॥१॥

Sūta said—

Now, I shall speak about the yogic Mandalas, which have been prepared by lord Śiva for the benefit of the people.

गलादधो वितस्त्या यत्राभेरुपरि चोत्तमम्।
योगस्थानमधो नाभेराकर्तं मध्यमं भ्रुवोः॥२॥

The portion of the body covered by a Vitasti beneath the throat and above the umbilicus and the middle portion, as well as the curling locks of hair, besides the middle portion of the eyebrow is the excellent zone of the yoga.

सर्वार्थज्ञाननिष्पत्तिरात्मनो योग उच्चते।
एकाग्रता भवेच्चैव सर्वदा तत्प्रसादतः॥३॥

The awareness of all the subjects arising in the soul is known as the yoga. It is only by the grace of the lord that one can concentrate his mind for the yogic practices.

प्रसादस्य स्वरूपं यस्त्वसंबेदं द्विजोत्तमाः।
वक्तुं न शक्यं ब्रह्माद्यैः क्रमशो जायते नृणाम्॥४॥

An individual person only can realise the form of his grace and it cannot be bestowed by (anyone else) including Brahmā. It arises in a person itself, quite gradually.

योगशब्देन निवर्णं माहेशं पदमुच्यते।
तस्य हेतुर्क्रषेज्ञनं ज्ञानं तस्य प्रसादतः॥५॥

The spot where the supreme lord dwells is indicated by means of yogic practices. The knowledge is the cause for the attaining of that region. It is by the grace of the lord alone that this knowledge could be achieved.

ज्ञानेन निर्दहेत्यापं निरुद्ध्य विषयान् सदा।
निरुद्धेद्वियवृत्तेस्तु योगसिद्धिर्भविष्यति॥६॥

One has to burn the sins by way of the perfect knowledge, while abstaining from the sensual behaviour. It is by means of the controlling of the sense organs that the achievement of yoga could be materialised.

योगो निरोधो वृत्तेषु चित्तस्य द्विजसत्तमाः।
साधनान्यष्ट्धा चास्य कथितानीह सिद्धये॥७॥

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, yoga means the controlling of the functions of the mind and for this purpose, eight means have been described.

यमस्तु प्रथमः प्रोक्तो द्वितीयो नियमस्तथा।
तृतीयमासनं प्रोक्तं प्राणायामस्ततः परम्॥८॥
प्रत्याहारः पञ्चमो वै धारणा च ततः परा।
ध्यानं सप्तमित्युक्तं समाधिस्त्वष्टमः स्मृतः॥९॥

These means comprise of yama (control), niyama (observation), āsana (yogic postures), prāṇāyāma (control of breath), pratyāhāra (withdrawal of senses), dhāraṇā (retention), dhyāna (concentration) and samādhi (meditation).

तपस्युपरमश्चैव यम इत्यभिधीयते।
अहिंसा प्रथमो हेतुर्यमस्य यमिनां वराः॥१०॥
सत्यमस्तेयमपरं ब्रह्मचर्यपरिग्रहौ।
नियमस्यापि वै मूलं यम एव न संशयः॥११॥

Abstention by way of austerity is called control (yama); O foremost among those who have restrained the first contributory cause of restraint is ahimsā or non-violence, truthfulness, not to steal, celibacy and non-acceptance of gifts are the other causes. The root of niyama (observation), (taking of a vow) is undoubtedly yama alone.

आत्मवत्सर्वभूतानां हितायैव प्रवर्तनम्।
अहिंसैषा समाख्याता या चात्मज्ञानसिद्धिदा॥२॥

Taking into account that all the living beings are as one's ownself and working for the welfare of all the living beings is called ahimsā or non-violence. It helps in achieving the self-realisation.

दृष्टं श्रुतं चानुभितं स्वानुभूतं यथार्थतः।
कथनं सत्यमित्युकं परपीडाविवर्जितम्॥१३॥

The repeating precisely whatever has been seen, heard, inferred or experienced, is called satya or truthfulness. It is devoid of injury or causing of pain to others.

नाशलीलं कीर्तयेदेवं ब्राह्मणानामिति श्रुतिः।
परदोषान् परिज्ञाय न बदेदिति चापरम्॥१४॥

The Vedas ordain that "one should not utter whatever is vulgar in the presence of the Brāhmaṇas. Even after knowing the shortcomings of others, one should not repeat them to others." This is another passage from Śruti.

अनादानं परस्वानामापद्यपि विचारतः।
मनसा कर्मणा वाचा तदस्तेयं समासतः॥१५॥

Not to steal the belongings of others wilfully, even in case of need, by action, thought or behaviour, amounts to non-stealing.

मैथुनस्याप्रवृत्तिहि मनोबाक्कायकर्मणा।
ब्रह्मचर्यमिति प्रोक्तं यतीनां ब्रह्मचारिणाम्॥१६॥

The vow of celibacy or brahmacarya means not to indulge in sexual intercourse by action, thought, verbally or physically, by the ascetics or the Brahmacārins.

इह वैखानसानां च विदाराणां विशेषतः।
सदाराणां गृहस्थानां तथैव च वदामि वः॥१७॥

This holds good in relation to the anchorites, forest dwellers and the widowers.

I shall now speak out about the vow of celibacy to be observed by the householders.

स्वदारे विधिवत्कृत्वा निवृत्तिश्चान्यतः सदा।
मनसा कर्मणा वाचा ब्रह्मचर्यमिति स्मृतम्॥१८॥

The householders should have sexual intercourse with their legally wedded wives alone. For them to keep themselves away from other women, mentally, physically and by speech, would amount to the observing of brahmacarya.

मेध्या स्वनारा संभोगं कृत्वा स्नानं समाचरेत्।
एवं गृहस्थो युक्तात्मा ब्रह्मचारी न संशयः॥१९॥

A householder, after enjoying an intercourse with his own wife, should take a bath. Such a type of the yogī householder is surely considered to be a Brahmacāri.

अहिंसाप्येवमेवैषा द्विजगुरुविनिपूजने।
विधिना यादृशी हिंसा सात्वहिंसा इति स्मृता॥२०॥

The principles also apply for those who are supposed to observe ahimsā or non-violence. The hinīsā ordained by the Brāhmaṇas, preceptors and the one relating to the performing of the yajña as prescribed in the Vedas, shall also be treated as ahimsā.

स्त्रियः सदा परित्याज्याः सङ्गं नैव च कारयेत्।
कुणपेषु यथा चित्त तथा कुर्याद्विचक्षणः॥२१॥

Women are always to be avoided. One should stay away from them. A shrewd person views them like the corpses.

विष्मूत्रोऽसर्गकालेषु बहिर्भूमौ यथा मतिः।
तता कार्या रतौ चापि स्वदारे चान्यतः कुतः॥२२॥

While enjoying sex with one's own wife, one should behave as if dropping urine or refuse on the ground. One should not behave otherwise than that.

अङ्गारसदृशी नारी घृतकुंभसमः पुमान्।

तस्मान्नारीषु संसर्ग दूरत परिवर्जयेत्॥ २३॥

A woman is a burning coal, while a man is like the pitcher filled with ghee. Therefore, a man should (as far as possible) avoid contact with women.

भोगेन तृसिर्नैवास्ति विषयाणां विचारतः ।
तस्माद्विरागः कर्तव्यो मनसा कर्मणा गिरा॥ २४॥

In case one think quite deeply, there is no (lasting) pleasure in passionate behaviour. Therefore, one should behave in an unattached manner.

न जातु कामः कामानामुपभोगेन शास्यति ।
हविषा कृष्णवर्त्मेव भूय एवाभिवर्धते॥ २५॥

The lust can never be subsided by sexual intercourse in the same way as the fire flames keep on rising with the pouring of ghee into it, instead of subsiding.

तस्मात्यागः सदा कार्यैस्त्वमृतत्वाय योगिना ।
अविरक्तो यतो मर्त्यो नानायोनिषु वर्तते॥ २६॥

Therefore, the yogins should discard it (sexual behaviour) for achieving amarattva because if a person is not free from lustful behaviour, he has to be reborn again and again in various forms.

त्यागेनैवामृतत्वं हि श्रुतिस्मृतिवदां वराः ।
कर्मणा प्रजया नास्ति द्रव्येण द्विजसत्तमाः॥ २७॥

O listeners, well-versed in the Vedas, amarattva could be achieved by renouncement and not by indulging into rituals or donation of the articles for performing worship.

तस्माद्विरागः कर्तव्यो मनोवाक्कायकर्मणाः ।
ऋतौ ऋतौ निवृत्तिस्तु ब्रह्मचर्यमिति स्मृतम्॥ २८॥

Therefore, one should practice detachment mentally, verbally and physically. Abstention from sexual intercourse, except during the prescribed period after menstruation, is believed to be celibacy for the householders.

यमा: संक्षेपतः प्रोक्ता नियमांश्च वदामि वः ।
शौचमिज्या तपो दानं स्वाध्यायोपस्थनिग्रहः॥ २९॥
ब्रतोपवासमौनं च स्नानं च नियमा दश ।
नियमः स्यादनीहा च शौचं तुष्टिस्तपस्तथा॥ ३०॥
जपः शिवप्रणीधानं पद्मकाद्यं तथासनम् ।
बाह्यमाभ्यंतरं प्रोक्तं शौचमाभ्यंतरं वरम्॥ ३१॥

Thus, the restraints (yamas) are succinctly mentioned. I shall now tell you about the niyamas or observances. They are ten in number, viz. : Śauca (cleanliness), Ijjā (sacrifice), Tapas (penance), Dāna (charities), Svādhyāya (study of Vedas), Upasthanigraha (restraint on organs of generation), Vratas (holy rites), Upavāsa (fasting), Maun (silence) and the Snāna (holy bath). According to some, niyamas means absence of craving (anīhā), cleanliness (śauca), satisfaction (tuṣṭi), penance (tapas), muttering of Śiva's mantra (japam), meditation on Śiva and posture like padma. Of these, cleanliness is of two types, viz. internal and external. Of these two, internal cleanliness is superior to that of the external one.

बाह्यशौचेन युक्तः संस्तथा चाभ्यंतरं चरेत् ।
आग्नेयं वारुणं ब्राह्मं कर्तव्य शिवपूजकैः॥ ३२॥
स्नानं विधानतः सम्यक् पश्चादाभ्यंतरं चरेत् ।
आदेहांतं मृदालिष्य तीर्थतोयेषु सर्वदा॥ ३३॥
अवगाह्यापि मलिनो हृतश्शौचविवर्जितः ।
शैवला झाषका मत्स्या: सत्त्वा मत्स्योपजीविनः॥ ३४
सदावगाह्यः सलिले विशुद्धाः किं द्विजोत्तमाः ।
तस्मादाभ्यंतरं शौचं सदा कार्यं विधानतः॥ ३५॥

The persons, who are outwardly clean, should practice for internal cleanliness as well. One should take the external bath appropriately, which is of three types : of fire, of water and Brāhma. After having an external bath, one should have internal bath as well. In case, a person is internally unclean and plasters mud over his body and takes bath in the holy waters, he remains impure. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, moss, fishes, the sharks and the animals that prey upon fishes, always remain in water. But are they pure? Therefore, one should practice internal purity.

आत्मज्ञानं भसि स्नात्वा सकृदालिष्य भावतः ।
सुवैराग्यमृदा शुद्धः शौचमेवं प्रकीर्तितम्॥३६॥

Internal purity is believed to be of various types. One should apply the holy ashes of detachment with a feeling of devotion. One should take a holy dip into the water of knowledge of the soul. This is how one can attain self purification.

शुद्धस्य सिद्धयो दृष्टा नैवाशुद्धस्य सिद्धयः ।
न्यायेनागतया कृत्या संतुष्टो यस्तु सुब्रतः॥३७॥
संतोषस्तस्य सततमतीर्थस्य चास्मृतिः ।
चांद्रायणादिनिपुणस्तपांसि सुशुभानि च॥३८॥
स्वाध्यायस्तु जपः प्रोक्तः प्रणवस्य त्रिधा स्मृतः ।
वाचिकश्चाधमो मुख्य उपांशुश्चोत्तमोत्तमः॥३९॥

The Siddhis are achieved by a pure and not an impure person. A person who earns his living by fair means with satisfaction is known as a person performing the vrata of contentment. He never feels worried about his requirements. The performing of the Cāndrāyaṇa vrata amounts to the performing of tapas. Svādhyāya is the threefold repetition of omkāra mantra i.e. vācika – oral utter and which is the basest of the three; upanīśu – slow muttering which is better than vācika; mānasa – when the sound does not come out of the throat, it is called the best of all. This is stated in detail in the ritual text as the five-syllabled mantra.

मानसे विस्तरेणैव कल्पे पञ्चाक्षरे स्मृतः ।
तथा शिवप्रणीधानं मनोवाक्कायकमण्ठा॥४०॥
शिवज्ञानं गुरोर्भक्तिरचला सुप्रतिष्ठिता ।
निग्रहो ह्यपहत्याशु प्रसक्तानीदियाणि च॥४१॥
विषयेषु समासेन प्रत्याहारः प्रकीर्तितः ।
चित्तस्य धारणा प्रोक्ता स्थानबंधः समाप्तः॥४२॥
तस्याः स्वास्थ्येन ध्यानं च समाधिश्च विचारतः ।
तत्रैकचित्तता ध्यानं प्रत्ययांतरवर्जितम्॥४३॥

The contemplation of Śiva should be carried out mentally, physically as well as verbally, with unflinching devotion to the preceptor, withdrawal of the sense organs from the worldly pleasures. This process is called pratyāhāra or withdrawal. Dhāraṇā or retention is the fixation of mind in a proper place. Dhyāna (concentration) comes through the normalcy of the Dhāraṇā. In case it is coupled with thought, it is known as samādhi (meditation). While in Samādhi, there is the concentration of mind and meditation, the perception of outward thoughts is entirely excluded.

चिद्भासमर्थमात्रस्य देहशून्यमिव स्थितम् ।
समाधिः सर्वहेतुश्च प्राणायाम इति स्मृतः॥४४॥

In Samādhi, the supreme consciousness alone shines, as though it were devoid of the physical body. The control of breath or prāṇāyāma is the root cause of dhyāna or Samādhi etc.

प्राण स्वदेहजो वायुर्यमस्तस्य निरोधनम् ।
त्रिधा द्विजैर्यमः प्रोक्ते मंदो मध्योत्तमस्तथा॥४५॥

The air within the body is taken to be prāṇa. Its control is yāma. The Brāhmaṇas have conceived it to be threefold, viz. :- slow or manda, middling or madhya and uttama or the superior.

प्राणापाननिरोधस्तु प्राणायामः प्रकीर्तितः ।
प्राणायामस्य मानं तु मात्राद्वादशकं स्मृतम्॥४६॥

The control of prāṇa and apāna is known as prāṇāyāma. The magnitude of control of breath is said to be twelve moments.

मध्यमस्तु द्विरुद्धातश्चतुर्विंशतिमात्रकः ॥४७॥

The slow consists of twelve moments which form one stroke or blow known as udgāta. The middling comprises of two strokes. The superior of them has three strokes extending to thirty moments. These three generate sweating, shivering and rising up, when the following are observed, the performing of prāṇāyāma is taken to be excellent, for it denotes the onset of bliss. These symptoms are—reeling due to drowsiness, horripilation, sensation of hearing some sound, pressing of one's own limbs, shivering, vertigo born of swearing, fixation, absence of knowledge and unconsciousness.

Prāṇāyāma is of two types, viz. Sagarbha and Agarbha. In case, prāṇāyāma is linked with japam, it is called sagarbha and in case it is without japam, it is known as agarbha. It resembles an elephant or Śarabha, an eight-footed animal, or a formidable lion. When caught and trained properly, it becomes obedient. Similarly for the yogins, the air which is by nature unstable and beyond control, becomes normal and subservient by proper practice. Just as a lion or an elephant or Śarabha, though ferocious, is tamed after a while with a proper training, so also the wind attains normalcy due to constant acquaintance and practice.

A person practising yoga has never to suffer calamity. When the prāṇa is properly regulated, it removes the defects of mind, speech and body, preserving the body of the person who practices the same. In case a devotee perfects himself by taking recourse to the prāṇāyāma, his defects disappear, the breathing is controlled by him and the divine peace is achieved.

Sānti, prasānti, dipti and prasāda are the four attributes of prāṇāyāma, which are explained thus :— Sānti is the first of the four attributes, which means suppression of congenial sins or these which are adventitious. Praśānti means the perfect control of speech. All round and all time brilliance is known as Dipti. Prasāda, on the other hand, means the clarity of mind which is of four types. It is the clarity of sense organs of intellect and the organic winds. These include— prāṇa, apāna, samāna, udāna and vyāna. Their functional names are— Nāga, Kūrma, Kṛkala, Devadatta and Dhanañjaya respectively. The clarity of these winds is called prasāda.

The wind which traverses through the body is called prāṇa; that which brings down food and drink is called apāna; that which makes the body to bend is called vyāna and it incites the ailments too; that which excites and afflicts the vulnerable points in the body is called udāna. That which normalises the functions of the organs is called samāna. This is the set of five types of winds which have been explained. The wind nāga functions in the act of belching; the kūrma in the opening of eyes, kṛkala is sneezing, devadatta means yawning and dhananājaya means a loud report. It is present even in the dead body. By restraining these winds, one can attain prasāda. In the fourfold set of attribute, prasāda figures as the fourth one.

O Brāhmaṇas, the wisdom has synonyms viz., of visvara, mahat, prajña, manas, brahmā, citi, smṛti, khyāti, samvit, īśvara and mati. It is through prāṇāyāma that the clarity of wisdom is achieved.

O excellent sages, Visvara is so called because it compromises between two conflicting opposites. Since it is the first and the greatest of all the tattvas arising out of prakṛti, it is called Mahat. It is also named as Prajña because it is the repository of all means of knowledge. It is Manas because of its possessing the power of thinking. It is known as Brahmā because of its vastness and that it swells up. O most excellent among the knowers of Brahman, it is called the Citi as well, because it gathers together all activities for the sake of enjoyment. It is called Smṛti because it retains memory. Since it obtains everything, it is called Samvit. Because it is known by means of wisdom, it is called Khyāti. It is called Īśvara because it is the supreme lord of all the elements and comprehends everything. O sages, the most excellent among the intelligent people, called it as Mati because it is instrument of thought subjectively and objectively. It is called Buddhi because it enlightens things and is itself an instrument of enlightenment.

अस्या बुद्धेः प्रसादस्तु प्राणायामेन सिद्ध्यति।
दोषान्विनिर्देहेत्सर्वान् प्राणायामादसौ यमी॥७५॥

The behaviour of the Buddhi (wisdom) is established through Prāṇāyāma. By restraining oneself, all the blemishes are burnt out by taking recourse to prāṇāyāma.

पातकं धारणाभिस्तु प्रत्याहरेण निर्दहेत्।
विषयाच्चिषवद्ध्यात्वा ध्यानेनानीश्वरान् गुणान्॥७६॥

By means of Pratyāhāra (restraining of the sense organs) and Dhārapas (retentions), the sins are destroyed. By meditating on the mundane objects as if they are poisonous, one destroys all the evil qualities.

समाधिना यतिश्रेष्ठाः प्रज्ञावृद्धिं विवर्धयेत्।

O excellent sages, one should increase the power of intellect by means of Samādhi. The eight ārogas of yoga should be practised only after securing the proper place for yogic practices.

लब्ध्वासनानि विधिवद्योगविद्ययर्थमात्मवित्।
आदेशकाले योगस्य दर्शनं हि न विद्यते॥७८॥

A person who is well aware of the soul, shall then well secure the āsanas (postures) for the achieving of the yogic results. In case, the time and place are not suitable, one cannot have even the glimpse of the yoga.

The yogic practices should not be resorted to at the following places and circumstances viz., near the fire, in the water, over the heap of dry leaves, in the place infested with worms or creatures, in the cremation ground, in the deserted area, in four cross-roads, a noisy place, a fearful place, in a monastery, or an anthill, in an inauspicious place, the place inhabited by the wicked people and a place infested by mosquitoes. One should not practise yogic exercises with an ailing body or with a disturbed or dejected mind. The devotee should delightfully practice astāṅga yoga in the following places— a well-protected place, besides being auspicious and pleasing or a cave in an mountain, or a shrine dedicated to lord Śiva, or a well-guarded park, or a forest, or a corner of one's own house devoid of people or animals. It should be well-protected place, auspicious and pleasing, well scrubbed, plastered with cowdung and beautified in various ways. It should have the spotlessly clean surface looking like a mirror. It should be fumigated with black agallocum. Different kinds of flowers should be spread around the place. A beautiful canopy should adorn the place which should be decorated with roots, fruits, tender sprouts, kusā grass and flowers of various types. The person performing the yoga should be seated in a balanced posture and perform all the yogic practices delightfully. He should pray in reverence to lord Śiva, goddess Umā, Vināyaka, the leading yogins and their disciples. He should practice padmāṣana or ardhāṣana or siddhāṣana.

He should be seated with his knees on a level or kneel one of his knees. Whatever the posture is used by him, he shall sit steadily withdrawing his feet. His mouth should be kept shut, his chest should be projected in front. With his heels, he should cover the testicles and the penis. With his head lifted up a little and the rows of the teeth should not touch each other. He should fix his sight at the tip of the nose. He should not look at the quarters. The tamas should be covered with rajas, while the rajas should be covered by means of sattva. Thereafter, positioning himself in sattva, he should meditate on Śiva.

ॐकारवाच्यं परमं शुद्धं दीपशिखाकृतिम्।
 ध्यादेद्वै पुण्डरीकस्य कर्णिकायां समाहितः॥९१॥

With great concentration, he should meditate over the pericarp of the lotus; on supreme being, which is symbolised by omkāra and is as pure as the candle flame.

 सत्त्वस्थं चिंतयेद्बुद्धं स्वशक्त्या परिमण्डितम्॥९५॥

He should meditate within three angulas below the navel on the excellent lotus, having at its centre an octagon, a pentagon or a triangle. He should also meditate on the fire, moon and the sun, together with their consorts; or the order may be, first the sun, then the moon and then the fire, together with their consorts, or the order may be first the fire, then the sun, and then the moon as prescribed in the Śāstras. He should conceive the four aims like virtue etc. beneath the fire and think over the three guṇas, over the zone. He should then think of Rudra lodged in sattva and adorned by Umā.

The rite of the meditation should then be performed by him in the navel or the throat, or centre of the eyebrows, or on the forehead, or in the crest of the head as mentioned in the scriptures. One should meditate on the lord Śiva at a spot as lustrous as gold or as splendid as the burning coal or extremely white or as resplendent as twelve suns or as brilliant as the moon disc or as flashing as millions of lightning streaks or as lustrous like the fire or as glittering as a circle of lightning or as bright as a crore of diamond pieces or as brilliant as a ruby. He should practice meditation on the image of the blue and the red coloured lord Śiva.

चंद्रचूडं ललाटे तु भ्रूमध्ये शङ्करं स्वयम्॥१०१॥

In his heart he should meditate on lord Maheśvara, on Sadāśiva in the lotus like navel; on Candracūḍa over the forehead and Śaṅkara in the centre of the eyebrows.

नाभौ सदाशिवं चापि सर्वदेवात्मकं विभुम्॥१०८॥

He shall meditate on Śiva in the forehead, on Mahādeva, the great lord in the lotus like heart and in the mind, who has the following description. He is free from impurities or blemishes. He is unsullied. He is peaceful Brahman in the form of knowledge and has no specific characteristic. He cannot be pointed out in particular and is smaller than the atom, besides being splendid and supportless. He cannot be reflected upon. He is free from birth and death, besides being liberation in itself and possesses the heavenly fragrance. He is nectar like, indestructible and unborn. He is miraculous, the greatest of all besides being the greatest bliss. He is unblemished. He is smaller than the smallest, auspicious, self-cognizable, incomprehensible. He is the greatest lord resembling the perfect knowledge. He is beyond the purview of the sense organs and is beyond comparison. He is the greatest principle – greater than the greatest and is without any support. He can be achieved by meditation, non dualistic, beyond darkness and the greatest being. The devotees should adore him in the navel as Sadāśiva. He is the lord comparable with the Devas.

He shall meditate on lord Śiva, identical with pure knowledge, in the middle of the body through Suṣumna pass or through the kumbhaka. He shall then perform thirty two recakas (respirations) concentrating on heart and the navel. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, then eschewing recaka and pūraka respirations and taking recourse only to kumbhaka, he shall meditate on Śiva in the middle of the body with the normal elegance.

After identifying with lord, he will comprehend the bliss of Brahman, emerging from elegance and the state of the perfect and well composed. The twelve prāṇāyāmas make one dhāraṇā, twelve dhārāṇas make one samādhi. O Brāhmaṇas, one could achieve yogic excellence coming in contact with wise men or by his own efforts slowly. Even as one practices yoga, some obstacles could appear in his performance. They, however, disappear with the continued efforts made at the advice of the preceptor.

Obstacles and Portents

सूत उवाच

आलस्यं प्रथमं पश्चाद्व्याधिपीडा प्रजायते ।
प्रमादः संशयस्थाने चित्तस्येहानवस्थितिः ॥१॥
अश्रद्धादर्शनं भ्रांतिर्दुःखं च त्रिविधं ततः ।

आलस्यं चाप्रवृत्तिश्च गुरुत्वात्कायचित्तयोः ॥३॥

Sūta said—

Obstructions in the yogic exercises crop up in ten different forms, viz. : laziness, sickness, calmlessness, doubt, disturbed mind, faithlessness, confusion, misery, disappointment and by attracting to the worldly pleasures. Of these, laziness is caused because of the refraining from work due to bulkiness of the body or the pre-occupied mind.

व्याधयो धातुवैषम्यात् कर्मजा दोषजास्तथा ।
प्रमादस्तु समाधेस्तु साधनानामभावनम् ॥४॥

The ailments arise from the imbalance of related elements. This is related to the earlier karmas or the blemishes. It is also generated because of the lack of the resources of yoga.

इदं वेत्युभयस्पृकं विज्ञानं स्थानसंशयः ।
अनवस्थितचित्तत्वमप्रतिष्ठा हि योगिनः ॥५॥
लब्ध्यायामपि भूमौ च चित्तस्य भवबंधनात् ।
अश्रद्धाभावरहिता वृत्तिर्वै साधनेषु च ॥६॥

It is also caused due to the duality in approach. The lack of the control of mind is due to its instability. With the gaining of the yogic ground, in case a person still remains attracted to the worldly pleasures, his mind becomes unstable. The lack of faith in the yogic exercises results in unfaithfulness.

साध्ये चित्तस्य हि गुरौ ज्ञानाचारशिवादिषु ।
विपर्यज्ञानमिति भ्रांतिदर्शनमुच्यते ॥७॥
अनात्मन्यात्मविज्ञानमज्ञानात्स्य संनिधौ ।

आधिदैविकमित्युक्तं त्रिविधं सहजं पुनः ।
इच्छाविधातात्संक्षेपश्चेतस्तदुदाहृतम् ॥९॥

The adversity about one's own good, the preceptor, knowledge, good conduct, Śiva and other noble aspects leads to confusion. The suffering are of three types viz. : spiritual, material and the divine. It is caused due to the mental disturbance for non-fulfilment of one's own desires.

दौर्मनस्य निरोद्धव्यं वैराग्येण परेण तु ।
तमसा रजसा चैव संस्मृष्टं दुर्मनः स्मृतम् ॥१०॥

विषयेषु विचित्रेषु जंतोर्विषयलोलता ।
अंतराया इति ख्याता योगस्यैते हि योगिनाम् ॥१२॥

When the mind becomes painful due to the influence of rajas or tamas, that stage is called to be of disappointment. With the forceful neglect of the materialistic things, one can get rid of disappointment. Inspite of his being able to differentiate between good and bad, when a person forcefully indulges in the worldly pleasures, then his mind becomes unstable. All these elements cause obstructions in the successful performing of the yogic practices.

अत्यन्तोत्साहयुक्तस्य नश्यन्ति न च संशयः ।

वार्ता तृतीया विप्रेण्ड्रास्तुरीया चेह दर्शना ।
आस्वादा पञ्चमी प्रोक्ता वेदना षष्ठिका स्मृता ॥१५॥

The extremely enthusiastic devotee is automatically relieved of these obstructions. There is no doubt about it. But other obstructions in the achievement of siddhi or success do appear. The Siddhis (success) are of six types, viz. : Pratibhā, Śravaṇā, Vārtā, Darśana, Āsvāda and Vedanā.

स्वल्पषट्टसिद्धिसंत्यागात्सिद्धिदाः सिद्धयो मुनेः ।
प्रतिभा प्रतिभावृतिः प्रतिभाव इति स्थितिः ॥१६॥

When the siddhis are discarded while on decline, they yield good results. Pratibhā leads one to understand well the mind.

बुद्धिर्विवेचना वेद्यं बुद्ध्यते बुद्धिरुच्यते ।
सूक्ष्मे व्यवहितेतीते विप्रकृष्टे त्वनागते ॥१७॥
सर्वत्र सर्वदा ज्ञानं प्रतिभानुक्रमेण तु ।

दर्शनाद्विव्यरूपाणां दर्शनं चाप्रयत्नतः ।
संविद्विव्यरसे तस्मिन्नास्वादो ह्यप्रयत्नतः ॥२०॥

If one has the knowledge of things subtle or hidden, far or near, past or future, at all times and places – that knowledge is called Pratibhā. In case, a yogin is able to understand, without much efforts, the import of all the words, by merely hearing a concealed or indistinct syllable, whether short, long or protracted, that ability is called Śravaṇā. The idea of touch without actual contact is called Vedanā (awareness). The ability to witness the divine forms without effort is the ability to taste delicacies without strain.

वार्ता च दिव्यगंधानां तन्मात्रा बुद्धिसंविदा ।
विन्दते योगिनस्तस्मादब्रह्मभुवनं द्विजाः ॥२१॥

Vārtā is the intellectual discussion of the divine fragrance and the subtle elements. O Brāhmaṇas, by means of yoga, the yogins or ascetics achieve the knowledge of everything about the embodied beings.

जगत्यस्मिन् हि देहस्थं चतुःषष्ठिगुणं समम्।
औपसर्गिकमेतेषु गुणेषु गुणितं द्विजाः॥२२॥
संत्याज्यं सर्वथा सर्वमौपसर्गिकमात्मनः।
पैशाचे पार्थिवं चाप्यं राक्षसानां पुरे द्विजाः॥२३॥
याक्षे तु तैजसं प्रोक्तं गांधर्वं श्वसनात्मकम्।
ऐन्द्रे व्योमात्मकं सर्वं सौम्ये चैव तु मानसम्॥२४॥
प्राजापत्ये त्वहङ्कारं ब्राह्मे बोधमनुत्तमम्।
आद्ये चाष्टीये द्वितीये च तथा षोडशरूपकम्॥२५॥

Sixty four gunas are enshrined in the body. Of these, the aupasargic type of qualities should be discarded. In the region of piśācas, the qualities of earth should be discarded. In the region of Rākṣasas, the qualities of water should be eschewed. In the region of Yakṣas, the qualities of fire should be eschewed. In the region of Gandharvas the qualities of breath, in the region of Indra, the qualities of ether should be discarded. In the region of Soma, the qualities of mind; in the region of Prajāpati the qualities of ego and in the region of Brahman, the qualities of intellect should be discarded.

चतुर्विंशत्तीये तु द्वात्रिंशत्त्वं चतुर्थके।
चत्वारिंशत् पञ्चमे तु भूतमात्रात्मकं स्मृतम्॥२६॥
गंधो रसस्तथा रूपं शब्दः स्पर्शस्तथैव च।

औपसर्गिकमाब्रह्मभुवनेषु परित्यजेत्।
लोकेष्वालोक्य योगेन योगवित्परमं सुखम्॥२९॥

In the first region i.e. earth, there are eight qualities, in the second (water) there are sixteen; in the third (fire) there are twenty four; in the fourth (Gandharvas) there are twenty two, in the fifth (Indra) there are forty. Each one of the five subtle elements – smell, taste, colour, touch and sound is evolved eight fold. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, there are forty gunas in the region of moon, fifty six in the region of Prajāpati and sixty four in the region of Brahman. Thus, in all the regions ending with the Brahman, the yogins should overpower the hindrances by means of the yogic exercises, which have to be removed.

स्थूलता हस्वता बाल्यं वार्धक्य यौवनंतथा।
नानाजातिस्वरूपं च चतुर्भिर्देहधारणम्॥३०॥
पार्थिवांशं विना नित्यं सुरभिंधसंयुतः।
एतदष्टगुणं प्रोक्तमैश्वर्यं पार्थिवं महत्॥३१॥

The Pārthiva (relating to earth) yogic siddhis include bulkiness, leanness, infancy, youthfulness, old age, ability to assume different forms, ability to hold elements by means of only four elements without the part of earth and having perpetual sweet scent.

जले निवसनं यद्वद्भूम्यामिव विनिर्गमिः।
इच्छेच्छकः स्वयं पातुं संमुद्रमपि नातुरः॥३२॥
यत्रेच्छति जगत्यस्मिस्तत्रास्य जलदर्शनम्।

अव्रणत्वं शरीरस्य पार्थिवेन समन्वितम्।
एतत् षोडशकं प्रोक्तमाप्यमैश्वर्यमुत्तमम्॥३५॥

To dwell in water at will, to come out of water at will, to drink the oceanic water without any inconvenience, to turn a thing as tasteful which ever is desired to be eaten, to maintain the body with three tattvas alone, to store the water in the palm without a vase – these eight as well as the eight Pārthiva

Siddhis make a total of sixteen. Thus, there are sixteen types of siddhis of self.

देहादग्निविनिर्माणं तत्तापभयवर्जितम्।
लोकं दाधमपीहान्यददाधं स्वविधानतः॥३६॥
जलमध्ये हुतवहं चाधाय परिस्कणम्।

द्वाभ्यां रूपविनिष्पत्तिर्विना तैस्त्रिभिरात्मनः॥३८॥
चतुर्विशात्मकं ह्येतत्तैजसं मुनिपुंगवाः।

The power to create fire out of the body, becoming fearless of the danger of fire, power of recreation after the burning of the entire universe, unconcerned with the heat of the fire, power to save something ever after the burning of everything, power to keep fire alive in the water, power to create fire with the simple thought of its power to build even after everything is reduced to ashes and to maintain the body with two instead of the three tattvas are the Tajasa siddhis.

मनोगतित्वं भूतानामंतर्निवसनं तथा॥३९॥
पर्वतादिमहाभारस्कंधेनोद्धृहनं पुनः।
लघुत्वं च गुरुत्वं च पाणिभ्यां वायुधारणम्॥४०॥
अङ्गुलत्यग्रनिधातेन भूमे सर्वत्र कंपनम्।
एकेन देहनिष्पत्तिर्वातैश्वर्यं स्मृतं बुधैः॥४१॥

To move with the speed of the wind, power to enter the body of a living beings, power to carry a thing as heavy as a mountain over the shoulders, power to become light or heavy in body's weight, competence to shake the world with the big toe of the foot, are the siddhis concerning the wind.

छायाविहीननिष्पत्तिर्दियाणां च दर्शनम्।
आकाशगमनं नित्यमिदियार्थैः समन्वितम्॥४२॥
दूरे च शब्दग्रहणं सर्वशब्दावगाहनम्।
तन्मात्रलिङ्गग्रहणं सर्वप्राणिनिर्दर्शनम्॥४३॥

The competence to get relieved of one's own shadow, competence to visualise the subtle elements, competence to achieve anything at will, competence to hear the distant sound clearly, the competence to keep up the body with the retention of the subtle tattvas and the competence to visualise as the living beings, are the siddhis of the sense organs.

ऐंद्रमैश्वर्यमित्युक्तमेतैरुक्तः पुरातनः।
यथाकामोपलब्धिश्च पथाकामविनिर्गमः॥४४॥
सर्वत्राभिभवश्चैव सर्वगुह्यनिर्दर्शनम्।
कामानुरूपनिर्माणं वशित्वं प्रियदर्शनम्॥४५॥

The competence to achieve anything with the mere desire for the same, or the competence to wander at will, power to influence one and all, competence to achieve the difficult things, competence to create anything at will or to exercise influence over others and the competence to visualise things at will, are the siddhis of the solar region.

संसारदर्शनं चैव मानसं गुणलक्षणम्।
छेदनं ताडनं बंधं संसारपरिवर्तनम्॥४६॥
सर्वभूतप्रसादश्च मृत्युकालजयस्तथा।
प्राजापत्यमिदं प्रोक्तमहङ्कारिकमुत्तमम्॥४७॥

To cut, to break, to bind, to create, to destroy, the bestow boon on others, to overpower the death as well the time, are the siddhis of the Prajāpati region.

अकारणजगत्सृष्टिस्तथानुग्रह एव च।
प्रलयश्चाधिकारश्च लोकवृत्तप्रवर्तनम्॥४८॥
असादृश्यमिदं व्यक्तं निर्माणं च पृथक्पृथक्।
संसारस्य च कर्तृत्वं ब्रह्मेतदनुत्तमम्॥४९॥

To create, maintain or to destroy, to exercise control, to regulate the world at will, to conceal oneself from others, to create separately all the visible objects, to become a creator of the entire universe, are the siddhis of Brahman.

एतावत्त त्वमित्युक्तं प्राधान्यं वैष्णवं पदम्।
ब्रह्मणा तदगुणं शक्यं वेत्तुमन्वैर्न शक्यते॥५०॥

All the Saktis beyond those brought out above are the saktis of Viṣṇu alone. These are the source of all the saktis of Brahmā and only Brahmā can know about their reality and none else.

विद्यते तत्परं शैवं विष्णुना नावगम्यते।
असंख्येयगुणं शुद्धं को जानीयाच्छिवात्मकम्॥५१॥

There is another sakti above all those mentioned above, which is related to Śiva and even Viṣṇu is unaware of the same. Then who can be aware of the gunas of the suddha Śiva, which are beyond counting.

व्युत्थाने सिद्धयश्वैता ह्यपसर्गाश्च कीर्तिः।
निरोद्धव्याः प्रयत्नेन वैराग्येण परेण तु॥५२॥

During the practice of the yogic exercises, the types of obstructions come in the form of Siddhis, which could be removed after making all the efforts by exercising renunciation.

नाशातिशयतां ज्ञात्वां विषयेषु भयेषु च।
अश्रद्धया त्यजेत्सर्वं विरक्त इति कीर्तिः॥५३॥

Realising well that the worldly comforts lead to the path of destruction, a detached person should disown them fearlessly.

वैतृष्ण्यं पुरुषे ख्यातं गुणवैतृष्ण्यमुच्यते।
वैराग्येणैव संत्याज्याः सिद्धयश्वौपसर्गिकाः॥५४॥

Lack of desires as well as the passion to achieve more and more saktis fearlessly are appreciable in reality. It should be discarded with complete renunciation.

औपसर्गिकमाब्रह्मभुवनेषु परित्यजेत्।
निरुद्धवैव त्यजेत्सर्वं प्रसीदति महेश्वरः॥५५॥

All the obstructions of all the lokas should be removed upto Brahmaloka. Lord Śiva gets pleased in case they are gradually discarded.

प्रसन्ने विमला मुक्तिवैराग्येण परेण वै।
अथवानुग्रहार्थं च लीलार्थं वा तदा मुनिः॥५६॥
अनिरुद्ध्य विचेष्टेद्यः सोप्येवं हि सुखी भवेत्।
कवचिद्भूमि परित्यज्य ह्याकाशे क्रीडते श्रिया॥५७॥
उद्दिरेच्च वक्वचिद्वेदान् सूक्ष्मानर्थान् समासतः।
कवचिच्छुते तदर्थेन श्लोकबंधं करोति सः॥५८॥
कवचिद्दण्डकबंधं तु कुर्याद्विंधं सहस्राः।
मृगपक्षिसमूहस्य रुतज्ञानं च विदति॥५९॥
ब्रह्माद्यं स्थावरान्तं च हस्तामलकवद्ववेत्।
बहुनात्र किमुक्तेन विज्ञानानि सहस्राः॥६०॥
उत्पद्यंते मुनिश्रेष्ठा मुनेस्तस्य महात्मनः।
अभ्यासैनैव विज्ञानं विशुद्धं च स्थिरं भवेत्॥६१॥

When Lord Śiva is pleased, it becomes easier to achieve mokṣa by means of renouncement. Sometimes, by his grace, a sage can roam about without renouncing the siddhis, by granting boons to the people or with the divine support. At times, he can perform sports in the space renouncing the earth even. Sometimes, he can recite the Vedas and their minute forms. He can create the vedic mantras or the daṇḍakas related to them. Sometimes, he can learn the speech of the animals and the birds. All the things from Brahmā to earth become clear to him like a myrobalan placed over the hand palm. O sages, what is the use of excessive talk, in the soul of the noble souled ascetic, several types of knowledge is propitiated. With the continued practice, he becomes auspicious and stable with complete knowledge.

तेजोरूपाणि सर्वाणि सर्वं पश्यति योगवित्।
देवबिंबान्यनेकानि विमानानि सहस्राः॥६२॥

A person well-versed in the yoga can visualise thousands of gods boarding the great aerial vehicles. Everything on earth comes within the purview of his knowledge.

पश्यति ब्रह्माविष्णवींद्रयमाग्निवरुणादि कान्।

ग्रहनक्षत्रताराश्च भुवनानि सहस्रशः॥६३॥

He can visualise the gods like Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Indra, Yama, Agni, Varuṇa and several other gods, besides several of the stars, planets, constellations and their respective regions.

पातालतलसंस्थाश्च समाधिस्थः स पश्यति।

आत्मविद्याप्रदीपेन स्वस्थेनाचलनेन तु॥६४॥

प्रसादामृतपूर्णेन सत्त्वपात्रस्थितेन तु।

तमो निहत्य पुरुषः पश्यति ह्यात्मनीश्वरम्॥६५॥

In the state of the supreme bliss, he can even visualise the dwellers of the nether world. By means of his knowledge, he can completely remove the darkness and can also visualise within himself the lustre of the sattva-prāṇa.

तस्य प्रसादाद्वर्मश्च ऐश्वर्यं ज्ञानमेव च।

वैराग्यमपवर्गश्च नात्र कार्या विचारणा॥६६॥

न शक्यो विस्तरो वर्त्तुं वर्षाणमयुतैरपि।

योगे पाशुपते निष्ठा स्थातव्यं च मुनीश्वराः॥६७॥

Needless to say, that by the grace of lord Śiva, a person can achieve Dharma, fortunes, knowledge, as well as the beatitude. His grace cannot be described in thousands of years. O excellent sages, one should be devoted to the yoga faithfully, which has been propounded by lord Śiva.

Sūta said—

O sages desirous of mokṣa, Lord Maheśvara is pleased over those who exercise self-control, the excellent Brāhmaṇas, those well-versed in the dharma, the ascetics, the teachers, the compassionate ones, the sages, recluses, the learned ones, the people exercising self-control, the three types of donors, the truthful people, people without greed, the recluses, the Vedas and the associated literature, those who are well-versed in Smṛtis and those who are not at all opposed to the scriptures. The word sat is related to Brahman. Those who achieve the same, they are redeemed by achieving Brahman. Those who are neither enraged nor pleased over the matters related to the ten sense organs, they are known as the self-conquered ones. O Brāhmaṇas, the Kṣatriyas and Vaiśyas are known as Dvijas because they have to wear the sacred thread. The one who is aware of the knowledge relating to the different classes of people as described in the Smṛtis and the Vedas, besides the knowledge relating to the various stages of life, which generates comforts on earth as well as the heaven, is known as the Dharmajñāni. Those who achieve the sacred knowledge by serving the preceptor, are known as the Sādhus. A householder who follows the duties of a householder as prescribed in the Śmṛtis, is also called a Sādhu. A forest dweller performing the tapas is also known as a Sādhu.

एवमाश्रमधर्माणां साधनात्साधवः स्मृताः॥१०॥

An ascetic, who performs yoga also, after achieving the yogic saktis, is known as a sādhu. These all people following the dictates meant for the respective āśramas are known as Sādhus.

गृहस्थो ब्रह्मचारी च वानप्रस्थो यतिस्तथा।
धर्माधर्माविह प्रोक्तौ शब्दावेतौ क्रियात्मकौ॥११॥
कुशलाकुशलं कर्म धर्माधर्माविति स्मृतौ।

अधारणे महत्त्वे च अधर्म इति चोच्यते।
अत्रेष्टप्रापको धर्म आचार्यैरुपदिश्यते॥१३॥

A person is known as a Brahmacārī, a Gṛhastha, a Vānaprasthī or a Sanyāsī by the respective activities in which he is engaged. Dharma and Adharma are the means for the performing of the auspicious and the inauspicious activities. To own means dharma and the opposite of it is adharma. To achieve one's desired goal by means of the path shown by the guru, is known as dharma.

अधर्मशानिष्टफलो ह्याचार्यैरुपदिश्ये।

आचिनोति च शास्त्रार्थानाचार्यस्तेन चोच्यते।
विज्ञेयं श्रवणाच्छौतं स्मरणात्स्मार्तमुच्यते॥१६॥

The path of adharma is the one, which leads to the evil. An ācārya is the one who is quite aged, is free from greed, a noble-souled one, is free from pride, is self-disciplined, besides being a simple person, a follower of dharma himself and can inspire others to inspire dharma and the scriptures in them, interpreting them. The element which is to be known after hearing the same is known as Śrauta and the matter which is to be learnt by heart is known as Smārta.

इज्या वेदात्मकं त्रौतं स्मार्तं वर्णाश्रमात्मकम्।
दृष्टानुरूपपरमर्थं यः पृष्ठो नैवापि गूहति॥१७॥
यथादृष्टप्रवादस्तु सत्यं लैङ्गेऽत्र पठ्यते।

तत्तद्गुणवते देयं दातुस्तदानलक्षणम्।
दानं त्रिविधमित्येतत्कनिष्ठज्येष्ठमध्यमम्॥२१॥

The knowledge relating to the Vedas is known as śrauta and the one relating to the different varṇas and the āśramas is known as smārta; one who has come face to face with the truth, and the one who does not conceal it when requested to do so, he is known as ācārya. To repeat the matter included in this Purāṇa verbatim, is known as the truth. Brahmacarya, fasting and non-violence of all the types is the truth. When a person treats others in the same way as he expects others to treat him, it is called the behaviour compassion. Whatever is earned by a person with the fair means and the thing which is liked by him the most, and when it is given to someone, is known as donation. The charities are of three types, viz., lower, mediocre and the best.

कारुण्यात्सर्वभूतेभ्यः संविभागस्तु मध्यमः ।
श्रुतिस्मृतिभ्यां विहितो धर्मो वर्णाश्रमात्मकः ॥ २२ ॥
शिष्टाचाराविरुद्धश्च स धर्मः साधुरुच्यते ।
मायाकर्मफलत्यागी शिवात्मा परिकीर्तिः ॥ २३ ॥
निवृत्तः सर्वसङ्गेभ्यो युक्तो योगी प्रकीर्तिः ।
असक्तो भयतो यस्तु विषयेषु विचार्य च ॥ २४ ॥
अलुब्धः संयमी प्रोक्तः प्रार्थितोपि समंततः ।
आत्मार्थं वा परार्थं वा इन्द्रियाणीह यस्य वै ॥ २५ ॥
न मिथ्या संप्रवर्तन्ते शमस्यैव तु लक्षणम् ।

प्रीतितापविषादेभ्य विनिवृत्तिर्विरक्ता ।
संन्यासः कर्मणां न्यासः कृतानामकृतौः सह ॥ २७ ॥

When the charity is given out of compassion, it is of middle type. To perform according to the charities of Śrutis and Smṛtis in the respective varṇa and āśrama, is known as Dharma. A person who does not come in conflict with the disciplined life of others, is known as the best Dharma. A person who disown the reward of the illusory deeds, is known as Śivātmā. A person who discards all types of attractions is known as a yogin. One who always thinks abut the comforts of the sense organs and remains unmoved, inspite of the pressure of sense organs, he is known as person who has controlled his senses. The symptom of the complete self control is that a person exercises the self restrain inspite of the pressure of the sense organs. A detached person is never apart, inspite of his facing the great trouble, nor does he gets overjoyed on achieving the success. To disown the reward of the karmas which are performed or those which are still to be performed, amounts to Sanyāsa.

अयोग्यस्यापि भगवान् भक्तस्य परमेश्वरः ॥ ३१ ॥

Disowning of the pleasure and pain is known as Nyāsa. All the man-made things, whether they are visible or invisible, are devoid of consciousness. The complete knowledge comprises of the difference between consciousness and unconsciousness. Lord Śiva surely bestows his grace on those who are fully learned. Dharma also ordains similarly, but I am going to reveal a secret to you. A person who is devoted to lord Śiva, he surely attains beatitude. There is no doubt about it. Lord Śiva surely removes all the miseries and he also feels happy with those who are not the excellent yogins.

 भक्तया एव मुनीनां च बलसौभाग्यमेव च।

Achieving the complete divine knowledge, study of the Vedas, offerings for the gods, meditation, performing of the yajñas, tapas, giving away of charities and study or recitation of the Vedas, all contribute to the achieving of the devotion of lord Śiva. O excellent sages, the reward of the devotion equates thousands of the Cāndrāyaṇa vratas, hundreds Prajāpatis, months of fasting, besides the auspicious anuṣṭhānas. Those who are not fully devoted towards lord Śiva, they fall in the mountain caves and face the reward of their deeds. The devotees get redeemed due to their devotion. O Brāhmaṇas, there is no doubt that with an audience with a devotee, even an ordinary person gets entitled to the heavenly pleasures, then what to speak of the devotees themselves. With the devotion to Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Śiva, together with other gods and the ascetics, while consolidating their own position, devotees continue to achieve strength and fortunes.

The lord said—

Then, I replied to Brahmā— O lotus-born one, I can be overpowered with devotion alone. I can be meditated upon over Liṅga. You and Viṣṇu have witnessed me in the ocean. I can be worshipped by the Brāhmaṇas alone or in five-faced form with the reciting of the Pañcākṣara mantra. O born of the cosmic egg, you could have an audience with me till now due to your devotion alone. You desired me to fill the devotion in you fully, which I accepted gladly. O goddess, with the increased devotion, he visualised me in his heart. I declare that I can be overpowered only by means of devotion. O Daughter of Himālaya, I can indeed be visualised in the same form. The devoted Brāhmaṇas can adore me in the form of Liṅga. The faith is the subtle dharma. Faith is jñāna as well as tapas, besides being the heaven and emancipation. One can find me by devotion alone.

The Ṛṣis said—

Brahmā visualised Maheśvara in the form of Sadyojāta, Vāmadeva, Tatpuruṣa, Aghora and Isāna.

Sūta said—

Nineteenth kalpa is known by the name of Śveta-lohita. During this kalpa, when Brahmā was engaged in meditation, a son with a tuft was born to him who came to be known as Śvetalohita.

तं दृष्ट्वा पुरुषं श्रीमान्ब्रह्मा वै विश्वतोमुखः।

सद्योजातं ततो ब्रह्मा ध्यानयोगपरोऽभवत्।
ध्यानयोगात्परं ज्ञात्वा वर्वंदे देवमीश्वरम्॥५॥

At the sight of that person (son of Brahmā), the four-faced Grandsire invoked the great lord in his mind. Thereafter, Brahmā, taking that child to be the family god, bowed in reverence to him.

सद्योजातं तत ब्रह्मा ब्रह्म वै समर्चितयत्।
ततोस्य पार्थितः श्वेताः प्रादुर्भूता महायशाः॥६॥
सुननं नंदनश्चैव विश्वनन्दोपननंदनौ।
शिष्यास्ते वै महात्मानौ यैस्तद्ब्रह्मा सदावृतम्॥७॥

Thereafter, Brahmā observed Sadyojāta quite carefully. Thereafter, four more sons emerged out of the locks of hair of Sadyojāta who came to be known as Sananda, Nandana, Viśvananda and Upanandana. All the four of them were the great souls. Brahmā was always surrounded by all the four of them.

तस्याग्रे श्वेतवण्ठभिः श्वेतो नाम महामुनिः।

Thereafter, a great sage known by the name of Śveta was born followed by the illustrious Hara.

Thereafter, all the sages started worshipping Sadyojāta with great devotion. They kept on praising Antar-Brahman. Therefore, O Brāhmaṇas, all those persons who resort to lord Viśveśvara after being engrossed in breath control and with mental devotion to Brahman, are liberated from sins. They will have the splendour of Brahman and be free from impulses. They will reach beyond the abode of Viṣṇu and then enter Rudra's world.

Thereafter, the thirtieth kalpa is known as Rakta. In this kalpa, Brahmā, of great splendour, had the red colour.

 वामदेवं ततो ब्रह्मा ब्रह्म वै समर्चितयत् ।
 तथा स्तुतो महादेवो ब्रह्मणा परमेश्वरः ॥५॥

Even as Brahmā, being desirous of a son, was meditating, a boy of great resplendence manifested himself. He was adorned with red ornaments, wore red garland and clothes. His eyes were red and was quite valorous. At the sight of the noble boy clad in red garments, Brahmā resorted to great meditation and understood him to be a great lord. Brahmā of self control bowed to Vāmadeva and contemplated on him. Thus, having been eulogised by Brahmā, the supreme lord Śiva was delighted at heart and addressed Brahmā thus.

प्रतीतहृदयः सर्व इदमाह पितामहम्।

“Since O Brahmā, I have seen you meditating on me with the desire of a son and with great devotion, and since you eulogised me with the mantra beginning with “Brāhmaṇa Vāmadevāya”, you will attain the strength of meditation and will realise me as Isvara, the creator of the worlds in every kalpa. Thereafter, four sons were born to him who were as pure and illustrious as Brahmā. They were named as Virajas, Vibāhu, Viśoka and Viśvabhāvana.

ब्रह्मण्याब्रह्मणस्तुत्या वीरा अध्यवसायिनः।
रक्तांबरधराः सर्वे रक्तमात्यानुलेपनाः॥१०॥

They were as pious as Brahmā, besides being heroic and enterprising. They were clad in red costumes and applied red paste.

Their bodies were smeared with red saffron, besides the red ashes were also applied over their bodies. At the close of a thousand years, they re-entered the great eternal lord. In the meantime, they tried to realise Brahman. For blessing the worlds and with a desire for the welfare of their disciples, they imparted instructions in dharma and became favourite of Brahmā. Ultimately, at the end of a thousand years, they re-entered the great lord.

All other Brāhmaṇas practising yoga and who repeat the scared formula “namo brahmaṇe vāmadevāya” and who are devoted to him as their great resort, are liberated from sins. They became devoid of all the impurities and attain the strength of Brahman. They achieve the holy place of Rudraloka from where there is no return to this mortal world.

एकत्रिंशत्तमः कल्पः पीतवासा इति स्मृतः ।

Sūta said—

Thereafter, the thirty first kalpa is known as Pitavāsas, wherein the sacred Brahmā was clad in yellow garments.

ध्यायतः पुत्रकामस्य ब्रह्मणः परमेष्ठिनः ।
प्रादुर्भूतो महातेजाः कुमारः पीतवस्त्रधृक् ॥२॥

When Brahmā, desirous of a son, was meditating, an illustrious boy clad in yellow costumes appeared before him.

पीतगंधानुलिपाङ्कः पीतमाल्यांबरो युवा ।
हेमयज्ञोपवीतश्च पीतोष्णीषो महाभुजः ॥३॥

He was youthful and his body was plastered with yellow paste. He wore garlands of yellow flowers besides the yellow robes. He had long arms, a golden yajñopavīta besides a turban of yellow colour.

तं दृष्ट्वा ध्यानसंयुक्तो ब्रह्मा लोकमहे श्वरम् ।

On seeing him, who was engrossed in meditation, mentally resolved to take refuge in him, who happened to be the overlord as well as the creator of the universe, Brahmā continued his mediation thereafter as well. He saw the excellent cow of the great lord. In her universal form, it came out of his mouth.

चतुष्पदां चतुर्वक्त्रां चतुर्हस्ता चतुःस्तनीम् ।
चतुर्नेत्रा चतुःश्रृंगां चतुर्दृष्ट्वा चतुर्मुखीम् ॥६॥

It had four hoofs, four faces, four hands, four udders, four eyes, four horns, four teeth and four mouths.

अथ तामाह देवेशो रुद्राणी त्वं भविष्यसि ।

The cow was goddess herself having faces all round, possessing thirty two qualities. Observing the great goddess in the form of cow, the great lord who is worshipped by all the Devas, spoke— “O great goddess, symbol of intellect and mercy, come on, come on.” When so addressed, she with joined palms, in reverence to the lord, stood before him. The lord of the gods, then spoke to her— “O goddess, you envelop the universe by your yogic powers, you should keep it under your control. You will be Umā, for the benefit of the Brāhmaṇas and for the attachment of their goal.

तथैनां पुत्रकामस्य ध्यायतः परमेष्ठिनः ।
प्रददौ देवदेवेशः चतुष्पादां जगद्गुरुः ॥११॥

The lord of Devas, the preceptor of the universe, gave her to Brahmā, who was engaged in meditation for getting a son.

ततस्ता ध्यानयोगेन विदित्वा परमेश्वरीम् ।
ब्रह्मा लोकगुरोः सोथ प्रतिपेदे महेश्वरीम् ॥१२॥

By practising meditation, Brahmā came to realise her to be a great goddess and he accepted her from the preceptor of the worlds.

गायत्रीं तु ततो रौद्रीं ध्यात्वा ब्रह्मानुयंत्रितः ।
इत्येतां वैदिकीं विद्यां रौद्रीं गायत्रिमीरिताम् ॥१३॥

जपित्वा तु महादेवीं ब्रह्मा लोकनमस्कृताम्।
प्रपन्नस्तु महादेवं ध्यानयुक्तेन चेतसा॥१४॥

After meditating on Gāyatrī pertaining to Rudra, Brahmā became self conscious. With the performing of the recitation of Rudra-Gāyatrī as instructed by the lord and realising that it was the Vedic knowledge, Brahmā, who is adored by the universe, resorted to the great lord with his mind engaged in meditation.

ततस्तस्य महादेवो दिव्ययोगं बहुश्रुतम्।
ऐश्वर्यं ज्ञानसंपत्तिं वैराग्यं च ददौ प्रभुः॥१५॥

The lord then bestowed on him the divine yoga, great learning, riches and glory, wealth of knowledge and detachment.

ततोस्य पार्श्वतो दिव्याः प्रादुर्भूताः कुमारकाः।

From his sides then emerged the divine sons, who wore the yellow garlands, yellow costumes and yellow necklaces. Yellow paste were applied over their bodies and their heads had yellow turbans. Their faces and hair were also of yellow colour. These persons of great power who were free from impurities, spent their time for the welfare of the Brāhmaṇas. They were yogic souls engaged in penances. They were quite virtuous and possessed the power of yoga. They instructed the sages engaged in long sacrifices in the system of great yoga and finally merged into the body of the lord. Thus, others too seek refuge in him in this manner who have controlled their souls, who have conquered the sense organs, having been engaged in meditation, will become sinless. They will possess the splendour of Brahman and will be free from blemishes. They will merge into Rudra – the great lord and will be released from rebirth.

After the lapse of the Pīta kalpa, Asita kalpa or Kṛṣṇa kalpa was started. In that particular kalpa, Brahmā himself became of dark complexion. When the universe was turned into a vast ocean of water and after the lapse of a divine thousand years, then feeling painful, Brahmā became desirous of starting creation.

Worried about the desire for the getting of a son, Parameśthin Brahmā changed to dark complexion.

Then, the great ascetic Brahmā found a boy appearing before him who was of black complexion. The valorous boy was illuminating with his own lustre. He was clad in black garments with his head covered with a black turban and the black rosary hanging around his neck. Clad in black garments, the complexion of his body was brownish. Visualising the immensely valorous but terrific great soul, known as Aghora, Brahmā offered his salutation to him.

Then, Brahmā started performing breath control. He devoted his heart and mind towards lord Śiva. Only Brahmā, then, visualised Aghora as Brahman. Then meditating, the valorous Aghora then appeared before Brahmā. Thereafter, four sons were born out of his back who were of black complexion, with black tufts over their heads and wore black costumes.

O all pervading one, with the repeating of the Aghora mantra a lakh of times, a person is relieved of Brahmahatyā even. O son, with the reciting of half the number (fifty thousand), one is relieved of half the sins of speech and with the reciting of further half of it (viz. twenty five thousand times), the mental sins are washed out. The sins committed deliberately are removed by resorting to the japam of the said mantra four times of the above figure. The sins committed under the influence of anger are washed out by muttering the said mantra eight times the above number. The sin of Brahmahatyā gets removed by muttering the said mantra a crore of times. A person is relieved of the sin of matricide or the killing of the mother, after muttering the said mantra a hundred thousand times. The killer of the cow, the ungrateful person and the killer of a woman, is relieved of the relative sin by muttering the Aghora mantra ten thousand times. There is no doubt about it. One who deliberately commits a sin and a drunkard is relieved of the sin with the muttering of Aghora mantra a lakh of times; one who consumes the spirituous liquor is relieved of the related sin by muttering the mantra a lakh of times. There is no doubt about it. One who takes food without taking a bath has to mutter the mantra a thousand times for getting purified, a degraded person who consumes food without first giving it to a Brāhmaṇa, can be purified with the muttering of the mantra a thousand times. A person who steals the riches of a Brāhmaṇa or steals the gold, can be relieved of the related sin by muttering the mantra mentally, a hundred thousand times. There is no doubt about it. Similarly, one who uses the preceptor's bed to sleep, the killer of the mother or a Brāhmaṇa should perform the japam similarly.

A son which is earned by coming into contact with other sinners is equated with the basic sinner. Still, he is purified with the reciting of the mantra ten thousand times. The sin when committed mentally by coming into contact with a sinner, by a person, he is freed from the same by repeating the mantra a lakh of times. In case, the sin is committed by speaking in low voice, the mantra has to be recited four times and in case, it is done loudly, the number of the recitation should be enhanced to eight times. Those who are associated with the prime sinner, the recitation has to be reduced by a half of it. In case, the sin is committed innocently, then the sinner should perform half of the prescribed recitation. O Brāhmaṇas, in case, a sinful Brāhmaṇa kills another Brāhmaṇa, drinks wine, steals gold and sleeps over the bed of the preceptor, then he should resort to repentance as follows.

He should drink the urine of the white cow, reciting Rudra-Gāyatrī. Then, reciting the mantra “gandha-dvārā” should take the fresh cowdung of the kapilā (white) or any other cow. Thereafter, reciting “tejosi śukram” mantra, should consume the ghee of the cow. Thereafter, he should take the milk of kapilā or any other cow reciting the mantra āpyasva”. Thereafter, he should take the fresh curd of a kapilā or any other cow, reciting the mantra dadhi-krāvāṇa”. To this mixture, water taken with tuft of the kusā-grass should be added by repeating the mantra Devasyatvā”. The mixture should be well stirred in a vase made of gold, silver, copper or in a cup made of lotus leaf or plāśa leaf, repeating the aghora mantra. In the same vase, he should also place different gems and a piece of gold along with a tuft of kusā grass.

 ब्राह्मां ब्रह्मजपं कुर्यादाचम्य च यथाविधि॥२६॥

He should repeat the mantra of Aghora a hundred thousand times and perform homa with ghee, cooked rice, sacrificial twigs, sesame seeds, barley grains and unhusked grains. He should perform homa seven times separately with each one of these materials. If these materials are not available, he can perform homa with ghee alone. O Brāhmaṇas, one should perform homa as well as ablution for the lord with ghee repeating the Aghora mantra. He should bathe the lord with eight droṇa measures of ghee and wipe it off. He should observe a fast for a whole day and night, take holy bath and drink kūrca before the image of Śiva. After sipping ācamana, he should repeat Gāyatrī.

By performing this, the following sinners are liberated from the sins :— an ungrateful person, a killer of a Brāhmaṇa, a destroyer of a child in the womb, a murderer of a warrior, a killer of his preceptor, a betrayer of faith, a thief, one who steals the gold, a defiler of the preceptor's bed, a drunkard, a low caste woman, destroyer of the chastity of other's wife, a destroyer of a Brāhmaṇa's property, the killer of a cow, a matricide, a patricide, an idol breaker and particularly the destroyer of a liṅga. In case, these sins are committed by a Brāhmaṇa, and whether the sins are mental, verbal, physical or of any other type and even if these sins are committed a thousand times, he is liberated from them with the performing of the aforesaid rites. Even when the sins are accumulated in the hundreds of births, he stands liberated (with the performing of the aforesaid rites). This secret has been revealed to me in the context of lord Aghora. Therefore, a Brāhmaṇa should repeat the Aghora mantra, perpetually for getting relieved of the sins.

Chapter 16

Glory of Iśāna

सूत उवाच

अथान्यो ब्रह्मणः कल्पो वर्तते मुनिपुङ्कवाः ।
विश्वरूप इति ख्यातो नामतः परमाद्भुतः ॥१॥

Sūta said—

O sages, soon thereafter, the well-known kalpa of Brahmā known as Viśvarūpa, started.

विनिवृत्ते तु संहारे पुनः सृष्टे चराचरे ।
ब्रह्मणः पुत्रकामस्य ध्यायतः परमेष्ठिनः ॥२॥
प्रादुर्भूता महानादा विश्वरूपा सरस्वती ।

विश्वोष्णीषा विश्वगंधा विश्वमाता महोष्ठिका ।

अथ तं मनसा ध्यात्वा युक्तात्मा वै पितामहः ॥५॥

ओमीशान नमस्तेऽस्तु महादेव नमोस्तु ते ॥६॥
नमोस्तु सर्वविद्यानामीशान परमेश्वर ।
नमोस्तु सर्वभूतानामीशान वृषबाहन ॥७॥

At the end of the time of dissolution, the mobile and immobile beings were recreated again, then the Parameṣṭhin Brahmā, being desirous of having sons, meditated, as a result of which, the goddess Sarasvatī who created the huge sound, appeared before him. She wore the garlands of the universe and the costumes, besides the auspicious yajñopavīta and the turban over the head. Being the mother of the universe, she had all the fragrance over her and had long lips. By means of his meditation, the yuktātmā Brahmā, devoted himself to lord Īśāna, who was adorned with the spotless crystal gems. He adored the all pervading lord Īśāna, saying— “O form of Omkāra, O Īśāna, O Mahādeva, salutation to you! O well-versed in all the vidyās, salutation to you! O lord of all the living beings, having the bull as the vehicle, salutation to you!

ब्रह्मणोधिपते तुभ्यं ब्रह्माणे ब्रह्मरूपिणे।
नमो ब्रह्माधिपतये शिर्व मेऽस्तु सदाशिव॥८॥

O lord of Brahmā, salutation to you! O Sadāśiva, let me meet with welfare.

ओंकारमूर्ते देवेश सद्योजात नमोनमः।
प्रपद्ये त्वां प्रपत्नोऽस्मि सद्योजाताय वै नमः॥९॥

O representative of Omkāra, salutation to you! O lord of the Devas, O Sadyojāta, salutation to you! I resort to you. I resort to Sadyojāta (I take refuge in you).

अभवे च भवे तुभ्यं तथा नातिभवे नमः।
भवोद्भव भवेशान मां भजस्व महाद्युते॥१०॥

Salutation to you, the unborn, the source of birth, and who is not beyond the worldly existence. O Bhava, O Īśāna, O source of the worlds, O deity of the great lustre, you kindly bless me.

वामदेव नमस्तुभ्यं ज्येष्ठाय वरदाय च।
नमो रुद्राय कालाय कलनाय नमो नमः॥११॥

O Vāmadeva, salutation to you, the eldest being, the bestower of boons, salutation to Rudra and Kāla, the controller of time.

नमो विकरणायैव कालवर्णाय वर्णिने।
बलाय बलिना नित्यं सदा विकरणाय ते॥१२॥

Salutation to the lord as the mind, to the lord who is black in colour, to the lord as a religious student, to the lord who is strength of the brave people and the lord who is devoid of the sense organs.

बलप्रमथनायैव बलिने ब्रह्मरूपिणे।
सर्वभूतेश्वराय भूतानां दमनाय च॥१३॥

Salutation to the suppresser of Bala, to the strong of the form of Brahman; salutation to the overlord and suppresser of the living beings.

मनोन्मनाय देवाय नमस्तुभ्यं महाद्युते।
वामदेवाय वामाय नमस्तुभ्यं महात्मने॥१४॥

Salutation to the impeller of the mind. Salutation to the lord of the great lustre, salutation to the shining Vāmadeva and to the supreme soul.

ज्येष्ठाय चैव श्रेष्ठाय रुद्राय वरदाय च।
कालहंत्रे नमस्तुभ्यं नमस्तुभ्यं महात्मने॥१५॥

Salutation to the eldest and the greatest, salutation to Rudra, the bestower of boons. Salutation to the slayer of Kāla. Salutation to you – possessing the noble soul.

इति स्तवेन देवेशं ननाम वृषभध्वजम्।
यः पठेत् सकृदेवेह ब्रह्मलोकंगमिष्यति॥१६॥

Praying thus, he bowed in reverence to the lord of the Devas and the bull-bannered lord. The one who reads this narrative even ones, becomes fit to achieve the world of Brahmā.

The one who narrates this prayer to the Brāhmaṇas at the time of Śrāddha, attains the greatest goal. When Brahmā, thus prayed the lord Śiva, then spoke to him— “I am delighted with you. What for you adore me?” Then Brahmā, bowed in reverence to the delightful Rudra and then spoke to him in clear words— “O lord, I intend to visualise you universal form. Here is the universal cow – the goddess of welfare who is possessed of four hoofs, four faces, four horns, four mouths, four curved fangs, four udders, four hands and four eyes? How is she known as Viśvarūpā (or universal form)? What is her name? What is her lineage? To whom does she belong? What is her power of action?” On hearing the words of Brahmā, the bull-bannered Īśāna spoke to Brahmā – the best among the gods, the self-born one, in the words full of the secrets of all the mantras, which being sacred, are conducive to prosperity.

Listen to the great secret. As in the first creation, the current kalpa is known as Viśvarūpa. O lord, there is a region of Brahmā which has been attained by you. O lord, beyond that region, there is one auspicious region of lord Viṣṇu who was born of my left limb. Since that time, the thirty-third kalpa has begun.

शतं शतसहस्राणामतीता ये स्वयंभुवः ।

O learned god of the gods, hundreds and hundred thousands of Brahmās have passed away. Now you listen.

You are a devotee of the spiritual lineage of Māṇḍavya, you have attained the state of my son with the performing of penance. You can realise the supreme bliss by getting stabilised in bliss.

O lord, you possess the following qualities of yoga, sāṃkhya, penances, learning, Śāstrik injunctions, holy rites, pleasant speech, truth, compassion, Vedic knowledge, non-violence, wisdom, forbearance, meditation, closeness with the lord, control of senses, quiescence, intelligence, illusion, intellect, fortitude, splendour, ethics, fame, intelligence, modesty, vision, auspiciousness, speech, satisfaction, skill in the exercise of the sense organs, performance of Vedic rites and pleasure. The goddess has thirty two qualities which are recognised in her appellation of thirty two syllables.

प्रधानं प्रकृतिश्वैव यामाहुस्तत्त्वचितकाः॥३४॥

O Brahmā, the goddess Prakṛti who is the source of your birth, has been created by me. She is supreme to Viṣṇu and other gods. She is my creation and intellectuals call her by various names as the four-faced deity, the origin of the universe, primordial native, cow or speech, Gaurī, Māyā, Vidyā, Kṛṣṇā, Hemavatī, Pradhāna or Prakṛti.

शिष्टाश्च नियतात्मानः प्रविष्टा रुद्रमीश्वरम्॥३९॥

She alone is unborn. She has red, white and black complexions. She creates the living beings in the universe who resemble her to be Gāyatrī of universal form. Thus speaking, lord Mahādeva, Iśāna, produced four sons from the body of the goddess who were known as Jatī, Muṇḍī, Śikhaṇḍī and Ardhamaṇḍa. All the four of them, getting proficiency in yogic practices, served Maheśvara for a divine thousand years and delivered discourses on dharma. They followed the path of yogic practices. They followed the path of nobility and had controlled their own souls. They were ultimately absorbed in Rudra.

स याति ब्रह्मसायुज्यं प्रसादात्परमेष्ठिनः ।

Sūta said—

Thus, I have narrated about the origin of Sadyojāta and other forms of Siva. A person who himself reads it or narrates it to others or the excellent Brāhmaṇas, he, by the grace of Brahmā, achieves the Sāyujya devotion of Brahmā.

Then the gods and the Rṣis offering their salutation to Brahmā, asked him— “O lord, how was the Liṅga formed? How should lord Rudra be worshipped by means of the Liṅga? What is Liṅga? Who is Liṅga?

O excellent gods, Liṅga appeared by itself from the ocean for the protection of Brahmā and Viṣṇu. This happened when the aerial chariots went to Janaloka with the great sages and then at the change of the situation as well as the creation, at the end of thousands of Caturyugas, they proceeded on to the Satyaloka and ultimately in the absence of their lords, with the decline of Brahmā (myself), all the mobiles and immobiles were dried up. Besides this, all the humans, animals, trees, Piśācas, Rākṣasas, and Gandharvas, were reduced to ashes with the rays of the sun. The entire universe getting burnt was turned into an ocean. Suddenly, the darkness was spread everywhere. Then Viṣṇu, the yogic soul, went to sleep in the waters of the ocean, having a thousand heads, a thousands eyes, a thousand feet and arms. He, being the universal soul, was all pervading, the source of the origin of all, possessing rajoguṇa, Brahmā in the form of tamoguṇa and Viṣṇu in the form of sattvaguṇa. Because of his all pervading universal soul was Maheśvara as well. He was with Kāla as the god of death. He was spotless, white, pure, besides being black and unblemished soul, having long arms. He was the form of sat and asat.

“O illustrious Brahmā, I welcome you. O son, O foremost of the gods!” On hearing the words of Viṣṇu, I getting influenced with rajoguna, with inimical intentions, said to him— “You call me as son, repeatedly. But I happen to be the creator of the universe, besides being the destroyer. By calling me vatsa (son) smilingly, you consider me as disciple and yourself as the preceptor, but I happen to be the creator of the universe besides being the cause of its destruction. I am the eternal one, unborn and Brahmā – the universal soul. I am the lotus-eyed Dhātā as well as Vidhātā. You tell me at once, as to why do you address me as son, out of ignorance?” Then he replied to me— “Look here, you claim yourself to be the creator, sustainer, as well as the destroyer, but you have emerged out of my body. You have forgotten that I happen to be the lord of the universe, besides being Nārāyaṇa, Puruṣa, Paramātmā – the supreme soul, Puruhūta – invoked by many, Puruṣṭuta – eulogised by others, besides being Acyuta, Īśāna and the source of the universe. This has been forgotten by you. You have forgotten this aspect of mine, which is due to the influence of my illusion. You care to listen the truth from me. O Brahmā, I happen to be the supreme Brahman, besides being the supreme tattva. I am the supreme jyotiḥ or flame. I am the eternal supreme soul. O Brahmā, whatever has been visualised or heard in this world, in the form of mobile and immobile beings, are absorbed in me. They were created by me. Formerly the unmanifest pradhāna, the twenty fourth principle from the gross to the indestructible atom, was created by me. Out of fury, Rudra and others were created. Out of joy and sport, you were born as also the cosmos, intellect, the threefold ego, subtle elements, sense organs, including the mind, the gross elements were also created by me.” As he finished his speech, a terrible, thrilling fight started between both of us. In the middle of the ocean of dissolution, we were engaged in fight, instigated by rajas.

एतस्मिन्नतरे लिङ्गमभवन्वावयोः पुरः ।
विवादशमनार्थं हि प्रबोधार्थं च भास्वरम्॥३३॥

In the meantime, a brilliant column appeared in front of both of us in order to suppress our dispute and to enlighten us.

ज्वालामालासहस्राद्यं कालानलश्तोपमम् ।
क्षयवृद्धिविनिर्मुक्तमादिमध्यांतवर्जितम्॥३४॥

It had thousands of clusters of flames. It was comparable with hundreds of (all consuming fires). It was stable with no decline or increase. It was without beginning and end.

अनौपम्यमनिर्देशमव्यक्तं विश्वसंभवम् ।
तस्य ज्वालासहस्रेण मोहित भगवान् हरिः॥३५॥

It was beyond comparison, inexplicable and indistinct. I happened to be the source of the universe. Lord Viṣṇu was deluded by its thousand flames.

मोहितं प्राह मामत्र परीक्षाकोऽग्निसंभवम् ।
अधोगमिष्याम्यनलस्तंभस्यानुपमस्य च॥३६॥

I too was deluded. Then, Viṣṇu said to me— “Let us test the fierce beings. I shall go to the root of this incomparable column of fire.

भवानूर्द्धं प्रयत्नेन गंतुमर्हसि सत्वरम् ।

एवं व्याहत्वं विश्वात्मा स्वरूपमकरोत्तदा॥३७॥
वाराहमहमप्याशु हंसत्वं प्रासवान्सुराः ।
तदाप्रभृति मामहृष्टसं हंसो विराङ्गिति॥३८॥

You should go upward.” After saying this, Viṣṇu took to the form of a boar. O gods, I assumed the form of a swan. Ever since, they call me hamśa (swan) or the virāt hamśa.

हंसहंसेति य ब्रूयान्मां हंसः स भविष्यति ।
सुश्रेतो ह्यनलाक्षश्च विश्वतः पक्षसंयुतः॥३९॥
मननिलजवो भूत्वा गतोहं चोर्ध्वतः सुराः ।

वाराहमसितं रूपमासथाय गतवानधः ।
एवं वर्षसहस्रं तु त्वरचिष्णुरधोगतः॥४३॥

The one who repeatedly calls me a swan, shall himself become a swan of bright white colour, with fairy eyes and feathers. O gods, I assumed the speed of the wind and the mind and flew higher and higher. Viṣṇu, the all pervading one, assumed the form of a black boar and penetrated in the earth, moving lower and lower. The boar looked like the heap of collyrium. It was a hundred yojanas in length, ten yojanas in girth. His body was huge like the mountain Meru. It had white and curved teeth and refulgence of the all consuming sun, with a long snout and loud grunt. Its legs were short and its body was of diverse colours. It was victorious, firm and incomparable. Assuming the form of a black boar, Viṣṇu went lower and lower, hurriedly for a period of a thousand years.

नापश्यदल्पमप्यस्य मूलं लिङ्गस्य सूकरः ।
तावत्कालं गतोद्युद्धमहमप्यरिसूदनः॥४४॥

Still, he could not reach the bottom of the column. O destroyer of the enemies, throughout that period of time, I went on flying higher and higher.

सत्वरं सर्वयत्नेन तस्यान्तं ज्ञातुमिच्छ्या।
श्रांतो ह्यदृष्टा तस्यान्तमहङ्कारादधो गतः॥४५॥

I hurried up my efforts to sea the end of the column. Then, I felt tired. Since I was arrogant, but could not see the end of the column, therefore, I returned to the place of my start.

तथैव भगवान् विष्णुः श्रातः संत्रस्तलोचनः।
सर्वदेवभवस्तूर्णमुत्थितः स महावपुः॥४६॥

Similarly, lord Viṣṇu also felt tired. The fatigue and fear were evident in his eyes. He, the origin of the gods, returned immediately to the place of start.

समागतो मया सार्धं प्रणिपत्य महामनाः।
मायया मोहितः शंभोस्तस्थौ संविग्नमानसः॥४७॥

Both of us bowed in reverence to lord Śiva. The noble-minded Viṣṇu was deluded by Śiva's Māyā and he stood there mentally dejected.

पृष्ठतः पार्श्वतश्चैव चाग्रतः परमेश्वरम्।
प्रणिपत्य मया सार्धं सस्मार किमिदं त्विति॥४८॥

Both of us bowed in reverence to lord Śiva from the sides, front and behind. We wondered as to what was he?

तदा समभवत्तत्र नादो वै शब्दलक्षणः।
ओमोमिति सुरश्रेष्ठाः सुव्यक्तः प्लुतलक्षणः॥४९॥

O great gods, then a loud sound of om issued out of the column. It was clearly a protected sound.

आद्यवर्णमकारं तु उकारं चोत्तरे ततः।

मकारं मध्यतश्चैव नादांतं तस्य चोमिति॥५१॥

Thinking as to what could it be, Viṣṇu stood there with me. Then, he visualised the eternal first letter a on the right sides of the liṅga, then the letter u was seen on the left side. Thereafter, the letter m was found in the middle and the vibratory sound at the end. This formed the word om.

सबाह्यभ्यंतरं चैव सबाह्यभ्यंतरस्थितम्।
आदिमध्यांतरहितमानंदस्यापि कारणम्॥५५॥

Viṣṇu saw the first syllable a in the south like the disc of the sun, the second syllable u as resplendent as fire in the north, the third m in the middle as resplendent as the sphere of the moon and above it, he saw the lord like the pure crystal. It was the fourth entity, devoid of attributes, nectarine, unsullied, undisturbed, devoid of mutually clashing the opposites, unique, void, without an interior or exterior, but still endowed with exterior and interior, as it was stationed both without and within. It was devoid of beginning, middle and besides being the cause of bliss.

The three mātras and a half mātra called nāda together constitute Brahman. The three Vedas Rk, Yajuh and Sāman are in the form of the three mātrās. Viṣṇu contemplated on Śiva, the universal soul, through the words of the Vedas. The Vedas became a sage, Viṣṇu understood the glorious essence of the Vedas, the supreme lord, through that sage alone.

Brahmā said—

Rudra is free from the anxieties and worries. Speech recede along with mind being unable to attain him. He is expressible through the single syllable (om) which is the divine order, the supreme cause, truth, bliss, nectar, the supreme Brahman, greater than the greatest. Out of that single syllable om, the syllable a is Brahmā, u is Viṣṇu, and m is Rudra. a is the cause of creation, u of illusion and m is the cause of bliss.

मकाराख्यो विभुर्बीजी हृकारो बीजमुच्यते।

 अस्य लिङ्गादभूद्वीजमकारो बीजिनः प्रभोः।
 उकारयोनौ निक्षिसमवर्धत समंततः॥६५॥

The syllable m is the sower, a is the seed and u is the womb. The three symbolise the lord, Pradhāna and Puruṣa. Thus, the sower, the seed and the womb together with nāda constitute lord Śiva. The sower divided itself out of his own free will. Out of the liṅga of the lord, the sower created the seed a which was discharged by him into the womb u where it developed all round.

सौवर्णमभवच्चाण्डमावेष्याद्यं तदक्षरम्।

अनेकाक्षरं तथा चाप्सु दिव्यमण्डं व्यवस्थितम्॥६६॥

It turned into a golden egg, enveloping the first letter a. This divine egg remained in water for many years.

Then, at the end of a thousand years, the egg that had evolved out of the unborn and stationed in the water, was split into two by the primeval lord himself. The splendid golden egg became heaven and the base became the earth.

तस्मादण्डोद्भवो जज्ञे त्वकाराख्यश्वतुर्मुखः।

स स्त्रा सर्वलोकानां स एव त्रिविधः प्रभुः॥६९॥

From the egg, the four-faced Brahmā was born. He happens to be the creator of the universe, besides being the lord of the three forms.

The wise exponents of yajuh say that om is Brahman. The Rk and Sāman *śruti*s too have declared similarly. On the lord of the Devas, precisely we meditated and we eulogised him by reciting the Vedic mantras. Delighted by our eulogy, the unsullied lord delightfully stationed himself into the divine linga, after assuming the form of sound.

On seeing the great lord along with Umā, Viṣṇu bowed in reverence to them and then looked up at them. He saw a mantra with five digits emerging out of om̄. It resembled the pure crystal and contained thirty eight syllables. It was conducive to the enhancement of knowledge and was means for the achievement of all the righteous matters. He saw the Rk of twenty four syllables and four digits in Gāyatrī metre and in green colour with the efficacy for gaining control. He saw the Atharvan mantra of thirty three syllables, eight digits, black in colour and with its efficacy of black magic. He saw the Yajus mantra of thirty five syllables, eight digits, white in colour with the efficacy for peace. He saw the Sāman mantra of sixty six syllables of thirteen digits in the Jagati meter, in the coral red colour with the efficacy for creation and the dissolution of the universe. Having received the five mantras, lord Viṣṇu started their recitation. He found lord Śiva in all the digits and syllables, constituting the limbs, with the body comprising of Rk, Yajuḥ and Sāman with Īśāna for the coronet, Tatpuṛuṣa for the face, Aghora for his heart, Vāmadeva for his private parts, Sadyojāta for his feet, serpents for his ornaments, with eyes and hands all round. After having eulogised thus, Viṣṇu ceased along with Brahmā. The excellent hymn is auspicious and is destructive of all the sins. The one who reads this himself or narrates it to a Brāhmaṇa, well-versed in the Vedas, achieves the region of Brahmā, though he might have incurred sins. Hence, one should recite or narrate this to splendid Brāhmaṇas for working off all the sins. This has been ordained by Viṣṇu.

Enlightenment of Brahmā

How did Brahmā emerge out of lotus in the Padmakalpa? How did Brahmā and Viṣṇu see lord Śiva? You kindly particularly enlighten us on this issue?

Sūta said—

The entire universe was undivided and full of darkness in the form of an ocean. In the vast ocean, lord Viṣṇu, the holder of Śaṅkha (conch), Cakra (disc) and Gadā (mace), having the complexion of clouds, with eyes resembling the lotus flowers, wearing a crown over the head, well known by the name of Hari, spouse of Lakṣmī, also known as Nārāyaṇa, Puruṣottama, was sleeping over the serpent bed. The entire universe emerged out of his mouth. He had eight arms. He had a broad chest. He was the source of origin of the entire universe. He was Yogātmā and well-verses in Yoga. He getting established in Yoga, spreading his vast body over the bed of a thousand-hooded snake, was sleeping with comfort.

The extremely powerful lord who was absorbed in himself, while in sleep, created playfully from his navel a lotus flower having a lustre of the sun at noon, with a long stalk.

When the beautiful lord Viṣṇu was thus sporting with the lotus flower, there Brahmā, who was born out of the golden egg, having the golden complexion, foremost of the learned people, four-faced, reached there at his own will and started sporting with the lotus of Viṣṇu, with the goddess Śrī Lakṣmī. He then went to lord Viṣṇu and asked in his sweet words— “Who are you lying in the water of the ocean?”

Listening to the sweet words of Brahmā, lord Viṣṇu, seated himself over the bed. Then with his eyes filled with surprise, he said to him— “I take refuge and shelter in the water in each one of the kalpas. That what is to be done, whatever has been done and whatever has to be done, is established from here automatically. The heaven, earth and the space are under my control. I happen to be the supreme being for all.”

Thus speaking, lord Viṣṇu spoke again— “Who are you? Where from have you reached before me? Where have you to go from this place? Where is your dwelling place? Who are you, O universal form? What can I do for you?" Because of the illusion of lord Śiva, Brahmā could not recognise Viṣṇu. When so asked by Viṣṇu, Brahmā said to him— "I am also the creator of the universe as you are." Listening to the words of Brahmā with surprise and with his permission, the source of the creation of the universe, the great yogī Viṣṇu, out of curiosity, entered the mouth of Brahmā. He witnessed in the belly of Brahmā, eighteen islands besides the oceans and the mountains. The immensely illustrious, long-armed, lord Viṣṇu, entering the belly of Brahmā, saw the seven lokas inhabited with the people of the four varṇas. Then he said again and again— "How powerful is his tapas?" Lord Viṣṇu witnessed several types of creations in the belly of Brahmā. Thereafter, Viṣṇu wandered in the belly of Brahmā for a thousand years, but he could not find the end of it. Then, lord Viṣṇu, who sleeps over the serpent bed, the refuge of lokas, came out of the mouth of Brahmā and said to him— "O sinless one, you are the beginning, middle and the end of the universe. I could not find the end of your belly. You are the Kāla (time), directions and the sky." Thus speaking, Brahmā was again addressed by lord Viṣṇu— "I am also the lord similarly, O excellent god, you also enter my belly and witness the astonishing lokas there, which are of surprising nature." Listening to his enthusiastic and pleasing words, and facilitating him, the truthful Brahmā then entered the belly of Viṣṇu and found several lokas in his womb.

He kept on wandering there but could not find the end of the same. Thereafter, realising the activities of Brahmā, closing all the exit routes, lord Viṣṇu slept there completely. Finding all the exit gates closed, Brahmā reduced his form and found the exit route from the navel.

Thereafter, the four-armed Brahmā came out of the navel through the lotus stalk and there he took to his own form. The self born, the source of the origin of the universe, was then seated over the lotus flower.

In the meantime, both of them kept on struggling with each other. The endless soul, the lord of the bhūtas, carrying a trident in his hand, clad in golden costumes, lord Śiva arrived there from somewhere, where lord Viṣṇu was sleeping over the serpent bed. With his walking rapidly in the water, with the shaking of the oceanic water and with the touch of his feet, the drops of water started rising in the sky. Then, hot and cold winds started blowing. Witnessing the great surprise, Brahmā then spoke to Viṣṇu— “The hot and cold drops of water are shaking the lotus very much.

I am angry with him.” Thus thinking, Lord Viṣṇu replied.

“O lord, you are in the state of confusion in the lotus. O Deva, what have I done this? O best of the humans, what is in your mind? You speak out to me truthfully.” Then Brahmā, who is the storehouse of the knowledge in the Vedas, having lotus like eyes, who speaks according to the human conduct, replied to him— “I am known as Brahmā and had entered in your belly as per your command in the same way as you had entered my belly. As the lokas had been witnessed by you in my belly, I did so exactly in the same manner. O sinless one, I returned after a thousand years. You, out of jealousy, in order to overpower me, closed all the exit doors. Then, I, entering the navel with my strength, came out through the lotus stalk. You should not feel disgusted in any way. O Viṣṇu, this is the sequence of events in the activities. What should be done by me now? You kindly tell me.”

You shall enjoy all the delight. You speak out the acceptable words. O lord, you descend from the lotus. You are a great yogin. You are respectable for me. You are Praṇava yourself. You will be the master of all from today itself. You would be known as Padmayoni (born of lotus) with a white turban over your head, which means that the lotus shall be the source of your birth. O Brahmā, O lord, you shall be my son. You are the lord of the seven worlds.” This is the boon pronounced on Brahmā by Viṣṇu which was delightfully accepted by Brahmā without any malice and said— “Be it so.” At the same time, Brahmā said to Viṣṇu, finding lord Śiva arriving like the rising sun.

He has eyes on all the four sides, he looks like the lord of the world. He is thundering aloud with terrific sound. He is the ball of resplendence and is illuminating all the directions, pervading in the sky, is approaching this side.” At these words of Brahmā, Viṣṇu replied him thus.

splashed and then it rises towards the sky as waves. O Brahmā, when the water is so splashed, it drenches your entire body. The breath which exhales from his nostrils, shakes bitterly the lotus emerging out of my navel along with your body. The approaching person is none else than lord Śiva himself. He is without beginning. There is no source of his origin. He is the destroyer of the universe. Let both of us eulogise the bull-bannered lord Śiva.

Who is the third Śiva, besides the two of us?”

Śiva. He is a great yogi. He is dharma, besides being the terrific one. He is the sower of the seeds. He is self resplendent. Lord Śiva himself plays with the world as a child plays with the toys. He is Pradhāna, indestructible, yoni, eternal womb, the unmanifest Prakṛti and the tamas. These are my names since I perpetually give birth to creation. The person of your query is lord Śiva, who is the god of ascetics and they being afraid of the pangs of birth and death, resort to him. He is the sower of the seeds. You are the seed yourself and I happen to be the eternal womb.” On being thus addressed, Brahmā, the soul of the universe, asked again- “How is it that you are a womb, I am the seed and (lord Śiva) is the sower? This is a puzzle which can be solved by you alone.”

After thinking about the multiformed creation, Viṣṇu spoke in answer to the specific query of Brahmā, the creator of the worlds- “There is no other greater living being than him. He is the great mystery, the dimensional abode of intellect and the coveted goal of spiritualists. He splits himself into two. His unqualitative part remained unmanifest; the qualitative part came into appearance. Of him who was aware of activities of Prakṛti and who was inaccessible and fathomless, the seed was born, formerly at the first creation. This seed was laid into the womb, which after the lapse of sometime, grew into the golden egg in the ocean.

त्रयस्तु त्रीन् गुणान् हित्वा चात्मजाः सनकादयाः॥

Observing that the life and death in the world yield little pleasure, that it is attended by the great strain and pain, that births and deaths recur again and again, that there is little pleasure in the heaven and miseries abound in the hell, knowing the Śāstric injunctions about the inevitability of the future and also that Rbhu and Sanata were under your control, the three— Sanaka, Sanātana and Sanandana of great prowess, eschewed the three gunas and took to the spiritual life.

वैकर्त्तेन तु ज्ञानेन प्रवृत्तास्ते महौजसः।
ततस्तेषु प्रवृत्तेषु सनकादिषु वै त्रिषु॥९१॥
भविष्यसि विमूढस्त्वं मायया शङ्करस्य तु।
एवं कल्पे तु वै वृत्ते शंजा नश्यति तेऽनघ॥९२॥

कल्पे शेषाणि भूतानि सूक्ष्माणि पार्थिवानि च।
सर्वेषां हौश्वरी माया जागृतिः समुदाहता॥१३॥
यथैष पर्वतो मेरुर्देवलोको ह्युदाहतः।
तस्य चेदं हि माहात्म्यं विद्धि देववरस्य ह॥१४॥

Thus, in the functioning of the kalpa, when the three sons – Sanaka and others took to detachment, you will become confused and deluded through the illusory power of Śiva. Then, O sinless one, your consciousness will perish. In the present kalpa, the gross and subtle elements will be affected by the māyā, which, in fact, is the activiser of these elements. This great and the glorious account of the most excellent of all the Devas is as famous as the golden Meru – the mountainous abode of the gods.

ज्ञात्वा चेश्वरसद्भावं ज्ञात्वा मामंबुजेक्षणम्।

एवं ज्ञात्वा महायोगमध्युत्तिष्ठन्महाबलम्।
अहं त्वामग्रतः कृत्वा स्तोष्याम्यनलसप्रभम्॥१७॥

Knowing him as the great lord and knowing me as the lotus-eyed Viṣṇu, knowing also that the lord is the greatest of all the living beings, the bestower of the boons and the protector of the universe, you should bow to him uttering the Praṇava (omkāra) mantra and the Sāman verses. In case, he is infuriated, he would burn us both with his breath. After realising the lord of great strength and yoga, I shall keep you in the front and eulogise him, who is of fiery and dazzling splendour.”

You are the lord of Pārvatī. You are without beginning. You are Brahmā of the first creation. You are the creator of all the lokas. The people well-verses in the Sāṃkhya philosophy and considering you to be beyond Prakṛti, after completion of the meditation, they getting freed from the death, get absorbed in you.

A learned person or a Brāhmaṇa, whosoever recites it or reads it before the Brāhmaṇas, he achieves the reward for performing of the ten thousand Āśvamedha sacrifices. Not only that, if a great sinner also recites the prayer in a Śiva temple before the image of Śiva, then he getting relieved of all the sins, shall dwell in the Brahmaloka. A person, who with utmost devotion, recites it at the time of Śrāddha or other festivity or yajñā or auspicious bath or in the company of the noble people, he shall achieve the Sāyujya devotion of Brahmā and shall get absorbed in Brahman.

The origin of Rudra

सूत उवाच

उमापतिर्विरूपाक्षो दक्षयज्ञविनाशनः ।
पिनाकी खण्डपरशुः सुप्रीतस्तु त्रिलोचनः ॥ २ ॥

Sūta said—

Observing their humility of extreme nature, lord Śiva, having the tawny eyes like honey, listening to their truthful praise, felt delighted. The three-eyed lord of Umā, besides being the holder of the bow as well as the trident, the destroyer of Dakṣa, was pleased.

ततः स भगवान्देव श्रुत्वा वागमृतं तयोः ।
जानन्ति महादेवः क्रीडापूर्वमथाब्रवीत् ॥ ३ ॥

Listening to their nectar like words, Mahādeva asked them, inspite of his being well aware of the facts.

कौ भवंतौ महात्मानौ पस्परहितैषिणौ ।
समेतावंबुजाभाक्षावस्मिन्द्योरे महाप्लवे॥४॥
तावृचतुर्महात्मानौ सन्त्रीक्ष्य परस्परम् ।

उवाच भगवान्देवो मधुरं श्लक्षण्या पिरा ।
भो भो हिरण्यगर्भं त्वां त्वां च कृष्ण ब्रवीप्यहम्॥

Siva asked— “Who are both of you, being desirous of seeking mutual welfare? How could both of you meet each other in the terrific deluge, having lotus like eyes?” Then both the great souls, looking at each other, replied to lord Siva— “O lord, nothing is unknown to you. O lord with Mahā māyā, O Rudra, in fact, you alone, have produced both of us.” Listening to their words as per his own desire, honouring and welcoming them, lord Siva spoke in sweet voice.

प्रीतोऽहमनया भक्त्या शाश्वताक्षरयुक्त्या ।
भवंतौ हृदयस्यास्य मम हृद्यतरावुभौ॥८॥

“I am pleased with the eternal words of devotion spoken by both of you. Both of you are dear to my heart.

युवाभ्यां किं ददाय्य वराणां वरमीप्सितम् ।
अथोवाच महाभागो विष्णुर्भवमिदं वचः॥९॥
सर्व मम कृतं देव परितुष्टोऽसि मे यदि ।
त्वयि मे सुप्रतिष्ठा तु भक्तिर्भवतु शङ्कर॥१०॥

What should be bestowed on you by me? You can seek the best of the boon you desire from me.” At this, the immensely fortunate lord Viṣṇu said— “O lord, you have already bestowed everything to us. In case, you are pleased with me, then O Śaṅkara, let my devotion towards you be always firm. This is the boon I desire.”

एवमुक्तस्तु विज्ञाय संभावयत केशवम् ।
प्रददौ च महादेवो भर्क्ति निजपदांबुजे॥११॥

On being thus prayed, lord Śiva realised it. He honoured Viṣṇu and granted him devotion of his lotus like feet.

भवान्सर्वस्य लोकस्य कर्ता त्वमधिदैवतम् ।
तदेवं स्वस्ति ते वत्स गमिष्याम्यंबुजेक्षण॥१२॥

He said— “You are the creator of this world and its presiding deity. O lord of the lotus eyes, I shall depart now.”

एवमुक्त्वा तु भगवान् ब्रह्माणं चापिशङ्करः ।

स्वस्त्वस्तु ते गमिष्यामि संज्ञा भवतु सुब्रत ।
एवमुक्त्वा तु भगवांस्ततोन्तर्धानमीश्वरः॥१५॥

After saying thus, the great lord blessed Brahmā as well. Greatly delighted, he palmed Brahmā with his auspicious hands and said— “O dear, surely, you are equal to me and you are my devotee as well. I shall leave now. O deity of noble rites, may there be perfect awareness in you.”

गतवान् गणपो देवः सर्वदेवनमस्कृतः ।

प्रजाः स्वष्टुमनाश्वक्रे तप उग्रं पितामहः ।
तस्यैव तप्यमानस्य न किञ्चित्समर्वत्त॥१७॥

After saying this, the lord of the gaṇas, was eulogised by all the gaṇas and the gods and he disappeared from the scene. After attaining perfect knowledge from Viṣṇu, whose source of origin was the lotus, he performed triple penance with the desire to create. Even as he performed his tapas, it became fruitless.

ततो दीर्घेण कालेन दुःखात्क्रोधो ह्यजायत ।
क्रोधाविष्टस्य नेत्राभ्यां प्रापतत्रशुभिंदवः ॥१८॥

After considerable time, the painful situation turned into anger. Overpowered with anger, drops of tears fell from his eyes.

सपर्स्तानग्रजान्दृष्टा ब्रह्मात्मानमनिदयत् ॥२०॥

With the drops of tears, three poisonous snakes known as vāta, pitta and kapha, were created. All of them were quite fortunate. The mark of Svastika was inscribed over their hoods. Their hair were dishevelled. With the creation of the serpents, Brahmā denounced himself.

अहो धिक् तपसो मह्यं फलमीदृशकं यदि ।
लोकवैनाशिकी जज्ञे आदावेव प्रजा मम ॥२१॥

He thought, “Disgrace on me. Is it the reward for my tapas? Initially the destructive people are born of me.”

तस्य तीव्राभवन्मूर्च्छा क्रोधामर्षसमुद्भवा ।
मूर्च्छाभिपरितापेन जहौ प्राणान्प्रजापतिः ॥२२॥

Brahmā fainted with anger and the sufferings after which he breathed out his last.

तस्याप्रतिमवीर्यस्य देहात्कारुण्यपूर्वकम् ।
अथैकादश ते रुद्रा रुदंतोऽभ्यक्रमंस्तथा ॥२३॥

Out of the illustrious Brahmā, eleven crying Rudras were born.

रोदनात्खलु रुद्रत्वं तेषु वै समजायत ।
ये रुद्रास्ते खलु प्राणा ये प्राणस्ते तदात्मकाः ॥२४॥
प्राणाः प्राणवतां ज्ञेयाः सर्वभूतेष्वस्थिता ।

ततो विस्मयमापत्रः प्रणिपत्य मुहुर्मुहुः ।
उवाच वचनं शर्वं सद्यादित्वं कथंविभो ॥२८॥

They came to be known as Rudras because of their cries. These Rudras were the breath of Brahmā. Thus, Rudras and Brahmā represent the same form. The breath is lodged in all the living beings. Then Brahmā who performed severe tapas, having the noble nature, was brought back to life by Śiva. When the life was restored into Brahmā by lord Śiva, the god of gods, Brahmā then looked at lord Śiva and reciting the Gāyatrī mantra, Brahmā saw lord Śiva. Thus, looking at him and praising him, the surprised Brahmā offered his salutation to lord Śiva again and again and said, “O lord, how did you take to the form of Sadyojāta?”

Description of different kalpas

सूत उवाच

तस्य तद्वचनं श्रुत्वा ब्रह्मणो भगवान् भवः ।
ब्रह्मरूपी प्रबोधार्थं ब्रह्माणं प्राह सस्मितम्॥१॥

Sūta said—

Listening to the words of Brahmā, Śiva disguised as Brahman, spoke to him smilingly in order to enlighten him.

श्वेतकल्पो यदा ह्यासीदहमेव तदाभवम्।
 श्वेतोष्णीषः श्वेतमाल्यः श्वेतांबरधरः सितः॥२॥
 श्वेतास्थिः श्वेतरोमा च श्वेतासृक् श्वेतलोहितः।
 तेन नाम्ना च विख्यातः श्वेतकल्पस्तदा ह्यसौ॥३॥

"When the Śveta kalpa was in vogue, then I came into being. I wore a white turban, a white rosary besides the white garments. I had white hair, white bones and the white complexion. My blood was white and my body too was of white complexion. Because of this, that particular kalpa came to be known as the Śveta kalpa.

मत्प्रसूता च देवेशी श्वेताङ्गा श्वेतलोहिता।
 श्वेतवर्णा तदा ह्यासीद्वायत्री ब्रह्मसंज्ञिता॥४॥

The goddess Gāyatrī of the gods emerged out of me. She also had the white complexion, white blood and she came to be known as Brahmaśakti.

तस्मादहं च देवेश त्वया गुह्येन वै पुनः।
 विज्ञातः स्वेन तपसा सद्योजातत्वमागतः॥५॥

Therefore, O lord of the Devas, you took me as a secret god. Then, I, with the strength of my tapas, took to the form of Sadyojāta.

सद्योजातेति ब्रह्मैतदगुह्यं चैतत्प्रकीर्तितम्।
 तस्मादगुह्यत्वमापन्नं ये वेत्स्यांति द्विजातयः॥६॥
 मत्समीपं गमिष्यन्ति पुनरावृत्तिदुर्लभम्।

Sadyojāta is also known as Guhya Brahman as well. Such of the twice born who know me, who have assumed the secret nature, shall attain closeness to me and there is no return from that stage.

यदा चैव पुनस्त्वासील्लोहितो नाम नामतः॥७॥
 मत्कृतेन च कर्णेन कल्पौ वै लोहितः स्मृतः।

 ये चापि वामदेव त्वां ज्ञास्यन्तीह द्विजातयः।
 रुद्रलोकं गमिष्यन्ति पुनरावृत्तिदुर्लभम्॥१२॥

On the arrival of the next kalpa known as Lohita, it came to be known as the red colour possessed by me. Then, Gāyatrī came to be known as a cow. Her flesh, bones (and blood etc.) were all of red colour. She had blood of the red colour, the milk was red, the eyes and the teeth were also red. She came to be known as Brahmāṇī because of the change in her colour, besides the Deva who came to be known as Yama. Then, I came to be known as Vāmadeva. O excellent one, at that point of time, I had a different colour. With the use of your yogic strength, you inspite of possessing a different colour, could recognise me. Then, I came to be known as Vāmadeva on earth. Such of the twice born people who would become conscious about my true form on earth, they would achieve Rudraloka from where the return is difficult.

यदाहं पुनरेवेह पीतवर्णो युगक्रमात्।
 मत्कृतेन नाम्ना वै पीतकल्पोऽभवत्तदा॥१३॥

With the change of the yuga when I achieved the yellow colour, then that particular kalpa came to be known as Pita kalpa because of the name given by me to it.

यत्प्रसूता च देवेशी पीताङ्गी पीतलोहिता।
 पीतवर्णा तदा ह्यायसीद्वायत्री ब्रह्मसंज्ञिता॥१४॥

The goddess Gāyatrī who emerged out of my body, then came to be known as Brahmāṇī. Her body was of yellow complexion, had yellow blood and her form was also yellowish.

तत्रापि च महासत्त्वं योगयुक्तेन चेतसा ।
यस्मादहं तैर्विज्ञातो योगतत्परमानसैः ॥१५॥
तत्र तत्पुरुषत्वेन विज्ञातोऽहं त्वया पुनः ।

वेत्स्यन्ति तपसा युक्ता विमला ब्रह्मसङ्कृताः ॥१७॥
रुद्रलोकं गमिष्यन्ति पुनरावृत्तिदुर्लभम् ।

O excellent one, during that period, the people well-versed in yoga, with their minds overpowered with yogic practices, had recognised me. Then, you at that point of time, recognised me as Tatpuruṣa. Therefore, O Brahmā, born out of the golden egg, those having a spotless mind, are linked with Brahman, they visualise me as Rudra and Rudrāṇī – the mother of Vedas as Gāyatrī. They will proceed to Rudraloka from where their return is not possible.

यदाहं पुनरेवासं कृष्णवर्णो भयानकः ॥१८॥
मल्कृतेन च वर्णेन सङ्कल्पः कृष्ण उच्यते ।
तत्राहं कालसङ्काशः कालो लोकप्रकाशकः ॥१९॥
विज्ञातोऽहं त्वया ब्रह्मन्योरो घोरपराक्रमः ।
मत्प्रसूता च गायत्री कृष्णाङ्गी कृष्णलोहिता ॥२०॥
कृष्णरूपा च देवेश तदासीद्ब्रह्मसंज्ञिता ।
तस्मादघोरत्वमापत्वं ये मां वेत्स्यन्ति भूतले ॥२१॥

When I took to the terrific and black form, then because of the colour patronised by me then, the kalpa came to be known as Kṛṣṇa or black kalpa. Then, I was turned as the god of death. I happen to be Kāla and the ruler of the lokas. O Brahmā, then you conceived me by the name of Ghora. O lord of the gods, then Gāyatrī, born of me, had black complexion and she came to be known by the name of Brahmāṇī. Therefore, the people who know that I had taken to Ghora form, for them I shall be of Aghora or peaceful form.

तेषामधोरः शांतश्च भविष्याम्यहमव्ययः ।
पुनश्च विश्वरूपत्वं यदा ब्रह्मन्माभवत् ॥२२॥
तदाप्यहं त्वया ज्ञातः परमेण समाधिना ।

यस्माच्च विश्वरूपो वै कल्पोऽयं समुदाहृतः ।
विश्वरूपा तथा चेयं सवित्री समुदाहृता ॥२५॥

O Brahmā, when I took to the universal form, then with the strength of my yogic practices, Gāyatrī, who carry all the lokas, also took to the universal form. Such of the people who are aware of the fact that I had taken to the universal form, for them I shall remain pleasant Śiva. That kalpa came to be known as Viśvarūpa kalpa and Gāyatrī came to be known as Viśvarūpā.

सर्वरूपा तथा चेमे संवृत्ता मम पुत्रकाः ।
चत्वारस्ते मया ख्याताः पुत्रा वै लोकसंमताः ॥२६॥
यस्माच्च सर्ववर्णत्वं प्रजानां च भविष्यति ।

मोक्षो धर्मस्तथार्थश्च कामश्चेति चतुष्टयम् ।
यस्माद्वेदाश्च वेद्यं च चतुर्धा वै भविष्यति ॥२८॥
भूतग्रामाश्च चत्वार आश्रमाश्च तथैव च ।
धर्मस्य पादाश्चत्वारश्चत्वारो मम पुत्रकाः ॥२९॥

These four forms of mine shall be known in the world as my sons. Therefore, these children will also be of different colours and races and all of them would be able to worship Gāyatrī. The goal of a human being is of four types, viz.: dharma, artha, kāma and mokṣa. All the living beings would appear in four classes. There would be four āśramas in life. Dharma shall have four feet because I have four sons.

तस्माच्चतुर्युगावस्थं जगद्वै सचराचरम्।
चतुर्धार्वस्थितश्वैव चतुष्पादो भविष्यति॥३०॥

Therefore, the entire mobile and immobile world is divided in four yugas. Because of that, they shall have four feet.

भूर्लोकोऽथ भुवर्लोकः स्वर्लोकश्चमहस्तथा।
जनस्तपश्च सत्यं च विष्णुलोकस्ततः परम्॥३१॥
अष्टारक्षरस्थितो लोकः स्थानेस्थाने तदक्षरम्।
भूर्भुवः स्वर्महश्वैव पादाश्चत्वार एव च॥३२॥

There are eight lokas known as Bhūḥ, Bhuvaḥ, Svāḥ, Mahaḥ, Janāḥ, Tapāḥ, Satya and Viṣṇu lokas. They are lodged in eight letters or substratums, each one of which is imperishable. Bhūḥ, Bhuvaḥ, Svar and Mahar constitute the four substratums.

भूर्लोकः प्रथमः पादो भुवर्लोकस्ततः परम्।
स्वर्लोको वै तृतीयश्च चतुर्थस्तु महस्तथा॥३३॥

The first is Bhūḥ, the second is Bhuvaḥ, the third is Svar and the fourth is Mahar.

पञ्चमस्तु जनस्तत्र षष्ठ्य तप उच्यते।
सत्यं तु सप्तमो लोको ह्यपुनर्भवगामिनाम्॥३४॥
विष्णुलोकः स्मृतं स्थानं पुनरावृतिदुर्लभम्।
स्कांदधौमं तथा स्थानं सर्वसिद्धिसमन्वितम्॥३५॥

The fifth is Janāḥ, the sixth is Tapas, the seventh is Satya from where the people have no chance to return. Viṣṇu's world is the eighth one from where the return is difficult. Beyond that is the world of Skanda and Umā which has all the attainments.

रुद्रलाकेः स्मृतस्तस्मात्पदं तद्योगिनां शुभम्।
निर्ममा निरहङ्काराः कामक्रोधविवर्जिताः॥३६॥
द्रक्ष्यन्ति तद्विजा युक्ता ध्यानतत्परमानसाः।

तस्मात् पशवः सर्वे भविष्यन्ति चतुष्पदाः।
ततश्वैरां भविष्यन्ति चत्वारस्ते पयोधराः॥३९॥

Beyond that is the auspicious land of the yogins. Such of the twice born who are free from pride and have left the desire and anger, engage themselves in mediation, can only enter in the Rudraloka. Since Gāyatrī has four feet, similarly there are the four lokas which are of Umā, Kumāra, Śiva and Viṣṇu. When Gāyatrī has four feet, same is the case with the animals and shall have four udders.

सोमश्च मंत्रसंयुक्तो यस्मान्मम मुखाच्युतः।
जीवः प्राणभृतां ब्रह्मन्पुनः पीतस्तनाः स्मृताः॥४०॥
तस्मात्सोममयं चैव अमृतं जीवसंज्ञितम्।
चतुष्पादा भविष्यन्ति श्वेतत्वं चास्य तेन तत्॥४१॥

The life of the living beings is linked with Soma juice accompanied with the Vedic hymns, which fell off from the mouth of the cow and came to be known as udders which are sucked. Therefore, the nectar in the form of Soma juice, is known as the life of the living beings and as such the animals had four feet and the whiteness of the milk is also due to the same.

यस्माश्वैव क्रिया भूत्वा द्विपदा च महेश्वरी।

तस्माच्च द्विपदाः सर्वे द्विस्तनाश्च नराः शुभाः।

या वै दृष्टा महासत्त्वा सर्वभूतधरा त्वया।
तस्माच्च विश्वरूपत्वं प्रजानां वै भविष्यति॥४४॥

Since Māhesvarī is conceived with two feet in all the religious rites, therefore, the goddess Gāyatrī also took to the same form, being the creator of the world. Because of her, all the humans have two feet and two breasts as well. Since the unborn Māhesvarī has all the colours as well, she has been seen by you as supporting all the living beings. Therefore, the people will have all kinds of forms.

अजश्चैव महातेजा विश्वरूपे भविष्यति।

The unborn deity shall have great splendour and universal form and from his face, there will come out the fire-god, whose energy shall be limitless. Therefore, the pure and the all pervading fire god has the form of a living body. The men with auspicious souls who are twice born and visualise me as possessing the qualities of overlordship, sense-control and all pervading, are liberated from rajas and tamas. Discarding their physical body, they attain my closeness and have never to return to the earth. O Brāhmaṇa, lord Brahmā, when thus addressed by Rudra, offered his salutation to the lord; then with a purified mind, he spoke to him again- “O lord, you are aware of the greatness of Gāyatrī as well as the glory of the supreme lord Maheśvara. O lord, you kindly grant me the highest abode of Gāyatrī and that of your own.” The lord then granted the boon to him. Thus, the one who knows the universality of the supreme lord as well as of the goddess Gāyatrī, is united with Brahman as has been stated by lord Brahmā himself.

The incarnations of Śiva

सूत उवाच

श्रुत्वैवमखिलं ब्रह्मा रुद्रेण परिभाषितम्।

भगवन्देवदेवेश विश्वरूपं महेश्वर।

Sūta said—

At the words so spoken by Rudra, Prajāpati Brahmā offering his salutation to Deveśa Rudra, said to him— “O lord, O god of gods having the universal form, O Maheśvara, O lord of Umā, you are adorable by all, salutation to you.

विश्वरूपं महाभागं कस्मिन्काले महेश्वर।
या इमास्ते महादेव तनवो लोकवंदिताः ॥३॥

नमस्ते वै महादेव शक्यो द्रष्टुं द्विजातिभिः।

O form of the universe, O excellent one, O lord Maheśvara, in which age or yuga, will the bodies honoured by all can be seen by Brāhmaṇas and by what penance or the meditation of yoga? Salutation to you, O lord Mahādeva.

तस्य तद्वचनं श्रुत्वा शर्वः संप्रेक्ष्य तं पुरः ॥५॥
स्मयन्नाह महादेवो ऋग्यजुःसामसंभवः ।

The great lord Rudra, on hearing the words thus spoken by Brahmā, which were revealed by Rk, Yajuḥ and Sāman, smiled and replied.

श्रीभगवानुवाच
तपसा नैव वृत्तेन दानधर्मफलेन च ॥६॥
न तीर्थफलयोगेन क्रतुभिर्वासदक्षिणैः ।
न वेदाध्ययनैर्वापि न वित्तेन न वेदनैः ॥७॥

The lord said—

Except through the meditation, is it possible for men to have an audience with me? They cannot get me by good conduct, nor through gifts or holy rites, nor by visiting to the places of pilgrimage with ample money, nor through the study of the Vedas, nor through wealth, nor by achieving the knowledge of various kinds. O Brahmā, in the Varāha kalpa, the seventh in number, Varāha will be the illuminator of the kalpa and your grandson Vaivasvata would be the Manu.

During that kalpa, comprising of the four yugas, towards the end of Kali, I shall be born to bliss the worlds and for the welfare of the Brāhmaṇas. O Brahmā, as the yuga proceeds further, when the great lord himself becomes Vyāsa during the first Dvāpara age, I shall be born as the sage Śveta. I shall have a tuft and the excellent mountain known as Chāgala over the peak of Himālaya shall be my abode.

तत्र शिष्याः शिखायुक्ता भविष्यन्ति तदा मम ।

The four Brāhmaṇas with tufts over their heads who being the masters of the Vedas, would be my disciples known as- Śveta, Śvetasikha, Śvetamukha and Śvetalohita. All the four Brāhmaṇas would be the noble souls, learned and well-versed in the Vedas. Then, visualising the movement of Brahman, achieving excellence in dhyāna-mārga and yoga-mārga, they would approach me. O Brahmā, in the second Dvāpara-yuga, lord Prajāpati would act as Vyāsa, who would be known as Sadya. Thereafter, in Kaliyuga, in order to shower my grace over the Sutāra disciples and for the welfare of the people, I shall incarnate on earth.

Then, at the end of Dvāpara, I shall incarnate in the form of Damana and shall have four sons as well who would be known by the names of Vikośa, Vikeśa, Vipāśa and Śāpanāśana. The immensely valorous sons, following the same path of yoga, reach the place of Rudra from where they cannot return on earth. In the fourth Dvāpara yuga, Aṅgiras would be Vyāsa. Then, I shall be born as Suhotra and shall have four ascetic sons.

After performing the firm yogic practices, getting purified, getting free from all the sins, the illustrious sons, getting well-versed in yoga, shall proceed on to Rudraloka by the same path from where they are unable to return. During the fifth Dvāpara yuga, Savita would be Vyāsa. Then, I shall appear on earth to bless the people as also popularise the yogic practices in the world. I shall appear as an ascetic known as Kaṅka.

In the end, they will come to my abode and shall never return. In the sixth yuga, Mṛtyu will be the Vyāsa and shall be known as Logākṣī. At that point of time too, I shall have four disciples who would be yogic souls with steadfast rites. There too, four sons will be born to me who will be known as Sārasvata, Megha, Meghavāhana and Suvāhana. Devoted to the path of meditation, those noble souls, by the very same path, go to Rudraloka devoid of misery.

 प्राप्य माहेश्वरं योगं रुद्रलोकाय ते गताः।

When the twentieth cakra of yugas is set in, the sage Gautama becomes the Vyāsa. Then, I shall be born as Aṭṭahāsa and will be liked by the people, the most. There itself, on the slope of Himavat, there is a great mountain, known by the name of Aṭṭahāsa. It is the abode of the Gods, Dānavas, Yakṣas, Siddhas and Cāraṇas. There also, four powerful sons will be born to me who will be yogic and noble souls, habitually meditating and performing the holy rites. They will be known by the names of Sumantu, Barbarī, Kabandha and Kuśikandhara. After attaining the yoga of Maheśvara, they will go to Rudraloka.

When the twenty first cakra duly sets in, the excellent sage Vācaśravas becomes a Vyāsa. I shall then be born by the name of Dāruka. Therefore, there will be a beautiful forest known by Dārukavana. There also my sons will be quite powerful and will be known as Plakṣa, Dārbhāyaṇī, Ketuman and Gautama. They will be yogins and the great souls, well-disciplined and celibates. After practicing the holy rites regularly, they will proceed on to Rudra's region.

During the twenty second cakra, Śuṣumāgaṇa will be the Vyāsa. I shall be born as a great sage known as Lāṅgalin – the terrible one at Vārāṇasi. Lord Indra and other gods will see me in the age of Kali as Bhava and Halāyudha. There too my virtuous sons will be known as Bhallavī, Madhupiṅga, Śvetaketu and Kuśa. After attaining the yoga of Maheśvara, they will be engaged in meditation. Gradually, they will be free from blemishes and will become identical with Brahman. In due course of time, they will enter the world of Rudra.

During the twenty-third cycle when the sage Tr̥ṇabindu would become Vyāsa, then O Brahmā, I shall be born as a religious ascetic with a gigantic body known by the name of Śveta. Then, I shall spend my time by performing tapas over an excellent mountain which will be known as Kālañjara. There also, I shall have four ascetic sons known by the names of Uṣika, Br̥hadaśva, Devala and Kavi. All of them, attaining the Maheśvara yoga, proceed on to Rudraloka.

During the twenty fourth cakra, R̥kṣa will be the Vyāsa. Then, I, at the end of Kaliyuga, shall be born as a yogin, known by the name of Śūli in the Naimiṣaṇya. There also, I shall have four ascetic sons who will be known by the names of Śālihotra, Agniveśa, Yuvanāśva and Śaradvasu. All these ascetics, attaining excellence in yoga, proceed towards the abode of lord Rudra, by the same route.

On the arrival of the twenty fifth cycle in Caturyuga, then Śakti – the son of Vasiṣṭha, would be the Vyāsa. At that point of time, I holding a dandā in my hand, shall be born as Mundīśvara. There also, I shall have four ascetic sons, known by the names of Chagala, Kundakarṇa, Kubhāṇḍa and Pravāhaka. All of them achieving Maheśvara yoga, shall achieve immortality.

During the twenty sixth cycle, Parāśara will be the Vyāsa. Then I, in Dvāpara, at the start of Kali age, shall be born as Sahiṣṇu. I shall visit the city named Bhadravat. There also, I shall have four ascetic sons, known by the names of Ulūka, Vidyuta, Śambūka and Āśvalāyana. All of them, achieving Maheśvara yoga, proceed on to Rudraloka.

Then with the arrival of the twenty seventh cycle in the sequence when the ascetic Jatūkarna becomes the Vyāsa, then I shall be born as a Brāhmaṇa Śarmā – the excellent one. Then, I shall visit Prabhāsakṣetra where I shall be known as the famous Yogātmā. There, I shall have the four ascetic disciples known by the names of Akṣapāda, Kumāra, Ulūka and Vatsa. They will be yogīs, the great souls, spotless, unblemished and with excellent wisdom. All of them, receiving the Maheśvara yoga, will proceed on to Rudraloka.

In the same sequence, during the twenty eighth cycle, Dvaiapāyana Vyāsa, the son of Parāśara will be the Vyāsa. At that point of time, I shall myself become Viṣṇu, the creator of the universe. Out of my sixth amṛta will incarnate the black-complexioned Kṛṣṇa, the son of Vāsudeva and the foremost of the race of Yadus. With the use of or in association of Yogamāyā, in order to confuse the yogins and other people, I shall be born as a Brahmacārī. Finding a dead Brāhmaṇa boy in the cremation ground and for the benefit of the Brāhmaṇas, in association with my yogamāyā, I shall enter an auspicious cave with you and Viṣṇu. O Brahman, then I shall be known as Lakuli. The auspicious place where I had entered with a dead body, will be known as Kāyāvatāra. Till such time the earth remains, there also four sons of mine shall be born and will be known by the names of Kuśika, Garga, Mitra and Kauruṣya. All of them will be the yogins, the noble souls, well-versed in the Vedas, quite learned Brāhmaṇas, besides being Brahmacārins. All of them will proceed to Rudraloka, return from where is impossible.

Those enlightened souls will be devoted to lord Śiva and shall apply ashes over their bodies. They shall regularly worship the liṅga and shall always keep their mind and body absolutely neat and clean. They will meditate on me with devotion and yogic practices. They will control their senses. The excellent Pāśupata-yoga will cut off the worldly bondages, illuminating the path of the divine knowledge. This is also needed for the success of the practical knowledge. There are several paths leading to yoga and jñāna, but there is no other substitute for the Pañcākṣara or five letter mantra. When someone performs tapas in order to get himself relieved of the misery, then he should be treated as having been relieved of the misery. When a person performs penance discarding mutual conflict, he can become a liberated soul like the one having achieved the ripened fruit. Even when a man performs the Pāśupata rites for a single day, he can obtain fruits, the equal of which he cannot have either by following Pañcarātra or Sāṃkhya. In this way, I have narrated in brief the twenty eight incarnations of the four yugas in a sequence starting from Manu to Śrī Kṛṣṇa. The classification of the Vedas which reveal the secrets of Dharma, will be accomplished in the kalpa during which Kṛṣṇadvaipāyana Vyāsa shall live.

Listening to the words of Parameśvara Brahmā, getting pleased with his quite a serious question, he starred at him and explained the method of the worship of liṅga. By adoring the Śivaliṅga appropriately, Brahmā himself, Viṣṇu and Indra, besides the sages have achieved their respective positions. Because of the same, all of them worship the liṅga. There is no steadiness in piety without the worship of Liṅga. Therefore, lord Viṣṇu worships me always with utmost devotion and faith. After saying this and blessing Brahmā by glancing at him, once again, Śiva, the lord of the gods, disappeared at the same time. After having been enlightened thus, for creating everything afresh, Brahma offered his salutation to Śiva with folded hands.

ऋषय ऊचुः

कथं पूज्यो महादेवो लिङ्गमूर्तिर्महेश्वरः ।

The Rsi is said—

How should Maheśvara be worshipped in the form of liṅga? You kindly enlighten us on this subject.

सूत उवाच

देव्या पृष्ठे महादेवः कैलासे तां नगात्मजाम्।

Sūta said—

The same question had been asked by Pārvatī, the daughter of Himavān, seated in the lap of Śiva. Then, the lord explained to her the method of such an adoration.

At that point of time, Śālaṅkāyaṇa's son Nandī was standing by his side. O sages of excellent rites, he heard everything there who repeated the same to Sanat. From him, the immensely illustrious Vyāsa heard the method relating to the adoration of liṅga. Whatever had been heard by me from Nandī about the worship of Śivaliṅga, is being repeated by me verbatim.

शैलादिरुवाच

अथ स्नानविधिं वक्ष्ये ब्राह्मणानां हिताय च।
सर्वपापहरं साक्षाच्छिवेन कथितं पुरा॥६॥

Sailādi said—

Thereafter, for the benefit of the Brāhmaṇas, I am going to repeat the method of taking bath and then starting the adoration.

अनेन विधिना स्नात्वा सकृत्पूज्य च शङ्करम्।
ब्रह्मकूर्चं च पीत्वा तु सर्वपापैः प्रमुच्यते॥७॥

According to this practice, a person, after taking an auspicious bath, should adore lord Śiva well and consuming the pañcagavya, he is relieved of all the sins.

त्रिविधं स्नानमाख्यातं देवदेवेन शंभुना।
हिताय ब्राह्मणाद्यानां चतुर्मुखसुतोत्तमम्॥८॥

O foremost of the son of Brahmā, Śiva, the lord of gods, has prescribed three types of bath for the welfare of the Brāhmaṇas.

वारुणं पुरतः कृत्वा ततश्चाग्नेयमुत्तमम्।
मंत्रस्नानं ततः कृत्वा पूजयेत्परमेश्वरम्॥९॥
भावदुष्टोऽस्मिसि स्नात्वा भस्मना च न शुद्ध्यति।
भावशुद्धश्चरेच्छौचमन्यथा न समाचरेत्॥१०॥

After initially taking bath with water, he should apply ashes over his body. Thereafter, he should bathe with the mantras and then worship Parameśvara. A person who does not possess the auspicious intentions, he cannot be purified with bath or with the application of the ashes over the body. A person having the good intentions alone, is entitled to the meditation of lord Śiva and none else.

सरित्सरस्तडागेषु सर्वेषाप्रलयं नरः ।
स्नात्वापि भावदुष्टश्चेत्र शुद्ध्यति न संशयः ॥११॥

There is hardly any doubt that a person having no auspicious intentions cannot be purified even with his taking bath in rivers, lakes, tanks etc.

नृणां हि चित्तकमलं प्रबुद्धमभवद्यदा ।
प्रसुतं तमसा ज्ञानभानोर्भासा तदा शुचिः ॥१२॥

When the lotus like heart of a person blossoms or awakens, then with the light of the sun, his darkness is removed.

मृच्छकृत्तिलपुष्टं च स्नानार्थं भसितं तथा ।
आदाय तीरे निःक्षिप्य स्नानतीर्थं कुशानि च ॥१३॥
प्रक्षाल्याचम्य पादौ च मलं देहाद्विशोध्य च ।
द्रव्यैस्तु तीरदेशस्थैस्ततः स्नानं समाचरेत् ॥१४॥

A devotee should collect for bath with earth dust, cowdung, sesamum seeds, flowers and ashes and keep them aside. Then, he should spread kusā grass in the water. Then, washing his feet, he should sip water. Then, with the material kept by him on the side, he should remove dirt from his body.

उद्धुतासीतिमंत्रेण पुनर्देहं विशोधयेत् ।
मृदादाय ततश्चान्यद्वस्त्रं स्नात्वा ह्यनुल्बण्म् ॥१५॥
गंधद्वारां दुराधर्षमिति मंत्रेण मंत्रवित् ।
कपिलागोमयेनैव स्वस्थेनैव तु लेपयेत् ॥१६॥

Reciting the mantra “uddhūtāsi”, he should clean his body once again and with a small quantity of clay and wearing another cloth, he should take his bath. Then, repeating the mantra “Gandha dvāram durādharyam”, he should apply cowdung of the Kapilā cow which is collected before it touches the ground.

पुनः स्नात्वा परित्यज्य तद्वस्त्रं मलिनं ततः ।

अवगाहा पुनस्तस्मिन् जपेद्वै चाघमर्षणम् ।
ततोये भानुसोमाग्निमण्डलं च स्मरेदुशी ॥२०॥

Taking his bath again, he shall discard the dirty clothes, wear the new white clothes and perform the oblation once again. In order to relieve himself of the sins, he shall invoke Varuṇa. Then, he shall adore the lord by meditation. Then, ācamana should be performed by him three times. He should plunge into the holy waters again leading his mind towards Śiva. He shall inspire the sacred water again after performing of ācamana and reciting the mantra. Plunging again into the water, he shall mutter the “Agha maryāṇa” mantra. Exercising extreme self control, the devotee recall the disc of the sun, moon and fire in the water.

आचम्य च पुनस्तस्माज्जलादुत्तीर्थमंत्रवित् ।
प्रविश्य तीर्थमध्ये तु पुनः पुण्यविवृद्धये ॥२१॥
शृङ्गेण पर्णपुटकै पालाशैः क्षालितैस्तथा ।
सकुशेन सपुष्पेण जलेनैवाभिषेचयेत् ॥२२॥

A person who is well-versed in the mantras should perform ācamana and rise up from the waters and standing in the middle of it, he should pour water over his head from the horn of a cow or with the cup of plāśa tree after having washed it well. The water should thus be scattered with kusā grass and flowers.

रुद्रेण पवमानेन त्वरिताख्येन मंत्रवित्।
 तरत्समंदीकर्गादैस्तथा शांतिद्वयेन च॥ २३॥
 शांतिधर्मेण चैकेन पञ्चब्रह्मपवित्रकैः।

 एवं हि चाभिषिञ्च्याथ स्वमूर्ध्न पयसा द्विजाः।
 ध्यायेच्च त्र्यंबकं देवं हृदि पञ्चास्यमीश्वरम्॥ २५॥

O Brāhmaṇas, while thus pouring water over his head, he shall repeat these mantras, keeping in his mind the forms of the respective deities already invoked and the sages concerned for the increase of his holiness. The hymns should include Rudra, Pavamāna, also called Tvarita, two Śanti mantras and the mantra known as Śanno devi....., the five holy mantras of Sadyojāta. Then, he shall meditate in his heart on larger Tryaṁbaka with five faces.

आचम्याचमनं कुर्यात्स्वसूत्रोक्तं समीक्ष्य च।
 पवित्रहस्तः स्वासीनः शुचौ देशे यथाविधि॥ २६॥

 एवं संक्षेपतः प्रोक्तं स्नानाचमनमुत्तमम्॥ २८॥
 सर्वेषां ब्रह्मणानां तु हितार्थे द्विजसत्तमाः॥ २९॥

Then, after rinsing his mouth and performing ācamana as prescribed in his own sūtra and wearing pavitri in his hand, he should sit comfortably at a clean spot, sprinkle kuśā water on his body with his right hand round him and perform circumambulation. This is going to wipe off his sins of violence. O virtuous Brāhmaṇas, this is the excellent procedure of oblation and ācamana or sipping of water, which has been described by me in brief for your benefit.

Subsequently, a devotee should invoke the great goddess Gāyatrī, the mother of the Vedas, reciting the mantra “āyātu varadā devī”.

He should worship the Sun-god reciting the mantras from Rk, Yajuh and Sāmaveda. Then, he should circumambulate the sun-god, Brahmā and Agni – the fire god thrice who represent the soul, inner soul and the supreme soul. Then he, uttering the mantra “sarvām āvāhayāmī”, speaking out the names of Rṣis, ascetics, the manes and the gods, facing the east or the north, should concentrate over the real forms of the sages, manes and the gods, offer his salutation to them and offer oblation to them appropriately.

देवानां पुष्टयेन ऋषीणां तु कुशांभसा।
पितृणां तिलतोयेन गंधयुक्तेन सर्वतः॥११॥

Oblation of the gods should be done with the water mixed with flowers, that of the ascetics with the kusā grass and water, that for the manes should be performed with the water filled with gingelly seeds. The fragrance should be poured in the water of all types of oblations.

यज्ञोपवीती देवानां निवीती ऋषितर्पणम्।
प्राचीनावीती विप्रेन्द्र पितृणां तर्पयेत् क्रमात्॥१२॥

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, while performing oblation for the gods, the sacred thread should be placed over the left shoulder. While performing oblation for the Rṣis, the sacred thread should be worn like a garland and while performing oblation for the manes, the scared thread should be placed over the right shoulder or apasavaya.

अङ्गुल्यग्रेण वै धीमांस्तर्पयेदेवतर्पणम्।
ऋषीन् कनिष्ठाङ्गुलिना श्रोत्रियः सर्वसिद्धये॥१३॥
पितृस्तु तर्पयेद्विद्वान्दक्षिणाङ्गुष्ठकेन तु।
तथैव मुनिशार्दूलं ब्रह्मयज्ञं यजेद्द्विजः॥१४॥
देवयज्ञं च मानुष्यं भूतयज्ञं तथैव च।

The devotee with wisdom, who are well-versed in the Vedas, should perform oblation for the gods with the foreparts of the fingers. While performing oblation for Rṣis, the water should be poured with the little finger and while performing oblation for the manes, the water should be dropped with the right hand thumb. Similarly, O excellent sages, a person should perform the five yajñas for Brahmā, the gods, humans, the goblins and the manes. Such a noble soul should be engaged in performing of the yajñas daily.

पितृयज्ञं च पूतात्मा यज्ञकर्मपरायणः॥१५॥
स्वशाखाध्ययनं विप्र ब्रह्मयज्ञ इति स्मृतः।
अग्नौ जुहोति यच्चात्रं देवयज्ञ इति स्मृतः॥१६॥

पितृनुहिंश्य यद्वत्तं पितृयज्ञः स उच्यते।
एवं पञ्च महायज्ञान्कुर्यात् सर्वार्थसिद्धये॥१९॥

O Brāhmaṇas, the stuti of the particular Šākhā of the relevant Veda amounts to the performing of the Brahma-yajña. The pāyasaṁ cooked in fire, used in homa amounts to Homa-yajña. To distribute offerings to all the living beings appropriately is called Bhūta-yajña, which bestows fortunes to all the living beings. When the food is given to the learned men well-versed in the Vedas, it amounts to the Mānuṣa-yajña. The food which is given to the manes is called Pitṛ-yajña. Thus, one should perform the five yajñas for the achieving of the success.

सर्वेषां शृणु यज्ञानां ब्रह्मयज्ञः परः स्मृतः।
ब्रह्मयज्ञरते मर्त्यो ब्रह्मलोके महीयते॥२०॥

O Brāhmaṇas! Listen, Brahmayajña happens to be the best of all these yajñas. The person who performs the Brahmayajña, is well established in the Brahmaloka.

ब्रह्मयज्ञेन तुष्ट्यंति सर्वे देवाः सवासवाः।
ब्रह्मा च भगवान्विष्णुः शङ्करो नीललोहितः॥२१॥

With the performing of the Brahma-yajña, lord Brahmā, Indra and other gods, Viṣṇu, lord Śiva, all the Vedas and the manes, get pleased. There is no doubt about it. A Brāhmaṇa, well-versed in the method of the performing of Brahma-yajña, should disappear after hundreds of āhutis towards the west or the north-east direction, while wandering and return thereafter. Then, he should sip ācamana thrice for the purpose of performing Brahma-yajña with pleasing Rcās. He should thrice sip water from his palm.

यजुषां परिमृज्यैवं द्विः प्रक्षाल्य च वारिणा।
प्रीत्यर्थं सामवेदानामुपस्पृश्य च मूर्धनि॥२५॥

For the pleasure of Yajurveda, he should wash his hands with water. The face also should be washed well. For pleasing Sāmaveda, he should touch the top of the head.

स्पृशेदथर्ववेदानां नेत्रे चांगिरसां तथा।
नासिके ब्राह्मणोऽङ्गानां क्षाल्यक्षाल्य च वारिणा॥

A Brāhmaṇa should wash his eyes for the pleasure of Atharvaveda and Āngirasa.

A Brāhmaṇa, for the pleasure of the Brahma Purāṇa with eighteen other Purāṇas, for the pleasure of the eighteen Saura upapurāṇas and for the pleasure of the Śaiva treatises, should touch his ears and heart. O sages, best knower of the kalpas, then he should perform ācamana. Spreading the kusā grass or using the seat of kusā, he should be seated over it. He should place the reverse of his right hand over the palm of the left hand, wearing the finger ring of gold or of kusā grass. Concentrating his mind, a devotee should perform the Brahmayajña appropriate according to his sūtra. O best of the Brāhmaṇas, a Brāhmaṇa, who takes food without performing Brahmayajña is born as the wild boar. Therefore, a person who is desirous of his own welfare, should perform the Brahmayajña.

ब्रह्मयज्ञादथ स्नानं कृत्वादौ सर्वथात्मनः।
तीर्थं सङ्घात्य विधिवत्प्रविशेच्छिविरं वशी॥३३॥

A devotee, after performing the Brahmayajña, should take a bath for himself. A person who exercises control over his own sense organs, collecting the pure water should enter in that place for taking a bath.

बहिरेव गृहात्पादो हस्तौ प्रक्षाल्य वारिणा।
भस्मास्नानं ततः कुर्याद्विधिवदेहशुद्धये॥३४॥

He should wash his hands and feet with water out of his dwelling place. Thereafter, for the purpose of purification, he should apply ashes over his body.

शोध्य भस्म यथान्यायं प्रणवेनाग्निहोत्रजम्।
ज्योतिः सूर्य इति प्रातर्जुहुयादुदिते यतः॥३५॥
ज्योतिरग्नि स्तथा सायं सम्यक् चानुदिते मृषा।
तस्मादुदितहोमस्थं भसितं पावनं शुभम्॥३६॥

The ashes should be purified with the reciting of the Pranava-mantra which should have been collected after the extinguishing of the fire. When the sun rises in the east, then the performer of the yajña should recite the mantra—“jyotiḥ sūryāḥ”. Repeating the same mantra, one should perform homa in the evening. In case, the sun does not rise fully, then the performing of the yajña would be of no use. Therefore, the yajña should be performed at the time of the rising of the sun which is treated as auspicious.

संक्षिप्य यः सकृत्कुर्यात् स याति परमं पदम्॥४१॥

There is no merit greater than the truth and no sin greater than the falsehood. A person should apply ashes over his head reciting the Īśāna mantra. Muttering the Tatpuruṣa mantra, he should apply ashes over his face. Uttering Aghora-mantra, one should apply ashes over his chest and heart. O excellent one, uttering the mantra of Vāmadeva, the ashes should be applied over the secret parts. Similarly, uttering the Sadyojaṭa mantra, the ashes should be applied over the feet. Reciting the Pranava mantra, the ashes should be applied over the entire body. Thereafter, the hands and feet should be washed. Thereafter, wiping out the ashes, reciting the name of lord Śiva or those from the Rgveda, Yajurveda and Sāmaveda besides other mantras, one should take his bath. Thus, O Brāhmaṇas, for the sake of your benefit, I have narrated the method of the holy bath in brief. A person who acts accordingly even once, he achieves the supreme beatitude.

Chapter 27

Method of the Linga worship

३१८

वक्ष्यामि शृणु संक्षेपालिङ्गार्चनविधिक्रमम् ।
वक्तुं वर्षशतेनापि न शक्यं विस्तरेण यत् ॥१॥

Sailādi said—

You listen, I shall speak out the procedure for the worship of the Sivalinga in brief because its detailed procedure cannot be explained even in a hundred years.

एवं स्नात्वा यथान्यायं पूजास्थानं प्रविश्य च ।
प्राणायामत्रयं कृत्वा ध्यायेदेवं त्रियंबकम् ॥२॥

A devotee, after taking a bath (as explained in the last chapter), should then enter the place of worship, should offer his salutation thrice, should then meditate upon lord Tryambaka.

पञ्चवक्त्रं दशभुजं शुद्धस्फटिकसत्रिभम् ।
सर्वाभरणसंयुक्तं चित्रांबरविभूषितम् ॥३॥
तस्य रूपं समाश्रित्य दाहनप्लावनादिभिः ।
सैवीं तनुं समास्थाय पूजयेत्परमेश्वरम् ॥४॥

He should conceive the lord Śiva with five faces, ten arms, adorned with all the ornaments, who looks graceful with crystal clear complexion and clad in costumes of different colours. Making use of the dāhana, plāvana and other Tantrik ways, a devotee changing his own form, should adore lord Śiva in that form.

देहशुद्धिं च कृत्वैव मूलमंत्रं न्यसेत्क्रमात् ।
सर्वत्र प्रणवेनैव ब्रह्माणि च यथाक्रमम् ॥५॥
सूत्रे नमः शिवायेति छंदांसि परमे शुभे ।
मंत्राणि सूक्ष्मरूपेण संस्थितानि यतस्ततः ॥६॥
न्यग्रोधबीजे न्यग्रोधस्तथा सूत्रे तु शोभने ।

महत्यपि महद्ब्रह्म संस्थितं सूक्ष्मवत्स्वयम् ॥७॥

After purifying his body, he should perform the rites of Nyāsa. The Pañca-Brahmans should be established in all the directions reciting the Prapnava mantra. The auspicious mantra of “Namaḥ Śivāya” remains present in its subtle form. As in the seed of a banyan tree the auspicious banyan tree remains always present in it, similarly in the basic seed of “Namaḥ Śivāya”, the Brahman always remains present.

सेचयेदर्चनस्थानं गंधचंदनवारिणा ।
द्रव्याणि शोधयेत्पश्चात्कालनप्रोक्षणादिभिः ॥८॥

The devotee should worship the places of adoration with the fragrant sandal paste. With the sprinkling of the water and collecting the auspicious material, he should sanctify the same by washing it or with the sprinkling of water over it.

क्षालनं प्रोक्षणं चैव प्रणवेन विधीयते ।
प्रोक्षणी चार्घ्यपात्रं च पाद्यपात्रमनुक्रमात् ॥९॥
तथा ह्याचमनीयार्थं कल्पितं पात्रमेव च ।

दर्भैराच्छादयेच्चैव प्रोक्षयेच्छुद्धवारिणा ।
तेषु तेष्वथ सर्वेषु क्षिपेत्तोयं सुशीतलम् ॥११॥

The process of washing or sprinkling of water reciting Prapnava, should be carried out in proper order. The intelligent devotee should cover the vases with cloth. The vases which are so filled with the auspicious water, which include the vessel containing the holy water, arghya, pādya and the vase for performing the ācamana, these shall be covered with the darbhā grass and sprinkled with pure water. He shall then pour cold water in different vessels.

प्रणवेन क्षिपेत्तेषु द्रव्याण्यालोक्य बुद्धिमान् ।
उशीरं चंदनं चैव पाद्ये तु परिकल्पयेत् ॥१२॥

The learned devotee shall pour water in them after observing the materials. He shall place usīra and sandal in the pādya.

जातिकंकोलकर्पूरबहुमूलतमालकम्।
चूर्णयित्वा यथान्यायं क्षिपेदाचमनीयके॥१३॥

He shall powder the nut-mug, amordica mixta or Kaikolā seed, the roots of Bahumūlā – a herb, tamāla seeds and camphor, and put them in the vase for performing ācamana.

एवं सर्वेषु पात्रेषु दापयेच्चंदनं तथा।
कर्पूरं च यथान्यायं पुष्पाणि विविधानि च॥१४॥

Similarly, he should put camphor, sandal and different kinds of flowers in the same vase.

कुशग्रमक्षतां श्वैव यवनीहितिलानि च।
आज्यसिद्धार्थपुष्पाणि भसितं चार्घ्यपात्रके॥१५॥

Then, he shall put the tips of kuśā grass, unbroken rice grains, barley, cereals, gingelly seeds, ghee, white mustard flowers and ashes in the arghya vase.

कुशपुष्प्यवनीहित्वा दापयेत्प्रोक्षणीपात्रे भसितं प्रणवेन च॥१६॥
न्यसेत्पञ्चाक्षरं चैव गायत्रीं रुद्रदेवताम्।
केवलं प्रणवं वापि वेदसारमनुत्तमम्॥१७॥

While repeating Praṇava and with the kuśā grass, flowers, barley grains, Bahumūlā herb, Tamāla roots, besides the ashes in the vase containing the holy water, he should perform the rite of nyāsa of the five-syllabled mantra and Rudra-Gāyatrī with the recitation of Praṇava, which is the excellent essence of the Vedas.

अथ संप्रोक्षयेत्पञ्चाद्द्व्याणि प्रणवेन तु।
प्रोक्षणीपात्रसंस्थेन ईशानाद्यैश्च पञ्चभिः॥१८॥

Then, the water from the holy vase should be sprinkled over the materials for worship, repeating Praṇava as well as the five mantras starting with Īśāna.

पार्श्वतो देवदेवस्य नंदिनं मां समर्चयेत्।
दीसानलायुतप्रख्यं त्रिनेत्रं त्रिदशे श्वरम्॥१९॥

उत्तरे चात्मनः पुण्यां भार्या च मरुतां शुभाम्।
सुयशां सुव्रतां चांबापादमण्डनतत्पराम्॥२१॥

Myself and Nandī shall be worshipped at the right side of the lord. I shall have the resplendence of ten thousand blazing fires, three eyes, the face of a monkey, four arms, the crescent moon as a cornet and adorned with flower garlands, with serene appearance and bedecked with all other ornaments. My wife, Suyaśā – the auspicious one, the holy daughter of the Maruts, shall also be adored to my north. She should be shown adoring the feet of the goddess Ambā (Pārvatī).

एवं पूज्य प्रविश्यांतर्भवनं परमेष्ठिनः।

गंधपुष्पैस्तथा धूपैर्विविधैः पूज्य शङ्करम्।
स्तंदं विनायकं देवीं लिङ्गशुद्धिं च कारयेत्॥२३॥

Thus, after worshipping in this way, the devotee shall enter the inner part of the mind of lord Śiva and then offer a handful of flowers each over each one of the five heads of Śiva, repeating the five mantras. Then, he shall worship Śiva, Skanda, Ganeśa, the goddess and then shall consecrate the Śiva liṅga.

जप्त्वा सर्वाणि मंत्राणि प्रणवादिनमोत्कम्।
कल्पयेदासनं पश्चात्पद्माख्यं प्रणवेन तत्॥२४॥

After repeating the mantra beginning with Praṇava and ending with namah, he shall conceive the lotus seat for the deity by repeating the Praṇava mantra.

तस्य पूर्वदलं साक्षादणिमामयमक्षरम्।

Its indestructible petal in the east shall be aṇimā, while laghimā shall be the petal in the south. Mahimā shall be the petal in the west, Prāpti shall be in the north. Prākāmyam shall be in the south-eastern side and the all-pervading one shall be in the north-eastern petal. The moon shall be in the pericarp. Beneath the moon is the sun and beneath the sun is the fire god. Dharmā and others shall be installed in the subsequent quarters. He shall then install Ananta, Avyakta etc. in the four quarters and three gupas in the far end of Soma.

The three Ātmans shall be installed above it and at the end should be the pedestal of Śiva. Uttering the mantra, “I resort to Sadyojāta”, he shall invoke the supreme lord. With the mantra of Vāmadeva, he shall install him over the seat. With Rudragāyatṛī mantra, he should establish him and the image of Aghoramūrti should be consecrated repeating the Aghora mantra. Reciting the mantra “Īśānah Sarva-vidyānāmī”, the god should be adored. Thereafter, he should offer pādya, sipping water and arghya to the lord. Then, he should wash Rudra offering the water with the fragrance of the sandal paste mixed in it. Then, collecting the Pañcagavya in a vase, sanctifying it with Praṇava mantra, he should wash the image with the water mixed with Pañcagavya. Then again, while reciting and offering the ghee, honey, juice of sugarcane and other auspicious things, and sanctifying them with the Praṇava mantra, the image of Mahādeva should be bathed with the same. Thereafter, the image should be washed by pouring the pitchers filled with pure water over it.

The devotee should then wipe out the image with a white cloth and then drop it in the water mixed with kuśā, Apāmārga, camphor, jasmine, china rose, white jasmines, lotuses, lilies, white oleanders and other flowers into the water along with sandal paste. He shall sanctify the water repeating the mantras of Sadyojāta. The water should then be taken in a vase made of gold, silver or copper, lotus petals, plāśa leaves, the conch or an earthen vase. It should be purified and washed well. The flowers and kusā should be placed in it. The image should be bathed in it reciting the mantras. For the fulfilment of all the desires, I shall speak out those mantras. You please listen to me.

A person who bathes the Śivalinga in the manner prescribed below, he is redeemed. A person who is well-versed in the mantras, he is redeemed after taking the bath. Those who are well-versed in the mantras make use of the following mantra for the rite of ablution:- Pavamāna, Vāma, Rudra, Nila, Rudra, Śrīsūkta, Camaka-hotra, Atharvaśiras, Sānti, Bhāruṇḍa, Āruṇa, Vāruṇa, Jyeṣṭha, Vedavrata, Rathantara, Puruṣa, Tvarita, Raudra, Kapi, Kapardī, the Sāman, Bṛhadandra, Viṣṇu, Virūpākṣa, Mantra, Skanda, a group of hundred hymns, the hymns of Pañca Brahmins, Pañcākṣara mantra or Prapava alone.

The devotee shall bathe the lord of chief of the Devas for the removal of sins. He shall then offer the following to the deity - clothes, the sacred thread, ācamanīya, scents and flowers, incense, light, cooked rice, scented water and ācamanīya again. Thereafter, he shall offer a crown, an umbrella and ornaments. Repeating the Prapava alone, he shall offer the scented betel.

On the top of the Śivalinga, a devotee should worship the unblemished, imperishable lord who shines like the crystal glass. He is the cause of all the gods, represents the universe, resembles the universe, is imperceptible to the sages, the gods including Brahmā, Indra, Viṣṇu, Rudra and others. The Śrutis ordain that he is imperceptible even through the Vedānta or to those well-versed in the Vedas. He has no beginning, middle or the end. Those who are suffering with the ailments of the universe, he serves as a medicine for them. He is known as Siva-tattva (Principle of Śiva) and is enshrined in the Śivalinga. A devotee should offer prayer to him repeatedly with salutations, circumambulating him, offering prayer, offer flowers at his feet and bow in reverence to the lord, the gods and superimpose Śiva over the Ātman. Thus, the procedure for the worship of Śiva has been spoken in brief. Now, I shall speak about the internal worship of Śiva.

Since there are many objects to be thought over, the devotee shall not think of anything else, except the following. The devotee should conceive no distinction between the object and the means to the performing of the meditation, otherwise (if he so does), the knowledge will not spring upon him.

पुरे शेते पुरं देहं तस्मात्पुरुष उच्यते ।

The one who sleeps in the body is called the Purusa. The one who meditates upon the image is known as a yajamāna. Šiva happens to be the object of worship. Šiva himself is the object of meditation. Blessing received from the lord is the reward for meditation. The one who is aware of this, knows the reality about Pradhāna and Puruṣa correctly.

अष्टाविंशोऽध्यायः Chapter 28

शैलादिरुचाच

आग्नेयं सौरमृतं बिंबं भाव्यं ततोपरि ।
गुणत्रयं च हृदये तथा चात्मत्रयं क्रमात्॥१॥
तत्पोपरि महादेवं निष्कलं सकलाकृतिम् ।
कांतार्थारुढदेहं च पूजयेद्व्यानविद्यया॥२॥

Śaila and others said—

One should conceive in his heart the fire, solar and the lunar discs. Above the trio of the gunas, the ātman shall be conceived. The devotee shall then meditate upon and worship the lord, above the trio, in both the aspects with or without attributes with half his body representing his beloved Pārvatī.

ततो बहुविधं प्रोक्तं चित्यं तत्रास्ति चेद्यतः ।
चितकस्य ततश्चिता अन्यथा नोपपद्यते॥३॥

Here, the supreme lord, the object of meditation, is the twenty six principle, the meditator (jīva) is the twenty fifth, the avyakta or Pradhāna is the twenty fourth. The twenty seven principles constitute mahat, ahamkāra and the five tanmātras. The organs of activity are five as also the organs of sense; then there is the mind and the five elements. Therefore, Śiva is the twenty sixth principle who alone is the creator and sustainer. He is greater than Brahmā and has created Brahmā as well. He is greater than the universe besides being the universe himself.

विना यथा हि पितरं मातरं तनयास्त्विह ।
न जायंते तथा सोमं विना नास्ति जगत्त्रयम्॥११॥

Just as the children cannot be produced without the parents, similarly the three worlds did not appear without Śiva and his spouse.

सनत्कुमार उवाच

कर्ता यदि महादेवः परमात्मा महेश्वरः ।

नित्यो विशुद्धो बुद्धश्च निष्कलः परमेश्वरः ।
त्वयोक्तो मुक्तिः किं वा निष्कलश्वेत्करोति किम्॥

Sanatkumāra said—

In case the great lord as the supreme power and the supreme soul is himself the performer, then could he be an agent who causes activity of the individual souls? But the supreme lord has been stated by you to be an eternal, enlightened and unqualitative. In that case, how could the liberation be bestowed by him? In case he is without attributes, then in that case how could he function?

शैलादिरुवाच

कालः करोति सकलं कालं कलयते सदा ।
निष्कलं च मनः सर्वं मन्यते सोपि निष्कलः॥१४॥

Śailadī said—

The kāla (time) develops everything and lord Śiva is the producer of the time. When the mind gets devoted to the lord Śiva, then he reveals his truthful form.

कर्मणा तस्य चैवेह जगत्सर्वं प्रतिष्ठितम् ।
किमत्र देवदेवस्य मूर्त्यष्टकमिदं जगत्॥१५॥
विनाकाशं जगत्त्रैव विनाक्षमां वायुना विना ।
तेजसा वारिणा चैव यजमानं तथा विना॥१६॥
भानुना शशिना लोकस्तस्यैतास्तनवः प्रभोः ।
विचारतस्तु रुद्रस्य स्थूलमेतच्चराचरम्॥१७॥

The universe remains in existence because of his activity. The entire universe represents the eight-fold form of lord Śiva. Without the five tattvas of earth, fire, water, wind and the sky, yajamāna, the sun and the moon, the universe fails to exist. On a deep thought, it becomes amply clear that all the mobiles and immobiles form the part of Rudra's body.

सूक्ष्मं वदन्ति ऋषयो यत्र वाच्यं द्विजोत्तमाः ।
यतो वाचो निवर्तते अप्राप्य मनसा सह॥१८॥
आनन्दं ब्रह्मणो विद्वान् बिभेति कुतश्चन ।
न भेतव्यं तथा तस्माज्ञात्वानन्दं पिनाकिनः॥१९॥

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the one who is conceived by the Rṣis as Sukṣma and the Vedas declare that the mind and the speech being unable to reach him, or in the other words, he is beyond the mind and the speech. A Brāhmaṇa, having enjoyed the bliss of Brahman, is never afraid of anything. Thereafter, knowing about the bliss of the Pitṛāka-bearer, one is never afraid of anyone.

विभूतयश्च रुद्रस्य मत्वा सर्वत्र भावतः ।
सर्वं रुद्र इति प्राहुर्मुनयस्तत्त्वदर्शनः॥२०॥

The ascetics, well-versed in the tattvas, by their own experience, claim that Rudra is everywhere or everything in the world represents Rudra.

नमस्कारेण सततं गौरवात्परमेष्ठिनः ।
सर्वं तु खल्विदं ब्रह्म सर्वो वै रुद्र ईश्वरः॥२१॥
पुरुषो वै महादेवो महेशानः परः शिवः ।

एवं विभुविनिर्दिष्टो ध्यानं तत्रैव चितनम्॥२२॥

After bowing in reverence, Parameṣṭhin – Brahmā, the glory of a person is enhanced. “All is Brahman.” Everything is Rudra and Puruṣa is Mahādeva. Śiva is the supreme god. This Śiva has been taken to be quite an unique one. Thus, the lord has been specified. Meditation is the sole thought about him.

चतुर्बृहेण मार्गेण विचार्यालोक्य सुक्रतः।
संसारहेतुः संसारे माक्षेहेतुश्च निर्वृतिः॥२३॥

O sages of holy rites, he should be thought upon in four-fold manner and perceived. He is the cause of the worldly existence, is the world itself, is the cause of liberation, besides being the great ecstasy.

चतुर्बृहः समाख्यातश्चिन्तकस्येह योगिनः।
चिंता बहुविधा ख्याता सैकत्र परमेष्ठिना॥२४॥
सुनिष्ठेत्यत्र कथितां रुद्रं रौद्री न संशयः।
ऐन्द्री चैन्द्रे तथा सौम्या सोमे नारायणे तथा॥२५॥
सूर्ये वहौ च सर्वेषां सर्वत्रैवं विचारतः।
सैवाहं सोहमित्येवं द्विधा संस्थाप्य भावतः॥२६॥
भक्तोसौ नास्ति यस्तस्माच्चिंता ब्राह्मी न संशयः।
एवं ब्रह्ममयं ध्यायेत्पूर्वे विप्र चराचरम्॥२७॥

For a practicing yogī, the four-fold path has been prescribed. Thinking is believed to be of manifold nature. In case it is concentrated at one place, it is called Suniṣṭha and in case it is centred in Rudra, it is termed as Raudrī. When it is devoted to Indra, it is known as Aindrī; when it is devoted to Soma, then it is known as Saumya. In case it is devoted to Nārāyaṇa, or in the sun or in the fire, it is called after those names. When a devotee concentrates his mind in both ways that the lord is myself and I am the lord, then that thought is known as Brāhmaṇī. O Brāhmaṇas, a devotee should think thus in the world. Both mobile and immobile living beings are identical with Brahman.

चराचरविभागं च त्यजेदभिमतं स्मरम्।
त्याज्यं ग्राह्यमलभ्यं च कृत्यं चाकृत्यमेव च॥२८॥
यस्य नास्ति सुतृप्रस्य तस्य ब्राह्मी न चान्यथा।
आध्यंतरं समाख्यातमेवमध्यर्चनं क्रमात्॥२९॥

Keeping a goal in one’s mind, a devotee should discard thinking about the separation of the mobile and immobile beings and also as to what should be discarded and what should not be discarded, also between what is possible and what is impossible, and what should be done and what should not be done. Such a person who is self-contented devotee and aware of the reality or truth about Śiva, is the real one pertaining to Brahman and not otherwise. Thus, the mental adoration of the lord has been explained.

आध्यंतरार्चकाः पूज्या नमस्कारादिभिस्तथा।
विरूपा विकृताश्चापि न निंद्या ब्रह्मवादिनः॥३०॥
आध्यंतरार्चकाः सर्वे न परीक्ष्या विजानता।
निंदका एव दुःखार्ता भविष्यत्यल्पचेतसः॥३१॥
यथा दारुकने रुद्रं विनिद्य मुनयः पुरा।
तस्मात्सेव्या नमस्कार्याः सदा ब्रह्मविदस्तथा॥३२॥
वर्णाश्रमविनिर्मुका वर्णाश्रमपरायणैः॥३३॥

Those who perform the mental worship of lord should be adored by means of obeisance, etc. Even if they are not hideous or deformed, these expounders of Brahman should not be censured. They should not be subjected to scrutiny by a discerning person. Those who find fault with him are narrow-minded persons whose condition would be miserable as those sages of old censured the lord in the Dāruka forest. A person well-versed in Brahman and is beyond the bonds of castes and the stages of life, should always be served and honoured by the people devoted to the rigid discipline of castes and stages of life.

They were accompanied with their wives, sons and the sacrificial fires. Rudra – the lord of the universe, the bull-bannered, all pervading deity known as Nilalohita or reddish blue complexion, was pleased with them.

Sanatkumāra said—

O excellent one, what did the ascetics of Dāruka vana, who had purified their souls with the performing of severe tapas, do? How did lord Rudra, the naked lord of sublimated sexuality, assume the degraded form and went to the Dāruka forest? What did the great soul do there? Please enlighten me over the activities of the lord there.

Sūta said—

On hearing the words of Nandī, the most excellent among the knowers of the Vedas,

Lord Rudra, the master of the universe, then thought of testing the intentions of the ascetics, who had performed the yajña. Then, he thought of diverting the minds of the sages from the performing of the yajña. In this way, in order to test the extent of their devotion towards himself, he thought of diverting their minds in a different way. Therefore, in order to test their devotion towards himself, he playfully appeared in a deformed manner, but still he was quite charming to look at. He had three eyes and two arms. He was of black complexion and unrobed.

भूविलासं च गानं च चकारातीव सुंदरः॥१०॥

He appeared quite beautiful in that form and looked smiling. He started singing songs which raised passions in women and was also winking his eyes as well. Thus behaving, he shined in the divine Dāru forest.

संप्रेक्ष्य नारीवृदं वै मुहुर्मुहरनङ्गहा।
अनङ्गवृद्धिमकरोदतीव मधुराकृतिः॥११॥

Lord Rudra, the killer of Kāmadeva, then spotted a group of beautiful damsels and he aroused their passions.

वने ते पुरुषं दृष्टा विकृतं नीललोहितम्।
स्त्रियः पतिब्रताश्चापि तमेवान्वयुरादरात्॥१२॥

Finding a person with a beautiful personality of black complexion, with deformed body, even the chaste ladies followed him with enthusiasm.

वनोटजद्वारगताश्च नार्यो
विस्तस्तवस्त्राभरणा विचेष्टाः।
लब्ध्वा स्मितं तस्य मुखारविंदाद्-
दुमालयस्थास्तमथान्वयुस्ताः॥१३॥

With the smile worn over his face and with indications, the women assembled at the gates or those who were standing at the doors of their huts, assembled there leaving all their work of hand. They did not care for their costumes and ornaments but followed him.

दृष्टा काश्चिद्द्वचं नार्यो मदघूर्णितलोचनाः।
विलासबाह्यास्ताश्चापि भूविलासं प्रचक्रिरे॥१४॥

The eyes of some of the women got intoxicated at the sight of Rudra. Even the ladies who had spent their youthful age, also started indicating with their eyebrows.

अथ दृष्टपरा नार्यः किञ्चित्प्रहसिताननाः।
किञ्चिद्विस्तवसनाः स्त्रस्तकाश्चीरुणा जगुः॥१५॥

There was smile on the faces of some of the ladies by looking at Rudra. The costumes of some of ladies slipped from their proper places. Their waistbands became loose and they started singing.

काश्चित्तदा तं विपिने तु दृष्टा
विप्राङ्गनाः स्त्रस्तनवांशुकं वा।
स्वान्स्वान्विचित्रान् वलयान्प्रविध्य
मदान्विता बंधुजनांश्च जग्मुः॥१६॥

Some of the Brāhmaṇa women felt that the new clothes worn by them had also been loosened. They removed the armlets of different colours and went to their relatives getting intoxicated.

काचित्तदा तं न विवेद दृष्टा
विवासना स्त्रस्तमहांशुका च।
शाखाविचित्रान् विटपान्प्रसिद्धान्
मदान्विता बंधुजनांस्तथान्याः॥१७॥

One of them could not find as to where her upper and lower garments had disappeared? She was unrobed. Some of them could not distinguish between their husbands and the trees with branches, though they were well known to them.

काश्चिज्जगुस्तं ननृतुर्निपेतुश्च धरातले।

को भवानिति चाहुस्तं आस्यतामिति चापराः।
कुत्रेत्यथ प्रसीदेति जजल्पुः प्रीतमानसाः॥२०॥

Some of them sung songs, some danced and the others fell on the ground. Some of them sat over the earth like an elephant and started shouting. Then, they started embracing each other smilingly. On their way, they started displaying overtures to Rudra. Some of them, feeling in their heart, said— “Where are you going presently? Who are you? You stop and be graceful on me. Be pleased with me.”

विपरीता निपेतुर्वै विस्सतांशुकमूर्धजाः।
पतिब्रताः पतीनां तु सन्निधौ भवमायया॥२१॥

Because of the Māyā of Rudra, even the chaste ladies fell before their husband, upside down, with their hair and the costumes getting disarranged in a shabby manner.

दृष्टा श्रुत्वा भवस्तासां चेष्टावाक्यानि चाव्ययः।
शुभं वाप्यशुभं वापि नोक्तवान्परमेश्वरः॥२२॥

So much so, that listening to their improper words and observing their undesirable activities, lord Rudra kept quiet. He neither spoke good nor bad, neither auspicious nor inauspicious.

दृष्टा नारीकुलं विप्रास्तथाभूतं च शङ्करम्।
अतीब परुषं वाक्यं जजल्पुस्ते मुनीश्वराः॥२३॥

Observing the crowd of ladies and the condition of Rudra, the ascetics and the sages started uttering harsh words to Rudra.

तपांसि तेषां सर्वेषां प्रत्याहन्यंत शङ्क्रे।
यथादित्यप्रकाशेन तारका नभसि स्थिताः॥२४॥

The influence of the tapas of the ascetics was so exercised over Rudra as the glory of the stars fades out with the rising of the sun.

श्रूयते ऋषिशापेन ब्रह्मणस्तु महात्मनः।
समृद्धश्रेयसां योनिर्यज्ञो वै नाशमासवान्॥२५॥

It is heard that the yajña of Brahmā was destroyed with the curse of a Rṣi, inspite of the fact that the same was performed for the welfare of the people.

भृगोरपि च शापेन विष्णुः परमवीर्यवान्।
प्रादुर्भावान्दश प्राप्तो दुःखितश्च सदा कृतः॥२६॥

Because of the curse from Bhṛgu, the so powerful Viṣṇu was forced to incarnate on earth ten times and he had to suffer in each one of his incarnation.

इंद्रस्यापि च धर्मज्ञं छिन्नं सवृषणं पुरा।
ऋषिणा गौतमेनोव्या क्रुद्धेन विनिपातितम्॥२७॥

O religious-minded one, the private part of Indra also was cut off with the curse of the sage Gautama and it fell down on earth.

गर्भवासो वसूनां च शापेन विहितस्तथा।
ऋषीणां चैव शापेन नहुषः सर्पतां गतः॥२८॥
क्षीरोदश्च समुद्रोसौ निवासः सर्वदा हरेः।
द्वितीयश्चमृताधारो ह्यपेयो ब्राह्मणैः कृतः॥२९॥

With the pronouncing of a curse by a Brāhmaṇa, Vasus also had to be born out of the womb. Because of the curse pronounced by a Rṣi, Nahuṣa was turned as a serpent. Because of the curse of the Brāhmaṇas, even the ocean of milk was dried up, though it happened to be the permanent abode of lord Viṣṇu. The Brāhmaṇas had made the second nectar of ocean, unfit for drinking.

अविमुक्तेश्वरं प्राप्य वाराणस्यां जनार्दनः।
क्षीरेण चाभिषिच्येशं देवदेवं त्रियंबकम्॥३०॥
श्रद्धया परया युक्तो देहाश्लेषामृतेन वै।
निषिक्तेन स्वयं देवः क्षीरेण मधूसूदनः॥३१॥
सेचयित्वाथ भगवान्ब्रह्मणा मुनिभिः समम्।
क्षीरोदं पूर्ववच्चक्रे निवासं चात्मनः प्रभुः॥३२॥

Viṣṇu went to Avimukteśvara and bathed Śiva with milk. He together with Brahmā and other sages, performed abhiṣeka of Śiva with milk, which was turned like nectar with the touch of Śiva’s body. The same ocean of milk was made as his abode by Viṣṇu.

धर्मश्चैव तथा शासो माण्डव्येन महात्मना।
वृष्णयश्चैव कृष्णेन दुर्वासादैर्महात्मभिः॥३३॥

The sage Māṇḍavya, even Dharmā, Durvāsā and other ascetics cursed the entire Vṛṣṇi race with Śrī Kṛṣṇa (who were all destroyed).

राघवः सानुजश्चापि दुर्वासेन महात्मना।
श्रीबत्सश्च मुने: पादपतनात्तस्य धीमतः॥३४॥

The sage Durvāsā had also cursed Lakṣmaṇa, the younger brother of Rāma, while Bhṛgu had even kicked lord Viṣṇu.

एते चान्ये च बहवो विप्राणां वशमागताः।
वर्जयित्वा विरूपाक्षं देवदेवमुमापतिम्॥३५॥

These, as well as Virūpākṣa, the lord of Umā, were controlled by the Brāhmaṇas.

एवं हि मोहितास्तेन नावबुध्यंते शङ्करम्।
अत्युग्रवचनं प्रोचुश्चोग्रोप्यन्तरधीयत॥३६॥

Thus, those confused Rsis of Dāruvana did not recognise the true identity of Rudra. They spoke extremely harsh words and disappeared from that place.

तेषि दारुवनात्स्मात्प्रातः संविग्नमानसाः।
पितामहं महात्मानमासीनं परमासने॥३७॥
गत्वा विज्ञापयामासुः प्रवृत्तमखिलं विभोः।
शुभे दारुवने तस्मिन् मुनयः क्षीणचेतसः॥३८॥

In the morning, all of them went to lord Brahmā with a heavy heart, who was seated in padmāsana in the Dāruvana. They narrated the entire sequence of events whatever had happened earlier.

सोपि संचित्य मनसा क्षणादेव पितामहः।
तेषां प्रवृत्तमखिलं पुण्ये दारुवने पुरा॥३९॥
उत्थाय प्राञ्जलिर्भूत्वा प्रणिपत्य भवाय च।
उवाच सत्वं ब्रह्मा मुनीन्दारुवनालयान्॥४०॥

Brahmā then thought over the entire episode in his mind. Then, he offered his salutation to lord Rudra and he at once spoke the ascetics living in the Dāruvana.

धिग्युष्मान्प्राप्निधनान्महानिधिमनुत्तमम्।

वृथाकृतं यतो विप्रा युष्माभिर्भाग्यवर्जितैः॥४१॥

“Disgrace to you all, passing the ocean of the knowledge. O Brāhmaṇas, you have made your entire knowledge useless.

यस्तु दारुवने तस्मिल्लिंगी दृष्टेष्प्यलिंगिभिः।

युष्माभिर्विकृताकारः स एव परमेश्वरः॥४२॥

The naked person whom you saw yesterday, in a naked condition, was none else than lord Śiva himself.

गृहस्थैश्च न निद्यास्तु सदा ह्यतिथियो द्विजाः।

विरूपाक्षं सुरूपाक्षं मलिनाश्चप्यपण्डिताः॥४३॥

O Brāhmaṇas, a guest should never be denounced by a householder, irrespective of his being beautiful, ugly, dirty, or a fool.

सुदर्शनेन मुनिना कालमुत्युरपि स्वयम्।

पुरा भूमो द्विजाग्रद्येण जितो ह्यतिथिपूजया॥४४॥

During earlier times, a Brāhmaṇa named Sudarśana had overcome even the god of death, by adoring him as a guest.

अन्यथा नास्ति संतर्तुं गृहस्थैश्च द्विजोत्तमैः।

त्वक्त्वा चातिथिपूजां तामात्मनो भुवि शोधनम्॥

There is no other way for a householder to cross the ocean of the universe than to honour a guest.

गृहस्थोपि पूरा जेतुं सुदर्शनं इति श्रुतः।

प्रतिज्ञामकरोज्जायां भार्यामाह पतिक्रताम्॥४६॥

सुव्रते सुभू सुभगे शृणु सर्वं प्रयत्नतः।

त्वया वै नावमंतव्या गृहे ह्यतिथयः सदा॥४७॥

In earlier times, there was a Brāhmaṇa known by the name of Sudarśana. He took a vow to overpower the death. To his chaste wife, he said— “O auspicious one, having beautiful eyebrows and the fortunate one, listen to me attentively. You should never be disgraceful to guests.

सर्व एव स्वयं साक्षादतिथिर्यत्पिनाकधृक् ।
तस्मादतिथ्ये दत्त्वा आत्मानमपि पूजय॥४८॥

Because each and every guest resembles lord Śiva – the holder of the Pināka bow. Therefore, you should yourself adore him, looking at yourself.”

एवमुक्त्वाथ संतसा विवशा सा पतित्रता ।
पतिमाह रुदंती च किमुर्त्त भवता प्रभो॥४९॥

Then the crying and the chaste lady asked her husband– “What have you spoken, O lord?”

तस्यास्तद्वचनं श्रुत्वा पुनः प्राह सुदर्शनः ।
देयं सर्व शिवायार्ये शिव एवातिथिः स्वयम्॥५०॥
तस्मात्सर्वे पूजनीयाः सर्वेष्वितिथयः सदा ।

धर्मो द्विजोत्तमो भूत्वा जगामाथ मुनेर्गृहम् ।
तं दृष्ट्वाचार्चयामास सार्घाद्यैनरघा द्विजम्॥५३॥

On hearing her words, Sudarśana again said– “O noble lady, all things in the world represent Śiva, while the guest is himself lord Śiva. Therefore, the guest is always adorable.” Thus listening to the words of her husband, she accepted that. She took his command gracefully and then she engaged herself in other household works. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the excellent Brāhmaṇa, Dharma, once himself arrived at the house of that Brāhmaṇa in order to test his resolve to honour the guests. The chaste lady (his wife) adored the guest with articles of worship.

संपूजितस्या तां तु प्राह धर्मो द्विजः स्वयम् ।
भद्रे कुतः पतिर्धीमांस्तव भर्ता सुदर्शनः॥५४॥

Thus, having been so adored by her, Dharma, in the guise of a Brāhmaṇa said to her– “Where is your intelligent husband named Sudarśana?

अन्नाद्यैरलमद्यार्ये सर्वं दातुमिह चार्हसि ।

एहोति क्व गता भद्रे तमुवाचातिथिः स्वयम्॥५८॥

The food prepared by you is enough for me. I, therefore, desire that you should submit to me.” At these words of the guest, the chaste wife was reminded of the words of her husband which were spoken to her by him earlier. Feeling shy, she closed her eyes and made up her mind to please the guest. Then she, closing her eyes, started walking towards him. Whatever she thought in her mind, but she made up her mind to submit to the guest. She walked ahead to submit herself to the guest as per the advice of her husband. At the same time, his intelligent husband Sudarśana also arrived there. At the gate, he called for his wife, “O noble woman, where have you gone? Come here.” On hearing this, the guest himself replied.

“O Sudarśana, I am enjoying sexual pleasure with your wife. What should be done? You tell me. The sex act is over. I am completely satisfied.” Then Sudarśana, the Brāhmaṇa said delightfully—“you enjoy with her with delight. I shall go now.” Dharma was pleased with this event. Dharma then appeared in his true form and granted the desired boon to Sudarśana and then said—“O excellent Brāhmaṇa, I have not enjoyed the company of your wife even mentally. There is no doubt about it. I had arrived here to test her devotion. O excellent one, you have overpowered death with your performance. This is the reward of your tapas.” Thus speaking, Dharma left the place. Therefore, a guest is adorable in all circumstances.

Listening to the words of Brahmā, all the ascetics felt disturbed. They offered their salutation to Brahma and said.

The Brāhmaṇa said—

O great soul, we people hardly care for our lives or those of our wives who have fallen. But due to our ignorance, we have denounced the all pervading, trident bearer, bearer of the bow, lord Śiva, who is unblemished in the world and cursed him, though the strength of our curse declined by the very look of Śiva over us. O lord, you presently enlighten us on the process of Sanyāsa by which, we could be able to have an audience with lord Śiva.

Brahmā, the Grandsire said—

O best of Brāhmaṇas, a disciple should initially learn the Vedas with utmost devotion and then think over their interpretation, faithfully. He should remain disciplined upto twelve years or the period till the education is complete. After the completion of his studies, he should take his bath. Thereafter, he should marry himself and produce noble sons as per his liking and perform all the related samskāras. Then, he should inspire his sons to earn their livelihood. Thereafter, he should perform the yajñas with fire. Thereafter, he, after retiring in the forest, should adore the supreme soul in the fire. Living on milk alone, he should control his sense organs. Like the sage Sudarśana, he should consume milk alone, control his senses for twelve years or for one month or for twelve days and adore all the gods.

Then, in the same fire, using the vases useful in the performing of yajña, he should perform homa. Thereafter, the vases should be given over to the preceptor. Thereafter, he should distribute his entire property without any hesitation to the Brāhmaṇas. He should prostrate before the preceptor. Then, he should become detached and a recluse.

निकृत्य केशान्सशिखानुपवीतं विसृज्य च ।
पञ्चभिर्जुहुयादप्सु भूः स्वाहेति विचक्षणः ॥७७॥

Then, he should have his head, the tuft, beard and moustaches clean shaven and then discard the sacred thread. Thereafter, he should pour fine offerings in the fire reciting “Om Bhūḥ Svāhā.”

Thereafter, he should keep on wandering for seeking complete beatitude. By taking small quantity of food, he should perform vratas and fasting. Then consuming water, leaves, milk or fruits, he should spend his time. If by thus living, the ascetic does not die within six months or a year, he should strain his body by undertaking hazardous journeys. By thus performing, he attains identity with Śiva.

On men of holy rites, one who is endowed with devotion, may even attain liberation shortly. Of what avail are those to the devotees of Rudra? Neither the holy rites nor the renunciation in accordance with the injunctions, nor sacrifices, nor charitable gifts, nor the different types of homas, nor the acquisition of all kinds of Śāstras and the Vedas are of any avail to him. By means of devotion to Rudra, death was conquered by Śveta. May you also have such devotion to the great lord, the benefactor and the supreme soul.

The story of Śveta Muni

शैलादिरुवाच

एवमुक्तास्तदा तेन ब्रह्मणा ब्राह्मणर्षभाः।

श्वेतस्य च कथां पुण्यामपृच्छन्परमर्षयः॥१॥

Sailādi said—

At these word of Brahmā, the Brāhmaṇa sages then asked about the story of the sage Śveta.

पितामह उवाच

The Grandsire said—

O Brāhmaṇas, a sage named Śveta, lives in a mountain cave, who was at the fag end of his life. Therefore, he adored lord Śiva with utmost devotion, offering prayers to him. The Rudrādhyāyī mantra was recited by him starting from “Namaste”. Thereafter, the god of death – the powerful Yama thought that the time for the death of the Brāhmaṇa Śveta had arrived. Therefore, he reached his place to receive him. O best of Brāhmaṇas, Śveta looked at Kāla and thought that the time of death had arrived. Therefore, he, remembering the lord Trayambaka, worshipped him, saying— “I adore lord Trayambaka with fragrance who enhances fortunes and advancement. What harm could the death do to me? I am indeed death for the death.”

एहोहि श्वेत चानेन विधिना किं फलं तव ।

Looking at Śveta, the god of death, the one who frightens, Yama said to Śveta smilingly— “Come on, how shall you be rewarded by this? When a person is caught in my clutches, even Rudra, lord Viṣṇu or Brahmā – the lord of the world, would not be able to get you released. O Brāhmaṇa, how could Rudra influence me in getting you released? I am firm upon carrying you to my abode because the span of your life has come to an end.” Listening to these truthful words which were horrible indeed, the great sage shouted— “O Rudra, O Rudra repeatedly.” Then with his eyes filled with tears, Śveta said to Kāla.

श्वेत उवाच

त्वया किं काल नो नाथश्वस्ति चेद्धि वृषध्वजः ।
लिङ्गेऽस्मिन् शङ्करो रुद्रः सर्वदेवभवोद्भवः॥१२॥

Śveta said—

“What can you do when my bull-bannered lord who is the cause of the birth of all and also known as Bhava, is enshrined in the Śivalinga?

अतीव भवभक्तानां मद्विधानां महात्मनाम् ।
विधिना किं महाबाहो गच्छ गच्छ यथागतम्॥१३॥

O Kāla with long arms, what would you gain by behaving thus with the devotees of Śiva? You better leave the place as had you arrived.”

Listening to the words of Śveta, the terrific god of death, holding a noose in his hand was extremely enraged. Then the god of death roared like a lion, holding a noose in his hand. Then he clapped his hands again and again. Then, on the arrival of the time of death, Kāla bound Śveta with paśa and said to him.

मया बद्धोसि विप्रर्षे श्रेतं नेतुं यमालयम्।
अद्य वै देवदेवेन तव रुद्रेण किं कृतम्॥१६॥

“O Brāhmaṇa sage, O Śveta, I have bound you for carrying you to my place. What shall Deveśa Rudra do now?

लिङ्गेस्मिन् संस्थितः श्रेत तव रुद्रो महेश्वरः।

Where is your Sarva? Where is your devotion? Where is your worship? Where is the reward of your devotion? Where am I? Where is my fear? O Śveta, I have bound you. O Śveta, is your Rudra lodged in this liṅga? If it is so, then he is inactive. How is he fit to be adored?”

Then suddenly, the enemy of Kāmadeva, destroyer of yajñā, having three eyes, lord Sadāśiva with Pārvatī, Nandī and the Sivaganas appeared on the scene to kill Kāla, who had arrived there to carry Śveta with him.

ससर्ज जीवितं क्षणाद्वनं निरीक्ष्य वै भयात्।
पपात चाशु वै बली मुनेस्तु सन्त्रिधौ द्विजाः॥२१॥

O Brāhmaṇas, finding Rudra there, the powerful Yama released Śveta out of fear and fell before the sage Śveta.

ननाद चोर्ध्वमुच्चधीर्निरीक्ष्य चांतकांतकम्।

विनेदुरुच्चमीश्वराः सुरेश्वरा महेश्वरम्।

Finding lord Rudra there, the ascetic Śveta, thundered aloud. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the gods also shouted in loud voice. All of them offered their salutation to lord Rudra in delight. The ascetic was much more pleased.

ससर्जुरस्य मूर्धिं वै मुनेर्भवस्य खेचराः।
सुशोभनं सुशीतलं सुपुष्पवर्षमंबरात्॥२४॥

The gods in the sky and sages showered flowers over lord Śiva, which were cool and full of fragrance.

अहो निरीक्ष्य चांतकं मृतं तदा सुविस्मितः।

उवाच बालधीर्मृतः प्रसीद चेति वै मुनेः।
महेश्वरं महेश्वरस्य चानुगो गणेश्वरः॥२६॥

Finding Yama lifeless, Nandī then offered his salutation to lord Rudra and then spoke to lord as well his ganas, having been filled with suspense. “This Yama with little wisdom is dead. Now, be favourable to the sage.”

ततो विवेश भगवाननुगृह्य द्विजोत्तमम्।
क्षणदगृदशरीरं हि ध्वस्त दृष्टांतकं क्षणात्॥२७॥

Finding that Yama had been destroyed in a moment, the lord blessed the excellent Brāhmaṇa and disappeared.

तस्मान्मृत्युञ्जयं चैव भक्त्या संपूजये द्विजाः।
मुक्तिदं भुक्तिदं चैव सर्वेषामपि शङ्करम्॥२८॥

Therefore, O Brāhmaṇas, one should faithfully worship lord Śiva – the conqueror of the death. He bestow liberation as well as the worldly pleasures. He is benevolent to all.

बहुना किं प्रलापेन संन्यस्याभ्यर्थ्य वै भवम्।
भक्त्या चापरया तस्मिन् विशोका वै भविष्यथ॥

Why to talk much? After renouncing adoration of Rudra with great devotion, all of you will be free from grief.

शैलादिरुवाच

Śailādi said—

After Brahmā's thus speaking to the sages, spoke again, "O lord, be pleased to tell us that by performing which tapas, yajña or the religious rite or vrata, can the Brāhmaṇas get devoted to lord Śiva.

पितामह उवाच

न दानेन मुनिश्रेष्ठास्तपसा च न विद्यया।

तस्मात्पाशुपती भक्तिर्धर्मकामार्थसिद्धिदा॥ ३४॥

Brahmā said—

"Rudra cannot be worshipped by giving away the charities, nor with the performing of tapas, nor by acquiring knowledge of the scriptures, nor by performing of homa, vratas, nor with the study of the Vedas, nor with the concentration of mind. He could be achieved only with the utmost devotion." On hearing these word of Brahmā, all the Rṣis with their wives and children, offered their salutation to lord Brahmā. The devotion of Rudra bestows dharma, love and wealth. It yields victory to the sages. It also grants victory over death.

मुनिर्विजयदा चैव सर्वमृत्युजयप्रदा।

In earlier times, Dadhīca conquered lord Viṣṇu and his associated gods. He killed Kṣupa with the tip of his foot. He acquired vajra like bones. By glorifying the lord, I too conquered death. Even the great sage Śveta who had fallen into the jaws of death, was conquered by the grace of the lord in the manner it was conquered by me.

Prayer to Śiva

सनत्कुमार उवाच

Sanatkumāra said—

O lord, you tell us as to how the dwellers of Dāruvana, could seek the refuge with lord Śiva by his grace.

शैलादिरुवाच

एष देवो महादेवो विज्ञेयस्तु महेश्वरः ।

Sailādi said—

Brahmā himself then spoke to the fortunate dwellers who had the resplendence of fire.

पितामह उवाच

तानुवाच महाभागान्भगवानात्मभूः स्वयम्।

The Grandsire said—

The one who is to be known by the name of Maheśvara, is senior to me in age.

एष चैव प्रजाः सर्वाः सृजत्येकः स्वतेजसाः॥५॥

There is no better source of protection than him. He is the lord of the gods, sages and manes. Officiating as Kāla (time), he destroys all the living beings at the time of dissolution. He creates all the living beings alone by himself.

He happens to be Indra, the carrier of vajra. He is lord Viṣṇu, the holder of cakra and having the Śrī vatsa mark over the chest. During Satyayuga, he is known as a yogi. He is known as Kratu during the Tretāyuga. During Dvāpara, he is known as Kālagni and during the age of Kali, he is known as Dharmaketu. He represents the form of twelve Rudras who are eulogised by the learned people.

चतुरस्तं बहिश्चांतरश्चासं पिंडिकाश्रये।

The liṅga should be symmetrical within and without, at the place of support of the swollen knob, it should be octagonal. In other places, it should be cylindrical and attractive of appearance. One should worship only such as fine liṅga.

तमो ह्यान्नी रजो ब्रह्मा सत्त्वं विष्णुः प्रकाशकम्।
मूर्तिरेका स्थिता चास्य मूर्तयः परिकीर्तिताः॥९॥

Tamas is the fire-god, Rajas is Brahmā and Sattva is Viṣṇu. Although, there is a single deity at the base, these are glorified as its forms.

तत्र तिष्ठति तद्ब्रह्म योगेन तु समन्वितम्।

The leading Brāhmaṇas having conquered their anger and sense organs, make the liṅga endowed with all these traits. It is there that the Brāhmaṇas stay along with all their yogic powers. Therefore, they worship in the liṅga—lord Isāna, the lord of the chiefs of the gods who is the unchanging deity.

The liṅga should be cylindrical, splendid, of the size of a thumb, appealing to all and level in umbilical region. It may be of eight or sixteen equal angles. Its zone should be well built so that it could yield all the desires. The supporting altar has to be double of its size or equal in size, and approved by all. The cow's hole shall have all the characteristics of the altar, and shall be a third of its size. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the border all round shall be atleast one yupa (or barley grain) in breadth. The liṅga should be made in gold, silver or copper. The altar shall extend upto thrice its size all round. The altar shall be circular, triangular, quadrangular or hexagonal in shape. It shall be free from cracks with all characteristics clearly defined. After its installation in an appropriate manner, the kalaśa or a water pot shall be placed in the centre of the altar.

A piece of gold or cereals should be placed within it. The holy water shall then be inspired with the reciting of the mantras of the five auspicious Brāhmaṇas like Sadyojāta etc. The devotee shall thereafter sprinkle holy water over the liṅga repeating the five scared mantras.

If you worship the liṅga with such materials as are available with you, then you will attain Siddhi. All of you together with your sons and relatives shall worship him with devotion, concentration and mental purity.

सर्वे प्राञ्जलयो भूत्वा शूलपाणिं प्रपद्यत।
ततो द्रक्ष्यथ देवेशं दुर्दर्शमकृतात्मभिः॥२०॥

All of you with folded hands and with reverence shall resort to the lord who carries the trident in his hand. You will then see the lord of the Devas who is beyond the reach of the persons who are devoid of the self-control.

At his sight, your ignorance and sins will vanish. Thereafter, the forest dwellers circumambulated Brahmā of the prowess beyond measure and then returned to Dāruvana. They worshipped the lord in the same way as was prescribed by Brahmā.

They performed tapas over the high stone pedestals, in the mountain caves, or the lonely banks of the rivers. Some of them stood in the water and were surrounded by the watery plants. Some of them were drenched in rain while performing tapas, some of them stood over the big toes of their feet, some of them lived on the food given by the donors, some lived on the cereals crushed with stones, some of them stood in vīrāsana while others conducted themselves like the deer. In this way, the devotees spent their time in the devotion and worship of the lord. On the arrival of the spring season after the lapse of a year, then during the Satyayuga, the lord, in order to bless his devotees, arrived in the Dāruvana located over the auspicious Himālaya, quite delightfully.

They were in uncivilised dress and naked having applied ashes over their bodies and wielded burning torches in their hands. Their eyes were red or yellow. Sometimes they uttered the frightening laugh, at times they uttered a terrific laugh, at times they sang getting surprised. At times they danced in ecstasy and at times they cried again and again. They wandered in the āśramas and resorted to begging. They changed their guise at will. On their arrival in the forest, the sages offered prayer to them. The fortunate sages offered prayer to them with devotion. They offered the water of lord Rudra, with their wives, sons, servants to the fortunate sages. They also offered garlands of different kinds of flowers, incense and fragrance. Then they spoke to the lord thus.

eyed form. In order to enable them to visualise his true form, the lord bestowed the divine sight on them. (After which) looking at the three-eyed lord of the devas by the vision (provided to them), the dwellers of Dāruvana eulogised the lord again.

Prayer to Śiva

ऋषय ऊचुः

नमो दिग्बाससे नित्ये कृतांताय त्रिशूलिने।
विकटाय करालाय करालवदनाय च॥१॥

The Rṣis said—

Salutation to the naked one, to the holder of the trident, to the beautiful one, who is the axe for the tree of the universe and having the awful face. Salutation to him.

अरूपाय सुरूपाय विश्वरूपाय ते नमः।
कटङ्कटाय रुद्राय स्वाहाकाराय वै नमः॥२॥

Salutation to the formless one, to the one having form, to the one with universal form, to Rudra, the one who is eulogised by all with great respect and the one having the form of Yajamāna.

सर्वप्रणतदेहाय स्वं च प्रणतात्मने।
नित्यं नीलशिखण्डाय श्रीकंठाय नमोनमः॥३॥

Salutation to the one who offers salutations to his own soul, salutation to blue Śiva, to Śrī Kaṇṭha and the one who keeps poison in his throat.

नीलकंठाय देवाय चिताभस्माङ्गधारिणे ।
त्वं ब्रह्मा सर्वदेवानां रुद्राणां नीललोहितः॥४॥

Salutation to Nīlakanṭha, salutation to the ashes of cremation ground, you are Brahmā for all the gods. You happen to be Nīlakanṭha among all the Rudras.

आत्मा च सर्वभूतानां सांख्यैः पुरुष उच्यते ।
पर्वतानां महामेरुन्धत्राणां च चंद्रमाः॥५॥

You are the soul of all the living beings. You are termed as Puruṣa by the learned men, well-versed in the Sāṃkhya philosophy. You are Mahā-Meru among the mountains and the moon among the constellations.

ऋषीणां च वसिष्ठस्त्वं देवानां वासव स्तथा ।

आरण्यानां पशुनां च सिंहस्त्वं परमेश्वरः ।
ग्राम्याणामृषभश्चासि भगवाँल्लोकपूजितः॥७॥

You are Vasiṣṭha among the R̥ṣis and are Rudra among the gods. You are omkāra in all the Vedas and are the excellent Sāma among the Vedas. You are lion among the wild animals and bull among the domestic or village animals. You are the lord of all known as Parameśvara.

सर्वथा वर्तमानोपि योयो भावो भविष्यति ।
त्वामेव तत्र पश्यामो ब्रह्मणा कथितं तथा॥८॥

Thus, living in the present, in whatever form you may live, we can visualise you by the method prescribed by Brahmā.

कामः क्रोधश्च लोभश्च विषादो मद एव च ।
एतदिच्छामहे बोदधुं प्रसीद परमेश्वर॥९॥

All of us are desirous to know about Kāma (passion), Krodha (anger), Lobha (greed), Viṣāda (sorrow) and ahamkāra (arrogance). Be pleased on us, O Parameśvara!

महासंहरणे प्राप्ते त्वया देव कृतात्मना ।

At the time of the dissolution, the hand was rubbed against the forehead, and the fire was generated by your self-possessed soul.

तेनाग्निना तदा लोका अर्चिभिः सर्वतो वृताः ।
तस्मादग्निसमा होते बहवो विकृताग्नयः॥११॥

Then the entire universe was engulfed with that fire. Therefore, the lust, anger etc. are the distorted fires equal to the fire of dissolution.

कामः क्रोधश्च लोभश्च मोहो दंभ उपद्रवः ।

The lust, fury, greediness, delusion, arrogance and harassment, and all the living beings, mobile and immobile, are burnt by the fire originating from you. O lord of Devas, be our protector even as we are being burned. O highly blessed one, O Supreme lord, for the welfare of the world, you sprinkle the living beings; O auspicious observer, O lord, command us, we shall carry out your command, in thousands and crores of living beings in hundreds and crores of forms, we are unable to reach the extremities. O lord of gods, salutation to you.

Speech of the Rṣis

नन्दुवाच

ततस्तुतोष भगवाननुगृह्ण महेश्वरः ।
स्तुतिं श्रुत्वा स्तुतस्तेषामिदं वचनमब्रवीत्॥१॥
यः पठेच्छृण्याद्वापि युष्माभिः कीर्तिं स्तवम्।
श्रावयेद्वा द्विजान्विप्रो गाणपत्यमवाप्नुयात्॥२॥

Nandi said—

Thereafter, lord Śiva was pleased, who blessed them. Listening to the prayer of the sages, lord Śiva said— “When a Brāhmaṇa reads the prayer recited by you and is repeated by a Brāhmaṇa, he would achieve the leadership of my ganas.”

वक्ष्यामि को हितं पुण्यं भक्तानां मुनिपुङ्गवाः ।
स्त्रीलिङ्गमखिलं देवी प्रकृतिर्मम देहजा॥३॥
पुँलिंगं पुरुषो विप्रा मम देहसमुद्भवः ।
उभाभ्यामेव वै सृष्टिर्मम विप्रा न संशयः॥४॥

O excellent sags, I shall now speak out whatever would be unified to you as well as my devotees. Everything which is feminine is the Prakṛti, which emerges out of my body. O Brāhmaṇa, everything male also emerges out of my body as Puruṣa. O Brāhmaṇas, the entire creation emerges out of my body in the male and female forms. There is no doubt about it.

न निंदेद्यतिनं तस्माद्विवाससमनुत्तमम् ।
बालोन्मत्तविचेष्टं तु मत्परं ब्रह्मवादिनम्॥५॥

Therefore, my devotee should not denounce a nude Brahmavādin ascetic, even when he behaves like a mad person.

ये हि मां भस्मनिरता भस्मना दग्धकिल्बिषाः ।
यथोक्तकारिणो दांता विप्रा ध्यानपरायणाः॥६॥

महादेवपरा नित्यं चरन्तो ह्यूध्वरितसः ।

रुद्रलोकमनुप्राप्य न निवर्तति ते पुनः ।
तस्मादेतद्ब्रतं दिव्यमव्यक्तं व्यक्तलिंगिनः॥८॥

The devotees of Śiva love to apply the ashes over their bodies and burn their sins with the ashes. Those who keep on meditating, following the provisions of the sacred texts, perform Brahmacarya vrata and exercise control over their sense organs. Those whose speech, mind and body are well under control, and then worship lord Mahādeva, they achieve Rudraloka from where they never return. Therefore, this is the secret, sacred and divine rite of the deity of manifest linga.

भस्मव्रताश्च मुण्डाश्च व्रतिनो विश्वरूपिणः ।
न तान्परिवदेद्विद्वात्र चैतात्राभिलंघयेत्॥९॥

The observer of the above holy rite shall have all types of forms. They shave off their heads and also observe all the types of rites of ashes. No learned man shall ravish them nor should they be transgressed.

न हसेन्नप्रियं ब्रूयादमुत्रेह हितार्थवान् ।
यस्तात्रिन्दिति मूढात्मा महादेवं स निंदति॥१०॥

No one shall laugh at them nor shall he laugh at them or speak the displeasing words about them in case he be desirous of his own welfare. A foolish person who blemishes them, actually will blemish the lord himself.

यस्त्रेतान्पूजयेत्रित्यं स पूजयति शङ्करम् ।

युगेयुगे महायोगी क्रीडते भस्मगुणितः ।
एवं चरत भद्रं वस्ततः सिद्धिमवाप्स्यथ॥१२॥

A person who adores them actually adores lord Śiva himself. Therefore, with the desire of seeking benevolence and welfare of the world, the great lord sports about a great yogī in every yuga, applying ashes all over his own body. You will also act accordingly and in case you do so, you will attain profession and achieve welfare as well.

अतुलमिह महाभयप्रणाशहेतुं
शिवकथितं परमं पदं विदित्वा।
व्यपगतभवलोभमोहचित्ताः

All the Rṣis well understood the sacred knowledge bestowed by lord Śiva which is beyond comparison and destroys fear. Then, the sages bent their heads and offered their salutation to lord Śiva with fearless minds and getting freed from greed and delusion then and there.

ततः प्रमुदिता विप्राः श्रुत्वेवं कथितंतदा।

स्नायन्ति महाकुंभैरद्विरेव महेश्वरम्।
गायंति विविधैर्गृह्णैर्हृकरैश्चापि सुस्वरैः॥१५॥

Hearing the words of the lord, the delighted Rṣis offered ablution to the lord with pure fragrant waters with kusā grass and the flowers poured therein. The water was poured out of the water jars. They sang many divine songs and uttered humikāras with sweet tones.

नमो देवाधिदेवाय महादेवाय वै नमः।
अर्धनारीशरीराय सांख्ययोगप्रवर्तिने॥१६॥

They spoke— “Salutation to the lord of gods, salutation to Mahādeva, salutation to Ardhanārīśvara, salutation to the one having the half male and half female body. Salutation to Śiva , the founder of Sāṃkhya and Yoga.

मेघवाहनकृष्णाय गजचर्मनिवासिने।
कृष्णाजिनोत्तरीयाय व्यालयज्ञोपवीतिने॥१७॥

Salutation to the one who has the dark complexion of the carrier of the clouds. Salutation to the wearer of the elephant skin. Salutation to lord Śiva who wears a tiger skin as an upper garment. Salutation to the one wearling a snake as the sacred thread.

सुरचितसुविचित्रकुण्डलाय

ततस्तान्स मुनीन्नीतः प्रत्युवाच महेश्वरः।

Salutation to the one wearing the beautiful ear-rings. Salutation to Śiva wearing the well-knit garlands of flowers, besides the ornaments. Salutation to Śiva who wears the lion’s skin like a cloth. Salutation to lord Śiva possessing the vast glory. Then, the delighted Śiva spoke to the sages thus— “O excellent sages, I am pleased with your tapas, you ask for a boon.”

ततस्ते मुनयः सर्वे प्रणिपत्य महेश्वरम्।
भृगवंगिरा वसिष्ठश्च विश्वामित्रस्तथैव च॥२०॥

सस्मितं प्राह संप्रेक्ष्य सर्वान्मुनिवरांस्तदा॥२४॥

The Rṣis then offered their salutation to Maheśvara. Then, the sages known as Bhṛgu, Aṅgirā, Viśvāmitra, Gautama, Atri, Sukeśa, Pulastya, Pulaha, Kratu, Marīci, Kaśyapa, Kaṇva and Saṁvarta – the great sage, spoke to Mahādeva— “We would like to know the secret behind the smearing of the ashes over the bodies, the nudity, indirectness in worship and the adversity in the natural order, besides the propriety of service or otherwise." On hearing these words, the great lord glanced at the sags and spoke smilingly.

Praise of a Yogi

श्रीभगवानुवाच

एतद्वः संप्रवक्ष्यामि कथा सर्वस्वमद्य वै।
अग्निर्द्वृहं सोमकर्ता सोमश्चाग्निमुपाश्रितः॥१॥

The lord Śiva said—

Today, I shall speak out to you the entire story. I am the god of fire. I am the creator of Soma (the moon). I happen to be Soma myself – the refuge of the fire.

कृतमेतद्वहत्याग्निर्भूयो लोकसमाश्रयात्।
असकृतत्वाग्निना दर्थं जगत् स्थावरजङ्गमम्॥२॥

The fire carries away whatever from homa, because of that, the presence of Agni is there in the world. The fire burns the entire mobile and immobile world.

भस्मसाद्विहितं सर्वं पवित्रमिदमुत्तमम्।
भस्मना वीर्यमास्थाय भूतानि परिष्वचति॥३॥

Everything is burnt to ashes by the fire. When ashes become pure, then Soma achieves energy from the ashes.

अग्निकार्यं च यः कृत्वा करिष्यति त्रियायुषम्।
भस्मना मम वीर्येण मुच्यते सर्वकिल्बिषैः॥४॥

One who pours offerings in the fire, he is relieved of all the sins because the energy of the ashes is actually my energy.

भासतेत्येव यद्द्वस्म शुभं भावयते च यत्।
भक्षणात् सर्वपापानां भस्मेति परिकीर्तितम्॥५॥

The word bhasman is created of the root bhās which means shining, bhāsate or alternatively from the root bhū (to cause to reach), bhāvayate or from bhakṣa (to eat). Since it devours all sins, it is called bhasman.

ऊष्मपाः पितरो ज्ञेया देवा वै सोमसंभवाः।
आग्नीसोमात्मकं सर्वं जगत्स्थावरजङ्गमम्॥६॥

The Pitrs drink fire; Devas drink Soma. The entire universe of the mobile and immobile beings is of the nature of Agni or Soma.

अहमग्निर्महातेजाः सोमश्चैषा महांबिका।
अहमग्निश्च सोमश्च प्रकृत्या पुरुषः स्वयम्॥७॥

I happen to be Agni of great splendour. This great Umā is Soma. I am this Agni and Soma in combination. I am Puruṣa as well as Prakṛti.

तस्माद्वस्म महाभागा मद्वीर्यमिति चोच्यते।
स्ववीर्यं वपुषा चैव धारयामीति वै स्थितिः॥८॥

Therefore, O blessed one, the ashes constitute my energy. I hold my virility in my body. This is a fact.

तदाप्रभृति लोकेषु रक्षार्थमशुभेषु च।
भस्मना क्रियते रक्षा सूतिकानां गृहेषु॥९॥

Since the protection is offered by the ashes at inauspicious times and even while lying in chambers, it is resorted to for securing protection.

भस्मस्नानविशुद्धात्मा जितक्रोधो जितेन्द्रियः।
मत्समीपं समागम्य न भूयो विनिवर्तते॥१०॥

A person whose soul is purified with the application of ashes over his body, the one who has conquered his body, the one who has overcome his anger and other sense organs, never returns coming in touch with me.

ब्रतं पाशुपतं योगं कापिलं चैव निर्मितम्।

पूर्वं पाशुपतं ह्येतन्निर्मितं तदनुत्तमम्॥११॥

Pāśupata Yoga and Kapila's Sāṃkhya Yoga have developed out of me alone. It was the excellent Paśupata rite which emerged out of me.

शेषाश्चाश्रमिणः सर्वे पश्चात्सृष्टाः स्यंभुवा।

सृष्टिरेषा मया सृष्टा लज्जामोहभयात्मिका॥१२॥

Thereafter, the four āśramas of life were caused to be made by Brahmā. The universe comprising of shame, confusion and fear was created by me. All the gods, sages and other human bodies were born naked.

नगा एव हि जायंते देवता मुनयस्तथा।

ये चान्ये मानवा लोके सर्वे जायंत्यवाससः॥१३॥

इंद्रियैरजितैर्ग्नो दुकूलेनापि संवृतः।

तैरेव संवृतैर्गुणो न वस्त्रं कारणं स्मृतम्॥१४॥

A person who is clad in costumes, but if the sense organs remain uncontrolled, then the person is as good as naked. But in case, the sense organs of a person are well controlled then, he inspite of his being naked, would be like a well clad person. Under such circumstances, the costumes are of no importance.

क्षमा धृतिर्गहिंसा च वैराग्यं चैव सर्वशः।

तुल्यौ मानावमानौ च तदावरणमुत्तमम्॥१५॥

To practice forgiveness, patience, non-violence and Vairāgya (renunciation) and to treat honour and dishonour equally, serve as the best costumes for the body.

भस्मस्नानेन दिग्धाङ्गो ध्यायते मनसा भवम्।

यद्यकार्यसहस्राणि कृत्वा यः स्नाति भस्मना॥१६॥

तत्सर्वं दहते भस्म यथाग्निस्तेजसा वनम्।

तस्माद्यत्परो भूत्वा त्रिकालमपि यः सदा॥१७॥

भस्मना कुरुते स्नानं गाणपत्यं स गच्छति।

The application of ashes purifies the body. One who adores lord Śiva with devotion and in case, he after committing a thousand mistakes, applies ashes over the body, then with the application of the ashes, all his sins are reduced to ashes, in the same way as the fire reduces the forest to ashes. Therefore, a person who takes bath thrice a day, he achieves the position of Gaṇapati.

समाहृत क्रतून् सर्वान्गृहीत्वा ब्रतमुत्तमम्॥१८॥

ध्यायांति ये महादेवं लीलासद्भावभाविताः।

उत्तरेणार्थपंथानं तेऽमृतत्वमवाप्नुयः॥१९॥

दक्षिणेन च पंथानं ये श्मशानानि भेजिरे।

अणिमा गरिमा चैव लघिमा प्राप्तिरेव च॥२०॥

इच्छा कामावसायित्वं तथा प्राकाप्यमेव च।

ईशित्वं च वशित्वं च अमरत्वं च ते गताः॥२१॥

The people who after performing the yajña, perform the auspicious religious vratas and meditate on the great lord with devout feelings about the divine sports of the lord, attain immortality by passing through the noble northern path. Those who resort to the creation ground by means of the southern path, attain the eight perfections, viz., Anīmā, Garīmā, Laghīmā, Prāpti, Kāmāvāśāyitā, Prākāmya, Īśītva, Vaśītva, besides immorality in the end.

इंद्रादयस्तथा देवाः कामिकब्रतमास्थिताः।

ऐश्वर्यं परमं प्राप्य सर्वे प्रथिततेजसः॥२२॥

Indeed other Devas who had adopted the holy rite conducive to the realisation of all the desires, attained the greatest power and prosperity; all of them are well known for their resplendence and fulgence.

व्यपगतमदमोहमुक्तरागस्त-
मरजदोषविवर्जितस्वभावः ।
परिभवमिदमुत्तमं विदित्वा
पशुपतियोगपरो भवेत्सदैव ॥ २३ ॥

One shall be devoid of delusion, arrogance, passion and the defects of tamas, besides rajas in his character. Understanding that things of the world are subject to decay and destruction, one shall always be devoted to the yoga of Paśupata.

इमं पाशुपतं ध्यायन् सर्वपापप्रणाशनम् ।
यः पठेच्च शुचिर्भूत्वा श्रद्धानो जितेन्द्रियः ॥ २४ ॥
सर्वपापविशुद्धात्मा रुद्रलोकं स गच्छति ।
ते सर्वे मुनयः श्रुत्वा वसिष्ठाद्या द्विजोत्तमाः ॥ २५ ॥
भस्मपाण्डुरदिग्धाङ्गा बभूतुविगतस्पृहाः ।
रुद्रलोकाय कल्पान्ते संस्थिताः शिवतेजसा ॥ २६ ॥

He should also meditate on the vrata of Paśupati Śiva which destroys all the sins. A person who reads this, being pure and faithful, having conquered the sense organs, shall become purified of all sins and shall achieve the world of Rudra. On hearing this, Vasiṣṭha and all other sages, besides the excellent Brāhmaṇas, smeared their bodies with ashes and were freed of all the desires. At the end of the kalpa, they started towards the world of Rudra.

तस्मान्न निद्या पूज्याश्च विकृता मलिना अपि ।
रूपान्तिश्च विप्रेन्द्राः सदा योगीद्रशङ्क्या ॥ २७ ॥

Therefore, even the deformed and dirty persons are worthy of the worship of Śiva and should not be denounced. The leading Brāhmaṇas, irrespective of being beautiful or ugly, should also be worshipped. They could be the leading yogis.

बहुना किं प्रलापेन भवभक्ता द्विजोत्तमाः ।
संपूज्याः सर्वयत्नेन शिववत्रात्र संशयः ॥ २८ ॥

It is no use talking much, the excellent Brāhmaṇa devotees of Śiva, should be worshipped by all means like Śiva himself.

मलिनाश्चैव विप्रेन्दा भवभक्ता दृढव्रताः ।
दधीचस्तु यथा देवदेवं जित्वा व्यवस्थितः ॥ २९ ॥
नारायणं तथा लोके रुद्रभक्त्या न संशयः ।
तस्मात्सर्वप्रियत्वेन भस्मदिग्धतनूरुहाः ॥ ३० ॥
जटिनो मुण्डिनश्चैव नग्ना नानाप्रकारिणः ।
संपूज्याः शिववत्रित्यं मनसा कर्मणा गिरा ॥ ३१ ॥

Even a dirty leading Brāhmaṇa could be the devotee of Śiva and steady in his rites. By devotion to Śiva, much could be achieved in the world in the manner of Dadhīca, who could conquer even Viṣṇu, the lord of the gods. Therefore, making all the efforts, the devotees with matted heads, censured heads or naked anchorites, with their bodies smeared with ashes, should always be worshipped like Śiva himself, mentally, physically and verbally.

Kṣupa was an illustrious king and was a friend of Dadhīca. In some context, there developed a controversy between the king and Dadhīca about superiority of the Brāhmaṇas and the Kṣatriyas.

O excellent one, the king is a great god. Therefore, O son of Cyavana, I must never be insulted by you. I should always be respected.” On hearing the words of Kṣupa, Dadhīca, the great sage, the son of Cyavana, struck Kṣupa over the head with his left feet, being sure of his own supremacy as a Brāhmaṇa. But the powerful Kṣupa hit Dadhīca with his thunderbolt.

ब्रह्मलोके पुरासौ हि ब्रह्मणः क्षुतसंभवः ।

Formerly, he was born in Brahmaloka, when Brahmā sneezed. He was asked by the vajra wielding Indra to perform a task, after performing which he had received vajra as a reward from Indra. Then, Kṣupa became a king because of his own sweet act. The powerful king had overpowered the Brāhmaṇas like the powerful Indra, possessing all the tāmasika guṇas. With the strike of vajra by Kṣupa, Dadhīca fell down on earth.

योगादेत्य दधीचस्य देहं देहभूतांवरः ।

Feeling painful, he remembered the sage Bhārgava who was the best among the humans. Then, Bhārgava stitched the human body of Dadhīca and restored it to its original position with his yogic powers. Then he said to Dadhīca,

भो दधीच महाभाग देवदेवमुपापतिम् ।
संपूज्य पूज्यं ब्रह्माद्यदेवदेवं निरञ्जनम् ॥१५॥
अवध्यो भव विप्रर्थे प्रसादात्यम्बकस्य तु ।
मृतसञ्जीवनं तस्माल्लब्धमेतन्मया द्विजः ॥१६॥

"O excellent one, you better adore lord Śiva who is worshipped by Brahmā and other gods and become eternal by his grace. O Brähmaṇa, I had achieved this Sañjīvanī from lord Śiva.

नास्ति मृत्युभयं शंभोर्भक्तानामिह सर्वतः ।
मृतसज्जीवनं चापि शैवमद्य वदामि ते॥१७॥

There is no danger for the devotee of Śiva anywhere. I am going to repeat to you, the mantra of Śiva which bestows life to a dead person.

त्रियंबकं यजामहे त्रैलोक्यपितरं प्रभुम् ।
त्रिमण्डलस्य पितरं त्रिगुणस्य महेश्वरम्॥१८॥
त्रितत्त्वस्य त्रिवहेश्च त्रिधार्थूतस्य सर्वतः ।
त्रिवेदस्य महादेवं सुगंधिं पुष्टिवर्धनम्॥१९॥
सर्वभूतेषु सर्वत्र त्रिगुणे प्रकृतौ तथा ।
इन्द्रियेषु तथाऽन्येषु देवेषु च गणेषु च॥२०॥
पुष्पेषु गंधवत्सूक्ष्मः सुगंधिः परमेश्वरः ।

We worship the lord, father of the three worlds, the lord of the three deities, three guṇas, three principles, three sacred fires, of three Vedas, of everything splitting to three. He is the scented one, the increaser of nourishment in all the living beings, in all the places, in the Prakṛti having the three guṇas, in the sense organs and their objects, in Devas and gaṇas. The fragrant lord is as subtle as the fragrance in flowers.

पुष्टिश्च प्रकृतिर्यस्मात्पुरुषस्य द्विजोत्तमः॥२१॥
महदादिविशेषांतविकल्पस्यापि सुत्रत ।
विष्णोः पितामहस्यापि मुनीनां च महामुने॥२२॥
इन्द्रस्यापि च देवानां तस्माद्वै पुष्टिवर्धनः ।
तं देवममृतं रुद्रं कर्मणा तपसा तथा॥२३॥
स्वाध्यायेन च योगेन ध्यानेन च यजामहे ।
सत्येनानेन मुक्षीयान्मृत्युपाशाद्ववः स्वयम्॥२४॥
बंधमोक्षकरो यस्मादुर्वासुकमिव प्रभुः ।

मृतसज्जीवनो मंत्रो मया लब्धस्तु शङ्करात्॥२५॥

O excellent Brähmaṇa of holy rites, O great sage, because puṣṭi (nourishment) is the very name of Puruṣa, He is the increaser of nourishment (Puṣṭi), known as puṣṭivardhana of all the divine creations, beginning with Mahat and ending with Viśeṣa of Viṣṇu, of Brahmā, of sages, of Indra and of Devas. Therefore, we do worship the immortal, the eternal lord Śiva or Rudra, by means of actions, penance, study of the Vedas, Yoga and by meditation. By this truth, Śiva himself shall liberate us from the bondage of death. The lord is the cause of bondage and liberation like the cucumber fruit. This mantra rejuvenates life as been acquired by me from Śiva.

जप्त्वा हुत्वाभिमंत्रैवं जलं पीत्वा दिवानिशम् ।
लिङ्गस्य सत्रिधौ ध्यात्वा नास्ति मृत्युभयं द्विज॥२६॥

By muttering this mantra of Śiva, performing homa with it, drinking water sanctified with this mantra and meditating before liṅga reciting this mantra, no one can ever be afraid of death.

तस्य तद्वचनं श्रुत्वा तपसाराध्य शङ्करम् ।
वज्रास्थित्वमवध्यत्वमदीनत्वं च लब्धवान्॥२७॥

Listening to the words of the sage Bhārgava, Dadhica, the best among the ascetics then performed tapas for Śiva and achieved the vajra like bones from Śiva. Thereafter, he could not die with the attack from others.

एवमाराध्य देवेशं दधीचो मुनिसत्तमः ।
प्राप्यावध्यत्वमन्यैश्च वज्रास्थित्वं प्रयत्नतः॥२८॥

नाभूत्राशाय तद्वज्रं दधीचस्य महात्मनः ।
प्रभावात्परमेशस्य वज्रबद्धशरीरिणः॥३०॥

Achieving the invincible position besides the vajra like bones, Dadhīci cracked the head of the king Kṣupa with the head of his foot. In turn, Kṣupa too attacked Dadhīca with his vajra which could do no harm to the sage, by the grace of Śiva.

क्षुपा दधीचस्य तदा प्रभावम्।
आराधयामास हरिं मुकुंदमिन्-

When the king Kṣupa realised that the attack of vajra had no effect on the body of the sage Dadhīca, he adored the lotus-eyed Viṣṇu.

इति श्रीलिङ्गमहापुराणे पूर्वभागे
क्षुपाभिधनुपराभवर्णनं नाम पञ्चत्रिशोध्यायः॥३५॥

lotus as attributes, wearing the crown bedecked with all the ornaments, clad in yellow garments, surrounded by the gods and the asuras, bestowed the divine vision on Kṣupa. Visualising him with the divine vision, Kṣupa bowed on to the Garuḍa bannered lord and eulogised him with pleasing words.

“You are the primordial deity without beginning. You are Prakṛti, you are Puruṣa, the protector of the world; you are Viṣṇu, the lord of the world. You are Brahman with universe as your body. You are the first principle. O Viṣṇu, you alone are the greatest luminary. You are the supreme soul. You are lord of Śrī, you are the greatest abode. O lord of earth, Rudra enveloped the tamas originated from your fury. Brahmā, the creator of the universe, surrounded by rajas, was born of your grace. The lord covered by sattva was born of your grace. O Viṣṇu, O Rudra, you are the same as the universe.

Sailādī said—

This prayer of Viṣṇu destroys all the sins. The one who reads or listens the prayer offered by Kṣupa or narrates it to the Brāhmaṇas with devotion, achieves the place of Viṣṇu. After adoring and eulogising the invincible lord who is eulogised by the lord of the Devas and others and after bowing to him with lowered head, Kṣupa spoke in humility.

राजोवाज

भगवन्नाश्विष्णः कश्चिद्धधीच इति विश्रुतः ।

The King said—

O lord, long back, a certain Brāhmaṇa known as Dadhīca, was a friend of mine. He is well-versed in dharma and a noble soul.

He is a devotee of lord Śiva and cannot be killed by anyone. O lord of Devas, he once kicked over my head with his left foot in the open assembly with great contempt. O lord, I wish to defeat the Brāhmaṇa Dadhīca. Please help me. Forgive me. Salutation to you.”

शैलादिरुवाच

ज्ञात्वा सोपि दधीचस्य ह्यवध्यत्वं महात्मनः ।

Sailādi said—

Viṣṇu well realised that Dadhīca was indestructible, keeping in view the incomparable prowess of lord Śiva.

एवं स्मृत्वा हरिः प्राह ब्रह्मणः क्षुतसंभवम् ।
विप्राणां नास्ति राजेन्द्र भयमेत्य महेश्वरम् ॥ २७ ॥

Visualising this aspect, Viṣṇu said to Kṣupa, born of the sneeze of Brahmā— “O great king, after achieving Śiva, the Brāhmaṇas have nothing to be afraid of.

विशेषाद्वृद्धभक्तानामभयं सर्वदा नृप ।
नीचानामपि सर्वत्र दधीचस्यास्य किं पुनः ॥ २८ ॥

O king, the devotee of Rudra are particularly free from fear always. In case, this is true for the sake of other people, then what to speak of Dadhīca?

तस्मात्त्वं महाभाग विजयो नास्ति भूपते ।

Therefore, O fortunate one, O king, you can have no hope of victory over Dadhīca. Of course, I shall give a slight pain to the Brāhmaṇa, inviting a curse on me with the gods.”

O king, at the sacrifice of Dakṣa, due to Dadhīca’s curse, I and other gods would be destroyed and revived again.

Therefore, coming in contact with him, I shall try for your victory over Dadhīca.

शैलादिरुवाच

श्रुत्वा वाक्यं क्षुपः प्राह तथास्त्विति जनार्दनम् ।
भगवानपि विप्रस्य दधीचस्याश्रमं ययौ ॥ ३२ ॥

Sailādi said—

On hearing the words of lord Hari spoken to Kṣupa, the latter said— “Be it so.” The lord Viṣṇu then went to the hermitage of the sage Dadhīci.

आस्थाय रूपं विप्रस्य भगवान् भक्तवत्सलः ।
दधीचमाह ब्रह्मिभिर्विवद्य जगद्गुरुः ॥ ३३ ॥

The lord who is dear to the devotees, who is the preceptor of the universe, assuming the form of a Brāhmaṇa, then congratulated to the sage Dadhīca saying.

श्रीभगवानुवाच

भो भो दधीच ब्रह्मर्थं भवार्चनरताव्यय ।
वरमेकं वृणे त्वत्सं भवान्दातुमर्हति ॥ ३४ ॥

The lord said—

“O Dadhīca, O Brāhmaṇical sage, O unchanging one, you are engaged in the adoration of Śiva. I have arrived here to receive a boon from you which should be given by you to me.”

याचितो देवदेवेन दधीचः प्राह विष्णुना।

At the request of Viṣṇu, the lord of the gods, Dadhīca said— “All that is desired by you has been well understood by me. I am not at all afraid of you.

O Viṣṇu, you have arrived here in the form of a Brāhmaṇa. By the grace of Rudra, I can well understand the things of past, present and future. O Viṣṇu, you are the lord of gods. O deity of good rites, discard the guise of a Brāhmaṇa. O killer of Madhu, O lord of the gods, you have been adored by Kṣupa.

O Viṣṇu, I do not speak falsehood. I am not afraid as well. I am not afraid of the Gods, Daityas and Brāhmaṇas in this world.”

नन्द्युवाच

श्रुत्वा वाक्यं दधीचस्य तदास्थाय जनार्दनः।

Nandī said—

Listening to the words of Dadhīca, Viṣṇu discarded the form of a Brāhmaṇa in a moment and spoke to Dadhīca smilingly.

श्रीभगवान्नुवाच

भयं दधीच सर्वत्र नास्त्येव तव सुव्रत।
भवार्चनरतो यस्माद्ब्रवान् सर्वज्ञ एव च॥४२॥

Lord Viṣṇu said—

“O Dadhīca of good rites, you are not at all afraid of anyone at any place because of you being the devotee of Śiva. Therefore, you are omniscient as well.

बिभेमीति सकृद्बुद्धुं त्वमर्हसि नमस्तव।

You have only to say once, that, “I am afraid.” Salutation to you. At my instance, you first speak to Kṣupa that you are afraid.”

एवं श्रुत्वापि तद्वाक्यं सांत्वं विष्णोर्महामुनिः।
न बिभेमीति तं प्राह दधीचो देवसत्तमम्॥४४॥

Listening to praiseworthy words of lord Viṣṇu, Dadhīca spoke to Viṣṇu, who happened to be the foremost of the gods— “I am not at all afraid.”

प्रभावादेवदेवस्य शंभो साक्षात्पिनाकिनः।
सर्वस्य शङ्करस्यास्य सर्वज्ञस्य महामुनिः॥४५॥

Because of the grace of the omniscient Śiva, the bearer of the Pināka bow, Dadhīci—the great sage, did not say that he was afraid.

ततस्तस्य मुनेः श्रुत्वा वचनं कुपितो हरिः।
चक्रमुद्घम्य भगवान्दिधक्षुर्मुनिसत्तमम्॥४६॥

Listening to the words of the sage, lord Viṣṇu, getting enraged, in order to burn the sage Dadhīca, lifted up his cakra.

अभवत्कुंठिताग्रं हि विष्णोश्चक्रं सुदर्शनम्।
प्रभावाद्धि दधीचस्य क्षुपस्थैव हि सत्रिधौ॥४७॥

In the very presence of Kṣupa, with the strength of Dadhīca, the blades of the cakra of Viṣṇu were blunted.

दृष्टा तत्कुंठिताग्रं हि चक्रं चक्रिणमाह सः।
दधीचः सस्मितं साक्षात्सदसद्व्यक्तिकारणम्॥४८॥

When the blades of the cakra were so blunted, Viṣṇu – the carrier of cakra and the cause of the difference between visible and invisible matter, was addressed by Dadhīca smilingly,

भगवन् भवता लब्धं पुरातीव सुदारुणम्।
सुदर्शनमिति ख्यातं चक्रं विष्णो प्रयत्नतः॥४९॥

“O Viṣṇu, you had achieved this cakra, making all the efforts, from lord Śiva in earlier times.

भवस्यैतच्छुभं चक्र न जिघांसति मामिह।
ब्रह्मास्त्राद्यैस्तथान्वैहि प्रयत्नं कर्तुमर्हसि॥५०॥

This cakra would never be able to kill me. You can try the use of Brahmāstra or other weapons in order to kill me.”

शैलादिरुवाच

तस्य तद्वचनं श्रुत्वा दृष्टा निर्बार्यमायुधम्।
सप्तर्ज च पुनस्तस्मै सर्वास्त्राणि समंततः॥५१॥

Sailādi said–

Listening to the words of Dadhīci and finding his cakra having been rendered infructuous, Viṣṇu shot all his weapons over Dadhīci from all the sides.

चक्रुर्देवास्तस्तस्तस्य विष्णोः साहाय्यमव्ययाः।
द्विजेनैकेन योदधुं हि प्रवृत्तस्य महाबलाः॥५२॥

The valorous gods also came for the help of lord Viṣṇu who had been fighting with a lonely Brāhmaṇa.

कुशमुष्टिं तदादाय दधीचः संस्मरन्भवम्।
सप्तर्ज सर्वदेवेभ्यो वज्रास्थिः सर्वतो वशी॥५३॥

Then Dadhīci, having the vajra like bones, who had well-controlled his sense organs, hold a bunch of kusā grass in his hand and reciting the name of Śiva in his mind, shot it over the gods.

दिव्यं त्रिशूलमभवत्कालाग्निसदृशप्रभम्।
दग्धुं देवान्मतिं चक्रे युगांताग्निरिवापरः॥५४॥

Suddenly, it was turned into a trident issuing fire flames of the time of dissolution, for burning the gods.

इद्वनारायणाद्यैश्च देवैस्त्यक्तानि यानि तु।
आयुधानि समस्तानि प्रणेमुस्त्रिशिखं मुने॥५५॥

O sage, all the weapons which had been shot at Dadhīci by the all the gods, offered their salutation to the trident. All of them lay prostrate before the trident.

देवाश्च दुदुकुः सर्वे ध्वस्तवीर्या द्विजोत्तमः।
सप्तर्ज भगवन् विष्णुः स्वदेहात्पुरुषोत्तमः॥५६॥
आत्मनः सदृशान्दिव्यांल्लक्षलक्षायुतान् गणान्।
तानि सर्वाणि सहस्रा ददाह मुनिसत्तमः॥५७॥

O best of the Brāhmaṇas, all the gods fled away from that place, getting powerless. Then, lord Puruṣottama made lakhs of ganas to emerge out of his body in a moment, all of whom suddenly tried to burn the sage Dadhīca.

ततो विस्मयनार्थाय विश्वमूर्तिरभूद्धरिः।

दधीचो भगवान्विप्रः देवतानां गणान् पृथक्।

अण्डानां कोटयश्चैव विश्वमूर्तेस्तनौ तदा।
दृष्टैतदखिलं तत्र च्यावनिर्विस्मितं तदा॥६०॥

Thereafter, Viṣṇu, in order to confuse the sage Dadhīci, turned himself in the universal form. Then, Dadhīci observed in the body of lord Viṣṇu, all the gods and the gāṇas of Viṣṇu quite clearly besides crores of the gāṇas of Rudras. Besides this, he noticed crores of globes in the universal body of lord Viṣṇu. Observing all this, Dadhīci felt surprised.

विष्णुमाह जगन्नाथं जगन्मयमजं विभूम्।
अंभसाभ्युदश्य तं विष्णुं विश्वरूपं महामुनिः॥६१॥

Then Dadhīci sprinkled water over Viṣṇu and said— “O Aja, lord of the universe, you have the universal form.

मायां त्वज महाबाहो प्रतिभासा विचारतः।
विज्ञानानां सहस्राणि दुर्विज्ञेयानि माधव॥६२॥

O long-armed one, discard this illusion. O Viṣṇu, there are thousands of skills (or tricks) with me as well which are difficult to comprehend and which come handy by mere thinking.

मयि पश्य जगत्सर्वं त्वया सार्थमनिन्दितं।
ब्रह्माणं च तथा रुद्रं दिव्यां दृष्टिं ददामि ते॥६३॥

O lord, unsuitable for denouncement, you can also visualise in me the entire universe, Brahmā and Rudra. I shall bestow divine vision on you.”

इत्युक्त्वा दर्शयामास स्वतनौ निखिलं मुनिः।
तं प्राह च हरिं देवं सर्वदेवभक्तव्यम्॥६४॥

Thus speaking, the sage showed everything to lord Viṣṇu in his own body and then spoke to the lord again, the source of the origin of all the gods.

मायया ह्वनया किं वा मंत्रशक्त्याथ वा प्रभो।
वस्तुशक्त्याथ वा विष्णो ध्यानशक्त्याथ वा पुनः॥

“Of what use is this deception? O lord, of what avail is the power of magic? O Viṣṇu, what purpose is served by the intrinsic power of objects or by the power of meditation.

त्यक्त्वा मायामिमां तस्माद्योदधुमर्हसि यत्ततः।

Therefore, discarding this deception, you should fight against me, making all the efforts.”

निशम्य वचनं तस्य ब्रह्मणस्तेन निर्जितः।
जगाम भगवान् विष्णुः प्रणिपत्य महामुनिम्॥६८॥

On hearing these words and noticing his miraculous power, Devas, once again fled from that place. The lotus born Brahmā restrained once again lord Viṣṇu, who had became inactive. On hearing the words of Brahmā, lord Viṣṇu, who had been defeated, bowed before the sage and went away.

क्षुपो दुःखातुरो भूत्वा संपूज्य च मुनीश्वरम्।
दधीचमभिवद्याशु प्रार्थयामास विकलवः॥६९॥

Kṣupa, on the other hand, felt extremely afflicted and dejected. He honoured the sage Dadhīca and prayed to him thus.

दधीच क्षम्यतां देव मयाऽज्ञानात्कृतं सखे।
विष्णुना हि सुरैर्वापि रुद्रभक्तस्य किं तव॥७०॥

O lord and friend Dadhīca, whatever had been done by me was done in ignorance for which I seek forgiveness. I seek forgiveness. Therefore, no harm could be caused to you by the gods or lord Viṣṇu.

प्रसीद परमेशाने दुर्लभा दुर्जनैर्द्विजं।
भक्तिर्भक्तिमतां श्रेष्ठ मद्विधैः क्षत्रियाधमैः॥७१॥

O supreme lord, O master, be pleased with me. O Brāhmaṇa, you are the foremost of all the devotees. You have an unparalleled devotion towards lord Śiva. Such a devotion is beyond the reach of Kṣatriya and wicked people like us.

श्रुत्वानुगृह्ण तं विप्रो दधीचस्तपतां वरः ।
राजानं मुनिशार्दूलः शशाप च सुरोत्तमान् ॥७२॥

The best of the ascetics and the Brāhmaṇas, the sage Dadhīcī, listening to the words of the king Kṣupa, showered his grace on the king and pronounced a curse on the gods.

रुद्रकोपाग्निना देवाः सदेवेन्द्रा मूनीश्वरैः ।

प्रजापतेर्मखे पुण्ये दक्षस्य सुमहात्मनः ।

“All the gods with Indra, lord Viṣṇu and all the R̥ṣis, would be burnt to ashes in the yajñā of Dakṣa with the rage of lord Śiva.” Thus pronouncing the curse, Dadhīcī, again looked at Kṣupa and said to him.

देवैश्च पूज्या राजेन्द्र नृपैश्च विविधैर्गणैः ।
ब्राह्मणा एव राजेन्द्र बलिनः प्रभविष्णवः ॥७५॥

“O king, Brāhmaṇas are always adorable by the gods and the groups of other people. Therefore, the Brāhmaṇas are always powerful and strong.”

इत्युक्त्वा स्वोटजं विप्रः प्रविवेश महाद्युतिः ।
दधीचमभिवन्द्यैव जगाम स्वं नृपः क्षयम् ॥७६॥

Thus speaking, the immensely illustrious Dadhīcī – the Brāhmaṇa, retired to his hermitage. Thereafter, the king Kṣupa as well, offered his salutation to Dadhīcī and went back to his palace.

तदेव तीर्थमभवत्स्थाने श्वरमिति स्मृतम् ।

The place where the event was enacted came to be known as Sthāneśvara. Reaching at Sthāneśvara, a person achieves the Sāyujya devotion of lord Śiva.

कथितस्तव संक्षेपाद्विवादः क्षुब्दधीचयोः ।

Thus, I have narrated the controversy between Dadhīcī and Kṣupa and the glory of Śiva.

य इदं कीर्तयेद्विव्यं विवादं क्षुब्दधीचयोः ।

A person who reads the controversy between Kṣupa and Dadhīcī, he, overpowering the untimely death, reaches the Brahmaloka after his death.

य इदं कीर्त्य संग्रामं प्रविशेत्तस्य सर्वदा ।

A warrior who enters the battlefield, after reading this episode, he can never be afraid of death and will always be victorious.

Grant of boon by Brahmā

सनत्कुमार उवाच

भवान्कथमनुप्राप्तो महादेवमुमापतिम्।
श्रोतुमिच्छामि तत्सर्वं वक्तुमर्हसि मे प्रभो॥१॥

Sanatkumāra said—

I would like to listen as to how could you achieve lord Mahādeva, the spouse of the goddess Umā. I would like to listen to this episode.

शैलादिरुवाच

प्रजाकामः शिलादोभूत्पिता मम महामुने।
सोष्ठंधः सुचिरं कालं तपस्तेषे सुदुश्वरम्॥२॥

Sailādi said—

O great sage Śilāda, my father was blind. He performed hard tapas for getting a son.

तपतस्तस्य तपसा संतुष्टे वज्रधृक् प्रभुः।
शिलादमाह तुष्टोस्मि वरयस्व वरानिति॥३॥

Pleased with his tapas, Indra, the holder of vajra said to Śilāda— “I am pleased with your tapas. You ask for a boon.”

ततः प्रणम्य देवेशं सहस्राक्षं सहामरैः।
प्रोवाच मुनिशार्दूल कृताञ्जलिपुटो हरिम्॥४॥

O best of the sages, my father offered his salutation to the thousand-eyed Indra and spoke to him with all humility.

शिलाद उवाच

भगवन्देवतारिंघ्न सहस्राक्ष वरप्रद।
अयोनिं मृत्युहीनं पुत्रमिच्छामि सुव्रत॥५॥

Śilāda said—

O lord with excellent holy rites, O destroyer of the enemies of the gods, O bestower of the boons, I desire a son to be born without a human contact and who should be eternal.

शक्र उवाच

पत्रं दास्यामि विप्रर्बे योनिं मृत्युसंयुतम्।
अन्यथा ते न दास्यामि मृत्युहीना न संति वै॥६॥

Sakra said—

O Brahmarṣi, I can bestow a son on you who could be born of a woman and who will die in due course of time. No person is born on earth without death.

न दास्यति सुतं तेऽत्र मृत्युहीनमयोनिजम्।
पितामहोपि भगवान्किमुतान्ये महामुने॥७॥

O great sage, even Brahmā cannot bestow on you a son without death and who should be born without human contact, what to speak of others.

सोपि देवः स्वयं ब्रह्मा मृत्युहीनो न चेश्वरः।
योनिजश्च महातेजाश्चाण्डजः पद्मसंभवः॥८॥

Because even Brahmā has to face death himself and he too, was born out of an egg.

महेश्वराङ्गजश्चैव भवान्यास्तनयः प्रभुः।
तस्याप्यायुः समाख्यातं परार्धद्वयसंमितम्॥९॥

He was born of Maheśvara and Umā as a son. His age is also limited to two Parārdhas.

कोटिकोटिसहस्राणि अहर्भूतानि यानि वै।
समतीतानि कल्पानां तावच्छेषा परत्र ये॥१०॥

Thousands and crores of kalpas which constitute his day, have passed and many of them yet remain.

तस्मादयोनिजे पुत्रे मृत्युहीने प्रयत्नतः।
परित्यजाशां विप्रेण्द्र गृहाणात्मसमं सुतम्॥११॥

Hence, O excellent Brāhmaṇa, shed away your desire for a son devoid of death, or the one not born of a womb. Accept a son like yourself.

शैलादिरुचाच

तस्य तद्वचनं श्रुत्वा पिता मे लोकविश्रुतः।
शिलाद इति पुण्यात्मा पुनः प्राह शचीपतिम्॥१२॥

Sailādi said—

On hearing his words, my meritorious father, well-known in the world as Śilāda, again spoke to Indra.

शिलाद उवाच

भगवन्नर्णदयोनित्वं पद्मयोनित्वमेव च।
महेश्वराङ्गयोनित्वं श्रुतं वै ब्रह्मणो मया॥१३॥

Śilāda said—

O lord, I have already heard that Brahmā was born of an egg; he was born of a lotus and was also born of Maheśvara.

पुरा महेश्वदायादाङ्गदतश्चास्य पूर्वजात्।

दाक्षायणी सा दक्षोपि देवः पद्मोद्भवात्मजः ।
पौत्री कनकगर्भस्य कथं तस्याः सुतो विभुः ॥१५॥

Formerly, O Mahendra of great arms, Nārada – my elder brother, had been saying this and I have heard it from him. But tell me, how can this be? Dakṣayānī was the granddaughter of Brahmā; since Dakṣa was the son of the lotus born deity, how could Brahmā be her son?

शक्र उवाच

दिव्यं वर्षसहस्रं तु मेघो भूत्वावहद्वरम् ।
नारायणो महादेवं बहुमानेन सादरम् ॥१८॥

Indra said–

O Brāhmaṇa, your doubt is correct at your place, the reason being that during the Tatpuruṣa kalpa, it happened with Brahmā. Taking all the things into consideration, Brahmā was created by the lord. During the Meghavāhana Kalpa, Viṣṇu – the lord of the universe, was turned into a huge cloud for thousands of years.

दृष्टा भावं महादेवो हरे: स्वात्मनि शङ्करः ।
प्रददौ तस्य सकलं स्वरूपं वै ब्रह्मणा सह ॥१९॥

Lord Mahādeva, taking into consideration the deep devotion of lord Viṣṇu towards himself, created Brahmā and entrusted to him the responsibility of creating the universe.

तदा तं कल्पमाहुर्वै मेघवाहनसंज्ञ्या ।

जनार्दनसुतः प्राह तपसा प्राप्य शङ्करम् ।
तव मामाङ्गजो विष्णुर्दक्षिणाङ्गभवो ह्याहम् ॥२१॥

Because of that, the related kalpa came to be known as the Meghavāhana kalpa. Visualising his origin from the body of Maheśvara, he reached before Śiva and said—“O Master, Viṣṇu has been born out of your left side, while I have been born out of your right side.

मया सह जगत्सर्वं तथाप्यसृजदच्युतः ।

Still Viṣṇu has created the entire universe with me. Taking to the form of a cloud, Indra, the lord of gods, besides the days and nights were created. O Master, therefore, I am much more devoted towards you than towards him. O lord, be pleased with my omniscience.” Then in a moment, Brahmā attained omniscience. He then hurried out and met Viṣṇu in the vast ocean covered with darkness. He saw Viṣṇu in an illustrious spot studded with gold and jewels which was mentally created by Viṣṇu himself. It was inaccessible to the wicked people and invisible to the pious people like Indra and others.

तं दृष्ट्वा प्राह वै ब्रह्मा भगवन्तं जनार्दनम्॥३२॥

Brahmā saw the Puruṣa in whose heart the entire universe rested. He was lying down over the bed of the serpent Śeṣa. He had lotus like eyes and four arms holding the conch, disc, club and the lotus. He wore ornaments and in that form, he resembled the orb of the moon. The Svastika mark adorned his chest. Brahmā beheld him with pleasure evident in his face. His lotus like feet had turned red due to the contact with the lotus like soft hands of Lakṣmī. He was Īśvara – the great soul. By tamas, he was in the form of Kāla. By rajas, he was the creator of the world. As sattva, he was the sustainer of all. He was Parameśvara, the soul of all, the noble ātman and the supreme soul. Brahmā saw him lying down in his yogic sleep, in the ocean of milk which was full of nectar as well. On thus finding him, Brahmā spoke to him thus.

ग्रसामि त्वां प्रसादेन यथापूर्वं भवानहम्।
स्मयमानस्तु भावान् प्रतिबुध्य पितामहम्॥३३॥
उदैक्षत महाबाहुः स्मितमीषच्चकार सः।

ततस्तं चासृजद्ब्रह्मा भ्रुवोर्मध्येन चाच्युतम्।
सृष्टस्तेन हरिः प्रेक्ष्य स्थितस्तस्याथ सन्त्रिधौ॥३५॥

“Just as you had swallowed me earlier, so I shall swallow you now by the grace of Śiva.” The lord with great arms then woke up. Somewhat surprised and looking at him, he smiled slightly. Having been swallowed by the noble soul, he entered the deity born of egg. Then Brahmā created Viṣṇu through the middle of his eyebrows. Having been thus created by him (Brahmā), Viṣṇu stood near him, observing him.

एतस्मिन्तंत्रे रुद्रः सर्वदेवभवोद्भवः।

In the meantime, Rudra, the source of origin of all the gods, who had granted boon to both, assumed the form of a naked condition and came to the place where Viṣṇu was present. Then lord Parameśvara, the lord of the universe, intended to bless both of them with great favour. Both of them witnessed the lord as the god of death. Both of them eulogised the lord with matted locks of hair who looked terrible. Both of them offered their salutation to the lord, who was bestower of the boons and stood far away out of respect. The great lord then blessed both Brahmā and Viṣṇu and then disappeared.

Śailādi said—

After the departure of Śiva, Viṣṇu – the creator of Brahmā, offered his salutation towards the direction where the lord had proceeded.

श्रीविष्णुरुवाच

Srī Viṣṇu said—

Lord Śiva is the master of the universe. He is all pervading. He is the one who provides refuge to us as well as the universe.

अहं वामाङ्गजो ब्रह्मन् शङ्करस्य महात्मनः ।

Then, he thought of creating the animal kingdom, besides the divine places and the world of the humans. Then using his wisdom, he created Sananda, Sanaka and Sanātana kumāra, who were the foremost of the noble people. Then using his yogic knowledge, without any desire, he created Vasiṣṭha, Marīci, Bhṛgu, Aṅgirā, Pulastyā, Pulaha, Kratu, Dakṣa, Atri, Saṃkalpa, Dharma and Adharma. Then through the invisible Brahmā, the twelve sons were produced. Initially, Brahmā created Ṛbhu and Sanatkumāra who were Brahmavādins, Brahmacārins and resembling Brahmā. After giving birth to all of them, Brahmā then created all the Dharmas.

Silāda said—

O Indra, O omniscient one, you are adorned by the chiefs of the gods, O lord of Śaci, O lord of the world, the one having a thousand eyes, O Maheśvara, how did the lotus-born Brahmā develop the specific Dharmas of four yugas? Presently, we bow before you and you kindly enlighten us on this subject.

शैलादिरुबाच

Listening to the words of Śilāda, the noble Indra described about the Dharmas of four yugas as had been noticed by him earlier.

शक्र उवाच

Indra said—

O sage, you take it for granted that Kṛta-yuga starts first, followed by Tretāyuga. Thereafter arrives Dvāpara followed by Kali-yuga. These are the four yugas in brief.

सत्त्वं कृतं रजस्त्रेता द्वापरं च रजस्तमः ।
कलिस्तमश्च विज्ञेयं युगवृत्तिर्युगेषु च॥६॥

During the Kṛtayuga, Sattvaguṇa is in prominence; during Tretāyuga, tapas is in prominence; during Dvāpara, rajas cum tamas becomes prominent; while tamas prevails in the Age of Kali. These are the special characteristics of each one of the yuga.

Specific Dharmas of the four Yugas

शैलादिरुबाच

श्रुत्वा शक्रेणं कथितं पिता मम महामुनिः ।

Sailādi said—

Listening to the words of Indra, my father who was the great sage, offering his salutation to the lord of gods, asked him with his hands folded.

शिलाद उवाच

भगवन् शक्र सर्वज्ञ देवदेवनमस्कृतः ।
शचीपते जगन्नाथं सहस्राक्षं महेश्वरः॥२॥

Meditation is the greatest activity in the Kṛtayuga; yajña or sacrifice is in Tretāyuga; worship is the main activity in Dvāpara and pure charitable gift giving in the Kali Age.

चत्वारि च सहस्राणि वर्षाणां तत्कृतं युगम्।
तस्य तावच्छती संध्या संध्यांशश्च तथाविधः॥८॥

So many hundred years constitute the preceding transition period (Sandhyā). The following transition period (Sandhyāṁśa) is also of the same duration.

चत्वारि स सहस्राणि मानुषाणि शिलाशन।
आयुः कृतयुगे विद्धि प्रजानामिह सुव्रत॥९॥

O Śilāsana, O man of the good holy rites, the longevity of the subjects in Kṛtayuga is four thousand human years.

ततः कृतयुगे तस्मिन् संध्यांशे च गते तु वै।
पादावशिष्टे भवति युगधर्मस्तु सर्वतः॥१०॥

Then at the expiry of Kṛtayuga with its Sandhyāṁśa, one fourth of Yugadharma is reduced.

चतुर्भागैकहीनं तु त्रेतायुगमनुत्तमम्।
कृतार्थं द्वापरं विद्धि तदर्थं तिष्यमुच्यते॥११॥

The excellent Tretāyuga is increased in one-fourth part of Kṛtayuga. The duration of Dvāpara is half than the duration of Kṛtayuga, while the duration of Kaliyuga is the half of it.

त्रिशती द्विशती संध्या तथा चैकशती मुने।
संध्यांशकं तथाप्येवं कल्पेष्वेवं युगेयुगे॥१२॥

O sage, the Sandhyā-kāla is of three thousand, two thousand and one thousand years respectively. The period of Sandhyāṁśa has the similar length. The same process is repeated in all the yugas and the kalpas.

आद्ये कृतयुगे धर्मश्चतुष्पादः सनातनः।

त्रिपादहीनस्तिष्ये तु सत्तामात्रेण धिष्ठितः।
कृते तु मिथुनोत्पत्तिवृत्तिः साक्षाद्रसोल्लासाः॥१४॥

The Dharma has four feet in Kṛtayuga, three feet in Tretā, two in Dvāpara, while in Kali age, it is deprived of three feet and stands with the strength of its prowess alone. During Kṛtayuga, the creation happens with the two and their intentions are quite juicy and delightful.

प्रजास्तुसाः सदा सर्वाः सर्वानंदाशभोगिनः।
अधमोत्तमता तासां न विशेषाः प्रजाः शुभाः॥१५॥

They always remain contented, they enjoy all the pleasures. They are devoid of excellence or lowness. The people do not possess special qualities. All of them are auspicious.

तुल्यमायुः सुखं रूपं तासां तस्मिन्कृते युगे।
तासां प्रीतिर्न च द्वंद्वं न द्वेषो नास्ति च कल्मः॥१६॥

All the people in Kṛtayuga possess similar age, pleasures and the beauty. They do not have any special desire. There is no mental envy, jealousy and controversy between men and women.

पर्वतोदधिवासिन्यो ह्यनिकेताश्र यास्तु ताः।

वर्णाश्रमव्यवस्था च तदासीत्र च सङ्करः।
रसोल्लासः कालयोगात्रेताख्ये नश्यते द्विजः॥१९॥

They do not have houses to live in. They live in mountains and oceanic islands. Still they are deprived of strength. Mostly, they possess Sattva guṇas and like seclusion. They wander here and there aimlessly. They always have a delightful heart. They are never attracted towards inauspicious or sinful activities. During that period, there were no castes and āśramas. There had been no division of Brahmacarya, householders etc. O Brāhmaṇa, during the Tretāyuga, their juice and enthusiasm (delight and bliss) faded out with the passage of time.

When the attainment comes to an end, then the other one is created. When the water is squeezed, the form of water changes. It starts raining with thundering sound; when the water is spread over the surface of the earth, the trees start growing which turn as their abodes. The people enjoy all the pleasures living under the sheds of the trees.

At the beginning of Tretāyuga, the people were deprived of the earlier conventions. There happened a change after a long time when the change was brought in them. The feeling of lust and covetousness was sadden. The trees which formed their abodes, began to perish. With the perishing of the trees, the twin born subjects at that time were bewildered. They began to ponder. Since they were truthful in their thoughts, the trees re-appeared.

They started producing clothes, fruits and ornaments. On the very same tree, honey of great potency which was not produced by bees, was grown and was evolved in every leafy cup. This honey had great fragrance, good colour and sweet taste. The subjects always sustained themselves thereby and passed their days comfortably at all times.

हष्टपुष्टास्तया सिद्ध्या प्रजा वै विगतज्वराः ।
ततः कालांतरेणैव पुनर्लोभावतास्तु ताः॥ २९॥

Those people were well built and with their achievements, they were well contented. In due course of time, they became greedy.

शीतवर्षातपैस्तीवैस्ततस्ता दुःखिता भृशम्॥ ३२॥

Cutting the trees, they started collecting the honey forcibly. Because of their greed and misconduct, the kalpavrikṣas at same places were disappeared, with the honey. At that point of time, because of the move of the destiny, some of the attainments remained intact or in other words the honey continued to be extracted from some trees. As Tretā was repeated in every cycle, the struggle between the mutually conflicting pairs cropped up. Then the people became extremely miserable due to the chilly rain and the scorching heat of the sun.

द्वंद्वैः संपीड्यमानाश्च चक्रुरावरणानि तु ।
कृतद्वंद्वप्रतीघाताः केतनानि गिरौ ततः ॥३३॥

When they were tortured by the Dānavas, they started making clothes and garments for covering themselves. To ward off the Dānavas, they built their abodes over the mountains.

पूर्वं निकामचारास्ता ह्यनिकेता अथावसन् ।
यथायोगं यथाप्रीति निकेतेष्ववसन्पुनः ॥३४॥

Earlier, they had been roaming as they liked having no fixed dwelling places. But now, they started living in the houses according to their availability and pleasure.

कृत्वा द्वंद्वोपघातांस्तान्वृत्युपायमर्चितयन् ।

ततः प्रादुर्बूभौ तासां सिद्धिस्त्रेतायुगे पुनः ॥३६॥

After taking primitive measures against the Dānavas, they started thinking to create means for their own sustenance. With the disappearing of the kalpa trees along with the honey, the subjects became confounded and agitated. Then arose the disputes of various types. The people suffered from hunger and thirst. Then in the Tretāyuga, new perfections came in sight.

(At times), they had more or excessive rains than they actually needed for the production of crops. Heavy downpour of water flowed down the slopes.

अभवन्वृष्टिसंतत्या स्रोतस्थानानि निमग्नाः ।
एवं नद्यः प्रवृत्तास्तु द्वितीये वृष्टिसर्जने ॥३८॥

Due to the continuous rain, sources of water currents arose. Thus, in the course of the second creation of rains, streams and rivers came into being.

ये पुनस्तदपां स्तोकाः पतिताः पृथिवीतत्वे ।
अपां भूमेश्च संयोगादोषध्यसतास्तदाभवन् ॥३९॥

Water was filled in the small and big pits on earth. Because of the combination of the water with earth, numerous shrubs and plants were also irrigated.

The ausadhis, greenery and the trees were grown. Some pieces of land were irrigated. Only a little part of earth was used for farming. Fourteen species of trees and grass were grown on earth in the rural areas. The flowers and fruits were grown over the trees according to the seasons. During that period of Tretāyuga, the people lived on these fruits and roots.

ततः पुनरभूतासां रागो लोभश्च सर्वशः ।
अवश्यं भाविनार्थेन त्रेतायुगवशेन च ॥४२॥

With the effect of Tretāyuga, the people again started attracting ailments, jealousy and greed.

ततस्ता: पर्यगृह्णतं नदीक्षेत्राणि पर्वतान् ।
वृक्षगुल्मौषधीश्चैव प्रसह्य तु यथाबलम् ॥४३॥

Then the people started usurping the land forcibly in the plains, river banks as well as the mountains.

दुदोह गां प्रयत्नेन सर्वभूतहिताय वै ।
तदाप्रभृति चौषध्यः फालकृष्टस्त्वतस्ततः ॥४५॥

The fourteen ausadhis which had grown earlier, got destroyed in this upheaval.

Thinking that all the ausadhis have been absorbed in the earth, then Brahmā, for the benefit of all the living beings, milked the earth. Since then, the practice of sowing the ausadhis with the ploughing of fields, came into vogue.

वार्ता कृषि समायाता वर्तुकामाः प्रयत्नतः ।
वाता वृत्तिः समाख्याता कृषिकामप्रयत्नतः ॥४६॥

Thereafter, such of the people who were interested in farming, patronised the profession of irrigation and farming. The word vṛtta means avocation and avocation in this context is the endeavour and the desire for agriculture.

अन्यथा जीवितं तासां नास्ति त्रेतायुगात्यये ।
हस्तोद्धवा ह्यपश्चैव भवन्ति बहुस्तदा ॥४७॥

Otherwise, towards the close of Tretā, the subjects had no means of livelihood. Then the water had to be lifted by hands usually.

तत्रापि जगृहुः सर्वे चान्योन्यं क्रोधमूर्च्छिताः ।
सुतदारधनाद्यांस्तु बलाद्युगबलेन तु ॥४८॥

In the Tretāyuga, the people caught one another in rage, so much so that their sons, wives, relatives etc. were forcibly usurped. This became the dharma of that yuga.

मर्यादायाः प्रतिष्ठार्थं ज्ञात्वा तदखिलं विभुः ।
ससर्ज क्षत्रियांस्त्रातुं क्षतात्कमलसंभवः ॥४९॥

Realising this, in order to protect the righteousness and to save the people from indulging in the deceitful ways, Brahmā produced the Kṣatriyas and introduced the codes of conduct.

वर्णश्रमप्रतिष्ठां च चकार स्वेन तेजसा ।
वृत्तेन वृत्तिना वृत्तं विश्वात्मा निर्ममे स्वयम् ॥५०॥

Out of his lustre, Brahmā created varṇas and āśramas. He created four castes and established four āśramas. Thereafter, Brahmā— the universal soul, then created avocation and conduct of life for the respective castes of the people.

यज्ञप्रवर्तनं चैव त्रेतायामभवत्क्रमात् ।
पश्युज्ञं न सेवन्ते केचित्त्रापि सुव्रताः ॥५१॥

The avocation of sacrifices was evolved in Tretāyuga gradually. But persons of good holy rites, did not resort to animal sacrifice even then.

बलाद्विष्णुस्तदा यज्ञमकरोत्सर्वदृक् क्रमात् ।
द्विजास्तदा प्रशंसंति ततस्त्वाहिंसकं मुने ॥५२॥

Viṣṇu, then performed the yajña per force. O sage, therefore, the Brāhmaṇas praised the violent types of yajñas.

द्वापरेष्वपि वर्तते मतिभेदास्तदा नृणाम् ।
मनसा कर्मणा वाचा कृच्छ्राद्वार्ता प्रसिध्यति ॥५३॥

During Dvāpara as well, the people had developed differences in their action, thought and behaviour. During that period, the farming could be performed with difficulty.

तदा तु सर्वभूतानां कायक्लेशवशात्क्रमात् ।

वेदशाखाप्रणयनं धर्माणां सङ्करस्तथा ।
वर्णाश्रमपरिध्वंसः कामद्वेषौ तथैव च ॥५५॥

Then in all the people, because of the physical ailments, there was the stress over the body. Service was done on the basis of wages. There was uncertainty in the war, trade as well as the Vedic interpretations and their divisions, confusion of *dharma*s, destruction of discipline among the four castes and the stages of life, lust and hatred. These were the specifics pertaining to that age.

द्वापरे तु प्रवर्तते रागो लोभो मदस्तथा ।
वेदो व्यासैश्चतुर्था तु व्यस्यते द्वापरादिषु ॥५६॥

It is in the Dvāpara that the passion, covetousness, arrogance etc. began to function. In the beginning of Dvāpara, the Vedas were classified into four by Vyāsa.

एको वेदश्चतुष्पादस्त्रेतास्विह विधीयते ।
संक्षयादायुषश्चैव व्यस्येते द्वापरेषु सः ॥५७॥

It is laid down that during the Tretāyuga, the Vedas continued as the one single whole with four sections. Since the span of life became lesser, the Vedas were classified in Dvāpara.

ऋषिपुत्रैः पुनर्भेदा भिद्यन्ते दृष्टिविभ्रमैः ।

संहिता ऋग्यजुःसाम्नां संहन्यन्ते मनीषिभिः ।
सामान्या वैकृताश्चैव द्रष्टभिस्तैः पृथक्पृथक् ॥५९॥

They were further differentiated through the whims of the sons of the sages, when the order of mantras and Brāhmaṇa texts was altered and the accent and the letters were changed. The compendium of Rk, Yajuh and Sāman were compiled by the learned men. Although the texts are common, they were differentiated due to different view points.

ब्राह्मणं कल्पसूत्राणि मंत्रप्रवचनानि च ।
अन्ये तु प्रस्थितास्तान्वै केचित्तान्प्रत्यवस्थिताः ॥६०॥

The different sections of the Vedas were evolved as Brāhmaṇas, Kalpasūtras and Mantravacanas. Some were departed by then, while some were abided by then.

The Itihāsa and Purāṇas differ from time to time. They comprise of Brahma, Padma, Vaiśṇava, Śaiva, Bhāgavata, Bhaviṣya, Nāradiya, Mārkaṇḍeya, Āgneya, Brahmavaivarta, Liṅga, Varāha, Vāmana, Kūrma, Matsya, Garuḍa, Skanda and Brahmāṇḍa. These are the eighteen Purāṇas.

The eleventh Liṅga Purāṇa was classified in Dvāpara. The smṛtis were composed by thousands of Rsis including Manu, Atri, Viṣṇu, Hārita, Yājñavalkya, Uśanā, Āṅgiras, Yama, Āpastamba, Samivarta, Kātyāyana, Br̥haspati, Pārāśara (Vyāsa), Śaṅkha, Likhita, Dakṣa, Gautama, Śatātapa, Vasiṣṭha and others.

Absence of rain, death, harassments of pestilence etc. occurred. Indifference to worldly affairs results from various miseries—mental, verbal and physical. From this indifference, they begin to think about their rescue from pain and misery. This process of thinking leads to detachment and from detachment, they begin to realise the deformities and defects in the universe. Thanks to this perception, perfect knowledge becomes possible in Dvāpara. This is all due to the mixing of the rajas and tamas. In the first Kṛtayuga, Dharma originates. In Tretā, it starts functioning. In Dvāpara, it becomes distracted gradually and in Kali, it perishes altogether.

Because of the blemished activities of the Brāhmaṇas, the people are panic stricken. The Brāhmaṇas neglect the study of the Vedas and fail to perform even the prescribed yajñas.

The people face destruction. Even the Kṣatriyas and Brāhmaṇas start falling gradually. During the age of Kali, the Śūdras try to link themselves with the Brāhmaṇas, in the field of sleeping, seating and the taking of food. Usually, the kings belong to the Śūdra races and cause trouble to the Brāhmaṇas.

During the age of Kali, the people overpowered with tamoguna, get upset with confusion, jealousy and bickering. They never hesitate even to kill the ascetics. They are always overpowered with jealousy.

During the age of Kaliyuga, the lethargy, ailments, hunger and fear or danger are quite widespread. There is always danger of draught conditions due to shortage of the rainfall. Different part of the country are always in turmoil, upheaval or mutiny.

The stability and discipline of the four castes and sages of life known as āśramas, disappear from all the places. The earth, at that point of time, yields very little fruits in one place and in abundance at other places.

O Śilāsana, the rulers no more act as the protector of the people, but act as the usurpers of their wealth and their killers. The Śūdras become learned and are honoured by the Brāhmaṇas.

The people other than Kṣatriyas become the rulers. The Brāhmaṇas depend over the Śūdras. The foolish Śūdras do not get up from their seats on the arrival of the Brāhmaṇas.

The foolish Śūdras, who are short of wisdom, beat the learned Brāhmaṇas. During the age of Kali, due to the move of destiny, the Brāhmaṇas, placing their hands against their mouths, whisper in the ears of Śūdras. O excellent Brāhmaṇa, even the king finding a Śūdra seated over a high seat among the Brāhmaṇas, fails to punish him. They worship the little educated Śūdras with flowers, fragrance and auspicious things. O Brāhmaṇa, the arrogant Śūdras do not even notice the presence of Brāhmaṇas. The Brāhmaṇas provide an opportunity to serve the Śūdras and attend on them at the gates of the latter. In the age of Kali, the Brāhmaṇas live at the mercy of the Śūdras and return on their vehicles. They offer prayers to the Śūdras. During the age of Kali, the Brāhmaṇas sell out the fruits of their tapas and yajñas.

There would be a large number of recluses. At the end of Kaliyuga, the number of women world be much more than the number of man. So much so that the Brāhmaṇas would denounce the Vedas as well as the yajñas. During the age of Kali, Mahādeva, Śaṅkara and Nīlakanṭha shall take to the deformed way. Such of the Brāhmaṇas, who serve the lord Śiva in whichever way, it is possible for them to do so, they, overpowering the blemishes of the age of Kali, achieve the highest position. The number of the beasts would decline and similar would be the case with the number of cows. With the reaching of the end of the Kali age, the ascetics would be away from the wealthy atmosphere. You should well understand it. They are firm over their dharma, which is conclusive to the good results and difficult of access, which has its roots in charitable gifts, becomes shaky due to instability in four stages of life. The kings misappropriate shares from oblations, offered to gods. Towards the close of the yuga, they will be more interested in protecting themselves. In Kali age, cooked food will be kept for sale in living places. The selling of the Vedas and other sacred literature will occur in cross streets. Young women will sell even their honour.

The rain gods, at the time of the end of Kali yuga, resort only to drizzling. The traders shall apply unfair means in the conducting of business. They will be uselessly surrounded by pomp and show. The people would mostly be comprised of beggars and suitors and shall denounce each other. At the end of yuga, no one would ever think of repaying the kindness done by others. The people who are soft spoken, those who do not denounce others, or the simple people will be nowhere to be found. The fallen people or those who denounce others, will criticise this time of Kaliyuga. The earth would be deprived of the kings and lack the production of cereals. The earth will be filled with the groups of conspirators. There would be shortage of fruits and water. The warrior who would be required to protect the people, would fail in their duty. They would get undisciplined.

The people would usurp the wealth and riches of others and defile the chastity of others' wives. They would be lustful, wicked, degraded, having no enthusiasm. The people would be deprived of their consciousness. They would be unable to value the things correctly. They shall have dishevelled hair. During the time of the decline of Kaliyuga, the people would be born with only sixteen years of age.

At the end of the Kali age, the Śūdras will follow dharma. They shall possess while teeth, deer skin, rosary of Rudrākṣa, shave their heads and clad themselves in the ochre-coloured garments.

The people suffering from diversities, shall never enjoy a hundred years of their lives. Even all the Vedas can nowhere to be seen. The activities of performing of yajñas by the people would disappear due to the lack of faith. The recluses wearing the ochre-coloured costumes and the Kapālikas would be found in large number.

The people would sell the Vedas, besides the sacred water of the holy places and shall derive undue advantage of the same. At the start of the age of Kali, then the deceitful people are also born and they oppose the traditions of the stages of life as well as the caste system. The Śūdras become spokesperson for the interpretation of the provision of dharma.

The rulers of the Śūdra castes shall perform the Asvamedha sacrifices. The people will harass others because of their women costumes and cows, and even kill one another and cause trouble to them. Because of the inclination of the people towards the evil ways, therefore, their activities will comprise of tamoguna. At that point of time, the sins like Brahmahatyā would become common.

तस्मादायुर्बर्लं रूपं कर्लिं प्राप्य प्रहीयते ।
तदा त्वय्येन कालेन सिद्धिं गच्छन्ति मानवाः ॥४५॥

Therefore, during the age of Kali, the age, strength and beauty would be on the decline. The people would meet success in short duration and feel satisfied.

श्रुतिस्मृत्युदितं धर्मं ये चरन्त्यनसूयकाः ॥४६॥
त्रेतायां वार्षिको धर्मो द्वापरे मासिकः स्मृतः ।
यथाकलेशं चरन्प्राज्ञस्तदद्वा प्राप्नुते कलौ ॥४७॥

The excellent Brāhmaṇa would still follow the Vedas and the related literature and also follow dharma in an unblemished way even at the end of the age of Kali. During the Tretāyuga, the merit one gets by following dharma for a year, the same merit is earned in a month during Dvāpara, while during Kaliyuga a devotee achieves the same merit in a day.

एषा कलियुगावस्था संध्यांशं तु निबोध मे।
युगेयुगे च हीयंते त्रींस्त्रीन्यादांस्तु सिद्ध्यः ॥४८॥

This is the position in the age of Kali; the position of Sandhyāṁśa kāla is going to be narrated by me. You listen to me. The Siddhis found in the start of a yuga, the three-fourth of them get declined at the end of each one of the yuga.

युगस्वभावाः संध्यास्तु तिष्ठन्तीह तु पादशः।
संध्यास्वभावाः स्वांशेषु पादशस्ते प्रतिष्ठिताः ॥४९॥

Only a fourth of the period of a yuga comprises of Sandhyāṁśa. Similarly, the form of Sandhyāṁśa is left in a Sandhyāṁśa. This means that during the Sandhyāṁśa period only one sixth ($1/6^{\text{th}}$) of the yugadharma will prevail.

When the yuga has come to a close and the period of junction too arrives, the chastiser of the wicked people, will rise up in order to kill the bad beings. He will be born in the family of the Moon and will be called Pramiti by name. Previously in the Svayambhuva Manvantara, he had been born of the parts (amīśa) of Manu (or the family of the Manu). For full twenty years, he will be roaming about on earth. He will be taking along with him a big army consisting of horses, chariots and elephants. He will be surrounded by hundreds and thousands of Brāhmaṇas wielding weapons. He will kill the Mlecchas (outcaste people) in hundreds.

नात्यर्थं धार्मिका ये च तान् सर्वान् हन्ति सर्वतः।

After killing all the kings born in the Śūdra race, he would wake up the lord completely. He shall kill the irreligious people, those who were born of the cross breed and those who depend on them.

प्रवृत्तचक्रो बलवान् म्लेच्छानामंतकृत्स तु।
अधृष्यः सर्वभूतानां चचाराथ वसुंधराम् ॥५६॥

Thus, making himself quite strong, controlling an active army, he, the destroyer of the Mlecchas, invincible to all the living beings, will roam about in the universe.

In the earlier birth, he was born in the race of Manu, who himself was the incarnation of Viṣṇu. After completion of Kaliyuga, he will be born in the race of Moon as a powerful Pramiti. He will start his campaign in his thirty-second year and shall continue it for twenty years.

Getting inflamed with mutual tussle, Pramiti will defeat the outcaste people and they will attack one another. Pramiti will defeat all those aliens and unrighteousness people. Ultimately, he will rest in the middle land between Gaṅgā and Yamunā along with his ministers and followers, after killing the aliens and the outcastes in thousands. At the setting in of the Sandhyāmīśa period and at the end of the yuga, there would be the group of people among the subjects left behind.

Getting indisciplined and greedy, they will attack and kill one another. Because of various activities of the yuga and when the people are doubtful of one another, all the people will be feeling panicky. Getting agitated, they will be bewildered and desert their wives and houses. They will hardly bother for their own lives. Inspite of their being miserable themselves, still they will be of no consequence. When the holy rites prescribed in the Śrutis and Smṛtis disappear, these people mutually destroy one another. When the Dharma is destroyed, the people will become mannerless, unbounded, devoid of shame and love. They will hardly hesitate to attack one another. They will be stunned in growth and their maximum age will be as much as twenty five years. Becoming quarrelsome, they will desert their wives and sons; when there is the shortage of rainfall, they will give up even the profession of agriculture. They will desert their land and move to frontiers. They will resort to the rivers, oceans, mountains and wells.

मधुमांसैर्मूलफलैर्बर्त्यंति सुदुःखिताः ।

During these miserable conditions, they will depend on wine, meat, roots and fruits. They will be clad in bark garments or deer skin. They will not perform the sacred rites or accept the financial gifts.

वर्णश्रिमपरिभ्रष्टाः सङ्कटं घोरमास्थिताः ।
एवं कष्टमनुप्राप्ता अल्पशेषाः प्रजास्तदा ॥७१॥

They will fall from the strict discipline of the four castes or the stages of life and shall fall in awful misery. Thus, at the end of the age of Kali, only a small number of the people who survive, will face awful misfortunes.

They will badly suffer from ailments, hunger and thirst. Because of the painful situation, their mind will become inactive. While suffering from the miseries, they will become thoughtless. Their power of thinking shall be destroyed because of their sufferings. They will become inactive. Their possessing such an attitude, will drive them towards gaining of divine and purposeful knowledge. With the knowledge, one achieves self-realisation and by this, one gets enlightened in dharma. The people who survive the end of Kaliyuga shall be deprived of the (excellent figures of) their bodies, besides the mental peace.

At that point of time, there would be the change of yuga during the day and night. The people confusing their minds, will almost lose their senses. Due to the move of destiny, the Kali age will start. After the end of the Kali age, the remaining people will move on to the Kṛta yuga. Then the people with the auspicious souls will wander about in an invisible form. They will be associated with the Saptarṣis. The people belonging to the Brāhmaṇa, Kṣatriya, Vaiśya and Śūdra races will serve as the seeds for the coming generations. They will mix up with the people who escape from Kali yuga. Then the seven Rṣis and other people will teach them dharma.

वर्णाश्रमाचारयुतं श्रौतं स्मार्तं द्विधा तु यम् ।
ततस्तेषु क्रियावत्सु वर्धन्ते वै प्रजाः कृते॥७९॥

They will teach them two-fold dharma of Śrutis and Smṛtis together with the conduct of life peculiar to the four castes and stages of life. Thereafter, when they start performing holy rites, the people then flourish in the Kṛtayuga.

श्रौतस्मार्तकृतानां च धर्मे सप्तर्षिदर्शिते ।

एवं युगाद्युगस्येह संतानं तु परस्परम् ।
वर्तते ह्यव्यवच्छेदाद्यावन्मन्वन्तरक्षयः॥८३॥

After the seven sages propound the dharma, other sages carry them to the people differentiating them between Śrutis and Smṛtis. Some of the sages live even during the time of dissolution for the purpose of the propagating the dharma. Such sages remain active throughout the Manvantara, as the trees remain intact when the forest fire consumes the grass. After, however, the fall of the rain, the same burnt grass grows up again. In the same way, after the destruction of the people of the age of Kali, the people of Kṛtayuga grow up. One yuga follows another without any obstruction. This process goes on till the end of Manvantara.

सुखमार्युर्बलं रूपं धर्मोऽर्थः काम एव च।
युगेष्वेतानि हीयते त्रीस्त्रीन्यादान्क्रमेण तु॥८४॥

The comfort, strength beauty, dharma, artha, kāma go on declining gradually from one yuga to another at three-fourth ratio.

संसंध्यांशेषु हीयते युगानां धर्मसिद्ध्यः।
इत्येषा प्रतिसिद्धिवै कीर्तितैषा क्रमेण तु॥८५॥

In this ratio, the siddhis of dharma get reduced in the parts of the junctions of yugas. Thus, the mode of achievement in order has been recounted.

चतुर्युगानां सर्वेषामनेनैव तु साधनंम्।
एषा चतुर्युगावृत्तिरासहस्राद्गुणीकृता॥८६॥
ब्रह्मणस्तदहः प्रोक्तं रात्रिश्वेतावती स्मृता।

तथा कल्पा युगैः सार्धं भवन्ति सह लक्षणैः॥९१॥
मन्वन्तराणां सर्वेषामेतदेव तु लक्षणम्॥९२॥

In the same way, all the four yugas must be understood. A thousand such cycles of the four yugas are said to constitute a day of Brahmā. The night too constitute as many yugas. By the time a yuga comes to an end, the living beings lose their strength and sentient feelings. This is the characteristic feature of all the yugas. Seventy one cycles of the four yugas constitute a Manvantara. What happens in one set of the four yugas is repeated in other cycle of four yugas in the same manner and at the same time as well as in the same order. The differences which occur from creation to creation are limited to twenty five, neither less nor more. The kalpas have the same characteristics as the yugas as well as the Manvantaras.

यथा युगानां परिवर्तनानि
चिरप्रवृत्तानि युगस्वभावात्।
तथा तु संतिष्ठति जीवलोकः
क्षयोदयाभ्यां परिवर्तमानः॥९३॥

Just as the changes and alterations have come up in the yugas from the earliest times (and have been going on for a long time), in view of the nature of the yugas, so also, the world of the living beings goes round and round alternating between the birth and death.

इत्येतल्लक्षणं प्रोक्तं युगानां वै समाप्तः।
अतीतानागतानां हि सर्वमन्वन्तरेषु वै॥९४॥

The specific features of the yugas of the past and the future in all the Manvantaras have been brought out in brief.

मन्वन्तरेण चैकेन सर्वाण्येवान्तराणि च।
व्याख्यातानि न संदेहः कल्प्यः कल्पेन चैव हि॥९५॥

With the description of one single Manvantara, the description of other Manvantaras would be similar. Similarly, the description of one kalpa would be similar to the other kalpas.

अनागतेषु तद्वच्च तर्कः कार्यो विजानता।
मन्वन्तरेषु सर्वेषु अतीतानागतेष्विह॥९६॥

युगानां परिमाणं ते कथितं हि प्रसङ्गतः ।
वदामि देविपुत्रत्वं पद्मयोनेः समासतः ॥१००॥

The same description will hold good for the future Manvantaras. In all the past as well as the future Manvantaras, the eight classes of Devas, the ruling lords of the Manvantaras, Manus and sages will have the same status, though their names and forms and the purpose would be the same. The same is the case with the division of castes and stages of life in each and every yuga. The nature and characteristics of the yugas are always laid down by the lord, besides the division of castes and stages of life, the yugas and the siddhis of the yugas. The magnitude of yugas was also mentioned to you. I shall now explain as to how the lotus born deity known as Brahmā became the son of the goddess.

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, when the period of the twice Parārdha lapsed, the earth was drowned into the water, water was absorbed in fire, the fire in the wind, the wind in the sky together with tanmātras (subtle forms of matter). O Brāhmaṇas, the eleven sense organs and the tanmātras merged into the ego in a moment. Ego merged into intellect (mahat) in a moment. O Brāhmaṇa, the intellect also became unmanifest (avyakta) and merged into it. The manifest was merged into the lord with its respective gunas. The creation took place after that as before from Puruṣa – Śiva. Brahmā then created the mind-born sons, by mere thinking.

एकचत्वारिंशोऽध्यायः

Chapter 41

Birth of Brahmā

इन्द्र उवाच

पुनः ससर्ज भगवान्प्रभृष्टः पूर्ववत्प्रजाः ।
 सहस्रयुगपर्यंते प्रभाते तु पितामहः ॥१॥

Indra said–

After the lapse of a thousand yugas, when it was the day break for him, then lord Brahmā, brought back to life, the people who had been destroyed.

एवं परार्थे विप्रेंद्र द्विगुणे तु तथा गते ।
 तदा धराम्भसि व्यासा ह्यापो वह्नौ समीरणे ॥२॥

न व्यवर्धत लोकेऽस्मिन्प्रजाः कमलयोनिना ।

 ललाटमध्यं निर्भिद्य ब्रह्मणः पुरुषस्य तु ।
 पुत्रस्नेहमिति प्रोच्य स्त्रीपुंरूपोभवत्तदा ॥९॥

The creation brought out by Brahmā that emerged out of lotus, could not expand. Thereafter, lord Brahmā, for the expansion of the people, keeping lord Śiva in mind, performed hard penance with his mind-born sons. Lord Śiva, the great soul, was pleased with him and well realising their desire, he made a hole in the forehead of Brahmā saying— “I happen to be your son.” Then, he turned himself into a composite form of man and woman which was well known as Ardhanārīśvara.

तस्य पुत्रो महादेवो ब्रह्मनारीश्वरोभवत्।
ददाह भगवान्सर्वं ब्रह्माणं च जगदगुरुम्॥१०॥
अथार्धमात्रां कल्याणीमात्मनः परमेश्वरीम्।

एतते कथितं सर्वमितिहासं पुरातनम्।
परार्थं ब्रह्मणो यावत्तावद्भूतिः समाप्तः॥१४॥

Ardhanārīśvara – Mahādeva, then became his son. Thereafter, the lord burnt Brahmā, the preceptor of the universe. Then, for the purpose of flourishing the worlds, the lord adopted the yogic path and enjoyed his own prosperous Parameśvarī. He then created Brahmā and Viṣṇu in her. The lord of the universe, the soul of the universe, created the Paśupata missile as well. Therefore, Brahmā and Viṣṇu were born of the part of Mahādevī. Thus Brahmā, the egg born one, besides having been born of lotus, was also born of the body of the lord. Thus is brief, the entire anecdote has been mentioned to you, as also what happened during the first Parārdha of Brahmā.

वैराग्यं ब्रह्मणो वक्ष्ये तमोद्भूतं समाप्तः।

तदूर्ध्वं वक्त्रमभवत्कुंभकेन निरोधितम्॥२१॥

I shall now speak out about the detachment of Brahmā, emerging out of tamoguṇa, in brief. Lord Viṣṇu also divided his body in two parts and then created the mobile and immobile universe. Thereafter, he created Brahmā. Then Brahmā created Rudra on his part. In the second kalpa, Viṣṇu created Brahmā. Then Brahmā created Viṣṇu. Then Śiva created Brahmā. Then Brahmā thought that the world was full of misery. Then he, disassociating himself from the work of creation, devoted himself to the higher soul. Then he, controlling this breath, became immobile like a stone and he thus remained in meditation for ten thousand years. The beautiful lotus which had lowered its face and was lodged in the heart, then it was filled with breath and was swollen. With the Kumībhaka breath control, it was raised up. His head was raised.

In the pericarp of the lotus, Brahmā established lord Śiva there on his heart. The place was so small as the hundred part of the thread of the lotus stalk, by repeating Om in the series of half measures of time. He, who was worthy of worship himself, then adored the unchanging lord Śiva by offering the flowers of restrain etc. Then, at the behest of the Īśvara situated in the heart lotus of Brahmā, the all pervading lord, born of the body of Bhava, came out of Brahmā by piercing through his forehead. The lord who born of the heart of Śiva, was originally blue, but became red coming in contact with fire. Because the Puruṣa was both blue (nīla) and red (lohita) resembling the form of Kāla – the god of death, he came to be known as Nīla-lohita by Īśvara and lord Kāla by Brahmā. The all pervading one (Kāla) then became pleased.

सुप्रीतमनसं देवं तुष्टव च पितामहः ।
नामाष्टकेन विश्वात्मा विश्वात्मानं महामुने ॥ २८ ॥

O great sage, Brahmā, the soul of the universe, eulogised the lord, who was delighted in his mind and who had the universe as his own, by means of the set of eight names.

पितामह उच्चाच
नमस्ते भगवन् रुद्र भास्करामिततेजसे ।
नमो भवाय देवाय रसायाम्बुमयाय ते ॥ २९ ॥
शर्वाय क्षितिरूपाय सदा सुरभिणे नमः ।
ईशाय वायवे तुभ्यं संस्पर्शाय नमो नमः ॥ ३० ॥
पशूनां पतये चैव पावकायातितेजसे ।
भीमाय व्योमरूपाय शब्दमात्राय ते नमः ॥ ३१ ॥
महादेवाय सोमाय अमृताय नमोस्तु ते ।

उग्राय यजमानाय नमस्ते कर्मयोगिने ॥ ३२ ॥

Brahmā said—

O lord Rudra, salutation to you. You are of splendour beyond measure, resembling the sun. Salutation to the water and juicy Bhava. Salutation to earth and the sun having the form of fragrance. Salutation to Īśa, the form of wind and touch. Salutation to the lord of each and every soul, having enormous lustre take the fire, besides being Paśupati. Salutation to Bhīma or of the gigantic form, the lord of the sky and the universal soul. Salutation to lord Mahādeva, the abode of Soma and nectar. Salutation to Ugra (or ferocious) who is a Karmayogī as well as the Yajamāna.

यः पठेच्छृणुयाद्वापि पैतामहमिमं स्तवम् ।

आष्टमूर्तेस्तु सायुज्यं वषदिकादवाप्नुयात् ।
एवं स्तुत्वा महादेवमवैक्षत पितामहः ॥ ३४ ॥

Whosoever listens to the prayer offered by Brahmā to Śiva, or recites it to the Brāhmaṇas with the concentration of mind, he would achieve the Sāyujya devotion of the lord in a year's time. Thus, Brahmā noticed lord Śiva, after offering prayer to the lord.

तदाष्टधा महादेवः समातिष्ठित्समंततः ।
तदा प्रकाशते भानुः कृष्णवर्त्मा निशाकरः ॥ ३५ ॥
क्षितिर्वायुः पुमानंभः सुषिरं सर्वगं तथा ।
तदाप्रभृति तं प्राहुष्टमूर्तिरितीश्वरम् ॥ ३६ ॥

Thereafter, the eight-formed lord Mahādeva stood up and expanded himself on all the sides. As a result of this, the sun, Agni, the moon, earth, wind, water, sky and the performer of sacrifices, became resplendent. From that day onwards, Śiva came to be known as Aṣṭamūrti.

अष्टमूर्ते: प्रसादेनविरंचिश्चासृजत्सुनः।

By the grace of Aṣṭamūrti, Brahmā again started creation. After creating the mobile and immobile beings, Brahmā proceeded on to kalpāntara for a period of a thousand yugas. When he woke up in the next kalpa, then he again became desirous of creating the people. Thereafter, he again performed the harsh and great tapas. When these tapas could yield nothing to him, then after a long time, he felt painful. That painful situation was then turned in to the rage.

क्रोधाविष्टस्य नेत्राभ्यां प्रापतत्रशु बिन्दवः।
ततस्तेष्योश्रुबिन्दुभ्यो भूताः प्रेतास्तदाभवन्॥४०॥

After his getting enraged, the drops of tears started falling from his eyes and with the tear drops, the goblins and ghosts were originated.

सर्वास्तानग्रजान्दृष्टा भूतप्रेतानिशाचरान्।
अर्निदत तदा देवो ब्रह्मात्मानमजो विभुः॥४१॥

Noticing the first creation of goblins and ghosts, Brahmā denounced himself.

जहौ प्राणांश्च भगवान् क्रोधाविष्टः प्रजापतिः।
ततः प्राणमयो रुद्रः प्रादुरासीत्प्रभोमुखात्॥४२॥

Then Brahmā having been filled with anger put an end to his life. At that point of time, from the face of Brahmā, Rudra appeared in the form of prāṇa.

अर्धनारीश्वरो भूत्वा बालार्कसदृशद्युतिः।

अर्धेनांशेन सर्वात्मा ससर्जासौ शिवामुमाम्।

The same Rudra, dividing himself into eleven parts, as Ardhanārīśvara, got himself established. Then Ardhanārīśvara – the universal soul, created Umā from the half of his own body. Then Umā created Lakṣmī, Durgā and Sarasvatī.

Thereafter, she also produced Vāmā, Raudrī, Mahāmāyā, the lotus-eyed goddess Vaiṣṇavī, Kālavikariṇī, Kāmadevāśinī, Kālī, goddess Bālavikariṇī, Bālapramathinī, Sarvabhūtadamanī and Manonmanī. Thus, Umā produced thousands of other ladies. Together with those women and Rudras, Mahādeva, the lord of the three worlds, stood before Brahmā. Lord Śiva then offered salutation to the dead body of Brahmā. He infused life in the body of Brahmā and brought him back to life.

घृणी ददौ पुनः प्राणान्ब्रह्मपुत्रो महेश्वरः।
ब्रह्मणः प्रददौ प्राणानात्मस्थास्तु तदा प्रभुः॥४९॥

Then Maheśvara, the son of Brahmā, offered his salutation to the creator of the world (Brahmā).

प्रहस्योभूततो रुद्रः किञ्चित्प्रत्यागतासवम्।
अभ्यभाषत देवेशो ब्रह्माणं परमं वचः॥५०॥

Then Rudra – the lord of gods, felt delighted. Then he spoke to Brahmā, who had been brought back to life.

Listening to his words, Brahmā felt delighted as if in a dream. Having been so brought back to life, Brahmā glanced at Śiva with his eyes blossoming like the lotus flowers. He gazed at Śiva for long, respecting him, he spoke with folded hands— “O excellent one, you have delighted my mind.”

Listening to these words, lord Śiva, the destroyer of the enemies of gods, touching Brahmā with his soft and comfortable hands said—

Śiva said—

“Believe me to be the supreme soul and know her as the birthless Māyā. Those who are standing by my side are Rudras, who have arrived here to protect you.” Thereafter, Brahmā bowed down to the lord of the Devas and spoke with folded hands in reverence. His words were choked with delight— “O lord, O lord of the chiefs of the gods, I feel agitated and excited due to miseries.

Indra said—

Therefore, O Śilāda, you should understand this, that it would be difficult to get such a person in the three worlds who was not born from a womb and be everlasting and without death. So much so, even Brahmā also has to meet with his end. But in case Rudra is pleased, then it would not be difficult for you to achieve a son who is free from birth or death.

So much so, that with the continuous performing of tapas like a Brāhmaṇa, a thousand divine years lapsed in a miraculous manner like a moment.

All the limbs of the Rṣi were enveloped in an anthill. He became a victim of the torture by groups of worms and the blood sucker insects, with their mouths as sharp as the diamond needles.

Śiva said—

O Brāhmaṇa, O wealth of tapas, in earlier times because of the tapas of Brahmā and after ascetics, for the sake of incarnation, I shall be born as your son named Nandī. O sage, I happen to be the father of the three worlds, but you will be my father.

Thus speaking and offering his salutation to the sage, the standing Śiva, who could be compared with moon, together with Umā, disappeared from that place.

O great sage, receiving assurance from Śiva for getting a son, my father was pleased. He was the foremost of all the performers of the yajñas. Therefore, he went to a vast mandapa for the performing of the yajña. In the yajña mandapa, I, at the command of all, was born as his son. I resembled like the

When I was born as the son of the sage Śilāda, then the clouds like Puṣkara, Āvartaka and others, poured the rain. Kinnaras, Sādhyas and Siddhās sung the songs, while Viṣṇu showered the rain of fragrant flowers.

The infant, had the resplendence of the sun of the time of dissolution, had matted locks of hair, three eyes and four arms resembling Tripurārī, holding a trident, battle axe and vajra, besides the shining teeth like the vajra. He was adorned by Indra, the holder of vajra. He was adorned with the earrings of gems and creating thundering sound like the clouds. Then, looking at me, Brahmā, Indra, other gods and other sages offered prayer to me. The apsarās raised slogans and danced while singing. O great sage, the ascetics praised me, reciting hymns from Rk, Yajuh and Sāma Vedas, quite delightfully offering their salutation to me.

Proposal for coronation of Nandi

नन्दिकेश्वर उवाच

Nandikeśvara said—

After offering his salutation to lord Maheśvara, my delightful father, two excellent divine sages, known as Mitra and Varuṇa, who had huge penance to their credit besides the yogic powers, arrived at the hermitage in order to meet me. It was at the instance of the lord that they had to reach there.

Observing me again and again, the two noble souls said— “O noble soul, though Nandī has mastered all the scriptures and the related knowledge, he is short-lived. This type of wonder has not been witnessed earlier. His life cannot extend beyond a year.” At these words of the sages, Śilāda, the excellent Brāhmaṇa, who loved his son very much, embraced me and feeling dejected, he lamented with a highly discordant words— “Alas! My son, my son, my son.” Then he collapsed and fell flat.

He lamented in agony— “Alas! The power of the cruel destiny and the creator.” On hearing the lamentation, the residents of the hermitage gathered there, getting extremely upset. All of them observed sacred rites to ward off evil. They also adored lord Śiva and Umā.

Then, they performed homa muttering the Trayaṁbaka mantra and offering dūrvā grass ten thousand times, soaked in honey and accompanied with other material for worship.

I felt panicky finding my father and grandfather, who were lying as if dead.

Finding my father and the grandfather lying on the ground as if dead, I went round them and I started reciting the Rudra mantra. Then, I meditated upon Rudra, lodged in my lotus like heart, having three eyes, ten arms and five faces. I found myself standing over the bank of a river. Then, lord Śiva appeared before me with goddess Umā and said to me— “O great armed one, O dear Nandī, how could you be afraid of death?

Both the Brāhmaṇas had been sent by me. You are like me. There is no doubt about it. In reality, your body is of worldly type and not divine. The body which had been seen and adored initially by Śilāda, the gods, the sages, Siddhas, Cāraṇas, Dānavas and the ascetics, was indeed divine. O Nandīśvara, it is the nature of the world that the pleasure and the pain arrive again and again, one after the other. The people with wisdom never desire not to be born of a womb.” Thus speaking, lord Śiva, who removes all the misfortunes and is bull-bannered, then touched my body with his hand. Then looking at this gaṇas and Pārvatī, he said.

“You will become eternal with your friends and parents. None of you shall ever attract old age, misery or death. You will be imperishable and eternal. You will have any strength and prowess. You will be my favourite chief of gaṇas. I will be always fond of you. You will be at my side forever. You will have my strength and you will be endowed with great yogic power.”

After saying this to me, the lord accompanied with his attendants, took off his lotus garland. The bull-bannered lord of great splendour, tied it on me. With the splendid garland hanging around my neck, I looked like a second Śiva with three eyes and ten arms. Then, Parameśvara took me by hand and said— “What excellent boon should be given to you?”

Thereafter, the lord Śiva; taking some water out of his locks of hair, sprinkled on me and said— “Tell me what a boon should be bestowed on you? You become a river filled with divine water and the lotus flowers. Since you have emerged out of the locks of my hair, you will be known as Jaṭodakā.

A person taking a bath in you will be relieved of all the sins.” Then, lord Maheśvara said to the goddess Umā— “He will be your son." Then, lord Śiva made me fall over the feet of Śilāda and said— "He is your son." The mother Umā smelt my hand, kissed me and patted my back. Because of her affection for the son, three drops of tears rolled from her eyes and then becoming mother of three sons, she looked at Śiva. With the three drops of tears falling on earth, three streams were formed which were termed by lord Śiva as Trisrota.

Finding the three streams, lord Śiva felt delighted. Then, sound was produced from a river which became the cause of creation of another river. Vṛṣadhwani was the name given by lord Śiva to the river. Thereafter the bull-bannered lord Śiva, removed the golden crown which had been prepared by Viśvakarmā from his head and placed it over the head of Nandi. Then lord Śiva, also removed the goddess earrings which were studded with precious gems from his ears and decorated my ears with them.

O sage, finding me so felicitated, the sun-god poured water from the clouds in the sky and honoured Śilādana. When the water was so poured by the sun, then with the consecrated water, a river of gold water was formed. Lord Trilocana then gave it the name of Svarṇadeka. Because a second river was formed with the crown of gold, therefore, it was given the name of Jambū river. Thus, there are the five rivers which reach the lord Japayeśvara.

A person who has a glance of the five rivers or has an auspicious dip in the same and adores the lord Japayeśvara, he surely achieves the closeness of lord Śiva.

Hearing his words, Pārvatī, with a delightful heart, spoke to Śiva, her husband— "O lord, Śailādi is my own son. Presently, you are the lord of the universe and can bestow boon of becoming Gajendra to him." |

Thereafter, the bull-bannered recalled the leader of the divine ganas.

शैलादिरुवाच

स्मरणादेव रुद्रस्य संप्राप्ताश्च गणेश्वराः ।
सर्वे सहस्रहस्ताश्च सहस्रायुधपाणयः ॥१॥

Sailadi said—

At the recalling of Rudra, all the Ganeśvaras reached there. All of them had a thousand arms each, which were holding different weapons in them.

त्रिनेत्राश्च महात्मानस्त्रिदशैरपि वंदिताः ।
कोटिकालान्निसङ्घाशा जटामुकुटधारिणः ॥२॥

Each one of them had three eyes and had been held in reverence by the leaders of the gods. All of them resembled crores of fire flames. All of them had the crowns of matted locks of hair over their heads.

दंष्ट्राकरालवदना नित्या बुद्धाश्च निर्मलाः ॥
कोटिकोटिगणैस्तुल्यैरात्मना च गणेश्वराः ।
असंख्याता महात्मानस्तत्राजगमुर्मुदा युताः ॥३॥

The delightful masters of great souls arrived there. All of them were accompanied by crores of their attendants, who were as powerful as the Ganeśvaras themselves. They were auspicious as well as quite learned.

Their faces looked awful because of their strong fangs.

गायंतश्च द्रवंतश्च नृत्यंतश्च महाबलाः ।
मुखाडंबरवाद्यानि वादयंतस्तथैव च ॥४॥

The valorous ganas were singing, dancing, running, playing on mouth organs with winking their eyes.

रथैनर्गैर्हयैश्वैव सिंहमर्कटवाहनाः ।
विमानेषु तथारूढा हेमचित्रेषु वै गणाः ॥५॥

The ganas were mounted over chariots, elephants, horses, lions and even monkeys. Some of the ganas were mounted over the planes decorated with gold.

भेरीमृदगकाद्यैश्च पणवानकगोमुखैः ।

दद्हैरस्तलघातैश्च कच्छपैः पणवैरपि ।
वाद्यमानैर्महायोगा आजग्मुर्देवसंसदम् ॥८॥

The Ganeśvaras possessed enormous prowess and were playing on drums and other musical instruments such as bherī, cymbals, pañavas, ānakas, gomukhas, patahas, ekapuṣkaras, ādambarakas, murjas, dindimas, mardalas, veṇu (flute), vīnā (lute), other kinds of cymbals, darduras, talaghātas, kacchapas and pañavas.

ते गणेशा महासत्त्वाः सर्वदेवेश्वरेश्वराः ।
प्रणम्य देवं देवीं च इदं वचनमबृवन् ॥९॥

Those lords of the ganas of enormous strength and prowess, the lords of the chiefs of the devas, bowed down to the lord and goddess, uttering these words.

भगवन्देवदेवेश त्रियंबक वृषध्वज ।
किमर्थं च स्मृता देव आज्ञापय महाद्युते ॥१०॥

“O blessed lord, O lord of the chiefs of the gods, O three-eyed god, O bull-emblemed lord, what for have we been summoned? O lord of the great lustre, you kindly command us.

किं सागराञ्जोषयामो यमं वा सह किंकरैः।
हन्मो मृत्युसुतां मृत्युं पशुवद्धन्म पद्मजम्॥११॥

Shall we dry up the ocean? Shall we kill Yama with his attendants? Shall we kill Mṛtyu, the daughter of death? Shall we kill the lotus born deity as an insignificant animal?

बद्धवेन्द्रं सह देवैश्च सह विष्णुं च वायुना।
आनयामः सुसंक्रुद्धा दैत्यान्वा सह दानवैः॥१२॥

We are enraged, then shall we bind Indra with other gods and Viṣṇu, together with Vāyu, the wind god or the Daityas and the Dānavas and bring them here?

कस्याद्य व्यसनं घोरं करिष्यामस्तवाज्ञया।

Whom shall we place in untold misery, in danger, or destroy him? For the fulfilment of whose desire, the festivities have been arranged today.”

तांस्तथावादिनः सर्वन् गणेशान् सर्वसंमतान्।
उवाच देवः संपूज्य कोटिकोटिशतान्प्रभुः॥१४॥

Lord Śiva then welcomed the Ganeśvaras who were thus speaking, felicitated them, who were hundreds and crores in number, and then spoke to them.

शृणुध्वं यत्कृते यूयमिहाहूता जगद्विताः।
श्रुत्वा च प्रयत्नात्मानः कुरुध्वं तदशंकिताः॥१५॥

“Listen, the purpose for which you have been summoned, is for the welfare and benefit of the world. O gapas with auspicious souls, listening to me, you act according to my instructions without any doubt.

नन्दीश्वरोऽयं पुत्रो नः सर्वेषामीश्वरेश्वरः।
विप्रोयं नायकश्चैव सेनानीर्वः समृद्धिमान्॥१६॥

This Nandīśvara happens to be my son. He is the leader of all the gaṇa-chiefs. He is a Brāhmaṇa, besides being your leader and a warrior. He is progressive as well.

तमिमं मम संदेशाद्यूयं सर्वेषि संमताः।
सेनान्यमभिषिंचवध्वं महायोगपतिं पतिम्॥१७॥

Therefore, at my command, you accept him as you own leader and the master and crown him as Mahāyogapati.”

एवमुक्ता भगवता गणपाः सर्व एव ते।
एवमस्त्विति संमंत्र्य संभारानाहरंस्ततः॥१८॥

At the words thus spoken by lord Śiva, all of them made consultations among themselves and then decided to act as per the command of lord Śiva. They then uttered—“Be it so.” Thus speaking, they engaged themselves in collecting the required material.

तस्य सर्वाश्रयं दिव्यं जांबूनदमयं शुभम्।

They brought the divine lion throne from the heaven which was as pleasant as the Meru mountain. They built a maṇḍapa (pavilion) with several of the golden pillars. They decorated it with the strings of gems and diamonds besides beads. A throne was placed in the centre of the pavilion. A seat of blue stone was placed before it. Two water vases were placed separately at the pāda pīṭha, which were filled with the fragrant water and had been covered with the lotus flowers.

कलशानां सहस्रं तु सौवर्णं राजतं तथा ।
ताम्रजं मृन्मयं चैव सर्वतीर्थाबुपूरितम्॥२४॥

Thousands of pitchers made of gold, silver and earth, filled with the sacred water, had been placed there.

Parameṣṭhin Brahmā, the great soul, then offered a pair of garments, divine fragrance, armlets, ear-rings, crown, garland, an umbrella with a hundred spokes, besides a small fan. A flywhisk with a golden handle which resembled the white lustre of the moon and its rod, was decorated with the conches and the beads (which was also given by Brahmā).

Airāvata and Supratīka elephants were adored appropriately. Viśvakarmā made a crown of gold, besides two beautiful ear-rings. The Vajrāyudha was also placed there. The sūtras of gold and two keyūras had also been placed there. The Śiva gaṇas who were adored by the gods, brought the essential types of fires from all the four quarters and collected there.

All the gods including Indra, Viṣṇu, Brahmā and others had collected there for the performing of the requisite ceremonies. As per the directions of Śiva, Brahmā got the abhiṣeka performed quite carefully. Then Brahmā, performing the pūjā, performed the abhiṣeka himself.

ततो विष्णुस्ततः शक्रो लोकपालास्तथैव च ।
अभ्यर्षिंचंत विधिवद्गणेन्द्रं शिवशासनात्॥३५॥

At the command of Śiva, then Indra and other Lokapālas too performed abhiṣeka.

Then Brahmā, with his associated sages, praised him. Then Viṣṇu, the preserver of the universe, with a concentrated mind, folding his hands over his head, offered prayer shouting the slogans of victory.

ततो गणाधिपाः सर्वे ततो देवास्ततोऽसुराः ।

Then the commandants of gaṇas, gods and asuras, one after the other, eulogised and bathed him. Thus after being eulogised and bathed by the gods and Brahmā, his marriage too was performed at the behest of Parameśṭhin. His wife was a noble lady known as Suyaśā, the daughter of Maruts.

A decorated umbrella having the lustre of moon, was offered to her. She had cāmaras also and she was accompanied with the groups of women holding flywhisks in their hands. The most excellent throne was occupied by her with me. She was adorned by the goddess Mahālakṣmī with coronet and other ornaments.

The excellent necklace from the neck of the goddess was gifted to her. The leading bull, the white elephant, the lion, the lion emblem, the chariot, the golden umbrella with the lustre of moon disc, were present there. Till now no other god was equal to me.

The great lord mounted the bull after taking me on with all the members of my family, kinsman and relatives. Then, he set off with the goddess. On seeing the goddess and the lord with me, the sages, Devas, Siddhas and the Brāhmaṇas requested for command of the lord.

At the command of the lord, the husband of Pārvatī, Nandī granted those who deserved the splendid behest of the lord. On receiving the command from the leading sage, they became the great devotee of Śiva. Therefore, lord Śiva should be adored. If a person utters the name of the lord without offering salutation to him, he will incur grave sin, at par with that of ten Brāhmaṇa's slayer. Therefore, by all means, one should utter the words of salutation. At the outset, one should offer his salutation and at the end utter the name of Śiva.

The nether world

ऋषय ऊचुः

सूत सुव्यक्तमखिलं कथितं शङ्करस्य तु।

The sages said—

You have spoken out everything about Śiva quite clearly. Now you please speak out about the forms of Śiva.

Sūta उवाच

Sūta said—

Whatever is visible in the form of bhūḥ, buvah, svah, mahaḥ, tapaḥ, janaḥ, pātāla, crores of oceans of the hell, the stars, planets, the sun, the moon, Dhruva, Saptarṣis, and those moving in the aerial chariots, all function due to the grace of Śiva.

अनेन निर्मितास्त्वेवं तदात्मानो द्विजर्घभाः।

All of them were created by him, O excellent Brāhmaṇas, all of them exist because of his desire. Śiva is present in them in an aggregate form. He happens to be the soul of all.

सर्वात्मानं महात्मानं महादेवं महेश्वरम्।
न विजानन्ति संमूढा मायथा तस्य मोहिताः॥५॥

In fact, all the three lokas emerged out of his body. Having been influenced or confused with his delusion, the foolish people do not visualise him as the soul of all, a great soul, Mahādeva and Maheśvara. They are not aware of his true form.

तस्य देवस्य रुद्रस्य शरीरं वै जगत्रयम्।
तस्मात्प्रणम्य तं वक्ष्ये जगतां निर्णयं शुभम्॥६॥

Therefore, offering my salutation to him, I shall narrate to you in brief, the auspicious expansion of the three worlds.

पुरा वः कथितं सर्वं मयाण्डस्य यथा कृतिः।
भुवनानां स्वरूपं च ब्रह्माण्डे कथयाम्यहम्॥७॥

First of all, I shall narrate to you the size of and shape of the cosmic egg, its form and the bhuvanas of the globe.

पृथिवीचांतरिक्षं च स्वर्महर्जन एव च।
तपः सत्यं न सप्तैर्ते लोकास्त्वण्डोद्धवाः शुभाः॥८॥

The earth, the space, svah, mahaḥ, janaḥ, tapaḥ and satyam are the seven splendid worlds which originated from the cosmic egg.

O Brāhmaṇa, there are the seven worlds starting with Mahātala, beneath these. The hells are lodged beneath them, one after the other.

They are all controlled by Ananta. Both Mucukunda and the king Bali are the dwellers of Pātāla and the heaven respectively.

O Brāhmaṇas, Rasātala has the hard rock like surface. Talātala is filled with water-worn pebbles. Sutala is said to be of yellow surface. Vitala has the lustre of coral. Atala has the white surface, while Tala is said to be black. O excellent one, all the underworlds are expanded like the earth or in other words, each one of the talas is spread into a thousand yojanas. The sky, on each one of the talas is spread in an area of ten thousand yojanas. The seven talas are collectively spread into an area of seven thousand lakhs of yojanas including the clouds. The base of the last pātala is thirty thousand yojanas.

In all the seven continents, there are huge mountains, some of which rise to great heights, some of which extend upto the ocean, while others have several peaks and caves. There were several kings who ruled these continents with efficiency as per the requirements of the times. They were powerful by the grace of lord Śiva, the father of the enemy of Krauñca.

I shall now mention about the kings of all the past and future Manvantaras, starting with those in the Svāyambhuva Manvantara. The grandsons of Svāyambhuva Manu were all very strong with similar status, honour and identical purpose. There were the ten valorous sons of Priyavrata, known as Āgnīdhra, Agnibāhu, Medhā, Medhātithi, Vapus, Jyotiṣmān, Dyutimān, Havya, Savana and Patra. Priyavrata crowned seven of them as kings over the seven continents.

Vapuṣmān, the king of Śālmali, also had seven sons, who were separately crowned as the rulers of seven continents. They were known by the names of Śveta, Harita, Vaidyuta, Jimūta, Rohita, Mānas and Suprabha. Śveta was made the ruler of Śveta country, Harita ruled the Hārita country, Jimūta ruled Jimūta country, Rohita ruled Rohita country, Vaidyuta ruled Vaidyuta country, Mānasa ruled Mānasa country, while Suprabha ruled Suprabha country. Thus, seven countries were named under the names of the respective kings. I shall now speak about the countries beyond Jambūdvīpa, which is known as Plakṣadvīpa.

सप्त मेधातिथे: पुत्राः प्लक्षद्वीपेश्वरा नृपाः ।

Medhātithi happened to be the king of the continent of Plakṣa. He too had seven sons, who ruled the seven countries of the Plakṣadvīpa. Out of them all, Śāntamaya was the eldest. Śisira, Sukhodaya, Ānanda, Śiva, Kṣemaka and Dhruva, were his continents which divided the country. All of them were crowned as the kings appropriately.

In between Śākadvīpa and Plakṣadvīpa, the people followed the four varṇas and the *dharma*s. O Brāhmaṇas, in all these continents, the comforts enjoyed by the people, age, beauty and the strength of the people were normal. The people of the place worshipped Rudra and were devoted to Maheśvara. The ruler of Puṣkara continent enjoy the nectar of their devout feelings towards Prajāpati and Rudra.

Description of Bhāratavarṣa

सूत उवाच

आग्नीधं ज्येष्ठदायादं काम्यपुत्रं महाबलम्।
प्रियव्रतोऽभ्यर्षिचर्दौ जंबूद्वीपे श्वरं नृपः॥१॥

Sūta said—

The king crowned his eldest son Āgnīdhra who was the eldest inheritor and was the loveable son with great prowess, as the monarch of Jambūdvīpa.

सोतीव भवभक्तश्च तपस्वी तरुणः सदा।
भवार्चनरतः श्रीमान्गोमान्थीमान्द्विर्जर्भभः॥२॥

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, he was the great devotee of lord Śiva, besides being an ascetic as well as youthful. He possessed enormous wisdom as well as a large number of cows.

तस्य पुत्रा बभूवुस्ते प्रजापतिसमा नव।
सर्वे माहे श्वराश्वैव महादेवपरायणाः॥३॥

He got nine sons resembling Prajāpatis, who also were the followers of lord Śiva.

ज्येष्ठो नाभिरिति ख्यातस्तस्य किंपुरुषोऽनुजः।
हरिवर्षस्तृतीयस्तु चतुर्थो वै त्विलावृतः॥४॥

His eldest son was known by the name of Nābhi. His younger brother was known by the name of Kimpuruṣa. The third son was known as Harivarṣa and the fourth one was known as Ilāvṛta.

रम्यस्तु पञ्चमस्तत्र हिरण्मान् षष्ठ उच्यते।
कुरुस्तु सप्तमस्तेषां भद्राश्वस्त्वष्टमः स्मृतः॥५॥

The fifth son was known as Ramya and the sixth was Hiranyamān. The seventh son was Kuru, while the eighth son was known as Bhadrāśva.

नवमः केतुमालस्तु तेषां देशान्त्रिबोधत।

नाभेस्तु दक्षिणं वर्षं हेमाख्यं तु पिता ददौ॥६॥

The ninth son was known as Ketumān. Now you listen about their respective countries. The father gave away the Hemavarṣa country to Nābhi which was located in the south.

हेमकूटं तु यद्वर्षं ददौ किंपुरुषाय सः।
नैषधं यत्स्मृतं वर्षं हरये तत्पिता ददौ॥७॥

The Hemakūṭavarṣa was allotted to his son Kimpuruṣa, while Hari was allotted Naiṣadha-varṣa.

इलावृताय प्रददौ मेरुर्यत्र तु मध्यमः।
नीलाश्वलाश्रितं वर्षं रम्याय प्रददौ पिता॥८॥

Ilāvṛta was given over Madhyadeśa which was surrounded by the Meru mountain. Ramya was given over the country of Nilāñcalavarṣa.

श्वेतं यदुत्तरं तस्मात्पित्रा दत्तं हिरण्मते।
यदुत्तरं शृङ्गवर्षं पिता तत्कुरवे ददौ॥९॥

The Śvetavarṣa in the north was given to Hiranyamān, while Śringavarṣa in the north was given to Kuru by his father.

वर्षं माल्यवतं चापि भद्राश्वस्य न्यवेदयत्।
गंधमादनवर्षं तु केतुमालाय दत्तवान्॥१०॥

The king allotted to Bhadrāśva the Mālyavānvarṣa, while Ketumān was given over the Gandhamādanavarṣa.

इत्येनानि महान्तीह नव वर्षाणि भागशः।
आग्नीधस्तेषु वर्षेषु पुत्रांस्तानभिरिच्य वै॥११॥
यथाक्रमं स धर्मत्वा ततस्तु तपसि स्थितः।
तपसा भावितश्वैव स्वाध्यायनिरतस्त्वभूत्॥१२॥

These are the nine great varṣas. Establishing his nine sons over the respective lion thrones of each varṣa, the noble king Āgnidhra got himself engaged in the performing of tapas. After purifying himself with the performing of tapas, he engaged himself in the study of the Vedas.

स्वाध्यायनिरतः पश्चाच्छिवध्यानरतस्त्वभूत्।
यानि किंपुरुषाद्यानि वर्षाण्यासौ शुभानि च॥१३॥
तेषां स्वभावतः सिद्धः सुखप्राया ह्ययत्ततः।

धर्माधर्मौ न तेष्वास्तां नोत्तमाधममध्यमाः।
न तेष्वस्ति युगावस्था क्षेत्रेष्वष्टु सर्वतः॥१५॥

After completing his study of the Vedas, he was absorbed in the meditation of lord Śiva. There is a natural perfection in all the eight subcontinents, beginning with Kimpuruṣa. Without any strain, the subjects were always happy. The opposite of joy was totally absent. They were least afraid of death or old age. They had neither dharma nor adharma. There was no distinction such as excellent, the middling and the base. In all the eight subcontinents, there were no subdivisions of yugas.

रुद्रक्षेत्रे मृताशैव जङ्गमाः स्थावरास्तथा।
भक्ताः प्रासंगिकाश्चापि तेषु क्षेत्रेषु यांति ते॥१६॥

Such of the people who meet with death in the auspicious land of Rudra, irrespective of their being mobile or immobile, whether devotees or casual visitors, are reborn there again.

तेषां हिताय रुद्रेण चाष्टक्षेत्रं विनिर्मितम्।
तत्र तेषां महादेवः सान्निध्यं कुरुते सदा॥१७॥

For their benefit, eight holy centres were created by Rudra. In all those places, lord Mahādeva had always been present.

दृष्टा हृदि महादेवमष्टक्षेत्रनिवासिनः।
सुखिनः सर्वदा तेषां स एवेह परा गतिः॥१८॥

By seeing Mahādeva in their hearts, the people of the eight holy centres always remained happy. He alone was the biggest goal unto them all.

नाभेर्निर्सर्ग वक्ष्यामि हिमांकेऽस्मिन्निबोधत।
नाभिस्त्वजनयत्पुत्रं मेरुदेव्यां महामतिः॥१९॥
ऋषभं पार्थिवश्रेष्ठं सर्वक्षत्रस्य पूजितम्।
ऋषभाद्वरतो जज्ञे वीरः पुत्रशताग्रजः॥२०॥

I shall now speak out to you about the country of Nābhi, marked by snow (Bhāratavarṣa), as mentioned below. The intelligent Nābhi begot a son from Marudevī, known by the name of Rṣabha. He was a great king adored by all the Kṣatriyas. A heroic son known by the name of Bharata was born to Rṣabha, who was the eldest of his hundred sons.

सोभिषिच्याथ ऋषभो भरतं पुत्रवत्सलः।
ज्ञानवैराग्यमाश्रित्य जित्वेद्विद्यमहोरगान्॥२१॥
सर्वात्मनात्मनि स्थाप्य परमात्मात्मानमीश्वरम्।
नामो जटी निराहारो चीरी ध्वांतगतो हि सः॥२२॥
निराशस्त्यक्संदेहः शैवमाप परं पदम्।
हिमार्देवक्षिणं वर्षं भरताय न्यवेदयत्॥२३॥
तस्मात् भारतं वर्षं तस्य नाम्ना विदुर्बृधाः।

बभूव तस्मिंस्तद्राज्यं भरतः संन्यवेशयत्।
पुत्रसंक्रामितश्रीको वनं राजा विवेश सः॥२५॥

The king Rṣabha liked his son Bharata very much and as such, he crowned him as the king. Then by devoting himself to the path of knowledge and detachment, he conquered his sense organs. By all means, he established Īśvara, the supreme Ātman, within his own heart. He was completely absorbed in his devout feelings and observed fasts. He wore bark garments and matted hair. He retired into darkness in a solitary place. He was devoid of all his desires and all his doubts were cleared. Ultimately, he attained the great region of lord Śiva. He gave the region in the south of the mountain Himavat to Bharata. Hence, the learned man call the sub-continent as Bhāratavarṣa, after his name. Bharata's son was virtuous Sumati and Bharata entrusted the care of his kingdom to his own son Sumati. After handing over the royal glory to his son, the king entered the forest for the performing of tapas.

सूत उवाच

अस्य द्वीपस्य मध्ये तु मेरुनामं महागिरिः ।

Sūta said—

In the centre of Jambūdvīpa is situated a mountain named Meru, which is indeed the best of all the mountains. Its peaks are filled with gems.

It is eighty four thousand yojanas in height. It's depth beneath the earth is extended to sixteen thousand yojanas.

Since it is stationed like a shallow plate, the extent on the top is thirty two thousand yojanas. Its girth at the ridges is three times its width.

हैमीकृतो महेशस्य शुभाङ्गस्पर्शनेन च ।
धत्तूरुपुष्पसङ्काशः सर्वदेवनिकेतनः ॥४॥

It is rendered golden hue due to the auspicious contact with the body of lord Maheśa. It resembles the flowers of Dhatūrā plant also known as thorn apple. It is the abode of the gods.

क्रीडाभूमिश्च देवानामनेकाश्चर्यसंयुतः ।
लक्षयोजन आयामस्तस्यैवं तु महागिरेः ॥५॥

It is the sporting ground for the Devas and is full of miracles. The total width and the length is a hundred thousand yojanas.

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the expansion of earth beneath the surface is spread to sixteen thousand yojanas. The remaining part of the mountain is above the earth. It extends over the sixteen thousand yojanas from the base or the root and the extent above, they say, is twice the extent of the root.

पूर्वतः पद्मरागाभो दक्षिणे हेमसत्रिभः ।
पश्चिमे नीलसङ्काश उत्तरे विद्वमप्रभः ॥८॥

In the east, it has the lustre of the ruby; in the south it resembles the gold; in the west it shines like the blue stone and in the north it has the lustre of the coral.

अमरावती पूर्वभागे नानाप्रासादसंकुला ।
नानादेवगणैः कीर्णा मणिजालसमावृता ॥९॥

In the eastern direction of this mountain, the city of Amarāvatī – the capital of Indra is located. It has different kinds of buildings and is crowded by various kinds of the Devas. The clusters of jewels surround it.

It has a number of gateways with ornamental decorations on it. They are of different designs and are bedecked with gold and jewels. The arches at the gateways are rendered astonishingly well with gold, in which the jewels are studded. Thousands of women are gathered near the roads and paths. These women are quite clever in talking and are adorned with all the ornaments. They bow down due to the weight of their breasts and their eyes keep on rolling due to intoxication. The apsarās move about all round. There are wonderful lakes, tanks and rivers, which are filled with blue lotuses. Their steps are made of gold. The sand on their banks is golden, blue and fragrant golden lotus flowers are found in large number. The entire city keeps on shining splendidly. The mountain in the city is believed to be quite auspicious.

तेजस्विनी नामपुरी आग्नेयां पावकस्य तु।
अमरावतीसमा दिव्या सर्वभोगसमन्विता॥१५॥

In the south-eastern side of the mountain, the Tejasvini city is lodged, which belongs to the fire-god. It is quite divine and resembles Amaravati in every respect. All types of pleasures are available there.

वैवस्वती दक्षिणे तु यमस्य यमिनां वराः।
भवनैरावृता दिव्यैर्जाबूनदमयैः शुभैः॥१६॥

O excellent sages, having exercised enormous self control, in the southern side of the mountain, the city of Yama Vaivasvata is lodged. It is full of several divine buildings which are built in gold and look quite graceful.

The splendid and dark coloured city of Śuddhavatī is lodged to the south-west. In the north-west, the beautiful city of Gandhavatī is lodged. The city to the north is known of Mahodaya and the one to the north-east is known as Yaśovatī. Thus, the cities in all the quarters always keep on shining.

ब्रह्मविष्णुमहेशानां तथान्येषां निकेतनम्।
सर्वभोगयुतं पुण्यं दीर्घिकाभिर्नगोत्तमम्॥१९॥

There are the abodes of Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva as well as the other gods located on it. Therefore, this mountain has all the means of comforts and has several lakes because of which it is considered to be the most splendid of all the mountains.

सिद्धैर्यक्षैस्तु संपूर्णं गंधवैर्मुनिपुज्ञवैः।

O foremost of the Brāhmaṇas, on the mountain towards the left, there is a huge palace with seven storeys, which resembles the pure crystal. It is quite vast and has a thousand landing grounds. It happens to be the abode of large-armed Śiva, having the eyes of the sun, moon and fire. He is seated over the throne studded with gems, together with the goddess and the six-faced Kārttikeya.

The abode of lord Viṣṇu is also there. It is half the size of the abode of lord Śiva. Lord Viṣṇu lives here. To the south is the divine abode of lord Brahmā, which is made in ru-s. A very large city of Indra is also lodged there. Then there is the beautiful city of Yama. Then, there are the cities of Soma, Varuṇa, Nirṛti, Pāvaka (Agni – the fire god), Vāyu (the wind god) and Rudra. Then, there are the abodes of all the people lodged in all the places. In the holy centre of the lord in the north-east, his perpetual worship is carried out. The auspicious Nandī also lives these with his disciples besides the leading Siddhas. Sanat also is comfortably lodged there along with the Siddhas. The lord of Devas lives there along with Sanaka, Sanadana and others.

To its right is the vast rose-apple tree, which is very tall with extensive ground all round. It yields fruits in all the seasons. The Ilāvṛta sub-continent is quite vast and graceful surrounding the Meru mountain. Some people live on these fruits of Rose apple trees, while others live on the nectar.

Some have the lustre of gold and others are of various colours. They enjoy all kinds of pleasures. O Brāhmaṇas, this is the splendid mid-land of the continent which extends around the foot of the Meru mountain. There are nine sub-continents in Jambūdvīpa. I shall speak about them with all the rivers, streams and mountains. You should understand the measurement in yojanas.

I have spoken about the first continent, which is spread in an area of a thousand yojanas. The other continent has been spread in double its area.

The earth with its oceans is spread in an area of fifty crores of yojanas. It comprises of seven continents which are quite beautiful and are surrounded by the lokāloka mountains. There is a blue mountain lodged to the north of Meru mountain; while the Śveta is beyond Rāmyaka and is also known as Hiranyamaya. Śrīṇi mountain is beyond Hiranyamaya. Kuruvarṣa is located beyond that. Hiranyamaya is located towards the south, while Rāmyaka is located towards the north. They are in the shape of a bow.

The remaining four are quite gigantic. Ilāvarta is lodged in the centre. Towards the north and east of Meru are the two varṣas, which have been described above and which are smaller in size than the former.

The area above Niṣadha is known as the northern Vedyārdha (half of the whole Dvīpa which is conceived as a sacrificial altar). Thus, there are three varṣas in the southern half and three varṣas in the northern half.

Ilāvarta, with the Meru in the middle, is in the midst of the two halves. And in the south of Meru is the Nīla mountain which is north of Niṣadha.

The great mountain Mālyavān extends towards the north. Its width above is two

Thus, the mountains have been briefly described. Now again you listen to the description of the vast mountains and the peaks. The Mandara and Devakūṭa mountains are lodged to the east. Kailāśa and the golden peak of Gandhamādana are spread from the east to south and they end inside the ocean. Niṣadha and Pārijāta are the excellent mountains. They are spread from west to the east and south. The Śringa mountain with three peaks and Jāruci are nice mountains in the east. They are spreading towards the east and are extended into the ocean. The people with intelligence and wisdom call it the Maryādā mountain.

They are said to be ten thousand yojanas in length. Mandara mountain is to the west, Gandhamādana is lodged to the south, Vipula is in the west and Supārśva is lodged in the north.

Four great trees have been grown on each one of them like the flag of an island. The kadamba tree grows over the vast peak of Mandara mountain. It has long hanging branches. It functions as the holy tree of a temple. On the peak of the mountain in south (i.e. Gandhamādana), there is a Jambū (Rose apple) tree which yields holy fruits and flowers which hang like garlands. This Jambū tree is known the world over as the flagstaff in the southern region. On the peak of the lofty mountain Vipula in the west, a great Asvattha or a holy fig tree grows like a Caityapādapa or a sacred tree in a holy temple. On the peak of the holy mountain Supārśva in the north grows a gigantic Nyagrodha or Indian fig tree, with a huge trunk extending to many yojanas in circumference. I shall now mention the four sporting grounds of the Devas on the leading mountains. They are devoid of human beings and have trees and plants, which grow in all the seasons.

Varyeśvara is in the west and Amarakeśvara is on the north. These are the auspicious peaks. O excellent sages, there are four vast lakes located there.

Different types of gods live in separate types of forests. Lakṣmī and other goddesses live in the wood apple forest, Kaśyapa and other sages stay in the Kukubha grove, the residence of Indra, Upendra and the snake gods is in the Tālavana or the forest of palm trees. The residence of Kardama and his tribe live in the Udumbara grove. The abode of Vidyādhara and Siddhas is in the excellent and holy mango grove. The Nagas and Siddhas live in the forest of Margosa trees, while the abodes of the sun and Rudra is in the Kimśuka forest. Bṛhaspati, the preceptor of the gods, live in the holy grove Bijapura. The abodes of the holy lords starting from Viṣṇu start from the forest of lilies, while the serpents live on the Nyagrodha within the cluster of the nether-worlds. He alone is the god of death for all. The lord carrying the ploughshare is duly a form of Viṣṇu himself, the preceptor of the universe. He is the soft conch of Viṣṇu, besides being the bangle of lord Śiva. The Dānavas, including this perceptor Śukra, stay in the forest of jack trees. The serpents are lodged in the Viśākha forest together with the Kinnaras. There are innumerable trees of all the species in that beautiful forest. Nandiśvara is lodged there and is being eulogised by the prominent gāṇas. The goddess Sarasvatī stays in the middle of the region full of wishful filling trees. These are the dwellers of these forests about whom I have spoken in brief. It is not possible to speak out all the details about them.

Nandā, towards the south, there is a town known as Rudrapurī. Lord Śiva, taking to various forms, sports with Umā and his gaṇas there. The place is known as Śivālaya. Thus in each island, there are hundreds and thousands of dwelling places of Śiva. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, Śiva dwells on the mountains in the forests over river banks, lakes and over the confluences of the river waters.

The colour of the Śveta mountain is that of white. The Hiraṇyamaya mountain has the colour of the peacock feather. The Triśṛṅga mountain is of golden colour. All these mountains are located in Jambūdvīpa.

प्लक्षद्वीपादिद्वीपेषु सप्त सप्तसु पर्वताः।
ऋज्बायताः प्रतिदिशं निविष्टा वर्षपर्वताः॥१॥

Sūta said—

In the seven continents of Plakṣa and others, there are seven huge mountains in each one of the continent. They are spreading straight in all the directions and mark the boundaries of the great continents.

प्लक्षद्वीपे तु वक्ष्यामि सप्त दिवयान् महाचलान्।

Now, I shall speak about the seven mountains of Plakṣdvīpa. Gomedaka is the first mountain. Cāndra is the second one, Nārada is the third, Dundubhi is the fourth. Somaka is the fifth, Sumanaka is the sixth which is also called Vaibhava. Seventh is the Vaibhrāja. These are the special mountains in the Plakṣa continent.

In the Śalmāli continent, there are also seven mountains which are known by the names of Kumuda, Uttama, Balāhaka, Drona, Kaṅka and Kukudmān. There are seven sub-continents and the seven Kulaparbatas about which I am going to speak out in brief. Vidruma is the first mountain, Hemaparvata is the second, Dyutimān is the third, Puṣpita is the fourth, Kuśesaya is the fifth, Harigiri is the sixth and Mandara mountain is the seventh. This is the dwelling place of lord Śiva. Mandara is the name of waters. Therefore, it is water as well, which has earned it the name of Mandara. This is the dwelling place of lord Mahādeva.

The bull-bannered lord Śiva who is the lord of the universe, himself lives here in a golden palace together with Nandī and Umā.

In earlier times, in the immensely auspicious Avimukta region, lord Maheśvara was pleased with the tapas performed by Mandara as a result of which he had received a boon. Then, Mandara had prayed to lord Śiva, requested to stay there with Umā and Nandī. Therefore, they never leave this mountain.

In the Krauñca continent also, there are the seven mountains which are known by the names of Krauñca, Vāmanaka, Andhakāraka, Divāvṛta, Vivinda, Puṇḍarīka and Dundubhisvan. All the seven mountains in the Krauñca continents are gem like and are filled with gems.

In the Śākadvīpa also, there are seven mountains. They are known by the names of Udaya, Raivata, Śtāmaka, Rājata, Āmbikeya and Ramya. All these mountains are full of saffron as well as the medicinal plants. Because of these, the saffron-scented wind is produced there.

In the Puṣkara continent, there is a single great mountain which is known by the name of Mahāśaila. Its wonderful peaks are filled with diamonds. It has a large number of nets of the stone rocks. The half of the eastern part of this continent is raised up with various high peaks. It is raised fifty thousand yojanas above the grand surface. This great mountain has sunk into the surface of the earth to the depth of thirty four thousand yojanas. This mountain is spread over half of the continent towards the north, over the chain of the Mānasa mountain. When it is squeezed over the seashore, it looks like the rising moon. It is raised to the height of twenty five thousand yojanas from the ground surface. Its total width and the circumference is equally wide. The western part of the continent is known as the Manasa of this continent. It has been broken and divided into two due to its location.

The mountain Manasa has two Janapadas known by the names of Puṇya and Śubha, which shine like the silver. The sub-continent of Mānasa is located outside it. In the interior of the same, there is a janapada of Dhātakī khaṇḍa.

The continent of Puṣkara is surrounded by the ocean of the sweet water. The area of this continent is as big as the area of the Puṣkara continent. Thus, all the seven continents are surrounded by the seven oceans. Thus, there are in all seven oceans.

द्वीपस्यानन्तरो यस्तु समुद्रः सप्तस्तु वै ।
एवं द्वीपसमुद्राणां वृद्धिर्ज्ञेया परस्परम्॥२९॥

The seven oceans are outside all the seven continents. Thus, a comparative picture has been drawn of the oceans and the continents.

परेण पुष्करस्याथ अनुवृत्य स्थितो महान् ।

The ocean of sweet water has enveloped Puṣkara from all the sides.

परेण तस्य महती दृश्यते लोकसंस्थितिः ।

The universe is located outside it. It has the land of gold which is double in area. All of them can be equated with a mountain.

तस्याः परेण शैलस्तु मर्यादापारमण्डलः ।
प्रकाशश्चाप्रकाशश्च लोकालोकः स उच्यते॥ ३२॥

Beyond that is the globular mountain of delimitation. It is partially dim and partially bright and is called Lokāloka.

दृश्यादृश्यगिरियावित्तावदेषा धरा द्विजाः ।
योजनानां सहस्राणि दश तस्योच्छ्रयः स्मृतः॥ ३३॥

This earth abides as long as this visible and invisible mountain exists. Its height is said to be then thousand yojanas.

तावांश्च विस्तरस्तस्य लोकालोकमहागिरेः ।
अर्वाचीने तु तस्यार्थे चरंति रविरशमयः॥ ३४॥

The area of the lokāloka mountain is also the same. The sun rays pass over its inner and the nether half.

परार्थे तु तमो नित्यं लोकालोकस्ततः स्मृतः ।
एवं संक्षेपतः प्रोक्तो भूर्लोकस्य च विस्तरः॥ ३५॥

In its other half, there is a perpetual darkness which gives it the name of Lokāloka. Thus, the world Bhūr is explained adequately.

The Bhuvarloka extends upto the sun. O excellent sages, the Svaraloka extends upto Dhruva (pole star). There are seven wheels of the wind viz., Āvaha, Saṁvaha, Vivaha, Parāvaha and Parivaha. O Brāhmaṇas, these are the seven wheels of the wind. The clouds, the sun, moon, star, planets, seven sages (Great Bear) are located one over the other. The distance from the surface of the earth upto the pole star is fifteen hundred thousand yojanas.

The solar sphere is a hundred thousand yojanas above the surface of the earth. Above it is the chariot of the sun which is as vast as the sixteen thousand yojanas. The Meru is eighty four thousand yojanas above the surface of the earth. The Maharloka extends to a crore of yojanas above Dhruva. The Janaloka extends to two crores of yojanas beyond Maharloka. Tapoloka extends to four crores of yojanas beyond Janaloka. Beyond that the Brahmaloka extends to six cores of yojanas. In this cosmic egg, the holy words are found to be seven.

अथः सप्तलानां तु नरकाणां हि कोटयः ।
मायान्ताश्चैव घोराद्या अष्टाविंशतिरेव तु॥ ४४॥

Beneath the seven nether worlds, there are crores of hells. They are twenty eight in number beginning with Ghora and ending with Maya.

पापिनस्तेषु पच्यन्ते स्वस्वकर्मानुरूपतः ।
अवीच्यंतानि सर्वाणि रौरवाद्यानि तेषु च ॥४५॥

The sinful people, because of their evil deeds of the past, have to suffer there. There are the five hells starting from Raurava to Avīci.

हिरण्यगर्भसर्गश्च प्रसङ्गाद्विविस्तरात् ।
अण्डानामीदृशानां तु कोट्यो ज्ञेयाः सहस्राः ॥४७॥

Thus, I have described about the egg completely, besides the outer cover. In the relevant context, I have also described about the creation of Brahmā. It is also worth knowledge that among the egg, there are the hundreds and crores of eggs.

सर्वगत्वात्प्रधानस्य तिर्यगूर्ध्वमधस्तथा ।
अण्डेष्वेतेषु सर्वेषु भुवनानि चतुर्दशा ॥४८॥

As the Pradhāna is present in each and every egg, therefore, there are four lokas of eggs and there are fourteen lokas above and below. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, lord Śiva is the cause of the creation for all of them. Lord Śiva in the form of Aṣṭamūrti is present in all the eggs. In the outer covering of the eggs, in the āvaraṇa of the eggs, in the darkness and beyond darkness also, lord Śiva is found present. The most surprising thing is that the Aṣṭamūrti householders of the globe possessing the bodies or otherwise, form part of the body of lord Śiva, the divine prakṛti, the wife, Mahat and others are all his procreations. The Pasus who are proud of their bodies, serve individually as his servants.

Lord Śiva is beyond measure. He is beyond beginning or the end. He is known as Puruṣa. He possesses the divine tattvas starting from Pradhāna. His body itself is Pradhāna. There are the sixteen limbs of the body. He himself is Maheśvara and Aṣṭamūrti.

With the strength of his command, the earth is stable. All the clouds, mountains, oceans, stars etc. besides Indra and other gods – aerial, mobile and immobile are well-disciplined.

दृष्ट्वा यक्षं लक्षणैर्हीनमीशं
दृष्टा सेन्द्रास्ते किमेतत्त्वहेति ।
यक्षं गत्वा निश्चयात्मपावकाद्याः
शक्तिक्षीणश्चाभवन्यत्तोपि ॥५५॥

All the gods including Indra, getting surprised, discarding their own respective qualities, spotted lord Śiva in the form of a Yakṣa and asked– “What is this?” All of them went to the Yakṣa but failed to arrive at a conclusion. The god of fire and others tried thus best to know about him, but their entire strength was faded out.

दग्धुं तृणं वापि समक्षमस्य
यक्षस्य वह्निं शशाकं विप्राः ।
वार्युस्तृणं चालयितुं तथान्ये स्वान्-
स्वान्नप्रभावान् सकलामरेन्द्राः ॥५६॥

O Brāhmaṇas, the fire god could not burn even a single straw before the Yakṣa. The wind god could not move the star for a moment. All the gods made their utmost efforts to move it, but failed in their efforts.

तदा स्वयं वृत्ररिपुः सुरेन्द्रैः
सुरेश्वरः सर्वसमृद्धिहेतुः ।
सुरेश्वरं यक्षमुवाच को वा
भवानितीत्थं स कुतूहलात्मा ॥५७॥

At that point of time, Indra, the lord of gods, who is the cause of the benefit of all, asked the straw- “Who are you?”

तदा ह्यदृश्यं गत एव यक्ष-
स्तदांबिका हैमवती शुभास्या ।
उमा शुभैराभरणैरनेकैः सुशोभ-
माना त्वनु चाविरासीत् ॥५८॥

At the same time, the Yakṣa disappeared. Then Ambikā – the daughter of Himavat, adorned with all the ornaments, appeared there.

तां शक्रमुख्या बहुशोभमाना-
मुमामजां हैमवतीमपृच्छन् ।
किमेतदीशे बहुशोभमाने को
वांबिके यक्षवपुश्चकास्ति ॥५९॥

Indra then asked the beautiful Umā- “O goddess, O beautiful goddess, who is the person appearing in the body of Yakṣa?”

निशम्य तद्यक्षमुमाम्बिकाह
त्वगोचरश्चेति सुराः सशक्राः ।

प्रणेमुरेनां मृगराजगामिनी-
मुमामजां लोहितशुक्लकृष्णा ॥६०॥

On hearing this, Umā replied- “He is invisible Yakṣa. The Deva including Indra then bowed down to that deity, having the gait of a lion and to Umā, unborn, and of red, white and black colour.

संभाविता सा सकलामरेन्द्रैः
सर्वप्रवृत्तिस्तु सुरासुराणाम् ।
अहं पुरासं प्रकृतिश्च पुंसो
यक्षस्य चाज्ञावशगेत्यथाह ॥६१॥

On being honoured by all the leading immortal beings, the deity, the cause of activity of the Devas and the Asuras said- “Formerly, I was Prakṛti, subservient to the command of the Puruṣa – the Yakṣa.

तस्माद्विजाः सर्वमजस्य तस्य
नियोगतश्चाण्डमभूदजाद्वै ।
अजश्च अण्डादखिलं च तस्मात्
ज्योतिर्गणैर्लोकमजात्मकं तत् ॥६२॥

Therefore, O Brāhmaṇas, the entire egg originated from the unborn at his command and from the egg originated Brahmā. The entire world originated from him along with the luminaries. Thus, the universe is identical with the unborn Aja.

Sūta said—

Observing the movements of the planets, visualising the holy centres of the lord, I shall mention about the movements of luminaries within the cosmic egg succinctly.

मानसोपरि माहेन्द्री प्राच्यां भेरोः पुरी स्थिता ।

Towards the north of the Meru mountain, the city of Mahendra is lodged. The city of Yama is lodged to the south. The, city of Varuṇa is located to the west. The abode of Soma (moon) is lodged to the north. The Dikpālas live on all the directions. The names of the cities are Amarāvatī, Saṁyamanī, Sukhā and Vibhā respectively.

Above the cities of the Dikpālas, the sun moves in the dakṣināyana. During the Dakṣināyana, the sun moves with the speed of an arrow. It makes the planets and constellations to move with it.

पुरांतगो यदा भानुः शक्रस्य भवतिप्रभुः ।

सर्वैः सांयमनैः सौरो ह्युदयो दृश्यते द्विजाः ॥६॥

O Brāhmaṇas, on the arrival of the sun

god in the city of Amarāvatī, then the sunrise is visible in the city of Saṁyamanī to all the people.

स एव सुखवत्यां तु निशांतस्थः प्रदृश्यते ।

अस्तमेति पुनः सूर्यो विभायां विश्वदृग्विभुः ॥७॥

At the same time, the sun would be visible in the city of Sukhāvati as the end of the night. But in the city of Vibhā, the sun can be seen as setting.

मया प्रोक्तोमरावत्यां यथासौ वारितस्करः ।

तथा संयमनीं प्राप्य सुखां चैव विभां खगः ॥८॥

I have told you that as the water is polluted in Amarāvatī, so is the case with Saṁyamanī, Sukhā and Vibhā.

When in the south-east corner, there is noon time, at the same time in the south-west, it is the sunrise. When it is the dead of night in the north-west, then in the north-east it is the first part of the night. Similarly, when the sun moves about in the middle of Puṣkara towards the mountain to the north of Mānasa, it covers the thirteenth part of the earth in a Muhūrta or forty eight minutes. Understand this number in yojanas covered in a Muhūrta.

पूर्णा शतसहस्राणामेकत्रिंशतु सा स्मृता ।

पञ्चाशत्त्वं तथान्यानि सहस्राण्यधिकानि तु ॥१२॥

मौहूर्तिकी गतिर्हेषा भास्करस्य महात्मनः ।

कुलालचक्रपर्यतो यथा शीघ्रं प्रवर्तते।
दक्षिणप्रक्रमे देवस्तथा शीघ्रं प्रवर्तते॥१७॥

The speed of the noble-souled sun in a Muhūrta is three million one hundred and fifty thousand yojanas. When the sun moves to the southern quarter with this speed from the north through the middle of Puṣkara during his northern transit and when he moves into the northern direction from the south through the Mānasa hill in the course of his southern transit, he, of great splendour, passes over a hundred and eighty mandalas (degrees of space). The northern and southern transits are called the exterior and the interior parts of celestial sphere. The sun moves through the 180 mandalas daily, both ways. Just as the end of the potter's wheel whirls or move quickly (than its middle part), the lord sun traverses quickly in his southern transit.

तस्मात्प्रकृष्टं भूमिं तु कालेनाल्पेन गच्छति।
सूर्यो द्वादशभिः शीघ्रं मुहूर्तेऽर्दक्षिणायने॥१८॥
त्रयादेशार्थमृक्षाणमहा तु चरते रविः।
मुहूर्तेस्तावदृक्षाणि नक्षमष्टादशैश्वरन्॥१९॥

Therefore, he covers greater area in a short time. During the course of Dakṣināyana (southern transit), the sun traverses to the extent of thirteen and a half star space during the day time in only twelve muhūrtas, while during the night time of eighteen muhūrta, he covers as many star space.

कुलालचक्रमध्यं तु यथा मंदं प्रसर्पति।
तथोदगयने सूर्यः सर्पते मंदविक्रमः॥२०॥

Just as the middle of the potter's wheel moves more slowly than the end part of it, so also in the uttarāyana (northern transit), the sun moves slowly.

तस्माद्दीर्घेण कालेन भूमिमल्पां तुगच्छति।
स रथो धिष्ठितो भानोरादित्यैर्मुनिभिस्तथा॥२१॥
गंधवैरप्सरोभिश्च ग्रामणीः सर्पराक्षसैः।

ऊर्ध्वतश्च करं त्यक्त्वा सभां ब्राह्मीमनुत्तमाम्।
अंभोभिर्मुनिभिस्त्वक्तः संध्यायां तु निशाचरान्॥२३॥

Therefore, the sun covers smaller area in course of a longer time. The chariot of the sun is occupied by the Ādityas, Sages, Gandharvas, Apsarās, Serpents and the Rākṣasas. The thousand-rayed sun emits his rays in front, behind, below and above. Therefore, he illuminates the excellent assembly of Brahmā. During the evening and the day break, the Brāhmaṇas and the sages offer water libations and with these water, the sun kills the demons as and when they come near him and then goes on.

हत्वा हत्वा तु संप्रासान्ब्राह्मणैश्वरते रविः।
अष्टादशां मुहूर्तं तु उत्तरायणपश्चिमम्॥२४॥
अहर्भवति तच्चापि चरते मंदविक्रमः।
त्रयोदशार्थमृक्षाणि नक्षं द्वादशभी रविः।
मुहूर्तेस्तावदृक्षाणि दिवाष्टादशभिश्वरन्॥२५॥

During the latter part of the uttarāyana, the day extends to eighteen muhūrtas, during which the sun moves slowly. He covers the span of thirteen and a half stars during the night consisting of twelve muhūrtas and as many stars during the day comprising of eighteen muhūrtas.

ततो मंदतरं नाभ्यां चक्रं भ्रमति वै यथा।
मृत्पिंड इव मध्यस्थो ध्रुवो भ्रमति वै तथा॥२६॥

Just as the wheel whirls slowly at the centre, so also Dhruva whirls like lump of clay in the middle.

त्रिंशन्मुहूर्तैरेवाहुरहोरात्रं पुराविदः ।
उभयोः काष्ठयोर्मध्ये भ्रमतो मण्डलानि तु॥२७॥
कुलालचक्रनाभिस्तु यथा तत्रैव वर्तते ।
औत्तानपादो भ्रमति ग्रहैः सार्थं ग्रहाग्रणीः॥२८॥

Those who are well aware of the ancient lores, say that thirty muhūrtas constitute a day and a night during which the sun traverses in space in-between the two limits or the solstitial points. Just as the nave of the wheel of the poster remains there alone which does not move, so also Dhruva rotates without moving as the leader of the luminaries along with the planets.

गणो मुनिज्योतिषां तु मनसा तस्य सर्पति ।

The group of the sages and the luminaries move in accordance with his mind. Presided over by him, the sun, together with the wind, takes up water from everywhere. The son of Uttānapāda attained the state of Dhruva with the favour of lord Viṣṇu. It was achieved by Uttānapāda by the grace of his father. The water's dried by the sun penetrate the moon gradually and from the moon, they drip down to the clouds. After having been tossed about by the wind, the cluster of clouds causes showers on earth. The Bhāskara is derived as follows : Bhāsayet tena bhāskarāḥ (the one who illuminates is bhāskara). There is no destruction of water. The same water revolves.

For the welfare of the creatures, the waters have been evolved by Śiva as their ultimate resort. The water alone constitute bhū, bhavaḥ, svāḥ, anna (cooked rice) as well as nectar. The waters are the vital breaths of the worlds, the living beings and the worlds as a whole. Of what avail is much talk? The world comprising of mobile and immobile is created by the waters. Lord Śiva is the overlord of the water. He is glorified as such. The universe is identified with him. What is there to be wondered at this? The title of Nārāyaṇa was achieved by Viṣṇu by the grace of waters. Viṣṇu is the abode of the worlds and the water happens to be his abode. When the mobile and immobile beings are being burnt by the fire and tossed up as the smoke by the wind, the vapours that go up with the force of the wind, form the clouds.

अतो धूमाग्निवातानां संयोगस्त्वध्रमुच्यते ।
वारीणि वर्षतीत्यध्रमध्रस्येशः सहस्रदृक्॥३९॥

यज्ञधूमोद्दं चापि द्विजानां हितकृत्सदा।
दावाग्निधूमसंभूतमध्रं वनहितं स्मृतम्॥४०॥

As a result of this, the combination of smoke, fire and the wind is known as the cloud. The word abhra – the cloud, is formed as follows :– “that which showers water.” The lord of the clouds is thousand-eyed Indra. The clouds originate from the sacrificial smoke conducive to the welfare of the twice born. The clouds also originate from the smoke of the forest fires which are conducive to the welfare of the forests.

मृतधूमोद्दवं त्वध्रमशुभाय भविष्यति।
अभिचाराग्निधूमोत्थं भूतनाशाय वै द्विजाः॥४१॥

O Brāhmaṇas, the clouds also originate from the dead bodies, from the cremation grounds which are inauspicious. The clouds formed out of the smoke, caused by the magic fire, destroy the living beings.

एवं धूमविशेषेण जगतां वै हिताहितम्।
तस्मादाच्छादयेदधूमभिचारकृतं नरः॥४२॥

Thus, the clouds are formed with the smoke of various kinds of fires which do good or bad to the people. Therefore, the people should cover the smoke of the magic fire.

अनाच्छाद्य द्विजः कुर्यादधूमं यश्चाभिचारिकम्।
एवमुद्दिश्य लोकस्य क्षयकृच्च भविष्यति॥४३॥

In case, a twice born (Brāhmaṇa) does not cover up the smoke of the magic fire, then he becomes the cause for the destruction of the universe.

अपां निधानं जीमूताः पष्मासानिह सुब्रताः।
वर्षयंत्येव जगतां हिताय पवनाज्ञया॥४४॥

O excellent one, the clouds are the receptacles of water which is showered at the behest of the wind for six months for the welfare of the universe.

स्तनितं चेह वायव्यं वैद्युतं पावकोद्दवम्।
त्रिधा तेषामिहोत्पत्तिरभ्राणां मुनिपुङ्गवा॥४५॥

Lightening is created with the forceful striking of the wind with the clouds It is caused by the fire (as well). O sages, the clouds are caused in three ways.

न भ्रश्यन्ति यतोभ्राणि मेहनान्मेघ उच्यते।
काष्ठा वाह्नाश्च वैरिच्याः पक्षाश्चैव पृथग्विधाः॥४६॥
आज्यानां काष्ठसंयोगादग्नेर्धूमः प्रवर्तितः।
द्वितीयानां च संभूतिर्विर्चोच्छ्वासवायुना॥४७॥
भूभूतां त्वथ पक्षैस्तु मधवच्छेदितैस्ततः।
वाहेयास्त्वथ जीमूतास्त्वावहस्थानगाः शुभाः॥४८॥

(The word) Abhra means the one which does not vanish. The word Megha has its roots in the word Mahana. Therefore, the word Megha means the source which drops the rain water. The Megha or the clouds are of different types. As for example, Kāṣṭhā, Vāhnā, Viricya and Puṣkara. When the smoke is formed from the yajña sticks which are soaked in ghee, when they are put in fire and the clouds which are formed out of the smoke of the same, are considered to be the clouds of the first quality. The second quality of the clouds are those which are formed out of the breath of Brahmā. The third type of clouds are formed with the severing of the wings of the mountains by Indra. The clouds which are formed out of the smoke from fire, are considered to be quite auspicious and these are carried by the part of the wind named Āvaha.

विरिचोच्छ्वासजाः सर्वे प्रवहस्कंधजास्ततः।

मेघा योजनमात्रं तु साध्यत्वाद्वहुतोयदाः॥५२॥
धरापृष्ठाद्विजाः क्षमायां विद्युदगुणसमन्विताः।

The clouds emerging out of the breath of Brahmā are carried by the part of the wind known as Pravaha. The clouds which emerge out of the wings are known as Puṣkara, besides the other clouds, drop the rain. These clouds when drop the rain, then they are peaceful, thundering and destructive, respectively. The different types of clouds pour the rains differently. Some clouds drop drizzles, some of the clouds blow cool breeze for long time. Some of them are the Jīvakas. Some of them are weak and are devoid of light or lightning. Some of clouds float a krośa about the surface of the earth. Such clouds drop excessive rains on earth because it is possible for them to do so. They are full of light.

तेषा तेषां वृष्टिसर्गं त्रेधा कथितमत्र तु॥५३॥

आग्नेयानां शासजानां पक्षजानां द्विर्जभाः।
जलदानां सदा धूमो ह्याप्यायन इति स्मृतः॥५६॥

I have apprised you all of the three types of clouds which drop rain. With severed wings of the mountains, the Pakṣaja clouds are formed and are known as Pakṣaja. They are also called Kalpajas. These clouds drop rain at night. During the time of dissolution at the end of kalpa when Pakṣaja and Puṣkara clouds drop rain, then the entire earth is turned into an ocean and the lord sleeps in the ocean at night. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the clouds that are formed out of the smoke from the fire, the clouds which are formed from breathing and the Pakṣaja clouds, the smoke emerging out of the same is quite productive.

पौण्ड्रास्तु वृष्टयः सर्वा वैद्युताः शीतसस्यदाः।
पुण्ड्रदेशेषु पतिता नागानां शीकरा हिमाः॥५७॥

The clouds of the Pañḍra country drop rain with lightning. The rainfall in such a case is accompanied with lightning and are quite cold. Therefore, they are useful for farming. They are as cold as the ice. They like the shower of water by the elephants of Pañḍra country from their trunks.

गाङ्गा गङ्गाम्बुसंभूता पर्जन्येन परावहैः।
नगानां च नदीनां च दिग्गजानां समाकुलम्॥५८॥

The clouds named Gāṅgā are formed out of the water of the Gāṅgā. In the area in which the river flows, they disturb the mountain streams as well as the directions.

मेघानां च पृथग्भूतं जलं प्रायादगादगम्।
परावहो यः श्वसनश्चानयत्यम्बिकागुरुम्॥५९॥

When the rain water is separated from the clouds, it flows from one mountain to the other. The flow of the winds carries the clouds towards the Himavat mountain.

मेनापतिमतिक्रम्य वृष्टिशेषं द्विजाः परम्।
अभ्येति भारते वर्षे त्वपरान्तविवद्ये॥६०॥

O Brāhmaṇas, the clouds then crossing the Himālaya, drops rains in Bhāratavarṣa which benefit the crops here.

वृष्टयः कथिता ह्यद्य द्विधा वस्तुविवद्ये।
सस्यद्वयस्य संक्षेपात्प्रब्रवीमि यथामतिः॥६१॥

Now talking about the rainfall, I may tell you that it is two types. I shall speak about it according to my knowledge.

सूर्य भानुर्महातेजा वृष्टीनां विश्वदृग्विभुः।
 सोपि साक्षादद्विजश्रेष्ठाश्चेशानः परमः शिवः॥६२॥
 स एव तेजस्त्वोजस्तु बलं विप्रा यशः स्वयम्।

 सत्यं ऋतं वायुरं बरं खचरश्च सः।
 लोकपालो हरिर्ब्रह्मा रुद्रः साक्षान्महेश्वरः॥६४॥

The immensely illustrious sun is the source of the rains. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the sun also represents Hara, Isāna and Śiva. He alone represents lustre, prowess, strength, glory, eyes, ears, mind, death, soul, pride, the directions, wind, sky, planets, Lokapālas, Hari, Brahmā, Rudra and Parameśvara.

सहस्रकिरणः श्रीमानष्टहस्तः सुमङ्गलः।

 ग्रहान्त्रिस्सूत्य कृत्त्वे सूर्यात् नक्षत्रमण्डले।
 चारस्यान्ते विशत्यर्के ध्रुवेण समधिष्ठिता॥६८॥

Thus, lord Śiva with a thousand rays is quite auspicious. He has eight hands. Half of his body is that of a female and has three eyes. He is the lord of gods. O Brāhmaṇas, by his grace alone, there is various types of rains on earth. The sun collects the water with its rays and return the water a thousand times more. The water is neither wasted nor is it increased. This is what we feel. The wind presided by Dhruva prevents the rain. It falls over the sun and issuing from the sun planet, is spread in the constellations. At the end of the same, it again enters the sun, presided by Dhruva.

Chapter 55

Description of the movements of the Sun

सूत उवाच

सौरं संक्षेपतो वक्ष्ये रथं शशिन् एव च ।
ग्रहणामित्तरेषां च यथा गच्छति चांबुपः ॥१॥
सौरस्तु ब्रह्मणा सृष्टो रथस्तवर्थवशेन सः ।
संवत्सरस्यावयवैः कल्पितश्च द्विजर्षभाः ॥२॥

Sūta said—

I shall now speak out briefly about chariot of the sun, the moon and the other planets. I shall also discuss about the movements of the sun, who drinks the water. Brahmā has built the chariot of the sun with a specific purpose. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, it has been made with the parts of the year.

त्रिणाभिना तु चक्रेण पञ्चारेण समन्वितः ।
सौवर्णः सर्वदेवानामावासो भास्करस्य तु ॥३॥
नवयोजनसाहस्रो विस्तारायामतः स्मृतः ।
द्विगुणोपि रथोपस्थादीषादण्डः प्रमाणतः ॥४॥
असङ्गस्तु हयैर्युक्तो यतश्चक्रं ततः स्थितैः ।
वाजिनस्तस्य वै सप्त छन्दोभिर्निर्मितास्तु ते ॥५॥

The golden chariot of the sun is the abode of all the gods. It has three naves and five spokes. Its length is a thousand yojanas and similar is its breadth. Twice this length is the distance between the driver's box and the pole shaft. The horses are stationed on the side where the wheel is lying. They are unattached, but appear to have been yoked. The number of horses is seven. They are enveloped out of the Vedic passages and the metres.

चक्रपक्षे निबद्धास्तु ध्रुवे चाक्षः समर्पितः ।
सहाश्चक्रो भ्रमते सहाक्षो भ्रमते ध्रुवः ॥६॥

The horses are bound to the side of the wheels. The axle is filled to the pole shaft. The chariot revolves with the wheel and the horses and the pole shaft revolves along with the axle.

अक्षः सहैकचक्रेण भ्रमते ऽसौ धूवेरितः ।
प्रेरको ज्योतिषां धीमान् धूवो वै वातरश्मिभिः ॥७॥

The axle prompted by the pole shaft whirls along with the single wheel. It is the intelligent pole star (Dhruva) which urges the luminaries by means of the wind and the rays (or the wind which serves as the reins).

युगाक्षकोटिसंबद्धौ द्वौ रश्मी स्यन्दनस्य तु ।
धूवेण भ्रमते रश्मि निबद्धः स युगाक्षयोः ॥८॥

There are two reins in the chariot which is tied up to the extremities of the yoke and axle. The chariot is tied by means of the reins to the yoke and the axle revolves by the grace of Dhruva.

भ्रमतो मण्डलानि स्युः खेचरस्य रथस्य तु ।
युगाक्षकोटी ते तस्य दक्षिणे स्यन्दनस्य हि ॥९॥

As the chariot whirls and moves along the sky, there shall be lustre in bright circles. The ends of the yoke and the axles are to the right of the chariot.

धूवेण प्रगृहीते वै विचक्राश्चे च रज्जुभिः ।
भ्रमतमनुगच्छन्ति धूवं रश्मी च तावुभौ ॥१०॥

When the horses are pulled beyond the Dhruva, by the reins, both the yoke and the axle as also the reins follow the pole shafts and the wheels.

युगाक्षकोटिस्त्वेतस्य वातोर्मिस्यन्दनस्य तु ।
कीले सक्ता यथा रज्जुभ्रमते सर्वतोदिशम् ॥११॥
भ्राम्यतस्तस्य रश्मी तु मण्डलेषूत्तरायणे ।
वर्धेते दक्षिणे चैव भ्रमता मण्डलानि तु ॥१२॥
आकृष्येते यदा ते वै धूवेणाधिष्ठितेतदा ।
आभ्यन्तरस्थः सूर्योथ भ्रमते मण्डलानि तु ॥१३॥

The ends of the pole and the axle of the chariot which has the steed of wind, whirls in all the directions like a rope fixed to the nail. In the course of uttarāyana as the chariot moves about in the maṇḍalas, the reins increase in size since they are let loose. In the course of Dakṣipāyana when the chariot moves about in the maṇḍalas, the reins are pulled inwards. In either case, the reins are operated by Dhruva and then the sun seated within, moves about in the maṇḍalas.

अशीतिमण्डलशतं काष्ठयोरंतरं द्वयोः ।
धूवेण मुच्यमानाभ्यां रश्मिभ्यां पुनरेव तु ॥१४॥
तथैव बाह्यतः सूर्यो भ्रमते मण्डलानि तु ।
उद्देष्यन् स वेगेन मण्डलानि तु गच्छति ॥१५॥

The distance between the two solstices consists of one hundred and eighty degrees. The sun moves about the maṇḍalas externally as the reins are being released by Dhruva. He then encircles the maṇḍalas moving quickly.

देवाश्वैव तथा नित्यं मुनयश्च दिवानिशम् ।
यजंति सततं देवं भास्करं भवमीश्वरम् ॥१६॥

The gods and the sages constantly worship lord Bhāskara who himself is Bhava and Īśvara or the day and night.

स रथोधिष्ठितो देवैरादित्यैर्मुनिभिस्तथा ।
गंधर्वैरप्सरोभिश्च ग्रामणीसर्पराक्षसैः ॥१७॥

The chariot is occupied by the Devas, Ādityas, Sages, Gandharvas, Apsarās and the Snakes, besides the Rākṣasas and Grāmanīs.

एते वसन्ति वै सूर्ये द्वौ द्वौ मासौ क्रमेण तु ।
आप्याययन्ति चादित्यं तेजोभिर्भास्करं शिवम् ॥१८॥

These reside within the sun for two months in succession, besides developing and nourishing the auspicious sun by means of their splendour.

ग्रथितैः स्वैर्वचोभिस्तु स्तुवन्ति मुनयोर विम्।
गंधर्वाप्सरसश्चैव नृत्यगेयैरूपासते॥१९॥

The sages eulogise the sun reciting the hymns. The Gandharvas and Apsarās adore him with dance and music.

ग्रामणीयक्षभूतानि कुवतेऽभीषुसंग्रहम्।
सर्पा वहन्ति वै सूर्यं यातुधानानुयांति च॥२०॥

The Grāmaṇīs, Yakṣas and Bhūtas hold the rains. The serpents bear the sun and the Rākṣasas follow him.

बालखिल्या नयंत्यस्तं परिवार्योदयाद्रविम्।
इत्येते वै वसंतीह द्वौ द्वौ मासौ दिवाकरे॥२१॥

The Bālakhilyas, surround the sun, from the sun rise to the sun set and accompany him. In this way, all of them reside in the sun for two months in succession.

These are the seven groups of seven each and each one of them is proud of its position. In all the seven oceans, two of each of these groups occupy the sun for two months, as detailed below :—

These deities accompany the sun for two months each time in different groups as indicated above. These twelve are the governing forces during the twelve months of the solar year.

These deities nourish and develop the sun by their respective lustre. The sages eulogise the sun, reciting the hymns of the Vedas. The Gandharvas and the Apsarās adore the sun with their dance, music and songs. The Grāmaṇīs including the Yakṣas and goblins hold the reins of the horses of the sun's chariot. The serpents carry the sun. The Yātudhānas or Rākṣasas follow the sun's chariot. The Bālakhilyās surround the sun from sunrise to the sunset and carry him from Udayācala (the mountain of rising sun to the Aṣṭācala – the mountain of the setting sun.

Whatever the lustre, tapas, yoga, mantra and prowess are possessed by each one of them, it is combined and makes the sun to shine. All of them accompany the sun with each one of the groups.

The sages, the gods, Gandharvas, serpents, the attendants of Apsarās, Grāmanīś, Yakṣas and Yātudhānas, are heated up particularly, pour the rain water, shine brightly, move on, create and remove the inauspicious deeds of the living beings and have been described accordingly.

मानवानां शुभं होते हरंति च दुरात्मनाम् ।

They remain proud of their positions in the Manvantaras.

They live with the sun in the groups of fourteen, in all the fourteen Manvantaras.

These seven groups of twelve deities in each one of the groups are those who take pride in their positions and identify themselves with them. They accompany the sun for two months each in the same order, as brought out above.

Description of the Moon

Sūta said—

The moon traverses in his orbit with the constellations. His chariot has three wheels and the horses are yoked on it's either side. The chariot moves on three wheels and each wheel has a hundred spokes in it. The horses are on both the sides of it. The colour of the horses is white and they are divine and well-built. They are not bound with the yoke and they move with the speed of the mind. The moon moves over the chariot in the company of the gods and the manes. The white rays that are issued by the moon, appear like the water fountain.

It increases gradually in the bright fortnight and falls on the way of the sun. It goes on increasing in the beginning of the bright half of the month. The sun nourishes and develops the moon. During the dark fortnight, the gods consume the moon and the process goes on for fifteen days. The sun with the use of his only Suṣumā ray, energises the process of development of the moon. In this way, the body of the moon is developed and built up with the lustre of the sun.

Full lunar disc of the moon is visible on the full moon day. Then, starting from the second of the moon's fortnight to the fourteenth day of the black fortnight, the gods consume the liquid nectar and honey of the moon, which are accumulated in the moon during the bright fortnight. During the fall moon night, the gods are seated with the moon for consuming the nectar. They are also accompanied with the Rsis and the manes.

The moon rays, wait for the arrival of the dark fortnight in due course of time. The gods, numbering thirty six thousand and three hundred, consume the moon. In the dark fortnight, when all the gods leave after consuming the moon, then the nectar left with the moon after the moonless period, the manes consume the remaining nectar till the first day of the bright fortnight.

When in the last digit the fifteenth part of the nectar is left out, then in the afternoon, the manes arrive before the moon and consume the nectar of the moon upto two digits and on the moonless night, they consume the nectar emerging from the moon. In spite of consuming the nectar, they feel satisfied for a complete month and then leave the place. The moon digits, which are left out after the consumption of the moon, is melted out. The decline and development of the moon digits start at the beginning and end of the fortnight. Thus, the development in the moon is caused by the sun.

Sūta said—

The chariot of Budha – the son of the moon, is driven by eight horses. They are of tawny colour and are quite excellent. The chariot comprises of the lustre of water and fire. In the chariot of Śukrācārya (Venus), ten strong horses of different colours are yoked. It is earthen in nature. The chariot of Bhauma (Mars) is of golden colour and eight horses are yoked in it, which is quite splendid. The horse of Jīva (Jupiter) is also of golden colour and is driven by eight steed. The chariot of Manda (Saturn) is made of iron and has ten black steed to drive it. The chariot is watery in nature. The chariots of Rāhu and Ketu are yoked with eight horses, each. All these planets are linked to Dhruva (Pole Star) by reins which are of the form of wind. They are made to whirl by the Pole Star and they keep on moving.

यावन्त्यश्वैव ताराश्च तावन्तश्वैव रश्मयः ।
 सर्वे धूवनिबद्धाश्च भ्रमन्तो भ्राम्यन्ति तम् ॥६॥

As is the case with the stars, there are many rays as well. All of them are bound with the pole star and revolve round it.

The stars and the other luminaries are activated by the circular winds, which move like the fire brands. Since, the wind controls the luminaries, it is called Pravaha.

Together with the planets and the constellations, the sun and the stars occupy the space in a circle looking upwards and sideways.

All the constellations are controlled by Dhruva and they go round it. They move in the sky to have an audience with Dhruva that acts like a pivot.

The abode of Rāhu is filled with darkness and is the third one in size because it is evolved out of the circular shadow of the earth.

The expansion of Śukra (Venus) is sixteenth part of the moon, in diameter, circumference and the distance in yojanas.

The Jupiter is of three fourth of the size of Venus. Mars and Saturn are the three fourths of the size of Br̥haspati (Jupiter). Budha, on the other hand, is three fourth of their size in extent and circumference. The stars and the constellations are equal to Budha in extent and circumference. The knower of the truth must understand that the stars which are in conjunction with the moon, are usually known as R̥ksas. The extent of the comparatively smaller stars, extend to five, four, three or two yojanas. Besides these, there are still clusters of smaller stars which extend only to two hundred yojanas. There is none smaller than this.

Besides the stray spheres, there are the three planets viz. : Saturn, Jupiter and Mars, which move at a great distance from them.

They are known as the slow moving stars. There are one fourth of the great planets, below them i.e. the sun, moon, mercury and Venus. Their movement is quite fast.

तावंत्यस्तारकाः कोट्यो यावंत्यूक्ताणिसर्वशः ।
धुवातु नियमाच्छेषामृक्षमार्गं व्यवस्थितिः ॥२१॥

The total number of stars could be many crores as there are constellations. They too are lodged in the orbit of constellations due to the restraining force of Dhruva.

The sun which has seven horses has an upper and lower position in turns. When the sun is in the northern journey and when the moon on the full moon nights appears rapidly, because its position is above, but the rays are not quite clear, the moon then is in the southern orbit that is lower. The sun is covered by the line of earth on full moon and on new moon days, is seen at the usual time but it sets quickly. Therefore, on the new moon day, the moon is in the northern orbit. It is usually not visible over the southern path on account of the movement of planets and more so because it is enveloped by the shadow of the sun. On the equinoctial days, the sun and the moon rise and set simultaneously.

In the *Uttarāyana*s, they rise and set without any difference in time on new moon and full moon days. They should then be known as following the groups of luminaries. When the sun is in the Dakṣināyana, it moves ahead beneath all other planets.

When a person gets aware of the fact that lord Viṣṇu is lodged in all these planets and constellations, he is liberated from all the sins. The sun and the moon which are united with divine refulgence move ahead day and night in due order two hundred thousand yojanas above the constellations, stars and the planets. They come into contact with the constellations daily. Therefore, they are stationed below, sometimes above and sometimes in the straight line. They glance at the subjects below at the same time when in conjunction or when separated. There are six seasons, but particularly they are of five types. They are inter-linked with each other, but they are united without covering one another. This what the people with wisdom speak about it. O Brāhmaṇas, thus I have discussed about the movement of the sun and other planets that has been seen or heard by me. The thousand-rayed Sun is the lord of all the planets, who was established over this position by Brahmā, born out of the lotus or Guha, who was crowned by Rudra. Therefore, for the realisation of the purpose and to ward off evils, at the time of harassment of the planets and the sun, the worship of planets should be performed by the noble people and offerings should be made in the fire in accordance with the provisions of the scriptures.

The fires are of three types viz. : divine fire, the elemental fire and the terrestrial fire. The night of Brahmā who was born of invisible one, was once spent and it was about to be the dawn. At that point of time, the visible sight of the world was one and had not been analysed. It had been enveloped with darkness at that point of time. When all the people were at the point of extinction and one fourth of the period had still been left,

Form of the sun rays

सूत उवाच

एतच्छ्रुत्वा तु मुनयः पुनस्तं संशयान्विताः ।
पप्रच्छुरुत्तरं भूयस्तदा ते रोमहर्षणम् ॥१॥

Sūta said-

On hearing this, the sages were filled with doubt and they spoke to Romaharṣaṇa again.

ऋषय ऊचुः

यदेतदुरुङ् भवता सुतेह बदतां वर ।
एतद्विस्तरतो ब्रूहि ज्योतिषां च विनिर्णयम् ॥२॥

The R̄ṣis said—

O Sūta, the best of the orators, you tell us in brief about the nature of the astrological activities and their nature exhaustively.

then Aja, who takes care of the functions of the world, roamed about here and there like a firefly, in order to establish himself. At the start of the universe, he had created the fire mixed with the earth and water. Brahmā then collected it for the sake of creating the light and with that end in view, he divided them all in three parts.

पवनो यस्तु लोकेस्मिन्पार्थिवो वह्निरुच्यते ।
यश्चासौ तपते सूर्ये शुचिरग्निस्तु स स्मृतः ॥१०॥
वैद्युतोब्जस्तु विज्ञेयस्तेषां वक्ष्ये तु लक्षणम् ।
वैद्युतो जाठरः सौरो वारिंगभास्त्रयोऽग्नयः ॥११॥

The fire in the world which was used by the people for their use, came to be known as Pārthiva or the terrestrial fire. The fire, which is resplendent in the sun, is known as Suci fire. The fire which emerges out of the lightning is called as Abja or born out of steam of the water. I shall now speak out their characteristics. The fire in the water is of three types viz. : Vaidyuta, Jāthara (gastric) and Saura i.e., Solar.

तस्मादपः पिबन्सूर्यो गोभिर्दीप्यत्यसौ विभुः ।

मानवानां च कुक्षिस्थो नाग्निः शास्यति पावकः ।
अर्चिष्मान्पवनः सोग्निर्निष्प्रभो जाठरः स्मृतः ॥१३॥

Because of this, the sun, consuming the water by its rays, shines. The fire which emerges out of the water at times cannot be extinguished even with the use of water. The fire that is lodged in the belly of the humans, cannot be extinguished with water. The head of that fire has the flame but is devoid of lustre. This is called Jātharāgni or the fire of the belly.

At the time of the sunrise, then its lustre is turned into a circular disc. There is no heat in it and its lustre by means of its rays enters the fire during the night. It is because of this fact that the shine of the fire during the night can be seen from a long distance. The heat from the fire is transmitted to the sun from fire at the sunrise. The terrestrial fire enters the sun only partially. Therefore, the fire continues to blaze. Thus, the fire absent in both the terrestrial and solar fires, contains heat and light. They penetrate mutually and develop each other. In the northern and southern hemispheres of the earth, the fire and the sun thus develop each other. The sun rises from the waters and re-enters them. Therefore, with the sun's exit from and into the waters, by day and by night, the waters become copper-coloured. Again when the sun sets, the day i.e. the light enters the waters. Therefore, at the night, the waters are seen shining white.

According to this process, he enters waters perpetually during day and night at the time of rising and setting both times in the southern and northern hemispheres. The sun who blazes, consumes the water with his rays in which the earth and the fire are both mixed up. It is called the divine fire or the Śuci.

The Śuci fire comprises of a thousand rays which resembles a circular vase. With his thousand rays, he sucks water from all the four quarters. He also collects water from the rivers, occurs, the wells and other sources, besides the mobile and immobile sources like the streams, lakes or tanks.

He has thousands of rays which comprise cold, rain and heat. Out of them, four hundred tubular rays have different colours. They shower rain. Their collective name is amṛta and their individual names include Bhajanas, Mālyas, Ketanas and Patanas.

The tubular rays carrying and emitting snows are known as Reśas, Meghas, Vātsyas and Hlādinīs. They are collectively known by the names of Candrabhas and the colour of their lustre is yellow.

The moon using the aforesaid rays feeds the humans, manes, besides the gods. He serves the humans with ausadhis, the manes with Svadhā and the gods with nectar. During the spring and summer seasons, the sun heats up with three hundred rays. He pours rain during the rainy and the winter seasons with four hundred tubular rays. During the end of winter season, the sun releases three hundred rays or produces the snow.

The number of the Ādityas is twelve, viz., Indra, Dhātā, Bhaga, Pūṣā, Mitra, Varuṇa, Aryamā, Amśu, Vivasvān, Tvaṣṭā, Parjanya and Viṣṇu. Varuṇa is said to be the sun in the month of Māgha. During the month of Phālguna, Pūṣā is the sun. During the month of Caitra, Amśu is the sun, Dhātā in the month of Vaiśākha, Indra in the month of Jyeṣṭha and Aryamā happens to be the sun in the month of Āśāḍha. During the month of Śrāvaṇa, Vivasvān is the sun, and during the month of Bhādrapada, Bhaga happens to be the sun. During the month of Aśvin, it is Parjanya and in Kārttika, it is Tvaṣṭā who officiates as the sun. Mitra officiates as the sun during Mārgaśīrṣa and in Pauṣa, Viṣṇu happens to be the sun.

Performing the duty of the sun, Varuṇa issues five thousand rays, Pūṣā issues six thousand rays. Arīṣā issues seven thousand rays, Dhātā issues eight thousand rays, Indra nine thousand rays, Vivasvān, ten thousand rays, Bhaga eleven thousand rays, Mitra seven thousand rays, Tvaṣṭā eight thousand rays, Aryamā ten thousand rays, Parjanya nine thousand rays and Viṣṇu six thousand rays on earth providing heat to the same.

During the spring season, the sun is of tawny colour and in the summer season, it has the lustre of gold. During the rainy season, the sun is of white colour. In the autumn, the sun is of grey colour. In the early winter, the sun has the colour of copper and in late winter, he is of red colour.

The sun infuses strength into the medicinal herbs. He propitiates the manes by means of Svadhā rays. He instils nectar into the immortal beings. Therefore, he imports three substances to three groups. The thousand rays of the sun serve the purpose of the world. Reaching the earth, they assume different forms, by emitting snow, rain and heat. Thus, the sphere of the sun is white and is named after him. He is the support and the source of the stars, planets and the moon. The moon, stars and the planets are all born of sun. The moon is the lord of constellations and the left eye of the lord. The right eye of the lord is the sun himself. The word nayana (eye) is derived from the root √ne – “that which leads (nayati) the people to this world.”

The Solar Maṇḍala (sphere)

सूत उवाच

शेषाः पञ्च ग्रहा ज्येया ईश्वराः कामचारिणाः । १

पठ्यते चाग्निरादित्य उदकं चन्द्रमाः स्मृतः ॥ १ ॥

Sūta said—

The sun in fact is the fire, while the moon is the water. The remaining five planets represent Īśvara, who move along at will. You should understand about the origin of the other planets about which I am going to describe quite clearly.

शेषाणां प्रकृतिं सम्यग्वक्ष्यमाणां निबोधत् ।
सुरसेनापतिः स्कंन्दः पठ्यते ऽङ्गारको ग्रहः ॥२॥

It has been claimed that the planet Mars is the commander of the celestial army who is known by the name of Skanda.

प्रजापतिसुतावृक्तौ ततः शुक्रबृहस्पती ।
आदित्यमूलमखिलं त्रैलोक्यं नात्र संशयः ॥५॥

The fully learned people say that the moon represents lord Nārāyaṇa. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, Saturn – the great planet, represents Yama, who moves slowly. He happens to be the lord of the lokas. The preceptors of the Daityas and the gods, known as Śukrācārya and Bṛhaspati, with enormous rays are the sons of Aṅgiras. There is absolutely no doubt in the statement that the sun happens to be the source of all the three worlds.

भवत्यस्माज्जगत्कृत्स्नं सदेवासुरमानुषम् ।
रुद्रेन्द्रोपेन्द्रचन्द्राणां विषेन्द्राग्निदिवौकैसाम् ॥६॥

सूर्य एव त्रिलोकेशो मूलं परमदैवतम् ।
ततः सञ्चायते सर्वं तत्रैव प्रविलीयते ॥८॥

The entire universe including the gods, asuras and the humans, emerges from the sun. The same sun happens to be the soul of Sūrya, Rudra, Indra, Upendra, Moon, excellent Brāhmaṇas, the fire, the manes dwelling in the heaven, besides being their refuge. He provides lustre to all the luminaries and his own lustre is spread in all the lokas. The same sun is the soul of all. He is the lord of all the lokas. He is in fact Mahādeva and Prajāpati. The sun indeed is the lord of the three worlds. He is basically a great god. Everything emerges from him and also get absorbed in the same.

भावाभावौ हि लोकानामादित्यान्त्रिस्तुतो पुरा ।
अविज्ञेयो ग्रहो विप्रा दीसिमान्सुप्रभो रविः ॥९॥

The existence and non-existence of the worlds depends on the sun formerly. O Brāhmaṇas, the resplendent sun of immense lustre, is an incomprehensible planet.

अत्र गच्छन्ति निधनं जायन्ते च पुनः पुनः ।
क्षणा मुहूर्ता दिवसा निशाः पक्षाश्च कृत्स्नशः ॥१०
मासाः संवत्सराश्चैव ऋतवोऽथ युगानि च ।
यदादित्यादृते ह्येषा कालसंख्या न विद्यते ॥११॥

All the units of time begin from him and in him again and again viz. : Kṣaṇas (moments), muhūrtas (a unit of time for 4 moments), days and nights, fortnights, months, years, seasons and the yugas. Therefore, without the sun, the time cannot be reckoned.

कालदृते न नियमो न दीक्षा नाह्निकक्रमः ।

तपत्येष द्विजश्रेष्ठास्त्रैलोक्यं सचराचरम् ।
स एष तेजसां राशिः समस्तः सार्वलौकिकः ॥१५॥

Without kāla (time), there is no order, no initiation and no daily ritual. How could there be the division of seasons? Where are these flowers, roots and fruits? Where is the outcome of planets? How can there be different kinds of grass and the medicinal plants? The dealings and the creations in the heaven and here too will be non-existent without the sun, who is the form of Rudra – the scorcher of the universe. He alone is time, fire, the twelve souls and Prajāpati. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the sun scorches the three worlds including the mobile and immobile beings. He is full of lustre. He is all in all, the whole set of worlds.

उत्तमं मार्गमास्थाय रात्र्यहोभिरिदं जगत्।
पार्श्वतोर्ध्मधश्चैव तापयत्येष सर्वशः॥ १६॥

Patronising the excellent path, he heats up the entire universe from top to bottom, from all the four sides throughout the day and night.

यथा प्रभाकरो दीपो गृहमध्ये ऽबलं वितः।
पार्श्वतोर्ध्मधश्चैव तमो नाशयते समम्॥ १७॥

In case, a lamp is placed in the centre of the house, it removes the darkness of the entire house from top to bottom and all the sides.

तद्वस्तुहस्तकिरणो ग्रहराजो जगत्प्रभुः।
सूर्यो गोभिर्जगत्सर्वमादीपयति सर्वतः॥ १८॥

Similarly, the sun with a thousand rays, the king of the planets, the lord of the universe, with its rays, lights the entire world.

रवे रश्मिसहस्रं यत्प्राङ्ग्या समुदाहतम्।
तेषां श्रेष्ठाः पुनः सस रश्मयो ग्रहयोनयः॥ १९॥

The seven rays of the sun, which are the source of the origin of the planets, which have already been described by me, are the best of all the thousand rays of the sun.

सुषुम्नो हरिकेशश्च विश्वकर्मा तथैव च।

सर्वावसुः पुनश्चान्यः स्वराडन्यः प्रकीर्तितः।
सुषुम्नः सूर्य रश्मिस्तु दक्षिणां राशिमैधयत्॥ २१॥

They are known by the names of Suṣumnā, Harikeśa, Viśvakarmā, Viśvavyacā, Sannaddha, Sarvavasu and Svarāṭ. The ray known as Suṣumnā lights the southern region of the sun. Its lustre spreads in all the directions including the top and the bottom.

न्यगूर्ध्वाधः प्रचारोऽस्य सुषुम्नः परिकीर्तितः।
हरिकेशः पुरस्ताद्यो ऋक्षयोनिः प्रकीर्त्यते॥ २२॥
दक्षिणे विश्वकर्मा च रश्मिवर्धयते बुधम्।
विश्वव्यचास्तु यः पश्चाच्छुक्रयोनिः स्मृतो बुधैः॥ २३॥
सन्नद्धश्च तु यो रश्मिः स योनि लोहितस्य तु।
षष्ठः सर्वावसू रश्मिः स योनिस्तु बृहस्पतेः॥ २४॥
शनैश्चरं पुनश्चापि रश्मिराप्यायते स्वराट्।

दृश्यन्ते दिवि ताः सर्वाः विश्वं चेदं पुनर्जगत्।
न क्षीयन्ते यतस्तानि तस्मानक्षत्रता स्मृताः॥ २६॥

The ray known as Ṙṣikeśa of the east is the cause of the creation of the constellations. The rays of Viśvakarmā develop the rays of Budha – Mercury. The rays of Viśvavyacas, which are in the west or behind, are the source of origin of Śukra (Venus). The rays of Sannaddha is the source of origin of Mars. The rays of Sarvavasu is the source of origin of Bṛhaspati (Jupiter). The rays of Svarāṭ nourishes Śanideva or Saturn. Thus, it is due to the power of the sun that the constellations, planets and the stars are seen in the heaven. The entire universe is sustained by him. The constellations are known as Nakṣatras. The word is derived from √kṣi with the prohibitive particle na which means na kṣiyantā (those who do not perish).

तारणात्तारका ह्येताः शुक्लत्वाच्चैव तारकाः ॥२॥

Sūta said—

These are all the regions, which are heated with the sun-rays. The constellations, stars and the planets are the abodes which are attained by merits alone. They are known as Tārakas because they enabled the people to cross the ocean of the worldly existence and also because they are white.

दिव्यानां पार्थिवानां च नैशानां चैव सर्वशः ।
आदानान्नित्यमादित्यस्तेजसां तमसामपि ॥३॥

The sun is called Āditya because he, absorbing the sun, absorbing the darkness of divine world and the night, spreads its light everywhere.

सवने स्यंदनेऽर्थं च धातुरेष विभाष्यते ।
सवनात्तेजसोऽपां च तेनासौ सविता मतः ॥४॥
बहुलशंद्र इत्येष ह्यादने धातुरुच्यते ।
शुक्लत्वे चामृतत्वे च शीतत्वे च विभाव्यते ॥५॥

The root su has the double meaning. To squeeze the juice or to flow. Thus, the sun absorbs the water and makes it flow as well. Therefore, because of its spreading its lustre and to make the water to flow, the sun is called Savitā as well. In other words, with the creation of the lustre and with the pouring of the water, sun is called Savitā. The root cadi is also taken to mean delight. Because of the moon's delighting the world, the moon is also known as Bahula. The whiteness, coolness and showering of the nectar form the nature of the moon and showers the same in the universe.

The solar and the lunar discs are divine. The moon has the watery substance, while the sun is illustrious and moves in the sky. Both of them are circular in shape like the pitcher.

घनतेजोमयं शुक्लं मण्डलं भास्करस्य तु ॥७॥

The moon disc has the form of dense water, while the colour of the sun disc is white and is of the nature of dense fire.

The constellations serve as the abodes of the gods in addition to the sun and the planets. They live everywhere in these abodes in all the Manvantaras.

तेन ग्रहागृहाण्येव तदाख्यास्ते भवन्ति च ।
सौरं सूर्योऽविशत्स्थानं सौम्यं सोमस्तथैव च ॥९॥

Therefore, the planets are the abodes named after their respective planets. The sun entered the abode of Saura. The moon entered the abode known as Saumya.

Venus entered the abode of Śukra. Jupiter, who is valorous with sixteen rays, entered the abode known as Br̥had. The Mars entered the abode as Lohita, pertaining to Mars.

The Saturn entered the abode of Śanideva. The Mercury entered the abode of Budha. The evil planet Rāhu entered the abode known as Svarabhānu, which was named after him.

नक्षत्राणि च सर्वाणि नक्षत्राणि विशंति च ।
गृहाण्येतानि सर्वाणि ज्योतीषि सुकृतात्मनाम्॥१२॥

The deities of the constellations entered in all the respective abodes. These luminaries are the abodes of the meritorious souls.

कल्पादौ संप्रवृत्तानि निर्मितानि स्वयंभुवा ।
स्थानान्येतानि तिष्ठन्ति यावदाभूतासंप्लवम्॥१३॥

The abodes have been created by the self-born deity (Brahmā). They started functioning at the start of kalpa and they shall stay there till all the humans are dissolved.

मन्वंतरेषु सर्वेषु देवस्थानानि तानि वै ।
अभिमानिनोऽवतिष्ठन्ते देवाः स्थानं पुनः पुनः॥१४॥

In all the Manvantaras, they alone serve as the lords of the Devas. The deities who are identified with this abodes, occupy their abodes again and again.

They occupy these abodes with the gods of the past, present and future. In the current Manvantara, the planet moves in their respective aerial chariots. During Vaivasvata Manvantara, the sun is known as Vivasvān, who is the son of Aditi. The lustrous lord Moon, the son of the sage Atri and lord Śukra, Bhārgava is known as the priest of Asuras. The preceptor of the gods who is illustrious one, is the son of Āngiras – Br̥haspati. Budha (Mercury) is the charming son of a sage. Saturn is the ugly son of Vivasvān born of Sanjñā. Agni was born of Vikeśī as the youthful son of Lohitārciṣ. The constellations named Nakṣatras and Ṙkṣa are known as Dākṣayonis (daughters of Dakṣa). Rāhu happened to be the son of Simhikā, who is an asura and causes distress to the living beings.

सोमर्क्षग्रहसूर्येषु कीर्तितास्त्वभिमानिनः ।

Thus, the constellations and the planets lodged in the sun and the moon and also their abodes and the various deities occupying them, have all been duly mentioned.

The flaming abode of Saura belongs to the thousand-rayed Vivasvān. The snow clad abode of the moon is watery and white in colour.

The abode of Budha is watery, of black colour and quite pleasant. The abode of Śukra (Venus) of sixteen rays is whitish and watery.

नवरश्मि तु भौमस्य लोहितं स्थानमुत्तमम्।

The Mars with nine rays is of red colour besides being an excellent one.

अष्टरश्मिगृहं चापि प्रोक्तं कृष्णं शनैश्चरे।
स्वर्भानोस्तामसं स्थानं भूतसंतापनालयम्॥२५॥

The abode of Saturn is of black colour and has eight rays. The abode of Rāhu is filled with darkness and causes trouble to the living beings.

विज्ञेयास्तारकाः सर्वास्त्वप्स्त्वेकरश्मयः।
आश्रयाः पुण्यकीर्तनां शुक्लाश्चापि स्ववर्णतः॥२६॥

The stars which serve as abodes to the Rṣis, possess a single ray each. One should know about it. They are bright colour and are meant for the dwelling of the people who perform deeds.

घनतोयात्मिका ज्ञेयाः कल्पादावेव निर्मिताः।

They are of snowy nature, which were built at the start of the kalpa. They become resplendent with the fall of the sun rays over them.

The third vast abode of Rāhu is dark and dreasy and has been created in the form of a circle out of the shadow of the earth.

Emerging from the sun on the festive occasions, it moves towards the moon. Thereafter, on festive occasions, it emerges out of the moon and enters into the orbit of the sun.

Since Rāhu inspires the sun, it is called Svarabhānu. The diameter, circumference and distance in terms of yojanas of Venus, is sixteenth part of that of the moon. Jupiter is three-fourth of the size of Venus.

बृहस्पतेः पादहीनौ वक्रसौरी उभौ स्मृतौ।
विष्कंभान्मण्डलाच्चैव पादहीनस्तयोर्बुधः॥३४॥

Mars and Saturn are a fourth less than Jupiter. In extent and width, Mercury is a fourth less than these two.

तारानक्षत्ररूपाणि व्रषुष्मांतीह यानि वै।
बुधेन तानि तुल्यानि विस्तारान्मण्डलाच्च वै॥३५॥

The forms of these constellations and the stars that are embodied are equal to Mercury in width and the circular area.

The constellations that are in conjunction with the moon are usually known as Rkṣas. The spheres of the relatively smaller stars are five, four, three or two yojanas. Over and above all these, there are clusters of still smaller stars which extend duly to half a yojana in width. There is none smaller than this. Over and above these starry spheres are the three planets which move at a great distance from them. They should be known as the slow moving ones. The speed of these has already been mentioned in due order.

All the planets are born of the constellations. O excellent sages, the sun is the son of Aditi, is the first among the planets and is born of the constellation Viśākhā. The lustrous son of Dharma, lord Vasu, Soma (the moon), the cool-rayed lord of the light is born of the constellation Kṛttikā. Then sixteen-rayed sun of Bhṛgu known as Śukra (Venus), the excellent among the stars and planets after the sun, is born of the constellation Tiṣya. The planet Bṛhaspati (Jupiter) – the twelve-rayed son of Aṅgiras and the preceptor of the gods, is born of the constellation of Pūrva phālguna. The planet Mars, son of Prajāpati, the nine-rayed red planet is born of the constellation Pūrva āśāḍha. Then Saturn, the son of the sun-god, having seven rays, was born of the constellation Revatī.

Buddha – the five-rayed planet also known as Mercury, the son of Moon, is born out of the constellation Dhaniṣṭhā. Śikhīketu, the great planet which destroys all having dark complexion and is the son of Mṛtyu – the god of death and causes destruction of the people, emerged out of the constellation Āśleśā. Dakṣa's daughters were born of the constellations which have their own names.

तमोबीर्यमहो राहुः प्रकृत्या कृष्णमण्डलः ।

The dark-complexioned Rāhu who possesses the Tāmasika vigour, is the planet which suppresses the sun and the moon. He was born of the constellation Bharanī.

It should be noted that the planets starting with Bhārgava (Venus) are known as star planets or the planets which resemble stars. The people who are effected with affliction from their birthday stars, are liberated from that blemish, by devotion to their respective planets. Āditya is said to be the first among all the planets.

Among all the star planets, Śukra is the first. Among all the ketus (flag like meteors), the smoky one is the first and is usually called the Dhūmraketu. Dhruva is the first among the planets distributed in all the quarters. Among the constellations, Śraviṣṭhā is the first. Among the Ayanas or transits, the Uttarāyaṇa is the first. Among the five years, Samvatṣara is the first. Among the seasons, it is the late winter (which is the first). Among the months, it is the month of Māgha. Among the fortnights, it is the bright fortnights and among tithis, it is the pratipadā (first day). Among the divisions of days and nights, the day is the first. The first of the muhūrtas is the one, the deity of which is lord Rudra.

लोकसंब्यवहारार्थं महादेवेन निर्मितः॥५८॥

Kṣana is the first unit of time. O excellent ones, among the knowers of time, beginning with the constellation Dhaneṣṭha and ending with Śravaṇa shall constitute a yuga comprising of five years. The universe whirls like a wheel due to the movement of the sun. Hence, the sun is the lord and the deity delimiting time. He is the instigator of the four types of the living beings. Rudra, the lord himself, is the inducer of the sun. Thus, the specific and the fixed establishment of the luminaries and planets has been evolved by the great lord for the working of the world.

बुद्धिपूर्वं भगवता कल्पादौ संप्रवर्तितः।

चक्षुः शास्त्रं जलं लेख्यं गणितं मुनिसत्तमाः॥६२॥
पञ्चैते हेतवो ज्ञेया ज्योतिर्मानविनिर्णये॥६३॥

It has been made to function intelligently by the lord at the beginning of the kalpa. The lord himself is the support of all luminaries and is identified himself with them. This is a wonderful phenomenon that is caused by the unique Pradhāna and is incomprehensible. The movements of the luminaries cannot be understood by the man with the physical eye. It can be understood by the people with wisdom alone through Vedic treatises by inference and direct perception by cogent means and careful analysis in his mind. O excellent sages, the causes for the decision in regard to the validity concerning the luminaries are five, viz., the eye, scriptures, water, the written document and the calculations.

Märkandeya said—

Once upon a time, Uttānapada, who was the best among the carriers of weapons, who was a great emperor of the world besides being immensely illustrious, ruled the country.

He had two queens known by the names of Suniti and Suruci. An illustrious son was born of Suniti, the elder queen. He was quite intelligent and the lamp for his race. When he was a child of first seven years, once he went and sat into the lap of his father, the emperor.

Sūta said—

O Brāhmaṇas, this question was also asked to me in earlier times and I had enquired about it from the sage Märkandeya who had been an expert on the subject. I myself was desirous of revealing the same to you. Whatever was told to me by the sage Märkandeya, the same is going to be repeated by me verbatim, which is as under.

Having been deprived of the lap of his own father, the intelligent child felt extremely painful. Then, he went to his own mother and started crying.

रुदन्तं पुत्रमाहेदं माता शोकपरिप्लुता ।
सुरुचिर्दयिता भर्तुस्तस्याः पुत्रोपि तादृशः ॥८॥

The grieved mother, consoling her crying son, said to him— “Suruci is quite dear to her husband. Her son is also like her.

मम त्वं मंदभाग्याया जातः पुत्रोप्यभाग्यवान्।
किं शोचसि किमर्थं त्वं रोदमानः पुनः पुनः॥१॥

You have been born as a son to the unfortunate mother like me. What do you think? Why are you weeping again and again?

सन्तप्तहृदयो भूत्वा मम शोकं करिष्यसि।
स्वस्थस्थानं धूर्वं पुत्र स्वशक्त्या त्वं समाप्नुयाः॥

Feeling painful, you will increase my grief. O my son, on the basis of your strength, you achieve a place which is more pleasing, comfortable and stable abode.”

When the mother thus spoke to his son, he at once went to the forest where he met the sage Viśvāmitra, whom he offered his salutation with folded hands and said— “O my lord, O best of the sages, how could I achieve the highest position. Kindly tell me.

पितुरङ्के समासीनं माता मां सुरचि मुने।
व्यधूयत्स तां राजा पिता नोवाच किञ्चन॥१३॥

O sage, I had been seated in the lap of my father. Suruci – my step mother, dragged me out of my father’s lap. My father, who is an emperor, spoke nothing.

O Brāhmaṇas, getting frightened, I went to my mother who said to me— “O son, don’t feel painful. You should achieve a much higher place than the lap of your father. By excellent performance, you can achieve it.” O great sage, listening to these words of my mother, I have arrived in this forest. O Brāhmaṇas, O lord, I have seen you here and by your grace, I shall achieve the astonishing and excellent place.”

When so requested by the child, the great sage spoke to the child smilingly— “Listen, O prince, you worship lord Viṣṇu who was born of the right side of lord Śiva and who is the lord of the three worlds, and then achieve the place desired by you. O intelligent boy, you should always recite the Viṣṇu-mantra, which is quite auspicious and pure and removes all the sins, besides fulfilling all the desires.

नमोस्तु वासुदेवाय इत्येवं नियतेन्द्रियः॥२०॥
ध्यायन्सनातनं विष्णुं जपहोमपरायणः।

Controlling all your senses, you recite this divine mantra, adding omkāra to it. Meditate upon the eternal lord Viṣṇu. Devote yourself to homa and recitation.”

At the words thus spoken by the sage Viśvāmitra, the glorious boy named Dhruva, offered his salutation to sage Viśvāmitra and started recitation, facing towards east. He was quite delightful at heart. He recited the mantra for a year throughout the day and night. Consuming roots and fruits, he spent time. Several Vetalas, Rākṣasas, awful lions and other wild animals tried to frighten the small noble soul. But, reciting the name of lord Vāsudeva, he least cared for anything.

सुनीतिरस्य या माता तस्या रूपेण संवृता ।

A Piśācī arrived before him, taking to the form of his mother and started crying in pain.

एवमादीनि वाक्यानि भाषमाणां महातपाः ।
अनिरीक्ष्यैव हृष्टात्मा हरेन्म जजाप सः ॥२७॥

She said- “You happen to be my only son. Why are you torturing yourself? You have engaged yourself in performing tapas leaving me as an orphan.” But, the boy continued performing his tapas without looking at the woman.

Thereafter, all the obstructions were subsided automatically. Then, lord Viṣṇu – the destroyer of the enemies, who was being adored by the sages, riding on Garuḍa, having the complexion of the black clouds, surrounded by the gods and being praised by the Ṛsis, arrived before Dhruva.

Finding his arrival there, he thought as to “who was he?” Thus thinking, when he starred at lord Viṣṇu with his eyes reciting the mantra namo vāsudevāya”, his face was touched by lord Viṣṇu.

ततः स परमं ज्ञानमवाप्य पुरुषोत्तमम् ।
तुष्टाव प्राञ्जलिर्भूत्वा सर्वलोकेश्वरं हरिम् ॥३२॥

Thereafter, he achieved the highest knowledge. Then, in the honour of lord Viṣṇu, he offered prayer to lord Viṣṇu who was the lord of the three worlds.

प्रसीद देवदेवेश शङ्खचक्रगदाधर ।
लोकात्मन् वेदगुह्यात्मन् त्वां प्रपत्नोस्मि केशव ॥३३॥

He said- “O lord of all the prominent gods, O holder of the conch, disc and the club, O soul of the three worlds, O soul of all, you are the secret of all the Vedic hymns. O Keśava, I take refuge in you.

न विदुस्त्वां महात्मानं सनकाद्या महर्षयः ।
तत्कथं त्वामहं विद्यां नमस्ते भुवनेश्वर ॥३४॥

Even Sanaka and other sages could not know the truth about your soul. Then how could I know about you? O lord of the universe, salutation to you.

तमाह प्रहसन्निष्ठुरेहि वत्स धूको भवान् ।

Then lord Viṣṇu spoke to him smilingly- “O my dear son, come on, you are Dhruva (unshakeable). You will achieve an unshakeable position among the planets.

मात्रा त्वं सहितस्तत्र ज्योतिषां स्थानमाप्नुहि ।

मत्स्थानमेतत्परमं ध्रुवं नित्यं सुशोभनम्॥३६॥

Let you achieve with your mother, a place among the planets. This is my place which is the highest, unshakeable and graceful. In earlier times, I achieved it worshipping the lord Śiva.

The devotee who repeats continuously the name of Vāsudeva, along with the pranava mantra Om combined with Bhagavat and the word namah, denoting salutation, achieves the unshakeable abode of Dhruva.”

अवाप महतीं सिद्धिमेतते कथितं मया॥४१॥

Thereafter, all the Gods, the Siddhas, Sages and Gandharvas, installed Dhruva in that abode along with his mother. Thus, at the behest of lord Viṣṇu, Dhruva attained the abode of luminaries. With the use of twelve-syllabled mantra, Dhruva of great splendour, attained the highest perfection.

Creation of the gods

ऋषय ऊचुः

देवानां दानवानां च गंधर्वोरगरक्षसाम्।
उत्पत्तिं ब्रूहि सूताद्य यथाक्रममनुत्तमम्॥१॥

Rṣis said—

O Sūta, you kindly enlighten us about the creation of the gods, Dānavas, Gandharvas and Rākṣasas in an excellent manner.

सूत उवाच

सङ्कल्पाद्वर्णनात्पश्चात्पूर्वेषां सृष्टिरुच्यते।
दक्षात्प्राचेतासादूर्ध्वं सृष्टिमेथुनसंभवा॥२॥

Sūta said—

The creation of the ancient people could be caused with the mental resolve, direct perception, or touch. Subsequent to Dakṣa, the son of Pracetas, creations was caused by sexual intercourse.

यदा तु सृजतस्तस्य देवर्षिगणपत्रगान्।
न वृद्धिमगमल्लोकस्तदा मैथुनयोगतः॥३॥

When the creator started creating the groups of gods, sages and serpents, the world did not increase. Thereupon by means of sexual intercourse, Dakṣa begot of Sūta five thousand sons.

ततः सृष्टि विशेषेण कुरुध्वं मुनिसत्तमाः।
ते तु तद्वचनं श्रुत्वा प्रयाताः सर्वतोदिशम्॥६॥

Observing those blessed ones, who were desirous of creating different types of progeny, Nārada spoke to Haryāśva, the sons of Dakṣa, who had assembled together—“You create progeny measuring the size of the earth from above and below.” Listening to the words of Nārada, all the sons of Dakṣa moved to all the four directions and never returned.

अद्यापि न निवर्तते समुद्रादिव सिंधवः ।
हर्यश्वेषु च नष्टेषु पुनर्दक्षः प्रजापतिः ॥७॥

आगत्य वाथ सृष्टिं कै करिष्यथ विशेषतः ।
तेषि तेनैव मार्गेण जग्मुर्भातुगतिं तथा ॥१०॥

They have not returned even till today, as the rivers never return after falling in the ocean. Then, after the destruction of Haryāśvara, Dakṣa Prajāpati again produced a thousand sons from Sūti. They were known by the names of Śabala. They also moved forward to start the creation. When Nārada found them having collected for the sake of starting creation, he said to them—“You first know about the size of the earth and also find out the whereabouts of your brothers before starting creation.” All of them also moved on the path of their brothers and met with the same fate.

ततस्तेष्वपि नष्टेषु षष्ठिकन्याः प्रजापतिः ।
वैरिण्यां जनयामास दक्षः प्राचेतस्तदा ॥१॥

At their destruction as well, then Dakṣa Prajāpati, the son of Dakṣa, produced sixty daughters from Vairiṇī.

Out of the sixty daughters, ten were married to Dharma. Two of them were married to Kṛśāsva. Thirteen were married to Kaśyapa. Twenty seven of them were married to the moon. Four were married to Ariṣṭanemi. Two of them were given over to Bhṛgu’s son, two were given to Arīgīras. Now, you listen to the mothers of the gods and their progeny. The ten wives of Dharma were known as— Marutvatī, Vasu, Yāmī, Lambā, Bhānu, Arundhatī, Saṅkalpā, Muhūrtā, Sādhyā and the beautiful Viśvā. I shall now speak about their sons.

The Muhūrtakas were born of Muhūrtā, the Ghoṣas were born of Lambā, Nagavīthī was born of Yāmī, Saṅkalpa was born of Saṅkalpā. Now, I shall speak to you about the creation of Vasus. The gods who are luminous and who pervade all the quarters, are called Vasus. They are the well wishers of all the living beings. They are believed to be eight in number viz. Āpa, Dhruva, Dhara, Soma, Anila, Anala, Pratyūṣa and Prabhāsa.

His wives were known by the names of Aditi, Diti, Ariṣṭā, Surasā, Muni, Surabhi, Vinatā, Tāmrā, Krodhavaśā, Ilā, Kadru, Tviṣā and Danu. Now, you listen to the names of their sons, the gods who were known as Tuṣitas in the Cākṣuṣa Manvantara. There are the twelve Ādityas with thousand rays who are as follows :- Indra, Dhāṭṛ, Bhaga, Tvaṣṭṛ, Mitra, Varuṇa, Aryamā, Vivasvān, Sāvitṛ, Puṣaṇ, Añśumān and Viṣṇu.

Krodhavaśā produced the illusory demons and Rudri gave birth to the gaṇas. Surabhi – the excellent woman gave birth to the cows and buffaloes from Kaśyapa. This is what has been heard by us. Muni gave birth to Apsarās and the gaṇas. Ariṣṭā gave birth to the Kinnaras and the Gandharvas. Ilā produced various kinds of grasses, trees, creepers and hedges. Tvaṣṭā gave birth to crores of Yakṣas and Rākṣasas. These are the immediate descendants of Kaśyapa, narrated by me.

Many sons were born in their dynasty. Their dynasty is quite large. The entire mobile and immobile beings were established by Kaśyapa. Prajāpati performed abhiṣeka of the foremost of the persons among them representing each one of the groups. Thereafter, he established Vaivasvata Manu as the lord of humans. Svayambhuva Manu was the first to be established by Brahmā in a Svayambhuva Manvantara, who even now rules over seven continents of earth with seven islands and the mountains. All of them obey the command with dharma, rule the earth and protect it.

As the kings ruled in the past Manvantaras, similarly in the future Manvantaras, the abhiṣekas of the rulers would be performed. Others will be crowned when a new Manvantara arrives. All the kings of the past and future Manvantaras are mentioned in detail. After procreating these sons for the continuity of the race, Kaśyapa performed penance once again with the desire to have a son who will preserve the spiritual line.

तस्यैवं ध्यायमानस्य कश्यपस्य महात्मनः ।

वत्सरश्चासितश्चैव तावूभौ ब्रह्मवादिनौ ।

Even when Kaśyapa was thus meditating, two sons of great prowess, manifested with great prowess themselves by the grace of Brahman. Naidhruva and Raibhya were born of Vatsara.

रैभ्यस्य रैभ्या विज्ञेया नैधुवस्य वदामि वः ।

The sons of Raibhya are known as Raibhyas. I shall mention those of Naidhruvas. Sumedhas were born of the daughter of Cyavana. She became the wife of Naidhruva and the mother of Kuṇḍāpāyins. The glorious son Padya was born of Ekaparṇā and Asita. He was the knower of Brahman, the best of all the Śāṅḍilyas and the one possessing great penance. Thus, the descendants of Kaśyapa were divided with three branches— Śāṅḍilyas, Naidhruvas and Raibhyas.

The Devas had nine sources of origin.

Now, I shall mention about the line of Pulastya. After eleven cycles of four yugas had practically passed and when Manu was the lord and half the period of Dvāpara had passed by, Dama was born as the son of Nariṣyanta – a descendant of Manu. Dama's descendant who was known as Tr̄ṇabindu became the king in the third quarter of Tretāyuga. His daughter was Ilavilā who was unrivalled in beauty and the king gave her in marriage to Pulastya.

Viśravā – the great sage was born of Ilavilā. His four wives were the progenitors of the family of Pulastya.

इत्येते क्रूरकर्मणः पौलस्त्या राक्षसा नवः ॥६५॥

His first wife Devavarninī was the daughter of Br̄haspati. The second and the third wives were the two daughters of Malyavān, known by the names of Puṣpotkaṭā and Balākā. The fourth wife known as Kaikasi was the daughter of Malin. Now, listen to the progeny of these women. Devavarninī produced the eldest son named Vaiśravaṇa from Viśravā. Kaikasi gave birth to Rāvaṇa, the king of Rākṣasas, Kumbhakarṇa, Śūrpaṇakhā and Vibhīṣaṇa. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, Puṣpotkaṭā bore him Mahodara, Prahasta, Mahāpārśva, Khara and a daughter Kumbhīṇasī. Now, listen to the children of Balā or Balākā. They were known as Triśirā, Dūṣaṇa, Vidyujjhva and a daughter known as Mālikā. Thus, the Rākṣasas of cruel activities were nine in number, who belonged to the family of Pulastya.

Vibhīṣaṇa, out of all the sons of Viśravā, has been glorified as the follower of Dharma. He was the highly spiritual soul. Pulastya also had the deer, the animals with fangs, tigers, goblins, ghosts, serpents, boars, elephants, monkeys, Kinnaras and kiṁpuruṣas as his sons. In the Vaivasvata Manvantara, Kratu – the sage, was issueless, while Atri had ten beautiful and chaste wives.

Bhadrāśva produced from the celestial damsel Ghṛtācī ten children known by the names of Bhadrā, Abhadrā, Jaladā, Mandā, Anandā or Nandā, Balā, Abalā, Viprendrā, Gopābalā, Tāmarasā and Varakridā.

ततः प्रभाकरेत्युक्तः प्रभुरत्रिर्हर्षिभिः ॥७३॥

Prabhākara was the husband of all of them, who was born in the race of Ātreya. When Rāhu swallowed the sun and he fell on earth from the heaven, then the universe was plunged in darkness. Then, Atri spread the right everywhere. The sage Pulastya then uttered – “let you meet with welfare,” when he found the sun falling on earth. As a result of this, the fall of the sun on earth was averted. At that point of time, the sages eulogised the sage Pulastya as Prabhākara.

भद्रायां जनयामास सोमं पुत्रं यशस्विनम् ।

Pulastya then produced an illustrious son named Soma from his wife Bhadrā. The Maharshi produced more sons from his other wives.

स्वस्त्यात्रेया इति ख्याता ऋषयो वेदपारगाः ।

He came to be known as Svastyātreya. He was well-versed in the Vedas. Two of them were the foremost in learnings besides being devoted to Brahman and extremely illustrious.

Dakṣa was the eldest son of Atri and Durvāsā was his younger brother. Amalā was his youngest sister and was spokesperson in Brahman.

Four of them born of two gotras are well-known in the world. They are known as Śyāva, Pratvasa, Vavalgu and Gahvara.

All of them were the mind born sons. Now you listen to the progeny of Arundhati. A son named Nārada was produced by Vasiṣṭha from Arundhati, who was immensely illustrious.

With the curse of Dakṣa, Nārada was compelled to be a bachelor. In earlier times, when there was a war between the Gods and the Rākṣasas because of the demon Tāraka, the world felt painful due to the draught. Then the wise Vasiṣṭha, because of the power of his tapas possessed by him, saved the living beings with the help of the lokapālas. He, out of compassion, produced the cereals, water, fruits and roots besides the ausadhis and saved all the living beings.

Vasiṣṭha produced a hundred sons from Arundhati. She also produced a son named Sakti who was the eldest of all the sons. He was the father of Parāśara.

A Rākṣasa named Rudhira swallowed Sakti. Kālī produced Kṛṣṇa Dvāipāyana Vyāsa by Parāśara. Kṛṣṇa Dvāipāyana on the other hand produced a son named Śukra from Araṇī and Upamanyu from Pivirī. Śukra had five sons who were known by the names of Bhūriśravā, Prabhu, Śarīrbhu, Kṛṣṇa and Gaura who was the fifth one. She had also a daughter named Kīrtimatī. She was quite firm in performing of the yogic practices as well as the vratas. She was the wife of Anuha and was the mother of Brahmadatta. Parāśara had sons named Śveta, Kṛṣṇa, Gaura, Śyāma, Dhumra, Aruna, Nila and Bādarika, who belonged to the race of Parāśara.

After this, you should know about the progeny of Indra. Vasiṣṭha produced from Ghṛtācī a son named Kapiñjala, who was also known as Trimūrti. He was also known as Indrapramiti. Bhadra was born out of the daughter of Pṛthu and he had a son named Vasu. His son was known as Upamanyu. There were many descendants of Upamanyu like Mitra and Varuṇa. Seven people known as Kauṇḍinyas are known to be the descendants of Mitra and Varuṇa.

There are other descendants known by Ekārṣaya who are also called Vasiṣṭhas. Vasiṣṭha has ten excellent sons. Thus, the ten mind born sons of Brahmā are well-known on earth. They have the fortunate ones belonging to the race of Bharatas. They were all born in the divine race of the Rṣis and are competent enough to wander in the three worlds. The number of their sons runs into hundreds and thousands, whose glory pervades in the three worlds like the sun rays.

Chapter 64

The episode of Śakti – the son of Vasiṣṭha

ऋषय ऊचुः

कथं हि रक्षसा शक्तिर्भक्षितः सोनुजैः सह।

वसिष्ठो वदतां श्रेष्ठ सूत वक्तुमिहार्हसि॥१॥

R̄ṣi said—

How did the Rākṣasas named Rudhira ate up Śakti, the son of Vasiṣṭha, with his younger brothers. O best of the orators, O Sūta, you kindly speak out the same episode to us.

सूत उवाच

राक्षसो रुधिरो नाम वसिष्ठस्य सुतं पुरा।

शक्तिं स भक्षयामास शक्तेः शापात्सहानुजैः॥२॥

वसिष्ठयाज्यं विप्रेन्द्रास्तदा दिश्यैव भूपतिम्।

कल्माषपादं रुधिरो विश्वामित्रेण चोदितः॥३॥

भक्षितः स इति श्रुत्वा वसिष्ठस्तेन रक्षसा।

Sūta said—

The Rākṣasas named Rudhira, entered the body of Kalamāṣapāda, who was the yajamāna of the sage Viśvamitra and swallowed Śakti – the son of Vasiṣṭha due to a curse.

शक्तिः शक्तिमतां श्रेष्ठो भ्रातृभिः सह धर्मवित्॥४॥

हा पुत्र पुत्र पुत्रेति क्रांदमानो मुहुर्मुहुः।

अरुंधत्या सह मुनिः पपात भुवि दुःखितः॥५॥

When the news of death of Śakti at the hands of a Rākṣasa was received by Vasiṣṭha with Arundhati, both of them fell down on earth and started lamenting.

नष्टं कुलमिति श्रुत्वा मर्तुं चक्रे मतिं तदा।

स्मरन्युत्रशतं चैव शक्तिज्येष्टं च शक्तिमान्॥६॥

न तं विनाहं जीविष्ये इति निश्चित्य दुःखितः॥७॥

तदा तस्य स्नुषा प्राह पल्नी शक्तेर्महामुनिम्।
वसिष्ठं वदतां श्रेष्ठं रुदंती भयविह्वला॥१०॥

Recalling about the death of his hundred sons including Śakti – the eldest one, and finding that his race had became extinct, the learned Vasiṣṭha, thought of putting an end to his life. He thought, “I shall not be able to live without them. Then, the son of omniscient Brahmā, Vasiṣṭha, the self-possessed one, besides being all knowledgeable, in company of Arundhati, climbed the mountain peak. With his eyes filled with tears, he jumped from the mountain peak. As soon as he fell down, the earth goddess taking to the human form, with her neck adorned with a wonderful garland of flowers, spreading her lotus like hands held the sage who was crying. Then saving Vasiṣṭha from the death, she also started crying. At the same time, the wife of Śakti and daughter-in-law of Vasiṣṭha, getting upset with danger ahead, spoke to Vasiṣṭha while sobbing.”

भगन्नाहणश्रेष्ठं तव देहमिदं शुभम्।
पालयस्व विभो द्रष्टुं तव पौत्रं ममात्मजम्॥११॥

O lord, the best of the Brāhmaṇas, O powerful sage, you should protect your body to have a glance of your grandson. You must save your body.

न त्याज्यं तव विप्रेन्द्र देहमेतत्सुशोभनम्।
गर्भस्थो मम सर्वार्थसाधकः शक्तिजो यतः॥१२॥

O best of the Brāhmaṇas, you must save this auspicious body to have a look at your grandson’s face who is being nursed in my body. He is the son of Śakti and shall accomplish all the tasks. Therefore, you need not put an end to this grand and auspicious body.

एवमुक्त्वाथ धर्मजा कराभ्यां कमलेक्षणा।

दुःखितापि परित्रातुं श्वशुरं दुःखितं तदा।
अरुन्धतीं च कल्याणीं प्रार्थयामास दुःखिताम्॥१४॥

Thus speaking, she, who was well-versed in dharma, had the eyes resembling the lotus flowers, lifted up his father-in-law, though she was herself immensely grieved, still, she asked Arundhati – her own mother-in-law to save her husband and washed the eyes of her father-in-law with water.

स्नुषावाक्यं ततः श्रुत्वा वसिष्ठोत्थाय भूतलात्।
संज्ञामवाप्य चार्लिङ्गं सा पपात सुदुःखिता॥१५॥
अरुन्धती कराभ्यां ता संस्पृश्यास्तकुलेक्षणाम्।
रुरोद मुनिशार्दूलो भार्यया सुतवत्सलः॥१६॥

Vasiṣṭha, the father-in-law, then listening to the words of his daughter-in-law and becoming conscious, got up from the ground. On the other hand, Arundhati, embracing the grieved Vasiṣṭha, herself fell on the ground. Her eyes were filled with tears and with her, Vasiṣṭha, the auspicious soul, also started crying.

अथ नाभ्यंबुजे विष्णोर्यथा तस्याश्तुर्मुखः।

ततो निशम्य भगवान्वसिष्ठ ऋचमादरात्।
केनोक्तमिति संचित्य तदातिष्ठत्समाहितः॥१८॥

Thereafter, the infant like Brahmā, who had emerged out of the navel of Viṣṇu, recited a Vedic mantra. Vasiṣṭha then respectfully heard the Vedic hymn and thought as to who had recited it? Thus thinking, Vasiṣṭha, concentrating his mind, seated himself over the ground.

व्योमाङ्गणस्थोथ हरिः पुण्डरीकनिभेक्षणः ।
वसिष्ठमाह विश्वात्मा वृण्या स वृणानिधिः ॥१९॥

Thereafter, lord Viṣṇu, having the lotus like eyes, the ocean of mercy, while staying in the sky, spoke to the sage Vasiṣṭha with compassion.

भो वत्स वत्स विप्रेन्द्र वसिष्ठ सुतवत्सल ।
तव पौत्रमुखं भोजाद्गोषाद्य विनिःसृता ॥२०॥

“O son Vasiṣṭha, O excellent Brāhmaṇa, this auspicious hymn has emerged from the lotus like mouth of your grandson.

मत्समस्तव पौत्रोसौ शक्तिः शक्तिमान्मुने ।
तस्मादुत्तिष्ठ संत्यस्य शोकं ब्रह्मसुतोत्तम ॥२१॥

O Ṛṣi, your grandson is the son of powerful Śakti and excels me in prowess. Therefore, O best of the son of Brahmā, shed away the grief.

रुद्रभक्तश्च गर्भस्थो रुद्रपूजापरायणः ।
रुद्रदेवप्रभावेण कुलं ते संतरिष्यति ॥२२॥

The infant who is lodged in the womb would be a great devotee of lord Śiva and shall remain devoted to Śiva. By the grace of lord Rudra, he is sure to redeem your entire race.”

एवमुक्त्वा घृणी विप्रं भगवान् पुरुषोत्तमः ।
वसिष्ठ मुनिशार्दूलं तत्रैवान्तरधीयत ॥२३॥

In this way, the merciful lord Viṣṇu, thus speaking to Vasiṣṭha disappeared from the scene.

ततः प्रणम्य शिरसा वसिष्ठो वारिजेक्षणम् ।

अदृश्यंत्या महातेजाः पस्पर्शोदरमादरात् ॥२४॥

The immensely resplendent Vasiṣṭha offered his salutation to lotus-eyed Viṣṇu, touched the body of Adrśyantī with great respect.

हा पुत्र पुत्रेर्ति पपात च सुदुःखितः ।
ललापारुंधतीं प्रेक्ष्य तदासौ रुदतीं द्विजाः ॥२५॥

तव पुत्रमिमं दृष्टा भो शक्ते कुलधारणम् ॥२६॥
तवांतिकं गमिष्यामि तव मात्रा न संशयः ॥

O Brāhmaṇas, he cried uttering— O my son and feeling grieved, he fell down on the ground. He then looked at Arundhati who herself was crying, he remembered his son and spoke with a painful heart— “O son Śakti, you come again, who will look after this family after your son?” Undoubtedly, I shall come to you with your mother.

सूत उवाच

एवमुक्त्वा रुदन्विप्र आलिंग्यारुंधतीं तदा ॥२७॥
पपात ताडयंतीव स्वस्य कुक्षी करेण वै ।

Sūta said—

Thus speaking, Vasiṣṭha, while sobbing, embraced Arundhati. Beating her belly, she was about to fall.

अदृश्यंती जघानाथ शक्तिस्यालयं शुभा ॥२८॥
स्वोदरं दुःखिता भूमौ ललाप च पपात च ।

On the other hand, Adrśyantī – the goddess, was beating her belly, the abode of her son and feeling painful, fell down on the ground while sobbing. Both Vasiṣṭha and Arundhati felt panicky. Getting upset, they spoke to Adrśyantī– “O foolish lady, by beating your belly, why are you trying to destroy the race of Vasiṣṭha? You tell me.” In order to pour the nectar in the infant mouth of the son of Śakti, I have decided to save my body. Therefore, you better protect your body.

सूत उवाच

एवं सुषामुपालभ्य मुनिं चारुंधती स्थिता ।
अरुंधती वसिष्ठस्य प्राह चार्तेतिविह्ला॥३३॥
त्वयेव जीवितं चास्य मुनेर्यत्सुव्रते मम ।
जीवितं रक्ष देहस्य धात्री च कुरु यद्धितम्॥३४॥

Sūta said–

Though Arundhati – the wife of Vasiṣṭha felt painful by dragging her husband and her daughter-in-law, but still she said– “O noble one, the life of this Ṛṣi as well as my own life depends on you. Therefore, you should protect your body. You protect your body like a nurse for the benefit of we people.

अदृश्यंती उवाच

मया यदि मुनिश्रेष्ठो त्रातुं वै निश्चितं स्वकम् ।
ममाशुभं शुभं देहं कथंचित्पालयाम्यहम्॥३५॥
प्रियदुःखमहं प्राप्ता ह्यसती नात्र संशयः ।

अहोद्भुतं मया दृष्टं दुःखपात्री ह्यहं विभो ।
दुःखत्राता भव ब्रह्मब्रह्मसूनो जगदगुरो॥३७॥

Adrśyantī said–

In case, the Maharṣi has decided to protect his body, then I shall surely protect my body by fair or foul means. This is my sin which makes me suffer by the separation from my husband. O sage, I have been burnt with grief, though I happen to be your daughter-in-law. But I have observed a wonderful thing. O son of Brahmā, you are the preceptor of the world, you bee protection of my grief.

तथापि भर्तृरहिता दीना नारी भवेदिह ।
पाहि मां तत आर्येन्द्र परिभूता भविष्यति॥३८॥

A woman feels miserable without the husband. Therefore, O sage, you save me from that situation.

पिता माता च पुत्राश्च पौत्रा श्वशुर एव च ।
एते न बांधवाः स्त्रीणां भर्ता बंधुः परा गतिः॥३९॥

For a widow like me, the parents, the son, the grandson and even the father-in-law feel helpless. Under such conditions, there is hardly any relative or well-wisher for her. It is only the husband, who happens to be her true well-wisher. It is he who is her final goal.

आत्मनो यद्धि कथितमप्यर्धमिति पण्डितैः ।
तदप्यत्र मृषा ह्यासीद्रतः शक्तिरहं स्थिता॥४०॥

The learned people have declared that the wife happens to be half the part of her husband’s body. This is not true in my case. Śakti–my husband has gone, but I am still alive.

अहो ममात्र काठिन्यं मनसो मुनिपुङ्गव ।
पतिं प्राणसमं त्यक्त्वा स्थिता यत्र क्षणं यतः॥४१॥

O excellent sage, the difficulty with me is that leaving my husband who is the only support of my life, I could not live for him even for a moment.

वसिष्ठाश्वत्थमाश्रित्य ह्यमृता तु यथा लता ।
निर्मूलाप्यपृता भर्त्रात्यक्ता दीना स्थिताप्यहम्॥४२॥

O Vasiṣṭha, as a creeper which climbs over an Aśvattha tree, remains alive even if it is cut at the roots, I am still alive in a miserable condition even after the death of my husband."

स्नुषा वाक्यं निशम्यैव वसिष्ठो भार्यया सह।
तदा चक्रे मतिं धीमान् यातुं स्वाश्रममाश्रमी॥४३॥

On hearing the words of his daughter-in-law, the learned Vasiṣṭha made up his mind to return to his abode with his wife.

कृच्छ्रात्सभार्यो भगवान्वसिष्ठः स्वाश्रमं क्षणात्।
अदृश्यन्त्या च पुण्यात्मा संविवेश स चिंतयन्॥४४॥

Then, the noble soul Vasiṣṭha accompanied with his wife and the daughter-in-law, entered his own hermitage and he started thinking.

सा गर्भं पालयामास कथंचिन्मुनिपुङ्गवाः।
कुलसंधारणार्थाय शक्तिपत्नी पतिब्रताः॥४५॥
ततः सासूत तनयं दशमे मासि सुप्रभम्।
शक्तिपत्नी यथा शक्ति शक्तिमंतमरुंधती॥४६॥

O excellent sages, the chaste wife of Śakti, in order to continue the tradition of her race, protected the infant in her womb. During the tenth month, the wife of Śakti gave birth to an infant in the same way as Arundhati had given birth to powerful Śakti.

असूत सा दितिर्विष्णुं यथा स्वाहा गुहं सुतम्।
अर्णि यथाराणिः पत्नी शक्ते: साक्षात्पराशरम्॥४७॥

The wife of Śakti produced Parāśara exactly in the same way as Aditi had given birth to Viṣṇu, Svāha to Guha and Araṇi to the fire.

यदा तदा शक्तिसूनुरवतीर्णो महीतले।
शक्तिस्त्यक्ता तदा दुःखं पितॄणां समतां ययौ॥४८॥

When the son of Śakti incarnated on earth, the Śakti, discarding his own grief, achieved parity with the manes.

भ्रातृभिः सह पुण्यात्मा आदित्यैरिव भास्करः।
राज पितॄलोकस्थो वासिष्ठो मुनिपुङ्गवाः॥४९॥

O excellent Ṛṣis, at the birth of Parāśara, his father sang songs. His grandfather and great grandfather danced.

जगुस्तदा च पितरो ननृतुश्च पितामहाः।
प्रपितामहाश्च विप्रेन्द्रा ह्यवतीर्णे पराशरे॥५०॥

O excellent sages, then Vasiṣṭha, the auspicious soul; looked graceful like Bhāskara with Ādityas and with his brothers in the heaven.

ये ब्रह्मवादिनो भूमौ ननृतुर्दिवि देवताः।
पुष्कराद्याश्च ससृजुः पुष्पवर्षं च खेचराः॥५१॥

The Brahmavādin manes on the earth and the gods danced in the heaven. Puṣkara and other aerial people showered the flowers from the sky.

पुरेषु राक्षसानां च प्रणादं विषमं द्विजाः।
आश्रमस्थाश्च मुनयः समूहुर्वर्षसंततिम्॥५२॥

O Brāhmaṇas, in the cities of the Rākṣasas, there had been an astonishing type of disturbances which were painful as well. The sages celebrated the event in their respective hermitages.

अवतीर्णो यथा ह्यण्डाद्वानुः सोपि पराशरः।
अदृश्यन्त्याश्चतुर्वक्त्रो मेघजालाद्विवाकरः॥५३॥

As the four-faced Brahmā had been born out of the golden egg and the sun rises from the watery clouds, similarly Parāśara was born of Adṛsyantī.

सुखं च दुःखमभवददृशंत्यास्तथा द्विजाः।
दृष्टा पुत्रं पर्ति अरुंधत्या मुनेस्तथा॥५४॥

Looking at her son and reminded of her husband, Adṛsyantī observed pleasure and pain both. Both Vasiṣṭha and Arundhati were also placed in the same condition.

दृष्टा च तनयं बाला पराशरमतिद्युतिम्।
ललाप विह्वला बाला सन्नकंठी पपात च॥५५॥

Adṛśyantī felt overwhelmed looking at her illustrious son. Her throat choked and she fell down on earth.

सा पराशरमहो महामति
देवदानवगणैश्च पूजितम्।
जातमात्रमनधं शुचिस्मिता
बुध्य साश्रुनयना ललाप च॥५६॥

Observing that her son was being adorned by the gods and the demons alike, the mother of Parāśara realised that the child must be extremely intelligent. Her eyes were filled with the tears of joy.

हा वसिष्ठसुत कुत्रचिह्नतः:
पश्य पुत्रमनधं तवात्मजम्।
त्यज्य दीनवदनां बनान्तरे
पुत्रदर्शनपरामिमां प्रभो॥५७॥

She uttered— “O son of Vasiṣṭha, where have you gone? You atleast have a look at the face of your sinless son. You left me in the forest to have a look at the face of your son. You also have a look with your brothers at the bud like infant who is sinless.

शक्ते स्वं च सुतं पश्य भ्रातृभिः सह षण्मुखम्।
यथा महेश्वरोपश्यत्सगणो हृषिताननः॥५८॥

O Śakti, as lord Śiva had seen the face of his six-faced son with his gaṇas, similarly, you also delightfully have a look at the face of your son with your brothers.

अथ तस्यास्तदालापं वसिष्ठो मुनिसत्तमः।
श्रुत्वा सुषामुवाचेदं मारोदीरिति दुःखितः॥५९॥

Listening to the painful words of Adṛśyantī, Vasiṣṭha, the foremost of the sages, felt grieved and he advised to his daughter-in-law, not to weep.

आज्ञया तस्य सा शोकं वसिष्ठस्य कुलाङ्गना।
त्यक्त्वा ह्यपालयद्वालं बाला बालमृगेक्षणा॥६०॥

As the instance of the sage Vasiṣṭha, the chaste lady with fawn like eyes, brought the child.

दृष्टा तामबलां प्राह मङ्गलाभरणैर्विना।
आसीनामाकुलां साध्वीं बाष्पपर्याकुलेक्षणाम्॥६१॥

With the eyes filled with tears, looking miserable, devoid of ornaments, Parāśara once found his mother seated in seclusion and he asked her.

शक्तेय उवाच

अंब मङ्गलविभूषणैर्विना देहयष्टिरनघे न शोभते।
वक्षुमर्हसि तवाद्य कारणं चंद्रबिंबरहितेव शर्वरी॥

Śakti's son said—

“O mother, O sinless one, without the auspicious ornaments, your body has no grace as the night is of no grace without the full moon.

मातर्मातः कथं त्यक्त्वा मङ्गलाभरणानि वै।
आसीना भर्तुहीनेव वक्षुमर्हसि शोभने॥६२॥

O graceful one, why are you sitting here without the welfare ornaments like a widow. You tell me the reason for the same.”

अदृश्यंती तदा वाक्यं श्रुत्वा तस्य सुतस्य सा।
न किञ्चिद्ब्रवीत्पुत्रं शुभं वा यदि वेतत्॥६४॥

Listening to the words of her son, Parāśara's mother did not reveal to the child anything good or bad.

अदृश्यंतीं पुनः प्राह शक्तेयो भगवान्मम।
मातः कुत्र महातेजाः पिता वद वदेति ताम्॥६५॥

But Parāśara again asked his mother—“where is my illustrious father? You tell me, you tell me.”

श्रुत्वा रुरादे सा वाक्यं पुत्रस्यातीव विह्ला।
भक्षितो रक्षसा तातस्तवेति निपपात च॥६६॥

On hearing the words of her son, the mother was extremely upset and she started crying. Then she told him— “Your father had been eaten up by a Rākṣasa.” Thus speaking, she fell down unconscious.

श्रुत्वा वसिष्ठोपि पपात भूमौ
पौत्रस्य वाक्यं स रुदन्दयालुः।
अरुंधती चाश्रमवासिनस्
मुनेर्वसिष्ठस्य मुनीश्चराश्च॥६७॥

The compassionate Vasiṣṭha also started lamenting hearing the words of his grandson and fell down unconscious on the ground. The sages of the hermitage as well as Arundhatī also started lamenting similarly.

भक्षितो रक्षसा मातुः पिता तव मुखादिति।
श्रुत्वा पराशरो धीमान्प्राह चास्त्राविलेक्षणः॥६८॥

Listening plainly from his mother that his father had been swallowed by a Rākṣasa, Parāśara spoke with his eyes wet with tears.

पराशर उवाच
अभ्यर्च्य देवदेवेशं त्रैलोक्यं सच्चराचरम्।
क्षणेन मातः पितरं दर्शयामीति मे मतिः॥६९॥

Parāśara said—

“O mother, I think, that by adoring lord Śiva, the lord of the mobile and immobile beings and the three worlds, I can show my father to you in a moment.”

सा निशम्य वचनं तदा शुभं
सस्मिता तनयमाह विस्मिता।
तथ्यमेतदिति तं निरीक्ष्य सा
पुत्रपुत्र भवमर्चयेति च॥७०॥

Listening to the words of Parāśara, his mother felt surprised. She smilingly looked at her son and said— “O son, this is true. You better adore lord Śiva.”

ज्ञात्वा शक्तिसुतस्यास्य सङ्कल्पं मुनिपुङ्गवः।
वसिष्ठो भगवान्प्राह पौत्रं धीमान् घृणानिधिः॥७१॥

Listening the proposed resolve of the son of Śakti, the compassionate sage Vasiṣṭha then said to his grandson.

स्थाने पौत्रं मुनिश्रेष्ठं सङ्कल्पस्तव सुब्रत।
तथापि शृणु लोकस्य क्षयं कर्तुं न चार्हसि॥७२॥
राक्षसानामभावाय कुरु सर्वेश्वरार्चनम्।
त्रैलोक्यं शृणु शाकेय अपराध्यति किं तव॥७३॥
ततस्तस्य वसिष्ठस्य नियोगाच्छक्तिनंदनः।
राक्षसानामभावाय मर्ति चक्रे महामतिः॥७४॥

“O my grandson, your proposal is correct and appropriate. Still you listen, it would not be proper to destroy the universe. You start adoring Śiva for achieving protection from the Rākṣasas. O son of Śakti, what wrong have the three worlds done to you that you are thinking of destroying the same.” Thereafter, at the command of the sage Vasiṣṭha, the intelligent son of Śakti, known as Parāśara, changed his mind and then resolved to adore lord Śiva for seeking protection from Śiva.

अदृश्यंती वसिष्ठं च प्रणम्यारुन्धतीं ततः।
कृत्वैकलिङ्गं क्षणिकं पांसुना मुनिसन्निधौ॥७५॥
संपूज्य शिवसूक्तेन त्र्यंबकेन शुभेन च।

होतारं लिङ्गसूक्तं च अथर्वशिर एव च।
अष्टाङ्गमध्यं रुद्राय दत्त्वाभ्यर्च्यं यथाविधिः॥७८॥

Then, Parāśara bowed in reverence to Adṛśyantī – his mother, Vasiṣṭha and Arundhatī – his grand parents. In presence of the sage Vasiṣṭha, he made a temporary liṅga of clay. Then he reciting the hymns from the Śiva-Sūkta, Tryambaka-Sūkta, Tvarita-Rudra, Śiva-Samkalpa, Nila-Rudra, Śakteya-Rudra, Vāmiya, Pavamān, Pavabrahma, Hotṛ-Sūkta, Liṅga-Sūkta and Atharvaśiras mantras, adored the Śivaliṅga. After worshipping the liṅga appropriately, he offered Aṣṭāṅga arghya to Rudra.

पराशर उवाच

भगवन्रक्षसा रुद्र भक्षितो रुधिरेण वै।
पिता मम महातेजा भ्रातृभिः सह शङ्करः॥७९॥

Parāśara said—

O lord Rudra, O Śaṅkara, my immensely illustrious father was swallowed by the demon Rudhira together with his brothers.

द्रष्टुमिच्छामि भगवन् पितरं भ्रातृभिः सह।

हा रुद्र रुद्ररुद्रेति रुरोद निपपात च।
तं दृष्ट्वा भगवान् रुद्रो देवीमाह च शङ्करः॥८१॥

O lord, I wish to meet my father with his brothers.” Thus speaking, he bowed in reverence to the liṅga again and again. He cried— “hā-Rudra, hā-Rudra” and prostrated before him. On seeing Parāśara, lord Śiva said to the goddess Pārvatī.

पश्य बालं महाभागे बाष्पपर्याकुलेक्षणम्।
ममानुस्मरणे युक्तं मदाराधनतत्परम्॥८२॥

“O auspicious and blissful lady, see this boy whose eyes have been dimmed and darkened with tears. He is worshipping me.

लिङ्गार्चनविधौ सर्कं हर रुद्रेति वादिनम्।
प्राह भर्तारमीशानं शङ्करं जगतामुमा॥८४॥

The spotless great goddess noticed

Parāśara, whose eyes were blurred and whose body had been drenched due to misery. He was devoted to the worship of liṅga alone and repeated the names of Hara and Rudra. Thereafter, the goddess Umā spoke to her husband who was the lord of the universe.

ईप्सितं यच्छ सकलं प्रसीद परमेश्वर।
निशम्य वचनं तस्याः शङ्करः परमेश्वरः॥८५॥
भार्यामार्यामुमां प्राह ततो हालाहलाशनः।
रक्षाम्येन द्विजं बालं फुल्लेन्दीवरलोचनम्॥८६॥

She said— “O supreme lord, be pleased, grant him desires.” On hearing these words of Umā, lord Parameśvara, the consumer of the poison, spoke to Pārvatī, his noble consort Umā— “I shall surely save this boy, whose eyes resemble the full blown lotus.

ददामि दृष्टिं मदूपदर्शनक्षम एष वै।

ब्रह्मेन्द्रविष्णुरुद्राद्यैः संवृतः परमेश्वरः।
ददौ च दर्शनं तस्मै मुनिपुत्राय धीमते॥८८॥

I shall bestow the divine vision on him to enable him to see my true form.” After saying this, the lord Nīlalohita Parameśvara who was surrounded by the gāṇas, besides Brahmā, Indra, Viṣṇu, Rudra and others, bestowed the divine vision to Parāśara, the intelligent son of the sage.

सोपि दृष्ट्वा महादेवमानन्दास्त्राविलेक्षणः।
निपपात च हृष्टात्मा पादयोस्तस्य सादरम्॥८९॥

At the sight of lord Mahādeva, the eyes of Parāśara were dazzled and were filled with tears. With a delightful heart, he felt overwhelmed and fell at the feet of the lord with great respect.

पुनर्भवान्याः पादौ च नंदिनश्च महात्मनः।
सफलं जीवितं मेद्य ब्रह्माद्यांस्तांस्तदाह सः॥९०॥

Thereafter, he fell at the feet of the goddess Umā and the noble Nandī. Thereafter, he spoke to Brahmā and others—“My life has been fruitful.”

रक्षार्थमागतस्त्वद्य मम वालेन्दुभूषणः।
कोन्यः समो मया लोके देवो वा दानवोपि वा॥

The lord adorned with the crescent moon has arrived to protect me, who else could be compared with me in the universe, be he a Deva or a demon.

अथ तस्मिक्षणादेव दर्दश दिवि संस्थितम्।
पितरं भ्रातृभिः सार्थ शाक्तेयस्तु पराशरः॥१२॥

In a moment thereafter, Parāśara – the son of Śakti was at face to face with his father, standing in the heaven with his brothers.

सूर्यमण्डलसङ्क्षेपे विमाने विश्वतो मुखे।
भ्रातृभिः सहितं दृश्वा ननाम च जहर्ष च॥१३॥

Finding his father standing along with his brothers in an aerial chariot, which resembled the solar lustre and was open on all the sides, he felt delighted. He offered his salutation with reverence to his father Śakti.

तदा वृषध्वजो देवः सभार्यः सगणेश्वरः।
वसिष्ठपुत्रं प्राहेदं पुत्रदर्शनतत्परम्॥१४॥

Then the bull-bannered lord Śiva, who was accompanied with Umā and his gaṇas, spoke to Śakti, the son of Vasiṣṭha, who was anxious to meet his son.

श्रीदेव उवाच

शक्ते पश्य सुतं बालमानन्दासाविलेक्षणम्।
अदृश्यन्तीं च विप्रेन्द्रं वसिष्ठं पितरं तव॥१५॥
अरुंधतीं महाभागां कल्याणीं देवतोपमाम्।
मातरं पितरं चोभौ नमस्कुरु महामते॥१६॥

The glorious lord Śiva said—

“O Śakti, you meet your son, whose eyes are wet with the tears of delight. O excellent Brähmaṇa, look at Adṛśyantī – your wife, Vasiṣṭha – your father and Arundhatī – your mother who is comparable to a goddess. You bow in reverence to both your father and mother.

तदा हरं प्रणम्याशु देवदेवमुमां तथा।

मातरं च महाभागां कल्याणीं पतिदेवताम्।
अरुंधतीं जगन्नाथनियोगात्प्राह शक्तिमान्॥१८॥

At the command of lord Śiva, Śakti – the son of Vasiṣṭha, offered his salutation to Śiva – the lord of the Devas and the goddess Umā. Then he offered his salutation to the sage Vasiṣṭha – his father, Arundhatī – his mother, the auspicious lady who took her husband to be the god. Then the powerful Śakti spoke to his son Parāśara.

वासिष्ठ उवाच

भो वत्सवत्स विप्रेन्द्र पराशर महाद्युते। रक्षितोहं त्वया तात गर्भस्थेन महात्मना॥१९॥

Vasiṣṭha said—

“O dear son and excellent Brähmaṇa, O Parāśara of immense resplendence, I have been saved by you, who had been in the womb of your mother, when I died, you are a noble soul.

अणिमादिगुणैश्वर्यं मया वत्स पराशर।
लब्धमद्याननं दृष्टं तव बाल ममाज्ञया॥१००॥
अदृश्यन्तीं महाभागां रक्ष वत्स महामते।
अरुंधतीं च पितरं वसिष्ठं मम सर्वदा॥१०१॥

O my dear son Parāśara, you possessed the qualities like Aṇimā and others and have been born as my son. I am delighted at the sight of your face. O dear son, you are immensely intelligent. At my command, you should protect the virtuous Adṛśyantī and Arundhatī – my mother, besides my father – Vasiṣṭha.

अन्वयः सकलो वत्स मम संतारितस्त्वया।
पुत्रेण लोकाञ्जयतीत्युक्तं सद्भिः सदैव हि॥१०२॥

O my dear son, you have redeemed my entire race. The noble people have always spoken that a person conquers the entire world with his sons.

ईमितं वरयेशानं जगतां प्रभवं प्रभुम्।
गमिष्याम्यभिवंदेशं भ्रातृभिः सह शङ्करम्॥१०३॥

You ask for the desired boon from lord Śiva who is the source of creation of the three worlds. I am now returning with my brothers, after offering my salutation to Śiva, the lord of the three worlds.

एवं पुत्रमुपामन्त्र्य प्रणम्य च महेश्वरम्।
निरीक्ष्य भार्या सदसि जगाम पितरं वशी॥१०४॥
गतं दृष्टाथ पितरं तदाभ्यच्छैव शङ्करम्।

गते महेश्वरे सांबे प्रणम्य च महेश्वरम्।
ददाह राक्षसानां तु कुलं मंत्रेण मंत्रवित्॥१०७॥

Thus advising his son and offering his salutation to lord Maheśvara and looking at his wife in the assembly, Śakti proceeded on to Pitṛloka, controlling all his sense organs. At the departure of his father, the son of Śakti eulogised him with pleasing words. Thereafter, the delighted Mahādeva, the destroyer of Kāmadeva and Andhaka, blessed the son of Śakti and then disappeared from the sight. After the departure of Maheśvara with Umā, Parāśara – the son of Śakti, who was well aware of the mantras, started destroying the entire race of the Rākṣasas with the use of mantras.

तदाह पौत्रं धर्मज्ञो वसिष्ठो मुनिभिर्वृतः।
अलमत्यांतकोपेन तात मन्युमिमं जहि॥१०८॥

Then the auspicious sage Vasiṣṭha, who had been surrounded by the Rṣis, spoke to his grandson – “O dear, you better stop this height of anger. Shed away the anger.

राक्षसा नापराध्यन्ति पितुस्ते विहितं तथा।
मूढानामेव भवति क्रोधो बुद्धिमतां न हि॥१०९॥

All the Rākṣasas are the culprits. Your father was destined to meet this type of fate. The people with learnings are devoid of anger. Only fools get angry.

हन्यते तात कः केन यतः स्वकृतभुक्षुमान्।
संचितस्यातिमहता वत्स क्लेशेन मानवैः॥११०॥
यशस्तपसश्चैव क्रोधो नाशकरः स्मृतः।
अलं हि राक्षसैर्दर्थैर्दीर्घैरनपराधिभिः॥१११॥

O loving grandson, who kills whom? A person has to reap the reward of his deeds. O loving grandson, the anger destroys glory and tapas. You better stop the destruction of miserable and innocent Rākṣasas. A person can control the anger with much efforts and difficulty.

सत्रं ते विरमत्वेतत्क्षमासारा हि साधवः।
एवं वसिष्ठवाक्येन शाक्तेयो मुनिपुङ्गवः॥११२॥
उपसंहतवान् सत्रं सद्यस्तद्वाक्यगौरवात्।
ततः प्रीतश्च भगवान्वसिष्ठो मुनिसत्तमः॥११३॥

You better stop your yajña. The people with nobility are always compassionate.” Hearing the words of the sage Vasiṣṭha, Parāśara, the excellent sage, stopped the yajña which had been started by him for the destruction of the demons. Thus, he delighted the sage Vasiṣṭha.

संप्रापश्च तदा सत्रं पुलस्त्यो ब्रह्मणः सुतः।
वसिष्ठेन तु दत्तार्थः कृतासनपरिग्रहः॥११४॥

त्वया तस्मान्महाभाग ददाम्यन्यं महावरम् ।
पुराणसंहिताकर्ता भवान्वत्स भविष्यति ॥ १७ ॥

Then Pulastya – the son of Brahmā, arrived in the assembly, who was appropriately adored by the sage Vasiṣṭha and offered him a seat offering the arghya to him. Then Pulastya said to Parāśara, who stood besides the sage Pulastya, offering his salutation to him– “You have put an end to a fierce enmity at the command of the preceptor. Therefore, you will be well-versed in all the scriptures. Inspite of your getting immensely enraged, you stopped the destruction of my race. Therefore, O immensely virtuous one, I bestow a great boon on you. O son, you will be the compiler of the Purāṇa Samhitā or the compendium of the ancient lore.

देवतापरमार्थं च यथावद्वेत्स्यते भवान् ।
प्रवृत्तौ वा निवृत्तौ वा कर्मणस्तेऽमला मतिः ॥ १८ ॥
मत्रसादादसंदिग्धा तत्र वत्स भविष्यति ।
ततश्च प्राह भगवान्वासिष्ठो वदतां वरः ॥ १९ ॥
पुलस्त्येन यदुक्तं ते सर्वमेतद्विष्यति ।

You will be well aware of the true nature of the deities. With my blessings, your wisdom will be free from impurities of activities, whether of active or abstentious type and will be free from doubts. Thereafter, the holy sage Vasiṣṭha, the most excellent of all the orators, said– “Whatever has been said by Pulastya will be totally accomplished.”

अथ तस्य पुलस्त्यस्य वसिष्ठस्य च धीमतः ॥ २० ॥
प्रसादाद्वैष्णवं चक्रे पुराणं वै पराशरः ।
षट्प्रकारं समस्तार्थसाधकं ज्ञानसञ्चयम् ॥ २१ ॥

Then, by the grace of the sage Pulastya and the learned Vasiṣṭha, Parāśara composed the Vaiṣṇava Purāṇa. By means of six modes, it expounds all the topics and is the mine of information.

षट्साहस्रमितं सर्वं वेदार्थेन च संयुतम् ।
चतुर्थं हि पुराणानां संहितासु सुशोभनम् ॥ २२ ॥
एष वः कथितः सर्वे वासिष्ठानां समासतः ।
प्रभवः शक्तिसूनोश्च प्रभावो मुनिपुङ्गवाः ॥ २३ ॥

It comprises of six thousand verses and also contains the Vedic topics. It is the fourth among the Purāṇas and is quite a splendid one. Thus, O excellent sages, the origin of the descendants of the sage Vasiṣṭha and the prowess of the son of Śakti has been brought out by me before you.

ऋषय ऊचुः

आदित्यवंशं सोमस्य वंशं वंशविदं वर।
वक्रुमर्हसि चास्माकं संक्षेपाद्रोमहर्षण॥१॥

The Rsi said—

O best of the learned persons of the race of Lomaharṣaṇa, you kindly speak to us briefly on the solar and the lunar dynasties.

सूत उवाच

अदितिः सुषुवे पुत्रमादित्यं कश्यपाद्विजाः ।
तस्यादित्यस्य चैवासीद्वार्यात्रियमथापरम्॥२॥

Sūta said—

O Brāhmaṇas, Kaśyapa produced from Aditi a son named Āditya. Āditya had a chief queen and three other wives.

संज्ञा राज्ञी प्रभा छाया पुत्रांस्तासां वदामि चः ।
संज्ञा त्वाष्ट्री च सुषुवे सूर्यान्मनुमनुत्तमम्॥३॥
यमं च यमुनां चैव रात्री रेवतमेव च ।
प्रभा प्रभातमादित्याच्छायां संज्ञाप्यकल्पयत्॥४॥
छाया च तस्मात्सुषुवे सार्विणी भास्करद्विजाः ।
ततः शनिं च तपतीं विष्टिं चैव यथाक्रमम्॥५॥

They were known as Samjñā, Rājñī, Pabhā and Chāyā. Now, I shall describe about their sons. Samjñā, the daughter of Tvaṣṭi, produced an excellent son named Manu. Yama was produced by Rājñī besides Yamunā and Revata. Prabhā produced Prabhātā from Āditya. Chāyā on the other hand produced Sāvarṇi, Śani, Tapti and Viṣṭi.

छाया स्वपुत्राभ्यधिकं स्नेहं चक्रे मनौ तदा ।

संताडयामास रूषा पादमुद्यम्य दक्षिणम् ।
यमेन ताडिता स तु छाया कै दुःखिताभवत्॥७॥

Chāyā loved Manu much more than his own sons, but Yama could not tolerate the same. In utter rage, he fainted. In utter rage, he kicked Chāyā with his left foot which pained her very much.

छायाशापात्पदं चैकं यमस्य क्लिन्तमुत्तमम् ।
पूयशोणितसंपूर्णं कृमीणां निचयान्वितम्॥८॥

With the curse of Chāyā, the foot of Yama developed deformity which was filled with bad blood and worms.

सोषि गोकर्णमाश्रित्य फलकेनानिलाशनः ।
आराधयन्महादेवं यावद्वर्षायुतायुतम्॥९॥

He went to Gokarṇa. There, he swimming over a wooden plank, inhaling air only, performed tapas for lord Mahādeva for a period of ten thousand years.

भवप्रसादादागत्य लोकपालत्वमुत्तमम् ।
पितॄणामाधिपत्यं तु शापमोक्षं तथैव च॥१०॥

By the grace of Bhava (Śiva), he achieved salvation, besides the position of a Lokapāla, lordship of the manes and redemption from the curse. With the influence of lord Śiva, the god of gods, he achieved all these positions.

लब्ध्वान्देवदेवस्य प्रभावाच्छूलपाणिनः ।
असहंती पुरा भानोस्तेजोमयमनिदिता॥११॥
रूपं त्वाष्ट्री स्वदेहात् छायाख्यां सा त्वकल्पयत् ।
बडवारूपमास्थाय तपस्तेषे तु सुब्रता॥१२॥

Earlier, the auspicious daughter of Tvaṣṭi, being unable to bear the excessive lustre of the sun, created another lady our of her own body, who was known as Chāyā. The lady of holy rites then assumed the form of a mare in the forest and performed penance.

कालात्प्रयत्नतो ज्ञात्वा छायां छायापतिः प्रभुः ।
बडवामगमत्संज्ञामश्वरूपेण भास्करः॥१३॥

In due course of time, lord son, the husband of Chāyā, realised after making enormous efforts that she was only the shadow. Then, he assuming the form of a horse, indulged sexual intercourse with Samjñā, who had adopted the form of a mare.

बडवा च तदा त्वाष्ट्री संज्ञा तस्माद्वाकरात् ।
सुषुवे चाश्विनौ देवौ देवानां तु भिषग्वरौ॥१४॥

Then Samjñā, the daughter of Tvaṣṭi who had taken the guise of a mare, bore to him the twin children, known as Aśvins. They became the excellent physicians of the gods.

लिखितो भास्करः पश्चात्संज्ञापित्रा महात्मना ।

निर्ममे भगवांस्त्वष्टा प्रधानं दिव्यमायुधम् ।

रुद्रप्रसादाच्च शुभं सुदर्शनमिति स्मृतम्॥१६॥

Subsequently, the sun was brought down by the noble-souled father of Samjnā. It was from the solar disc (i.e. the ground position) that the terrible discus of lord Viṣṇu, his chief divine weapon was evolved by Tvaṣṭṛ. Lord Kṛṣṇa received the same cakra which had the lustre resembling the fire of dissolution.

लब्धवान् भगवांशक्रं कृष्णः कालाग्निसन्निभम्।
मनोस्तु प्रथमस्यासन्नव पुत्रास्तु तत्समाः॥ १७॥

करुषश्च पृष्ठश्च नवैते मानवाः स्मृताः।
इला ज्येष्ठा वरिष्ठा च पुंस्त्वं प्राप च या पुरा॥ १९॥

The first Manu was the son born of Samjnā. He had nine sons who had the same lustre resembling that of his father and who were known by the names of Ikṣavāku, Nabhaṇa, Dhṛṣṇu, Śaryāti, Nariṣyanta, Nābhāga, Ariṣṭa, Karuṣa and Pṛṣaghna. Since they were the sons of Manu, they came to be known as the Mānavas. Earliest daughter was Ilā, who was the most excellent one, had a sex change and attained the state of a man. O excellent sages, it was due to the grace of Mitra and Varuṇa that she was turned into a man when she was known as Sudyumna.

सुद्युम्न इति विख्याता पुंस्त्वं प्राप्ता त्विला पुरा।
मित्रावरुणयोस्त्वत्र प्रसादान्मुनिपुङ्गवाः॥ २०॥
पुनः शरवणं प्राप्य स्त्रीत्वं प्राप्तो भवाज्या।
सुद्युम्नो मानवः श्रीमान् सोमवंशप्रवृद्धये॥ २१॥

O glorious among the sages, this happened due to the grace of Mitra and Varuṇa. She regained the state of womanhood, at the behest of Bhava, Sudyumna, the glorious son of Manu, became the woman for the increase or expansion of the lunar race.

इक्ष्वाकोरश्चमेधेन इला किंपुरुषोऽभवत्।
इला किंपुरुषत्वे च सुद्युम्न इति चोच्यते॥ २२॥

At the time of the horse sacrifice of Ikṣavāku, Ilā became Kimpuruṣa. In the position of Kimpuruṣa, she was called as Sudyumna. He was quite intelligent and was the promoter of the lunar dynasty.

मासमेकं पुमान्वीरः स्त्रीत्वं भासमभूतपुनः।

A month thereafter, he was again turned as a woman. Ilā took refuge in the house of Budha. Availing an opportunity, she had an intercourse with Budha and both of them had a son named Purūravā.

सोमवंशाग्रजो धीमान्भवभक्तः प्रतापवान्।
इक्ष्वाकोर्वशविस्तारं पश्चाद्वक्ष्ये तपोधनाः॥ २५॥

He was the first illustrious and glorious son of the lunar race. O Ṛṣis, I shall now talk about the expansion of the solar race.

पुत्रत्रयमभूतस्य सुद्युम्नस्य द्विजोत्तमाः।
उत्कलश्च गयश्चैव विनताश्वस्तथैव च॥ २६॥

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, Sudyumna had three sons, known by the names of Utkala, Gaya and Vinatāśva.

उत्कलस्योत्कलं राष्ट्रं विनताश्वस्य पश्चिमम्।
गया गयस्य चाख्याता पुरी परमशोभना॥ २७॥

Utkala received the Utkala country. Vinatāśva got the western region. The beautiful Puri was given over to the son named Gaya.

सुराणां संस्थितिर्यस्यां पितॄणां च सदा स्थितिः।
इक्ष्वाकुज्येष्टदायादो मध्यदेशमवासवान्॥ २८॥

The gods and the manes always remain present in Gayā. Ikṣavāku, who was the best of the brothers, received the Madhyadeśa.

Dharmarāja, noble soul and glorious, because of his being of feminine nature, could not receive any country to rule, but at the command of Vasiṣṭha, he was established as a glorious king in the region of Pratiṣṭhāna. After attaining kingdom, the highly blessed son of Manu, possessing the characteristics of both man and woman, became the king of great renown and he gave kingdom to Purūravā.

ज्येष्ठः पुत्रशतस्यासीदश पञ्च च तत्सुताः।

The great warrior son of Ikṣavāku was Vikuksi, who was the best among the followers of dharma besides being the oldest of Ikṣavāku's hundred sons. He had fifteen sons and the eldest was known as Kakutstha, who had a son named Suyodhana.

ततः पृथुर्मुनिश्रेष्ठा विश्वकः पार्थिवस्तथा।
विश्वकस्यार्द्धको धीमान्युवनाश्वस्तु तत्सुतः॥३३॥

O best of the sages, the sons named Viśvaka and Pārthiva were born to the king Pṛthu. Ardraka was the son of Pṛthu, while Yuvanāśva was the son of Ardraka.

Vaṁśaka was the son of Brhadāśva. He had a son named Kuvalāśva. After killing Dhundhu demon, he earned the title of Dhundhumāra.

धुंधुमारस्य तनयास्त्रयस्त्रैलोक्यविश्रुताः।

Dhundhumāra had three sons who were well known in the three worlds. The three sons were known by the names of Dr̥dhāśva, Cañḍāśva and Kapilāśva.

मुचुकुंदश्च पुण्यात्मा त्रयस्त्रैलोक्यविश्रुताः॥३९॥

Māndhātā had three sons who were famous in the three worlds who were known by the names of Purukutsa, the glorious Ambarīṣa and Mucukunda, the noble soul.

Yuvanāśva, the second, was the descendent of Ambarīṣa, while Harita was the son of Yuvanāśva. The Harita-varṇa started from him. All of them were the Aṅgiras Brāhmaṇas, but by temperament, they were Kṣatriya. The descendant of Purukutsa was the well-known Trasaddasyu. लब्धवान्गाणपत्यं च ब्रह्मयोनिर्द्विजोत्तमः ।

ततस्तस्मान्त्रौपो लब्ध्वा तण्डिना कथितं पुरा॥५०॥

He became a disciple of Taṇḍin, the son of Brahmā. By his grace, he attained the fruit of a thousand horse sacrifices. At his behest, he became a valorous devotee of Śiva and achieved the leadership of Śiva gaṇas. At the outset, he had no money with him. The religious soul thought over it as to how could he perform the horse sacrifice? O excellent Brāhmaṇa, it was at that time that he met the son of Brahmā, the Brāhmaṇa Taṇḍin and acquired from him the thousand names of Rudra which were earlier mentioned by Brahmā. Taṇḍin eulogised the great lord Śiva with the reciting of the thousand names. This excellent Brāhmaṇa, born of Brahmā, as a result thereof achieved the lordship of gaṇas. Thereafter, the king too obtained the thousand names which had been recited by Taṇḍin earlier. By repeating the thousand names of Śiva, he too achieved the lordship of gaṇas.

ऋषय ऊचुः:

The sages said—

O Sūta, the excellent one, the thousand names of Rudra, had been repeated by Taṇḍin, who was born of Brahmā. They contain enormous meanings of all the Vedic texts. It behoves you, the great soul, to mention those splendid names to us.

Sūta said—

O excellent sages, listen to the thousand and eight names of Śiva – the soul of all the living beings in the universe and whose resplendence is beyond measure. It was by repeating these (thousand and eight names) that he attained the lordship of the Śiva gaṇas.

Then the king who was quite famous in the universe, achieved the hymn of Śiva from the sage Taṇḍin and eulogised lord Śiva, who is the goal of the devotees with the permission of the sage Taṇḍin. By grace of the lord Taṇḍin, the king Tridhanvan of great fame, attained the merit of performing a thousand horse sacrifices, besides becoming the leader of the gaṇas. A person whosoever recites the auspicious names of lord Śiva or listens to them, he achieves the merit of a thousand Asvamedha sacrifices. Even if such a person is a drunkard or might have committed Brahmahatyā, be a thief, or had used the bed of the preceptor, or had killed a person who took refuge with him, or had betrayed a friend, or had killed the parents, or a child in womb, he is relieved of all these sins, in case he recites the thousand names of Śiva, thrice a day in the morning, mid-day and the evening.

Sūta said—

By the grace of Tañḍin, the god of gods, Tridhanvan acquired the merit of a thousand Aśvamedha sacrifices and also achieved the position of the chief of the gaṇas of Śiva. He became adorable by all the gods. Then, Trayyāruṇa – the intelligent king, became descendant of Ātridhanvā.

He had an extremely valorous son named Satyavrata. He, after killing the illustrious king of Vidarbha, married his daughter with the reciting of the Vedic mantras and declared her as his queen. The king Trayyāruṇa, getting dissatisfied with his performance, abandoned his son.

After discarding his son, his son asked the father, “where shall I go?” The father then replied— “You go to Cāṇḍālas and live with them.”

At the command of his father, he left the city. The intelligent Satyavrata then went to the village of the Cāṇḍālas and started living there. His father then went to the forest. O Brāhmaṇa, Purūravas, a valorous son of Ilā and a devotee of Rudra, held an unhindered sway in the holy land of Prayāga, situated on the northern bank of the river Yamunā, frequented by the sages. He was the glorious lord of Pratiṣṭhāna (Prayāga) which is situated on the northern bank of the Yamunā river.

Āyu had five sons of great power. They were the kings born of Prabhā – the daughter of Svarabhānu.

नहुषः प्रथमस्तेषां धर्मज्ञो लोकविश्रुतः ।
नहुषस्य तु दायादाः षडिन्द्रोपमतेजसः ॥६०॥

Nahuṣa was the first among them. He was well-known in the worlds and was conversant with Dharma. Nahuṣa's successors were six and were comparable with Indra in splendour.

The immensely valorous kings were born out of Virajā – the daughter of Piṭṛs and were known by the names of Yati, Yayāti, Sañyāti, Āyāti, Andhaka and Vijāti. All of them were quite famous. Yati was the eldest of all of them, while Yayāti was younger to him.

तेषां ययातिः पञ्चानां महाबलपराक्रमः ॥६३॥

Yati, the eldest son, was desirous of salvation and he merged into Brahman. Of the remaining five, Yayāti was the youngest of all but was quite valorous at the same time.

He married Devayānī, the daughter of Śukrācārya. On the other hand, Śarmiṣṭhā, the daughter of Viṣaparvā was turned as Āsuri.

Śarmiṣṭhā – the daughter of Vṛśaparvā produced three children known as Puru, Anu and Druhya. At the request of Yayāti, the glorious Śukra gave him a chariot, which was made of gold and was quite glittering, besides two undecaying bows.

युक्तं मनोजवैरश्वैर्येन कन्यां समुद्धन् ।
स तेन रथमुख्येन षण्मासेनाजयन्महीम् ॥६८॥

The steed were yoked in it and it could move with the speed of the mind. He had brought his bride to his home by that chariot. He conquered the entire earth using the chariot within six months.

Yayāti had been a terror while fighting with the gods, demons and the humans. He was devoted to Śiva, the auspicious soul and was devoted to Dharma. He performed yajñas, overpowered anger and was compassionate on all the living beings. The chariot was best of the Kauravas but was destroyed by Parīkṣita, who was born in the Kuru race.

Janamejaya troubled Akrūra, the son of Garga and then killed him, earning the sin of Brahmahatyā. The royal priest, with iron like fragrance, started wandering here and there with him. After he was discarded by the people of the country and the citizens, he could not regain pleasure. He always felt painful. He went to take refuge with Śaunaka. The Rṣi was quite a large hearted one, was known by the name of Indreti. It was he who performed the yajña on behalf of Janamejaya. O excellent Brāhmaṇa, in order to purify the king Janamejaya, he performed an Aśvamedha sacrifice.

Lohagandha – the immensely valorous king, was relieved of the bad smell of iron as well as his sin. In the middle of the Avabhr̥tha ablution, the divine and the splendid chariot vanished. Lost from the family, it was given over to Vasu king of Cedi by the delightful Indra. The same chariot was acquired by Bṛhadratha from him. Thereafter, killing Jarāsandha, a successor of Bṛhadratha, Bhīma, a scion of the family of Kurus, gave away the excellent chariot to Śrī Kṛṣṇa out of love.

Nahuṣa's son Yayāti crowned Puru – his son, as the king after himself. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, it was by Puru alone, that he had been helped before. People of all the castes, including the leading Brāhmaṇas, spoke to the king who was desirous of crowning his youngest son— “O Lord, how does the youngest son deserve the kingdom after overlooking the claim of the eldest son Yadu, the son of Devayānī and the grandson of Śukra? We are addressing you to keep alive the traditional dharma.”

It is Yadu – my eldest son, who disobeyed me. In case a son, using his own wisdom, acts against the desire of his father, then that situation is not acceptable to the noble people.

Chapter 67

Story of Yayāti of Somavarmīśa

ययातिरुवाच

ब्राह्मणप्रमुखा वर्णाः सर्वे शृण्वन्तु मे वचः ।
ज्येष्ठं प्रति यथा राज्यं न देयं मे कथञ्चन॥१॥

Yayāti said—

All the people should listen to my words

This boon was given by the sage Śukrācārya himself, that the son who favours you shall be your heir to the kingdom. Therefore, all of you should approve the same. Only then Puru shall be crowned as the king.

प्रकृतय ऊचुः

वरदानेन शुक्रस्य न शक्यं कर्तुमन्यथा।

The people said—

The son possessing the good qualities and the well-wisher of his parents, inspite of his being the younger one, should be patronised. Therefore, Puru deserves to be the king since he is the son who obeyed the command of his father. Because of the boon granted by Śukra, things cannot be otherwise.

Sūta said—

The son of Nahuṣa was thus told by the delighted people of the land. After crowning his son Puru in his own kingdom, he directed Turvasu, his son, to be the chief of the southern quarters.

Similarly, the king entrusted the kingship of western region, while Anu was deputed in the eastern region.

Thus distributing his kingdom in three parts and entrusting the burden on his kins, the king was pleased.

This is the story initially told by the king Yayāti. As a tortoise squeezes all its limbs in its own body, a person who squeezes all his desires within himself, such a person achieves all the fortunes and none else. Inspite of his doing of the crores of noble works, the passions never die out after enjoying them in the same way as the flames rise by pouring of the ghee in the fire. Whatever is produced by as cereals or barley, the entire such produce, besides the gold, animals and the women, cannot satisfy the innumerable desires of a single person. Keeping the facts in view, a person should free himself of all the desires. When a person does not develop evil thoughts in his mind, speech and the body, he surely achieves Brahman. When a person is not afraid of anyone, when a person does not denounce others and does not becomes jealous of others, then he surely achieves Brahman. The desire which cannot be discarded inspite of the best efforts, which is never worn out even after a person's becoming old, such a desire resembles the ailment which ends with the life alone. One who discards the same, feels comfortable thereafter. When a person reaches the old age, his teeth, strength, eyes and the ears grow old, but the desire or the lust never gets old rather it becomes more and more strong. Everything in a person gets old by nature, but the desire to remain alive after reaching the old age and the desire for getting more riches never decays. The happiness arising out of the fulfilment of the desires in the world and the great divine happiness of the heaven do not merit even a sixteenth part of that happiness which one achieves when the thirst for objects is dispelled. Thus speaking, the Rājarṣi accompanied with his queen retired to the forest.

Then he performed tapas over the peak of Bhṛgutunga mountain. The immensely glorious king, then, while fasting, achieved the heaven with his queens. The race of descendants comprising of the five auspicious kings were honoured by the divine Rsis and the gods. The glory of those kings is spread over the earth in the same way as the sun rays are spread over the earth. An intelligent person who reads the story of Yayāti or listens to it, he achieves long life and glory. He getting relieved of all the sins is honoured in the abode of Śiva.

He had a learned son known by the name of Nala who had a friend named Tumīvaru. He became famous by the name of Candanānakadundubhi.

तस्मादप्यजित्पुत्र उत्पन्नोस्य पुनर्वसुः।
अश्वमेधं स पुत्रार्थमाजहार नरोत्तमः॥ ३५॥

Ajita was born of him. He had a son named Punarvasu. The excellent king performed the Aśvamedha sacrifice for getting a son.

तस्य मध्येतिग्रात्रस्य सदोमध्यात्समुत्थितः।
ततस्तु विद्वान् सर्वज्ञो दाता यज्वा पुनर्वसुः॥ ३६॥

When the excellent mantras were recited during the performing of the sacrifices, then the infant Punarvasu was born in the assembly of the priests. Later on, he became a learned person, all knowledgeable, donor and the performer of the yajñas.

Twin sons were born to Abhijit. They were the best among the glorious people and were known by the names of Āhuka and Āhukī.

आहुकात्काशयदुहितुद्वौ पुत्रौ संबभूवतुः।
देवकश्चोग्रसेनश्च देवगर्भसमावृभौ॥ ३८॥

Āhuka produced from the daughter of the donor Kāśirāja, two sons named Devaka and Ugrasena. Both of them resembled the sons of gods.

देवकस्य सुता राज्ञो जज्ञिरे त्रिदशोपमाः।
देववानुपदेवश्च सुदेवो देवरक्षितः॥ ३९॥

Devaka had four sons resembling the gods who were known by the names of Devavān, Upadeva, Sudeva and Devarakṣita.

He had seven sisters. The king gave away all of them to Vasudeva. They were known by the names of Vṛṣadevā, Upadevā, Devadakṣitā, Śrīdevā, Śāntidevā, Sahadevā and Devakī. Out of all of them, Devakī was most beautiful with slender waist, besides being the best and the senior most of them all.

नवोग्रसेनस्य सुतास्तेषां कंसस्तु पूर्वजः।

Ugrasena had nine sons and Kamīsa was the eldest of all of them. He had thousands of sons and the grandsons.

देवकस्य सुता पल्ली वसुदेवस्य धीमतः ।

Devakī was the wife of the intelligent Vasudeva. She was quite a chaste lady and was adored by the gods.

असूत रोहिणी रामं बलश्रेष्ठं हलायुधम् ।

Rohinī, the wife of Ānanda Dundubhi (Vasudeva) and the daughter of the king Vāhlika, known as Pauravī, was worshipped by the gods. Rohinī produced Balarāma – the carrier of the plough.

जाते रामेऽथ निहते छङ्गर्भे चातिदक्षिणे ।
वसुदेवो हरिं धीमान्देवक्यामुदपादयत्॥४६॥

After killing the six innocent children and after the birth of Balarāma, Kṛṣṇa was born of the intelligent Devakī by Vasudeva.

स एव परमात्मासौ देवदेवो जनार्दनः ।
हलायुधश्च भगवाननंतो रजतप्रभः॥४७॥

He is the supreme soul, god of gods, besides being Viṣṇu. Balarāma had the silver like shining lustre and is the incarnation of the serpent Śeṣa.

भृगुशापच्छलेनैव मानयन्मानुर्षीं तनुम् ।
बभूव तस्यां देवक्यां वासुदेवो जनार्दनः॥४८॥

As a result of the curse pronounced by the sage Bhrgu, Viṣṇu agreed to human form and was born as the son of Vasudeva from the womb of Devakī.

उमादेहसमुद्धता योगनिद्रा च कौशिकी ।
नियोगाद्वेवस्य यशोदातनया ह्यभूत्॥४९॥

At the same time, Kauśikī as Yoganidrā, who emerged out of the body of Umā, was born as the daughter of Yaśodā at the command of the god of gods.

सा चैव प्रकृतिः साक्षात्सर्वदेवनमस्कृता ।
पुरुषो भगवान्कृष्णो धर्ममोक्षफलप्रदः॥५०॥

She happens to be Prakṛti who is adored by all the gods, while Śrī Kṛṣṇa happens to be Puruṣa, who bestows the reward for dharma and mokṣa.

तां कन्यां जगृहे रक्षकंसात्स्वस्यात्मजं तदा ।

शङ्खचक्रगदापद्मं धारयतं जनार्दनम् ।
यशोदायै प्रदत्त्वा तु वसुदेवश्च बुद्धिमान्॥५२॥

To save the life of his own son from Karīsa, Vasudeva accepted the infant daughter of Yaśodā in exchange for his four-armed infant with vast eyes and Śrīvatsa mark over the chest and holder of conch, discus, mace and lotus, known as Kṛṣṇa.

दत्त्वैनं नन्दगोपस्य रक्षतामिति चाब्रवीत् ।
रक्षकं जगतां विष्णुं स्वेच्छया धृतविग्रहम्॥५३॥

The intelligent Vasudeva gave away his son in exchange to Nanda (the husband of Yaśodā). That child was the lord of three worlds and had taken to human form according to his own will. He said to Nanda – “You kindly save his life.”

प्रसादाच्चैव देवस्य शिवस्यामिततेजसः ।

भूभारनिग्रहार्थं च ह्यवतीर्णं जगदगुरुम् ।
अतो वै सर्वकल्याणं यादवानां भविष्यति॥५५॥

The god of gods who was resplendent like fire, by the grace of Śiva – the glorious one, had taken to the human form at his own will and the protector of the three worlds, finding with Rāma said – “In order to reduce the burden of the earth, the preceptor of the world has incarnated on earth. The Yādavas will be benefited by this. The son of Devakī shall remove all our misfortunes.”

अयं स गर्भो देवक्या यो नः क्लेश्यान्हरिष्यति।

Vasudeva then informed Karīsa, the son of Ugrasena— “A meritorious girl has been born which is the eighth child of Devakī. O Karīsa, O excellent one, surely he will be the cause of your death.” Because of this, Karīsa even tried to kill that infant girl. But the eight-armed daughter of Nanda slipped out of the hands of Karīsa and fled in the sky. The goddess thundered in the voice resembling the thunder of the clouds and declared— “You better protect your body. The time for your death has arrived.

रक्षमाणस्य देहस्य मायावी कंसरूपिणः।
किं कृतं दुष्कृतं मूर्खं जातः खलु तवांतकृत्॥६०॥

O foolish Karīsa, you while protecting your body, have committed enormous sins. In fact, the one who is destined to kill you has already been born.” .

देवक्या: स भयात्कंसे जघानैवाष्टमंत्विति।
स्मरंति विहितो मृत्युर्देवस्यास्तनयोऽष्टमः॥६१॥

It is said that getting afraid of Devakī, Karīsa killed her eighth child. But in reality, the eighth son of Devakī actually became the cause of the death of Karīsa.

यस्तत्रितिकृतौ यत्नो भोजस्यासीद्वृथा हरेः।
प्रभावान्मुनिशार्दूलास्तया चैव जडीकृतः॥६२॥

O excellent sage, all the efforts to take revenge from Bhoja proved useless before Kṛṣṇa. With the influence of Kauśikī’s Māyā, he became infructuous.

कंसोपि निहतस्तेन कृष्णेनाक्लिष्टकर्मणा।
निहता बहवाश्वान्ये देवब्राह्मणघातिनः॥६३॥

Then Kṛṣṇa, the performer of the difficult tasks, killed Karīsa together with the killers of the Brāhmaṇas and the gods.

तस्य कृष्णस्य तनयाः प्रद्युम्नप्रमुखस्तथा।
बहवः परिसंख्याताः सर्वे युद्धविशारदाः॥६४॥

The sons of Kṛṣṇa like Pradyumna and others have already been mentioned. They were numerous and were all well-versed in war.

कृष्णपुत्राः समाख्याताः कृष्णेन सदृशाः सुताः।
पुत्रेष्वेतेषु सर्वेषु चारुदेष्णादयो हरेः॥६५॥
विशिष्टा बलवंतश्च रौक्षिमणेयारिसूदनाः।

चारुश्रवाश्वारुयशाः प्रद्युम्नः सांब एव च।
एते लब्धास्तु कृष्णेन शूलपाणिप्रसादतः॥६९॥

The sons of Kṛṣṇa were as valorous as Kṛṣṇa himself. Out of all his sons, Cāruḍeṣṇa and his brothers were particularly strong. They were the sons of Rukmini and were the destroyers of their enemies. Śrī Kṛṣṇa had sixteen thousand and one hundred wives. Rukmini was the senior-most of them all besides being the dearest to Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Together with Śrī Kṛṣṇa and living on inhaling air alone, she adored lord Śiva for twelve years for getting a son. By the grace of the trident bearing Śiva, they got eight sons, who were known by the names of Cāruḍeṣṇa, Sucāru, Cāruveṣa, Yaśodhara, Cārusravā, Cāruyaśa, Pradyumna and Sāmba.

तान् दृष्टा तनयान्वीरान् रौक्षिमणेयांश्च रुक्षिमणीम्।

जांबवत्यन्नवीत्कृष्णं भार्या कृष्णस्य धीमतः॥७०॥

Finding the valorous sons of Rukmini and Rohinī, Jāmbavatī once said to Śrī Kṛṣṇa.

मम त्वं पुण्डरीकाक्ष विशिष्टं गुणवत्तरम्।

सुरेशसंमितं पुत्रं प्रसन्नो दातुमर्हसि॥७१॥

"O lotus-eyed one, in case you are pleased with me, then get me a son resembling the gods, who should be all virtuous."

जांबवत्या वचः श्रुत्वा जगन्नाथस्ततो हरिः।

तपस्तसुं सप्तरेभे तपोनिधिरनिंदितः॥७२॥

Hearing the words of Jāmbavatī, lord Kṛṣṇa – the ocean of tapas, then started performing tapas.

सोऽथ नारायणः कृष्णः शङ्खचक्रगदाधरः।

व्याघ्रपादस्य च मुनेर्गत्वा चैवाश्रमोत्तमम्॥७३॥

प्रलुप्तश्मश्रुकेशश्च घृताको मुञ्जमेखली।

दीक्षितो भगवान्कृष्णस्तताप च परंतपः॥७५॥

Kṛṣṇa – Nārāyaṇa, the holder of conch, discus and a club, went to the excellent hermitage of the sage Vyāghrapāda. After offering his salutation to the sage, Śrī Kṛṣṇa received the divine Pāśupata yoga. At his behest, he shaved off the beard, moustaches and the hair on the head, applied clarified butter all over the body and wore the girdle of muñja grass. Thus initiated, lord Kṛṣṇa, the scorcher of the foes, performed a great penance. The penance was performed by him in serious poses.

ऊर्ध्वबाहुर्निरालंबः पादांगुष्ठग्रधिष्ठितः।

फलाम्बनिलभोजी च ऋतुत्रयमधोक्षजः॥७६॥

He stood with his arms raised up and without support. He stood on the tips of his toes. He spent three seasons living on fruits, water and air.

तपसा तस्य संतुष्टे ददौ रुद्रो बहून् वरान्।

सांबं जांबवतीपुत्रं कृष्णाय च महात्मने॥७७॥

Lord Śiva was pleased with his penance and granted him the boons. A son named Sāmba was bestowed by Śiva to the noble-souled Kṛṣṇa to be born as son to Jāmbavatī.

तथा जांबवती चैव सांबं भार्या हरेः सुतम्।

प्रहर्षमतुलं लेभे लब्धवादित्यं यथादितिः॥७८॥

On getting a son named Sāmba from Kṛṣṇa, Jāmbavatī – the wife of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, was immensely delighted in the same way as Aditi was delighted at the birth of her son Āditya.

बाणस्य च तदा तेन च्छेदितं मुनिपुङ्गवाः।

भुजानां चैव साहस्रं शापादुद्रस्य धीमतः॥७९॥

O excellent sages, by the curse of lord Śiva, the thousand hands of Bāṇa were cut off by Kṛṣṇa.

अथ दैत्यवधं चक्रे हलायुधसहायवान्।

तथा दुष्टक्षितीशानां लीलयैव रणाजिरे॥८०॥

Then with the help of Balarāma, Śrī Kṛṣṇa carried out the destruction of the Daityas and killed several kings sportily in the battle-ground.

स हत्वा देवसंभूतं नरकं दैत्यपुङ्गवम्।

ब्राह्मणस्योर्ध्वचक्रस्य वरदानान्महात्मनः॥८१॥

The prominent Naraka, who was born of the gods, was also killed by him with the boon granted by a Brāhmaṇa named Urdhvacakra.

स्वोपभोग्यानि कन्यानां षोडशातुलविक्रमः।

शताधिकानि जग्राह सहस्राणि महाबलः॥८२॥

शापव्याजेन विप्राणामुपसंहतवान् कुलम्।
संहत्य तत्कुलं चैव प्रभासेऽतिष्ठदच्युतः॥८३॥

The immensely valorous one with unparalleled exploits to his credit, Śrī Kṛṣṇa took up sixteen thousand and one hundred girls for his own pleasure. Under the pretext of a curse from a Brāhmaṇa, he destroyed the families of Vṛṣnis and after so doing, the lord stayed at Prabhāsa.

तदा तस्यैव तु गतं कृष्णामधिकं शतम्।

विश्वामित्रस्य कण्वस्य नारदस्य च धीमतः।
शापं पिण्डारकेऽरक्षद्वचो दुर्वाससस्तदा॥८५॥

After the lapse of over a hundred years during Kṛṣṇa's ruling Dvārakā, removing distress due to the old age, he accepted the curses pronounced by Viśvāmitra, Kaṇva, intelligent Nārada and Durvāsā and stayed in Piṇḍāraka.

त्यक्त्वा च मानुषं रूपं जरकास्त्रच्छलैन तु।
अनुगृह्ण च कृष्णोपि लुब्धकं प्रययौ दिवम्॥८६॥

Then the lord discarded the human form under the pretext of an arrow shot by a hunter named Jaraka and after blessing that hunter, he returned to the heaven.

अष्टावक्रस्य शापेन भार्याः कृष्णस्य धीमतः।
चौरेश्वापहताः सर्वास्तस्य मायाबलेन च॥८७॥

Due to the curse of Aṣṭāvakra pronounced on him and also because of his own māyā, the wives of lord Kṛṣṇa were abducted by the thieves.

बलभद्रोपि संत्यज्य नागो भूत्वा जगाम च।
महिष्यस्तस्य कृष्णस्य रुक्मिणी प्रमुखाः शुभाः॥८८

रामस्य च तथान्येषां कृष्णीनामपि सुव्रतः।
कंदमूलफलैस्तस्य वह्निकार्यं चकार सः॥९१॥

Balarāma discarded his human form and resuming the form of Śeṣa, he returned to his heavenly abode. The auspicious queens of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, viz. Rukmīṇī and others, entered the fire with the body of their lord. O Brāhmaṇas, Revatī – the noble lady, too entered the pyre, along with the body of her husband Balarāma and followed his path. The immensely powerful Arjuna performed the last rites of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, Balarāma and other Vṛṣnis. O auspicious men with the bulbous roots, fruits and roots, he performed the rites of oblation for want of wealth.

द्रव्याभावात्स्वयं पार्थो भ्रातृभिश्च दिवङ्गतः।

यः पठेच्छृण्याद्वापि ब्राह्मणान् श्रावयेदपि।

Then Arjuna too proceeded to the heaven with his brothers. Thus ended the exploits and performance of Śrī Kṛṣṇa of unparalleled activity (a form of Viṣṇu) who adopted his human form out of his own free will. It has been narrated by me in detail. O Brāhmaṇas, one who reads this narration of the kings of the lunar race or listens to it or narrates it to others, he undoubtedly goes to the abode of lord Viṣṇu.

Worldly creations

ऋषय ऊचुः:

आदिसर्गस्त्वया सूत सूचितो न प्रकाशितः।
सांप्रतं विस्तरेणैव वक्तुर्मर्हसि सुब्रत॥१॥

The Sages said—

You have introduced the universe or creation to us but not exhaustively. You have not spoken about it quite clearly. O excellent one, you kindly explain about it in details.

सूत उवाच

महेश्वरो महादेवः प्रकृते: पुरुषस्य च।
परत्वे संस्थितो देवः परमात्मा मुनीश्वराः॥२॥

Sūta said—

O excellent Ṛṣis, lord Maheśvara is beyond Puruṣa as well as Prakṛti and is the supreme soul.

अव्यक्तं चेश्वरात्स्मादभवत्कारणं परम्।
प्रधानं प्रकृतिश्वेति यदाहुस्तत्त्वचिंतकाः॥३॥

The invisible surprise emerged from the same Maheśvara, who is wonderful; besides being the great cause. The learned people well-versed in tattva, call him as Pradhāna or Prakṛti.

गंधवर्णरसैहीनं शब्दस्पर्शविवर्जितम्।
अजरं धूक्षमक्षय्यं नित्यं स्वात्मन्यवस्थितम्॥४॥

He is devoid of fragrance, colour and juice. He is devoid of sound and touch. He is beyond change, indestructible, unshakeable, indeclinable, indestructible and is always lodged in the soul.

जगद्योनिं महाभूतं परं ब्रह्म सनातनम्।
विग्रहः सर्वभूतानामीश्वराज्ञाप्रचोदितम्॥५॥

He is the source of the origin of the universe, besides being the eternal supreme Brahman. He is Mahābhūta. He is the material body of all the living beings. He is influenced with the command of Iśvara.

अनाद्यंतमजं सूक्ष्मं त्रिगुणं प्रभवाव्ययम्।
अप्रकाशमविज्ञेयं ब्रह्मग्रे समर्वता॥६॥

The Pradhāna came into being in the form of Brahman. He is beyond beginning or end. He is unborn and possesses three guṇas and is subtle. He is the source of the creation of the world besides being imperishable. He is neither visible nor invisible.

अस्यात्मना सर्वमिदं व्यासं त्वासीच्छिवेच्छ्या।
गुणसाम्ये तदा तस्मिन्नविभागे तपोमये॥७॥

When the guṇas were in parallel range when it was undivided and when he was the form of darkness, then the universe or the sight, at the command of lord Śiva, came into existence.

सर्गकाले प्रधानस्य क्षेत्रज्ञाधिष्ठितस्य वै।
गुणवाभाद्व्यज्यमानो महान्प्रादुर्बूध्यूव ह॥८॥

At the time of creation, as the Pradhāna was presided over by the individual soul, the Puruṣa, the principal Mahat had manifested revealing itself as subsidiary to Prakṛti.

सूक्ष्मेण महता चाथ अव्यक्तेन समावृतम्।
सत्त्वोद्विको महानग्रे सत्तामात्रप्रकाशकः॥९॥

It was covered with the subtle and great unmanifest. At the outset, when the principle of Mahat had the predominance of sattva, then only it revealed its existence. The Mahat should be known as the cosmic mind and is said to be the sole cause of creation.

मनो महास्तु विजेयमेकं तत्कारणं स्मृतम्।
समुत्पत्रं लिङ्गमात्रं क्षेत्रज्ञाधिष्ठितं हि तत्॥१०॥

It originated as presided over by the individual soul and only as beneficent symbol.

धर्मदीनि च रूपाणि लोकतत्त्वार्थहेतवः ।
महान् सृष्टिं विकृते चोद्यमानः सिसृक्षया॥११॥

It's forms known as Dharma etc. are the causes of the principles and objects of the world. Indeed, the desire to create the Mahat carries the activity of creation.

मनो महान्मतिर्ब्रह्म पूरुद्धिः ख्यातिरीश्वरः ।
प्रज्ञा चितिः स्मृतिः संविद्विशेशश्वेति स स्मृतः॥१२॥

It is variously known as Manas (mind), Mahat (great), Mati (intellect), Brahman, Pūrūḍhi (city), Buddhi (intellect), Khyāti (popularity), Īśvara (lord), Prajñā (perfect knowledge), Citi (consciousness), Smṛti (memory), Samvid (cognition) and Viśveśa (lord of the universe).

मनुते सर्वभूतानां यस्माच्चेष्टा फलं ततः ।
सौक्ष्यात्तेन विभक्तं तु येन तन्मन उच्यते॥१३॥

It is known as Manas because it presides over the fruit of activity of all living beings. As it is subtle, the fruits of activities appear to be divided i.e. many and different.

तत्त्वानामग्रजो यस्मान्महांश्च परिमाणतः ।
विशेषेभ्यो गुणेभ्योपि महानिति ततः स्मृतः॥१४॥

It is called Mahat because it originated at the outset, prior to all other principles as well as due to its magnitude. It is greater than the Śeṣas and the gunas.

बिभर्ति मानं मनुते विभागं मन्यतेषि च ।
पुरुषो भोगं संबंधात्तेन चासौ मतिः स्मृतः॥१५॥

It comprises of the magnitude. It ponders and causes differentiation. It is also related to enjoyment (i.e. experience) of Puruṣa. Therefore, it is also known as Mati.

बृहत्त्वात्पूर्णत्वाच्च भावानां सकलाश्रयात् ।
यस्माद्वारयते भावान्ब्रह्म तेन निरुच्यते॥१६॥

It is defined as Brahman because of its greatness and Bṛhaṇatva, because of its swollen condition and also because it contains in itself all experiences which are dependant on all external objects.

यः पूरयति यस्माच्च कृत्स्नान्देवाननुग्रहैः ।
नयते तत्त्वभावं च तेन पूरिति चोच्यते॥१७॥

It is called Pūrūḍhi because it fills the gods with blessings and leads men to the state of awareness (from the root pr).

बुध्यते पुरुषश्चात्र सर्वान् भावान् हितं तथा ।
यस्माद्वारयते चैव बुद्धिस्तेन निरुच्यते॥१८॥

Surās, the Puruṣa, is known through it and because it makes all the objects known, what is wholesome from what is not, is called Buddhi.

ख्यातिः प्रत्युपभोगश्च यस्मात्संवर्तते ततः ।
भोगस्य ज्ञाननिष्ठत्वात्तेन ख्यातिरिति स्मृतः॥१९॥

Some enjoyment of pleasure is based on knowledge thereof and also since each item of enjoyment is dependent on knowledge, it is known by the word Khyāti.

ख्यायते तद्वैर्वापि ज्ञानादिभिरनेकशः ।
तस्माच्च महतः संज्ञा ख्यातिरित्यभिधीयते॥२०॥

The principle of Mahat is called Khyāti also because objects in many instances are named Khyāti through its qualities like knowledge etc.

साक्षात्सर्वं विजानाति महात्मा तेन चेश्वरः ।
यस्माज्ज्ञानानुग्राहैव प्रज्ञा तेन स उच्यते॥२१॥

There is a great soul which knows everything. Therefore, he is called Īśvara as well. It is the follower of jīvāna, therefore it is called prajñā as well.

ज्ञानादीनि च रूपाणि बहुकर्मफलानि च ।
त्रिनोति यस्माद्वोगार्थं तेनासौ चितिरुच्यते॥२२॥

Since it collects the forms of jñāna together with the fruits of the activities like the yajñas therefore, it is also called as citi.

वर्तमानव्यतीतानि तथैवानागतान्यपि ।

स्मरते सर्वकार्याणि तेनासौ स्मृतिरुच्यते॥ २३॥

Since it remembers all the activities of the past, present and future, it is called as Smṛti as well.

कृत्स्नं च विदते ज्ञानं यस्मान्माहात्म्यमुत्तमम् ।

तस्माद्विद्विर्विदेश्वैव संविदित्याभिधीयते॥ २४॥

It is called all knowledgeable because it possesses all the knowledge besides being aware of the importance of everything. Because of this, it is also called Sarvavid.

विद्यतेषि च सर्वत्र तस्मिन्सर्वं च विदति ।

तस्मात्संविदिति प्रोक्तो महद्विर्मुनिसत्तमाः॥ २५॥

O Sages, the great personalities also call it Sarvavid for some other causes as well. It is all pervading and it contains everything and because of this also, it is called Sarvavid.

ज्ञानातेज्ज्ञानमित्याहुर्भगवान् ज्ञानसंनिधिः ।

बंधनादिपरीभावादीश्वरः प्रोच्यते बुधैः॥ २६॥

The word jñāna is formed from the root jñā which means to know. Therefore, it is also called jñāna. Since the lord is the source of all the knowledge besides being its storehouse, it has the capacity to free the people from the bondage. Therefore, the people with wisdom call Mahat as Īśvara.

पर्यायवाचकैः शब्दैस्तत्त्वमाद्यमनुत्तमम् ।

व्याख्यातं तत्त्वभावज्ञैर्देवसद्ग्रावर्चितकैः॥ २७॥

The learned people have spelt out various realistic names of Mahat-tattva, which are aware of the nature of the tattvas and those who are always devoted to Śiva.

महान्सृष्टि विकुरुते चोद्यमानः सिसृक्षया ।

सङ्कल्पोध्यवसायश्च तस्य वृत्तिद्वयं स्मृतम्॥ २८॥

Mahat advances the activity of the world, further. When it is inspired for the creation of the universe, then Saṅkalpa and preservation become its two intentions.

त्रिगुणाद्रजसोद्रिकादहङ्कारसत्तोऽभवत् ।

महता च वृतः सर्गो भूतादिर्बाह्यतस्तु सः॥ २९॥

There are three guṇas in Mahat, but aharikāra (pride) has emerged from the guṇa. Thus, the entire universe is enveloped with Mahat. It is exterior to Bhūtādi.

तस्मादेव तमोद्रिकादहङ्कारादजायत ।

भूततन्मात्रसर्गस्तु भूतादिस्तामस्तु सः॥ ३०॥

From the same aharikāra with predominating tamas over the other two came about the creation of Bhūtatanmātras (the essence of sound etc.). It is called Bhūtādi (cause of elements) and it is tāmas in nature.

भूतादिस्तु विकुर्वाणः शब्दमात्रं ससर्ज ह ।

आकाशं सुषिरं तस्मादुत्पत्रं शब्दलक्षणम्॥ ३१॥

The Bhūtādi on disintegration created Śabdatanmātrā (the essence of sound). From this was born Ākāśa or the sky, or Suṣira, which is marked by sound.

आकाशं शब्दमात्रं तु स्पर्शमात्रं समावृणोत् ।

वायुश्चापि विकुर्वाणो रूपमात्रं ससर्ज ह ॥ ३२॥

ज्योतिरुत्पद्यते वायोस्तदूपगुणमुच्यते ।

स्पर्शमात्रस्तु वै वायू रूपमात्रं समावृणोत् ॥ ३३॥

ज्येतिश्चापि विकुर्वाणं रसमात्रं ससर्ज ह ।

संभवंति ततो द्वापस्ता वै सर्वरसात्मिकाः॥ ३४॥

Ākāśa, characterised by sound, developed sparsa-tanmātrā which on disintegration created Vāyu characterised by touch. Vāyu on disintegration created Rūpa-tanmātrā. Therefore, it is said that Jyotiṣ originated out of Vāyu, with colour as its quality. Jyotiṣ on disintegration created Rasa-tanmātrā. Apaḥ (waters) created from it with taste as their main quality.

रसमात्रस्तु ता ह्यपो रूपमात्रोनिरावृणोत्।
आपश्चापि विकुर्वत्यो गंधमात्रं ससर्जिरे॥३५॥

Agni – the fiery element, with the Rūpatanmātrā covered the Rasatanmātrās. Waters on disintegration created Gandhatanmātrā.

संघातो जायते तस्मात्स्य गंधो गुणो मतः।
तस्मिंस्तस्मिंश्च तन्मात्रं तेन तन्मात्रता स्मृता॥३६॥

The solid earth originated from it. Its special attribute is small, when each of the element remains within its specific quality, like sound etc. it is called Tanmātrā and this exclusive nature is called tanmātrā.

अविशेषवाचकत्वादविशेषास्तस्तु ते।
प्रशांतघोरमूढत्वादविशेषास्ततः पुनः॥३७॥

The Tanmātrās are also called Aviśeṣas, because in that stage, they do not define anything in particular as distinct from others. They are Aviśeṣas for another reason as well. They are Prasāntas or the terrible or the compound ones.

भूतन्मात्रसर्गोयं विज्ञेयस्तु परस्परम्।
वैकारिकादहङ्कारात्सत्त्वोद्दिक्कातु सात्त्विकात्॥३८॥

This creation of the tanmātrās of the bhūtas should be known as the one that is mutual. The other creations are from the Vaikārika or having undergone change i.e. aharikāra or ego or from Sāttvika wherein the Sattva guṇa predominates.

वैकारिकः ससर्गस्तु युगपत्संप्रवर्तते।
बुद्धींद्रियाणि पञ्चैव कर्मेन्द्रियाणि च॥३९॥
साधकानीन्द्रियाणि स्युर्देवा वैकारिका दश।
एकादशं मनस्तत्र स्वगुणोनोभयात्मकम्॥४०॥

The Vaikārika creation functions simultaneously. There are five senses of knowledge and five senses of activity. These ten senses are the means of achievements. The eleventh is the mind. By its very nature, the mind has qualities of the organ of sense and organ of function.

श्रोत्रं त्वक् चक्षुषी जिह्वा नासिका चैव पञ्चमी।
शब्दादीनामवाप्त्यर्थं बुद्धियुक्तानि तानि वै॥४१॥

The five sense organs are – ear, skin, eye, tongue, palate and the nose. They are endowed with the power of perceiving their respective qualities.

पादौ पायुरुपस्थश्च हस्तौ वाग्दशमी भवेत्।
गतिर्विसर्गो ह्यानंदः शिल्पं वाक्यं च कर्म तत्॥४२॥

The legs, rectum, private parts, hands and organs of speech are the organs of function or activity. Their activities are respectively – movement, evacuation, pleasure, arts, crafts and speech.

आकाशं शब्दमात्रं च स्पर्शमात्रं समाविशत्।
द्विगुणस्तु ततो वायुः शब्दस्पर्शात्मकोऽभवत्॥४३॥

Both ether and the element of sound penetrated the element of touch. Therefore, the wind has both the elements of sound and touch.

रूपं तथैव विशतः शब्दस्पर्शगुणवृभौ।
त्रिगुणस्तु ततस्त्वग्निः सशब्दस्पर्शरूपवान्॥४४॥

Similarly, both sound and touch entered colour. Therefore, the fire has three qualities of sound, touch and colour.

सशब्दस्पर्शरूपं च रसमात्रं समाविशत्।
तस्माच्चतुर्गुणा आपो विज्ञेयास्तु रसात्मिकाः॥४५॥

The attributes of sound, touch and colour penetrated the elements of taste, therefore, the waters have four attributes including taste as their special attribute.

शब्दस्पर्शं च रूपं च रसो वैगंधमाविशत् ।
सङ्गता गंधमात्रेण आविशंतो महीमिमाम् ॥४६॥

Sound, touch, colour and taste penetrated smell and getting mixed with the element of smell, they pervaded the earth.

तस्मात्पञ्चगुणा भूमिः स्थूला भूतेषु शस्यते ।
शांता घोराश्च मूढाश्च विशेषास्तेन ते स्मृताः ॥४७॥

Therefore, the earth contains all the elements and is considered to be the grossest of all the elements. They are calm, terrible or confused. Therefore, they are called as Viśeṣas.

परस्परानुप्रवेशाद्वारार्यंति परस्परम् ।
भूमेरन्तस्त्विदं सर्वं लोकालोकाचलावृतम् ॥४८॥

Since they have intermixed mutually, they sustain one another. Everything over the earth is covered by the lokāloka mountain.

विशेषाश्चेन्द्रियग्राह्या नियतत्वाच्च स्मृताः ।
गुणं पूर्वस्य सर्गस्य प्राप्नुवन्त्युत्तरोत्तराः ॥४९॥

They are called Viśeṣas because they can be perceived by means of sense organs invariably. The latter ones have all the qualities of the previous creation.

तेषां यावच्च तद्यच्च यच्च तावदगुणं स्मृतम् ।
उपलभ्याप्यु वै गंधं केचिद्ब्रूयुरपां गुणम् ॥५०॥
पृथिव्यामेव तं विद्यादपां वायोश्च संश्रयात् ।
एते सप्त महात्मानो ह्यन्योन्यस्य समाश्रयात् ॥५१॥
पुरुषाधिष्ठितत्वाच्च अव्यक्तानुग्रहेण च ।
महादयो विशेषांता ह्याण्डमुत्पादयंति ते ॥५२॥

Even a single quality out of these qualities serves as a symptom for each one of the tattvas or element. Any other quality found in an element should be known to be due to the contact of the other element. For example, in case, there is smell in water, some may say that it is the quality of water, yet it should be known that it is the quality of earth alone. It is because the particles of earth have got mixed with water and the wind that the smell appears to be present in the same. The seven massive beings beginning with intellect (Mahat) and ending with Viśeṣa (gross elements) create the cosmic egg because they depend upon one another, since they are presided over by Puruṣa and because they are blessed by unmanifest.

एककालसमुत्पन्नं जलबुद्बुदवच्च तत् ।
विशेषेभ्योण्डमभवन्महतदुदकेशयम् ॥५३॥

Like the bubbles in water, the big cosmic egg is born at once from the Viśeṣa. The whole egg is embedded in water.

अद्विदशगुणाभिस्तु बाह्यतोण्डं समावृतम् ।
आपो दशगुणेनैतास्तेजसा बाह्यतो वृताः ॥५४॥

The cosmic egg is encircled by waters ten times in extent. The waters are externally encircled by fire ten times in extent.

तेजो दशगुणेनैव वायुना बाह्यतो वृत्तम् ।
वायुर्दशगुणेनैव बाह्यतो नभसा वृतः ॥५५॥

The fire is externally encircled by wind ten times in extent and the wind is externally encircled by the ether ten times in extent.

आकाशेनावृतो वायुः खं तु भूतादिनावृतम् ।
भूतादिर्महता चापि अव्यक्तेनावृतो महान् ॥५६॥

The wind is encircled by the ether, while the ether is encircled by ego. The ego is encircled by intellect and the intellect is encircled by unmanifest.

शर्वश्चाण्डकपालस्थो भवश्चांभसि सुव्रताः ।
रुद्रोग्निमध्ये भगवानुग्रो वायौ पुनः स्मृतः ॥५७॥
भीमश्चावनिमध्यस्थो ह्यहङ्कारे महेश्वरः ।

एतैरावरणैरण्डं सप्तभिः प्राकृतैर्वृतम् ।
एता आवृत्य चान्योन्यमष्टौ प्रकृतयः स्थिताः ॥५९॥

Śarva is stationed in the covering lid of the cosmic egg. O excellent people, Bhava is stationed in waters, Rudra is stationed in the middle of fire. Ugra is stationed in the wind. Bhīma is stationed in the middle of the earth. Maheśvara is stationed in the ego. Lord Iśa is stationed in the intellect and Parameśvara is lodged everywhere. The egg is enveloped in seven coverings originating from Prakṛtis. The eight Prakṛtis are stationed encircling one another.

प्रसर्गकाले स्थित्वा तु ग्रसंत्येताः परस्परम्।
एवं परस्परोत्पन्ना धारयन्ति परस्परम्॥६०॥

Placing themselves, thus, at the time of creation, they attract one another.

आधाराधेयभावेन विकारास्ते विकारिषु।
महेश्वरः परोव्यक्तादण्डमव्यक्तसंभवम्॥६१॥
अण्डाज्जे स एवेशः पुरुषोर्कसमप्रभः।

लक्ष्म्या देव्या ह्यभूदेव इच्छया परमेष्ठिनः।
दक्षिणाङ्गभवो ब्रह्मा सरस्वत्या जगदगुरुः॥६४॥

The Vikāras or effects exist in the cause by means of relationship of the support of the supported. Maheśvara is beyond Avyakta and the egg is born of Avyakta. The same lord is born of egg as Puruṣa that emerges from the solar lustre. The generating of the effect is achieved at his own free will. He alone is the primordial embodied being, known as Puruṣa. Viṣṇu, who is bowed to by all the gods, is born of his left limb. Lord Parameṣṭhin or the lord of Viṣṇu originated together with the goddess Lakṣmī. Brahmā, the preceptor of the universe, is born of the right limb of the lord together with Sarasvatī.

तस्मिन्नण्डे इमे लोका अंतर्विश्वमिदं जगत्।
चन्द्रादित्यौ सनक्षत्रौ सग्रहौ सह वायुना॥६५॥
लोकालोकद्वयं किञ्चिदण्डे ह्यस्मिन्समर्पितम्।
यतु सृष्टे प्रसंख्यातं मया कालान्तरं द्विजाः॥६६॥
एत्कालान्तरं ज्ञेयमहर्वै पारमेश्वरम्।
रात्रिश्वैतावती ज्ञेया परमेशस्य कृत्स्नशः॥६७॥

The worlds are lodged in the cosmic egg. The universe lies within the cosmos. The moon and the sun together with the stars, planets, wind and the lokāloka mountain, are all stationed within the cosmic egg. O Brāhmaṇas, whatever time interval is necessary for the creation of the universe, I have detailed the same above and is the day time for Parameśvara. His night too is also of the same duration.

अहस्तस्य तु या सृष्टिः रात्रिश्व प्रलयः स्मृतः।
नाहस्तु विद्यते तस्य न रात्रिरिति धारयेत्॥६८॥
उपचारस्तु क्रियते लोकानां हितकाम्यया।
इन्द्रियाणीदिव्यार्थाश्च महाभूतानि पञ्च च॥६९॥
तस्मात्सर्वाणि भूतानि बुद्धिश्च सहदैवतैः।
अहस्तिष्ठन्ति सर्वाणि परमेशस्य धीमतः॥७०॥

The period of his creation is his day and the period of his dissolution is the night for him. In reality, it should be known that he has neither day nor night as is known to us. The term is used metaphorically for the convenience of the people. The objects stay during the day of the lord, which include the sense organs, the five great elements, all living beings, intellects and the deities.

अहरते प्रलीयते रात्र्यन्ते विश्वसंभवः।
स्वात्मन्यवस्थिते व्यक्ते विकारे प्रतिसंहृते॥७१॥
साधर्म्येणावतिष्ठेते प्रधानपुरुषावुभौ।

अनुपृक्तावभूतांतावोतप्रोतौ परस्परम्।

गुणसाम्ये लयो ज्ञेयो वैषम्ये सृष्टिरूच्यते॥७३॥

At the end of the day, all of them get absorbed. At the end of the night, they originate again. When the unmanifest is stationed in his soul and the effects are dissolved, both Pradhāna and Puruṣa remain calm i.e. with their common characteristics tamas, sattva and rajas in equilibrium. They remain inter-linked like the thread woven together in the same warp and woof. It should be known that there is dissolution when the guṇas are in equilibrium and when they are upset, there is creation.

तिले यथा भवेत्तैलं घृतं पयसि वा स्थितम्।
तथा तमसि सत्त्वे च रजस्यनुसृतं जगत्॥७४॥

As there is oil latent in the sesame seeds and ghee in the milk, similarly the world is enshrined in the sattva, rajas and tamas guṇas.

उपास्य रजनीं कृत्स्नां परां माहेश्वरीं तथा।
अहर्मुखे प्रवृत्तश्च परः प्रकृतिसंभवः॥७५॥

After spending the whole night with the goddess Maheśvarī with delight and at the dawn, the creator starts the work of the creation. Then, Prakṛti emerges out of him.

क्षोभयामास योगेन परेण परमेश्वरः।
प्रधानं पुरुषं चैव प्रविश्य स महेश्वरः॥७६॥

The lord Maheśvara perceives through the Pradhāna and his combination with Prakṛti disturbs him.

महेश्वरात्मयो देवा जग्निरे जगदीश्वरात्।
शाश्वताः परमा गुह्याः सर्वात्मानः शरीरिणः॥७७॥

Three gods emerge out of Maheśvara – the lord of the world. They are eternal, extremely secret and are fit to be protected. They have bodies and are also known as universal souls.

एत एव त्रयो देवा एत एव त्रयो गुणाः।
एत एव त्रयो लोका एत एव त्रयोग्नयः॥७८॥

Those three gods represent the fires and the three types of guṇas in the world.

परस्पराश्रिता ह्वेते परस्परमनुब्रताः।
परस्परेण वर्तते धारयन्ति परस्परम्॥७९॥

All the three of them are interdependent and follow one another with devotion.

अन्योन्यमिथुना ह्वेते अन्योन्यमुपजीविनः।
क्षणं वियोगो न ह्वेषां न त्यजन्ति परस्परम्॥८०॥

All the three of them are interconnected and they mutually contain one another. They cannot be separated even for a moment.

ईश्वरस्तु परो देवो विष्णुश्च महतः परः।
ब्रह्मा च रजसा युक्तः सर्गादौ हि प्रवर्तते॥८१॥

Siva is the supreme lord, Viṣṇu is beyond intelligence, Brahmā has enough of Rajoguṇa with him. He starts the creation of the universe.

परः स पुरुषो ज्ञेयः प्रकृतिः सा परा स्मृता॥८२॥

संसिद्धः कार्यकरणे तथा वै समवर्तत।

एक एव महादेवास्त्रिधैवं स व्यवस्थितः॥८७॥

As Puruṣa, he is known as Para and as Parā meaning Prakṛti. Prakṛti, which is presided over the great lord, begins to function when it is induced from all the sides. The principle of intellect functions thereafter. Since it is permanent and stable, it resorts to the object of sense by itself. When there is the disturbance in the gunas (qualities) of Pradhāna, the period of creation functions from that which is of existent-cum-non-existent nature and presided over by Īśvara. Rudra became fully equipped for evolving the effects at the very outset. He is unparalleled in brilliance, intelligence and is illuminating. He indeed is the first embodied soul and is called Puruṣa. The four-faced lord Brahmā emerged out of him. He also became fully equipped for evolving the effects of creation. Therefore, the same lord appears in three forms.

अप्रतीपेन ज्ञानेन ऐश्वर्येण समन्वितः।
धर्मेण चाप्रतीपेन वैराग्येण च तेऽन्विताः॥८८॥

He possesses the positive knowledge and lordship. They (the three Devas) also possess positive virtues and detachment.

अव्यक्ताज्जायते तेषां मनसा यद्यदीहितम्।
बशीकृतत्वात्त्रैगुण्यं सापेक्षत्वात्स्वभावतः॥८९॥

Whatever is mentally conceived or uttered by them, is born out of unmanifest, since it has been made to be subservient and since the activities are dependant on the three gunas of the nature.

चतुर्मुखस्तु ब्रह्मत्वे कालत्वे चान्तिक स्मृतः।
सरस्मूर्धा पुरुषस्तिसोऽवस्थाः स्वयं भुवः॥९०॥
ब्रह्मत्वे सृजते लोकान्कालत्वे संक्षिपत्यपि।
पुरुषत्वे ह्युदासीनस्तिस्रोवस्थाः प्रजापते॥९१॥

He is the self-born deity and has three conditions. In the capacity of Brahmā, being the four-faced one, he creates the worlds; in the capacity of Kāla, he destroys the worlds; in the capacity of Puruṣa, he is indifferent.

Prajāpati has three stages.

ब्रह्मा कमलगर्भाभो रुद्रः कालाग्निसञ्जिभः।
पुरुषः पुण्डरीकाक्षो रूपं तत्परमात्मनः॥९२॥

Brahmā has the resplendence of the interior lotus. Rudra resembles the fire of the time of dissolution. Puruṣa is lotus-eyed. This is the form of the great soul.

एकधा स द्विधा चैव त्रिधा च बहुधा पुनः।
महेश्वरः शरीराणि करोति विकरोति च॥९३॥

The lord has a single body, two bodies, three bodies and several bodies. He alone creates and destroys these bodies and dispels them too.

नानाकृतिक्रियारूपनामवंति स्वलीलया।
महेश्वरः शरीराणि करोति विकरोति च॥९४॥

The great lord creates and destroys bodies of different shapes, activities, forms and names.

त्रिधा यद्वर्तते लोके तस्मात्रिगुण उच्यते।
चतुर्धा प्रविभक्तत्वाच्चतुर्व्यूहः प्रकीर्तिः॥९५॥

Since he assumes three different forms, he is known as Triguṇas. When divided into four, he is known as Caturvyūha, (having four arrays).

यदाप्नोति यदातते यच्चाति विषयानयम्।
यच्चास्यं सततं भावस्तस्मादात्मा निरुच्यते॥९६॥

It is described as the soul because he attains the sense objects, because he takes up the sense objects and because he swallows up the sense objects. Besides, he has the perpetual existence.

ऋषिः सर्वगतत्वाच्च शरीरी सोस्य यत्प्रभुः।
स्वाभित्वमस्य यत्सर्वं विष्णुः सर्वप्रवेशनात्॥९७॥

He is called as Rṣi because he goes everywhere. He is Śarīra because he is the lord of the body. He is called Svāmin because he possesses everything. He is known as Viṣṇu because he enters everything.

भगवान् भगवद्वावान्निर्मलत्वाच्छिवः स्मृतः ।
परमः संप्रकृष्टत्वादवनादोमिति स्मृतः॥१८॥

He is called Bhagavān because he possesses Bhaga (lordliness, excellence, fortune and glory). Since he is free from all the blemishes and impurities, he is addressed as Parama because he is distinguished and eminent. He is called as Oṁ because he protects everyone.

सर्वज्ञः सर्वविज्ञानात्सर्वः सर्वमयो यतः ।
त्रिधा विभज्य चात्मानां त्रैलोक्यं संप्रवर्तते॥१९॥

He is called as Sarvajña because he knows everything pretty well. He is Sarva because he is comparable with all. Dividing himself into three, he functions in the three worlds.

सृजते ग्रसते चैव रक्षते च त्रिभिः स्वयम् ।
आदित्यादादिदेवो सावजातत्वादजः स्मृतः॥१००॥

By means of three forms, he creates, swallows and protects. He is called as Ādideva because of his being primordial. Being unborn, he is called Aja.

पाति यस्मात्प्रजाः सर्वा प्रजापतिरिति स्मृतः ।
देवेषु च महान्देवो महादेवस्ततः स्मृतः॥१०१॥

Being Prajāpati, he protects the people. He is called Mahādeva because he is the greatest of all the Devas.

सर्वगत्वाच्च देवानामवश्यत्वाच्च ईश्वरः ।
बृहत्त्वाच्च स्मृतो ब्रह्मा भूतत्वादभूत उच्यते॥१०२॥

He is omnipresent and is in no way subservient to gods. He is also known as Iśvara. He is called Brahmā because of his massive body. Because of his existence, he is called Bhūta.

क्षेत्रज्ञः क्षेत्रविज्ञानादेकत्वात्केवलः स्मृतः ।
यस्मात्पुर्या स शेते च तस्मात्पुरुष उच्यते॥१०३॥

He is well aware of the field or the body. He comprehends the inner organs, mind etc. Because of his being lovely, he is called Kevala. He is called Puruṣa because he lies down in the soul.

अनादित्वाच्च पूर्वत्वात्स्वयं भूरिति संस्मृतः ।
याज्यत्वादुच्यते यज्ञः कविर्विक्रांतदर्शनात्॥१०४॥

He is known as self-born because he is without beginning and is prior to all. Since he is worthy of adoration, he is called yajñā. Being Kavi, he can visualise whatever is there beyond the sense organs.

क्रमणः क्रमणीयत्वात्पालकश्चापि पालनात् ।
आदित्यसंज्ञः कपिलो ह्यग्रजोनिरिति स्मृतः॥१०५॥

Being Kramāṇa, he has the access to all. As a Pālaka, he protects all. He is Āditya because he has ten colours. Because of his having been born at the outset, he is known as Agni.

हिरण्यमस्य गर्भो भूद्धिरण्यस्यापि गर्भजः ।
तस्माद्द्विरण्यगर्भत्वं पुराणेऽस्मिन्निरुच्यते॥१०६॥

Because he is the cause of origin of all the golden, and because of his having been born out of the golden egg, he is known as Hiranyakarpha.

स्वयं भुवोपि वृत्तस्य कालो विश्वात्मनस्तु यः ।
न शक्यः परिसंख्यातुमपि वर्षशतैरपि॥१०७॥

The length of the time for which self-born has been in existence cannot be estimated in hundreds of years.

कालसंख्याविवृत्तस्य परार्थो ब्रह्मणः स्मृतः ।
तावच्छेषोस्य कालोन्यस्तस्यांते प्रतिसृज्यते॥१०८॥

The first half in the age of the present Brahmā has already elapsed and another period of equal duration i.e. the second half still remains. By its end, the time of dissolution would start.

कोटिकोटिसहस्राणि अहर्भूतानि यानि वै ।
समतीतानि कल्पानां तावच्छेषाः परे तु ये ।
यस्त्वयं वर्तते कल्पो वाराहस्तं निबोधत् ॥१०९॥

Crores and thousands of crores of these days of the kalpas have come and gone. And may yet remain. The present kalpa is known as Varāha-kalpa.

प्रथम सांप्रतस्तेषां कल्पोयं वर्तते द्विजाः ।

पूर्णं युगसहस्रं वै परिपाल्या महेश्वरैः ।
प्रजाभिस्तपसा चैव तेषां शृणुत विस्तरम् ॥११२॥

O Brāhmaṇas, this is the first kalpa in the Varāha-kalpa. In this, there are fourteen Manus beginning with Svayambhuva. The entire earth comprising of seven continents and mountains, are to be protected by these great lords i.e. Manus – past, present as well as the future, by means of their penances and their subjects. Listen to their detailed account.

मन्वंतरेण चैकेन सर्वाण्येवांतराणि च ।
कथितानि भविष्यन्ति कल्पः कल्पेन चैव हि ॥११३॥

The description of a single Manvantara besides a single kalpa should be treated as parallel to the other Manvantaras as well as the kalpas.

अतीतानि च कल्पानि सोदर्काणि सहान्वयैः ।
अनागतेषु तद्वच्च तर्कः कार्यो विजानता ॥११४॥

The dynasties of the kings of the past kalpas are left to order of the future kalpas. In other words, the activities of a particular kalpa are repeated in the future kalpas. It happens in the same order.

आपो ह्याने समभवत्रष्टे च पृथिवीतले ।
शांततारैकनीरेस्मिन्न प्राज्ञायत किञ्चन ॥११५॥
एकार्णवे तदा तस्मिन्नष्टे स्थावरजङ्घमे ।

सहस्रशीर्षा पुरुषो रुक्मवर्णस्त्वतींद्रियः ।
ब्रह्मा नारायणाख्यस्तु सुष्वाप सलिले तदा ॥११७॥

At the destruction of the base of the earth, only water is left out. Nothing is found in the vast sheet of water. When all the mobiles and immobiles were destroyed with the water, then Brahmā took to the form of someone who had a thousand heads, thousand eyes and a thousand feet, earning the name of Nārāyaṇa. He had a golden body and his sense organs were filled with knowledge. Then, he slept in the vast oceanic water.

सत्त्वोद्रकात्प्रबुद्धस्तु शून्यं लोकमुदैक्षता ।
इमं चोदाहरंत्यत्र श्लोकं नारायणं प्रति ॥११८॥

When he woke up with the application of sattva-guṇa, he found the world as non-existent. At that point of time, he uttered a verse in favour of Nārāyaṇa.

आपो नाराश्च सूनव इत्यपां नाम शुश्रुमः ।
आपूर्य ताभिरयनं कृतवानात्मनो यतः ॥११९॥
अप्सु शेते यतस्तस्मात्ततो नारायणः स्मृतः ।

अधृष्टं सर्वभूतानां वाङ्ग्यं ब्रह्मसंज्ञितम्।
पृथिव्युद्धरणार्थाय प्रविवेश रसातलम्॥ १२६॥

It is heard that the word nāra means water or a son. He made his abode in the vast expanse of water. Because of his resting in the water, he came to be known as Nārāyaṇa. After spending a thousand years of the four yugas in water and then at the end of the night, for the sake of starting the creation, he took to the form of Brahmā. Brahmā started wandering in the water with the wind in the same way as the fireflies wander in the rainy season during the night. Thereafter, the earth was submerged in water. Knowing by imagination, like the other kalpas, as he took to other forms, and thought of the rescue of the earth. Then he thought, in which form should I rescue the earth? Then he took to the form of a boar which was unassailable for the living beings and was well-versed in the water sports. That form was unassailable for other living beings. These were the words spoken by Brahmā himself. He entered the water to rescue the earth in the form of a boar, in the nether world.

अद्भुतं भूमि स तामाशु प्रजापतिः।
उपगम्योज्जहरैनामापश्चापि समाविशत्॥ १२७॥

Reaching the earth who was surrounded by water, he lifted her up in the form of Varāha.

सामुद्रा वै समुद्रेषु नादेयाश्च नदीषु च।
रसातलतले मानां रसातलपुटे गताम्॥ १२८॥
प्रभुर्लोकहितार्थाय दंष्ट्रयाभ्युज्जहार गाम्।
ततः स्वस्थानमानीय पृथिवीं पृथिवीधरः॥ १२९॥
मुमोच पूर्ववदसौ धारयित्वा धराधरः।
तस्योपरि जलौघस्य महती नौरिव स्थिता॥ १३०॥

तत्समा ह्युरुदेहत्वात्र मही याति संप्लवम्।
तत उक्षिष्य तां देवो जगतः स्थापनेच्छया॥ १३१॥
पृथिव्याः प्रविभागाय मनश्चक्रेभ्युजेक्षणः।
पृथिवीं च समां कृत्वा पृथिव्यां सोचिनोद्दिरीन्॥

For the benefit of the people, the water was flown to the rivers and the oceans. Brahmā then lifted up the earth over his curved tusk which had been submerged in the oceanic waters of the nether world. The earth then started floating over the surface of the water like a ship. Because of her body being heavy, she could not be drowned in the water again. Thereafter, the lotus-eyed Brahmā, for the sake of the establishment of the universe, distributed the earth in various parts diverting his attention to the same. Then, he made the surface of the earth quite plain and collected the mountains.

प्राक्सर्गे दद्यमाने तु तदा संवर्तकाग्निना।
तेनाग्निना विशीर्णस्ते पर्वता भूरिविस्तरा:॥ १३३॥
शैत्यादेकार्णवे तस्मिन् बायुना तेन संहताः।
निषिक्ता यत्रयत्रासं स्तत्रतत्राचलाभवन्॥ १३४॥

When the last earth was destroyed by the fire of dissolution, the mountains were also scattered in the vast areas. Like the oceanic water, the water was spread everywhere. Because of the cold, the mountains were spread everywhere with the force of the wind. Heaps were formed of the parts of the mountains. Wherever such pieces of mountains were collected, the hills were formed.

तदाचलत्वादचलाः पर्वभिः पर्वताः स्मृताः।
गिरयो हि निगीर्णत्वाच्छयानत्वाच्छिलोच्चयाः॥

The mountains are called as immobile because they do not move. They are also called the mountains because of their having knots in them. They are called as giris because they are hidden and absorbed. They remain lying down earning them the name of Śiloccaya.

ततस्तेषु विकीर्णेषु कोटिशो हि गिरिष्वथ।
विश्वकर्मा विभजते कल्पादिषु पुनः पुनः॥१३६॥

Thereafter, where the crores of mountains were scattered here and there, then Viśvakarmā – the architect of the gods, in each one of the kalpas, classified them.

ससमुद्रामिमां पृथ्वीं सप्तद्वीपां सपर्वताम्।
भूराद्याश्तुरो लोकान्पुनः सोथ व्यकल्पयत्॥१३७॥

Then he divided the oceans and the continents into seven. Thereafter, Bhū and other lokas were formed.

लोकान्प्रकल्पायित्वाथ प्रजासर्गं ससर्ज ह।
ब्रह्मा स्वयं भूर्भूर्गवान्सिसृक्षुर्विविधाः प्रजाः॥१३८॥

After the creation of the lokas, Brahmā, who was desirous of the creation of different types of people, then started creating the universe.

ससर्ज सृष्टि तदूपां कल्पादिषु यथापुरा।
तस्याभिध्यायतः सर्गं तथा वै बुद्धिपूर्वकम्॥१३९॥
बुद्ध्याश्च समकाले वै प्रादुर्भूतस्तमोमयः।
तमोमोहो महामोहस्तामिसशांधसंज्ञितः॥१४०॥

At the start of the kalpa, he created everything in the same way as it existed in the earlier kalpa. When he created the universe intelligently, at the same time, three situations emerged from Brahmā which were known as Moha (Māyā), Mahāmoha, Tāmisra and Andhatāmisra.

अविद्या पञ्चपर्वेषा प्रादुर्भूता महात्मनः।
पञ्चधावस्थितः सर्गो ध्यायतः सोभिमानिनः॥१४१॥
संवृतस्तमसा चैव बीजांकुरवदावृतः।
बहिरन्तश्चाप्रकाशस्तब्धो निःसंज्ञ एव च॥१४२॥
यस्मातेषां वृताबुद्धिर्दुःखानि करणानि च।

तस्माते संवृतात्मानो नगा मुख्याः प्रकीर्तिताः॥१४३॥

Then Brahmā, with self pride, after meditating, created five types of worlds viz. (i) one which was covered with darkness, (ii) half open and half covered like the sprouting of the seed, (iii) one having the light in the interior or exterior, (iv) the one which was stabda or the other with rigidity and stiffness, and (v) senseless. Because of their intellect, miseries and senses, which were all enshrouded, they are called the important immobiles with the covered souls.

मुख्यसर्गं तथाभूतं दृष्टा ब्रह्मा ह्यसाधकम्।
अप्रसन्नमनाः सोथ ततोन्यं सो ह्यमन्यत्॥१४४॥

On observing the first creation in that situation as well as useless for any action (being immobile), he felt dissatisfied in his mind and thought of another alternative.

तस्याभिध्यायतश्चैव तिर्यक्स्रोता ह्यवर्ततः।
तस्मात्तिर्यक्प्रवृत्तः स तिर्यक्स्रोतास्ततः स्मृतः॥

Even when he meditated over the tiryaksrotas creation (or moving sideways) was developed. Since it functioned sideways, it is called Tiryaksrotas.

पश्चादयस्ते विष्वाता उत्पथग्राहिणो द्विजाः।
तस्याभिध्यायतोन्यं वै सात्त्विकः समवर्ततः॥१४५॥

The animals etc. including birds and reptiles, form this well known creation. O Brāhmaṇas, they are the ones moving over the wrong paths. Therefore, he meditated on another creation and thereafter, the Sāttvika creation was evolved.

ऊर्ध्वस्रोतास्तृतीयस्तु स वै चोर्ध्वं व्यवस्थितः।
यत्मात्प्रवर्तते चोर्ध्वमूर्ध्वस्रोतास्ततः स्मृतः॥१४७॥
ते सुखप्रीतिबहुला बहिरंतश्च संवृताः।
प्रकाशाबहिरंतश्च ऊर्ध्वस्रोतोभवाः स्मृताः॥१४८॥

The third creation is known as Urdhvatasrotas, which is directed upwards. Because of its functioning upwards, it is called Urdhvatasrotas. The creation made under this category are mostly happy and delighted. They are enshrouded within and without as well as illuminated on both sides.

ते सत्त्वस्य च योगेन सृष्टाः सत्त्वोद्भवाः स्मृताः ।
ऊर्ध्वस्रोतस्तृतीयो वै देवसर्गस्तु स स्मृतः ॥ १४९ ॥

The creation was made with the combination of Sattvaguna, and as such they came to be known as Sāttvikas. This is known as the divine creation.

प्रकाशाद्विहिरंतश्च ऊर्ध्वस्रोतोद्भवाः स्मृताः ।
ते ऊर्ध्वस्रोतसो ज्ञेयास्तुष्टात्मानो बुधैः स्मृताः ॥

The creation falling under the category of Gandharvas is resplendent in the interior as well as the exterior. The people of Urdhvatasrota category are learned as well as satisfied souls.

ऊर्ध्वस्रोतस्तु सृष्टेषु देवेषु वरदः प्रभुः ।
प्रीतिमानभवद्ब्रह्मा ततोन्यं सोभ्यमन्यत ॥ १५१ ॥
ससर्ज सर्गमन्यं हि साधकं प्रभुरीश्वरः ।
ततोभिध्यायतस्तस्य सत्याभिध्यायिनस्तदा ॥ १५२ ॥
प्रादुरासीतदा व्यक्तादर्वाक्ष्रोतास्तु साधकः ।
यस्मादवक् न्यवर्त्तत ततोर्वाक्ष्रोतसस्तु ते ॥ १५३ ॥

When the creation of the Gandharvas in the category of Devas was over, then Brahmā, the bestower of the boons, felt delightful in his mind. But still he thought of another creation, who could be the Sādhakas or the devotees and would be suitable for the job. Brahmā meditated upon truthfully. At that point of time, Arvākasrota type of Sādhaka creation emerged out of the invisible Prakṛti. Since it functions in the lower regions, therefore, it is called as Arvākasrota.

ते च प्रकाशबहुलास्तमःपृक्ता रजोधिकाः ।
तस्माते दुःखबहुला भूयोभूयश्च कारिणः ॥ १५४ ॥

They are the humans having enough of light in the interior as well the exterior. It has the prominence of Rajoguṇa which is mixed with Tamoguṇa. Therefore, it has enough of miseries in it and they repeatedly perform their own duties.

संवृत्ता बहिरन्तश्च मनुष्याः साधकाश्च ते ।
लक्षणैस्तारकाद्यैस्ते ह्यष्ट्था तु व्यवस्थिताः ॥ १५५ ॥

The humans are covered from interior and exterior, besides being active. All of them are divided into their own classes which are eight in number.

सिद्धात्मानो मनुष्यास्ते गंधर्वसहधर्मिणः ।
इत्येष तैजसः सर्गो ह्यावाक्ष्रोत प्रकीर्तिः ॥ १५६ ॥

The humans follow the same dharma as the Gandharvas do. Thus, the Arvakasrotas are called Taijas.

पञ्चमोनुग्रहः सर्गश्चतुर्धा तु व्यवस्थितः ।
विपर्ययेण शक्त्या च सिद्ध्या तुष्ट्या तथैव च ॥
स्थावरेषु विपर्यासः स्तिर्यग्योनिषु शक्तिः ।
सिद्धात्मनो मनुष्यास्तु ऋषिदेवेषु कृत्स्नशः ॥ १५८

The fifth creation is Anugraha (the creation of blessing). It is founded according to the distinctive feature of blessings. It is fourfold according to the distinctive feature of contrary, power, achievement and satisfaction. The contrariety inheres the beings which are immobile; the power is the element that characterises the Tiryaka yonis (animals). The men are realised by their realised souls. Of the gods and the sages, satisfaction is the distinctive feature.

इत्येष प्राकृतः सर्गो वैकृतोऽनवमः स्मृतः ।
भूतादिकानां भूतानां षष्ठः सर्गः स उच्यते ॥ १५९ ॥

This group is called Prakṛta or pertaining to Prakṛti. This is the fifth creation also called the Vaikārika creation and happens to be the best of all. The creation of the origin of the gross elements, Siddhas, Sages, etc. is the sixth. The creation of the ordinary human beings (as distinct from the sages) out of the subtle and the gross elements, is the seventh.

निवृत्तं वर्तमानं च तेषां जानन्ति वै पुनः।
भूताकिदानां भूतानां सप्तमः सर्ग एव च॥१६०॥
तेऽपरिग्राहिणः सर्वे संविभागरताः पुनः।
स्वादनाशाप्यशीलाश्च ज्ञेया भूतादिकाश्च ते॥१६१॥

They are of the sixth group represented by the sages, who know what has taken place in the past, what is taking place at present and what will take place in future? These sages remain detached though they enjoy the full fruit of their activity.

विपर्ययेण भूतादिरशक्त्या च व्यवस्थितः।
प्रथमो महतः सर्गो विज्ञेयो ब्रह्मणः स्मृतः॥१६२॥
तन्मात्राणां द्वितीयस्तु भूतसर्गः स उच्यते।
वैकारिकस्तृतीयस्तु सर्ग ऐन्द्रियकः स्मृतः॥१६३॥
इत्येष प्रकृतः सर्गः संभूतो बुद्धिपूर्वकः।
मुख्यसर्गश्चतुर्थश्च मुख्या वै स्थावराः स्मृताः॥१६४॥

This creation is characterised by the contrary element and perfection. The first (i) creation of Brahmā is those of Mahat, Tanmātṛā, Vaikārika, the primary creation that was evolved prior to intelligence, the primary or mukhya creation is the fourth. The immobile beings are mukhyas.

ततोर्वाक्स्रोतसां सर्गः सप्तमः स तु मानुषः।
अष्टमोऽनुग्रहः सर्गः सात्त्विकस्तामसश्च सः॥१६५॥

Then, there are tiryak, urdhva and arvāksrotas. This is followed by the anugraha creation which is both Sāttvika and Tāmasa.

पञ्चाते वैकृताः सर्गाः प्राकृतास्तु त्रयः स्मृताः।
प्राकृतो वैकृतश्चैव कौमारो नवमः स्मृतः॥१६६॥

Thus, with the five Vaikṛta types and three Prākṛta types, there are eight types of creations. The ninth creation of Kumāras is both Prākṛta and Vaikṛta.

अबुद्धिपूर्वकाः सर्गाः प्राकृतास्तु त्रयः स्मृताः।
बुद्धिपूर्वं प्रवर्तन्ते षट् पुनर्ब्रह्मणस्तु ते॥१६७॥

The three Prākṛta creations are prior to the creation of intellect. But the other six creations are posterior to intellect.

विस्तरानुग्रहः सर्गः कीर्त्यमानो निबोधत।
चतुर्धावस्थितः सोऽथ सर्वभूतेषु कृत्स्नशः॥१६८॥

I shall now describe the Anugraha sarga which should be understood properly by you. It stands in four ways among the living beings.

इत्येते प्राकृताश्चैव वैकृताश्च नवस्मृताः।
परस्परानुरक्ताश्च कारणैश्च बुधैः स्मृताः॥१६९॥

The combined number of Prākṛta and Vaikārika creations is said to be nine. All of them are linked with one another by means of causes spelt out by the learned people.

अग्रे सप्तर्ज वै ब्रह्मा मानसानात्मनः समान्।
ऋभुः सनत्कुमारश्च द्वावेतावृध्वरितसौ॥१७०॥

Thereafter, Brahmā produced the similar types of mind-born sons. Out of them, R̄bhu and Sanatkumāra were celibates.

पूर्वोत्पत्रौ पुरा तेभ्यः सर्वेषामपि पूर्वजौ।
व्यतीते त्वष्टे कल्पे पुराणौ लोकसाक्षिणौ॥१७१॥
तौ वाराहे तु भूलोके तेजः संक्षिप्य धिष्ठितौ।
तावुभौ मोक्षकर्मणावारोप्यात्मानमात्मनि॥१७२॥
प्रजां धर्मं च कामं च त्यक्त्वा वैराग्यमास्थितौ।
यथोत्पत्रस्तथैवेह कुमारः स इहोच्यते॥१७३॥
तस्मात्सन्कुमारेर्ति नामास्येह प्रकीर्तितम्।

All of them were adults. After the eight kalpas coming to an end, they were the witness for the lokas. The earlier two sons, squeezing their own lustre, were settled on earth during the Varāha-kalpa. Getting desirous of mokṣa, they settled their minds, besides the soul discarded pūjā, dharma and desires and became recluses. Sanat Kumāra remained resembling a child as he was born and because of this linking – the word kumāra with sanat, he earned the name of Sanatkumāra.

सनतं सनकं चैव विद्वांसं च सनातनम्॥ १७४॥
 विज्ञानेन निवृत्तास्ते व्यवर्त्तत महौजसः।
 संबुद्धाश्चैव नानात्वे अग्रवृत्ताश्च योगिनः॥ १७५॥
 असृष्टैव प्रजासर्गं प्रतिसर्गं गताः पुनः।
 तंतस्तेषु व्यतीतेषु ततोन्यान्साधकान्सुतान्॥ १७६॥
 मानसानसृजद् ब्रह्मा पुनः स्थानाभिमानिनः।
 आभूतसंप्लवावस्था यैरियं विधृता मही॥ १७७॥

Brahmā produced Sanat, Sanaka and Sanātana – the three of them. With the use of his entire knowledge, the extremely valorous Rṣis were detached from the worldly activity. Then, they were turned as recluses or yogīs. Therefore, they were not involved in the worldly affairs; without producing any progeny, they met with their end at the time of dissolution. After their death, Brahmā again created the mind-born sons who were quite competent and were proud of their abode in which they lived. They hold the earth till the time of dissolution.

आपोग्निं पृथिवीं वायुमंतरिक्षं दिवं तथा।
 समुद्रांश्च नदीश्चैव तथा शैलवनस्पतीन्॥ १७८॥
 ओषधीनां तथात्मानो वल्लीनां वृक्षवीरुधाम्।
 लताः काष्ठाः कलाश्चैव मुहूर्ताः संधिरात्र्यहान्॥
 अर्धमासांश्च मासांश्च अयनाद्युगानि च।

स्थानाभिमानिनः सर्वे स्थानाख्याशचैव ते स्मृताः॥
 देवानृषीश्च महतो गदतस्तात्रिबोधत।
 मरीचिभृग्वंगिरसं पुलस्त्यं पुलहं क्रतुम्॥ १८१॥
 दक्षमत्रिं वसिष्ठं च सोसृजन्मानसात्रव।
 नव ब्रह्माण इत्येते पुराणे निश्चयं गताः॥ १८२॥

Brahmā made several many things including water, fire, earth, sky, heaven, oceans, rivers, mountains, greenery, auṣadhis, lavas, directions, muhūrttas, days and nights, fortnights, months, ayanas viz. uttarāyāna and dakṣināyāna, besides the varśas and yugas. All of them were proud of their abodes and were known by the names of their abodes. Brahmā also produced the Rṣis and the gods. The Rṣis included Marīci, Bhṛgu, Aṅgiras, Pulastya, Pulaha, Kratu, Dakṣa, Atri and Vasiṭha; Brahmā had produced these nine mind-born sons.

तेषां ब्रह्मात्मकानां वै सर्वेषां ब्रह्मवादिनाम्।
 स्थानानि कल्पयामास पूर्ववत्पद्मसंभवः॥ १८३॥

Brahmā, who was born of lotus, earmarked abodes for all those well-versed in Brahman, who resembled Brahmā himself.

ततोसृजच्च सङ्कल्पं धर्मं चैव सुखावहम्।
 सोसृजद्यवसायात् धर्मं देवो महेश्वरः॥ १८४॥
 सङ्कल्पं चैव सङ्कल्पात्सर्वलोकपितामहः।
 मानसश्च रुचिर्नामं विजज्ञे ब्रह्मणः प्रभोः॥ १८५॥

Brahmā, then created Saṅkalpa and Dharma, Dharma created from the trade and Saṅkalpa from Samkalpa. Thereafter, Brahmā created a mind-born son named Ruci.

प्राणादब्रह्मासृजदक्षं चक्षुभ्या च मरीचिनम्।
 भृगुस्तु हृदयाज्ज्ञे ऋषिः सलिलजन्मनः॥ १८६॥

From his own prāṇa, Brahmā created Dakṣa and Marīci was created from his eyes. Bhṛgu was born from the heart of Brahmā.

शिरसोङ्ग्रहसश्चैव श्रोत्रादर्ति तथासृजत्।
पुलस्त्यं च तथोदानाद्वयानाच्च पुलहं पुनः॥१८७॥

He created Aṅgiras from his head and Atri from his ears. Pulastya was created from his udāna-vāyu and Pulaha from vyāna-vāyu.

समानजो वसिष्ठश्च अपानान्निर्ममे क्रुतम्।
इत्येते ब्रह्मणः पुत्रा दिव्या एकादश स्मृताः॥१८८॥

Vasiṣṭha was born from Samāna-vāyu. Kratu was created from his apāna-vāyu. Thus, the total number of the mind-born sons of Brahmā is eleven.

धर्मादयः प्रथमजाः सर्वे ते ब्रह्मणः सुताः।
भृगवादयस्तु ते सृष्टा नवैते ब्रह्मवादिनः॥१८९॥
गृहमेधिनः पुराणास्ते धर्मस्तैः संप्रवर्तितः।
तेषां द्वादश ते वंशा दिव्य देवगुणान्विताः॥१९०॥

Dharma and others are the initial sons of Brahmā. Bhṛgu and other nine sons also are the sons of Brahmā and are all known as Brahmavādins. They are the ancient householders. They have propagated Dharma and pushed it forward. Twelve out of them were the lords of the gods. Their descendants were possessing the Sāttvika gunas. They were active, having excellent progeny and were respected by the great sages.

क्रियाकृतः प्रजाकृतो महर्षिभिरलंकृताः।
ऋभुः सनत्कुमारश्च द्वावेतावूर्धवरितसौ॥१९१॥
पूर्वोत्पत्रौ परं तेभ्यः सर्वेषामपि पूर्वजौ।
व्यतीते त्वष्टमे कल्पे पुराणौ लोकसाक्षिणौ॥१९२॥
विराजेतामुभौ लोके तेजः संत्रिप्य धिष्ठितौ।
तावृभौ योगकर्मणावारोप्यात्मानमात्मनि॥१९३॥
प्रजां धर्मं च कामं च त्यक्त्वा वैराग्यमास्थितौ।
यथोत्पत्रः स एवेह कुमारः स इहोच्यते॥१९४॥

R̥bhu and Sanatkumāra, both were Brahmacārins and were the elders. Therefore, they were the foremost of all. With the expiry of the eighth kalpa, the witness of the world, both the ancient sages, squeezing those lustre, were illuminated in the universe. Both of them, establishing the soul in the supreme soul and by performing the yogic practices, took to renunciation discarding the people, dharma, desires. Sanat patronised his childhood form and maintained it. Therefore, he came to be known as Sanatkumāra.

तस्मात्सनत्कुमारेति नामास्येह प्रतिष्ठितम्।
ततोभिध्यायतस्तस्य जज्ञिरे मानसाः प्रजाः॥१९५॥

Thereafter, Brahmā continued his meditation and further mind-born sons were produced by him.

तच्छ्रीरसमुत्पत्रै कार्यैस्तैः कारणैः सह।
क्षेत्रज्ञाः समवर्त्तत गात्रेभ्यस्तस्य धीमतः॥१९६॥

From the body of the intelligent Brahmā, by means of cause and effect, there emerged the individual souls.

ततो देवासुरपितृन्मानुषांश्च चतुष्यम्।
सिसृक्षुरंभास्येतानि स्वमात्मानमयूयुजत्॥१९७॥
ततस्तु युज्ञातस्तस्य तमोमात्रसमुद्भवम्।
समभिध्यायतः सर्गं प्रयत्नेन प्रजापतेः॥१९८॥
ततोस्य जघनात्पूर्वमसुरा जज्ञिरे सुताः।
असुः प्राणः स्मृतो विप्रास्तज्जन्मानस्तोसुराः॥

Thereafter, Brahmā became desirous of creating four types of the living beings, viz. the gods, asuras, pitṛs and the humans. For this purpose, he established himself in water. After his so doing and concentrating over the creation of the universe, then terrific darkness was created. At the same time, the asuras emerged out of his thighs. O Brāhmaṇas, asu means prāṇa. Because of their coming into being from the prāṇa – wind, they came to be known as asuras.

यथा सृष्टासुराः सर्वे तां तनुं स व्यपोहतः।
सापविद्धा तनुस्तेन सद्यो रात्रिरजायत्॥२००॥

The body out of which the asuras were created, that body was discarded by him. As a result of this, the night followed soon thereafter.

सा तमोबहुला यस्मात्तो रात्रिनियामिका ।
आवृतास्तमसा रात्रौ प्रजास्तस्मात्स्वपन्त्युत्॥२०१॥

The night is always dark and the movements are stopped during the night. Because the people get covered with darkness, they go on sleep during the night.

सृष्टासुरांस्ततः सो वै तनुमन्यामगृह्णत ।
अव्यक्तां सत्त्वबहुलां ततस्तां सोभ्यपूजयत्॥२०२॥
ततस्तां युज्ञातस्तस्य प्रियमासीत्प्रजापतेः ।
ततो मुखात्समुत्पन्ना दीव्यतस्तस्य देवताः॥२०३॥

After creating the asuras, Brahmā took to another body which was invisible and was dominated by the sattvaguṇa. Therefore, he adored his own body. He, therefore, engaged the body in the performing of the yogic exercises. He was delighted at that. The gods were delighted with the beaming face of Brahmā.

यतोस्य दीव्यतो जातास्तेन देवाः प्रकीर्तिताः ।
धातुर्दिविति यः प्रोक्ताः क्रीडायां स विभाव्यते ॥
यस्मात्स्य तु दीव्यंतो जज्ञिरे तेन देवताः ।
देवान्सृष्टाथ देवेशस्तनुमन्यामपद्यत्॥२०५॥

Because of the beaming face of Brahmā, they came to be known as the gods. The root div means to sport. Therefore, the gods were born out of the sport. After the creation of the gods, Brahmā took to another form.

उत्सृष्टा सा तनुस्तेन सद्योः समजायत ।
तस्मादहो धर्मयुक्तं देवताः समुपासते॥२०६॥

On his discarding the earlier body, the time of the day break arrived. Therefore, the gods adore the day with Dharma.

सत्त्वमात्रात्मिकामेव ततोन्यां सोभ्यमन्यत ।
पितृवन्मन्यमानस्य पुत्रांस्तान्ध्यायतः प्रभोः॥२०७॥
पितरो ह्युपपक्षाभ्यां रात्र्यहोरंतरेभवन् ।
तस्माते पितरो देवाः पितृत्वं तेन तेषु तत्॥२०८॥
यथा सृष्टास्तु पितरस्तनुं तां सं व्यपोहत ।
सापविद्धा तनुस्तेन सद्यः संध्या व्यजायत्॥२०९॥

When he took to a new body, it had enough of Sattvaguṇa. Lord Brahmā, then started his concentration as the father does for his sons. Out of both the limbs or fortnights, the pitrīs were created relating to the period in between days and nights. Therefore, the gods are pitrīs and because of that they have the position of pitrī. Brahmā then discarded that body as well. Then suddenly it was the day break.

यस्मादहर्देवतानां रात्रिर्या सासुरी स्मृता ।
तयोर्मध्ये तु पैत्री या तनुः सा तु गरीयसी॥२१०॥
तस्मादेवा सुराः सर्वे ऋषयो मानवास्तथा ।
उपासते मुदायुक्ता रात्र्यहोर्मध्यमां तनुम्॥२११॥

The gods like the day, while the asuras like the night. The period in between the day and night belongs to the Pitrīs. Because of that, the gods, Pitrīs, Rsis and the humans, adore the body that lives in between day and night.

ततो ह्यन्यां पुनर्बह्या तनुं वै समगृह्णत ।
रजोमात्रात्मिकायां तु मनसा सोसृजत्प्रभुः॥२१२॥
रजःप्रियांस्ततः सोथ मानसानसृजत्सुतान् ।
मनस्विनस्ततस्तस्य मानवा जज्ञिरे सुताः॥२१३॥

Then Brahmā took to the body with Rajoguṇa. Then, he created the mind-born sons to whom the rajogunas were quite dear in human form.

सृष्टा पुनः प्रजाश्चापि स्वां तनुं तामपोहत ।
सापविद्धा तनुस्तेन ज्योत्स्ना सद्यस्त्वजायत ॥ २१४

After their creation, Brahmā again discarded his body. With the discarding of that body, there emerged the moonlight and the night started beaming with moonlight. Because of this, the people felt pleased with the spread of moonlight.

यस्माद्द्ववंति संहष्टा ज्योत्स्नाया उद्भवे प्रजाः ।
इत्येतास्तनवस्तेन ह्यपविद्धा महात्मना ॥ २१५ ॥
सद्यो रात्र्यहनी चैव संध्या ज्योत्स्ना च जङ्गिरे ।
ज्योत्स्ना संध्या अहश्चैव सत्त्वमात्रात्मकं त्रयम् ॥

Thus, after discarding of the bodies by the moon, there had been the night, day and further moonlights were spread. The moonlight, the evening and the day are the symptoms of the auspiciousness.

तमोमात्रात्मिका रात्रिः सा वै तस्मान्त्रिशात्मिका ।
तस्मादेवा दिवातन्वा तुष्ट्या सृष्टा मुखात् वै ॥ २१७ ॥
यस्मातेषां दिवा जन्म बलिनस्ते वै दिवा ।
तन्वा ययासुरान् रात्रौ जघनादसृजतप्रभुः ॥ २१८ ॥

The night is characterised by the quality of darkness. Therefore, it is called as Nisā. Because the Devas were created by the day through delight and out of Brahmā's mouth, they are said to be day born and are powerful by day.

प्राणेभ्यो निशिजन्मानो बलिनो निशि तेन ते ।

पितॄणां मानवानां च अतीतानागतेषु वै ।
मन्वंतरेषु सर्वेषु निमित्तानि भवन्ति हि ॥ २२० ॥

The lord created the asuras during nights. Since they were born at night, the asuras get powerful during the night. These times become the causes for all the past and future Devas, Asuras, Pitṛs and human beings in all the past and future manvantaras.

The morning twilight, night day and the evening twilight are the bodies of Brahmā. They are called Āmbhāṁsi. The root bhā means to shine. The word Āmbhāṁsi is traced by the learned people to this root. After creating the Prajāpatis, Devas, human beings, Dānavas and Pitṛs from his body, he forsook that body which turned into moonlight and assumed another form characterised with passion and darkness. The lord created other beings during the night who were overwhelmed with hunger.

तेन सृष्टाः क्षुधात्मानो अंभांस्यादातुमुद्यताः ।
अभांस्येतानि रक्षाम उक्तवंतस्तु तेषु ये ॥ २२५ ॥

एवं च यक्षतिर्धातुर्भक्षणे स निरुच्यते ।
तं दृष्टा ह्यप्रियेणास्य केशाः शीर्णस्तु धीमतः ॥ २२८ ॥

These hungry beings which were created by him attempted to seize the bodies of the lord. Some of them said— “We shall protect these bodies.” They were known as Rākṣasas. They were the night walkers who had been overcome by hunger. Those who said— “We shall eat them up” were called Yakṣas and Guhyakas, because of their secret activity. The root rakṣa means ‘to protect’ and the root yakṣa means ‘to eat’. On observing the creation, the hair of the intelligent lord Brahmā became withered due to displeasure.

ते शीर्णशोत्थिता हृष्टं ते चैवारुरुधुः प्रभुम् ।

सर्पान्पृष्ठा ततः क्रुद्धः क्रोधात्मानो विनिर्ममे ।
वर्णेन कपिशेनोग्रासते भूताः पिशिताशनाः ॥ २३२ ॥

Those of the withered hair that slipped off his head and fell downwards, were turned into snakes. Since they were defective, they were known as Ahis and because they fell from his head, they were known as Pannagas and they are Sarpas because they creep. The fire of his terrible anger turned into poison and entered the serpents. This is reason for their having been born with poison. After creating the serpents, the angry lord created the irate souls, who looked as savages in their tawny colour. They were fierce and eaters of flesh being goblins. Since they came into beings, they were known as the Bhūtas and Piśācas.

धयंतो जज्ञिरे वाचं गंधर्वस्तेन ते स्मृताः ॥ २३४ ॥

From him were then born the Gandharvas, who could sing with delight. The root dhai means to imbibe. They were born even when they were imbibing speed. Therefore, they were known as Gandharvas.

अष्टस्वेतासु सृष्टासु देवयोनिषु स प्रभुः ।
ततः स्वच्छंदतोन्यानि वयांसि वयसासृजत् ॥ २३५ ॥

After the eight divine beings had been created, the lord then created the birds from his own youthful stage out of his own inclination.

स्वच्छंदतः स्वच्छंदांसि वयसा च वयांसि च ।
पशून्सृष्टा स देवेशोऽसृजत्पक्षिगणानपि ॥ २३६ ॥

Since they could move as they please, they are known as such. They are known as Vayasas or birds because they were created from his youth. After creating the animals, the lord of gods created the flocks of the winged birds.

The goats were created from his mouth, the sheep from his chest, cows and bulls from his belly and sides. From his feet, he created the horses, elephants, donkeys, deer, camels, mules and other classes of beasts. The plants and the fruit trees were produced from the hair of his body. After creating the cattle and plants, he engaged himself in a sacrifice.

गौरजः पुरुषो मेषो ह्यश्वीश्वतरगद्भौ ।

They call these the domesticated animals viz. the cows, bulls, the ram, the horse, mule and donkeys. These are the wild animals as well.

There are wild animals, the beasts of prey, the cloven hoofed elephants, monkeys, fifthly, the birds, aquatic beasts and the reptiles. The forest animals include buffaloes, Gavayas (oxen), bears, monkeys, Sarabhas, wolves and the lions.

गायत्रं च ऋचं चैव त्रिवृत्साम रथंतरम्।

From his front face, he created Gāyatrī and the Mantras, Trivṛta, Sāman, Rathantara and Agniṣṭoma verses.

यजूषि त्रैषुभं छन्दस्तोमं पञ्चदशं तथा।
बृहत्सास तथोक्थं च दक्षिणादसृजन्मुखात्॥ २४४॥

From his southern face, he created Yajuh hymns, Triṣṭubha metre, Pañcadaśa stoma, Br̥hat sāman and Ukthya verses.

सामानि जगतीच्छन्दस्तोमं सप्तदशं तथा।

From his western face, he created Sāman, the metre Jagatī, Saptadaśa stoma, Vairūpa sāman and Atirātra verses.

एकविंशमथर्वाणमासोर्यामाणमेव च।

From his northern face, he created the set of twenty five Atharvan hymns, Āptoya, Aryama, Anuṣṭubha metre and Vairāja metre.

विद्युतोशनिमेघांश्च रोहितेंद्रधनूषि च।
तेजांसि च सप्तजादौ कल्पस्य भगवान्प्रभुः॥ २४७॥

At the start of the kalpa, the lord created lightning, the thunderbolts, the clouds, the ruddy rainbows and the luminaries.

After creating the four groups viz. Devas, Asuras, Humans and Pitṛs, he created mobile and immobile Yakṣas, Piśācas, Gandharvas, Apsarās, Naras, Kinnaras, Rākṣasas, birds, cattle, wild animals and serpents.

यदास्य ताः प्रजा सृष्टा न व्यवर्धत सत्तमाः।

There are mobile and immobile as well as the changing and unchanging created beings. Whatever activities they had in the previous creation, they resumed the same activities in the present creation as well. They have the same nature etc., whether savage or limit, kind or cruel, righteous or evil, true or false. Urged by their attributes, they adopt and take pleasure in their respective qualities. With the great elements, the objects of senses and the forms, the creator himself settled the application of the elements as objects of the sense organs. Some people say that the human effort is the cause of various activities, others say that it is the divine fate. The materialists say that it is nature. But really the manly effort, working of fate and nature, all depend on nature of the fruit of the result. They are aware that none of these is superior to the other, nor one can be separated from the other. This is their nature. They cannot be all one nor are they two together, because of their having separate entities. Those who abide by the activities may call the result quite contrary; those who abide by the quality of goodness observe impartial outlook. The names and forms of the elements and their future development of the created ones were evolved by the great lord himself at the start itself through the words of the Vedas. The unborn lord assigns names and activities in regard to the Vedas, to the sages born at the end of the night of dissolution, in the same manner as before. Such are the creations of Brahmā of unmanifest origin. The mobile and the immobile beings created through the mental perfection are seen at the end of the night. They resort to the mental perfection. When these excellent objects created by him did not prosper, Brahmā, who had been covered with darkness, became miserable with grief.

ततः स विदधे बुद्धिमर्थनिश्चयगामिनीम्।

रजः सत्त्वं परित्यज्य वर्तमानं स्वधर्मतः।
ततः स तेन दुःखेन दुःखं चक्रे जगत्पतिः॥२६३॥

Then with the application of his own intellect or wisdom, he reached a definite decision. Then, he visualised within himself that the particles of darkness were the sole controlling factors eschewing both the particles of goodness and passion.

तमश्च व्यनुदत्पश्चाद्रजः सत्त्वं तमावृणोत्।
तत्तमः प्रतिनुन्नं वै मिथुनं समजायत॥२६४॥

Therefore, the lord of the universe became miserable because of the grief. Then, he produced the tamas and the rajas, covering both of them with sattva. The tamas having been thus prodded became a twin.

अधर्मस्तमसो जज्ञे हिंसा शोकादजायत।

द्विधां कृत्वा स्वकं देहमर्थेन पुरुषेभवत्।
अर्थेन नारी सा तस्य शतरूपा व्यजायत॥२६७॥

Adharma or sin was born of tamas and Himsā or violence was born of grief. When the pair of the terrible nature originated, the life or vital breaths left the lord and pleasure resorted to him. At that point of time, Brahmā eschewed his resplendent body; bifurcating it with the other half, he created the woman Śatarūpā.

प्रकृतिं भूतधारीं तां कामादौ सृष्टवान्प्रभुः।
सा दिवं पृथिवीं चैव महिमा व्याप्यथिष्ठिता॥२६८

With love, the lord created Prakṛti, the mother of the elements. With her greatness, she stood pervading heaven and earth.

ब्रह्मणः सा तनुः पूर्वा दिवमावृत्य तिष्ठति।
या त्वर्धात्सृजतो नारी शतरूपा व्यजायत॥२६९॥

सा देवी नियुतं तप्त्वा तपः परमदुश्वरम्।
भतारं दीसयशसं पुरुषं प्रत्यपद्यते॥ २७०॥

The first half body of Brahmā enveloped heaven and stayed there. The woman Śatarūpā born out of the other half, performed difficult penance for a hundred thousand years and obtained a man of brilliant renown as her husband.

स वै स्वायंभुवः पूर्वं पुरुषो मनुरुच्यते।
तस्यैव सप्ततियुगं मन्वंतरमिहोच्यते॥ २७१॥

That man was called Manu at the outset, who was the self born. Seventy sets of four yugas constitute his Manvantara.

लेभे स पुरुषः पर्तीं शतरूपामयोनिजाम्।
तथा सार्थं स रमते तस्मात्मा रतिरुच्यते॥ २७२॥

The man obtained as his wife Śatarūpā who was not born of a womb. He sported with her. Therefore, she is called as Rati.

प्रथमः संप्रयोगात्मा कल्पादौ समपद्यत।
विराजमसृजद् ब्रह्मा सोभवत्पुरुषो विराट्॥ २७३॥

The first mental relation of both the souls took place at the start of the kalpa when Brahmā created Virāṭ. He became the Virāṭ or massive Puruṣa.

सप्राट् च शतरूपा वै वैराजः स मनुः स्मृतः।
स वैराजः प्रजासर्गं ससर्ज पुरुषो मनुः॥ २७४॥

Śatarūpā was empress. The son of Virāṭ i.e. Svayambhuva came to be known as Manu. Manu Vairāja created the objects.

वैराजात्पुरुषाद्वीराच्छतरूपा व्यजायत।
प्रियब्रतोत्तानपादौ पुत्रौ द्वौ लोकसंमतौ॥ २७५॥

From the valorous son of Virāṭ or Vairāja, Śatarūpā gave birth to two sons, viz., Priyavrata and Uttānapāda, who were honoured by the worlds.

कन्ये द्वौ च महाभागे याभ्यां जाता इमाः प्रजाः।

She gave birth to two daughters as well from whom the subjects of the world were born. The gentle ladies were known as Ākūti and Prasūti.

स्वायंभुवः प्रसूतिं तु दक्षाय प्रददौ प्रभुः।
प्राणो दक्ष इति ज्ञेयः सङ्कल्पो मनुरुच्यते॥ २७७॥

The lord Svayambhuva Manu gave Prasūti to Dakṣa, who should be known as the Prāṇa or the vital breath, while Manu is Sarīkalpa or an idea.

यज्ञश्च दक्षिणा चैव यमलौ संबभूवतुः।
यज्ञस्य दक्षिणायां तु पुत्रा द्वादशा जग्निरे॥ २७९॥

He gave Ākūti to Ruci – the Prajāpati. Ruci, the mind-born son of Brahmā, begot auspicious twins from Ākūti. Yajñā and Dakṣinā were born as twins. Yajñā begot Dakṣinā twelve sons.

यामा इति समाख्याता देवाः स्वायंभुवेतरे।

The Devas called Yāma were born as his sons in the Svayambhuva Manvantara. Therefore, they too are known as Yāmas.

अजितश्चैव शुक्रश्च गणौ द्वौ ब्रह्मणा कृतौ।
यामाः पूर्वं प्रजाता ये तेऽभवस्तु दिवौकसः॥ २८१॥

Two groups of the Ajitas and Śukras were created by Brahmā. The Yāmas, who were born at the outset, became the dwellers of the heaven.

स्वायंभुवसुतायां तु प्रसूत्यां लोकमातरः।
तस्यां कन्याश्चतुर्विंशदक्षस्त्वजनयत्प्रभुः॥ २८२॥

Lord Dakṣa begot of Prasūti, the daughter of Svayambhuva, twenty four daughters, who became the mothers of the worlds.

All of them were the expounders of Brahman as well as the mothers of the universe. Lord Dharma took thirteen daughters of Dakṣa as his wives. They were known by the names of Śraddhā, Lakṣmī, Dhṛti (fortitude), Tuṣṭi (satisfaction), Puṣṭi (nourishment), Medhā (intellect), Kriyā (ritual), Buddhi (wisdom), Lajjā (bashfulness), Vapuh (beauty), Śānti (peace), Siddhi (achievement) and Kirti (renown).

Lord Dharma took these daughters of Dakṣa as his wives. Their younger sisters were the eleven splendid ladies and were known by the names of Khyāti, Sambhūti, Smṛti, Prīti, Kṣamā, Sannati, Anusūyā, Ěrjā, Svāhā, Svadhā. Other great sages took them as their wives, who were known as Rudra, Bhṛgu, Marici, Aṅgīras, Pulaha, Kratu, Pulastya, Atri, Vasiṣṭha, Agni and the Pitṛs. He gave Satī to Bhava, Khyāti to Bhṛgu, Sambhūti to Marici, Smṛti to Aṅgīras, Prīti to Pulastya, Kṣamā to Pulaha, Sannati to Kratu, Anusūyā to Atri, Ěrjā to Vasiṣṭha, Svāhā to Agni and Svadhā to Pitṛs. All these ladies were highly blessed. They closely followed their progeny in all the Manvantaras until the dissolution of all the living beings. Now listen to their progeny.

Śraddhā gave birth to Kāma, Darpā was the son of Lakṣmī, Niyama of Dhṛti, Santoṣa of Tuṣṭi, Lobha of Puṣṭi, Śruta of Medhā, Daṇḍa and Samaya were born as the sons of Kriyā, Bodha and Pramāda of Buddhi, Vinaya was born of Lajjā, Vyavasāya of Vapuh, Kṣema of Śānti, Sukha of Siddhi and Yaśah of Kirti – these were the sons of Dharma. Harṣa was son of Kāma, born of the gentle lady Prīti. Thus, the creation of Dharma has been specified. Himsā bore to Adharma, Nikṛti and Anṛta.

Pairs of twins were born of Nikṛti, Bhaya and Naraka; Māyā and Vedanā. Māyā gave birth to Mṛtyu – the dispeller of the living beings. Raurava got a son of Vedanā called Duḥkha. From Mṛtyu were born Vyādhi, Jarā, Śoka, Krodha and Asūyā. All these ending with Duḥkha, had the characteristics of Adharma. These had no wives, nor sons. They live in perpetual chastity. Thus, the Tāmasa creation was evolved with Adharma as the controlling factor.

They were all equal to him in form, splendour, strength and learning. They were tawny-coloured and were equipped with quivers. They wore matted locks of hair and had reddish complexion. They had special features. Their hair were green and they carried skulls. They could kill with their eyes and had massive figures. All of them were deformed. All of them were of universal forms. They had their own forms. They carried shields, coats of arms and protective front-fenders loaded in their chariots. They had hundreds and thousands of arms. They could move into the heaven and sky, besides walking over the earth. They had strong heads, eight curved fangs each, two tongues and three eyes. They consumed the cooked food. Some of them ate flesh, some consumed ghee, some drank soma juice. Some of them were beautiful, some had big skulls, some had blue necks. They had sublimated their sexuality. They were partakers of offsprings and were conversant with Dharma. They were virtuous and were decorated with peacock feathers fixed to their clubs. Some of them were seated, some were running in groups of five and there were thousands of such groups. Some of them were teachers, while others were students. Some of them performed japams and indulged in yogic practices. Some of them emitted smoke and blazed. Some lived on river banks. Some were quite bright, while others were aged and intelligent. They were engaged in meditation on Brahman. They had auspicious vision. Their necks were blue and had thousand eyes. They were mines of mercifulness and patience. They were invisible to living beings. They had great yogic powers and splendour. Thousands of them roamed about, rushed on and jumped up here and there. These excellent beings were created by him just in three hours. Observing them, Brahmā said— “Don’t resort to such creation. O lord, salutation to you. Don’t create the progeny resembling yourself. Let you meet with welfare. O lord, don’t create the people resembling yourself. Create the beings who have to face death. The people who are devoid of death would never be interested in performing the religious rites.” At these words of Brahmā, Mahādeva said— “I shall never create people who have to face death and old age. Welfare on to you. I am with you. Therefore, you better carry on the creation. The thousands of tawny-coloured beings who have been created by me shall be known as the valorous Rudra-gaṇas and shall be the deities of Rudra on earth. They will all spread in all the directions, sky and earth.

They will perform a thousand Rudra yajñas. They will receive the share in the yajñas with the gods. They shall continue till the end of a yuga. They will be worshipped with gods in different yugas.”

एवमुक्तस्तदा ब्रह्मा महादेवेन धीमता ।

At these words of the intelligent Mahādeva, the delightful Brahmā offered his salutation to him and said,

एवं भवतु भद्रं ते यथा ते व्याहतं विभो ।
ब्रह्मणा समनुज्ञाते तथा सर्वमभूत्क्लिला ॥ ३२२ ॥

“O lord, things will be done as desired by you. Let you meet with welfare.” After these words of Brahmā spoken by him, everything was done as expressed by him.

Thereafter, Rudra, the lord of gods, made no more creations. He remained static and observed celibacy till the time of dissolution. Then Maheśvara Śiva, who was resplendent like the sun, had uttered that he was standing, therefore, he came to be known as Sthānu.

Half of his body is that of a female, while the other half is of a male. His lustre resembles the fire. He divided his body into two parts at his own sweet will. One half is that of a male and the other half is that of a female.

The same lord has stationed himself in eleven halves. The great goddess, mentioned earlier as the highly blessed lady, sharing half the body of the lord, became Satī for the good of the worlds. The same goddess was adored by Dakṣa earlier.

Lord Śiva then asked Brahmā— “For the sake of creation, divide yourself into two, right half being white and the left black.” At these words of lord Śiva, O Brāhmaṇas, she bifurcated herself into white and black. I shall mention her names. You listen to me attentively.

These are the various names of the goddess.

The names of Bhadrakālī mentioned by me yield the best results. Those who read these names are devoid of sins.

These names, when used in the forest, on the mountains, in the city or in the house, in water or on dry land, serve as the remedy for saving oneself. When there is the danger from tigers, elephants, kings or thieves or any other adversity, one should repeat them.

One should repeat these names as a protective measure in the case of children afflicted by the evil eye, evil planets, goblins or mothers.

The following two are the parts of the great goddess. They are Prajñā and Śrī. From these two were born thousands of goddesses by whom the entire universe is pervaded.

Rudra – Maheśvara, the lord of Devas, stationed himself along with his consort Satī for the benefit of the worlds. He is Parameśvara, Rudra and Paśupati. Formerly, the three cities were burned by him. With his brilliance, Devas became Paśus. The one who reads or listens to the splendid order of the primordial creation attains the world of Brahmā. He, who narrates the same to the excellent Brāhmaṇas, also attains the abode of Brahmā.

Chapter 71

Discourse of Nandikeśvara

ऋषय ऊचुः

समासाद्विस्तराच्चैव सर्गः प्रोक्तस्त्वया शुभः ।
कथं पशुपतिश्चासीत्पुरं दग्धुं महेश्वरः ॥१॥

The R̄ya is said—

The excellent process of creation has been mentioned in brief as well as exhaustively. Now, you tell us how lord Paśupati burnt out the three cities of Tripura.

कथं च पशवश्चासन्देवा सब्रह्मकाः प्रभोः ।
मयस्य तपसा पूर्वं सुदुर्गं निर्मितः पुरम् ॥२॥
हैमं च राजतं दिव्यमयस्मयमनुत्तमम् ।

कथं ददाह भगवान् भगनेत्रनिपातनः ।
एकेनेषुनिपातेन दिव्येनापि तदा कथम् ॥४॥

O lord, how could all the people with Brahmā turn as Pasūs? Maya, after performing tapas, had built the three cities. These three cities were of the beset and divine nature. They were made in gold, silver and iron. We have heard that lord Śiva, the master of the gods, had burnt out all the three cities. How could Śiva, the destroyer of the eyes of Bhaga, burn all the three cities with a single arrow, though they had been quite splendid?

विष्णुनोत्पादितैर्भूतैर्न दग्धं तत्पुरत्रयम्।
पुरस्य संभवः सर्वो वरलाभः पुरा श्रुतः॥५॥

Those three cities could not be destroyed by the bhūtas created by Viṣṇu. We people had learnt about the creation of those cities as well gaining of the boons, earlier.

इदानीं दहनं सर्वं वक्तुमहसि सुब्रत।
तेषां तद्वचनं श्रुत्वा सूतः पौराणिकोत्तमः॥६॥

O Suvrata, you kindly narrate the story of the destruction of the three cities in detail.

यथा श्रुतं तथा प्राह व्यासाद्विशार्थसूचकात्।

Listening to the words of the R̥sis, Sūta, who was the best as the knower of the Purāṇas, said— “I shall narrate the same in the same manner as I had learnt from Vyāsa.”

सूत उवाच

तेषां पितामहः प्रीतो वरदः प्रददौ वरम्।

Sūta said—

Tāraka, the son of Tāra, troubled the three worlds by his intelligence, body and speech. Because of that, he was killed by Skanda with his family and kins. His sons were quite strong and valorous and were known by the names of Vidyunmālin, Tārakākṣa and Kamalākṣa. All the three of them performed severe tapas. When those Dānavas were performing severe austerities, their bodies became very weak. At the same time, Brahmā was pleased with their tapas and he asked them to seek for a boon.

दैत्या ऊचुः

अवध्यत्वं च सर्वेषां सर्वभूतेषु सर्वदा॥११॥
सहिता वरयामासुः सर्वलोकपितामहम्।
तानब्रवीत्तदा देवो लोकानां प्रभुख्ययः॥१२॥

The Daityas said—

“No one should be able to kill us at any time by anyone. This is the boon we desire.” In other words, they intended to be eternal. In this way, all the three of them prayed to Brahmā – the lord of the three worlds. He said to them.

नास्ति सर्वामरत्वं वै निवर्त्तध्वमतोसुराः।
अन्यं वरं वृणीध्वं वै यादृशं संप्ररोचते॥१३॥

“O Asuras, no one is eternal in the world. You shed away this desire and ask for another boon which should be favourable to you.”

ततस्ते सहिता दैत्याः संप्रधार्य परस्परम्।
ब्रह्माणमब्रुवन्दैत्याः प्रणिपत्य जगदगुरुम्॥१४॥

Then all the three Daityas, after consulting among themselves, said to Brahmā – the creator of the universe.

वयं पुराणि त्रीण्येव समास्थाय महीमिमाम्।
विचारिष्याम लोकेश त्वत्प्रसादाज्जगदगुरो॥१५॥

“O lord of the universe, O protector of the universe, by your grace, let all of us roam about on earth comfortably, at will, living in three cities.

तथा वर्षसहस्रेषु समेष्यामः परस्परम्।
एकीभावं गमिष्यन्ति पुराण्येतानि चानघ॥१६॥

All of us should meet together in a thousand years. O sinless god, all the three cities should become one.

समागतानि चैतानि यो हन्याद्भगवंस्तदा।
एकेनैवेषुणा देवः स नो मृत्युर्भविष्यति॥१७॥

When all the three cities are united and at that point of time, in case someone destroys the three cities with a single arrow, only then we should meet with death."

एवमस्त्विति तान्देवः प्रत्युक्त्वा प्राविशद्विवम्।
ततो मयः स्वतपसा चक्रे वीरः पुराण्यथ॥१८॥

Brahmā replied— "Be it so," and thereafter, he left for the heaven. Thereafter, the valorous Maya Dānava with the performing of his tapas, built up three cities.

काञ्चनं दिवि तत्रासीदंतरिक्षे च राजतम्।
आयसं चाभवद्भूमौ पुरं तेषां महात्मनाम्॥१९॥

The noble asuras established the three cities in the three places. The city of gold was lodged in the heaven, the city of silver was lodged in the sky, the city of iron was lodged on earth.

एकैकं योजनशतं विस्तारायामतः सप्तम्।
काञ्चनं तारकाक्षस्य कमलाक्षस्य राजतम्॥२०॥

हैरण्ये राजते चैव कृष्णायसमये तथा।
आलयं चात्मनः कृत्वा तत्रास्ते बलवांस्तदा॥२२॥

One of the cities was spread in a hundred square yojanas. The city of Tārakākṣa was made of gold. The city of Kamalākṣa was made of silver and the city of Vidyunmālin was made of iron. Making these cities as their dwelling places, the valorous Dānavas lived there. Those cities in fact were excellent castles.

पुरत्रये तदा जाते सर्वे दैत्या जगत्रये।

O sages of holy rites, in this way, all the three cities were turned as the strong facts of the Daityas. O Brāhmaṇas, the three cities assembled the three lokas. With the expansion of the three cities, all the Daityas entered in them and became quite strong.

कल्पद्रुमसमाकीर्ण गजवाजिसमाकुलम्।
नानाप्रासादसङ्कीर्ण मणिजालैः समावृतम्॥२५॥

All the three cities had enough of Kalpaṛkṣas in them. They had a large number of elephants and steed in them. There were innumerable palaces in those cities.

The planes there resembled the solar region, which had the door openings on all the sides. There were vast buildings in which the ru-s had been studded and looked elegant. Their entrance gates were gigantic and graceful and resembled the peak of the Kailāsa mountain. All the three cities were built separately and were graced by the best of the Dānavas.

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the beautiful cities were filled with beautiful women, Gandharvas, Siddhas and Cāraṇas. Each and every house had a Śiva temple in which the homa was performed daily.

The cities were surrounded from all the sides with wells, tanks, step-wells and the vast lakes. The herds of intoxicated elephants, the horses of excellent breeds and the astonishing types of chariots could be seen everywhere in large numbers. There were drinking sheds, assemblies, playgrounds, etc. Different kinds of halls and chambers for the study of the Vedas could be found everywhere. The cities were well fortified and made unassailable or impregnable even mentally by others, due to the illusory power of Māyā. O excellent sages, these cities were frequented by chaste ladies everywhere. There were large number of Daityas living in those cities. Although they committed grave sins, they got rid of them by adoring lord Śiva. O Brāhmaṇas, the leading Daityas were highly blessed. They lived with their wives and sons. They were conversant with the holy rites as laid down in the Śrutis and Smṛtis. They were engaged in those virtuous rites always. They discarded all the lords except lord Śiva and were engaged in the worship of lord Śiva alone. They had broad chests and shoulders resembling the bulls. They could make use of all the weapons. They were always hungry. Their eyes were shining like the forest fire. Some of them were peaceful, some were infuriated. Some were dwarfish and some had hump backs. They had the lustre of blue lotus flowers. They had curly and dark hair. They resembled the blue mountain and the Meru. Their voice resembled that of the rumbling clouds. All of them were protected by Māyā. They were well-trained and were desirous of fighting. The three cities were frequented by the firm and steadfast suppressers of the gods, who were interested in the fighting always and all round who had perfectly achieved prowess and strength by the adoration of Śiva and who resembled the sun in lustre, wind and the king of immortal beings.

सेंद्रा देवा द्विजश्रेष्ठा द्रुमा दावाग्निना यथा।
पुरत्रयाग्निना दग्धा ह्यभवन्दैत्यवैभवात्॥३८॥

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, Indra and other gods were burning with jealousy due to the grandeur of the three cities as the forest fire burns the trees in the forest.

अथैवं ते तदा दग्धा देवा देवेश्वरं हरिम्।
अभिवंद्य तदा प्राहुस्तमप्रतिमवर्चसम्॥३९॥

Thus, with the glory of the Daityas, all the gods burning with jealousy with the Daityas, went to lord Viṣṇu and offered their salutation to him.

सोपि नारायणः श्रीमान् चितयामास चेतसा ।
किं कार्यं देवकार्येषु भगवनिति स प्रभुः ॥४०॥
तदा सम्मार वै यज्ञं यज्ञमूर्तिर्जनार्दनः ।
यज्ञा यज्ञभुगीशानो यज्ञनां फलदः प्रभुः ॥४१॥

On the other hand, lord Viṣṇu also thought as to how the task of the gods be accomplished. Then Viṣṇu, the form of yajñā, remembered that he himself is the performer of yajñā and the bestower of the reward for the performing of the yajñā.

ततो यज्ञः स्मृतस्तेन देवकार्यार्थसिद्ध्ये ।
देवं ते मुरुषं चैव प्रणेमुस्तुष्टुवुस्तदा ॥४२॥

For the accomplishment of the task of the gods, Yajñā himself appeared before lord Viṣṇu in human form. He offered his salutation to lord Viṣṇu and praised him.

भगवान्पि तं दृष्ट्वा यज्ञं प्राह सनातनम् ।
सनातनस्तदा सेन्द्रान्देवा नालोक्य चाच्युतः ॥४३॥

Lord Viṣṇu also, looking at Yajñā and the other gods including Indra, said.

श्रीविष्णुरुवाच
अनेनोपसदा देवा यजध्वं परमेश्वरम् ।
पुरत्रयविनाशाय जगत्रयविभूतये ॥४४॥

Lord Viṣṇu said—

“O gods, for the destruction of the three cities, perform the Upasad-yajñā for the pleasure of Śiva.”

सूत उवाच
अथ तस्य वचः श्रुत्वा देवदेवस्य धीमतः ।
सिंहनादं महत्कृत्वा यज्ञेषं तुष्टुवुः सुराः ॥४५॥

Sūta said—

Listening to the words of Viṣṇu, the lord of the intelligent gods, roared like lion and praised the god of yajñā.

ततः संचित्य भगवान् स्वयमेव जनार्दनः ।
पुनः प्राह स सर्वास्तांस्त्रिदशांस्त्रिदशोश्वरः ॥४६॥

Thereafter, lord Viṣṇu again thought over the matter and spoke to the gods.

हत्वा दग्ध्वा च भूतानि भुक्त्वाचान्यायतोऽपि चाः ।
यजेद्यदि महादेवमपापो नात्र संशयः ॥४७॥

“Even after killing the people and burning them, and after enjoying the worldly pleasures with the earnings by illegal means, if a person worships Śiva, then also he is relieved of the sins. There is no doubt about it.

अपापा नैव हंतव्याः पापा एव न संशयः ।
हंतव्याः सर्वयत्नेन कथं वध्याः सुरोत्तमाः ॥४८॥
असुरा दुर्मदाः पापा अपि देवैर्महाबलैः ।
तस्मात्र वध्या रुद्रस्य प्रभावात्परमेष्ठिनः ॥४९॥

There is no doubt that the friends and the people who do not commit sins should not be killed. Only the sinners are liable to be killed. How should the excellent gods kill the wicked asuras? Though they are the sinners and the gods are extremely resourceful, but because of the grace of lord Parameṣṭhin Rudra, they cannot be killed.

कोहं ब्रह्माथवा देवा दैत्या देवारिसूदनाः ।
मुनयश्च महात्मनः प्रसादेन विना प्रभोः ॥५०॥

What am I without the grace of Śiva? Then who is Brahmā, O gods? Who are the Daityas? Who is the destroyer of the enemies of the gods?

यः सप्तविंशको नित्यः परात्परतरः प्रभुः ।
विश्वामरेश्वरो वंद्यो विश्वाधारोमहेश्वरः ॥५१॥

And who are the noble souls? Śiva is the lord. He is greater than the greatest. He is eternal. He is comprised of the twenty seven tattvas. He is adorable. He is the lord of eternal beings. He is Maheśvara and the base of the universe.

स एव सर्वदेवेशः सर्वेषामपि शङ्करः ।
लीलया देवदैत्येन्द्रविभागमकरोद्धरः ॥५२॥

He alone is the lord of gods. It is he who had divided the gods and the asuras.

तस्यांशमेकं संपूज्य देवा देवत्वमागताः ।
ब्रह्मा ब्रह्मत्वमापन्नो ह्यहं विष्णुत्वमेव च ॥५३॥

By adoring his amṛta, the gods have achieved to the position of being eternal. Brahmā had achieved the position of Brahmāhood, while I have attained the position of Viṣṇu.

तमपूज्य जगत्यस्मिन् कः पुमान् सिद्धिमिच्छति ।
तस्मात्तेनैव हंतव्या लिङ्गार्चनविधेर्बलात् ॥५४॥

Who can achieve success in the world without adoring him? Therefore, by adoring Śiva in the form of a linga in a suitable form, lord Śiva is pleased. The Daityas can be destroyed by him alone.

धर्मनिष्ठाश्च ते सर्वे श्रौतस्मार्तविधौ स्थिताः ।
तथापि यजमानेन रौद्रेणोपसदा प्रभुम् ।
रुद्रमिष्टा यथान्यायं जेष्यामो दैत्यसत्तमान् ॥५५॥
सत्तारकाक्षेण मयेन गुरुं
स्वस्थं च गुरुं स्फटिकाभमेकम् ।
को नामं हंतुं त्रिपुरं समर्थो
मुक्त्वा त्रिनेत्रं भगवंतमेकम् ॥५६॥

All the Dānavas are true to their Dharma and follow the provisions of the Śrutis and Smṛtis. Still by adorning lord Śiva by means of Upasad-yajña, we shall be able to be victorious over the Daityas killing them. Except the three-eyed lord Śiva, no one else would be able to destroy the Tripura. All the three cities are fully secured by Tārakākṣa and Maya. The three cities have the lustre of the crystal stone and are well established in themselves.

Thus speaking, lord Viṣṇu then adored lord Śiva by means of Upasad-yajña.

All of them were carrying tridents, saktis, gadā, upala, rocks, etc. besides several other weapons for attack and had taken to many forms resembling Rudra of the time of dissolution. Thereafter, lord Viṣṇu, while seating there, found thousands of goblins present before him, offering their salutation to him and stood there attentively. Lord Viṣṇu then spoke to them.

विष्णुरुचाच

दाध्वा भित्त्वा च भुक्त्वा च गत्वा दैत्यपुरत्रयम् ।
पुनर्यथागतं वीरा गंतुर्महथ भूतये ॥६०॥

Lord Viṣṇu said—

O great warriors, go to Tripuras of the Daityas. Burn them. Break them and swallow them. Thereafter, you return in the same way as you go to those places.

ततः प्रणम्य देवेशं भूतसंघाः पुरत्रयम् ।
प्रविश्य नष्टास्ते सर्वे शलभा इव पावकम् ॥६१॥

Thereafter, the groups of goblins offered their salutation to lord Viṣṇu and entered Tripura. All of them were destroyed there as fireflies burn in the fire.

At the command of the lord of the Daityas, all the Bhūtagaṇas were destroyed. Thousands of the Daityas felt delighted while dancing and singing. All of them offered prayer to lord Rudra, the noble soul. All the gods including Indra were all defeated in a moment, having lost all the strength. Then, they reached Viṣṇu, the lord of the gods and feeling panicky, sought for his help. Observing them in such a pitiable condition, lord Viṣṇu thought,

किं कृत्यमिति संतसः संतसान्तेन्द्रकान् क्षणम् ।
 कथं तु तेषां दैत्यानां बलं हत्वा प्रयत्नतः ॥६५॥
 देवकार्यं करिष्यामि प्रसादात्परमेष्ठिनः ।
 पापं विचारतो नास्ति धर्मिष्ठानां न संशयः ॥६६॥

“What should be done?” Thus thinking and finding the painful gods with Indra, he himself felt grieved. He again thought after sometime— “Making all the efforts, I shall kill the demon army without the grace of Śiva.” After deep thinking it appears that the Daityas are quite religious minded people and are free of sins.

तस्मादैत्या न वध्यास्ते भूतैश्चोपसदोद्भवैः ।
 पापं नुदति धर्मेण धर्मे सर्वं प्रतिष्ठितम् ॥६७॥
 धर्मादैश्वर्यमित्येषा श्रुतिरेषा सनातनी ।
 दैत्याश्वैते हि धर्मिष्ठाः सर्वे त्रिपुरवासिनः ॥६८॥
 तस्मादवध्यतां प्राप्ता नान्यथा द्विजपुङ्गवाः ।
 कृत्वापि सुमहत्पापं रुद्रमध्यर्चयन्ति ये ॥६९॥
 मुच्यन्ते पातकैः सर्वैः पद्मपत्रमिवांभसा ।

पूजया भोगसंपत्तिरवश्यं जायते द्विजाः ॥७०॥
 तस्माते भोगिनो दैत्या लिङ्गार्चनपरायणाः ।
 तस्मात्कृत्वा धर्मविघ्नमहं देवाः स्वमायया ॥७१॥
 दैत्यानां देवकार्यार्थं जेष्ठेहं त्रिपुरं क्षणात् ।

This is the reason that the Daityas could not be destroyed with the Bhūtagaṇas. They destroy the sins with the use of Dharma. Everything is based on Dharma. All the Daityas living in Tripura are religious-minded. “O excellent Brāhmaṇas, they have achieved nectarhood, otherwise not. Fortunes are achieved by practising Dharma. This fact is eternally popular. Those people adore Rudra. Therefore, they, inspite of committing grave crimes, by the grace of Śiva, are freed from the sins. The sins cannot cast their shadow over them, in the same way as the lotus leaf remains unaffected with water, while remaining in it. O Brāhmaṇas, by worshipping Śiva, the worldly pleasures can surely be achieved. Therefore, those people are devoted to the worship of Śiva Liṅga and are enjoying all the comforts and bliss. Therefore, O gods, I, with the use of my Māyā, shall create obstructions in their religious activities and for the sake of the gods, I shall overpower Tripura in a moment.”

सूत उवाच

Sūta said—

Thus thinking, Viṣṇu resolved to create obstructions in the religious activities of the Daityas. The immensely illustrious Viṣṇu, in order to create obstructions in the religious activities of the Daityas, create an illusory person from his body.

शास्त्रं च शास्त्रासर्वेषामकरोत्कामरूपधृक् ।
सर्वसंमोहनं मायी दृष्टप्रत्ययसंयुतम्॥७४॥

Then Viṣṇu – the ruler of all, the person who could assume any form at will, the wielder of Māyā, evolved a holy book which could attract any one and that had within its basic principles, the belief what is seen.

एतत्स्वाङ्गभवायैव पुरुषायोपदिश्य तु।
मायी मायामयं शास्त्रं ग्रंथोडशलक्षकम्॥७५॥

This sacred treatise contained a million, six hundred thousand verses. Lord Viṣṇu taught this scripture to the Puruṣa born of his own limbs.

श्रौतस्मार्तविरुद्धं च वर्णाश्रमविवर्जितम्।
इहैव स्वर्गनरकं प्रत्ययं नान्यथा पुनः॥७६॥
तच्छास्त्रमुपदिश्यैव पुरुषायाच्युतः स्वयम्।
पुरत्रयविनाशाय प्राहैनं पुरुषं हरिः॥७७॥

It was against those treatises that followed the Śrutiś and Smṛtiś. It was devoid of discipline pertaining to four classes, four castes and stages of life. It was taught in it that heaven and hell were on earth itself. There was no belief otherwise. Viṣṇu himself taught this scripture to that Puruṣa. For the destruction of the three cities, he said to the Puruṣa.

गंतुमर्हसि नाशाय भो तूर्णं पुरवासिनाम्।
धर्मस्तथा प्रणश्यन्तु श्रौतस्मार्ता न संशयः॥७८॥

“It undoubtedly behoves you to go there for the quick destruction of the people of the three cities. May their dharma’s in pursuit of Śrutiś and Smṛtiś be destroyed.

ततः प्रणम्य तं मायी मायाशास्त्रविशारदः ।
प्रविश्य तत्पुरं तूर्णं मुनिर्माया तदाकरोत्॥७९॥

The wielder of Māyā, the expert in descriptive scriptures, bowed to him. After entering those cities, the sage at once created his Māyā.

मायया तस्य ते दैत्याः पुरत्रयनिवासिनः ।
श्रौतं स्मार्तं च संत्यज्य तस्य शिष्यास्तदाभवन्॥८०॥

On account of his Māyā, those Daityas, who were living in those cities, discarded their holy rites based on Śrutiś and Smṛtiś and became his disciples.

तत्पुजुश्च महादेवं शङ्करं परमेश्वरम्।
नारदोपि तदा माया नियोगान्मायिनः प्रभोः॥८१॥
प्रविश्य तत्पुरं तेन मायिना सह दीक्षितः ।
मुनिः शिष्यैः प्रशिष्यैश्च संवृतः सर्वतः स्वयम्॥८२॥

They discarded Śiva, Mahādeva, the great Iśvara, at the behest of the lord, the wielder of Māyā, Nārada, the practitioner of deception, who entered the three cities and associated himself, surrounded on all the sides by his disciples and their disciples.

स्त्रीधर्मं चाकरोत्स्रीणां दुश्चारफलसिद्धिदम्।

ताः स्वर्गलोकमासाद्य मोदंते विगतज्वराः॥८८॥

He ordained the rules for conduct of women which gave them the benefit of unchaste activities. They followed those rules and received the results immediately. Those women started finding fault with the women who were faithful to their husbands. Even today in the age of Kali, the base women give honour to Nārada, disown their husbands and move about at will. In fact, it is the husband who is the mother, father, kinsman, comrade, friend and relative unto the women. There is no doubt about it. Still he said thus through his Māyā. In fact the women who loves her husband shall attain the greatest heaven even after committing a grave sin. The one who does contrary to this, falls in hell. O excellent sages, the chaste ladies, forsook all the Dhamras, all the gods and other preceptors of the universe and adored their husbands always. After attaining the heavenly world, they became free from ailments and rejoiced. But those who were the followers of Māyā were fallen in hell. Therefore, it is the husband who is the greatest goal.

नरकं च जगामान्या तस्माद्भर्ता परा गतिः ।
तथापि भर्तृस्वांस्त्यक्त्वा बभूः स्वैरवृत्तयः ॥८९

या लक्ष्मीस्तपसा तेषां लब्ध्या देवे श्वरादजात् ।
बहिर्गता परित्यज्य नियोगाद्ब्रह्मणः प्रभोः ॥९१ ॥

Still on account of the Māyā of the lord of Devas and at the instance of lord Viṣṇu, the women discarded their husbands and turned self-willed, besides being unrestrained in their conduct. Then the misfortunes reached the three cities at the behest of lord Viṣṇu himself. The glory and the prosperity which had been achieved from Brahmā – the unborn lord, the lord of the gods, discarded them and lift the three cities.

बुद्धिमोहं तथाभूतं विष्णुमायाविनिर्मितम् ।

कृतार्थं इव देवेशो देवैः सार्धमुपापत्तिम् ॥९५ ॥
तपसा प्राप्य सर्वज्ञं तुष्टाव पुरुषोत्तमः ।

The lord Viṣṇu thus spread delusion of the intellect by the Māyā of Viṣṇu. The Purusa deluded the Daityas and Nārada – the wielder of Māyā deluded the women folks. In order to create obstacles in Dharma, these two were comfortably lodged there. They were unexcited and unchanging, when the splendid Dharma pertaining to Śrutis and Smṛtis disappeared, when heresy was proclaimed by Viṣṇu, the source of origin of the universe; when Maheśvara and the worship of Sīvalīṅga was abandoned by Daityas; when the virtuous activities of the women entirely disappeared and the evil conduct was stabilised. Then Viṣṇu, the lord of the gods, felt content. After performing penance, he approached the lord of Umā along with the gods and eulogised him.

(This is our prayer for you). All are influenced with your Māyā. O Parameśvara, just as the waves and billows in the ocean come in clash with one another and ultimately turn into water, so also the Devas and Asuras and all the creations of Brahmā (struggling with one another) are ultimately absorbed in the ocean, turning themselves into water. Similarly, the gods of the creation of Brahmā and Asuras fight among themselves and ultimately are absorbed in yourself.

O lord, look at his splendid eyes and also the mark of collyrium applied by his mother Gaṅgā, Kṛttikā and Svāhā as an auspicious benediction. When Śiva was so addressed by Umā – the mother of the worlds, he started imbibing nectar from the faces of Skanda. But still he was not satisfied with the same. He, for a moment, forgot even the presence of gods there, who having been tortured by the Daityas, had collected there.

At the command of lord Maheśvara, his friend Nandī arrived before Śiva mounted over the white bull. Wearing the locks of hair over the head, he held the trident and a club in his hands. He was wearing the garlands, hāras, kundalas and the wristlets. Finding Nandī there, Kumbhodara quickly went with him. Nandī, who was riding an illustrious bull, held a bull-bannered flag in his hand.

He was the commander of the gaṇas and was accompanied with gaṇas, as if he himself was Mahādeva. The white chakra of Nandī was spread in ten yojanas. It was tied from within with pearl beads. The hanging rosary of white beads looked like the Gaṅgā falling from the head of Śiva.

O R̄ṣīs, finding Nandī – the lord of gaṇas of this type, the divine big drums were sounded at the command of Indra for his welcome. He also praised him uttering sweet words like the gods getting delighted at the sight of lord Śiva. At the command of Indra, the movers in the sky showered rain of flowers over Nandī which appeared like the stars spreading in the sky. Thus, the back of the bull Nandī was covered with the fragrant flowers. O Suvratas, visualising that form, Indra with all the gods, besides Viṣṇu praised him as if Nandī was another Mahādeva.

Having been thus prayed by the gods, Nandī – the son of Śilāda and the lord of gaṇas, was delighted. Then he said to the gods— “You better arrange for an excellent charioteer, bow, excellent arrow, keeping in view the immediate destruction of Tripuras.” Thereafter, the gods, with the help of the divine architect Viśvakarmā and Brahmā, together got a chariot made for the intelligent lord Śambhu.

In this way, the divine chariot, the bow and the arrow were made. Brahmā, the lord of the lokas, was made the charioteer. Śiva, adorned with the coat of arms, together with all the gods, shaking the earth as well as the sky, mounted over the chariot.

Being prayed by the Rṣis and adorned by the bards, besides the groups of Apsarās danced before lord Śiva. After lord Śiva mounted the chariot in which various types of weapons had been stored, it became quite heavy. Then all the four Vedas which had served as its horses, could not bear the load of the chariot. The chariot collapsed and fell down head on over the earth. Then lord Viṣṇu, the protector of the earth, took to the form of a bullock, lifted up the chariot from below and tried to re-establish it. By the very next moment, the horses tumbled over their knees.

Then at the command of lord Śiva, Brahmā was holding the reins, lifted up the horses and placed the chariot again over its wheels.

Then the horses which moved with the speed of wind and the mind, were driven in the sky towards the Tripura.

Then glancing at the gods, lord Rudra said— “Bestow the lordship of the animals on me, after which I shall be able to destroy the Asuras.

कल्पयित्यैव वध्यास्ते नान्यथा नैव सत्तमाः॥३५॥

Listening to the words of the learned Śiva, the gods developed a doubt. They were upset with this change and felt disgusted.

तेषां भावं ततो ज्ञात्वा देवस्तानिदमब्रवीत् ।
मा वोस्तु पशुभावेस्मिन् भयं विबुधसत्तमाः॥३७॥

Realising about the state of their minds, Śiva spoke— “O excellent gods, you should not be afraid of becoming Pasū. You listen to the redemption of the animalhood and act accordingly.

श्रूयतां पशुभावस्य विमोक्षः क्रियतां च सः ।
यो वै पाशुपतं दिव्यं चरिष्यति स मोक्ष्यति॥३८॥

A person who will perform the Pāśupatavrata, he would be relieved of the position of Pasū, He would achieve the greatest goal.

O pure ones, I solemnly promise this to you. O excellent Devas, there is no doubt in this and those others too who perform the Pāśupata rite will be liberated from the state of being a Pasū. He who renders service steadily for twelve years or even half of the period or even for three years, can be liberated from that state. Hence, O excellent Devas, perform this great and divine vrata.

The Devas then said to Śiva who is adored the world over— “It will be done.”. That is why the devas, asuras and human beings are called Pasūs. Rudra is the lord of Pasūs and the liberator of the Pasūs for the bondages. He who is Pasū shall discard that state through this holy rite. The scriptures declare that even after committing the sins, he does not become a sinner. At the same time, Vināyaka as a boy, behaving like an adult, forbade the Devas as he had not been appropriately worshipped by the gods and said.

Vināyaka said—

“Which man may be a Deva or a Dānava who attains perfection in the world without worshipping me, offering enough of splendid food stuffs and other edibles. Therefore, O leading Devas, I shall cause obstructions in your cause. O excellent Devas, how is it that you had thought of performing this task without worshipping me?” Thereafter, all the gods including Indra were frightened. After worshipping that lord and propitiating him with all kinds of eatables and other foodstuffs, besides leaves and sweets, they spoke to lord Gaṇeśa— “Let our task be achieved now without any obstructions.” Lord Rudra, the foremost of the leading chiefs, embraced his son and kissed him over the head. Then he worshipped and adored Gaṇeśa with flowers of sweet fragrance and juicy eatables besides other foodstuffs. After adoring Vināyaka, the leader of the commanders, worthy of being worshipped, lord Rudra, having the lord of mountains as his bow, started along with a group of the gods and the leaders of the Gaṇas in order to burn the three cities.

The thirty three and three hundred and

Gaṇeśvara was seated in the middle of the chariot surrounded by the ganas and looked like the moon appearing in the spotless sky surrounded by the stars.

The daughter of Himavān – the mother of the universe, known as the goddess Umā, was seated to the left of lord Śiva and looked graceful with the lustre of lord Śiva.

Śubhāvati, the auspicious goddess, possessing all the auspicious symbols, holding the flywhisk in her hand, having the grace of gold, was lodged to the left.

The pure white body of the supreme lord and the lord of the gods, was shining with bhasma. In the company of Ambikā, he was shining like the white clouds in the sky with streaks of lightning.

भार्तींद्रधनुषाकाशं मेरुणा च यथा जगत्।
हिरण्यधनुषा सौम्यं वपुः शंभोः शशिद्युतिः॥९१॥

The glitter of the golden bow resembled the lustre of the moon. The resplendent body of lord Śiva with his bow appeared like the Meru mountain with rainbow.

सितातपत्रं रत्नांशुमिश्रितं परमेष्ठिनः।
यथोदये शशाङ्कस्य भात्यखण्डं हि मण्डलम्॥९२॥

The white umbrella of Śiva was shining like the rising moon.

The gemset necklace round the neck of Śiva suspended along with his silken upper robe near the extremity of umbrella, was shining like the excellent river Gaṅgā flowing from the sky.

After this, Śiva, whose lotus like feet are worshipped by Indra, Brahmā and Agni, accompanied with Ambā, proceeded towards Tripura for the benefit of the world.

Lord Śiva, who is competent enough to burn the entire mobile and immobile world in a movement, then why did he go with the army of his ganas to burn the Tripuras?

Then the gods, Brahmā and Viṣṇu, besides Indra said— “Of what use is the chariot to Śiva? Of what use is the excellent arrow to him? Of what use in the groups of gods to him? The all powerful lord himself is competent enough to burn Tripura. What is the use of the display of all the might?

We think that all this is the display of the sport of lord Śiva, the carrier of Pināka bow. Otherwise what other benefits has he to derive from the elaborate show?”

Delighted in the company of the prominent gods and gaṇas headed by Nandī, and for the globe as his chariot, he shone with the goddess like the mountain Meru with its eight peaks. As he reached near the city, he became more and more resplendent.

On seeing Iśvara, the lord of gods, seating in the centre of the three cities with his gaṇas, besides the daughter of Himavat, the groups of gods followed him.

जगत्रयं सर्वमिवापरं तत्

नरेश्वरैश्वैव गणैश्च देवैः

O excellent sages, the three cities appeared like another units of three worlds which were occupied by prominent man, the gaṇas, the gods and the three types of asuras.

अथ सञ्ज्यं धनुः कृत्वा शर्वः संधाय तं शरम्।

Then Śarva tied up the string of the bow, fitted with arrow, joined it with the miraculous weapon and thought of aiming it towards Tripura, stretching its cord.

तस्मिस्थिते महादेवे रुद्रे विततकामुके।

When lord Śiva stood with the well drawn bow, at the same time all the three cities were joined together.

एकीभावं गते चैव त्रिपुरे समुपागते।
बभूत तु मुलो हर्षो देवतानां महात्मनाम्॥१०३॥

When all the three cities were joined together, then all the gods with great souls felt delighted.

ततो देवगणाः सर्वे सिद्धाश्च परमर्थयः।
जयेति वाचो मुमुक्षुः संस्तुवन्तोष्टमूर्तिनम्॥१०४॥

Then all the Siddhas, Devarṣis and Gods shouted the slogans of victory and prayed to the Aṣṭamūrti Śiva.

अथाह भगवान्ब्रह्मा भगनेत्रनिपातनम्।
पृष्ययोगेषि संप्राप्ते लीलावशमुमापतिम्॥१०५॥

Subsequently, on the arrival of the auspicious Puṣya yoga, lord Brahmā sportingly said to Śiva, the lord of Umā, the destroyer of the eyes of Bhaga.

स्थाने तत्र महादेव चेष्टेयं परमेश्वर।
पूर्वदेवाश्च देवाश्च समास्तव यतः प्रभो॥१०६॥

“O Parameśvara, O Maheśvara, the Gods and Asuras are similar before you.

Still the gods are devoted to dharma and the asuras are sinful. Therefore, O lord of the universe, you shed away your sport.

O Īśa, O lord, what is the use of burning Tripura with the chariot, flag, arrow, Brahma or myself or the bhūtas? The Puṣyayoga has arrived. Before the three cities get separated, you reduce them to ashes, by that time.” Then Virūpākṣa – Mahādeva, the omniscient one, reduced Tripura to ashes. Then all the gods like the moon, Viṣṇu, Kālāgni and the wind god, collectively offered their salutation to lord Śiva and said to him- “O Deveśa, with your mere look, Tripura has been reduced to ashes; still for the welfare of the world, you should shoot the arrow. Thereafter, O leading Brāhmaṇas, Tripurārī Īśvara lifted the bow and stretching its string upto the ear, smilingly shot the arrow.

The Tripuras were burnt in a moment by the arrow and returned to the lord. It offered its salutation to lord Śiva and stood besides him. Tripura was filled with bodies of the hundreds and thousands of dead daityas. At the end of the kalpa, Tripura resembled the three lokas which were reduced to ashes. However, in Tripura itself, such of the Daityas who were devoted to Śiva, they together with their kins and families achieved the abode of Śiva on the basis of their devotion. All the gods with Indra, Viṣṇu and Gaṇeśvaras looked at Śiva and the daughter of Himālaya with awe, but could speak nothing due to panic. Finding the gods feeling panicky, Rudra asked them- “What is to be done next?” But all of them bowed to him from all the sides. They saluted Nandi who was having moon as ornament. They offered their salutation to the daughter of the king of mountain, Gaṇeśa and Maheśvara. With apt attention, Brahmā eulogised lord Bhava, Īśvara, the enemy of Tripuras with Viṣṇu and other gods.

O lord, you are yourself the chariot, charioteer, Viṣṇu and the master, besides Rudra's Śakti and Grandsire being all in all. How can I offer prayer to you properly? You are of much higher standard than the one to whom the prayer is offered. I offer my salutation to you lowering my head.

You have both the gross and the subtle tattvas. One is subtle, one is with form and the other is formless. One is pleasant to look at and the other is invisible. One is worthy of meditation, which is wonderful, O Íśa.

On hearing the hymn, the mighty-armed resident of the peak of the Mandara mountain who was worshipped devotedly by the four-faced deity, looked smilingly at the daughter of the mountain and said to Brahmā of great honour.

O Brāhmaṇas, when the auspicious stotra of Śiva composed by the meritorious Brahmā is being recited by a person with devotion at the time of performing Śrāddha or when recited to the Brāhmaṇas for the sake of the welfare of the gods, he surely proceeds to Brahmaloka. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, such a person is totally relieved of all the sins relating to the speech as well as the body. He is also freed from the gross as well as the subtle sins, besides other great sins or small petty omission. A person in fact is relieved of all the sins by listening to this chapter. His enemies get destroyed and he becomes virtuous in the battle. No ailments can make him suffer. The miseries or misfortunes cannot touch him. There is a tremendous increase in his riches, age, glory, learnings and his influence.

After the departure of Maheśvara and the burning of the Tripuras, then Brahmā spoke in the assembly of the gods.

Brahmā said—

With the Māyā of Viṣṇu, by neglecting the worship of lord Śiva, the Tripuras as well as the Rākṣasas who lived therein were destroyed. The glorious Rākṣasas were the grandsons of Tāra and were the sons of Bali-Tāraka. The valorous demons like Tārakākṣa, Kamalākṣa, Vidyunmālī – the king of Daityas and all others have been killed with their kiths and kins. All of them discarded the adoration of Śiva and have met with their destruction. Therefore, lord Śiva should always be worshipped in the form of Śivalīṅga as Sadāśiva. The gods enjoy comforts only upto the time they keep on adoring lord Śiva with devotion. The entire world has the shape of an oval. Everything is enshrined in oval or linīga.

Therefore, the one who is desirous for the protection of the soul, should worship the Śivalīṅga. It is by means of worshipping the linīga, the gods, the Daityas, Dānavas, Yakṣas, Vidyādhara, Siddhas, Piśitāśanas, manes, sages, Piśācas, Kinnaras and others have achieved the siddhis. There is no doubt about it.

Description of Pāśupata-vrata

We people are the Pāśus for the intelligent Mahādeva, the god of gods. Leaving aside the Paśutva or animalhood, one should perform the auspicious Pāśupata vrata. One should worship lord Mahādeva enshrined in the Liṅga. Five Pranavas should be used for the purification of Pañcabhūtas. O excellent gods, the process should be repeated with five Pranavas. Thereafter, it should be repeated with three and then with two Pranavas. Thereafter, it should be repeated with equal number of the Pranavas during the performing of prāṇāyāma. Thereafter, reciting omkāra, prāṇa and Apāna should be restricted. Then he should dip his limbs in the nectar of knowledge and Prapava. He should then purify the three guṇas and then to the ahamkāra and tanamātrās. O Suvrata gods, then he, while purifying jiñānendriyas and karmendriyas, should also purify two Puruṣas, and Cidātmā should touch the fire bhasma. Then he should say— “The wind, Vyoma (the sky), water and the earth are also the ashes.” Thereafter, he should apply bhasma over his body thrice in a day, viz. morning, noon and evening and by so doing, the person is enlightened of all the tattvas on earth. This is called Pāśupata vrata. O excellent gods, this process is meant for salvation which has been revealed by the lord Maheśvara himself. By performing the Pāśupata vrata in this manner and by adoring lord Mahādeva in Liṅga form by lord Viṣṇu, he has been witnessed by both of us. O gods, by following Pāśupata vrata, the people are relieved from Paśutva in a year. By performing the internal and external worship of lord Mahādeva, all the other vratas should be performed. O excellent gods, this is the divine resolve of myself and Viṣṇu.

मुनीनां च न संदेहस्तस्मात्पंजयेच्छिवम्।
 सा हानिस्तम्हन्तिद्रुं स मोहः सा च मूकता॥२२॥
 यत्क्षणं वा मुहूर्तं वा शिवमेकं न चिंतयेत्।
 भवभक्तिपरा ये च भवप्रणतचेतसः॥२३॥
 भवसंस्मरणोद्युक्ता न ते दुःखस्य भाजनम्।
 भवनानि मनोज्ञानि दिव्यमाभरणं स्त्रियः॥२४॥

धनं वा तुष्टिपर्यंतं शिवपूजाविधेः फलम्।
ये वांछन्ति महाभोगान् राज्यं च त्रिदशालये।
तेऽर्चयंतु सदा कालं लिङ्गमूर्तिं महेश्वरम्॥२५॥

There is no doubt that this is the firm resolve of the sages as well. Therefore, Śiva should be worshipped. In case a person does not think of Śiva even for a moment, then it amounts to loss. This is the big hole. This is the Māyā. This is the silence. One who worships Śiva for a while or for a moment, or who remains devoted to lord Śiva, or offers him his mental salutation, or tries to recollect his name, he can never face misery. The reward for the adoration of Śiva results in having a beautiful dwelling place, divine and beautiful ornaments, wealth and riches to one's satisfaction. The people who are desirous of enormous worldly pleasures and the rule of heaven, should always worship Śiva in the form of linga.

हत्वा भित्त्वा च भूतानि दग्ध्वा सर्वमिदं जगत्॥२६
यजेदेकं विरूपाक्षं न पापैः स प्रलिप्यते।
शैलं लिङ्गं मदीयं हि सर्वदेवनमस्कृतम्॥२७॥
इत्युक्त्वा पूर्वमभ्यर्थ्यं रुद्रं त्रिभुवने श्वरम्।
तुष्टाव वाभिरिष्टाभिर्देवदेवं त्रियंबकम्॥२८॥
तदाप्रभृति शक्राद्याः पूजयामासुरीश्वरम्।
साक्षात्पाशुपतं कृत्वा भस्मोदधूलितविग्रहाः॥२९॥

So much so that after killing all the living beings and after burning the entire world, in case, one worships lord Śiva, then he is never involved in the sin. My Sivalinga made of stone is adored by all the gods who offer salutation to the same. After thus speaking, Brahmā worshipped Śiva, the lord of gods having three eyes, lord of the three worlds, and then offered prayer to him with sweet words. Since then, Indra and other gods, while performing Pāśupata vrata and applying ashes over their bodies, started worshipping Śiva.

It is said that there are six types of liṅgas made of different types of materials. They are sub-divided in forty-four sub-divisions. The first type of liṅgas are called Śailaja or made of stone rock. It has four sub-divisions. O excellent sages, the second type is made of jewels which has seven sub-divisions. The third type originates from metals and it has eight sub-divisions. The fourth type of liṅgas originates from wood and it is of sixteen sub-divisions. The goddess as well as the lord is adored by the person who worships with the pedestal. The splendid liṅga, whether of rock or of jewel or of metals or of clay or of the momentary type, should be installed with devotion. The result is excellent. The person who worships liṅga is eulogised by Indra, Brahmā, Agni, Yama, Varuṇa, Kubera, Siddhas, Vidyādharaś, the king of serpents, Yakṣas, Dānavas and Kinnaras with the sounds of the divine drums. He becomes a meritorious soul. He shines brilliantly with splendour, gradually occupies the passes through Bhūḥ, Bhuvaḥ, Svāḥ and Mahar lokas and then beyond the Janaloka, he shall go to tapas and satya, illuminating there with his own lustre. He shall pierce the cosmic egg with the large sword deposited in the holy path in which the liṅga had been installed.

After eschewing the liṅga of stone rock, or of jewel or of metals or of clay or of momentary type, he shall establish the entire body in the liṅga. A person who installs the excellent liṅga with white as the kunda flower or the milk of the cow in accordance with the provision of the scriptures, together with Umā and Skanda, becomes Rudra himself in human form. By touching him or seeing him, a person achieves enormous bliss. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the merit achieved by such a person cannot be described in hundreds of yugas. Therefore, one should consecrate the liṅga in the above manner. The Sakala (with attributes) with divinely resplendent body of the lord is worthy of being conceived by all men. But Niṣkala (without attributes) and the divinely splendid body can only be conceived by a Yogi.

इति श्रीलिङ्गमहापुराणे पूर्वभागे शिवलिङ्गभेद-
संस्थापनादिवर्णनं नाम चतुःसप्ततमोऽध्यायः ॥७४॥

Sūta said—

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, those who are well-versed with reality, realise Śiva in the form of Praṇava. They, listening to the Vedic Saṁhitās, consider him as the one without birth. In other words, lord Śiva is conceived by some people as Praṇava, while by others as the form of jñāna (knowledge).

शब्दादिविषयं ज्ञानं ज्ञानमित्यभिधीयते ।
तज्ज्ञानं भ्रांतिरहितमित्यन्ये नेति चापरे ॥३॥

The awareness of the words is known as knowledge. Some of the learned persons believe that the knowledge without confusion is the real knowledge. Some of them believe that there is no such thing.

यज्ञानं निर्मलं शुद्धं निर्विकल्पं निराश्रयम् ।
गुरुप्रकाशकं ज्ञानमित्यन्ये मुनयो द्विजाः ॥४॥

O Brāhmaṇas, other sages are of the view that the knowledge which is pure is devoid of impurities, having no alternative objects and needs no support, besides is made manifest through a teacher and that is the real knowledge.

ज्ञानेनैव भवेन्मुक्तिः प्रसादो ज्ञानसिद्धये ।
उभाभ्यां मुच्यते योगी तत्रानंदमयो भवेत् ॥५॥

Only the complete knowledge leads to salvation. For achieving the complete knowledge, the grace of the lord is essential. Both of them help the yogī to achieve salvation and making him blissful.

वदंति मुनयः केचिच्कर्मणा तस्य सङ्गतिम् ।
कल्पनाकल्पितं रूपं संहत्य स्वेच्छयैव हि ॥६॥

Some of the sages believe that it should have the link with the noble deeds as well. By one's own free will, the form that is conceived fancifully, shall be withdrawn.

Advaita philosophy of Śiva

ऋषय ऊचुः

निष्कलो निर्मलो नित्यः सकलत्वं कथं गतः ।
वक्तुर्महसि चास्माकं यथा पूर्वं यथा श्रुतम् ॥१॥

The R̄si is said—

Lord Śiva is without attributes, spotless and eternal. How did he achieve the position with attributes? You kindly enlighten us on this point in the same way as you have done earlier.

सूत उवाच

परमार्थविदः केचिदूचुः प्रणवरूपिणम् ।
विज्ञानमिति विप्रेद्राः श्रुत्वा श्रुतिशिरस्यजम् ॥२॥

चरणौ चैव पातालं समुद्रस्तस्य चांबरम्।

प्रकृतिस्तस्य पल्ली च पुरुषो लिङ्गमुच्यते।
वक्त्राद्वै ब्रह्मणः सर्वे ब्रह्मा च भगवान्प्रभुः॥९॥
इंद्रोपेंद्रौ भुजाभ्यां तु क्षत्रियाश्च महात्मनः।

पुष्करावर्तकाद्यास्तु केशास्तस्य प्रकीर्तिः।
वायवो ग्राणजास्तस्य गतिः श्रौतं स्मृतिस्तथा॥११॥

The heaven is the head of the lord, the sky is his naval, viz. the sun, the moon and the fire are his eyes. The directions are the ears of the great soul. Pātālas are his feet. The ocean is his garment. The gods are his arms. The constellations are his ornaments. The Prakṛti stands for his wife and Puruṣa stands for his linga. All the Brāhmaṇas, Indra, Brahmā and Viṣṇu emerged from his mouth. Kṣatriyas were born of his arms. The Vaiśyas were born of his thighs, while Śūdras emerged out of his feet. Puṣkara, Āvartaka and the clouds represent his hair. The wind emerged out of his nostrils. Śrutis and Smṛtis are his movements.

अथानेनैव कर्मात्मा प्रकृतेस्तु प्रवर्तकः।
पुंसां तु पुरुषः श्रीमान् ज्ञानगम्यो न चान्यथा॥१२॥

Śiva himself is the form of Karma. By means of his global body, he makes the Prakṛti to work. He is the operator. The virtuous people can reach him by means of complete knowledge and not otherwise.

कर्मयज्ञसहस्रेभ्यस्तपोयज्ञो विशिष्यते।
तपोयज्ञसहस्रेभ्यो जपयज्ञो विशिष्यते॥१३॥
जपयज्ञसहस्रेभ्यो ध्यानयज्ञो विशिष्यते।
ध्यानयज्ञात्परो नास्ति ध्यानं ज्ञानस्य साधनम्॥१४॥

The yajña of recitation is thousand times better than the tapoyajña. Dhyāna yajña is better than the recitation yajña. Nothing is better than dhyāna yajña. Nothing is greater than the meditation.

यदा समरसे निष्ठो योगी ध्यानेन पश्यति।
ध्यानयज्ञरत्स्यास्य तदा सन्त्रिहितः शिवः॥१५॥

When a yogī visualises by means of meditation, getting engaged in dhyāna yajña, Śiva appears in the same.

नास्ति विज्ञानिनां शौचं प्रायश्चित्तादिचोदना॥
विशुद्धा विद्यया सर्वे ब्रह्मविद्याविदो जनाः॥१६॥

All the people are purified with Brahmajñāna. There is no expiatory rite or any other injunction in regard to the people well-versed in knowledge, nor is any purificatory rite prescribed for them.

नास्ति क्रिया च लोकेषु सुखं दुःखं विचारतः।
धर्माधर्मौ जपो होमो ध्यानिनां सन्त्रिधिः सदा॥१७॥

For the people engaged in meditation, no rite has been prescribed for them. Pleasure or pain, dharma or adharma, jñāna or ajñāna—this would be clear by thinking.

परानंदात्मकं लिङ्गं विशुद्धं शिवमक्षरम्।
निष्कलं सर्वगं ज्ञेयं योगिनां हृदि संस्थितम्॥१८॥

Linga is spotless, bestows welfare, besides being everlasting. It is highly blissful, is of attributeless form, devoid of guṇas and is all pervading. It always remains enshrined in the heart of the yogīs.

लिङ्गं तु द्विविधं प्राहृब्रह्माभ्यन्तरं द्विजाः।
बाह्यं स्थूलं मुनिश्रेष्ठाः सूक्ष्ममाभ्यन्तरं द्विजाः॥१९॥

O Brāhmaṇas, Linga is of two types, viz. internal and external. O Sages, the sthūla linga is the outer one, while the subtle is the interior one.

कर्मयज्ञरताः स्थूलाः स्थूललिङ्गार्चने रताः।
असतां भावनार्थाय नान्यथा स्थूलविग्रहः॥२०॥

The devotees who are engaged in the worship of sthūla liṅga are known as sthūla devotees. They remain engaged in performing karmas and other religious activities. In order to awaken the knowledge in the subtle or the gross devotees, the gross liṅga is needed.

आध्यात्मिकं च यत्लिंगं प्रत्यक्षं यस्य नो भवेत्।
असौ मूढो बहिः सर्वं कल्पयित्वैव नान्यथा॥ २१॥
ज्ञानिनां सूक्ष्मममलं भवेत्प्रत्यक्षमव्ययम्।
यथा स्थूलमयुक्तानां मृत्काष्टादैः प्रकल्पितम्॥ २२॥

The spiritual liṅga is not meant for them who visualise things from the outward form and not otherwise. Irrespective of the gross liṅga having been made of clay, wood or of any other material, it is meant for ordinary devotees. The subtle or the internal liṅga is meant for the yogīs alone.

अर्थो विचारतो नास्तीन्यन्ये तत्त्वार्थवेदिनः।
निष्कलः सकलश्वेति सर्वं शिवमयं ततः॥ २३॥

Those who are well-versed in the tattvas say that object on consideration is non-existent. Therefore, everything – the Niṣkala and Sakala is of the nature of Śiva.

व्योमैकमपि दृष्टं हि शरावं प्रति सुब्रताः।
पृथक्त्वं चापृथक्त्वं च शङ्करस्येति चापरे॥ २४॥

Although both are one, still they, according to the reflection of the sun in different vases from the sky, are seen separately. Similarly Śiva is one as well as divided.

प्रत्ययार्थं हि जगतामेकस्थोपि दिवाकरः।
एकोपि बहुधा दृष्टे जलाधारेषु सुब्रताः॥ २५॥

O Suvratas, other thinkers feel that though the sun is one, but the same is divided into several rivers, vases, plates separately and provides the different looks. This example has been cited in order to convince the people.

जंतवो दिवि भूमा च सर्वे वै पञ्चभौमिकाः।
तथापि बहुला दृष्टा जातिव्यक्तिविभेदतः॥ २६॥

All the living beings of the heaven and earth have been developed with the five elements viz., earth, fire, water, wind and the sky. Still because of the difference in species, they are seen in multiples of forms as different individuals.

दृश्यते श्रूयते यद्यत्तत्तद्विद्धि शिवात्मकम्।
भेदो जनानां लोकेस्मिन्प्रतिभासो विचारतः॥ २७॥

You take it for granted that whatever is visible in the world or is heard, that has the form of Śiva. The difference among the people on deliberation is merely an illusion.

स्वप्ने च विपुलान् भुक्त्वा मर्त्यः सुखी भवेत्।
दुःखी च भोगं दुःखं च नानुभूतं विचारतः॥ २८॥

After witnessing the extensive pleasures in dream, a person may be happy or miserable. But on pondering, we understand that neither the pleasures nor the misery has been experienced in reality.

एवमाहुस्तथान्ये च सर्वे वेदार्थतत्त्वगाः।
हृदि संसारिणां साक्षात्सकलः परमेश्वरः॥ २९॥
योगिनां निष्कलो देवो ज्ञानिनां च जगन्मयः।
त्रिविधं परमेशस्य वपुर्लोके प्रशस्यते॥ ३०॥

Those who are well-versed in the interpretation of the Vedas, they and the other people speak similarly about the worldly affairs. Śiva, the supreme lord with attributes, is lodged in hearts of the worldly people. The lord, devoid of the attributes, appears in the heads of the yogīs and is identical with the universe. He appears to the people with wisdom only. The physical body of the lord is of three types.

निष्कलं प्रथमं चैकं ततः सकलनिष्कलम्।
तृतीयं सकलं चैव नान्यथेति द्विजोत्तमाः॥ ३१॥

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the first one is Niṣkala, the second one is Sakala-Niṣkala, while the third one is Sakala alone.

अर्चयंति मुहुः केचित्सदा सकलनिष्कलम्।
सर्वज्ञं हृदये केचिच्छिवलिङ्गे विभावसौ॥३२॥
सकलं मुनयः केचित्सदा संसारवर्तिनः।
एवमध्यर्थयन्त्येव सदाराः ससुता नराः॥३३॥

Some people adore lord in Sakala-Niṣkala form, some of them worship the lord in the heart or in the form of liṅga or fire. Others worship the lord in Sakala form with his spouse and the sons.

यथा शिवस्तथा देवी यथा देवी तथा शिवः।
तस्मादभेदबुद्ध्यैव सप्तविंशत्प्रभेदतः॥३४॥
यजंति देहे बाह्ये च चतुष्कोणे षड्सके।
दशारे द्वादशारे च षोडशारे त्रिरस्के॥३५॥

As is the case with Śiva, so is the case with the goddess Umā also known as Pārvatī. As is the goddess, so is Śiva. Therefore, the people worship the deities with the consciousness of non-difference. They worship the twenty seven principles in the body as well as outside, in mystic diagrams of four, six and ten angles on twelve, sixteen and three sides.

स स्वेच्छया शिवः साक्षादेव्या सार्थं स्थितः प्रभुः।
संतारणार्थं च शिवः सदसद्यक्तिवर्जितः॥३६॥

Śiva – the lord, devoid of difference of Sat and Asat, is lodged of his own free will together with the goddess for the protection of the world.

तमेकमाहुर्द्विगुणं च केचित्
केचित्तमाहुस्त्रिगुणात्मकं च।
ऊचुस्तथा तं च शिवं तथान्ये
संसारिणं वेदविदो वदन्ति॥३७॥

Some call him one, while others call him one with two guṇas. Some call him Triguṇa (possessing three guṇas). Some call him Śiva. Others who are well-versed in the Vedas speak about him as the cause of the universe.

भक्त्या च योगेन शुभेन युक्ता
विप्राः सदा धर्मरता विशिष्टाः।
यजंति योगेशमशेषमूर्ति
षड्समध्ये भगवन्तमेव॥३८॥

All Brāhmaṇas possessing devotion and the auspicious yoga are the persons of special characteristics and are interested in dharma. In the centre of hexagon, they worship him as the lord of yoga, having all the forms.

ये पत्र पश्यन्ति शिवं त्रिरसे
त्रितत्त्वमध्ये त्रिगुणं त्रियक्षम्।
ते यांति चैनं न च योगिनोऽन्ये
तया च देव्या पुरुषं पुराणम्॥३९॥

Those who believe Śiva in the triangular mystic diagram in the centre of the three principles, attain him not the other yogīs. They believe the three-eyed lord with three guṇas, the Purāṇa Puruṣa, together with the goddess.

Chapter 76
Installation of the image of Śiva

सूत उवाच

अतः परं प्रवक्ष्यामि स्वेच्छाविग्रहसंभवम्।
प्रतिष्ठाया: फलं सर्वं सर्वलोकहिताय वै॥१॥

Sūta said—

For the benefit of all the lokas. I shall now speak about the consecration of the image of Śiva and the fruit earned by a person's so doing. The image should be according to the liking of the person concerned.

स्कंदोमासहितं देवमासीनं परमासने ।

कृत्वा भक्त्या प्रतिष्ठाप्य सर्वान्कामानवाप्नुयात् ॥२॥

The image of Śiva should be made with Skanda and Umā and should be appropriately established over a pedestal.

स्कंदोमासहितं देवं संपूज्य विधिना सकृत् ।

यत्कलं लभते मर्त्यस्तद्वदामि यथाश्रुतम् ॥३॥

I am going to reveal the fruits that are earned by a person who worships the image of Śiva with Skanda and Umā.

सूर्यकोटिप्रतिकाशैर्विमानैः सार्वकामिकैः ।

रुद्रकन्यासमाकीर्णेयनारूपसमन्वितैः ॥४॥

शिववल्क्षीडते योगी यावदाभूतसंप्लवम् ।

तत्र भुक्त्वा महाभोगान् विमानैः सार्वकामिकैः ॥५॥

औमं कौमारमैशानं वैष्णवं ब्राह्मणमेव च ।

प्राजापत्यं महातेजा जनलोकं महस्तथा ॥६॥

ऐंद्रमासाद्य चैंद्रत्वं

कृत्वा वर्षायुतं पुनः ।

भुक्त्वा चैव भुवर्लोके

भोगान् दिव्यान् सुशोभनान् ॥७॥

Till the dissolution of all the living beings, he becomes a yogī and indulges in sports like Śiva. He becomes resplendent like crores of suns, wherein all the desired things are available. He achieves a plane in which the daughters of Rudra dance and sing. He enjoys all the bliss there. He enjoys all the pleasures. Thereafter, he moves from one place to another. These places are known by the names of Kumāraloka, Īśānaloka, Viṣṇuloka, Brahma-loka, Prajāpatiloka, Janaloka and Maharloka. After reaching Indraloka, he functions as Indra for ten thousand years. Then enjoying all the divine pleasures in Maharloka, he reaches the Meru mountain and he enjoys all the comforts in the abodes of gods.

मेरुमासाद्य देवानां भवनेषु प्रमोदते ।

एकपादं चतुर्बाहुं त्रिनेत्रं शूलसंयुतम् ॥८॥

सृष्टा स्थितं हरिं वामे दक्षिणे चतुराननम् ।

अष्टविंशतिरुद्वाणां कोटिः सर्वाङ्गसुप्रभम् ॥९॥

पञ्चविंशतिकं साक्षात्पुरुषं हृदयात्तथा ।

प्रकृतिं वामतश्चैव बुद्धिं वै बुद्धिदेशतः ॥१०॥

अहङ्कारमहङ्कारात्तन्मत्राणि तु तत्र वै ।

इंद्रियाणींद्रियादेव लीलया परमेश्वरम् ॥११॥

पृथिवीं पादमूलात् गुह्यदेशाज्जलं तथा ।

नाभिदेशात्तथा विं हृदयाद्वास्करं तथा ॥१२॥

कंठात्सोमं तथात्मानं भूमध्यान्मस्तकाद्विम् ।

सृष्टैव संस्थितं साक्षात्जगत्सर्वं चराचरम् ॥१३॥

सर्वज्ञं सर्वगं देवं कृत्वा विद्याविधानतः ।

प्रतिष्ठाप्य यथान्यायं शिवसायुज्यमाप्नुयात् ॥१४॥

A devotee shall then achieve the Sāyujya devotion of the all pervading omniscient Śiva as prescribed in the scriptures, that lord who has a single foot, four arms, three eyes and a trident, the lord who is stationed after creating Viṣṇu from his left side and the four-faced Brahmā from his right side. He is the lord who created from his heart the twenty four crores of Rudras and then the twenty fifth principle Puruṣa with all the brilliant limbs. He is the lord who created Prakṛti from his left side, cosmic and intellect from the region of right side, the cosmic ego from his own ego and the tanmātrās therefrom. The great lord sportingly created the sense organs from his own sense organs.

He created the earth from his foot and water from his private parts. He created fire from his umbilical region, the sun from his heart, the moon from his neck, the soul from the middle of his eyebrows and the heaven from his forehead. The lord is stationed thus after creating the entire universe inclusive of mobile and immobile beings.

त्रिपादं सप्तहस्तं च चतुःशृङ्गं द्विशीर्षकम्।
कृत्वा यज्ञेशमीशानं विष्णुलोके महीयते॥१५॥

By making the image of Īśāna, the lord of the sacrifices who has three feet, seven hands, four horns and two heads, the devotee is honoured in the world of Viṣṇu.

तत्र भुक्त्वा महाभोगान्कल्पलक्षं सुखी नरः।
क्रमादागत्य लोकेऽस्मिन्सर्वयज्ञांतगो भवेत्॥१६॥

Such a man will enjoy great pleasure there for a hundred thousand kalpas. He shall be happy there and in due course of time, return to his world as the master of all the sacrifices.

वृषारूढं तु यः कुर्यात्सोमं सोमार्थभूषणम्।
हयमेधायुतं कृत्वा यत्पुण्यं तदवाप्य सः॥१७॥
काञ्छनेन विमानेन किंकिणीजालमालिना।
गत्वा शिवपुरं दिव्यं तत्रैव स विमुच्यते॥१८॥

If the devotee makes the image of the lord riding over the bull in the company of Umā and with the crescent moon as the ornament, he attains the merit which one usually gets on performing ten thousand horse sacrifices. Then he goes in the divine city of Śiva in an aerial car of gold with cluster of tinkling bells and is liberated there itself.

नंदिना सहितं देवं सांबं सर्वगणैर्वृत्तम्।
कृत्वा यत्फलमाप्नोति वक्ष्ये तद्वै यथाश्रुतम्॥१९॥

I shall now mention about the benefits attained by a person by making of an image of the lord with Nandī and Umā, surrounded by all the gaṇas.

सूर्यमण्डलसङ्काशैर्विमानैर्वृषसंयुतैः।
अप्सरोगणसङ्कीर्णैर्देवदानवदुर्लभैः॥२०॥
नृत्यद्विरप्सरः संधैः सर्वतः सर्वशोभितैः।
गत्वा शिवपुरं दिव्यं गाणपत्यमवाप्नुयात्॥२१॥

He will go to Śivaloka in a resplendent vimāna in which the bullocks are yoked, in which the beautiful apsarās perform the unique dance and shall be bestowed with the position of the chief of the gaṇas.

नृत्यंतं देवदेवशं शैलजासहितं प्रभुम्।
सहस्रबाहुं सर्वज्ञं चतुर्बाहुमथापि वा॥२२॥
भृगवादैर्भूतसंधैश्च संवृतं परमेश्वरम्।
शैलजासहितं साक्षाद्वृषभध्वजमीश्वरम्॥२३॥
ब्रह्मेद्रविष्णुसोमादैः सदा सर्वैर्नमस्कृतम्।
मातृभिर्मुनिभिर्श्वैर संवृतं परमेश्वरम्॥२४॥
कृत्वा भक्त्या प्रतिष्ठाप्य यत्फलं तद्वदाम्यहम्।
सर्वयज्ञतपोदानतीर्थदेवेषु यत् फलम्॥२५॥
तत्फलं कोटिगुणितं लब्ध्वा याति शिवं पदम्।
तत्र भुक्त्वा महाभोगान् यावदाभूतसंप्लवम्॥२६॥

Now, I shall speak out the reward attained by making anyone of the following images of Śiva and installing it with devotion. He who makes an image of the lord of the chief of the Devas in the dancing posture or ‘Śiva Naṭarāja’ together with the daughter of the king of the mountain; the omniscient lord with a thousand arms, or having four arms, lord Parameśvara surrounded by Bhṛgu and other Rṣis and the goblins; the bull-bannered Īśvara accompanied by the daughter of the king of mountain, who is constantly revered by Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Soma, Moon and the other gods, or Śiva surrounded by the mothers and the sages, he shall achieve the benefit a crore times more than one get by performing of the yajñas, penances, donations or going on pilgrimages to the holy centres of various gods and goddesses. He shall then proceed on to the auspicious region and shall enjoy all the comforts there. On the arrival of the next creation, he shall be back to the earth.

सृष्टयंते पुनः प्राप्ते मानवं पदमाप्नुयात्।
नग्नं चतुर्भुजं श्वेतं त्रिनेत्रं सर्पमेखलम्॥ २७॥
कपालहस्तं देवेशं कृष्णकुंचितमूर्धजम्।
कृत्वा भक्त्या प्रतिष्ठाप्य शिवसायुज्यमाप्नुयात्॥ २८॥

One should make such an image of Śiva and install it with devotion in which lord Śiva is depicted as nude. The image should be white in colour, having four arms, three eyes, the serpent should serve as his waistband. He should have black curly hair, holding a skull in his hand. A person who consecrates such an image, attains the Sāyujya position with lord Śiva.

इभेददारकं देवं सांबं सिद्धार्थं प्रभुम्।
सुधूम्रवर्णं रक्ताक्षं त्रिनेत्रं चंद्रभूषणम्॥ २९॥
काकपक्षधरं मूर्धा नागटङ्कधरं हरम्।
सिंहाजिनोत्तरीयं च मृगचर्माबरं प्रभुम्॥ ३०॥
तीक्ष्णदंष्ट्रं गदाहस्तं कपालोद्यतपाणिनम्।
हुंफट्कारे महाशब्दशब्दिताखिलदङ्घखम्॥ ३१॥

हसंतं च नदंतं च पिबंतं कृष्णसागरम्॥ ३२॥
नृत्यंतं भूतसंघैश्च गणसंघैस्त्वलंकृतम्।
कृत्वा भक्त्या प्रतिष्ठाप्य यथाविभवविस्तरम्॥ ३३॥

Anyone, who may install the below mentioned types of images, attains the Sāyujya devotion of Śiva. First of them is the image of Śiva as tearing out Gajendra. He should be accompanied with Umā. Installation of such an image fulfils all the desires. He should be of black complexion, red eyes, with a crescent moon over the head, using the tiger skin as an upper garment and the deer skin as the lower garment, having carved fangs, carrying a club in his one hand and the skull cup in the other, uttering the words “Hum phat”, which echoed in all the directions, holding shield and a conch in other two hands, moving on, laughing and thundering, drinking the black poison which emerged from the ocean, dancing with and looking graceful with the groups of ganas. Such an image when made and is installed, the concerned devotee dwells in the heaven upto the time of dissolution enjoying all the comforts, earning the knowledge from the Rudras, achieves mokṣa completely.

सर्वविघ्नानतिक्रम्य शिवलोके महीयते।
तत्र भुक्त्वा महाभोगान् यावदाभूतसंप्लवम्॥ ३४॥
ज्ञानं विचारतो लब्ध्वा रुद्रेभ्यस्तत्र मुच्यते।
अर्धनारीश्वरं देवं चतुर्भुजमनुत्तमम्॥ ३५॥
वरदाभयहस्तं च शूलपद्मधरं प्रभुम्।

कृत्वा भक्त्या प्रतिष्ठाप्य शिवलोके महीयते।
तत्र भुक्त्वा महाभोगानणिमादिगुणैर्युतः॥ ३७॥

A person who making the following types of images of Śiva installs them with devotion, such a devotee of Śiva is worshipped in the Śivaloka. The image of the Ardhanārīśvara form of Śiva with four arms bestows boons and retrieves the devotee from fright. The image should carry a trident and the lotus. The image should be in half man and half woman form and should be adorned with all the ornaments. (A person who consecrates such an image), he enjoying the great pleasures in Śivaloka achieving all the virtues like Anīmā and others, achieves the divine knowledge till the moon and the stars last in the sky and finally achieve mokṣa.

आचंद्रतारकं ज्ञानं ततो लब्ध्वा विमुच्यते ।
 यः कुर्यादेवदेवेशं सर्वज्ञं लकुलीश्वरम्॥३८॥

 भुक्त्वा तु विपुलांस्तत्र भोगान् युगशतं नरः ।
 ज्ञानयोगं समासाद्य तत्रैव च विमुच्यते॥४०॥

A person who makes the omniscient lord Lakuliśa surrounded by his disciples and grand disciples, achieves surely the Sivaloka where he enjoys all the comforts for a hundred yugas, achieving the jñāna-mārga and then he himself achieves salvation.

पूर्वदेवामराणां च यत्स्थानं सकलेप्सितम् ।
 कृतमुद्रस्य देवस्य चिताभस्मानुलेपिनः॥४१॥

He lives among the gods and the Devas. By making the below mentioned images of Śiva, when a person consecrates them, he get freed from all the bondages of the world.

त्रिपुण्ड्रधारिणस्तेषां शिरोमालाधरस्य च ।
 ब्रह्मणः केशकेनैकमुपवीतं च बिभ्रतः॥४२॥
 बिभ्रतो वामहस्तेन कपालं ब्रह्मणो वरम् ।
 विष्णोः कलेकरं चैव बिभ्रतः परमेष्ठिनः॥४३॥

The image of Śiva in which different mudrās are depicted with ashes applied over the body, besides tripuṇḍra, wearing the garland of skulls, wearing the yajñopavita made of the hair of the head of Brahmā and in which He hold the head of Brahmā (skull) in one of his hands or He should have the form of Viṣṇu in the body of Śiva. By installing any one of the such image with devotion, a person crosses the ocean of the universe with ease.

कृत्वा भक्त्या प्रतिष्ठाप्य मुच्यते भवसागरात् ।
 ॐनमो नीलकंठाय इति पुण्याक्षराष्ट्रकम्॥४४॥
 मंत्रमाह सकृद्वा यः पातकै स विमुच्यते ।
 मंत्रेणानेन गंधादैर्भक्त्या वित्तानुसारतः॥४५॥

One who recites even once the mantra Om namo nilakanthāya, he is relieved of all the sins. By reciting this mantra according to one's own means, offering fragrance and other materials to lord Śiva, one is honoured in the Sivaloka.

संपूज्य देवदेवेशं शिवलोके महीयते ।
 जालंधरांतकं देवं सुदर्शनधरं प्रभुम्॥४६॥
 कृत्वा भक्त्या प्रतिष्ठाप्य द्विधाभूतं जलंधरम् ।
 प्रयाति शिवसायुज्यं नात्र कार्या विचारणा॥४७॥

By making the below mentioned images of Śiva, if a person installs them with devotion, he achieves the Sāyujya devotion of Śiva— (i) Śiva cutting Jalandhara into two parts, (ii) Śiva is the bestower of Sudarśana cakra. By consecrating any such image of lord Śiva, a devotee achieves the Sāyujya devotion of Śiva. There is no doubt about it and there should be no hesitation in this task.

सुदर्शनप्रदं देवं साक्षात्पूर्वोक्तलक्षणम् ।
 अर्चमानेन देवेन चार्चितं नेत्रपूजया॥४८॥

The images of Śiva mentioned below, if a person gets them made and consecrates them with devotion, he is honoured in the Sivaloka. According to the earlier method, Śiva should be adored as the bestower of the cakra to Viṣṇu. Lord Śiva is adored by him by giving away one of his eyes. He getting pleased even gives away his eye to Śiva.

कृत्वा भक्त्या प्रतिष्ठाप्य शिवलोके महीयते ।
 तिष्ठोथ निकुंभस्य पृष्ठतश्चरणांबुजम्॥४९॥
 वामेतरं सुविन्यस्य वामे चालिंगय चादिजाम् ।

 संप्रेक्ष्य चांधकं पाश्चें कृताङ्गलिपुटं स्थितम् ।
 रूपं कृत्वा यथान्यायं शिवसायुज्यमाप्नुयात्॥५१॥

Anyone of the devotee, making such a type of image in which Śiva is shown standing over the back of Nikumbha, his own gana, firmly planting his beautiful lotus like foot over him and embracing the goddess Pārvatī to the left, his elbow should rest over the trident to which the serpents are coiled like the waistband. He should be gazing at Andhaka who should shown standing with folded hands in his honour. By consecrating such a type of image of Śiva, a person achieves the Sāyujya devotion of Śiva.

यः कुर्यादेवेशं त्रिपुरांतकमीश्वरम्।
धनुर्बाणसमायुक्तं सोमं सोमार्धभूषणम्॥५२॥

क्रीडते नात्र संदेहो द्वितीय इव शङ्करः।
तत्र भुक्त्वा महाभोगान्यावदिच्छा द्विजोत्तमाः॥५४॥

A devotee who makes the image of Śiva as the destroyer of Tripura and consecrates it in which he is shown holding a bow and an arrow, decorating himself with the crescent moon like an ornament, sitting over the chariot with Umā, while the four-faced Brahmā should be serving as his charioteer moving to Sivaloka in the form of Śiva. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, he should be delightful and should be enraged like Śiva. Such devotees of Śiva, enjoying the enormous comforts of Sivaloka and receiving all the knowledge, attain emancipation there itself.

ज्ञानं विचारितं लब्ध्वा तत्रैव स विमुच्यते।
गङ्गाधरं सुखासीनं चंद्रशेखरमेव च॥५५॥
गङ्गया सहितं चैव वामोत्सङ्घेष्विकान्वितम्।

इंद्राणीं चैव चामुण्डां वीरभद्रसमन्विताम्।
विघ्नेशेन च यो धीमान् शिवसायुज्यमाप्नुयात्॥५८॥

A wise devotee who getting such a sculptured image of Śiva, installs it in which Śiva is showing issuing Gaṅgā over his head, seated comfortably, decorating his body with the crescent moon, Gaṅgā with Umā should be in the left lap. The lord should be surmounted by Vināyaka, Skanda, Jyeṣṭhā, Durgā, Bhāskara, Soma, Brahmāṇī, Maheśvarī, Kaumārī, Vaiṣṇavī, Vārāhī, Varadā, Indrānī, Cāmuṇḍā, Virabhadra and Vighneśa. By making the following images and installing them with devotion, one shall get closeness of Śiva.

लिङ्गमूर्ति महाज्वालामालासंवृतमव्ययम्।
लिङ्गस्य मध्ये वै कृत्वा चंद्रशेखरमीश्वरम्॥५९॥
व्योम्नि कुर्यात्तथा लिङ्गं ब्रह्माणं हंसरूपिणम्।

ब्रह्माणं दक्षिणे तस्य कृताङ्गेलिपुटं स्थितम्।
मध्ये लिङ्गं महाधोरं महांभसि च संस्थितम्॥६१॥
कृत्वा भक्त्या प्रतिष्ठाप्य शिवसायुज्यमाप्नुयात्।
क्षेत्रसंरक्षकं देवं यथा पाशुपतं प्रभुम्॥६२॥
कृत्वा भक्त्या यथान्यायं शिवलोके महीयते॥६३॥

The unchanging lord in the form of liṅga surrounded by the great cluster of flowers, the moon-crested Iśvara as seated in the centre of liṅga. The liṅga should be made in the ether with Brahmā with folded hands sanding on the right and Viṣṇu in the form of a boar standing beneath the liṅga with his face turned downwards. The terrible great liṅga is stationed in the middle of the great water. By making the images of the lord as the preceptor of the holy centre and Kṣetrapāla as lord Paśupati and by duly installing them with devotion, one is honoured in the world of Śiva.

Building of Śiva temples

ऋषय ऊचुः-

The R̄si said—

We have heard about the making of lingas, their consecration and the merits derived out of the same. Now you please speak out the merits one earns by building of Śiva temples with the material like the clay to the gems. You kindly speak out the same.

Sūta said—

In case a devotee of Śiva is quite learned and is not troubled by his sons, wives and other householders, then what is the use for him to build a Śiva temple or the abode of Śiva? Still the devotees of Śiva build the excellent Śiva temples which are adored by Indra and Brahmā, born of lotus, make the abodes of Śiva in bricks and stones. Even as with child like innocence, if they make the primordial Śiva's image with clay or stone or even with dust and his abode is also made in the same manner, and worship him, they do attain identity with him. Therefore, for the achievement of virtue, love and wealth, the abode of Śiva should be made by a devotee with devotion.

केसरं नागरं वापि द्राविडं वा तथापरम् ।
 कृत्वा रुद्रालयं भक्त्या शेवलोके महीयते ॥७॥

A devotee, according to his means, should make the abode of Śiva as per style of Kesara, Nāgara and Drāviḍa, and by his so doing he is honoured in the Sivaloka.

कैलासाख्यं च यः कुर्यात्तासादं परमेष्ठिनः ।
 कैलाशशिखराकरैर्विमानैर्मोदते सुखी ॥८॥

One who builds a vast Śivālaya, he enjoys all the comforts in the peak planes like the peaks of Kailāśa mountain.

मंदरं वा प्रक्रुर्वीत शिवाय विधिपूर्वकम् ।
 भक्त्या वित्तानुसारेण उत्तमाधममध्यमम् ॥९॥

 गत्वाशिवपुरं रम्यं भुक्त्वा योगान् यथेष्टितान् ।
 ज्ञानयोगं समासाद्य गाणपत्यं लभेत्रः ॥११॥

A devotee, who according to his own means, builds with devotion an excellent type of temple or of middle or lower type, or mediocre type temple, such a person enjoys life in the four-sided planes served by the Apsarās, which is beyond the reach of the demons and the gods, and enjoys life reaching Śivapura, where he enjoying all the pleasures, achieves the path of knowledge and occupies the position of the lord of Ganas.

यः कुर्यान्मेरुनामानं प्रासादं परमेष्ठिनः ।

सर्वयज्ञतपोदानतीर्थवेदेषु यत्फलम् ।
तत्फलं सकलं लब्ध्वा शिववन्मोदते चिरम्॥१३॥

One who builds abode of Śiva giving it the name of Śiva or Parameṣṭhī, the merit he achieves would be greater than the performing of yajñas, charities, visiting the holy places and the study of the Vedas. Such a person, achieving the Śivaloka, enjoys all the bliss there.

निषधं नाम यः कुर्यात्प्रासादं भक्तिः सुधीः ।
शिवलोकमनुप्राप्य शिववन्मोदते चिरम्॥१४॥

When an intelligent devotee builds up a Śiva temple of the type of Niṣada, he achieving the Śivaloka, enjoys all the bliss like lord Śiva himself.

हिमशैलोपमैर्यनैर्गत्वा शिवपुरं शुभम्॥१५॥

गत्वा शिवपुरं दिव्यं भुक्त्वा भोगान्यथेष्पितान् ।
ज्ञानं विचारितं रुद्रैः संप्राप्य मुनिपुङ्गवाः॥२१॥

O Brāhmaṇas, a devotee, who builds the beautiful Śivalaya of Himaśaila type, he goes to Śivapura mounted over the planes known by the name of Himaśaila. After achieving the divine path of knowledge, he achieves the position of Gaṇapatiya. By building the Śivalaya of Nilaśikhara, the reward one achieves is going to be spelt out by me. A devotee, who according to his means, construct a temple of Nilaśikhara, he achieving the aforesaid merits of Himaśaila, having been adored by all the gods, achieves the Rudraloka and enjoys the bliss with the Rudras. I shall now speak out the reward for the construction of a temple of Mahendra type. A devotee who builds a temple of Mahendra – Śaila type, he riding the Mahendra mountain type of planes, reaches the abode of Śiva and enjoys the excellent and the best pleasures, and then achieving all the knowledge from Rudras, discarding the worldly pleasures like the poison, achieves the Sāyujya devotion of Śiva.

द्राविडं नागरं वापि केसरं वा विधानतः ।
कूटं वा मण्डपं वापि समं वा दीर्घमेव च॥२३॥

In case, a person builds a temple in gold studded with gems, then irrespective of its being of Drāviḍa or Kesara type if it is made as per the prescription of the scriptures, or if he makes the peak or platform square or oblong in shape, then he attains great merit and the same cannot be described in a hundred yugas.

न तस्य शक्यते वक्तुं पुण्यं शतयुगैरपि ।

In case, anyone repairs or rebuilds the old, dilapidated, fallen or broken temples or reconstructs them with doors, etc., or if he repairs the mansion, platform, rampart or the ornamental gateway, he derives more benefit than the original maker. There is no doubt about this. The man who does some job in the temple of Śiva, though it be for his sustenance, he undoubtedly goes to the heavenly world with his kinsmen. When a person does a small job in the temple of Rudra even for once and for his own pleasure, he attains happiness and rejoices. Therefore, O excellent sages, the man who devoutly makes a temple by means of wood, brick etc., he is immensely honoured in the world of Śiva.

O excellent Rṣis for the achieving of dharma, artha, kāma and mokṣa, the temple of Śiva should be built with devotion making all the efforts. O excellent sages, in case, some one is unable to build a Śiva temple, he should try to earn the grace of Śiva by dusting and cleaning of the temple and by so doing all his desires shall be fulfilled. One who sweeps with soft and thin broom, cleans it, he achieves in a month the fruit of performing of a thousand Cāndrāyana vratas. He who duly performs the rites of applying fragrance to the lord with the fragrant cowdung water, filtered and purified by means of a cloth, he shall achieve the benefit of a Cāndrāyana vrata for a year.

The place within half a krośa from the liṅga of Śiva is considered to be the Śivakṣetra or the holy area of Śiva. The one who casts off his life within the said area, usually very difficult to do so, shall achieve Sāyujya with Śiva. O excellent sages, these are the measuring units of the self-born Bāṇa liṅga. In the Svāyambhuva, O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the measure of the holy area shall be half in the Ārṣa. (Relating to the sages), it shall be half of it of that. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the measure of the holy centres in the abode of ascetics is this. O Brāhmaṇas, one who casts off his life breath in any of these places shall attain the Sāyujya of Śiva, viz. Rudrāvatāra, Narāvatāra, the holy Śrīparvata and its boundary line. The same benefit shall be extended to his disciples and the disciples of the disciples.

The same is applicable to Vārāṇasī and particularly of the Avimuktākṣetra or Kurukṣetra. The person who casts off his life breaths in Kedāra, Prayāga or Kurukṣetra, he attains extreme bliss.

प्रभासे पुष्करेऽवत्यां तथा चैवामरेश्वरे ।
वणीशेलाकुले चैव मृतो याति शिवात्मताम्॥४०॥

A person who breaths out his last at Prabhāsa, Puṣkara, Avantī, Amareśvara or in Vaṇīśailākula, attains the nature of Śiva.

The person who dies at Vārāṇasī is never reborn. A person who dies at Triviṣṭapa, Kedāra, Mahākṣetra, Prayāga and Kurukṣetra, he surely achieves mokṣa (beatitudo). One who meets with his end at Avimukta, Kedāra, Saṅgameśvara, Śālaka, Jambukeśvara, Śukreśvara, Gokarṇa, Bhāskaresa, Guheśvara, Hiranyaagarbha and Nandīśa, he attains the supreme position. A person who dries up the body following the scriptures, faces the end of his life in any one of the regions of Śiva irrespective of its being the divine or the human region, or the region of the ascetics and is born himself there, he surely becomes a yogi and achieves the Sāyujya of Śiva. O ascetics, irrespective of the fact that the image of Śiva is self-born or is established by the gods, there is nothing to be thought about. A person, who worshipping Śiva well, or placing a painting in it, self immolates himself, he surely achieves the supreme position.

A person, who after fasting completely, meets with the end of his life in the region of Śiva, he achieves closeness of Śiva. One who lives in the area of Śiva by severing both his feet, he achieves Śivahood. There is no doubt about it. By having a sight of the Śivakṣetra, one earns merit. A hundred times more of that merit is earned by a person who visits that place. Still a hundred times more merit is earned by touching it or circumambulating it. By bathing the image in water, he earns a hundred times more merit.

O Brāhmaṇas, one who offers milk to the image of Śiva, he gets a hundred times more the merit and by offering the curd over the image, one achieves a thousand times more the merit and by offering the honey over it, one achieves a hundred times more the merit.

By washing the image and offering the ghee, one achieves the merit beyond measure and by bathing the image with sugar, one gets hundred times more the merit. A person who takes a bath in the river flowing in the region of Śiva and discarding the food if meets with the end of his life, he is honoured in the Śivaloka. All the rivers flowing in the region of Śiva or close to it are quite auspicious.

The wells, tanks and lakes of that area contain the sacred water of Śiva. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, by taking bath in those wells etc. with devotion, a person is surely liberated from the grave sins like Brahmahatyā etc. O excellent sages, by taking the morning dip in the sacred waters of Śiva, a person attains the merit of a horse sacrifice and goes to the world of Rudra. By taking a single dip in the sacred waters of Śiva at mid-day with great devotion, a man surely attains the merit equivalent to taking a bath in the holy Gaṅgā. By taking a bath after sunset, one shall attain the auspicious region of Śiva.

A person casting off the skin of his sins in the sacred places of Śiva, achieves the auspicious place of Śiva. By taking bath even once at the place sacred to Śiva thrice a day, one achieves the Sāyujya of Śiva. There is no place for a doubt in this case. In earlier times, a pig fell down finding a dog approaching it on the way in a place sacred to Śiva. Having a dip in the holy water, it died thereafter. O Brāhmaṇas, the said animal achieved the position of the gāna of Śiva.

यः प्रातर्देवदेवेशं शिवं लिङ्गस्वरूपिणम् ।

A person who has an audience with Śiva in the form of a linga, he achieves the highest position.

मध्याहे च महादेवं दृष्ट्वा यज्ञफलं लभेत् ।
सायाहे सर्वयज्ञानां फलं प्राप्य विमुच्यते ॥६१॥

By having an audience with Śiva at noon, one achieves the merit of performing the yajña and is freed (from all the bondages).

मानसैर्वाचिकैः पापै कायिकैश्च महत्तरैः ।
तथोपपातकैश्चैव पापैश्चैवानुपातकैः ॥६२॥

Such a person is freed from the sins committed mentally, by speech, by actions and with the body, besides the other grave sins.

मासेन यत्कृतं पापं त्यक्त्वा याति शिवं पदम् ॥६३॥

By visiting lord Śiva in the form of linga at the time of transit of the sun from one sign of zodiac to the next, one is relieved of the sins committed in the course of a month and he attains the sacred place of Śiva.

अयने चार्धमासेन दक्षिणे चोत्तरायणे ।
विषुवे चैव संपूज्य प्रयाति परमां गतिम्॥६४॥

By visiting the lord at the beginning of the southern or the northern transit of the sun, one dispels the sins committed in the course of half a month. By worshipping the lord at the time of Viṣu (equinoxes), one achieves the supreme position.

पदेपदेऽश्वमेधस्य यज्ञस्य फलमान्युयात् ।

An auspicious and neat person who circumambulates the prāśāda of Śiva thrice in savya and apasavya (clockwise and anti-clockwise directions) and treads softly, shall achieve the merit of performing Asvamedha at every step. A person who screams and laments to Śiva, attains his auspicious abode. What more is left for him to achieve further?

After sprinkling with water scented with cowdung, a devotee shall make a mystic diagram of the auspicious lotus with its pericarp. For this purpose, the dust particles of pearls, sapphires, rubies, crystals, emeralds, gold or silver could be used. Those who are not so rich (to afford this) could use other powders mentioned above. The mystic diagram shall extend upto ten hastas. It should be described near Mahādeva. Then the lord Śiva associated with the nine Śaktis, shall be invoked therein. The devotee shall invoke the lord who bestows the desired things, by means of five elements, six sense organs and eight cosmic bodies. Again the devotee shall worship Isāna in the ten-cornered (mystic diagram) through the eight cosmic bodies or the ten sense organs and the knowledge externally. After the worship, the devotee shall bow down and present food offerings to the lord of the Devas. He shall thereby obtain the benefit of charitable gift of earth. The indigent person shall make the mystic diagram of lotus by means of the powdered grains of Śālī rice. Even then, he shall achieve the merits stated above.

A devotee should make a mandapa of twelve spokes and the powder of gems should be spread in the lotus petals. In the middle of the lotus, Bhāskara should be established with twelve gods. Thereafter, the same sun should be worshipped with the sun. He should achieve Sāyujya of Sūrya. Similarly, he shall draw a six-sided figure with the red chalk to depict deities pertaining to Prakṛti. In the centre of the region, he should worship the goddess of the Devas, Prakṛti in the form of Brahman. To the right, he shall worship the deity of Sattvaguṇa. To the left, he shall do so far Rajoguṇa and to the right, he shall worship Sattvaguṇa. In the front, he shall worship the deity of Tamoguṇa. He shall worship the goddess Ambikā in the centre. He shall worship the five elements to the right, besides the five Tanmātrās. To the north, he shall worship the five organs of actions and five organs of sense. In the six-sided figure, he shall worship the two Ātmans viz. Ātmā and Antarātmā as well as the cosmic intellect and ego with the principle Mahat. He shall then attain benefit of the entire sacrifices.

एवं वः कथितं सर्वं प्राकृतं मण्डलं परम्।

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, thus the great Prākṛta-maṇḍala (the mystic diagram pertaining to Prakṛti), has been mentioned to you. Now, I shall mention the means of achieving all desired objects.

The devotee familiar with the mantras, shall sprinkle the ground with water and scrub it with cowdung. He shall then make the mystic diagram square in shape of the measure of gocarma viz. 150 hastas on a side. He shall then decorate it with canopies or the beautiful umbrellas. He shall decorate then with round bubbles or crescent-shaped cheap ornaments or the leaves of Aśvattha tree. He shall decorate it with full blown red, blue or white lotus flowers or the strings of beads or pearls decorating the canopies. He shall decorate the same with white flags and silken garlands or garlands of sprouts and fruits. The white earthen pots should be suitably placed, while the beautiful pitchers filled with water should be suitably placed. Five lamps should be placed in a row besides the five types of incense.

The devotee shall make a lotus flower with fifty petals or should make the lotus flower with different colours or with the white powder alone. The said lotus should be a hand in length and it should be made according to the provision of the scriptures. The devotee should then consecrate the images of lord Rudra and the goddesses Pārvatī over the pedestal. Starting from the eastern direction, mantra should also be written with Rudra images. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, each mantra should start with Praṇava and end with the names of the Rudras. In this way, worshipping the deities offering fragrance, incense, fragrant flowers, a devotee should worship them and should serve food to fifty Brāhmaṇas offering garlands or rosary, yajñopavīta, earrings, kamandalu, āsana, stick, turban and costumes in donation. He should offer Mahācaru as naivedya to lord Śiva. He should donate to Śiva a black cow and a black bull. Ultimately, he should present the mandalas made with powder to lord Śiva or the used material and other things should be dedicated to lord Śiva. An intelligent devotee should recite the Śiva mantra starting from omkāra, word by word. One, who making such a mandala, worships it with devotion, I am going to speak out the reward for the same in brief.

By observing the coloured maṇḍala and worshipping it, a devotee achieves the same merit as a yogī achieves (by performing great tapas) or he studies completely all the Vedas with its subsidiary literature, and when he completes the worship of Śiva and performs the yajñas from Jyotiṣṭoma etc. to Viśvajit, and then worships the lord, then, he, in the form of a householder, produces sons resembling himself, enters the Vānaprastha stage with his wife and the fire, continuing the performing of homa, performs all the Cāndrāyāna and other vratas, when he discarding all the religious rites like yajñas, Vratas and other performances, studying Brahmavidyā, achieving all the knowledge, visualising Brahman with his knowledge, is turned into a yogī. The reward which is achieved by such a yogī, all the relevant merits are achieved by looking at the varṇa-maṇḍala stated above.

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, after scrubbing and cleansing the forecourt of the Śiva shrine by any material, O Brāhmaṇas, if a devotee describes the mystic diagram in the form of a square, to the north or south or to the west of the shrine and decorates it with the powder, flowers, raw rice grains etc., and then worships the deity with flowers, raw rice grains etc., he is liberated from all the sins.

यस्तु गर्भगृहं भक्त्या सकृदालिप्य सर्वतः।

One who scrubs and cleans even once the sanctum sanatorium all round with devotion, scatters fragrant flowers all round, offers fragrant articles like sandal paste, camphor etc. and makes the place quite sweet smelling with incense of four kinds offering prayer to the lord Śiva, he reaches the world of Śiva.

क्रमादांधर्वमासाद्य गंधवैश्व सुपूजितः।
क्रमादागात्य लोकेऽस्मिन् राजा भवति वीर्यवान्॥

Such a person enjoys all the comforts in the heaven for a hundred crores of kalpas. Sweet smell issues from his body resembling the fragrant flowers with which he fills the temple of Śiva. In due course of time, he reaches the abode of the Gandharvas and is worshipped by them. Subsequently, he returns to earth and becomes a powerful monarch.

Lord Mahādeva is the primordial lord besides being the cause of creation, dissolution, and sustenance. Sadāśiva is all pervasive besides being the overlord of the worlds. The nectar Śiva-Brahman should be known as the excellent means of salvation. One shall always worship the lord, the manifest and the unmanifest, being the lord beyond imagination.

Cleaning of Śiva shrines

सूत उवाच

वस्त्रपूतेन कार्यं चैवोपलेपनम्।
शिवक्षेत्रे मुनिश्रेष्ठा नान्यथा सिद्धिरिष्यते॥१॥

Sūta said—

O excellent sages, the holy shrines of Śiva should be scrubbed and cleaned using the water filtered and purified with a cloth, failing which no siddhi could be achieved.

आपः पूता भवत्येता वस्त्रपूताः समुद्धताः।
अफेना मुनिशार्दूला नादेयाश्च विशेषतः॥२॥

O great sages, the water to be used should be such which has no foam, specially from rivers, should be used for the purpose. After the water is filtered with cloth, it becomes sacred and pure.

तस्माद्वै सर्वकार्याणि दैविकानि द्विजोत्तमाः।
अद्विः कार्याणि पूताभिः सर्वकार्यप्रसिद्धये॥३॥

When the waters are mixed with thin germs and when used for the cleaning purpose, the insects and germs contained therein are killed and the person who uses the same, earns the sin.

जंतुभीर्मिश्रिता ह्यापः सूक्ष्माभिस्तान्त्रिहत्य तु।
यत्पापं सकलं चाद्विरपूताभिश्चरं लभेत्॥४॥

The water contains the minute insects and germs and to use such a polluted water for the auspicious work earns sin because of the killing of the insects.

संमार्जने तथा नृणां मार्जने च विशेषतः।
अग्नौ कंडनके चैव पेषणे तोयसंग्रहे॥५॥
हिंसा सदा गृहस्थानां तस्माद्विसां विवर्जयेत्।
अहंसेयं परो धर्मः सर्वेषां प्राणिनां द्विजाः॥६॥

O Brāhmaṇas, for the householders, with the activities such as—cleansing, sponging, using the fire, pounding and grinding, storage of water, one should practice the feeling of ahimṣā (non-violence). One should avoid killing of creatures. It is a matter of great virtue to develop a feeling of non-violence towards the living beings. Ahimṣā is the supreme dharma.

तस्मात्सर्वप्रयत्नेन वस्त्रपूतं समाचरेत्।
तद्दानमभ्यं पुण्यं सर्वदानोत्तमम्॥७॥

Therefore, by using all the means, the water should be purified with cloth. Of all the charities, only that charity is the best which provides safety or protection besides being auspicious.

तस्मात् परिहर्तव्या हिंसा सर्वत्र सर्वदा।
मनसा कर्मणा वाचा सर्वदाऽहिंसकं नरम्॥८॥
रक्षांति जंतवः सर्वे हिंसकं बाधयन्ति च।
त्रैलोक्यमखिलं दत्त्वा यत्कलं वेदपारगे॥९॥
तत्कलं कोटिगुणितं लभते�हिंसको नरः।
मनसा कर्मणा वाचा सर्वभूतहिते रताः॥१०॥

Therefore, one should avoid all the places or situations and occasions of violence. The wild animals do not harm a person, who by mentally, by speech and physically obstructs in indulging in ahimṣā. They cause harm to such people who hurt them and are killers as well. A person who avoids killing in any form, earns thousand times more merit than those who are well-versed in the Vedas and practice charities in all the three lokas. Such of the people who are engaged for the welfare of the living beings and follow the path of mercy, they can achieve the Rudraloka.

दयादर्शितपंथानो रुद्रलोकं ब्रजन्ति च।
स्वामिवत्परिरक्षांति बहूनि विविधानि च॥११॥

ये पुत्रपौत्रवत्स्नेहाद्वद्वलोकं ब्रजन्ति ते।
तस्मात्सर्वप्रयत्नेन वस्त्रपूतेन वारिणा॥१२॥
कार्यमध्यक्षणं नित्यं स्नपनं च विशेषतः।
त्रैलोक्यमखिलं हत्वा यत्कलं परिकीर्त्यते॥१३॥
शिवालये निहत्यैकमपि तत्सकलं लभेत्।
शिवार्थं सर्वदा कार्या पुष्पहिंसा द्विजोत्तमाः॥१४॥

Such of the people who protect the living beings like their own sons and the grandsons, they proceed to the place of Rudra. Therefore, making all the efforts, the purified water should be used for the bathing or washing of the image of Śiva. In the compound of the Śiva temple, if a person is killed by some one, the said person earns the sin of killing the three lokas. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the violence towards flowers should be resorted to for the worship of Śiva and the violence towards the animals should be resorted to for the sake of sacrifice. The Kṣatriyas are permitted to punish the wicked persons.

यज्ञार्थं पशुहिंसा च क्षत्रियैर्दुष्शासनम्।
विहिताविहितं नास्ति योगिनां ब्रह्मवादिनाम्॥१५॥
यतस्तस्मान्न हंतव्या निषिद्धानां निषेवणात्।
सर्वकर्माणि विन्यस्य संन्यस्ता ब्रह्मवादिनः॥१६॥

For the yogis engaged in the search of Brahman, these rules are not applicable. They shall not be killed even when they resort to forbidden activities. Similarly, the expounders of Brahman, shall not be killed since they have discarded all the activities and taken to Satiyāsa, even if, at times they indulge in to sinful ways.

न हंतव्याः सदा पूज्याः पापकर्मरता अपि।
पवित्रास्तु स्त्रियः सर्वा अत्रेश्च कुलसंभवाः॥१७॥
ब्रह्महत्यासमं पापमात्रेयीं विनिहत्य च।
स्त्रियः सर्वा न हंतव्याः पापकर्मरता अपि॥१८॥

The women are holy ones as they are born in the family of the sage Atri. Even when they commit the sinful activities, they should never be killed since they are to be worshipped always. The ladies born in the race of Atri are not to be killed and in case one does so, he earns the sin of Brahmahatyā.

न यज्ञार्थं स्त्रियो ग्राह्याः सर्वैः सर्वत्र सर्वदा।
सर्ववर्णेषु विप्रेद्राः पापकर्मरता अपि॥१९॥
मलिना रूपवत्यश्च विरूपा मलिनांबराः।
न हंतव्याः सदा मर्त्यै शिववच्छङ्क्या तथा॥२०॥

Woman of any caste should not be sacrificed at any time by any one at any place. O leading Brāhmaṇas, women engaged in sinful activities, irrespective of their being ugly, dirty or beautiful or dressed in ugly clothes, should never be killed by men, under the suspicion that they may be Śiva or they are adorable by the men like Śiva.

वेदबाह्यव्रताचाराः श्रोतस्मार्तबहिष्कृताः।
पाषण्डिन इति ख्याता न संभाष्या द्विजातिभिः॥२१॥

Those who follow the anti-Vedic rites and indulge into the activities forbidden by the Vedas, Śrutis and Smṛtis, or are excluded from these rites and those who are notorious and heretics, should be conversed with by the Brāhmaṇas.

न सृष्टव्या न द्रष्टव्या दृष्टा भानुं समीक्षते।
तथापि ते न वध्याश्च नृपैरन्यैश्च जंतुभिः॥२२॥

They should neither be seen nor touched. After seeing them, one should look at the sun. Still they should not be killed by Brāhmaṇas and others.

प्रसङ्गाद्वापि यो मर्त्यः सतां सकृदहो द्विजाः।
रुद्ग्लोकमवाप्नोति समभ्यर्च्यं महेश्वरम्॥२३॥

O Brāhmaṇas, by worshipping Śiva even once, in case one meets the noble people perchance, then the concerned person achieves Rudraloka.

भवंति दुःखिताः सर्वे निर्दया मुनिसत्तमाः।
भक्तिहीना नराः सर्वे भवे परमकारणे॥२४॥

O excellent sages, all the people devoid of compassion feel miserable when they are devoid of the devotion of Śiva.

ये भक्ता देवदेवस्य शिवस्य परमेष्ठिनः।
भाग्यवंतो विमुच्यन्ते भुक्त्वा भोगानिहैव ते॥२५॥

Such of the people who are devoted to Śiva, they are considered to be quite fortunate because they, after enjoying all the comforts in the world, achieve the final beatitude or redemption.

पुत्रेषु दारेषु गृहेषु नृणां
भक्तं यथा चित्तमथादिदेवे।
सकृत्प्रसङ्गाद्यतितापसानां
तेषां न दूरः परमेशलोकः॥२६॥

As the mind of the people remain attracted to their sons and wives, similarly, the mind of yatis and the tapasvins remains devoted to lord Śiva who is the god of gods. But in case, the householders even once get devoted to Śiva – the eternal lord, then Śivaloka is not far away for them.

Method of the adoration of Śiva

ऋषय ऊचुः-

कथं पूज्यो महादेवो मत्यैमंदैर्महामते ।
अल्पायुषैरल्पवीर्यैरल्पसत्त्वैः प्रजापतिः ॥१॥
संवत्सरसहस्रैश्च तपसा पूज्य शङ्करम् ।
न पश्यन्ति सुराश्चापि कथं देवं यजन्ति ते ॥२॥

Rṣi is said—

O intelligent Rṣi, O Prajāpati, how should the people of little wisdom, little strength, short and life should worship lord Śiva? When the gods, while adoring lord Śiva for thousands of years, are unable to have an audience with Śiva, then how should he be worshipped by the ordinary people?

सूत उवाच

कथिं तथ्यमेवात्र युष्माभिर्मुनिपुङ्गवाः ।
तथापि श्रद्धया दृश्यः पूज्यः संभाष्य एव च ॥३॥

Sūta said—

O excellent sages, all of you have spoken the truth. Still by worshipping lord Śiva with devotion, one can have an audience with him and one can talk with him as well.

प्रसङ्गाच्चैव संपूज्य भक्तिहीनैरपि द्विजाः ।
भावानुरूपफलदोभगवानिति कीर्तितः ॥४॥

O Brāhmaṇas, so much so, that the people who have no faith in Śiva, in case they adore Śiva in some context, they are also well rewarded by lord Śiva according to their feelings.

उच्छिष्टः पूजयन्याति पैशाचं तु द्विजाधमः ।
संक्रुद्धो राक्षसं स्थानं प्राप्नुयान्मूढधीर्द्विजाः ॥५॥

O Brāhmaṇas, the degraded Brāhmaṇa, who discarding his food adores lord Śiva, he is turned as a Piśāca. When a foolish Brāhmaṇa adores Śiva in anger, he is turned as a Rākṣasa.

अभक्ष्यभक्षी संपूज्य यक्षं प्राप्नोति दुर्जनः ।

गानशीलश्च गांधर्वं नृत्यशीलस्तथैव च ॥६॥

A wicked person, who after consuming the forbidden food, adores Śiva, he is turned as a Yakṣa. Such of the people who practice in dance and singing, earn the position of Gandharvas after adoring Śiva.

ख्यातिशीलस्तथा चांद्रं स्त्रीषु सक्तो नराधमः ।

मदार्तः पूजयन् रुद्रं सोमस्थानमवाप्नुयात् ॥७॥

The degraded persons, who are attracted towards the women or aspire to achieve glory, they, by adoring Śiva, achieve Candaloka. A person who is filled with pride, when adores Śiva, he reaches the Somaloka and lives there.

गायत्रा देवमध्यर्च्यं प्राजापत्यमवाप्नुयात् ।

ब्राह्म हि प्रणवेनैव वैष्णवं चाभिनन्दय च ॥८॥

By adoring Śiva reciting the Gāyatrī mantra, a person achieves the abode of Prajāpati. By adoring Śiva reciting Praṇava, one gets a place in Brahmaloka or Viṣṇuloka.

श्रद्धया सकृदेवापि समध्यर्च्यं महेश्वरम् ।

रुद्रलोकमनुप्राप्य रुद्रैः सार्धं प्रमोदते ॥९॥

By adoring Śiva with devotion, one achieves Rudraloka and enjoys delight with the Rudras.

The Síva linga which is adored by the gods and the demons should be washed with the clean water. The lord should be invoked over the pedestal. After properly visiting the god and worshipping him with devotion, he should be installed in the conceived seat, which has the splendid form of perfect knowledge, which is richly endowed with detachment and prosperity, which is observed by all the people, which is in the middle of the lotus of Omkāra and having the origin from the moon, sun and fire. After offering pādyā, ācamana and arghya to Rudra, the devotee shall bathe the deity with pure water and worship it offering sandal paste. After worshipping it with yellow pigment, he shall worship it with red flowers, unbroken wood-apple leaves, red and blue flowers of lotus, Nandyāvarta flowers, Mallikās, camphor, Jāti flowers, lilies, Karvīras, Śami and Bṛhat flowers, besides Agastyas, bundles of Apāmārga flowers and the splendid ornaments. After offering incense of five types, he shall offer pāyasaṁ as naivedya. The other food offerings should include rice with curd, rice soaked in honey and ghee, besides pure cooked rice and the Mudgānna rice and cooked green grams of six types. Thereafter, he shall offer naivedya with five types of cooked rice alone, wherein he shall cook an ādhaka measure of rice. He shall then perform circumambulation, bowing down again and again at the end. After eulogising lord Īśāna and after adoring Síva, he shall continue adoration reciting the mantra of Īśāna, Tatpuruṣa, Aghora, Vāmadeva and Sadyojāta. With this mode of worship, lord Maheśvara is delighted.

कृक्षा: पुष्टादिपत्राद्यैरुपयुक्ताः शिवार्चने ।
 गावश्चैव द्विजश्रेष्ठाः प्रयांति परमां गतिम्॥२३॥

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the trees which are considered sacred for the worship of Síva with their flowers and leaves etc., besides the cows also achieve the supreme position.

पूजयेद्यः शिवं रुद्रं शर्वं भवमजं सकृत् ।
 स याति शिवसायुज्यं पुनरावृत्तिवर्जितम्॥२४॥

In case, a person worships Síva once alone, besides Rudra, Śarva and the unborn Bhava, he attains Síva's Sāyujya and does not have to return to the earth again.

अर्चितह परमेशान भवं शर्वमुपापतिम् ।
 सकृतप्रसङ्गाद्वा दृष्ट्वा सर्वपापैः प्रमुच्यते॥२५॥

When a person has even once a glance at Parameśvara, Bhava, Śarva, lord of Umā, he is liberated from all the sins.

पूजितं वा महादेवं पूज्यमानमथापि वा।
दृष्ट्वा प्रयाति वै मर्त्यो ब्रह्मलोकं न संशयः॥२६॥

There is no doubt in this that a person attains the place of Brahmā by having an audience with Mahādeva under worship or had already been adored.

श्रुत्वानुमोदयेच्चापि स याति परमां गतिम्।
ये दद्याद्धृतदीपं च सकृलिंगस्य चाग्रतः॥२७॥

शिवाय दीपं यो दद्याद्विधिना वापि भक्तिः।
सूर्यायुतसमैः श्लक्षणैर्यनैः शिवपुरं ब्रजेत्॥३०॥

A person, who on hearing about the lord, approves of it or gets delighted, he attains the greatest position. One who even once offers a lamp of ghee before the liṅga, he attains the place which is difficult to achieve in all the stages of life and which is quite steady. By offering a tree of lamps made of wood or clay in a temple of Śiva, one is honoured in the world of Śiva along with the hundred members of his family. In case, a person offers with devotion iron lamp to Śiva, or those of copper, silver or gold, then he shall go to the place of Śiva in elegant vehicles resplendent like ten thousand suns.

कार्तिके मासि यो दद्याद्धृतदीपं शिवाग्रतः।
संपूज्यमानं वा पश्येद्विधिना परमेश्वरम्॥३१॥
स याति ब्रह्मणो लोकं श्रद्धया मुनिसत्तमाः।

एवं संपूज्येन्नित्यं देवदेवमुमापतिम्।
ब्रह्माणं दक्षिणे तस्य प्रणवेन समर्चयेत्॥३४॥

One who offers a lamp of ghee to lord Śiva in the month of Kārttika, or if he witnesses lord Śiva being worshipped with great faith, he goes to the world of Brahmā. It is mentioned in the scriptures that the rites of invocation, welcome presence, installation and worship should be conducted through Rudra Gāyatrī, the Āsana (seat) by Praṇava, the ablution by means of five mantras (Sadyojāta etc.) assigned to Rudra. One should, therefore, always worship the husband of Umā who is the lord of Devas. Brahmā should be adored with Praṇava on his right side.

उत्तरे देवदेवशं विष्णुं गायत्रिया यजेत्।
ब्रह्मौ हुत्वा यथान्यायं पञ्चभिः प्रणवेन च॥३५॥
स याति शिवसायुज्यमेवं संपूज्य शङ्करम्।
इति संक्षेपतः प्रोक्तो लिङ्गार्चनविधिक्रमः॥३६॥
व्यासेन कथितः पूर्वं श्रुत्वा रुद्रमुखात्स्वयम्॥३७॥

Towards his north, Viṣṇu should be worshipped, who is the lord of the chiefs of the gods, by reciting Gāyatrī, performing homa in fire, repeating the five mantras and the Praṇava. With the worship of the lord in this way, a devotee attains Sāyujya with Śiva. Thus, the mode of worship of Śiva has been mentioned appropriately. In earlier times, Vyāsa repeated it to me after listening it from lord Śiva.

How could the gods having an audience with Paśupati, liberated the individual soul (Pasū) from the bondage of the Pāśa? It would be quite appropriate for you to enlighten the gods over the issue to enable them to get relieved of the Pasūtva or the bondage.

Once, for the welfare of the gods, lord Viṣṇu, accompanied with other gods, reached the peak of the Kailāsa mountain, as he was lodged in the city of the Bhaga over the Kailāsa mountain. Lord Viṣṇu was mounted over the wings of Garuḍa as he arrived with Brahmā. Lord Viṣṇu offered his salutation to lord Śiva descending from Garuḍa. The Garuḍa-bannered Viṣṇu, together with all the gods, climbed the mountain. The Meru mountain is free from all the sins and fulfils all the desires. Flocks of deer enjoy there. The herds of elephants keep on trumpeting there. The mountain is filled with echoing sound of the sweet songs. Even during the darkness, one feels quite comfortable there. The area of the forest has enough of footprints there. The water shines at the borders and the breeze is attractive. The mansions of this place are resplendent like the shine of thousands of suns. The place looks fine with the flocks of geese whose voice echoes in the sky with elegant movements. Enough of Dhava, Khadira, Palāśa and sandal trees are grown there. The groups of flocks of excellent birds like cuckoos and others, besides the bees are found there.

Lord Viṣṇu with Brahmā and other gods, glancing the outer parts of the city, felt delighted and then entered the city having vast buildings, palaces and the multi-storeyed mansions. The second palace of lord Śiva was also beautiful which had four entrance gates. It was decorated with diamonds, lapis lazuli, rubies and cluster of jewels with hanging swings. It was decorated with bells and chowries and was resonant with musical instruments like cymbals, murajas, vīṇā and flute. It was surrounded by the dancing Apsarās and the Bhūtās. There were houses which looked charming to the eyes. They resembled the abodes of the leaders of the Devas. Over the tops of these palaces, thousands of women stood carrying flowers, fruits and unbroken rice in their hands. They released the flowers etc. over the head of Viṣṇu, as they did over the head of Śiva, from all the sides. On seeing Viṣṇu, the ladies were immensely delighted, while dancing and singing. Their eyes were roving due to inebriation and they had ample buttocks. At the glance of Viṣṇu, the faces of some ladies were blossoming and their garments were loosened. Their waistbands and girdles dropped and they sang passionate songs.

Thereafter, Viṣṇu visited all the ten cities, one after the other. Then, he reached the excellent abode of Śiva. It was a circular one besides being glorious which was lodged over the peak of Kailāsa. It had a number of lofty mansions resembling the sphere of the sun. In some of the quarters, it has crystal mandapas and beautiful platforms were made of gold and various types of jewels. The gateways were ornamental decorated with various types of ornaments. There were Sarvatobhadras temples having opening on all the sides. There were twenty eight fort walls of different types. The interior quarters had side doors as well as the main doors which were designed over various patterns. There were hidden houses as well. The abodes of Guhyas were quite glorious. O highly blessed one, they were built in the rural type and other models. There were charming pearls as well. The divine abodes of the ladies of gapas were studded with ru-s. There were many beautiful gardens of various shapes having the sandal trees. There were several lakes and tanks with rows of golden steps. They were frequented with swans which had been roaming with the style of walking of the women. The tanks were filled with divine and nectarine water. (Ducks) peacocks, cuckoos and the geese enhanced their grace. There were thousands of Rudra kanyās who were adorned with all the ornaments, who were good in conversation and stooped down because of their heavy breasts, whose eyes were roving in intoxication and were engaged in singing while playing on the musical instruments. There were groups of dancing apsarās. Full blown lotuses could be seen in the lakes, which were beyond the reach of the gods even. The ladies of Rudras were resplendent like the ru-s and were enjoying the water sports. The groups of women were engaged in enormous festivals of great elegance. They were passionately fond of rural mates with the playing of music. On viewing these sights in the abode of Śiva, the great lord of gods stood there in surprise.

They also found the girls of Kinnaras, serpents who had various types of costumes and were adorned with various types of ornaments. They were delightful variously. They liked several types of pleasures and lustful activities. They had the grace of blue lotus and the wide open eyes resembling the lotus leaves. They were clad in beautiful and fine costumes resembling the lotus dust and they looked quite charming. They were wearing armlets, anklets, garland and held umbrellas of different shades. They liked decorations and wore other ornaments as well.

They said-- "You kindly let us have an audience with lord Maheśvara, having the lustre of Airāvata. All of us have arrived here to get ourselves freed from the bondages of Pasus.

व्रतेनानेन भूतेश पशुत्वं नैव विद्यते॥४९॥

Lord Śiva has prescribed the excellent Pāśupata-vrata. O Nandī, the leader of the bhūtas or goblins, it is said that the Pasutva disappears after performing this vrata of Śiva.

अथ द्वादशवर्षं वा मासद्वादशकं तु वा।

By performing this vrata for twelve years, twelve months or twelve days, all the people are relieved from the Paśubhāva of Śiva. O Nandī, son of Śilādi and leader of the bhūtas, let all the gods including Viṣṇu have an audience with Śiva." Then all the gods, offering their salutation to Śiva, expressed their desire to get themselves freed from Pasutva or the noose of Paśu. The eternal Śiva together with Umā and other gaṇas was present there. By having a look at him, the gods were delighted and beholden. All of them offered their salutation to lord Śiva and were overwhelmed with delight. They offered their salutation to lord Śiva, singing prayer for him at the same time. While standing before Śiva, he also prayed to him again and again, to get themselves freed from the bondage of Pasutva.

Then the bull-bannered lord Śiva cast his glance at all the gods, purified their souls and explained to them the performing of the Pāśupata-vrata. Thereafter, lord Śiva took his seat there with Umā and all the sages. From that time onwards, all the gods were linked with Pāśupata. All the people, who claim Pāśupati to be their sole god, they are called Pāśupatas. Thereafter, the gods performed the tapas again.

Then the excellent gods performed the tapas for twelve years and were released from the noose. They returned to their respective abodes with Brahmā and Viṣṇu. Whatever I had heard from the mouth of Brahmā, the same has been repeated by me to you. Sanat and Vyāsa had also heard the same from Brahmā. A person, who getting purified, listens about the Pāśupata vrata and recites it to the Brāhmaṇas, he achieving another body, is relieved of the bondage of Pasū.

All these are common for all the months. I shall mention the specific features now. There should be vajra liṅga in the month of Vaisākha. In the month of Jyeṣṭha, it should be of emerald. In Aśāha, it should be pearl. In Śrāvaṇa, it should be of lapis lazuli. In Bhādrapada, the liṅga should be of ru-s. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, in the month of Āśvin, the liṅga should be of onyx, in Kārttika of coral, in Mārgaśīrṣa of lapis lazuli, in the month of Pauṣa of Topaz, in Māgha of solar stone and in Phālguna of crystal.

In all the months, a golden lotus should be used for worship. In the absence of the same, a silver lotus could be used and in the absence of the same, an ordinary lotus could be used. In the absence of the precious stones, the worship can be continued with gold or silver and in case even that is not available, it shall be made of copper.

During the early winter season, lord Mahādeva should be worshipped with wood apple leaves alone. In all other months, lotus made of gold or silver with golden pericarp can be used. In the absence of the silver lotus, the wood apple leaves should be used.

सहस्रकमलालाभे तदर्थेनापि पूजयेत्।
तदर्थार्थेन वा रुद्रमष्टौत्तरशतेन वा॥२८॥

In the absence of a thousand lotuses, half of that quantity could be used for worship. In case, it is not possible to do so, a devotee should worship with half of that quantity (i.e. 250 lotuses) and still if the said quantity is not available, he can use half of that quantity (i.e. 125). He can, however, make use of 108 lotuses in worship of Śiva.

बिल्वपत्रे स्थिता लक्ष्मीर्देवी लक्षणसंयुता।
नीलोत्पलेन्द्रिका साक्षादुत्पले षण्मुखः स्वयम्॥२९॥

The goddess Lakṣmī dwells over the wood apple leaves, while Ambikā is lodged over the red lotus flowers and the blue lotus is the dwelling place of six-faced Kārttikeya.

पद्माश्रितो महादेवः सर्वदेवपतिः शिवः।
तस्मात्सर्वप्रयत्नेन श्रीपत्रं न त्यजेद्बुधः॥३०॥

Mahādeva, the lord of the gods, resides in the lotus flowers. Therefore, the people with wisdom should never discard the leaves of wood apple tree.

नीलोत्पलं चोत्पलं च कमलं च विशेषतः।
सर्वरोगक्षयं पद्मं शिला सर्वार्थसिद्धिदा॥३१॥

A devotee should not discard blue, red, white lotus flowers. In no case, the red lotus should be discarded. The lotus subjugates all the ailments. Śilā (red arsenic) bestows all the siddhis.

The fragrance emanating from the black agaru destroys all the sins. The fragrance of guggulu and other lamps also removes all the ailments. The sandal paste on the other hand bestows all the siddhis. The fragrant incense and other fragrant material fulfils all desires. The white and black agaru and the fragrance of Sitāra incense bestows salvation.

श्वेतागरुद्ववं चैव तथा कृष्णागरुद्ववम्।

The four-faced Brahmā dwells in the white Arka flower and the goddess of wisdom lives in the Karṇikā flowers. Karvīra is the dwelling place of lord of gaṇas. Nārāyaṇa is lodged in the Kurubaka flower. Pārvatī, the daughter of mountain, has her place in all the flowers. Therefore, the devotee should worship the chief of the gods with these splendid flowers, incense etc. according to his means and the availability of these materials.

निवेदयेत्ततो भक्त्या पायसं च महाचरुम् ।
 सघृतं सोपदंशं च सर्वद्रव्यसमन्वितम्॥३८॥

Mahācaru should then be offered with devotion, which should be made of milk, as Naivedya together with ghee and side dishes made with all the edible materials.

Or the devotee should offer an Ādhaka measure or half of it of the pure cooked rice or cooked with the green gram pulses. The devotee shall also offer the flywhisk and fan to the image. He should also offer other presents from the riches earned by him by fair means, which should be auspicious and worthy of charity and of different types. Before dedicating something, water should be sprinkled over it and then it should be offered to Rudra. Lord Viṣṇu, with the desire of establishing the gods, extracted nectar out of the milk and was infused into the cereals. Everything depends on the cooked food. By giving food in charity, all the living beings get delighted. Therefore, a devotee should worship Śiva by giving away the cooked food in charity. The life remains enshrined in food. The wind god lives in the fan and by donating it, the wind god gets pleased. By making other gifts, one is himself satisfied. Lord Mahādeva is present in all the objects. The fragrance of Varuṇa, the god of water is present in the water itself. Prakṛti with Mahat is always lodged over the pedestal. Therefore, Paśupati lord Śiva should be adored with devotion and every month, one should fast on each full moon day for achieving success in all the matters.

सत्यं शौचं दया शांतिः संतोषो दानमेव च ।
 पौर्णमास्यामावास्यामुपवासं च कारयेत्॥४६॥
 संवत्सरांते गोदानं वृषोत्सर्गं विशेषतः ।
 भोजयेद्ब्राह्मणान्भक्त्या श्रोत्रियान् वेदपारगान्॥४७॥

A devotee should be truthful, pure, compassionate, peaceful and contented. He should give away charities as per his means. He should fast on the full moon and moonless days. At the end of the year, he should give away a cow and a bull in charity and serve food to the Brāhmaṇas well-versed in the Vedas as well as the learned people.

तल्लिंगं पूजितं तेन सर्वद्रव्यसमन्वितम्।
स्थापयेद्वा शिवक्षेत्रे दापयेद् ब्राह्मणाय वा॥४८॥

The Sivaliṅga that has been worshipped, for that Sivaliṅga, all the materials for charity should be given in a temple or to a Brāhmaṇa.

य एवं सर्वमासेषु शिवलिङ्गमहाव्रतम्।
कुर्याद्दक्त्या मुनिश्रेष्ठाः स एव तपतां वरः॥४९॥

O great sages, one who worships Sivaliṅga in all the months, he is treated to be the best amongst all the performers of tapas.

सूर्यकोटिप्रतीकारैर्विमानै रत्नभूषितैः।
गत्वा शिवपुरं दिव्यं नेहायाति कदाचन॥५०॥

Such a devotee, mounting over a plane having the lustre of crores of suns and duly adorned with all the gems, proceeds to the divine Sivaloka and does not return to earth.

अथवा ह्येकमासं वा चरेदेवं व्रतोत्तमम्।
शिवलोकमवाप्नोति नात्र कार्या विचारणा॥५१॥

Otherwise, in case a devotee performs the vrata for a month only, he surely achieves Sivaloka. There is no doubt about it.

अथवा सर्कचित्श्वेष्यान्यान् संचितयेद्वरान्।
वर्षमेकं चरेदेवं तांस्तान्प्राप्य शिवं ब्रजेत्॥५२॥

In case, the mind of the devotee is engaged in the worldly pleasures, he should perform the vrata for a month, and then he achieving all the pleasures in the world, achieves Śiva ultimately.

देवत्वं वा पितृत्वं वा देवराजत्वमेव च।
गाणपत्यपदं वापि सर्कोपि लभते नरः॥५३॥

A devotee, who is devoted to Śiva, can achieve godhood, Pitṛhood or becomes the king of the gods and the lord of ganas.

विद्यार्थी लभते विद्यां भोगार्थी भोगमाप्नुयात्।
द्रव्यार्थी च निधिं पश्येदायुःकामश्चिरायुषम्॥५४॥

The one who is desirous of learning, achieves the same; the one who is desirous of worldly pleasures, attains them. The one desirous of wealth will get a treasure and the one desirous of long life attains long life.

यान्यांश्चित्यते कामांस्तांस्तान्प्राप्येह मोदते।
एकमासव्रतादेव सोते रुद्रत्वमाप्नुयात्॥५५॥

One delights by attaining whatever desires are cherished by him by performing a vrata only for a month. Ultimately, he achieves the place of Rudra.

इदं पवित्रह परमं रहस्यं
ब्रतोत्तमं विश्वसृजापि सृष्टम्।
हिताय देवासुरसिद्धमत्य-

This holy and excellent vrata happens to be a great secret evolved by Śiva, the creator of the universe, for the benefit of the gods, Siddhas, Vidyādharaś and the human beings.

After adorning the lord who is worthy of adoration and after bowing to him with lowered head along with one's sons and servants and encircling him, one should repeat the hymn vyapohana.

पुराकृतं विश्वसृजा स्तवं च
हिताय देवेन जगत्त्रयस्य।
पितामहेनैव सुरैश्च सार्थं
महानुभावेन महार्घ्यमेतत्॥५८॥

This highly precious hymn was composed by lord Brahmā, the creator of the universe. For the benefit of the three worlds, this was repeated by the great lord with the gods.

Sūta said—

I shall now speak out about the auspicious prayer which removes all the sins and bestows success. In earlier times, it was narrated by Nandī to Aśvinī Kumāras who narrated it to the sage Vyāsa. I heard it from the sage Vyāsa with attentive mind. Salutation to the auspicious, spotless, glorious and the destroyer of the evil. Salutation to Śarva, Bhava and the Supreme Soul. Let lord Śiva, having five faces, ten arms, fifteen organs of knowledge, adorned with all the ornaments, resembling the pure crystal, omniscient, all pervading, peaceful, seated over the lotus seat above all with his consort Umā, removes our all the sins quite quickly.

Let Īśāna, Puruṣa, Aghora, Sadya and Vāmadeva, remove our sins. Let lord Ananta, the master of all the knowledge, omniscient, Śiva – the bestower of everything, remove all my sins. The lord who is the Īśa of the gods and the asuras, the lord of the universe who is adored because of his virtues, the lord of the universe who is adored because of his merits and is engrossed in the meditation, that lord Śiva should remove all my sins. The one who is the foremost of the auspicious beings, immensely adorable, engaged in auspicious meditation, should remove my sins. The one, who is all knowledgeable, bestower of everything and the peaceful one, should remove my sins.

Let the one having a single eye, engaged in auspicious worship, engrossed in the meditation of Śiva, remove my sins. Let Trimūrti, the lord Īśa, performer of the devotion of Śiva, engaged in the meditation of Śiva, should remove my sins. Let Śrīkaṇṭha, Śrīpati, engaged in the meditation of Śiva, remove my sins. Let Śikhaṇḍī, peaceful, the one who applies ashes over the body, Śrīmān, engaged in the worship of Śiva, remove my sins.

Chapter 83

Vratas of Śiva

ऋषय ऊचुः

व्यपोहनस्तवं पुण्यं श्रुतमस्माभिरादरात्।

प्रसङ्गालिंगदानस्यव्रतान्यपि वदस्व नः॥१॥

R̄si is said—

We have respectfully heard about the meritorious vyapohana hymns. Now, you enlighten us about the vratas connected with the lingas.

सूत उवाच

ब्रतानि वः प्रवक्ष्यामि शुभानि मुनिसत्तमाः।
नंदिना कथितानीह ब्रह्मपुत्राय धीमते॥२॥

Sūta said—

O Ṛṣis, I shall now speak about the auspicious vratas, which were spoken by Nandī to the intelligent son of Brahmā.

तानि व्यासादुपश्रुत्य युष्माकं प्रवदास्यहम्।
अष्टम्यां च चतुर्दश्यां पक्षयोरुभयोरपि॥३॥
वर्षमेकं तु भुज्ञानो नकं यः पूजयेच्छिवम्।
सर्वयज्ञफलं प्राप्य स याति परमां गतिम्॥४॥

As I had heard from Vyāsadeva, the same will be repeated by me to you. A devotee shall take food only once in a day on the eighth and fourteenth days of both the dark and bright fortnights, during the nights. This vrata should be continued for a period of one year, adoring lord Śiva at the same time and by so doing, he reaps the reward for the performing of all the yajñas and he achieves the final beatitude.

पृथिवीं भाजनं कृत्वा भुक्त्वा पर्वसु मानवः।
अहोरात्रेण चैकेन त्रिरात्रफलमश्नुते॥५॥
द्व्योर्मासस्य पञ्चम्योर्द्वयोः प्रतिपदोर्नरः।
क्षीरधाराब्रतं कुर्यात्सोश्मेधफलं लभेत्॥६॥

On the festive occasions, the same vrata should be repeated during a day and a night (i.e. for twenty four hours). Then in case, making the earth as a vase, when one takes food, the devotee earns the merit for fasting on three nights. On the fifth day of a month besides on the first day of each fortnight, if a person performs the kṣīrdhārā vrata or the one who performs vrata by consuming the milk alone, he earns the merit similar to the performing of an Aśvamedha sacrifice.

कृष्णाष्टम्यां तु नकेन यावत्कृष्णचतुर्दशी।

भुज्ञन्भोगानवाप्नोति ब्रह्मलोकं च गच्छति॥७॥

From the eighth day of the dark fortnight to the fourteenth day of the same fortnight, one who takes food only once during the night, then the devotee earns all the worldly pleasures and ultimately reaches the Brahmaloka.

योद्दमेकं प्रकुर्वात नकं पर्वसु पर्वसु।
ब्रह्मचारी जितक्रोधः शिवध्यानपरायणः॥८॥
संवत्सरांते विप्रेद्रान् भोजयेद्विधिपूर्वकम्।
स याति शाङ्करं लोकं नात्र कार्या विचारणा॥९॥

A Brahmacārī overcoming his anger, getting absorbed in the meditation of Śiva, should perform similarly during all the occasions of the parvas (festivals) for a year. At the end of a year, he should feed the Brāhmaṇas, appropriately. Such a devotee surely achieves Sivaloka. There is no doubt about it.

उपवासात् परं भैक्ष्यं भैक्ष्यात्परमयाचितम्।
अयाचितात्परं नकं तस्मान्नकेन वर्तयेत्॥१०॥

Instead of fasting, it would be better for him to feed himself by begging. In preference to begging, it is better to take food which is given without begging. Instead of consuming the food received without begging, it is better to take food at night. Therefore, a devotee should perform the vrata.

देवैर्भुकं तु पूर्वाहे मध्याहे ऋषिभिस्तथा।
अपराहे च पितृभिः संध्यायां गुह्यकादिभिः॥११॥
सर्ववेलामतिक्रम्य नक्तभोजनमुत्तमम्।
हविष्वभोजनं स्नानं सत्यमाहारलाघवम्॥१२॥
अग्निकार्यमधःशाय्यां नक्तभोजी समाचरेत्।

The food taken in the forenoon belongs to the gods, the one which is taken in the noon is meant for the Ṛṣis, the one taken in the afternoon is meant for the manes, and that consumed in the evening is meant for the Guhyakas. The taking of food during the night is the best. A devotee who regularly takes food at night, he should take havya food, take bath, speak the truth, take light food, perform homa and sleep on the floor.

प्रतिमासं प्रवक्ष्यामि शिवब्रतमनुत्तमम्॥१३॥

धर्मकामार्थमोक्षार्थं सर्वपापविशुद्धये।

Now, I shall speak about the vrata of Śiva which relieves one of all the sins and makes one achieve dharma, artha, kāma and mokṣa.

पुष्यमासे च संपूज्य यः कुर्यान्नकभोजनम्॥१४॥

सत्यबादी जितक्रोधः शालिगोधूमगोरसैः।

पक्षयोरेष्टमीं यत्नादुपवासेन वर्तयेत्॥१५॥

भूमिशश्यां च मासांते पौर्णमास्यां घृतादिभिः।

स्नाप्य रुद्रं महादेवं संपूज्य विधिपूर्वकम्॥१६॥

यावकं चौदं दत्त्वा सक्षीरं सघृतं द्विजाः।

भोजयेद् ब्राह्मणाभ्याष्टाङ्गेच्छांतिं विशेषतः॥१७॥

तथा गोमिथुनं चैव कपिलं विनिवेदयेत्।

भवाय देवदेवाय शिवाय परमेष्ठिने॥१८॥

स याति मुनिशार्दूलं वाहेयं लोकमुत्तमम्।

भुक्त्वा स विपुलान् लोकान् तत्रैव स विमुच्यते॥

Vrata for the month of Pausa—

A devotee should adore Śiva and take food during the night alone. He should be truthful and control his anger. He should take food made of sālī rice, wheat and milk. He should observe fasts on the eighth day of each fortnight. He should sleep on floor. On the full moon day, he should bathe Rudra with the milk and other material. O Brāhmaṇas, adoring lord Śiva appropriately, a devotee should feed the Brāhmaṇas with barley cooked in milk and ghee. He should particularly recite the Svasti-vācana mantras. He should also give away in charity a cow of A meru mountain should be made of all the cereals, all the metals, all the seeds as well as the juices of all and all the gems, with four peaks. It should have canopies and umbrellas, decorated with the garlands of fragrant flowers and should be attractive on many counts. Various types of dancing and singing should be arranged in which various types of musical instruments should be used. Various types of prayers should be offered displaying the welfare of all and which should rent the sky. Eight huge flags should be hoisted which should be decorated with strange type of flowers. Such huge heap of cereals should be given the name of Mahāmeru which should serve as the base of the three worlds. The image of Śiva should be established at its peak. The middle part of it should be decorated with metals. The four-faced Brahmā should be lodged towards the south, Nārāyaṇa – the god of gods, should be placed in the north. Indra and the Lokapālas should be lodged appropriately. After thus establishing all the gods, Maheśvara should then be bathed and worshipped. Maheśvara, who is adored by all the gods, should hold a trident in his hand. After thus consecrating the gods, the devotee should take his bath, worshipping Śiva at the same time. The left hand should carry a noose and Bhavāṇī should carry a golden lotus in her hand. Lord Viṣṇu should hold a conch, a discus, a club and a lotus in his four hands respectively.

Brahmā should keep on holding a rosary and a kamandalu. Indra should carry a vajra in his hand, Agni should carry a śakti, Yama should carry a dandā or rod in his hand, while a sword should be the attribute of Nirṛti. Varuṇa should hold a terrific noose, the wind god should carry a stick, Kubera should carry the iron club which is adored in the world and Isāna should hold a battle axe. After performing the pūjā, all these gods should be offered the eatables or naivedya. Lord Śiva should be adored offering caru. According to one's own financial position, the devotee should adore all the gods. Thereafter, the Brāhmaṇas should be offered the food. In this way, completing all the activities, the devotee damsels shall enjoy all the bliss with the great goddess Umā, achieving the closeness of the great goddess for a long time. There is no doubt about it.

During the month of Kārttika, the devoted lady should get the image of goddess Umā which should be adorned with all the ornaments and possessing all the auspicious symptoms. The image should be made in gold or copper or other metals and should be established according to the set procedure. The image of lord Śiva – the spouse of Pārvatī, should possess all the virtues. The fire god should be established before both, besides Brahmā, holding Śruvā in his hand. Lord Nārāyaṇa should be consecrated surrounded by the Dikpālas and the Siddhas. Thereafter, all the images should be given over in the temple of Śiva. By performing this vrata, the concerned lady, achieving the body of Bhavānī, always rejoices. Taking meals once a day, the vrata should be performed gradually. Thus, starting from the month of Mārgaśīrṣa, one should perform vrata, which ends in the month of Kārttika. O excellent sages, this vrata can be performed by all the living beings including the ladies and gentlemen. In case, the men perform this vrata, they attain the proximity of Śiva and in case, it is performed by ladies, they achieve the proximity of Umā – the goddess. There is no doubt about it because it has been ordained by lord Śiva himself.

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, performing pūjā of Umāpati Śiva – the god of gods, in all the vratas, the devotees should always recite the Pañcākṣara mantra. There is no doubt that the vrata is completed with the performing of the mantra-japa or the reciting of the mantra.

Chapter 85

Glory of Pañcākṣara mantra

सूत उवाच

सर्वव्रतेषु संपूज्य देवदेवमुमापतिम्।
जपेत्पञ्चाक्षरीं विद्यां विधिनैव द्विजोत्तमाः॥१॥

Lord Śiva said—

O goddess, the glory of Pañcākṣari mantra cannot be narrated even in hundred crores of years. Still, I shall narrate the same in brief. You please listen.

प्रलये समनुप्रासे नष्टे स्थावरजङ्गमे।
नष्टे देवासुरे चैव नष्टे चोरगराक्षसे॥७॥
सर्वं प्रकृतिमापनं त्वया प्रलयमेष्यति।
एकोहं संस्थितो देवि न द्वितीयोस्ति कुत्रचित्॥८॥

During the time of dissolution, when all the mobile and immobile beings, the gods and Asuras, Nāgas and Rākṣasas get destroyed and O goddess, all the things including you yourself get absorbed in the Prakṛti, then only I remain in the universe. None else remain on earth.

तस्मिन्वेदाश्च शास्त्राणि मंत्रे पञ्चाक्षरे स्थिताः।
ते नाशं नैव संप्राप्ता मच्छक्त्या ह्यनुपालिताः॥९॥

At that point of time, the Vedas get absorbed in the Pañcākṣari mantra and they do not get destroyed because of my grace.

अहमेको द्विधाप्यासं प्रकृत्यात्मप्रभेदतः।
स तु नारायणः शेते देवो मायामयीं तनुम्॥१०॥
आस्थाय योगपर्यंकशयने तोयमध्यगः।
तत्राभिपञ्चकजाज्ञातः पञ्चवक्त्रः पितामहः॥११॥

I remain at that point of time in two forms of Prakṛti as well as the soul. Lord Nārāyaṇa, taking to the form of Prakṛti, remains in the water in yoga-mudrā. Then, the five-faced Brahmā emerges out of his navel.

सिसूक्षमाणो लोकान्वै त्रीनशक्तोऽसहायवान्।
दश ब्रह्मा ससर्जादौ मानसानमितौजसः॥१२॥

Brahmā then becomes desirous of creating the three worlds. But he was unable to do so without any help. Therefore, initially, he created the ten mind-born sons with enormous grace.

तेषां सृष्टिप्रसिद्ध्यर्थं मां प्रोवाच पितामहः।
मत्सुत्राणां महादेव शक्तिं देहि महेश्वर॥१३॥

Brahmā then begged of me, the power of creation. He said— “O Mahādeva, O Maheśvara, you kindly bestow strength on my sons.”

इति तेन समादिष्टः पञ्चवक्त्रधरो ह्यहम्।
पञ्चाक्षरान्पञ्चमुखैः प्रोक्तवान् पद्मयोनये॥१४॥

At his request, I, for the sake of Brahmā, uttered five letters from my five faces.

तान्पञ्चवदनैर्गृह्णन् ब्रह्मा लोकपितामहः।
वाच्यवाचकभावेन ज्ञातावान्परमेश्वरम्॥१५॥

These five letters were received by Brahmā in his five mouths and considered them as the revealing of Parameśvara himself.

वाच्यः पञ्चाक्षरैर्देवि शिवस्त्रैलोक्यपूजितः।
वाचकः परमो मंत्रस्तस्य पञ्चाक्षरः स्थितः॥१६॥

O Goddess, Śiva, who is adored in all the lokas, get revealed in these five letters. The five letters actually represent lord Śiva.

ज्ञात्वा प्रयोगं विधिना च सिद्धिं
लब्ध्वा तथा पञ्चमुखो महात्मा।
प्रोवाच पुत्रेषु जगद्विताय
मंत्रं महार्थं किल पञ्चवर्णम्॥१७॥

The five-faced Brahmā, educated his sons with Pañcākṣara mantra for the welfare of the lokas.

ते लब्ध्वा मंत्ररत्नं तु साक्षात्लोकपितामहात्।
तमाराध्यितुं देवं परात्परतरं शिवम्॥१८॥

Receiving the gem of mantra from Brahmā, the Grandsire of the lokas, they pleased Śiva who is greater than the greatest.

ततस्तुतोष भगवान् त्रिमूर्तीनां परः शिवः।
दत्तवानखिलं ज्ञानमणिमादिगुणाष्टकम्॥१९॥

Then lord Śiva, who is greater than the three gods, was pleased and he bestowed on him the complete knowledge besides all the siddhis like Anjimā etc.

Having been blessed with the boon, the Brāhmaṇas, desirous of performing tapas for me, reached the peak of Meru mountain, at the peak named Muñjavān which is quite glorious and my favourites. Because of that, my Bhūtas guard that mountain. The Brāhmaṇas, desirous of creating the world, meditated on that mountain for thousands of years, inhaling air alone. They performed hard tapas. Observing their devotion, I appeared before them instantly. O goddess, for the welfare of the worlds and those ascetics, I revealed the glory of Pañcākṣara mantra to them, besides its Rsi, its god, its śakti, its nyāsa, its six angas. Digbandha and Vinyoga were revealed to them.

तच्छुत्वा मंत्रमाहात्म्यमृषयस्ते तपोधनाः ।
मंत्रस्य विनियोगं च कृत्वा सर्वमनुष्टिताः ॥ २५ ॥

Learning about the glory of this mantra, those ascetics, using the said mantras, performed various anuṣṭhanas.

Because of its greatness, they created the gods, asuras, humans and the other worlds. They also created the castes and sub-castes, besides the beautiful anuṣṭhanas. Accordingly, the people in the earlier kalpas listened to the Vedas. By the glory of the Pañcākṣara mantra, the worlds, Vedas, the auspicious Rsis and eternal dharma are saved, besides the gods as well as the entire universe. Therefore, I shall speak out to you everything. You listen to me attentively.

अल्पाक्षरं महार्थं च वेदसारं विमुक्तिदम् ।
आज्ञासिद्धमसंदिधां वाक्यमेतच्छिवात्मकम् ॥ २९ ॥

Śiva is the soul of this mantra. There are some varṇas in these in which deep meanings are enshrined. This mantra is the gist of the Vedas and bestows salvation. This is definitely a siddha mantra.

नानासिद्धियुतं दिव्यं लोकचितानुरङ्गकम् ।
सुनिश्चितार्थं गंभीरं वाक्यं मे पारमेश्वरम् ॥ ३० ॥

This is my clear statement that this mantra, endowed with many siddhis, delights the minds of the people. Definite and deep meanings are enshrined in the same.

मंत्रं मुखसुखोच्चार्यमशोषार्थप्रसाधकम् ।
तद्वीजं सर्वविद्यानां मंत्रसाद्यं सुशोभनम् ॥ ३१ ॥

This mantra is easy in recitation, enables one to achieve the god, the seed of all the vidyās and is the first graceful mantra.

अतिसूक्ष्मं महार्थं च ज्ञेयं तद्वट्बीजवत् ।
वेदः स त्रिगुणातीतः सर्वज्ञः सर्वकृत्प्रभुः ॥ ३२ ॥

It has the subtle as well as the gross interpretation. It is like the auspicious seed of the banyan tree. It is the Veda beyond the three gunas and is competent to achieve everything.

ओमित्येकाक्षरं मंत्रं स्थितः सर्वगतः शिवः ।
मंत्रे षडक्षरे सूक्ष्मे पञ्चाक्षरतनुः शिवः ॥ ३३ ॥
वाच्यवाचकभावेन स्थितः साक्षात्स्वभावतः ।
वाच्यः शिवः प्रमेयत्वान्मंत्रस्तद्वाचकः स्मृतः ॥ ३४

Om is the single-syllabled mantra in which the all pervading Śiva is lodged. The five syllables comprise of his body. He is stationed in the six-syllabled subtle mantra in the form of expressed and expression. Śiva is Vācya (the expressed) since he is comprehensible. The mantra is his vācaka (expression).

वाच्यवाचकभावोयमनादिः संस्थितस्तयोः ।
वेदे शिवागमे वापि यत्रयत्र षडक्षरः ॥ ३५ ॥
मंत्रः स्थितः सदा मुख्यो लोके पञ्चाक्षरो मतः ।
किं तस्य बहुभिर्मैत्रैः शास्त्रैर्बहुविस्तृतैः ॥ ३६ ॥

The relation of the expressed and the expression is a primordial one between the two. In the Vedas and in the Śivāgamas, the main mantra in the six-syllabled one, but for the purpose of secular activity, it is the five-syllabled mantra. Why should he have many mantras and extensive scriptures?

यस्यैव हृदि संस्थोयं मंत्रः स्यात्पारमेश्वरः ।
तेनाधीतं श्रुतं तेन तेन सर्वमनुष्ठितम् ॥ ३७ ॥

In case, some one has retained this mantra in his heart, he has studied the Vedas, he has heard the sacred lore and has performed everything sacred.

यो विद्वान्वै जपेत्सम्यगधीत्यैव विधानतः ।
एतावद्धि शिवज्ञानमेतावत्परमं पदम् ॥ ३८ ॥

In case, a learned person performs its japam after learning the Vedas in accordance with the injunctions, it is enough. The perfect knowledge of Śiva is this much. The greatest goal is this far.

एतावद्ब्रह्मविद्या च तस्मान्तित्यं जपेदबुधः ।
पञ्चाक्षरैः सप्रणवो मंत्रोयं हृदयं मम ॥ ३९ ॥
गुह्यदगुह्यतरं साक्षात्मोक्षज्ञानमनुत्तमम् ।
अस्य मंत्रस्य वक्ष्यामि ऋषिच्छंदोधिदैवतम् ॥ ४० ॥
बीजं शक्तिं स्वरं वर्णं स्थानं चैवाक्षरं प्रति ।

Brahmavidyā (the knowledge relating to Brahman), is this much. Hence, the learned man should continuously perform the japam. The mantra comprising of Praṇava and the five syllables is my heart, it is the greatest esoteric secret greater than all else. It is the excellent knowledge leading to salvation. I shall mention the sage, the metre and the deity controlling this mantra, its seed, śakti, svara (vowel), varṇa (letter), sthāna (place of origin) letter by letter.

वामदेवो नाम ऋषिः पंकिश्छंदं उदाहृतः ॥ ४१ ॥

त्वदीयं प्रणवं किञ्चिन्मदीयं प्रणवं तथा ।
त्वदीयं देवि मंत्राणां शक्तिभूतं न संशयः ॥ ४४ ॥

The sage is Vāmadeva, the metre is Pañkti, I, Śiva alone, am the deity of this mantra, a lady having the excellent face. The syllables ‘na’ etc. are the seeds, they are in the form of five elements. You should know that Praṇava is unchanging soul which is all pervasive, and you alone are its śakti. O goddess, you are revered by all the gods.

The letters ‘a’, ‘u’ and ‘m’ are present in any Praṇava. The letters ‘u’, ‘m’ and ‘a’ constitute in order your Praṇava which has three mātrās and the phaṭa tone (prolated vowel). The svara (note) of Omkāra is udātta (high), the sage is Brahmā and the body is white.

The metre is Devī Gāyatrī and the great Ātmān is the presiding deity, the first, second and the fourth letters are udātta or high. The fifth is Svarita - neither higher nor low. The middle one is Niṣāda. The letter ‘n’ is of yellow colour, its place of origin is the eastern face. Indra is its deity. Gāyatrī is the metre and Gautama is the sage. The letter ‘mah’ is of black colour, its place of origin is the southern face, the metre is Anuṣṭupa, Atri is the sage and Rudra is the deity. The letter ‘sī’ is of smoky colour, its place of origin is the western face, the sage is Viśvāmitra, the metre is Triṣṭupa and the deity is Viṣṇu. The letter ‘vā’ is of golden colour, its place of origin is the northern face, Brahmā is the deity, Bṛhatī is the metre and Aṅgīras is the sage. The letter ‘ya’ is of red colour. Its place of origin is the upwards face, the metre is virat, the sage is Bharadvāja and Skandā is the deity. I shall now mention about the Nyāsa (fixing rite) that is auspicious and conducive to the achievement of the Siddhis, besides being the destruter of all the sons. Nyāsa is of three types, the difference being due to their link with creation, sustenance and dissolution.

ब्रह्मचारिगृहस्थानां यतीनां क्रमशो भवेत्।
उत्पत्तिर्ब्रह्मचारिणां गृहस्थानां स्थितिः सदा॥५५॥

हृदयास्यगलन्यासः स्थितिन्यास उदाहृतः॥५९॥

The Nyāsa primarily relates to the religious students, the householders and the ascetics, i.e., the Nyāsa of utpatti (creation) is for the religious student, the Nyāsa of sthiti (sustenance) is for the householder and the Nyāsa for Samihṛti is for the ascetics. Other Siddhis cannot be achieved. The nyāsa is of three types viz. Ariganyāsa (fixation of limbs), Karanyāsa (moving of hands) and Dehanyāsa (relating to the body). O lady of the splendid face, the Nyāsa of the three types relating to the creation etc. is being mentioned to you. At the outset, one shall perform the Nyāsa of the hand, thereafter, shall perform the Nyāsa of the body and thereafter, shall perform the Nyāsa of the arīgas or limbs in the order of the syllables of the mantras. The fixation beginning with the head and ending with the feet is called as utpatti nyāsa. O beloved one, the one beginning with the feet and ending with the head is Nyāsa of samihāra (dissolution). The Nyāsa of the heart, the face and throat is known as sthiti-nyāsa relating to sustenance.

O splendid lady, these Nyāsas relate to the religious students, householders and the ascetics. Beginning with the thumb of the right hand and ending with the thumb of the left hand, if the fingers are fixed, it is called Utpattinyāsa or the Nyāsa of creation. Its opposite is that of dissolution. By fixing the Nyāsa beginning with thumb and ending with little finger in both the hands is called Sthitinyāsa or relating to sustenance. O gentle lady, this bestows much pleasure to the householders. This is the common procedure – the Nyāsa of the hand is performed first, then the Nyāsa of the body and thereafter, one shall perform the Nyāsa of limbs. Then the devotee shall perform Nyāsa over all the limbs and then one by one with full mantra with Omkāra prefixed and suffixed on all the ten fingers of the hands. The devotee shall perform the Nyāsa rite facing east or north after first washing the feet. He shall be clean and attentive.

At the outset, he shall remember the name of the sage, metre, deity, Bija, Sakti, Ātman and the preceptor, O lady of the charming face. Repeating the mantra, he shall wipe out his hands and fix the Praṇava in the palms and in the first and the last knots of all his fingers. He shall fix Bijas along with the spots in the five middle knots. In accordance with the order of the stages of life, he shall perform the Nyāsa of creation etc. with both his hands and beginning with the foot and ending with the hand. Repeating the mantra with Omkāra affixed, he shall touch the body – (i) on the head, face, neck, heart and in the private parts, besides on the two feet (ii) in the private parts and in the heart, besides in the neck and the middle of the face and on the head, or (iii) he shall fix in the heart, in private parts, on feet, on the head, in the face and in the neck. He shall fix with Praṇava etc. in these three ways.

इत्थमङ्गनि विन्यस्य ततो वै बन्धयेदिशः॥७६॥

After fixing the limbs thus, the devotee shall meditate upon the faces of Śiva. Beginning with the faces in the east and ending in the face upwards, he shall fix the syllables beginning with ‘na’ in due order. Thereafter, he shall perform the Nyāsa rite of the six limbs in respective places with delight. The Nyāsa shall be accompanied with the words Namah or (salutation), Svāhā, Vaṣṭ, Hum, Vauṣṭ and Phat. The Praṇava is known as the heart, the syllable ‘na’ as the head, the syllable ‘ma’ as the tuft, the syllable ‘si’ as the coat of mail, the syllable ‘va’ as the eyes, the syllable ‘ya’ as astra. After fixing the letters on the limbs as mentioned above, the devotee shall adore the quarters.

The deities of four quarters starting from the south-east are respectively— Vighneśa, the mother Durgā and Kṣetrajña. The devotee shall fix them with the tip of the thumb fixed on the index finger with a beaming face. After reciting— “You protect all”, he shall offer salutation to them severally.

एवं न्यासमिमं प्रोक्तं सर्वपापहरं शुभम्।

The competent devotee shall then perform Nyāsa of the hand on the fingers starting with index finger with his thumb. He shall perform the Nyāsa on the middle of the neck as well. This Nyāsa rite is said to be splendid and is destructive of the sins. It is conducive of the achievements of Siddhis. It is auspicious, holy and provides all the safety.

न्यस्ते मंत्रेऽथ सुभगे शङ्करप्रतिमो भवेत्।
जन्मांतरकृतं पापमपि नश्यति तत्क्षणात्॥८१॥

After the Nyāsa rite is performed by means of the splendid mantra, the devotee shall be on par with Śiva and within a moment, all his sins of various births get destroyed.

एवं विन्यस्य मेधावी शुद्धकायो दृढव्रतः।
जपेत्पञ्चाक्षरं मंत्रं लब्ध्वाचार्यप्रसादतः॥८२॥

The learned devotee shall be pure in his body by performing this Nyāsa rite. Steady in the performing of the holy rites, he shall repeat the five-syllabled mantra after acquiring the same gracefully from a preceptor.

अतः परं प्रवक्ष्यामि मंत्रसंग्रहणं शुभे।

एवं च दक्षिणासिद्धं मंत्रं सिद्धं यतस्ततः॥८५॥

O splendid lady, henceforth, I shall recount the procedure for acquiring the mantra. Without it, the mantra is futile and with it, it is efficacious. The futile ones are the following:- Ājñāhīna (devoid of holy rites), Śraddhāhīna (devoid of faith), Kriyāhīna (devoid of holy rites), Amānasa (devoid of full mental attention), Anājñaptam (the prohibited one), Dakṣiṇāhīnam (devoid of dakṣiṇā), and Sadājapta (always reciting without purpose).

The following mantras are fruitful viz.:—Ājñāsiddha (achieved with permission), Kriyāsiddha (attended with the correct procedure), Śraddhāsiddha (fully equipped with faith), Sumānasa (with fully devoted mind) and Dakṣiṇāsiddha (providing the adequate dakṣiṇā).

The devotee shall approach the Brāhmaṇa preceptor who is well aware of the correct meaning of mantra, having perfect knowledge, is interested in the path of meditation and possessing good qualities with the emotional purity. The devotee shall faithfully propitiate him mentally, verbally, physically and monetarily. The disciple shall always worship the preceptor with all attention. In case, he is adequately affluent disciple, he shall give these things faithfully to the preceptor including elephants, horses, chariots, jewels, fields, houses, ornaments, clothes and the grains of different kinds. In case, he aspires for a siddhi, he shall not be stingy in spending money. O gentle lady, thereafter, he shall dedicate himself with his possessions and attendants. After worshipping in this way as per his means and not at all attempting deception, the disciple shall grasp the mantra and perfect knowledge from the preceptor gradually.

Thus propitiated, the preceptor shall make the disciple take his bath, after testing him thus. The disciple shall stay with the preceptor for a year and serve him. He shall be pure and devoid of egoism. He shall be emaciated due to constant fast. The preceptor shall then bless the disciple with excellent perfect knowledge of Śiva in the holy place at an auspicious hour. The place could be seashore, river bank, a cowpen or a temple or a clean corner in the house itself. The time shall be a tithi conducive to the fulfilment of the desires, with auspicious constellations conjoined with the favourable planets. It should be devoid of defeats in every respect, even in an isolated place, the preceptor shall utter the mantra loudly and clearly with a delightful heart.

उच्चर्योच्चारयित्वा तु
आचार्यः सिद्धिदः स्वयम्।
शिवं चास्तु शुभं चास्तु
शोभनोस्तु प्रियोस्त्वति॥१६॥

The preceptor shall utter the mantra himself and make the disciple to follow him. He shall then bestow the siddhi on the disciple saying—“May there be holiness. May it be splendid. May it be pleasing.”

एवं लब्ध्वां परं मंत्रं ज्ञानं चैव गुरोस्ततः।
जपेत्रित्यं ससङ्कल्प्यं पुरश्चरणमेव च॥१७॥

After acquiring the great mantra and perfect knowledge from the preceptor, the disciple shall repeat it every day uttering the samkalpa. He shall also perform Puraścarana.

यावज्जीवं जपेत्रित्यमष्टेरसहस्रकम्।
अनश्नन्तस्तत्परो भूत्वा स याति परमां गतिम्॥१८॥
जपेदक्षरलक्षं वै चतुर्गुणितमादरात्।
नक्ताशी संयमी यश्च पौरश्चरणिकः स्मृतः॥१९॥

As long as he lives, he shall repeat the mantra a thousand and eight times daily. He shall not take food without doing so. Getting interested in it, he attains the great goal. One who repeats this mantra a thousand times for each syllable and then repeats it four times with great attention, he is known as the one who has made a Puraścarana. He shall take food at night and shall control himself.

पुरश्चरणजापी वा अपि वा नित्यजापकः।
अचिरात्सिद्धिकांक्षी तु तयोरन्यतरो भवेत्॥१००॥

A person desirous of everlasting siddhis, shall be one of these two— either a Puraścarana repeater or the daily repeater.

यः पुरश्चरणं कृत्वा नित्यजापी भवेत्रः।
तस्य नास्ति समो लोके स सिद्धः सिद्धिदो वशी॥

If a devotee performs Puraścarana and continues to be a daily repeater too, there is none else in the world who is equally accomplished, self-controlled and competent to bestow the siddhis.

Sitting in a comfortable posture (sukhāsana), he should observe complete silence with his mind concentrated fully. He may sit facing the east or north and then repeat the excellent mantra. At the start of the japam and at its end, he shall restrain his breath. In the end, he shall repeat the excellent bija-mantra a hundred and eight times in all.

The devotee shall control his breath forty times and repeat the mantra. Thus, the Prāṇāyāma for the five-syllabled mantra has been cited. Thanks to Prāṇāyāma, his sins will be destroyed soon and the sense organs shall get controlled. Therefore, one has to perform Prāṇāyāma.

गृहे जपः समं विद्याद्वोषे शतगुणं भवेत्।
नद्या शतसहस्रं तु अनंतः शिवसत्रिधौ॥१०६॥

This is quite rewarding. In case, it is performed over a river bank, then it is a lakh of times more rewarding. In case, it is performed in the presence of the image of Śiva, then it rewards endlessly.

समुद्रतीरे देवहृदे गिरौ देवालयेषु च ।

In case, it is performed at the seashore, or over the bank of an auspicious tank, or over a mountain, or in a temple or in an āśrama or a hermitage, it is a crore times more rewarding.

शिवस्य सन्निधाने च सूर्यस्याग्रे गुरोरपि ।

दीपस्य गोर्जलस्यापि जपकर्म प्रशस्यते ॥ १०८ ॥

The japam performed in the presence of the image of Śiva, before the sun, before the preceptor, or a lamp, cow, or water is considered as the best.

O goddess with a charming face, in case, the japam is counted on fingers, it is considered to be the ordinary one. In case, the counting is done by drawing lines, than it is eight times more rewarding than the counting over fingers. If it is recorded by means of putrajīva fruits, it has ten times more benefit. In case, it is calculated by means of conches and jewels, the benefit is hundred times more. In case, it is done through cord, the benefit that accrues is a thousand times more. It is ten thousand times more in case the reckoning is done through the crystals. It is a hundred times more in case the calculation is made by means of pearls. It is a million times more in case the calculation is made by the lotus seeds. The benefit is ten million times more if it is calculated by gold pieces. The benefit is infinite if the calculation is made by Kusā grass knots or the Rudrākṣa beads.

The necklace of twenty five Rudrākṣa beads is conducive to salvation, that of twenty seven beads nourishing, that of thirty is conducive to the achievement of wealth and one of fifty beads pertains to black magic. In case, a devotee, while performing japam, face east, he will be able to attract others; when facing south, to Abhicāra; facing west bestows wealth and facing north is conducive to peace. One should know that the thumb bestows liberation, the index finger destroys enemies, the middle yields wealth, the ring causes peace. O excellent lady, while performing the japam, the little finger bestows protection. The devotee should perform japam with the thumb coming in contact with other fingers.

अङ्गुष्ठेन विना कर्म कृतं तदफलं यतः ।

शृणुष्व सर्वयज्ञेभ्यो जपयज्ञो विशिष्यते ॥ ११६ ॥

Any holy rite performed without the thumb is useless. The japa-yajñā excels all other sacrifices.

याकंतः कर्म यज्ञाः स्युः प्रदानानि तपांसि च ॥ ११७ ॥

सर्वे ते जपयज्ञस्य कलां नार्हति षोडशीम् ।

माहात्म्यं वाचिकस्यैव जपयज्ञस्य कीर्तितम् ॥ ११८ ॥

All the ritualistic sacrifices, charitable gifts and austerities, do not merit even the sixteenth fraction of the japa-yajña. The other yajñas are to face with violence or killing, but the japa-yajña has noting to do with violence. Now the greatness of only the vācika or the reciter of the japa-yajña is glorified.

Mumbling is hundred times more beneficial than vācika and Mānasa is a thousand times more rewarding than that. In case, the mantra is muttered clearly in high tone or in ordinary or low tones, then it is called vācika. In case, the mantra is recited in low voice with movement of lips alone, which is hardly audible, it is called Upāṁśu. In case, the devotee recites the mantra keeping in view the meaning of it, then it is called Mānasa. Out of the above three types of japa-yajñas, the third one is the best of all.

सदाचारी जपनित्यं ध्यायन् भद्रं समश्नुते ।
सदाचारं प्रवक्ष्यामि सम्याधर्मस्य साधनम्॥२७॥

The quality of benefit is based on the method in which the japam is performed. In case, a particular god is constantly adored performing the japam, then, he getting pleased, showers enormous bliss and eternal salvation. The wild people like Yakṣas, Rākṣasas, Piśācas or the terrific planets cannot reach the person, who is engaged in the performing of japam. They get frightened on all the four sides. With the performing of the japam, a person can get rid of all the sins committed by him in his earlier births. He also gains the worldly pleasures, success, besides beatitude and overpowers even death. Gaining all the knowledge relating to Śiva and knowing the method of performing of japam, a devotee should observe good conduct and then meditate, as a result of which, he achieves welfare. Now, I shall speak about the good conduct.

यस्मादाचारहीनस्य साधनं निष्फलं भवेत् ।
आचारः परमो धर्म आचारः परमं तपः॥२८॥
आचारः परमा विद्या आचारः परमा गतिः ।
सदाचारवतां पुंसां सर्वत्राप्यभयं भवेत्॥२९॥

The performance without good conduct is fruitless. Therefore, good conduct is the greatest virtue, the highest knowledge and the greatest aim. A person with good conduct always remains fearless everywhere.

तद्वदाचारहीनानां सर्वत्रैव भयं भवेत् ।
सदाचारेण देवत्वमृषित्वं च वरानने॥३०॥
उपयांति कुयोनित्वं तद्वदाचारलंघनात् ।

दुर्वृत्तो शुद्धिभूयिष्ठो पापीयान् ज्ञानदूषकः ॥१३२॥
वर्णश्रिमविधानोक्तं धर्मं कुर्वात यत्ततः ॥१३३॥

Similarly, a person without good conduct, always feels panicky everywhere. O lady with charming face, people attain the position of R̄ṣis and the Devas with the performing of the good conduct and by discarding the good conduct, they are born in the lower and base state of the society. A person with evil conduct is denounced in the world. Therefore, the person desirous of success, should strictly follow the good conduct. A person with evil conduct is a sinner and blemishes the knowledge. A person should follow the dharma prescribed for his varṇa or class.

A person who conducts himself as per the rules of his own caste is dear to me. A devotee should perform Sandhyā vandanam daily in the morning and evening. He should perform Sandhyā before sunrise and sunset, purifying himself. A Brāhmaṇa should not miss the performing of sandhyā under the influence of kāma, krodha, lobha, moha and fear. By discarding the performance of Sandhyā, a Brāhmaṇa is fallen from Brāhmaṇahood. A person should not resort to falsehood, nor should he discard the truth. The truth has been equated with Brahman and falsehood blemishes Brahman. The falsehood, harsh words and stubbornness are the causes of sins. A person, by his action, thought and behaviour, should not usurp the wives and riches of others, nor should any one be hurt. The food of Sūdras, statehood, naivedya, food meant for Śrāddha, food cooked for the community festivities and the food given by the kings in charity, should be discarded. The purity of food is the basis for the spotlessness in the character of a person and not the water or the earth. It is the purity in character which leads one to success. Therefore, one should protect his character and conduct making all the efforts.

अस्नात्वा न च भुजीयादजपोग्निमपूज्य च ।

One should not take food without taking bath, without performing japam and without worship of fire. One should not take food on the reverse of a leaf. One should not take food during the night without light of the lamp.

One should not take food in a broken vase, over the open roof and in the presence of the degraded people. The food left over by a Śūdra should not be taken and one should not take food with an infant. The pure food with fats, soft and sanctified food should be taken. One should, while taking food, think as Śiva is taking food. One should take food by concentrating his mind.

आस्येन न पिबेत्तोयं तिष्ठनञ्जलिनापि वा।

सूर्याग्निजलदेवानां गुरुणां विमुखः शुभे।

O charming lady, one should never perform the religious practices like japam and other auspicious rites with his face turned away from the sun, fire, water, Devas and the preceptors.

अग्नौ न तापयेत्पादौ हस्तं पद्मयां न संस्पृशेत्।

One should not warm his feet over the fire and should not touch the hands by legs. One should not occupy a lofty place above the fire. One should never drop impurities into the fire.

One should never kick the water with his feet and should not drop the dirt of his limbs into the water. After washing the dirt of the limbs into the water of the river near the bank, one should not take a bath in that river water.

A person who keeps a cat as a pet in his house is like a person of low caste. In case, he feeds an excellent Brāhmaṇa in presence of a cat, then his so feeding a Brāhmaṇa would be equated to feeding by a Cāṇḍāla. There is no doubt about it. The wind discharged from the buttocks, the wind of the winnowing basket, the wind coming out of the mouth of animals, dispel the merits of a person coming in contact with him. A turban or a coat of mail should never be worn by a person while performing the japam. In case, one is without robes or has loosened the knot of the hair, or is dirty or impure or has dirty hands, he should not perform the japam. Japam should not be performed while talking to others. All these are inimical to japa including anger, arrogance, inebriation, thirst, lethargy, spitting, yawning, sight of a dog or a base man, a slumber and prattling. When these occur, a person should look at the sun for getting purified.

The following are meant by the sun, viz.

the sun, fire, moon, planet, stars and constellations, which are called luminaries. When one is overpowered by anger etc., he should perform ācamana or prāṇāyāma and then continue japam. One should not perform japam stretching the legs. One should not sit in a cock posture while performing japam, nor should he do so while lying down, or without having a proper seat. The reciter should not perform japam in an open street, in the presence of Śūdras or over the ground smeared with blood or seated over a cat.

The devotee should mentally think about the meaning of the mantra. He should carry on performing of japam seating over an easy seat. He can use anyone of the following seats, viz. : seat of a silk cloth, tiger skin, cotton cloth, an upper cloth or a cotton quilt, a wooden plank or a palmyra leaf. The worship of the preceptor should be performed in all the three Sandhyās by the one who is desirous of his own welfare. The one who is a preceptor also represents Śiva. As is Śiva, so is the learning and as is the learning, so is the preceptor. The knowledge about Śiva is received from the preceptor. The benefit is received according to one's own devotion. O fair lady, indeed, he (the preceptor) is equated with all the gods as well as the Saktis.

The disciple should bear the behest of his preceptor over his head (or he should obey him) irrespective of his being virtuous or otherwise. One who is desirous of welfare, should not transgress even mentally the command of the preceptor. One who strictly conforms to the bidding of the preceptor, he attains the wealth of knowledge. Whatever is done by him in the presence of the preceptor, shall be done with his permission including going, standing, sleeping, eating, etc. He shall not be doing anything self-pleasing in front of the preceptor or in the presence of the deity, since the preceptor is the lord himself and his house is equated with the temple of the lord. In case, one comes into contact with the sinners, he will have to face ugly situation because of their sins. In case, one comes into contact with the preceptor, he shall gain the benefit of performing the holy rites. As a piece of gold discards its impurities after coming into contact with fire, similarly, a man is relieved of his sins while coming in contact with the preceptor. As a pot filled with ghee, when placed close to the fire gets melted, similarly, the sins of a person are melted out after his coming into contact with a preceptor. As the burning fire ordure the lumber, similarly, the contented preceptor burns sins, by means of the power of his mantras.

Undoubtedly, in case, the preceptor is pleased, all the gods like Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Rudra, Devas and the Sages are also satisfied who bless him at the same time. One should never antagonise the preceptor in anyway, physically, mentally or verbally. With the wrath of the preceptor, the longevity is burned, besides the fortunes and the good holy rites. The sacrifices of the persons, who antagonise the preceptor, are rendered fruitless. The japam and other religious performances are also rendered futile. There is no doubt about it. One should avoid making any statement against the preceptor, making all the efforts. In case, out of confusion, he does so, he is sure to fall in the terrific hell. O fair lady, one should never cheat the preceptor falsely—mentally, verbally, physically or monetarily. In case, he highlights the ugly qualities of his preceptor's character, he will have to face wickedness, a hundred times more. In case, he highlights the virtues of his preceptor, he will have the benefit of all the good qualities. Whether at the command of the preceptor or otherwise, a devotee should also do whatever is beneficial and pleasing to the preceptor.

Irrespective of the presence or absence of the preceptor, a devotee should always act in a way which is beneficial to the preceptor. The one who causes harm to his preceptor, by his actions, thought or behaviour, he falls down below and wanders there always.

Even when one is quite close to the preceptor, he should speak with the permission of the preceptor. All the rules of the discipline should be strictly observed, he should be faithful in the performing of japam besides the one who pleases the preceptor, would be worthy of muttering this mantras. I shall now speak about the use and the purpose of the mantras which have been accomplished. In case, a devotee is unaware of the mode of application of the mantra, it becomes ineffective. It should be known as the Viniyoga, wherein the desired benefit is put in conjunction with the activity. It is for the benefit of this world as well as of the next world. The benefits which could be derived out of the Viniyoga, are the longevity of life, good health, the preserving of the health of the body, attaining of kingdom or the royal glory, the perfect knowledge, besides the heaven and salvation.

Every devotee should take bath daily during all the three Sandhyās, every time reciting the Pancākṣara mantra eleven times, after each bath, sprinkling water over the body, performing of abhiṣeka, purification and performing of anuṣṭhāna. A devotee, after duly purifying himself, climbing over a mountain, should carefully repeat the mantra a lakh of times. Or otherwise, he should recite the mantra two lakhs of times, sitting near a river bank and by so doing, one can achieve long life. The tender shoots of dūrvā grass, sesamum seeds, vāñī, guḍūci, ghuṭicā should be used. An intelligent devotee should repeat the mantra two lakhs of times, sitting under the shade of a pīpala tree. One should touch the pīpala tree with both the hands on Saturday and recite the mantra a hundred and eight times sitting under it. By so doing, one gets longevity of life. By so doing, even the untimely death is averted. A devotee can meditate at any place, repeating the mantra for lakh of times, facing the sun. By performing homa a hundred and eight times in a day with arka branches, a devotee is relieved of the ailment. For the removal of all the ailments, using the plāśa twigs, a person should perform homa ten thousand times. Besides performing japam for a hundred and eight times, the oblation should be offered to the sun. By so doing for a month, all the stomach ailments are removed.

One should eat the cooked rice and other food stuffs and drink the beverages after purifying the same with the mantra eleven times. Then, even if it were poison, it shall become nectar. Daily in the forenoon, the devotee should perform hundred and eight offerings in the fire, repeat the mantra a hundred thousand times and worship the sun and by so doing, he shall gain perfect health. The devotee should fill a good pot with the river water and touching it, he should repeat the japam ten thousand times. In case, he takes a bath with the same water, it becomes an antidote for ailments. Everyday, the devotee getting purified, should repeat the mantra twenty-eight times and then take food or he should perform homa with plāśa twigs and by so doing, he shall attain the perfect health. During the time of the solar or lunar eclipse, the devotee should be clean and observe fast at the outset. For the duration of eclipse, he should repeat the mantra with total concentration over the bank of a river flowing into the ocean. After the eclipse is over, he should repeat the japam a thousand and eight times and drink the juice of Brāhmaṇī. By so doing, he shall attain in this world, excellent intellect capable of grasping all scriptures. His words shall become divine, identical with those of the goddesses Sarasvatī.

During the solar and lunar eclipse, a devotee should adore Sivalitiga. O goddess, a devotee, getting purified himself, should recite the mantra ten thousand times in the presence of the lord which results into the fulfilment of all his desires.

In addition, the devotee should recite the mantra ten thousand times for a month. By so doing, the disease is surely subsided and there is an increase in the number of animals. There is no doubt in it.

I shall now speak out about the repentance of the sins. Because the repentance is the base for the wealth of knowledge, then all the activities become fruitless in case the sins are not atoned.

Since the riches are always on the decline, therefore, one should continue to perform repentance for the sins. O auspicious one, in order to purify the knowledge and the fortunes, one should hold water in the hand cup and should devote himself to me. Reciting the mantra eleven times, one should perform abhiṣeka. The mantra should be repeated a hundred and eight times and then a bath should be taken. This practice removes all the sins and is rewarding like performing pilgrimage to holy places. In case of any omission, one should recite the mantra a hundred and eight times.

O noble lady, by repeating this mantra, person attains an easy victory over the five vital airs. The devotee shall then control the sense organs with purity and perform the japam five hundred thousand times. Thereafter, O lady with a charming face, he will exercise victory over the sense organs. The person, who worships well and who peacefully repeats the mantra five hundred thousand times, attains victory over the five organs of senses. A person who repeats the mantra five hundred thousand times with devotion, for the fourth time, he achieves victory over the five elements. O lady with charming face, one who continuously controls his mind and repeats the mantra four hundred thousand times, he becomes the master of the sense organs. O lady with lotus like face, with the performing of two million five hundred thousand japam, a person attains victory over the twenty five principles. A person should earnestly repeat the mantra ten thousand times at midnight, when the wind is at standstill. O charming damsel, he attains the siddhi of Brahman with the performing of this vrata.

The self-possessed person shall repeat the mantra ten thousand times for the achievements of all kinds of wealths.

Suppression of worldly existence

ऋषय ऊचुः

जपाच्छ्रेष्ठतमं प्राहूर्ब्राह्मणा दग्धकिल्बिषाः ।
विरक्तानां प्रबुद्धानां ध्यानयज्ञं सुशोभनम्॥१॥

R̄si is said—

The Brāhmaṇas, who have relieved themselves of the sins, say that the meritorious sacrifice of meditation is far better than the performing of japam for unattached and enlightened persons.

तस्माद्वदस्व सूताद्य ध्यानयज्ञमशेषतः ।
विस्तारात्सर्वयत्नेन विरक्तानां महात्मनाम्॥२॥

Hence, O Sūta, you enlighten us today about the sacrifice of meditation best suited for the unattached noble people, exhaustively, making all the efforts.

तेषां तद्वचनं श्रुत्वा मुनीनां दीर्घसत्रिणाम् ।
रुद्रेण कथितं प्राह गुहां प्राप्य महात्मना॥३॥
संहत्य कालकूटाख्यं विषं वै विश्वकर्मणा ।

On hearing these words of the noble sages, who had performed sacrifices for a long duration, Sūta spoke to them what Rudra of universal action mentioned after neutralising the poison of kālakūṭa and entering his cave.

सूत उवाच

गुहां प्राप्य सुखासीनं भवान्या सह शङ्करम्॥४॥
मुनयः संशितात्मानः प्रणेमुस्तं गुहाश्रयम् ।

Sūta said—

The sages of great discipline bowed down to Śiva offering their salutation to him, who entered a cave and seated himself comfortably along with Bhavānī. Then, all of them eulogised the lord Nilakaṇṭha, the consort of the goddess Umā.

अत्युग्रं कालकूटाख्यं संहतं भगवंस्त्वया ।

On hearing this, the universal soul Nilalohita, spoke to Sanandana and other Rṣis with a smile over his face.

“O excellent Brāhmaṇas, what is the use of it? I shall speak to you about a more dangerous poison, which made this poison infructuous. The poison of kālakūṭa is of no consequence before it.

न विषं कालकूटाख्यं संसारे विषमुच्यते ।

तस्मात्सर्वप्रयत्नेन संहरेत् सुदारुणम् ॥९॥

The poison of kālakūṭa is of no consequence in comparison with the poison of the universe. Therefore, one should keep such a poison at a distance.

तस्माददृष्टानुश्रविकं दुष्टामित्युभ्यात्मकम् ।

संत्यजेत्सर्वयत्नेन विरक्तः सोभिधीयते ॥१३॥

The world based on the rights and deities is of two types. For the ignorant people, it is terrific as well as heavy. O Rṣis, performing the vrata, the universe is the cause of attraction and blemish. Because of this, all the people are influenced with the dharma and adharma. O Brāhmaṇas, the things which are not near us, the scriptures create attachment towards them, simply with the listening of the Śāstras. Therefore, according to the visible world and the Vedic practices, the people with wisdom should discard both of them in the world. Thereafter, a person becomes unattached.

शास्त्रमित्युच्यते ५ भागं श्रुतेः कर्मसु तदद्विजाः ।

मूर्धानं ब्रह्मणः सारमृषीणां कर्मणः फलम् ॥१४॥

O Brāhmaṇas, the part of the Vedas relating to performing of the religious practices is called Śāstra. O Brāhmaṇas, this is the prominent tattva of the Vedas. The benefit of anuṣṭhāna goes to the Rṣis.

ननु स्वभावः सर्वेषां कामो दृष्टे न चान्यथा ।

श्रुतिः प्रवर्तिका तेषामिति कर्मण्यतद्विदः ॥१५॥

They are unaware of the fact that the desire in a person is quite natural. Nothing otherwise has been visualised. The Vedas inspire for the fulfilment of those desires.

निवृत्तिलक्षणो धर्मः समर्थानामिहोच्यते ।

तस्मादद्वानमूलो हि संसारः सर्वदेहिनाम् ॥१६॥

The virtue of renunciation from the worldly offers is intended for the efficient people. Therefore, it is said that worldly existence is caused by ignorance of all embodied persons.

नारकी पापकृत्स्वर्गी पुण्यकृत्पुण्यगौरवात् ।

व्यतिमिश्रेण वै जीवश्चतुर्धा संव्यवस्थितः ॥१८॥

The digit is dried up due to karmas or the nature of others (?). The individuals endowed with kālas are of three types. Due to ignorance, they are deprived of the true knowledge. They are of three types—(a) those who are destined to fall in the hell because of their being sinful; (b) those who are destined to achieve heaven because of the meritorious deeds performed by them; (c) and those who are the combination of both the good and bad qualities.

All the living beings of the world are classified under four categories viz., the Udbhijas (which are born out of soil of the earth), Svedajas, (those which are born of the sweat which include lice, germs, worms etc.) and Jarāyujas (those who are born wrapped in the outer skin of the embryo). Thus, those who are ignorant about the karmas, cannot achieve salvation. Salvation cannot be achieved by the noble people by their progeny, activities and the wealth. To the contrary, the salvation can be achieved by renunciation and in the absence of the same, the soul wanders in the universe.

एवमज्ञानदोषेण नानाकर्मवशेन च ।
षट्कौषिकं समुद्भूतं भजत्येष कलेवरम् ॥२१॥

Due to ignorance or due to the deeds performed by a person, he attains a body comprising of the six koṣas (vestines).

गर्भे दुःखान्यनेकानि योनिमार्गे च भूतले ।
कौमारे यौवनं चैव वार्धके मरणेषि वा ॥२२॥

A soul has to face a large number of miseries, while in womb, in the passage of birth, on the earth (at the time of birth), during infancy and childhood, during the youthful age, during old age and even at the time of death.

विचारतः सतां दुःखं स्त्रीसङ्गादिभिर्द्विजाः ।
दुखेनैकेन वै दुःखं प्रशास्यन्तीह दुःखिनः ॥२३॥

O Brāhmaṇas, in case, one thinks properly, the good people have to face misery by coming in contact with woman and other similar activities. A person, facing the miseries, tries to subside one misery by making use of another misery.

न जातु कामः कामानामुपभोगेन शाम्यति ।
हविषा कृष्णवर्त्मेव भूय एवाभिवर्धते ॥२४॥

The lust can never be subsided by indulging in passionate conduct. The flames of the sacrificial fire rise with the pouring of ghee into it.

क्षयसातिशयाद्यैस्तु दुःखैर्दुःखानि सुब्रताः ॥२७॥

With a deep thinking, one comes to a conclusion that there is no happiness in the conjugal pleasures as well. There are miseries in the earning of the wealth. The protection and spending also involve miseries. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, in case, we think out deeply, then we find that even the Piśācas, Rākṣasas, Gandharvas, Candraloka and Budhaloka, also have enough of miseries. Besides these, the miseries are also present in the place of Prajāpati, Brahmaloka, in Prakṛti, besides in the loka of Puruṣa. O excellent sages, one has to face misery with the loss of one's possessions, or in case, an object is possessed by others which is better than his, even then a person feels painful. These only cause other miseries.

तथाष्टचत्वारिंशश्च षट्पञ्चाशत्रप्रकारतः।
चतुःषष्ठिविधं चैव दुःखमेव विवेकिनः॥३०॥

One should disown all such impure fortunes and the riches. Therefore, O sinless sages of good rites, all kinds of pleasures result in miseries to the discriminating person, in whatever way you view them, viz.: eight-fold or sixteen-fold or twenty-fold, thirty-two fold, forty-eight, fifty-six or sixty-four types.

The following types of pleasures are undoubtedly miseries in case one thinks quite deeply, even to the yogins who talk of Brahman—Pārthiva (earthly), Āpya (watery), Taijasa (fiery), Vāyavya (airy), Vyauma (relating to the sky), Mānasa (mental), Abhimānika (filled with pride), Baudhha (concerning intellect), Prākṛtika (relating to nature).

दुःखमेव न संदेहो न जानन्ति ह्यपण्डिताः।
स्वर्गेष्वेवं मुनिश्रेष्ठा ह्यविशुद्धक्षयादिभिः॥३७॥

The virtues of Gaṇapatis, when thought of deeply, turn out to be the misery. There is the misery at the beginning, middle and the end of the lokas. The present one is also misery and the same shall be in future. The world has fallen because of blemishes which result into various types of miseries. Such of the people conceive ignorance as the knowledge and forget the past. As the medicine is taken for the removal of the disease and not for achieving the real pleasure, similarly, in order to remove the ailment of hunger, the food is eaten and not for comfort. The living beings, in different seasons, suffer from cold, heat, wind and rains, but the ignorant do not believe like that. O excellent Munis, so much so, that even in the heaven also, it so happens because of the excellent virtues.

नरके दुःखमेवात्र नरकाणां निषेवणात्॥४०॥
विहितकरणाच्चैव वर्णिनां मुनिपुङ्गवाः॥४१॥

As the huge tree falls down when it is cut off at the roots, similarly, the dwellers of the heaven, having exhausted their virtues, fall from the heaven. Even the dwellers of the heaven are desirous of the miseries which are the roots of the pain. Or otherwise, such of the people, who enjoy all the pleasures, they also, after their fall from the heaven, have to face dangerous ailments. O excellent sages, the religious people also with their inability to perform the anuṣṭhānas as prescribed in the scriptures, surely suffer miseries in the hell.

यथा मृगो मृत्युभयस्य भीतो
उच्छित्रवासो न लभेत् निद्राम्।

As a dear, having lost his abode, is unable to sleep well, similarly, a yogī, engaged in meditation, while suffering from worldly pride, is unable to sleep.

कीटपक्षिमृगाणां च पशूनां गजवाजिनाम्।
दृष्टमेवासुखं तस्मात्यजतः सुखमुत्तमम्॥४३॥

The misery is found in the insects, birds, deer, elephants, horses and other animals. Therefore, a person by renouncing the world, enjoys enormous comfort.

देवानां चैव दैत्यानामन्योन्याविजिगीषया।
दुःखमेव नृपाणां च राक्षसानां जगत्रये॥४५॥

O excellent sages, even the officiators of the kalpas, who fly by air, besides the sages who are proud of their position, have to suffer from pain. The gods and the demons also suffer with the desire of overpowering each other. The rulers and the demons of the three worlds also have to suffer from pain.

तस्मात्सर्वप्रयत्नेन चरेत्पाशुपत्रतम्।
भस्मशायी भवेन्नित्यं ब्रते पाशुपते ब्रुधः॥४८॥

In reality, even the āśramas also, with the fatigue of the different castes, have to suffer from pain. A person, while following a particular āśrama, studying the Vedas, performing the yajñas, practising the Sāṃkhya yoga, vratas and hard tapas, besides giving away the charities, cannot achieve the ātma-tattva, but a learned person can do so. Therefore, a person, instead of making all these efforts, should resort to the Pāśupata vrata. While performing the Pāśupata vrata, an intelligent devotee should always sleep in the ashes.

पञ्चार्थयोगसंपत्रो दुःखांतं ब्रजते सुधीः।
परया विद्या वेदं विदंत्यपरया न हि॥५०॥

With the knowledge of the five subjects, a devotee, who is devoted in the dhyāna of Sīva-tattva, would patronise yoga, which is the bestower of beatitude, besides being the destroyer of karmas. In this way, a devotee, learning about the five objects, reaches the end of the misery. The devotees understand these by means of Parā-vidyā and not by Aparā-vidyā.

द्वे विद्ये वेदितव्ये हि परा चैवापरा तथा।
अपरा तत्र ऋग्वेदो यजुर्वेदो द्विजोत्तमाः॥५१॥

तदचक्षुस्तदश्रोत्रं तदपाणि अपादकम्।
तदजातमभूतं च तदशब्दं द्विजोत्तमाः॥५४॥

For a devotee, two types of vidyās are to be known, viz. :- Parā and Aparā vidyās. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, Aparā consists of Rk, Yajuh, Sāma and Atharva Vedas, Sikṣā-kalpa, Grammar, Semantics, Prosody and Astrology are also parts of Aparā-vidyā. What is imperishable is Parā. It is imperceptible and incomprehensible. It is no spiritual lineage, no caste, no colour, no eyes, no ears, no hands and no feet. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, it is not born and has no past. It is beyond description in words.

अस्पर्शं तदरूपं च रसांधविवर्जितम्।

अनपावृतमद्वैतं तदनंतमगोचरम्।
असंवृतं जगत्सर्वं परा विद्या न चान्यथा॥५८॥

It has no touch, no form, no taste, no smell, no change, no support. It is perpetual, omnipresent and all powerful. It is great and massive. O Brāhmaṇas, it is unborn and is identical with cit (consciousness). It is devoid of prāṇa (vital air). It has no mind and is non-emollient (which cannot be softened) and is devoid of blood. It is incomprehensible and is neither stout nor strong. It is not excessively clear. It is not short. It is impassable. It is bliss and unswerving, not open, without a second, infinite, not perishable and not covered. Parā is identical with the soul and not otherwise.

परापरेति कथिते नैवेह परमार्थतः।
अहमेव जगत्सर्वं मय्येव सकलं जगत्॥५९॥

But both Parā and Aparā are not real. I alone am identical with the universe. The universe is in me alone.

सर्वमात्मनि संपश्येत्सच्चासच्च समाहितः।

सर्वं ह्यात्मनि संपश्यन्नबाह्ये कुरुते मनः॥६१॥

Everything emerges out of me. It remains in me and is absorbed in me. There is nothing separate from me. One should realise this mentally, by speech and the body. A devotee should visualise the sat and asat in his own soul while meditating. A mind of a person who visualises everything in his own soul, does not wander here and there.

अथोदृष्ट्या वितस्त्यां तु नाभ्यामुपरि तिष्ठति।

While visualising inside, the soul can be found in the heart, twelve fingers above the navel. This is the abode of the universe.

A lotus is lodged inside the heart. Dharma stands for its bulbous root and knowledge, its splendour, is the stalk. The eight accomplishments are the eight petals. Detachment or vairāgya happens to be its white pericarp. The quarters are its pores, filled with the vital airs.

It sees mostly and in due order on being united with Prāṇas or vital airs. In all, there are seventy two thousand nādīs (veins). The waking state is stationed in eyes. The svapna (dream state) is in the neck. The suṣupti or sleeping state is in the heart and turiya (the fourth above the three) is in the head. The presiding deity in the awakening state is Brahmā. It is Viṣṇu in the dreaming state. It is Īśvara in a sleeping state and is turiya in Maheśvara. Others say as follows :— When a person is in full possession of his senses and organs, it is called Jāgrat. When only four organs i.e. mind, intellect, ego and citta function, it is svapna. O sages of good holy rites, when the organs and the senses are merged into the soul (ātman) it is the suṣupti or the sleeping stage. The fourth (i.e. turiya) condition is different from the organs and senses. The greatest Śiva, who is beyond the fourth, is the prime cause.

The four states, viz. Jāgrat (awakeness), Svapna (dream), Suṣupti (slumber) and Turiya, the fourth, have already been mentioned. I shall now deal with the Ādhibhautika, Ādhyātmika and Ādhidaivika terms, O excellent Brāhmaṇas. It is to be known by the learned ones that I myself represent all these. O great sage, the Ādhyātmika (organic) has fourteen forms in all, of which there are five sense organs, five organs of activity, besides the four viz., mind, intellect, ego and will. O excellent sages, the following comprise of the Ādhibhautika or the extraneous matter, viz. what should be seen, heard, smelt, tasted, touched or thought off, what should be understood, what should be promote off, what should be willed, what should be spoken, grasped, traversed, evacuated and enjoyed. The following constitute the Ādhidaivika or the divine factor, which includes the sun, directions, earth, water, wind, Brahmā, Rudra, Kṣetrajña, Agni, Indra, Viṣṇu, Moon, Lord Mitra and Prajāpati.

There are fourteen carrying winds lodged in the centre of Nāḍīs. They are known as—Prāṇa, Vyāna, Apāna, Udāna, Samāna, Vairambha, the important antarayāma, Prabhañjana, Kūrmaka, Syena, Śveta, Kṛṣṇa, Anila and Nāga. I am the lord present in all these as the great Ātman and the devotee should worship me. I am present, O excellent sages, in the eyes, in what is to be seen, in the sun, in the Nāḍī, in the Prāṇa, in Vijñāna, and in Ananda or bliss, in the heart, in the sky, besides in all these. I am the sole Ātman moving within. The lord is ageless, infinite, devoid of sorrow, immortal and stable. He is the sole being moving amidst these fourteen types of objects. All of these get absorbed in him as if they never existed.

एक एव हि सर्वज्ञः सर्वेषास्त्वेक एव सः ।
 एष सर्वाधिपो देवस्त्वंतर्यामी महाद्युतिः ॥८८॥

There is only one lord of all the things. He is omniscient one, is all pervading one. He is overlord of all. He is immanent soul of the great lustre.

उपास्यमानः सर्वस्य सर्वसौख्यः सनातनः ।
 उपास्यति न चैवेह सर्वसौख्यं द्विजोत्तमाः ॥८९॥

O Brāhmaṇas, he bestows all the comforts, when adored. In case, one does not worships him, he is deprived of happiness.

उपास्यमानो वेदैश्च शास्त्रैर्नानाविधैरपि ।

All the Vedas and Śāstras adore him alone variously, but the all pervading one does not go to them.

All this is the food for him. He never becomes food himself. No one consumes the food protected by him.

It is I who consumes the food eaten by others. I happen to be the knot of the living beings. It is I who produces everything. I happen to be the Pañcātmā of several parts.

अन्नमयोसौ भूतात्मा चाद्यते ह्यन्नमुच्यते ।

I am the cereal like soul. Whatever is taken is the food. I am the lip like soul of the sense organs. I am the soul of mental conceptions identical with mind.

कालात्मा सोम एवेह विज्ञानमय उच्यते ।
 सदानन्दमयो भूत्वा महेशः परमेश्वरः ॥९४॥

I am Kālātmā in the form of Soma. I am blissful Parameśvara also known as Maheśa.

सोहमेवं जगत्सर्वं मय्येव सकलं स्थितम् ।
 परतंत्रं स्वतंत्रेष्यि तदभावाद्विचारतः ॥९५॥

In this way, I represent the entire globe. Everything is enshrined in me. I am free from bondages, but I am the controller of everything. One can realise this after a deep study.

एकत्वमपि नास्त्येव द्वैतं तत्र कुतस्त्वहो ।
 एवं नास्त्यथ मर्त्यं च कुतोऽमृतमजोद्भवः ॥९६॥

When even the state of being one or Ekatva does not exist as a simple attribute, then how could the duality be there? There is also no mortal being. Then how can there be an immortal born of a mortal or unborn?

नांतः प्रज्ञो बहिःप्रज्ञो न चोभयगतस्तथा।
न प्रज्ञानघनस्त्वेवं न प्राज्ञो ज्ञानपूर्वकः॥१७॥

The soul have neither an intellectual awareness within, nor have the intellectual awareness outside, nor is there both ways. He is not solid in perfect knowledge, nor prājña himself, nor does he represent ignorance.

निर्विकल्पं निराभासं ज्ञानं पर्यायवाचकम्॥१९॥

Brahman is neither well-known, nor is it worth knowing. In fact, it is nirvāṇa, niḥśreyasa, Kaivalya, Anāmaya (devoid of ailments), amṛta (in mortal), akṣara (imperishable) Brahman, Parama-ātman or the supreme soul, greater than the greatest, without any alternative, devoid of fallous appearances, jñāna. All these represent the perfect knowledge.

प्रसन्नं च यदेकाग्रं तदा ज्ञानमिति स्मृतम्।

When it is blissful and concentrated, it takes the form of knowledge. Except that, all is ignorance. There is no doubt about it.

ज्ञानमेवाभ्यसेत्तस्मान्मुक्त्यर्थं ब्रह्मवित्तमाः।
ज्ञानाभ्यासाद्वि वै पुंसां बुद्धिर्भवति निर्मला॥१०४

Complete knowledge can be achieved by coming in contact with the preceptor. It is free from attraction or passion, jealousy, falsehood, anger, passions, desire etc. It bestows salvation. A person becomes impure by ignorance. One can achieve salvation by achieving purity and not otherwise, even after having crores of births. One cannot be free from the merits or demerits without true knowledge. O speakers on Brahman, you must achieve knowledge in order to achieve salvation. While meditating to achieve knowledge, the wisdom of a person is purified.

तस्मात्सदाभ्यसेज्ञानं तत्रिष्ठस्तत्परायणः।
ज्ञानेनैकेन तृप्तस्य त्यक्तसङ्गस्य योगिनः॥१०५॥
कर्तव्यं नास्ति विप्रेन्द्रा अस्ति चेत्तत्त्ववित्र च।
इह लोके परे चापि कर्तव्यं नास्ति तस्य वै॥१०६॥
जीवन्मुक्तो यतस्तस्माद्ब्रह्मवित्परमार्थतः।
ज्ञानाभ्यासरतो नित्यं ज्ञानतत्त्वार्थवित्पवयम्॥१०७॥
कर्तव्याभ्यासमुत्पृज्य ज्ञानमेवाधिगच्छति।
वर्णश्रिमाभिमानी यस्त्यक्तक्रोधी द्विजोत्तमाः॥१०८॥
अन्यत्र रमते मूढः सोऽज्ञानी नात्र संशयः।
संसारहेतुरज्ञानं संसारस्तनुसंग्रहः॥१०९॥

Therefore, everybody, in order to achieve salvation, should follow the path of knowledge. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, O Yogins, a person who feels satisfied with the achieving of the knowledge, for him, no duty is left out. In case, he feels otherwise, then he cannot be treated as a person well-versed in tattva. There is no duty left for him in this as well as in the other world. He is known as a liberated soul. Therefore, a person well-versed in Brahman, also knows the spiritualism well. He is always engaged in search of knowledge. Leaving aside all his duties, he concentrates himself in achieving knowledge. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, a person who is proud of his belonging to a particular varṇa, and feels pleasure in indulging in other activities, he is surely a confused and ignorant person, inspite of his having freed himself from anger. Ignorance is the cause for existence of the worldly affairs. To have a human body, is the way of the world.

मोक्षहेतुस्तथा ज्ञानं मुक्तः स्वात्मन्यवस्थितः ।
अज्ञाने सति विप्रेंद्राः क्रोधाद्या नात्र संशयः॥११०॥
क्रोधो हर्षस्तथा लोभो मोहो दंभो द्विजोत्तमाः ।
धर्माधर्मौ हि तेषां च तद्वशात्तनुसंग्रहः॥१११॥

The knowledge is the cause of mokṣa. A liberated person remains absorbed in himself. O Brāhmaṇas, there is no doubt that the ignorance is the cause of ignorance. With the human body, one indulges into anger, delight, greed, confusion, deceitfulness, dharma and evil ways.

शरीरे सति वै क्लेशः सोविद्यां संत्यजेद्बुधः ।
अविद्यां विद्यया हित्वा स्थितस्यैव च योगिनः ॥
क्रोधाद्या नाशमायांति धर्माधर्मौ च वै द्विजाः ।
तत्क्षयाच्च शरीरेण न पुनः संप्रयुज्यते॥११३॥
स एव मुक्तः संसारददुःखत्रयविर्जितः ।
एवं ज्ञानं विना नास्ति ध्यानं ध्यातुर्द्विजर्जभाः॥११४॥

The body has to suffer pain. Therefore, a person with wisdom should discard ignorance, confusion etc. When the yogins disown ignorance with the use of wisdom, only then, the anger, dharma and adharma disappear. O Brāhmaṇas, with the disappearing of these elements, the soul is no more attached to the body. The soul then is freed from the worldly existence and is also freed from all the three types of sufferings. O Brāhmaṇas, a devotee cannot concentrate without knowledge.

ज्ञानं गुरोर्हि संपर्कात्र वाचा परमार्थतः ।
चतुर्व्यूहमिति ज्ञात्वा ध्याता ध्यानं समभ्यसेत्॥११५॥

The knowledge can be achieved by a person, by coming into contact with the preceptor and not with the uttering of words alone. Therefore, well-realising the four-fold situation, a devotee should perform meditation.

सहजांतुकं पापमस्थिवागुद्धवं तथा ।
ज्ञानाग्निर्दहते क्षिप्रंशुष्केऽधनमिवानलः॥११६॥

As the fire quickly destroys the dry wood, similarly, the fire of knowledge destroys all the sins, irrespective of their being there since birth or extraneous, or originating from the bones or speech.

ज्ञानात्परतरं नास्ति सर्वपापविनाशनम् ।
अभ्यसेच्च तदा ज्ञानं सर्वसङ्गविर्जितः॥११७॥

There is nothing greater than the perfect knowledge for the removal of all the sins. After disowning all the attachments to the worldly objects, one shall always make use of the perfect knowledge.

ज्ञानिनः सर्वपापानि जीर्यते नात्र संशयः ।
क्रीडत्रपि न लिप्येत पापैर्नानाविधैरपि॥११८॥

There is no doubt that the sins of the learned people are washed out inspite of their remaining engrossed in pleasures. They are always free from sins.

ज्ञानं यथा तथा ध्यानं तस्माद्ध्यानं समभ्यसेत् ।
ध्यानं निर्विषयं प्रोक्तमादौ सविषयं तथा॥११९॥
षट्प्रकारं समभ्यस्य चतुःषट्दशभिस्तथा ।
तथा द्वादशधा चैव पुनः षोडशधा क्रमात्॥१२०॥
द्विधाभ्यस्य च योगींद्रो मुच्यते नात्र संशयः ।

The position which is good for knowledge, the same holds good for the meditation as well. Therefore, a person should meditate continuously. Initially, one should meditate with purpose and without purpose. Thereafter, the leading yogī should practice meditation in six ways, viz. in units of two, four, six, ten, twelve and sixteen, of the time in order. He shall be surely liberated by so doing.

शुद्धजांबूनदाकारं विधूमाङ्गरसत्रिभम्॥१२१॥

अथवा ब्रह्मरंध्रस्थं चित्तं कृत्वा प्रयत्नतः॥१२२॥

मद्भक्तशाभ्यसेद्व्यानं गुरुसंपर्कजं धूवम्।
न बुध्यति तथा ध्याता स्थाप्य चित्तं द्विजोत्तमाः॥

Initially, a devotee should concentrate over the lustre of the pure gold, or the lustre of the burning coal without smoke, or of yellow, red or white lustre of crores of lightnings. Or a meditator should concentrate his mind in Brahmarandhra. He should remember that the one, on whom he is concentrating his mind, is neither white, nor black, nor yellow and if he so does, he shall surely become a Brahmavādin. Making all the efforts, he should become a non-violent, truthful, should not steal, maintain celibacy, performer of vratas, pure in all respects, study the Vedas, only then, he shall know the Brahman. Such a devotee, by dedicating himself to me, should meditate as per the instructions of the preceptor.

न चाभिमन्यते योगी न पश्यति समंततः।
न घ्राति न शृणोत्येव लीनः स्वात्मनि यः स्वयम्॥
न च स्पर्शं विजानाति स वै समरसः स्मृतः।
O excellent Brāhmaṇas, a yogī, after concentrating his mind on me, should not be attracted towards others. He should not look around, nor does he smell. He totally absorbs himself in his own soul. He does not feel the touch of anything.

He should gradually think about the Brahmā in earth, Viṣṇu in watery elements, fire and Kālarudra in the wind, besides Śiva in the sky. He should conceive me to be Paśupati in earth, Bhava in water, Rudra in fire, Ugra in Vāyu, Bhīma in the sky, Īśāna in the solar disc and Mahādeva in the moon. These are the eight forms in which I could be visible.

The earth is connected with each and every solid thing. All liquid things are related to the water, the colour is related to Agni, the moveable things are related to the wind and O Brāhmaṇas, the holes are linked with the sky. O Brāhmaṇas, the knowledge emerging from the sound was produced from the sky. The knowledge emerging from the touch was produced out of the wind. The beauty emerged from the fire and the taste emerged out of the water of knowledge. The existence of fragrance emerged from the earth. Again in the same order, he shall meditate— the sun in the right eye, the moon in the left eye, the lord in the heart, the principle of earth upto the knee, the sphere of water upto the umbilicus, the principle of fire upto the neck, the principle of wind upto the forehead. Beginning with the forehead and ending with the tuft, is the principle called firmament. Above the firmament and beyond that is the Brahman called Harīsa. The first entity called Vyoma, is stationed in the middle of firmament.

न जीवः प्रकृतिः सत्त्वं रजश्चाथ तमः पुनः।

व्योमादीनि च भूतानि नैवेह परमार्थतः।
व्याप्य तिष्ठद्यतो विश्वं स्थाणुरित्यभिधीयते॥१३९॥

These principles including the first entity Jīva, Prakṛti, Sattva, Rajas, Tamas, intellect, the ego, the subtle element, the sense organs and the elements beginning with ether are not real. Because he stands steady, pervading the universe, he is called Sthānu.

It is at the instance of Bhava that the frightened sun rise, the wind blows and purifies, the moon shines, the fire blazes, the water flows, the earth holds aloft and firmament gives room. Hence, O Brāhmaṇas, one shall think about all these. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, all these are presided over by him alone. One shall remember Bhava, thinking that he is identical with all the forms of the world.

संसारविषतसानां ज्ञानध्यानामृतेन वै।

To those who are burnt by the poison of mundane existence, the only remedy for them is the nectar like perfect knowledge and meditation. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, no other solution has been prescribed anywhere else.

ज्ञानं धर्मोद्भवं साक्षाज्जानाद्वैराग्यसंभवः।
वैराग्यात्परमं ज्ञानं परमार्थप्रकाशकम्॥१४४॥

The perfect knowledge originates from dharma directly. Vairāgya (detachment) originates from knowledge, the supreme knowledge starts from Vairāgya, which illuminates the true meanings of the objects.

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, one who possesses the knowledge and detachment at the same time, attains yogic siddhis; one who abides by the sattvaguṇa, attains liberation through the yogic siddhis and not otherwise.

It is surprising that the unchanging region is covered by the use of the words tamas and avidyā. O Brāhmaṇas, one should adopt the strength of sattvaguna and worship lord Śiva.

My devotee follows the sattvaguna and worships Śiva. He gets virtuous in all respects. He is always enthusiastic and has the power of great concentration. He is quite bold and successfully faces all the struggles. He is engaged in the welfare of all the living beings. By nature, he is quite a straightforward person. He is always healthy, has a peaceful mind, besides being tranquil. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, he is devoid of rivalry and is desirous of liberation. Virtue is well-known to him and he has the characteristic of the supreme soul. He is freed from the threefold indebtedness of the previous births and is quite meritorious in nature. After reaching the old age or even otherwise, he serves his preceptor faithfully. He avoids hypocritical attitude. O Brāhmaṇas, he reaches the heavenly world and enjoys all the comforts there. Thereafter, he reaches the sub-continent of Bhārata and is born as the one who knows Brahman.

Coming in contact with jñāna (knowledge) and (getting free from all the three human debts), one should become a yogi. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, in this way, a person devoid of purity, also becomes knowledgeable. Therefore, O excellent sages, you should firmly follow this path. You should disown the worldly attractions and by so doing, a person is freed from worldly kālakūṭa. Thus, I have briefly narrated with context the glory of the excellent knowledge. O excellent sages, the Pāśupata-yoga as prescribed by lord Śiva, should not be revealed to one and all and it should be revealed to the yogīs whose bodies are plastered with the ashes. A person who goes through this chapter on the suppression of the worldly existence or listens to it, he certainly achieves the Sāyujya with Brahman.

Suppression of the delusion of Munis

ऋषय ऊचुः:

निशम्य ते महाप्राज्ञाः कुमाराद्याः पिनाकिनम्।
प्रोचुः प्रणम्य ते भीताः प्रसन्नं परमेश्वरम्॥१॥
एवं चेदनया देव्या हैमवत्या महेश्वर।
क्रीडसे विविधैर्भोगैः कथं वक्तुमिहार्हसि॥२॥

R̥si said—

On hearing this, the sages like Sanaka and others who were panic stricken, offered their salutation to lord Śiva, the holder of the Pināka bow and observing that he was delighted, they said— “In case, it is so, then, O lord, how do you enjoy the various types of sports with the goddess Hāimavatī? How is it appropriate for you to do so?”

सूत उवाच

एवमुकुः प्रहस्येशः पिनाकी नीललोहितः।
प्राह तामंबिकां प्रेक्ष्य प्रणिपत्य स्थितान् द्विजान्॥३॥

Sūta said—

At these words of the sages, lord Nilalohita – the carrier of the Pināka bow, smilingly looked at the goddess Ambā and spoke to Brāhmaṇas, who were seated close to him.

बंधमोक्षौ न चैवेह मम स्वेच्छाशरीरिणः।
अकर्ताज्ञः पशुज्ञावो विभुर्भौक्ता ह्यणुः पुमान्॥४॥
मायी च मायया बद्धः कर्मभिर्युज्यते तु सः।
ज्ञानं ध्यानं च बंधश्च मोक्षो नास्त्यात्मनो द्विजाः॥५॥

“I can take to any form at will. For me, there is no bondage or mokṣa. One who is bound with Māyā and is confused, at the same time, he is involved in the karmas too. O Brāhmaṇas, for the soul, there is no learning, meditation, bondage or mokṣa.

यदैवं मयि विद्वान् यस्तस्यापि न च सर्वतः।
एषा विद्या ह्याहं वेद्यः प्रज्ञैषा च श्रुतिः स्मृतिः॥६॥
धृतिरेषा मया निष्ठा ज्ञानशक्तिः क्रिया तथा।
इच्छाख्या च तथा ह्याज्ञा द्वे विद्ये न च संशयः॥७॥

One who visualises me well, he is not at all affected by all these. This Haimavatī is a Vidyā. I am worthy of knowing. She is the intelligence, besides being Śruti and Smṛti. She is the patience established by me. She is the application of knowledge, besides the will. She is the command. Both of us are the vidyās, there is no doubt in it.

न ह्येषा प्रकृतिर्जैवी विकृतिश्च विचारतः।
विकारो नैव मायैषा सदसद्यक्तिवर्जिता॥८॥

The Prakṛti is not a jīva. In case, one thinks properly, this is not the adversity even. This is the Māyā and not an adversity. She is beyond sat and asat.

पुरा ममाज्ञा मद्वक्त्रात्समुत्पन्ना सनातनी।
पञ्चवक्त्रा महाभागा जगतामभयप्रदा॥९॥

In earlier times, she, at my command, emerged out of my mouth. She is eternal goddess with five faces.

सप्तविंशत्प्रकारेण सर्वं व्याप्यानया शिवः॥१०॥
तदाप्रभृति वै मोक्षप्रवृत्तिर्द्विजसत्तमाः।

I, together with her, thinks about the welfare of the world. I am Śiva, and with her, I pervade in twenty seven forms everywhere. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the task of salvation starts from that.”

सूत उवाच

प्रीता बभूवर्मुक्ताश्च तस्मादेषा परा गतिः।

उमाशङ्करयोर्भेदा नास्त्येव परमार्थतः॥१३॥

Sūta said—

Thus speaking, Parameśvara glanced at Bhavānī. At his glance, Bhavānī removed her Māyā. With the removal of the dirt of Māyā, the sages also had a look at Bhavānī and were redeemed with delight. Therefore, he is the final beatitude. Indeed, there is no difference between Umā and Śiva.

There is no doubt that they exist in two forms. When with the command of Parames̄thī, one comes into contact with people of learnings, one achieves salvation in a moment, otherwise one cannot achieve salvation after crores of anuṣṭhanas. The established procedures set for the jīvas is not applicable in this case. By the grace of Parames̄thī, one gets redeemed in a moment. This is the firm resolve of the lord, there is no doubt about it. With the expansion of Parames̄thī, one gets redeemed, even when he is in the womb of the mother, or has already been born or is still a child, a boy or an old man. By the grace of the god of gods, those born of eggs, born of earth, born of sweat, also get redeemed. There is no doubt in this.

Śiva is the lord of the world and is the cause of bondage and mokṣa. His body is covered with eight layers including Bhūḥ, Bhuvaḥ, Svaha, Mahaḥ, Janah, Tapah, Satya and immovable globes. All the mobile and immobile beings who live in the seven islands, the mountains, oceans, forests and the winds are all the parts of the lord's body. All of them have the same type of disposal.

Rudra is all powerful. Salutation to the great sages. All the jīvas of the world emerge out of lord Śiva. The goddess Ambikā is his command. He is the source of salvation for all. This is what has been declared by the Siddhas roaming in the sky. When lord Śiva, seated with Umā, casts his glance over the people with grace, then, they achieve the Sāyujya of lord Śiva.

Removal of delusion

ऋषय ऊचुः

केन योगेन वै सूत गुणप्राप्तिः सतामिह।
अणिमादिगुणोपेता भवत्येवेह योगिनः।
तत्सर्वं विस्तरात्सूत वक्तुमर्हसि सांप्रतम्॥१॥

The Munis said—

Do the noble people achieve the virtues with the exercise of the yogic practices? By which types of virtues, can a yogi achieve the siddhis like Anīmā and others? O Sūta, you kindly speak about them exhaustively.

सूत उवाच

अत ऊर्ध्वं प्रवक्ष्यामि योगं परमदुर्लभम्।
पञ्चधा संस्मरेदादौ स्थाप्य चित्ते सनातनम्॥२॥

Sūta said—

I shall now speak on yoga, which is difficult to get. Initially, one should establish the five forms of the eternal one, in his mind.

कल्पयेच्चासनं पद्मं सोमसूर्याग्निसंयुतम्।
षड्विंशच्छक्तिसंयुक्तमष्टधा च द्विजोत्तमाः॥३॥
ततः षोडशधा चैव पुनर्द्वादशधा द्विजाः।
स्परेच्च तत्था मध्ये देव्या देवमुमापतिम्॥४॥

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, initially, a devotee shall fix the lotus posture, with sun, moon and fire, combined with twenty six saktis. Thereafter, O Brāhmaṇas, the devotee should concentrate on the lord, the consort of Umā, in the middle, first in eight ways, then in sixteen and again in twelve ways.

अष्टशक्तिसमायुक्तमष्टमूर्तिमजं प्रभुम्।
ताभिश्चाष्टविधा रुद्राश्चतुःषष्ठिविधा: पुनः॥५॥
शक्तयश्च तथा सर्वा गुणाष्टकसमन्विताः।
एवं स्मरेत्क्रमेणैव लब्ध्वा ज्ञानमनुत्तमम्॥६॥

He shall recall the unborn lord of the eight cosmic bodies, accompanied with the eight saktis, and Rudra of eight types and then of sixty four types. Similarly, all the saktis, possessing eight gunas, are to be remembered. After obtaining the perfect knowledge, gradually, this procedure should be adopted.

एवं पाशुपतं योगं मोक्षसिद्धिप्रदायकम्।
तस्याणिमादयो विप्रा नान्यथा कर्मकोटिभिः॥७॥

The Pāśupata yoga is the one which bestows salvation. O Brāhmaṇas, only the one who practices the yogic exercises, achieves the attributes like Anīmā etc. and not otherwise, even after performing crores of holy rites.

तत्राष्टुगुणमैश्वर्यं योगिनां समुदाहृतम्।
तत्सर्वं क्रमयोगेन ह्युच्यमानं निबोधत॥८॥

The fortunes of the yogīs comprise of the eight attributes, which are being narrated in proper order.

अणिमा लघिमा चैव महिमा प्राप्तिरेव च।
प्राकाम्यं चैव सर्वज्ञ ईशित्वं चैव सर्वतः॥९॥
वशित्वमथ सर्वत्र यत्र कामावसायिता।
तच्चापि त्रिविधं ज्ञेयमैश्वर्यं सार्वकामिकम्॥१०॥

Anīmā – the smallest one, Laghimā – the lightness, Mahimā – the greatness, Prāpti – the achievement, Prākāmya – the firm resolve, Īśitva – supremacy over everything, Vasiṣṭva – to subjugate others, Kāmāvāśayitā – one who gets his desire fulfilled, are the eight types of Siddhis. The Aisvarya or fortunes is desired by every one and should be known as of three types.

सावद्यं निरवद्यं च सूक्ष्मं चैव प्रवर्तते।
सावद्यं नाम यत्तत्र पञ्चभूतात्मकं स्मृतम्॥११॥
ईद्रियाणि मनश्चैव अहङ्कारश्च यः स्मृतः।
तत्र सूक्ष्मप्रवृत्तिस्तु पञ्चभूतात्मिका पुनः॥१२॥

इंद्रियाणि मनश्चित्तबुद्ध्यहङ्कारसंज्ञितम् ।
तथा सर्वमयं चैव आत्मस्था ख्यातिरेव च ॥१३॥
संयोग एवं त्रिविधः सूक्ष्मेष्वेव प्रवर्तते ।
पुनरष्टगुणशापि सूक्ष्मेष्वेव विधीयते ॥१४॥
तस्य रूपं प्रवक्ष्यामि यथाह भगवान्प्रभुः ।
त्रैलोक्ये सर्वभूतेषु यथास्य नियमः स्मृतः ॥१५॥

These are known by the names of Sāvadya, Nirvadya and Sūkṣma. The Sāvadya is the nature of five elements. The function of Sūkṣma (subtle) is in respect of the sense organs, mind and ego. Their function again is of the nature of five elements. The Ātman comes into contact with all these – the sense organs, the mind, will, intellect and ego. Their threefold contact functions only in the subtle things. Then the eight attributes are laid down in the subtle things. Again, the eight attributes are laid down only in the minute forms. I shall mention their nature as described by the lord and as they are known among all the living beings of the three worlds.

अणिमाद्यं तथाव्यरुं सर्वत्रैव प्रतिष्ठितम् ।
त्रैलोक्ये सर्वभूतानां दुष्प्राप्यं समुदाहृतम् ॥१६॥

The Aṇimā and other Siddhis are self evident and are well established everywhere. They are cited as difficult to access to all living beings of the three worlds.

तत्स्य भवति प्राप्यं प्रथमं योगिनां बलम् ।
लंघनं प्लवनं लोके रूपमस्य सदा भवेत् ॥१७॥
शीघ्रत्वं सर्वभूतेषु द्वितीयं तु पदं स्मृतम् ।
त्रैलोक्ये सर्वभूतानां महिमा चैव वंदितम् ॥१८॥
महित्वं चापि लोकेस्मिन्सृतीयो योग उच्यते ।
त्रैलोक्ये सर्वभूतेषु यथेष्टगमनं स्मृतम् ॥१९॥

On attaining the first fortune, the devotee achieves the power of becoming a yogī. This will make him assume such forms which will enable him to cross or float on water or in the air. The second one known as Laghimā bestows the power of moving with great force, among all the living beings. In all the three worlds, one is honoured because of his greatness. The third yoga is known as Mahimā in the world. Prāpti enables one to mix at one's will and pleasure with all living beings in the three worlds.

प्राकामान् विषयान् भुक्ते तथाप्रतिहतः क्वचित् ।
त्रैलोक्ये सर्वभूतानां सुखदुःखं प्रवर्तते ॥२०॥

By Prākāmya, the devotee enjoys all the desired objects. It is through obstructions somewhere that happiness and misery are brought about in all the living beings in the three worlds.

ईशो भवति सर्वत्र प्रविभागेन योगवित् ।
वश्यानि चास्य भूतानि त्रैलोक्ये सचराचरे ॥२१॥

A person well-versed in yoga known as Īśatva becomes the overlord everywhere at every stage. All the mobiles and immobile of the three worlds become subservient to him. This is known as Vasitva which is the seventh Aisvarya.

इच्छया तस्य रूपाणि भवन्ति न भवन्ति च ।
यत्र कामाक्षायित्वं त्रैलोक्ये सचराचरे ॥२२॥

Where there is Kāmāvasāyītya, the highest Aisvarya forms, occurs and ceases to be as the devotee desires among all the three worlds comprising of mobile and immobile beings.

शब्दः स्पर्शो रसो गंधो रूपं चैव मन स्तथा ।
प्रवर्तते तस्य चेच्छातो न भवन्ति यथेच्छया ॥२३॥

When all these siddhis are obtained, the sound, touch, taste, smell, colour and the mind, all function well or cease to as per the will of the devotee.

न जायते न म्रियते छिद्यते न च भिद्यते ।
 न दह्यते न मुह्येत् लीयते न च लिप्यते॥२४॥
 न क्षीयते न क्षरति खिद्यते न कदाचन ।
 क्रियते वा न सर्वत्र तथा विक्रीयते न च॥२५॥
 अगंधरसरूपस्तु अस्पर्शः शब्दवर्जितः ।
 अवर्णो ह्यस्वरश्चैव असर्वणस्तु कर्हिचित्॥२६॥
 स भुक्ते विषायां श्वैवविषयैर्न च युज्यते ।
 अणुत्वात् परः सूक्ष्मः सूक्ष्मत्वादपर्वर्गिकः॥२७॥

He is neither born, nor does he die. He is neither cut nor is he pierced. He is neither burned nor is he illusioned. He is neither attracted towards anything, nor is he afflicted by anything. He neither wastes away, nor does he perish. He is neither depressed nor does he undergo a change. He is devoid of smell, taste, colour, touch and sound. He is devoid of colour or caste. He has no tone and has no equal anywhere. He enjoys the objects of pleasure, but is not attached to anyone of them. He is extremely subtle and becomes worthy of salvation.

व्यापकस्तवपर्वर्गाश्च व्यापकात्पुरुषः स्मृतः ।
 पुरुषः सूक्ष्मभावात् ऐश्वर्ये परमे स्थितिः॥२८॥

He is all pervasive and as such he is called as Puruṣa. Because of his subtle nature, Puruṣa attains greatest glory.

गुणोत्तरमथैश्वर्ये सर्वतः सूक्ष्ममुच्यते ।
 ऐश्वर्यं चाप्रतीघातं प्राप्य योगमनुत्तमम्॥२९॥
 अपवर्गं ततो गच्छेत्सूक्ष्मं तत्परमं पदम् ।
 एवं पाशुपतं योगं ज्ञातव्यं मुनिपुञ्जवाः॥३०॥

The Aiśvaryas are stated to be subtler and greater in ascending order all round. After obtaining the excellent yoga and the enormous Aiśvarya, one attains salvation. That is the greatest subtle goal. O leading sages, the Pasupati yoga is known thus.

स्वर्गापवर्गफलदं शिवसायुज्यकारणम् ।
 अथवा गतविज्ञानो रागात्कर्म समाचरेत्॥३१॥
 राजसं तामसं वापि भुक्त्वा तत्रैव मुच्यते ।
 तथा सुकृतकर्मा तु फलं स्वर्गे समर्शनुते॥३२॥

It bestows the merits of the heaven as well as salvation, besides being the cause of closeness to lord Śiva. A person, who is devoid of knowledge, performs the auspicious deeds because of his attraction. Enjoying the rājas and tāmas situations, he gets freed from the world. Similarly, a person who performs the noble deeds, enjoys the pleasures of the heaven.

तस्मात्स्थानात्पुनः श्रेष्ठो मानुष्यमुपपद्यते ।
 तस्माद्ब्रह्म परं सौख्यं ब्रह्म शाश्वतमुत्तमम्॥३३॥
 ब्रह्म एव हि सेवेत ब्रह्मैव हि परं सुखम् ।
 परिश्रमो हि यज्ञानां महतार्थेन वर्तते॥३४॥
 भूयो मृत्युवंश याति तस्मान्मोक्षः परं सुखम् ।
 अथवा ध्यानसंयुक्तो ब्रह्मतत्त्वपरायणः॥३५॥
 न तु च्यावयितुं शक्यो मन्वंतरशतैरपि ।
 दृष्टा तु पुरुषं दिव्यं विश्वाख्यं विश्वतोमुखम्॥३६॥
 विश्वपादशिरोग्रीवं विश्वेशं विश्वरूपिणम् ।
 विश्वगंधं विश्वमाल्यं विश्वांबरधरं प्रभुम्॥३७॥

But soon after the end of the noble deeds, the person returns on earth. Therefore, Brahman is the supreme comfort and Brahman is the final goal. With the performing of the yajña, the energy is wasted and one does not gain from it, in anyway. Depending on the yajñas, a person has to face death. Therefore, mokṣa is the supreme comfort or happiness. After seeing the divine Puruṣa of the universal names with faces all around, the devotee, engaged in meditation and devoutly engrossed in the principle of Brahman, cannot be dislodged even in hundreds of Manvantaras. The divine Puruṣa has universal feet, heads and necks. He is the lord of the universe. He has universal forms and smell. The entire stands for his garland. He is the lord who is clad in the universal clothings.

गोभिर्महीं संपतते पतत्रिणो

The sun rays fall on earth and never revert to the sun and reproduce him. One can see the lord through the means of yoga and not with the human eye. The lord is the ancient sage, who is smaller than the smallest, greater than the greatest. He is the Puruṣa with golden colour, having no sense organs. He has no symbols and is devoid of attributes. He is perpetual, sentient and is always present everywhere. He is the essence of all. When the devotees are purified by him, they witness the lord shining with his lustre and possessing the massive splendour. He does not possess the hands or the feet. He has no belly, nor the sides or the tongue. He is beyond the reach of the sense organs. He is one and has the minutest form. Though he has no eyes, still he can understand everything. He knows everyone and everything, but no one knows him. He has no ears, still he can hear everything. Though he has no wisdom, still he can understand everything. He knows everything, but no one knows him. Therefore, he is known as the great and the foremost Puruṣa.

अचेतनां सर्वगतां सूक्ष्मां प्रसवधर्मिणीम्।
प्रकृतिं सर्वभूतानां युक्ताः पश्यन्ति योगिनः॥४२॥

The yogis, in union with him, visualise the Prakṛti of all the living beings as unconscious, subtle, all pervading, besides being the one, habitually giving birth to many effects.

सर्वतः पाणिपादं तत्सर्वतोक्षिशिरोमुखम्।
सर्वतः श्रुतिमँल्लोके सर्वमावृत्य तिष्ठति॥४३॥

She has hands and feet all round. She has eyes, heads and faces all round. She has ears all round. She envelops everything in the world, while standing.

युक्तो योगेन चेशानं सर्वतश्च सनातनम्।
पुरुषं सर्वभूतानां तं विद्वान् विमुह्यति॥४४॥

A person, well-versed in the yoga, is aware of the eternal Puruṣa – the lord of the living beings and he can never be disillusioned.

भूतात्मानं महात्मानं परमात्मानमव्ययम्।
सर्वात्मानं परं ब्रह्म तद्वै ध्याता न मुह्यति॥४५॥

A person who meditates upon Brahman, the supreme soul, the great soul, eternal, besides being the lord of all the living beings, he never gets confused.

पवनो हि यथा ग्राह्यो विचरन् सर्वमूर्तिषु।
पुरि शेते सुदुर्ग्राह्यस्तस्मात्पुरुष उच्यते॥४६॥

As the blowing wind is felt by everyone

inspite of its being invisible, similarly, Puruṣa is felt by everyone. Because of his dwelling in a pure form, he came to be known as Puruṣa. It is quite difficult to understand him.

अथ चेल्लुप्रधर्मा तु सावशेषैः स्वकर्मभिः ।
ततस्तु ब्रह्मगर्भे वै श्रुक्षोणितसंयुते ॥४७॥
स्त्रीपुंसोः संप्रयोगे हि जायते हि ततः प्रभुः ।
ततस्तु गर्भकालेन कललं नाम जायते ॥४८॥

By neglecting dharma, a person, because of his remaining deeds, takes his birth from a womb. When a man and a woman are engaged in the conjugal pleasures, then, with the combination of semen and blood, the sperm becomes the foetus in due course of time.

कालेन कललं चापि बुद्भुदं संप्रजायते ।
मृत्पिंडस्तु यथा चक्रे चक्रावर्तेन पीडितः ॥४९॥
हस्ताभ्यां क्रियमाणस्तु बिबत्वमनुगच्छति ।
एवमाध्यात्मिकैर्युक्तो वायुना संप्रपूरितः ॥५०॥
यदि योनिं विमुञ्चामि तत्रपद्ये महे श्वरम् ।
यावाञ्चि वैष्णवो वायुर्जातमात्रं न संस्पृशेत् ॥५१॥
तावत्कालं महादेवमर्चयामीति चितयेत् ।
जायते मानुषस्तत्र यथारूपं यथावयः ॥५२॥

In due course of time, the foetus becomes the bubble. As the lump of clay takes to the form of an image on being whirled in the wheel, and is shaped by the potter's hands, similarly, the physical body is evolved, endowed with organic matter and is filled with vital airs. As long as the external air does not touch the child in the womb, he thinks thus— “When I leave off the vaginal passage, I shall resort to Maheśvara and worship Mahādeva.” The foetus becomes a human being according to the pre-ordained form and age.

वायुः संभवते खात्तु वाताद्वाति वै जलम् ।
जलात्संभवति प्राणः प्राणाच्छुक्रं विवर्धते ॥५३॥

The wind originates from the sky from which the water is produced. From the water originates the vital air and the semen is generated. It flourishes through the vital airs.

रक्तभागास्त्रयस्त्रिशद्रेतोभागाश्तुर्दशा ।
भागतोर्धफलं कृत्वा ततो गर्भो निषिद्ध्यते ॥५४॥

Thirty three parts of blood are mixed with fourteen parts of semen. When halves of these parts mix together, the foetus is formed.

ततस्तु गर्भसंयुक्तः पञ्चभिर्वायुभिर्वृतः ।
पितुः शरीरात्रत्यङ्गं रूपमस्योपजायते ॥५५॥

Then the child in the womb is covered with the five vital airs. The form of the child develops limb by limb from the physical body of the father.

ततोस्य मातुराहारात्पीतलीढप्रवेशनात् ।
नाभिदेशेन वै प्राणस्ते ह्याधारा हि देहिनाम् ॥५६॥

Through the region of navel, the child grows with the food taken by the mother by liquid drinks or the food licked by her.

नवमासात्परिक्लिष्टः संवेष्टितशिरोधरः ।
वेष्टितः सर्वगात्रैश्च अपर्यासप्रवेशनः ॥५७॥

For nine months, the child has to bear the pains and the strain. His neck is encircled by the umbilical cord. His body is curled up as the space within the womb is not sufficient.

नवमासोषितश्चापि योनिच्छिद्रादवाढमुखः ।
ततः स्वकर्मभिः पापैर्निरयं संप्रपद्यते ॥५८॥

After spending nine months in the womb, the child falls down through the vaginal passage with his head downwards. Then, in the course of his life in the world, he commits sins and due to these sins, he falls into the hell after his death.

असिपत्रवनं चैव शाल्मलिच्छेदनं तथा ।
ताडनं भक्षणं चैव पूयशोणितभक्षणम्॥५९॥

As for example, he may fall in the Asipatravana or Śalmalichedana hells, where he is beaten and eaten even. He is forced to consume the impure blood.

यथा ह्वापस्तु संछिन्नाः संश्लेष्ममुपयांति वै ।
तथा छिन्नाश्च भिन्नाश्च यातनास्थानमागताः॥६०॥
एवं जीवास्तु तैः पापैस्तप्यमानाः स्वयंकृतैः ।
प्राप्नुयुः कर्मभिः शेषैर्दुःखं वा यदि वेतरत्॥६१॥

Like a thing when thrown in water becomes sticky, similarly, the jīva is cut and thrown into the chambers of torture. They are scorched with the means of sins which they had committed themselves earlier. They attain comforts or pain depending upon their earlier deeds.

एकेनैव तु गंतव्यं सर्वमुत्सृज्य वै जनम् ।
एकेनैव तु भोक्तव्यं तस्मात्सुकृतमाचरेत्॥६२॥

One has to move alone, leaving the company of all his associates and also has to face the pleasure or the pain alone. Therefore, one should perform meritorious deeds.

न ह्वेनं प्रस्थितं कश्चिद्दृच्छंतमनुगच्छति ।
यदनेन कृतं कर्म तदेनमनुगच्छति॥६३॥

When the journey after the death is started, none follows him and he has to travel alone. Only his good or bad deeds follow him.

ते नित्यं यमविषयेषु संप्रवृत्ताः
क्रोशंतः सततमनिष्टसंप्रयोगैः ।
शुष्प्रंते परिगतवेदनाशरीरा
बह्वीभिः सुभृशमनंतयातनाभिः॥६४॥

Because of the miseries that they have to face in the abode of Yama, the jīvas constantly cry. Their bodies have to face various types of torture. They are surrounded by pains and miseries on all the sides.

कर्मणा मनसा वाचा यदभीक्षणं निषेवते ।
तदभ्यासो हरत्येनं तस्मात्कल्याणमाचरेत्॥६५॥

The god in whom the jīva takes refuge again and again, he alone influences him. Therefore, a person should always perform the good deeds.

अनादिमान्प्रबंधः स्यात्पूर्वकर्मणि देहिनः ।
संसारं तामसं घोरं षड्विधं प्रतिपद्यते॥६६॥

There is no beginning of the chain of earlier deeds. The soul which is covered with the tamoguna, adopts six types of deeds that are performed by him.

मानुष्यात्पशुभावश्च पशुभावान्मृगो भवेत् ।
मृगत्वात्पक्षिभावश्च तस्माच्चैव सरीसृपः॥६७॥
सरीसृपत्वादृच्छैव स्थावरत्वं न संशयः ।
स्थावरत्वे पुनः प्राप्ते यावदुन्मिलते जनः॥६८॥
कुलालचक्रवद्धांतस्तत्रैव परिवर्तते ।
इत्येवं हि मनुष्यादिः संसारः स्थावरांतिकः॥६९॥
विज्ञेयस्तामसो नाम तत्रैव परिवर्तते ।
सात्त्विकश्चापि संसारे ब्रह्मादिः परिकीर्तिः॥७०॥
पिशाचांतः स विज्ञेयः स्वर्गस्थानेषु देहिनाम् ।
ब्राह्मो तु केवलं सत्त्वं स्थावरे केवलं तमः॥७१॥

From the human form, it adopts the form of a cow or a domestic animal. From a domestic animal, he becomes a wild animal. After a wild animal, he may get the form of a bird and from a bird, he might be a reptile. From that form, he might take to the form of an immobile being. After attaining the form of an immobile being, it moves like the potter's wheel till the soul is purified. Thus, the worldly existence starts from human being and ends in an immobile being and should be known as Tāmasa. The soul revolves there itself. The presence of Brahman is the Sāttvika worldly existence. The existence of embodied beings which starts from Brahmā and ends with Piśāca etc., is the Sāttvika worldly existence. The existence of embodied beings starting with Brahmā and ending with Piśāca should be known as existing in the heavenly abodes. The existence of Brahmā is completely Sāttvika and that of the immobile beings is of the nature of Tāmasa.

चतुर्दशानां स्थानानां मध्ये विष्ट्रभकं रजः ।
मर्मसु छिद्यमानेषु वेदनार्तस्य देहिनः ॥७२॥
ततस्तत्परमं ब्रह्म कथं विप्रः स्मरिष्यति ।
संसारः पूर्वधर्मस्य भावनाभिः प्रणोदितः ॥७३॥
मानुषं भजते नित्यं तस्माद्धयानं समाचरेत् ।
चतुर्दशविधं ह्येतद्बुद्ध्वा संसारमण्डलम् ॥७४॥
नित्यं समारभेद्धर्मं संसारभयपीडितः ।
ततस्तराति संसारं क्रमेण परिवर्तितः ॥७५॥

In the middle of the fourteen abodes, Rajas is firmly fixed even as the vital parts of the body of the embodied being, who is in agony, are cut and pierced. How can the Brahman then remember the greatest Brahman? The worldly existence is prompted by the impression and effects of the previous dharma as a result of which the human birth is achieved. Therefore, a person should always engage himself in meditation. The zone of the worlds is of fourteen types and getting frightened, he should practice dharma. Thereafter, he changes and gradually crosses the worldly existence.

तस्माच्च सततं युक्तो ध्यानतपरयुज्ञकः ।
तथा समारभेद्योगं यथात्मानं स पश्यति ॥७६॥

Therefore, he should always practice yoga and get interested even in meditation. He should meditate on greatest being. By beginning the practice of yoga, he is able to visualise the soul within himself.

एष आपः परं ज्योतिरेष सेतुरनुत्तमः ।
विवृत्या ह्येष संभेदादभूतानां चैव शाश्वतः ॥७७॥
तदेनं सेतुमात्मानमग्निं वै विश्वतोमुखम् ।
हृदिस्थं सर्वभूतानामुपासीत महेश्वरम् ॥७८॥

He is the water; he is the supreme flame; he is the supreme bridge, besides the fire, the flame of which spread on all the sides. Such a Maheśvara should always be worshipped.

तथांतः संस्थितः देवं स्वशक्त्या परिमण्डितम् ।
अष्टधा चाष्टधा चैव तथा चाष्टविधेन च ॥७९॥
सृष्ट्यर्थं संस्थितं वह्नि संक्षिप्य च हृदि स्थितम् ।
ध्यात्वा यतावदेवेशं रुद्रं भुवननायकम् ॥८०॥
हुत्वा पञ्चाहुतीः सम्प्यक् तर्च्चितागतमानसः ।
वैश्वानं हृदिस्थं तु यथावदनुपूर्वशः ॥८१॥
आपः पूता: सकृत्प्राश्य तूष्णीं हुत्वा हृपाविशन् ।
प्राणायेति ततस्तस्य प्रथमा ह्याहुतिः स्मृता ॥८२॥

उदानाय चतुर्थी स्यात्समानायेति पञ्चमी ॥८३॥
स्वाहाकारैः पृथग् हुत्वा शेषं भुजीत कामतः ।
अपः पुनः सकृत्प्राश्य आचम्य हृदयं स्पृशेत् ॥८४॥

A devotee should concentrate on Rudra within, who appears graceful with his own strength. He appears in his eight different forms. He is established squeezing the fire. By concentrating the mind over the fire within, the offerings should be poured five times. He shall drink pure water once silently in the squatting position. After each one of the offerings, the performer should utter Svāhā. Thereafter, one should sip water and then touch his heart with his hand.

प्राणानां ग्रंथिरस्यात्मा रुद्रो ह्यात्मा विशांतकः ।
रुद्रो वै ह्यात्मनः प्राण एवमाप्याययेत्स्वयम् ॥८५॥

The performer should perform the rite of satiation reciting the mantra—“You are the knot of the vital air. Rudra is the soul, the soul is the destroyer of the subjects. Rudra indeed is the vital air of the ātmā.

प्राणे निविष्टो वै रुद्रस्तस्मात्प्राणमयः स्वयम्।
प्राणाय चैव रुद्राय जुहोत्यमृतमुत्तमम्॥८६॥
शिवाविशेह मामीश स्वाहा ब्रह्मात्मने स्वयम्।
एवं पञ्चाहुतीश्वैव श्राद्धे कुर्वीत शासनात्॥८७॥

At the time of Srāddha, he should perform five offerings as already prescribed :— (i) Rudra is embedded in prāṇa, (ii) therefore, he himself is one with prāṇa, (iii) one performs the excellent nectar unto prāṇa and Rudra, (iv) O Śiva, O Iśa, enter me, (v) Svāhā unto Brahman himself.

पुरुषोसि पुरे शेषे त्वमङ्गुष्ठप्रमाणतः।
आश्रितश्चैव चाङ्गुष्ठमीशः परमकारणम्॥८८॥
सर्वस्य जगतश्चैव प्रभुः प्रीणातु शाश्वतः।

मृदुस्त्वमन्नमस्मभ्यमेतदस्तु हुतं तव।
इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं गुणप्राप्तिकिशेषतः॥९०॥

You are Iśvara yourself and are lodged in the body in the size of a thumb. Though, Iśa is lodged in the thumb, still, you happen to be the cause of the entire creation. O lord of the creation, be pleased with me. You are the foremost of all the gods. You are Rudra. You had been Indra earlier. You have a sweet temperament. Let the offering made to you serve us as our food. The sacrifice should be concluded by reciting these mantras. Thus, the entire process for the achieving of the merit has been explained.

योगाचारः स्वयं तेन ब्रह्मणा कथितः पुरा।
एवं पाशुपतं ज्ञानं ज्ञातव्यं च प्रयत्नतः॥९१॥
भस्मस्नायी भवेन्त्रित्यं भस्मलिसः सदा भवेत्।
यः पठेच्छृणुयाद्वापि श्रावयेद्वा द्विजोत्तमान्॥९२॥

The yogic process was initially created by Brahmā himself. The knowledge relating to Paśupati should be achieved by making special efforts. The ashes should be applied over the body daily. A person who reads or listens to it, or recites it before the excellent Brāhmaṇas, at the time of the adoration of the gods or the manes, he achieves the supreme goal.

Chapter 89

Definition of good conduct

सूत उवाच

अत ऊर्ध्वं प्रवक्ष्यामि शौचाचारस्य लक्षणम्।
यदनुष्ठाय शुद्धात्मा परेत्य गतिमाप्नुयात्॥१॥

Sūta said—

Now, I shall speak on the purity of good conduct, following which, the purified soul achieves the highest beatitude after death.

ब्रह्मणा कथितं पूर्वं सर्वभूतहिताय वै।
संक्षेपात्सर्ववेदार्थं सञ्चयं ब्रह्मवादिनाम्॥२॥

In earlier times, Brahmā, for the welfare of all the living beings, had brought out the definition of good conduct. This is the essence of all the Vedas and has been collected for the sake of the people, well-versed in Brahman.

उदयार्थं तु शौचानां मुनीनामुत्तमं पदम्।
यस्तत्राथाप्रमत्तः स्यात्स मुनि नावसीदति॥३॥

This conduct enhances purity and is beneficial for the purpose. This is the highest position for the Munis. One who follows it faultlessly, he does not have to face misfortune.

मानावमानौ द्वावेतौ तावेवाहुर्विषामृते ।
अवमानोऽमृतं तत्र सन्मानो विषमुच्यते ॥४॥

Honour and disgrace are considered like the poison and the nectar respectively. Disgrace has been termed as poison and the grace has been treated as the nectar.

गुरोरपि हिते युक्तः स तु संवत्सरं वसेत् ।
नियमेष्वप्रमत्तस्तु यमेषु च सदा भवेत् ॥५॥

A disciple should live with the preceptor for at least one year, devoting himself for the benefit of the preceptor. He should not be lazy in following all the yamas and niyamas.

प्राप्यानुज्ञां ततश्चैव ज्ञानयोगमनुत्तमम् ।
अविरोधेन धर्मस्य चरेत् पृथिवीमिमाम् ॥६॥

Achieving the best of knowledge and with the permission of the preceptor, he should enter the worldly life. He should conduct himself on earth following the dharma.

चक्षुःपूतं चरेन्मार्गं वस्त्रं पूतं जलंपिबेत् ।
सत्यपूतं वदेद्वाक्यं मनःपूतं समाचरेत् ॥७॥

He should move over the path which is purified with the vision. The water should be taken after purifying it with cloth. Only the auspicious and the truthful words should be spoken. One should behave with good conduct duly with the purified mind.

मत्स्यगृह्यस्य यत्पापं घण्मासाभ्यन्तरे भवेत् ।
एकाहं तत्समं ज्ञेयमपूतं यज्जलं भवेत् ॥८॥

In case, a person drinks impure water on a day, he will earn the sin which a fisherman would earn in a year.

अपूतोदकपाने तु जपेच्च शतपञ्चकम् ।
अघारेलक्षणं मंत्रं ततः शुद्धिमवान्युयात् ॥९॥

To free himself from the sin of drinking the impure water, one should recite the Aghora mantra five hundred times. Only then, he can be purified.

अथवा पूजयेच्छंभु घृतस्नानादिविस्तरैः ।
त्रिधा प्रदक्षिणीकृत्या शुद्ध्यते नात्र संशयः ॥१०॥

Or otherwise, Śiva will have to be adored properly, like bathing a Sivalinga with ghee. Thereafter, he should go round Śiva thrice.

आतिथ्यश्राद्धयज्ञेषु न गच्छेद्योगवित्क्वचित् ।
एरं ह्यहिंसको योगी भवेदिति विचारितम् ॥११॥

A person well-versed in Yoga should never be invited in a yajñā or śrāddha as a guest. By this way, a yogī can remain non-violent. This is a well considered view.

वह्नौ विधूमेऽत्यज्ञारे सर्वस्मिन्भुक्तवज्जने ।
चरेत्तु मतिमान् भैक्ष्यं न तु तेष्वेव नित्यशः ॥१२॥

An intelligent ascetic should visit such a house for getting alms where the fire is found burning generating smoke and after all the family members have taken their food. He should not visit that house daily.

अथैनमवमन्यंते परे परिभवन्ति च ।
यथा युक्तं चरेद्वैक्ष्यं सतां धर्ममदृष्यन् ॥१३॥

In case, he does so, the people are bound to insult him and the enemies shall disgrace him. Therefore, the begging should be done in a proper manner. No one's dharma should be insulted.

भैक्ष्यं चरेद्वनस्थेषु यायावरगृहेषु च ।
श्रेष्ठा तु प्रथमा हीयं वृत्तिरस्योपजायते ॥१४॥

अथ ऊर्ध्वं पुनश्चापि अदुष्टपतितेषु च।
भैक्ष्यचर्या हि बर्णेषु जघन्या वृत्तिरुच्यते॥१६॥

One should resort to begging from the people, who are not at all wicked or fallen. Begging from the people of other castes happens to be the meanest of all the modes.

भैक्ष्यं यवागूस्तक्रं वा पयो यावकमेव च।
फलमूलादि पक्वं वा कणिपिण्याकसक्तवः॥१७॥

Any of the items like gruel, butter-milk, milk, barley water, riped fruits and raw fruits, grain, oil cakes, besides powdered fried grains (should be begged).

इत्येव ते मया प्रोक्ता योगिनां सिद्धिवर्द्धनाः।

जरामरणगर्भेभ्यो भीतस्य नरकादिषु।
एवं दाययते तस्मात्द्वैक्ष्यमिति संस्मृतम्॥२०॥

भस्मशारी भवेत्रित्यं भिक्षाचारीजितोद्रियः।
य इच्छेत्परमं स्थानं ब्रतं पाशुपतं चरेत्॥२२॥

यथा द्विप इवारण्ये मनुष्याणां विधीयते॥२६॥

The virtues of the seed and the yoni are according to the bondage of the karmas. As the fate of an elephant is written in the forest, same is the case with the human being.

देवैस्तुल्याः सर्वयज्ञक्रियास्तु
यज्ञाज्जाप्यं ज्ञानमाहुश्च जाप्यात्।

ज्ञानाद्वयानं सङ्गरागादपेतं
तस्मिन्प्रापे शाश्वतस्योपलंभः॥२७॥

All the yajñas etc. are considered to be divine, but the recitation is better than the yajña. The knowledge is better than the yapam or recitation. The meditation, which is free from attraction, is better than the knowledge. By achieving the same, a person attains the eternal goal or the final beatitude.

दमः शमः सत्यमकल्पषत्वं

पितामहेनोपदिष्टो धर्मः साक्षात्सनातनः।
सर्वलोकोपकारार्थं शृणुध्वं प्रवदामि वः॥३२॥

The eternal dharma was originated by Brahmā for the use of the world. Kindly listen to me attentively. I am going to speak out the same to you.

अतिहासमवष्टभं लीलास्वेच्छाप्रवर्तनम्॥३७॥
वर्जयेत्सर्वयत्नेन गुरुणामपि सत्रिधौ।
तद्वाक्यप्रतिकूलं च अयुक्तं वै गुरोर्वचः॥३८॥

उपपातकिनः सर्वे तदर्थेनैव सुब्रताः॥४३॥

In case, he repeats the japam a crores of times, he is purified from the sin of treachery to the preceptor and the deities. For the repentance of the grave sins, one should repeat the mantra of Śiva in accordance with the provision of the scriptures. Leading sages, who are aware of the Brahman, have mentioned that the cleaning of the bark garments of all varieties, umbrellas and of the chowries is like that of the clothes.

ततस्त्वधीतशाखानां चतुर्भिः सर्वदेहिनाम्॥८०॥

And for those who have studied their respective branches of the Vedas, it is for four days.

आचार्यमरणे चैव त्रिरात्रं श्रोत्रिये मृते ॥८९॥

In case, one follows a dead body, he is purified by taking bath and consuming ghee. When the preceptor dies or a Vedic scholar passes away, one attracts pollution for three days.

पक्षिणी मातुलानां च सोदराणां च वा द्विजाः ।
भूपानां मण्डलीनां च सद्यो नीराष्ट्रवासिनाम् ॥९०॥
केवलं द्वादशाहेन क्षत्रियाणां द्विजोत्तमाः ।

वैश्यः पञ्चदशाहेन शूद्रो मासेन शुद्ध्यते ।
इति संक्षेपतः प्रोक्ता द्रव्यशुद्धिरनुत्तमा ॥९२॥

O Brāhmaṇa, in case, the maternal uncles and their wives or brothers die, or in case, the kings and the rulers die, the people get purified immediately. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the pollution of a kṣatriya is for twelve days. A crowned king need not observe pollution for his kinsmen who die in the battle. A Vaiśya is purified in fifteen days, while a Śūdra is purified in a month. Thus, the excellent mode of purification has been spoken in brief.

अशौचं चानुपूर्व्येण यतीनां नैव विद्यते ।
त्रेताप्रभृति नारीणां मासि मास्यार्तवे द्विजाः ॥९३॥

The ascetics do not have to observe pollution caused due to the birth and death. O Brāhmaṇas, I shall now mention about an other purity relating to the monthly menstrual discharge of a woman.

प्रयांति च महाभागा भायोभिः कुरुवो यथा॥१४॥

ओषध्यश्च रजोदोषाः स्त्रीणां रागादिभिर्नृणाम्।
अकालकृष्णा विध्वस्तः पुनरुत्पादितास्तथा॥१९॥

In Kṛtayuga, the sustenance of people was from taking liquids. In Tretāyuga from domestic trees. But it was discontinued during the subsequent ages. The same occurred in regard to the untimely intercourse, during the menstrual discharge due to the lust of men. O Brāhmaṇas, so, barley and other plants of the village and forest as well the fourteen types of medicinal herbs, were cultivated untimely and destroyed, as in the case of sexual intercourse during the menstrual period due to the passion of man.

तस्मात्सर्वप्रयत्नेन न संभाष्या रजस्वला।
प्रथमेऽहनि चाण्डाली तथा वज्या तथाङ्गना॥१००॥

Therefore, one should avoid conversing with a woman in her monthly course. From the first day itself, she has to be avoided like a Cāṇḍāla woman.

द्वितीयेऽहनि विप्रा हि यथा वै ब्रह्मघातिनी।
तृतीयेऽहि तदर्थेन चतुर्थेऽहनि सुव्रता॥१०१॥
स्नात्वार्धमासात्संशुद्धा ततः शुद्धिर्भविष्यति।
आषोडशात्ततः स्त्रीणां मूत्रवच्छौचमिष्यते॥१०२॥

O Brāhmaṇas, on the second day, she is to be treated like a woman who has slain a Brāhmaṇa. On the third day, she has half of the sinful nature. O excellent sages, she shall take bath on the fourth day. She shall then be pure in half a month. From the sixteenth day onwards, the woman shall observe cleanliness in regard to the passing of the urine.

पञ्चरात्रं तथास्पृश्या रजसा वर्तते यदि।
सा विशद्विवसादूर्ध्वं रजसा पूर्ववत्तथा॥१०३॥

If the menstrual discharge continues, she cannot be touched for five days. For twenty days, she is defiled by the menstrual discharge and remains untouchable.

स्नाने शौचं तथा गानं रोदनं हसनं तथा।
यानमध्यञ्जनं नारी घूतं चैवानुलेपनम्॥१०४॥

संत्यां चैव वस्त्राणां वर्जयेत्सर्वयत्नतः।
स्नात्वान्यपुरुषं नारी न स्पृशेत्तु रजस्वला॥१०७॥

A woman in her monthly course, should avoid bath, toilet, singing, crying, laughing, moving in vehicles, applying collyrium, playing dice, applying unguents, sleeping during the day time, washing the teeth, sexual intercourse, worship of deities – even mental or physical or even bowing down. A woman in her monthly period should avoid talking to another woman who is in her monthly course and even talking to her as well. She should avoid changing her garments. A woman in her monthly course should not touch another man after her bath.

ईक्षयेद्वास्करं देवं ब्रह्मकूर्चं ततः पिबेत्।
केवलं पञ्चगव्यं वा क्षीरं वा चात्मशुद्धये॥१०८॥

For purification, the woman in period, should look towards the sun for purification. She should also consume Brahmakūrca, Pāñcagavya as well as the milk.

चतुर्थ्यां स्त्री न गम्या तु गतोल्पायुः प्रसूयते॥।
विद्याहीनं ब्रतभ्रष्टं पतितं पारदारिकम्॥१०९॥
दारिद्र्यार्णविमग्नं च तनयं सा प्रसूयते।
कन्यार्थिनैव गंतव्यां पञ्चम्यां विधिवत्पुनः॥११०॥

On the fourth day of the end of the menstrual flow, one should not resort to the intercourse. In case, it is so done, the progeny shall be short lived. In case, a son is born by such an intercourse, he would be devoid of learnings, defiler of the vratas, would make the other women to fall and shall always be drowned in the ocean of poverty. Therefore, one should have intercourse with his wife on the fifth night only in case a daughter is desired.

रक्ताधिक्याद्वेत्रारी शुक्राधिक्ये भवेत्पुमान्।
समे नपुंसकं चैव पञ्चम्यां कन्यका भवेत्॥१११॥

In case, there is an excess flow of the blood, then a daughter would be born. In case, the semen is in excess, then the son would be born. In the case, both are of the same quantity, an eunuch would be born. In case, one enjoys intercourse on the fifth night, a daughter would be born as a result thereof.

षष्ठ्यां गम्या महाभागा सत्पुत्रजननी भवेत्।
पुत्रत्वं व्यञ्जयेत्स्य जातपुत्रो महाद्युतिः॥११२॥

In case, a person has an intercourse with a virtuous lady on the sixth night, she would give birth to a virtuous son. Such a son would be extremely intelligent and obedient.

पुमिति नरकस्याख्या दुःखं च नरकं विदुः।
पुंसस्त्राणान्वितं पुत्रं तथाभूतं प्रसूयते॥११३॥

The word Pumī means the hell which is conceived to be quite a painful one. She would give birth to such a person, who would save his parents from falling in that hell.

सप्तम्यां चैव कन्यार्थी गच्छेत्सैव प्रसूयते।
अष्टम्यां सर्वसंपत्तं तनयं संप्रसूयते॥११४॥

A person, who is desirous of a daughter, should unite with his wife on the seventh night. His wife shall give birth to a daughter who be devoted to dharma and would perform according to the Śrutis and Smṛtis. In case, a person unites with his wife on the eighth night, he shall achieve a highly virtuous son.

नवम्यां दारिकायार्थी दशम्यां पण्डितो भवेत्।
एकादश्यां तथा नारीं जनयेत्सैव पूर्ववत्॥११५॥

A person, desirous of a son, should unite on the ninth night with his wife. In case, he unites on the tenth night, he would achieve a learned son. In case, a person unites with his wife on the eleventh night, he, as in earlier case, would get a girl.

द्वादश्यां धर्मतत्त्वज्ञं श्रौतस्मार्तप्रवर्तकम्।
त्रयोदस्यां जडां नारीं सर्वसङ्करकारिणीम्॥११६॥
जनयत्पञ्जना यस्मान् गच्छेत्सर्वथलतः।
चतुर्दश्यां यदा गच्छेत्सा पुत्रजननी भवेत्॥११७॥

In case, a man unites with his wife on the twelfth night, he will get a religious-minded son and shall perform according to the Srutis and Smṛtis. In case, the union happens on the thirteenth night, the girl so born, would spread evil on earth. Therefore, the union on the thirteenth night, should be avoided making all the efforts. In case, the union between the husband and wife takes place on the fourteenth night, then the wife would be the mother of a son.

पञ्चदश्यां च धर्मिष्ठां षोडश्यां ज्ञानपारगम्।
 स्त्रीणां वै मैथुने काले वामपाश्चे प्रभञ्जनः॥११८॥
 चरेद्यदि भवेनारी पुमांसं दक्षिणे लभेत्।

 उक्काले शुचिर्भूत्वा शुद्धां गच्छेच्छुचिस्मिताम्।

 श्रावयेद्वा यथान्यायं ब्राह्मणान् दग्धकिल्बिषान्।
 ब्रह्मलोकमनुप्राप्य ब्रह्मणा सह मोदते॥१२२॥

In case, the union takes place on the fifteenth night, she would give birth to a learned son. In case, during the intercourse, the wind blows to the left of the woman, then she would produce a girl. In case, the wind blows to the right, then the wife would produce a son. At the time of intercourse, one should be free from the evil planets. During the appropriate time, both husband and wife should unite with spotless cleanliness, auspicious smiles and with delight. Thus, in the context of the good conduct for yatis, the performance about all the living beings has been highlighted. A person who reads it with devotion or listens to it or reads it out to the auspicious Brāhmaṇas, he dwells in Brahmaloka in comfort.

Chapter 90

Repentance of Yatis

सूत उवाच

अत ऊर्ध्वं प्रवक्ष्यामि यतीनामिह निश्चितम्।
प्रायश्चित्तं शिवप्रोक्तं यतीनां पापशोधनम्॥१॥

Sūta said—

After this, I shall especially speak on the repentance for the purification of the sins of the yatis.

पापं हि त्रिविधं ज्ञेयं वाङ्ग्नःकायसंभवम्।
सततं हि दिवा रात्रौ येनेदं वेष्टयते जगत्॥२॥

The sins are of three types, viz. by speech, by mind and by body. The sins overpower the world throughout the day and night.

तत्कर्मणा विनाप्येष तिष्ठतीति परा श्रुतिः।
क्षणमेवहं प्रयोज्यं तु आयुष्यं तु विधारणम्॥३॥

The activities of the world cannot be stopped even for a moment. “The world cannot remain without karmas, even for a moment.” This has been ordained by the auspicious *Śruti*s or Vedas. There is no other auspicious work for a human being except performing of the yogic practices.

भवेद्योगोऽप्रमत्तस्य योगो हि परमं बलम्।
न हि योगात्परं किञ्चिन्नराणां दृश्यते शुभम्॥४॥
तस्माद्योगं प्रशंसन्ति धर्मयुक्ता मनीषिणः।
अविद्यां विद्यया जित्वा प्राप्यैश्वर्यमनुत्सम्॥५॥
दृष्ट्वा परावरं धीराः परं गच्छन्ति तत्पदम्।
ब्रतानि यानि भिक्षुणां तथैवोपब्रतानि च॥६॥
एकैकातिक्रमे तेषां प्रायश्चित्तं विधीयते।
उपेत्य तु स्त्रियं कामात्प्रायश्चित्तं विनिर्दिशेत्॥७॥

Because of this, the people with wisdom praise yoga immensely. Overpowering ignorance with knowledge or wisdom, achieving the beautiful fortunes, the people with patience, can gain excessive fortunes. Two types of vratas and upavratas are prescribed for the yatis (ascetics). For either of the two, there is a provision for repentance. In case, he has an intercourse with a woman willingly, he should seriously think of the repentance.

प्राणायामसमायुक्तं चरेत्सांतपनं व्रतम्।
ततश्चरति निर्देशात्कृच्छ्रं चांते समाहितः॥८॥

A yati, after performing prāṇāyāma, should then perform the sāntapana vrata. Thereafter, carefully concentrating his mind in meditation, kṛcchra-vrata should be performed as per the directions of the scriptures.

पुनराश्रममागत्य चरेद्विक्षुरतंद्रितः।
न धर्मयुक्तमनृतं हिनस्तीति मनीषिणः॥९॥
तथापि न च कर्तव्यं प्रसङ्गो ह्वेष दारुणः।
अहोरात्रोपवासश्च प्राणायामशतं तथा॥१०॥

Then, he should return to his cottage and should perform his religious duties carefully. The people with wisdom say that the falsehood, which is for the sake of dharma, does not hurt anyone, still no one should follow the same. By fasting for a day and a night and performing of prāṇāyāma for a hundred times, is the repentance prescribed for this.

असद्वादो न कर्तव्यो यतिना धर्मलिप्सुना।
परमापद्वतेनापि न कार्यं स्तेयमप्युत॥११॥

A yati, desirous of achieving the dharma, should not speak the harsh words and should avoid entering into controversies. Even while facing terrific miseries, one should not resort to stealing.

स्तेयादभ्यधिकः कश्चिन्नास्त्यधर्म इति श्रुतिः।
हिंसा ह्वेषा परा सृष्टा स्तैर्यं वै कथितं तथा॥१२॥
यदेतद्विविणं नाम प्राणा ह्वेते बहिश्चराः।

स तस्य हरते प्राणान्यो यस्य हरते धनम्॥१३॥

There is no other sin more deplorable than stealing. This is the opinion of the Vedas. A grave hīmśā is enshrined in a theft. Its outward name is fortune. One who usurps the riches of others, he actually takes the lives out of them.

एवं कृत्वा सुदुष्टात्मा भिन्नवृत्तो व्रताच्युतः।
भूयो निर्वेदमापनश्चरेच्चांद्रायणं व्रतम्॥१४॥
विधिना शास्त्रदृष्टेन संवत्सरमिति श्रुतिः।
ततः संवत्सरस्यांते भूयः प्रक्षीणकल्पमः।
पुनर्निर्वेदमापनश्चरेद्विक्षुरतंद्रितः॥१५॥

By committing theft, the evil soul, transgresses the bondage of the good conduct and by so doing, he is fallen from his own vrata. He should, therefore, repent for the same again and again. He should perform Cāndrāyana vrata for a year, as has been prescribed in the Śāstras. At the end of the year, he would be free from all his sins. Therefore, a yati should perform repents as well as anuṣṭhānas quite carefully.

अहिंसा सर्वभूतानां कर्मणा मनसा गिरा।
अकामादपि हिंसेत यदि भिक्षुः पश्नून् कृमीन्॥१६॥
कृच्छ्रातिकृच्छ्रं कुर्वात चांद्रायणमथापि वा।

A yati should escape from hurting anyone mentally, by speech or with the body. In case, he hurts a person or even a worm, then he should perform the Kṛcchātikṛcchra and Cāndrāyana vratas.

स्कंदेदिद्रियदौर्बल्यात् स्त्रियं दृष्ट्वा यति र्यदि॥१७॥
तेन धारयितव्या वै प्राणायामास्तु षोडश।

In case, because of some weakness, his semen falls at the sight of a lady, then he should perform prāṇāyāma sixteen times.

दिवा स्कन्नस्य विप्रस्य प्रायश्चित्तं विधीयते॥१८॥
त्रिरात्रमुपवासाश्च प्राणायामशतं तथा।

रात्रो स्कन्दः शुचिः स्नात्वा द्वादशैव तु धारणाः ॥ १९
प्राणायामेन शुद्धात्मा विरजा जायते द्विजाः ।

In case, there is the fall of semen at night, then the concerned person should have a clean bath and have twelve Dhāraṇas. O Brāhmaṇas, the prāṇāyāma purifies the soul and also frees a person from the sins.

एकान्नं मधु मांसं वा अशृतान्नं तथैव च ॥ २० ॥
अभोज्यानि यतीनां तु प्रत्यक्षलवणानि च ।
एकैकातिक्रमात्तेषां प्रायश्चित्तं विधीयते ॥ २१ ॥

The alms from a single house every day such as honey, wine, flesh (meat), uncooked food as well as the salt are forbidden for the ascetics. Expiatory rites are laid down for those violating anyone of these.

प्राजापत्येन कृच्छ्रेण ततः पापात्प्रमुच्यते ।
व्यतिक्रमाश्च ये केचिद्वाङ्मनः कायसंभवा ॥ २२ ॥
सद्ग्निः सह विनिश्चित्य तद्ब्रूयुस्तत्समाचरेत् ॥ २३ ॥

One is freed from that sin by observing the Prājāpatya and Kṛcchra rites. In regard to other sins, whether verbal, mental or physical, one should consult noble men and perform repentance as laid down by them.

चरेद्ग्नि शुद्धः समलोष्टकाश्चनः
समस्तभूतेषु च सत्समाहितः ।
स्थानं धूकं शाश्वतमव्ययं तु
परं हि गत्वा न पुनर्हि जायते ॥ २४ ॥

One should view the lump of clay and the gold alike and perform the rites. He shall be pure and clean. He shall have great concentration and attention in regard to all the living beings. By living thus, he attains that stable, unchanging and great abode, from where he is not born on earth again.

श्रोत्रे मनसि बुद्धौ च तत्र वक्षसि धारयेत्।
कालकर्माणि विज्ञाय समूहेष्वेव नित्यशः॥४२॥
द्वादशाध्यात्ममित्येवं योगधारणमुच्यते।
शतमर्थशतं चापि धारणं मूर्ध्नि धारयेत्॥४३॥

The knower of the scriptures shall practices yoga in the spot, facing the north-east. He shall restrain lust, doubt, pleasure, happiness, misery and mentally concentrate on clean meditation. He shall meditate on the nose, tongue, eyes, skin, ears and the mind. He shall retain them in the intellect and the chest. After releasing the time and actions, he shall retain these parts of the body in groups perpetually. The retention of the twelve parts of the body is known as yogadhāraṇā. A person should perform a hundred or fifty such dhāraṇās on the head.

खिन्नस्य धारणायोगाद्वायुरुर्ध्वं प्रवर्तते ।
ततश्चापूरयेद्देहमोकारेण समन्वितः ॥४४॥
तथोऽकारमयो योगी अक्षरे त्वक्षरी भवेत् ।
अत ऊर्ध्वं प्रवक्ष्यामि ओंकारप्रासिलक्षणम् ॥४५॥

In case, the practice of dhāraṇā makes him fatigue, the wind starts to function upwards. He should fill the body with the wind along with Omkāra. The yogi identifying himself with Omkāra, shall merge himself in the imperishable being. Then, he shall himself becomes imperishable. Hereafter, I shall mention the features for the attainment of Omkāra.

एष त्रिमात्रो विज्ञेयो व्यञ्जनं चात्र चेश्वरः ।
प्रथमा विद्युती मात्रा द्वितीया तामसी स्मृता ॥४६॥

This should be known as having three mātrās or units, the constant in which is the deity. The first mātrā is Vidyuti which pertains to lightning. The second is Tāmasī which possesses the Tamoguṇa.

तृतीया निर्गुणं चैव मात्रामक्षरगामिनीम् ।
गांधारी चैव विज्ञेया गांधारस्वरसंभवा ॥४७॥

The third is Nirguṇā (without attributes). It covers up the imperishable beings and is known as Gāndharī too because it origination from Gandharva note. This is third of the seven primary notes of the Indian Gamut.

पिपीलिकागतिस्पर्शा प्रयुक्ता मूर्धिं लक्ष्यते ।
यथा प्रयुक्त ओंकारः प्रतिनिर्याति मूर्धनि ॥४८॥

When the Omkāra which is uttered, recedes to the head, the devotee feels the touch of moving ant.

तथौकारमयो योगी त्वक्षरी भवेत् ।

प्रणवो धनुः शरो ह्यात्मा ब्रह्मलक्षणमुच्यते ॥४९॥
अप्रमत्तेन वेद्धव्यं शरवत्तन्मयो भवेत् ।
ओमित्येकाक्षरं ह्येतद्गुहायां निहितं पदम् ॥५०॥
ओमित्येतत्रयो लोकास्त्रयो वेदास्त्रयोऽग्नयः ।
विष्णुक्रमास्त्रयस्त्वेते ऋक्सामानि यजूषि च ॥५१॥
मात्रा चार्धं च तिस्रस्तु विज्ञेयः परमार्थतः ।
तत्प्रयुक्तस्तु यो योगी तस्य सालोक्यमाप्नुयात् ॥५२॥

The yogin who is identical with Omkāra, becomes identical with the imperishable being. Pranava is the bow, the soul is the arrow and Brahman is the target. It should be perceived by one who does not err. He should be concentrated therein as in regard to the arrow. The single-syllabled word Om is hidden in the cavity. The Omkāra is identical with three worlds, the three Vedas, the three yajñā fires, the three steps of Viṣṇu. It should be known that they are really the three and a half mātrās. The yogi who utters it, attains identity with the deity.

अकारो ह्यक्षरे ज्ञेय उकारः सहितः स्मृतः ।
मकारसहितोकारस्त्रिमात्र इति संज्ञितः ॥५३॥

The letter ‘a’ should be known as Akṣara, (imperishable), the letter ‘u’ is there along with it, including the letter ‘m’ . Thus, Omkāra is formed with three mātrās.

अकारस्त्वेष भूर्लोक उकारो भुव उच्यते ।
सव्यञ्जनो मकारस्तु स्वर्लोक इति गीयते ॥५४॥

The letter ‘a’ is Bhūrloka, the letter ‘u’ is Bhuvarloka and the letter ‘m’ is Svaraloka.

ओंकारस्तु त्रयो लोकाः शिरस्तस्य त्रिविष्टपम् ।
भुवनाङ्गं च तत्सर्वं ब्राह्मं तत्पदमुच्यते ॥५५॥

Om represents three worlds. Its head is the heaven. All worlds constitute its limbs of the body. Its feet are constituted by Brahmaloka.

मात्रापादो रुद्गलोको ह्यमात्रं तु शिवं पदम्।
एवं ज्ञानविशेषेण तत्पदं समुपास्यते॥५६॥

Rudra's world is the foot of the mātrā, but Siva region is devoid of the mātrā. It is with special knowledge that the region is worshipped.

तस्माद्व्यानरतिर्नित्यममात्रं हि तदक्षरम्।
उपास्यं हि प्रयत्नेन शाश्वतं सुखमिच्छता॥५७॥

Therefore, a devotee should get himself absorbed in meditation. As a matter of fact, he is Akṣara and always without a mātrā. In order to achieve the everlasting comfort, he is worthy of worship making all the efforts.

हस्ता तु प्रथमा मात्रा ततो दीर्घा त्वनंतरम्।
ततः प्लुतवती चैव तृतीया चोपदिश्यते॥५८॥
एतास्तु मात्रा विज्ञेया यथावदनुपूर्वशः।
यावदेव तु शक्यंते धार्यते तावदेव हि॥५९॥

The first mātrā is short, the next one is long and the third mātrā is prolated. These mātrās should be known in their own proper order. They are to be retained only as long as it is possible to do so.

इंद्रियाणि मनो बुद्धिं ध्यायन्नात्मनि यः सदा।
अर्थं तन्मात्रमपि चेच्छृणु यत्कलमानुयात्॥६०॥

A person who always meditates on the sense organs, mind and intellect in the soul and listens to even half a mātrā, shall attain its benefit.

मासेमासेऽश्वमेधेन यो यजेत शतं समाः।
तेन यत्प्राप्यते पुण्यं मात्रया तदवाप्नुयात्॥६१॥

Thanks to that mātrā, one attains the merit which a person attains by performing a horse sacrifice every month for a hundred years.

न तथा तपसोग्रेण न यज्ञेर्भूरिदक्षिणैः।
यत्कलं प्राप्यते सम्यद्वात्रया तदवाप्नुयात्॥६२॥

Neither by performing of severe tapas, nor by performing the sacrifices with plenty of gifts, can that merit be obtained which is perfectly obtained by means of a mātrā.

तत्र चैषा तु या मात्रा प्लुता नामोपदिश्यते।
एषा एव भवेत्कार्या गृहस्थानां तु योगिनाम्॥६३॥

The householder yogī should practice only that mātrā which is taught as the prolated vowel.

एष चैव विशेषेण ऐश्वर्ये ह्यष्टलक्षणे।
अणिमाद्ये तु विज्ञेया तस्माद्युज्जीत तां द्विजाः॥६४॥

The mātrā alone comprises the eight-fold Aisvarya starting from Animā. Therefore, O Brāhmaṇas, you should be in communion with it.

एवं हि योगसंयुक्तः शुचिर्दीर्तो जितेन्द्रियः।
आत्मानं विद्यते यस्तु स सर्वं विदते द्विजाः॥६५॥

Therefore, a learned person, when becomes conversant with the soul, he can achieve everything. He should be linked with yoga. He should be purified. He would be able to control all his sense organs, suppressing them.

तस्मात्पाशुपतैर्योगैरात्मानं चित्तयेद्बुधः।
आत्मानं जानते ये तु शुचयस्ते न संशयः॥६६॥

Therefore, a learned person should concentrate his mind with the Pāśupta yoga over the soul. Those who are well aware of the soul, are surely purified.

ऋचो यजूषि सामानि वेदोपनिषदस्तथा।
योगज्ञानादवाप्नोति ब्राह्मणोऽध्यात्मचित्कः॥६७॥

With the knowledge of yoga, a Brāhmaṇa, well-versed in spiritualism, attains the knowledge of Rk, Yajuh and Sāma hymns, besides all the Upaniṣads.

सर्वदेवमयो भूत्वा अभूतः स तु जायते।
योनिसंक्रमणं त्यक्त्वा याति वै शाश्वतं पदम्॥६८॥

Such a yogī achieves the position of all the gods, besides getting free from all the tattvas. He is freed from the rebirth and achieves the final beatitude.

यथा वृक्षात् फलं पक्वं पवनेन समीरितम्।
नमस्करेण रुद्रस्य तथा पापं प्रणश्यति॥६९॥

As the ripened fruit falls from the tree when it is shaken due to the wind, similarly, all the sins vanish by the grace of lord Śiva.

यत्र रुद्रनमस्कारः सर्वकर्मफलो धूवः।
अन्यदेवनमस्कारात् तत्फलमवाप्नुयात्॥७०॥

The salutation offered to the grace of lord Śiva, bestows rewards of all the karmas, though the salutations offered to other gods do not yield as much result.

तस्मात्रिः प्रवणं योगी उपासीत महेश्वरम्।
दशविस्तारकं ब्रह्म च ब्रह्मविस्तरैः॥७१॥
एवं ध्यानसमायुक्तः स्वदेहं यः परित्यजेत्।
स याति शिवसायुज्यं समुद्धृत्य कुलत्रयम्॥७२॥

Therefore, the yogī should worship Śiva by reciting Prapava hymn twice. He, who, enlarges the scope of the Vedas ten times by elaborating the Vedic texts, shall meditate and then forsake the body and by so doing, he uplifts three generations and achieves salvation besides closeness to Śiva.

अथवारिष्टमालोक्य मरणे समुपस्थिते।
अविमुक्तेश्वरं गत्वा बाराणस्यां तु शोधनम्॥७३॥
येन केनापि वा देहं संत्यजेन्मुच्यते नरः।
श्रीपर्वते वा विप्रेंद्राः संत्यजेत्स्वतनुं नरः॥७४॥
स याति शिवसायुज्यं नात्र कार्या विचारणा।
अविमुक्तं परं क्षेत्रं जंतूनां मुक्तिदं सदा॥७५॥
सेवेत सततं धीमान् विशेषान्मरणांतिके॥७६॥

Or after witnessing any evil portent and at the arrival of the time of death, a person should go to Avimuktesvara in Vārāṇasī and perform the expiatory rites. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, somehow, the person concerned, should discard his body there, where he will be liberated. The person may discard his body on the mountain Śriparvata etc. Then, he attains identity with Śiva. There is no doubt about it. Avimukta is the greatest shrine always bestowing salvation on the creatures. The intelligent person should always follow it, particularly, when the death is certain.

Chapter 92 Glory of Śrī Śaila at Vārāṇasī

ऋषय ऊचुः

एवं वाराणसी पुण्या यदि सूत महामते ।

क्षेत्रस्यास्य च माहात्म्यमविमुक्तस्य शोभनम् ।
विस्तरेण यथान्यायं श्रोतुं कौतूहलं हि नः॥२॥

The sages said—

O Sūta of great wisdom, in case, Vārāṇasī is so meritorious, then it would be proper for you to speak out to us presently the cause of its greatness. We are quite anxious to listen to the greatness of the holy place of Avimukta.

सूत उवाच

वक्ष्ये संक्षेपतः सम्यक् वाराणस्याः सुशोभनम् ।
अविमुक्तस्य माहात्म्यं यथाह भगवान् भवः॥३॥

I shall briefly speak out to you about the Avimuktakṣetra of Vārāṇasī, which I had heard from lord Bhava in earlier times.

विस्तरेण मया वर्तुं ब्रह्मणा च महात्मा।
शक्यते नैव विप्रेद्वा वर्षकोटिशतैरपि॥४॥

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the vastness of the glory of that place cannot be narrated by me or even by Brahmā, in crores of years.

वाराणसीमनुप्राप्य दर्शयामास शङ्करः।
अविमुक्तेश्वरं लिङ्गं वासं तत्र चकार सः॥६॥

In ancient times, lord Nīlalohita – Śiva, after his marriage, accompanied with Umā and other prominent gaṇas, departed from the peak of the Himālaya. Reaching Vārāṇasī, lord Śiva displayed Avimukteśvara Sivalinga and he started living there.

योगे पाशुपते सम्यक् दिनमेकं यतिर्भवेत्।
तस्मात्सर्वं परित्यज्य चरेत्पाशुपतं ब्रतम्॥८॥

One can become an ascetic in Vārāṇasī, Kurukṣetra, Śrīparvata, Mahālaya, Tuṅgeśvara and Kedāra. But, in case, a person performs the yoga of Paśupati perfectly for a day, he becomes an ascetic. Therefore, one should perform the Pāśupata yoga leaving everything.

देवोद्याने वसेत्तत्र शर्वोद्यानमनुत्तमम्।
मनसा निर्ममे रुद्रो विमानं च सुशोभनम्॥९॥

One should stay here in the garden of the lord. There is an excellent garden of Śarva. Rudra also created mentally, a lofty mansion there.

दर्शयामास च तदा देवोद्यानमनुत्तमम्।
हैमवत्या: स्वयं देवः सनंदी परमेश्वरः॥१०॥

The lord, accompanied by Nandī, pointed out that the divine excellent garden was given to the daughter of Himavān.

क्षेत्रस्यास्य च माहात्म्यमविमुक्तस्य शङ्करः।
उक्तवान्परमेशानः पार्वत्या: प्रीतये भवः॥११॥

Lord Śiva – Parameśvara Bhava, mentioned to her, the greatness of the holy place of Avimukta, for the sake of her pleasure.

The garden was beautified with a variety of trees which were in full bloom. The spreading creepers made it quite pleasant and charming. The Priyangu plants with blossoming flowers and the Ketaka plants which were in full bloom, were full of thorns.

There was a cluster of Tamāla trees which spread here and there. The Bakula flowers were spreading fragrance. It had hundreds of Asoka and Punnāga trees. The honey bees were hovering over the flowers, creating the hissing sound.

At certain spots, the garden was filled with the birds like cranes, Ruddy-geese and intoxicated excellent water crows, which moved all round. The birds were embellished by means of the pollen dust of the full-blown lotuses. The birds were issuing chirping notes every moment.

The peacocks issued crowing sound at some places of the garden, while the ducks issued cracking sound at some places. At some places, the swarming bees issued noisy hissing sounds. They were accompanied with their bee-mates who were more agitated and issued more hissing sound, getting intoxicated.

It had enough of beautiful and fragrant flowers. In some pockets, there were the clusters of mango trees with fresh shoots issuing from them. At certain places, there were Tilaka trees which were entwined with the creepers. The Vidyādharaś, Siddhaś and Cāraṇaś were singing at some places in the garden.

At some sites, the apsarāś were engaged in performing the dances. Several species of birds took their refuge in this place. The sound of the Harita pigeons could be heard at some places. The birds got frightened with roaring of the lion there.

At places, the bunches of flowers and the grass left by the deer while gazing, could be found. At places, the beautiful lakes appeared charming with the blossomed lotus flowers.

With the blue-throated peacocks hiding in the roots of the trees, the beauty of the place was enhanced. Sweet and astonishing sound of the various types of birds always echoed in the garden. At places, the black wasps, getting intoxicated, hid in the branches of the trees. The high branches of the trees looked graceful with the sprouting of the fresh buds.

The topmost branches of the trees touched the sky. The pigeons and doves, getting perched in the trees, issued sweet notes. The tree tops had beautiful white forms which attracted the minds. The flowers scattered by the pigeons from the tree tops disturbed the swans in the lakes below. The garden looked beautiful by many groups of the divine beings.

The garden had numerous lakes in which the full-blown lilies had been grown in far and wide. These brightened the path leading to the abode of Siva. Different types of hedges and branches were grown in combination with the wonderful rows of flowers in the middle of the paths.

The boundaries of the garden were indicated with the beautiful Asoka trees with lofty tops and with their tall branches stooped down due to the weight of the branches of flowers. There were swings on either side of the trees and the songs of the birds, resting therein, pleased the ears. At night, the trees in full bloom were indistinguishable from the Tilaka tress in bloom, due to the moon shine. The herds of deer lay there in the cool shade of the trees, some of which were sleeping, while the others were quite awake. Some of the deer had completely nibbled the tips of the Dūrvā grass.

The spotless water of the pond was shaken with the wind produced with the fluttering of the wings by the swans, spreading to lotus flowers. The banana trees, grown over the banks of these lakes, when seen by the flocks of peacocks, they start dancing in delight. The land in some places looked beautiful due to the eyelids of the feathers spread over the ground from the tails of the peacocks. At these places, the intoxicated pigeons as well as the Harita birds indulge in love sports.

Some places were beautified with the flamingo birds by their presence. At places, there were heaps of the flowers. At places, the Kinnara damsels played over their lutes, issuing sweet tunes, while dancing.

The thick trees protect the cottages of the ascetics built below them. The flowers were spread all round them. At some places in the garden, there were high trees spreading on all sides in which there were fruits climbing low down.

The Siddhas and their damsels took refuge under the bowers of the Atimukta bowers. Their gold anklets were producing sound which was echoing in the garden. The bees always stucked to the Priyaṅgu trees. The lines of bees collected the honey from the flowers of the mango and kadamba trees. The garden bestows salvation to the human beings. The water of the lakes are always shaken because of the flowers dropped by the lines of bees and look graceful. The female deer, frightened with the blowing of the winds, move in flocks and take refuge in the thick thorny bushes.

The grace of the orchard depends over the presence of tilaka trees, which look graceful like the moon rays. The Asoka trees resemble saffron of the various types like Sindūra, kumkuma and kusumbha, besides the Karṇika trees with the lustre of gold. These trees have large number of branches spreading all round. They were in full bloom with plenty of flowers.

Everywhere, the ground was covered with the flowers of different colours. In some places, the lustre of powdered collyrium resembled coral and at some other places, they looked like the gold.

Hundreds of birds were chirping in the Punnāga trees. At the boundaries of the orchard, there were rest houses which remove the fatigue. The bees were dancing over the fully blossomed lotus flowers.

Lord Śiva, accompanied with his prominent gapas, who is the lord of the world as well, went round with Pārvatī and guided her about the garden with tall and beautiful trees.

Then, lord Śiva decorated Pārvatī with the divine ornaments made of flowers. And Pārvatī too – the daughter of Himavān, decorated lord Śiva with divine flowers and with full devotion. Together with Nandi, observing the excellent orchard which was adorable for the gods even, she worshipped lord Śiva and spoke.

श्रीदेव्युवाच

The goddess Pārvatī said—

I have gone through the extremely graceful orchard. It would now be proper for you to enlighten me about the virtues of this region.

Sūta said—

On hearing the words of the goddess Pārvatī, lord Śiva, who is the god of gods, smelling the lotus like face of the goddess, then spoke with a smile.

श्रीभगवानुवाच

कामं ह्यत्र मृतो देवि जंतुमर्मोक्षाय कल्पते॥ ४३॥

The Gandharvas and Apsarās take refuge here because of which I like this abode of mine. You listen to the reason for the same. One who is devoted to me, the one who has concentrated his mind in me, who dedicates all his activities in me alone, then the types of mokṣa achieved by him here, cannot be achieved anywhere else. O goddess, a person who breaths out his last here, is automatically entitled to achieve mokṣa.

एतन्मम पुरं दिव्यं गुह्यादगुह्यतमं महत्।
ब्रह्मादयो विजानन्ति ये च सिद्धा मुमुक्षवः॥ ४४॥
अतः परमदं क्षेत्रं परा चेयं गतिर्मम।
विमुक्तं न मया यस्मान्मोक्ष्यते वा कदाचन॥ ४५॥
मम क्षेत्रमिदं तस्मादविमुक्तमिति स्मृतम्।
नैमिषे च कुरुक्षेत्रे गङ्गाद्वारे च पुष्करे॥ ४६॥
स्नानात्संसेवनाद्वापि न मोक्षः प्राप्यते यतः।
इह संप्राप्यते येन तत एतद्विशिष्यते॥ ४७॥

My this divine and great city is the most secretive of all the secret places. Brahmā, Siddhas and the people desirous of mokṣa, know about this fact. Their main aim is to achieve me. I have never left them nor shall I leave them in future. Therefore, this auspicious region is known as Avimukta. By staying at Naimiṣa, Kurukṣetra, Gaṅgādvāra or Puṣkara, or taking bath there, one cannot achieve salvation, but by so doing here, he achieves the same. Therefore, this is better than the other holy places.

प्रयागे वा भवेन्मोक्षं इह वा मत्परिग्रहात्।
प्रयागादपि तीर्थात्मादविमुक्तमिदं शुभम्॥४८॥

It is doubtful whether the salvation is achieved in Prayāga or here, but I have patronised this place. This Avimuktakṣetra is the foremost of all the holy places and is more auspicious than Prayāga.

धर्मस्योपनिषत्सत्यं मोक्षस्योपनिषच्छमः।
क्षेत्रतीर्थोपनिषदं न विदुर्बुधसत्तमाः॥४९॥

Truth is the gist of dharma. The essence of mokṣa is the self control. But, the people of learning are unaware of the essence of the holy places.

कामं भुञ्जन्स्वपन् क्रीडन्
कुर्वन् हि विविधाः क्रियाः।
अविमुक्ते त्यजेत्प्रणान्
जंतुमोक्षाय कल्पते॥५०॥

One can eat, sleep, sport and do as he likes, but one who dies in Avimuktakṣetra, is entitled to achieve mokṣa.

कृत्वा पापसहस्राणि पिशाचत्वं वरं नृणाम्।
न तु शक्रसहस्रत्वं स्वर्गे काशीपुरीं विना॥५१॥

It is better to live in Kāśī after committing thousands of sins and achieving the form of a Pisāca, but to become Indra in thousands of births would not be better than living in Kāśī.

तस्मात्संसेवनीयं हि अविमुक्तं हि मुक्तये।
जैगीषव्यः परां सिद्धिं गतो यत्र महातपाः॥५२॥

Therefore, this region should be patronised with my devotion. The excellent ascetic Jaigīśavya achieved his success here itself.

अस्य क्षेत्रस्य माहात्म्याद्वक्त्या च मम भावितः।

जैगीषव्यगुहा श्रेष्ठा योगिनां स्थानमिष्यते॥५३॥

Because of the glory of this place and his devotion in me, the cave in which Jaigīśavya lived, was purified, which is even considered to be the dwelling place for the yogīs.

ध्यायंतस्तत्र मां नित्यं योगानिर्दीप्तये भृशम्।
कैवल्यं परमं याति देवानामपि दुर्लभम्॥५४॥

The people meditate for me here. The fire of yoga excessively burns here. One achieves the type of mokṣa here which is even beyond the reach of the gods.

अव्यक्तलिङ्गैर्मुनिभिः सर्वसिद्धान्तवादिभिः।
इह संप्राप्यते मोक्षो दुर्लभोऽन्यत्र कहिन्चित्॥५५॥

The sages well-versed in all the principles and those devoted to the Avyakta litigas, also attain mokṣa here and no where else.

ते भ्यश्वाहं प्रवक्ष्यामि योगैश्वर्यमनुत्तमम्।
आत्मनश्चैव सायुज्यमीप्सितं स्थानमेव च॥५६॥

I reveal to them the excellent glory of the yogic practices and Sāyujya type of salvation of the soul as well as the desired abode.

कुबेरोत्र मम क्षेत्रे मयि सर्वार्पितक्रियः।
क्षेत्रसंसेवनादेव गणेशत्वमवाप ह॥५७॥

Kubera dedicated his holy rites to me at this holy place. It is by having recourse to this holy place that he attained the leadership of ganas.

संवर्तो भविता यश्च सोपि भक्तो ममैव तु।
इहैवाराध्य मां देवि सिद्धिं यास्यत्यनुत्तमाम्॥५८॥

Sanvarta, who is yet to be born, will be my devotee. O excellent lady, by worshipping me here, he will attain excellent perfection.

पराशरसुतो योगी ऋषिव्यासो महातपाः।
मम भक्तो भविष्यश्च वेदसंस्थाप्रवर्तकः॥५९॥

Vyāsa – the great yogī, who was the son of Parāśara, will perform here a great penance. He, being my devotee, will start the institution of the Vedas.

रंस्यते सोपि पद्माक्षिं क्षेत्रेऽस्मिन्मुनिपुङ्गवः ।
ब्रह्मा देवर्षिभिः सार्द्धं विष्णुवापि दिवाकरः ॥६०॥
देवराजस्तथा शक्रो योपि चान्ये दिवौकसः ।
उपासते महात्मानः सर्वे मामिह सुकृते ॥६१॥

O lady with lotus like eyes, the leading sage Vyāsa, will be sporting about in this holy centre. Brahmā, along with the divine sages, besides Viṣṇu, Sun, Indra and all other noble-souled dwellers of heaven, also worship me here, O excellent lady.

अन्येषि योगिनो दिव्याश्छत्रूपामहात्मनः ।
अनन्यमनसो भूत्वा मामिहोपासते सदा ॥६२॥

The other divine yogīs, noble souls in disguise, worship me here always with their minds not turning to anything else.

विषयासकचित्तोपि त्यक्तधर्मरतिर्नरः ।
इह क्षेत्रे मृतः सोपि संसारे न पुनर्भवेत् ॥६३॥

Even a person whose mind is attracted towards the mundane existence and who has eschewed interest in the religious piety, may not be reborn in this world, in case of his death at this holy place.

ये पुनर्निर्ममा धीराः सत्त्वस्था विजितेंद्रियाः ।
क्रतिनश्च निरारंभाः सर्वे ते मयि भाविताः ॥६४॥

But, those who are bold and free from ego and maintain the Sattvaguṇa, who have conquered their sense organs, who maintain the holy rites discarding the unholy ones, have emotional attachment with me.

देवदेवं समासाद्य धीमतः सङ्गवर्जिताः ।
गता इह परं मोक्षं प्रसादान्मम सुकृते ॥६५॥

O excellent lady, such of the people with intelligence, who are free from attraction and envy, being unattached, achieve me and by my grace, they attain mokṣa.

जन्मांतरसहस्रेषु यं न योगी समाप्नुयात् ।
तमिहैव परं मोक्षं प्रसादान्मम सुकृते ॥६६॥

O excellent one, when a yogī is unable to achieve mokṣa even in thousands of births, the mokṣa could be achieved here, by my grace.

गोप्रेषकमिदं क्षेत्रं ब्रह्मणा स्थापितं पुरा ।
कैलासभवनं चात्र पश्य दिव्यं वरानने ॥६७॥

In earlier times, this Goprekṣaka region was established by Brahmā. O lady with beautiful face, you find the divine Kailāsa here itself.

गोप्रेषकमथागम्य दृष्टा मामत्र मानवः ।
न दुर्गतिमवाप्नोति कल्मषैश्च विमुच्यते ॥६८॥

A person by reaching in this Goprekṣaka region, having an audience with me, never falls into misery and is relieved of all the sins.

कपिलाहृदमित्येवं तथा वै ब्रह्मणा कृतम् ।
गवांस्तन्यजतोयेन तीर्थं पुण्यतमं महत् ॥६९॥

Brahmā has also established an auspicious place known by the name of Kapilāhrada. This has been established with milk from the udder of the cows. This holy place is extremely auspicious.

अत्रापि स्वयमेवाहं वृषध्वजं इति स्मृतः ।
सान्त्रिध्यं कृतवान् देवि सदाहं दृश्यते त्वया ॥७०॥

I am popular here by the name of Vṛṣabhadhvaja (bull-bannered). O goddess, I am present here, as you find me before you.

भद्रतोयं च पश्येह ब्रह्मणा च कृतं हृदम् ।
सर्वे देवैरहं देवि अस्मिन्देशे प्रसादितः ॥७१॥
गच्छोपशममीशेति उपशांतः शिवस्तथा ।
अत्राहं ब्रह्मणानीय स्थापितः परमेष्ठिना ॥७२॥

Look at the deep pond built by Brahmā here, which is known by the name of Bhadratoya. O goddess, the gods adored me, saying—“O Iśa, go, keep silence.” Then, I became beautiful. I was brought here by Brahmā and was established here as Parameśvara.

ब्रह्मणा चापि सङ्घृत्वा विष्णुना स्थापितः पुनः।
ब्रह्मणापि ततो विष्णुः प्रोक्तः संविग्नचेतसा॥७३॥

Viṣṇu took me over from Brahmā and he re-established me there. Thereafter, Brahmā, with a painful heart, said to Viṣṇu.

मयानीतमिदं लिङ्गं कस्मात्स्थापितवानसि।
तमुवाच पुनर्विष्णुर्ब्रह्माणं कुपिताननम्॥७४॥

“Why did you consecrate the liṅga brought by me?” At this, Viṣṇu replied to Brahmā, whose face was burning with anger.

रुद्रे देवे ममात्यंतं परा भक्तिर्हत्तरा।
मयैव स्थापितं लिङ्गं तव नाम्ना भविष्यति॥७५॥

“I am highly devoted to lord Rudra. It is the height of devotion. Therefore, I established this liṅga, getting it from you. This, however, will be known by your name.”

हिरण्यगर्भं इत्येवं ततोत्राहं समास्थितः।
दृष्टैनमपि देवेशं मम लोकं व्रजेत्रः॥७६॥

Therefore, I have been established here by the name of Hiranyagarbha. The people go to my loka to have an audience with Deveśa there.

ततः पुनरपि ब्रह्मा मम लिङ्गमिदं शुभम्।
स्थापयामास विधिवद्वक्त्या परमया युतः॥७७॥

Thereafter, Brahmā himself, with great devotion, re-established the same said liṅga again.

स्वर्लानेश्वर इत्येवमत्राहं स्वयमागतः।
प्राणानिह नरस्त्यक्त्वा न पुनर्जायिते क्वचित्॥७८॥

I am known here as Svarliṇeśvara. A person, who meets with his death here, is never reborn anywhere else.

अनन्या सा गतिस्तस्य योगिना चैव या स्मृता।
अस्मिन्नपि मया देशे दैत्यो दैवतकंटकः॥७९॥
व्याघ्ररूपं समास्थाय निहतो दर्पितो बली।

स्त्रीवध्यौ दर्पितौ दृष्टा त्वयैव निहतौ रणे।
सावज्ञं कंदुके नात्र तस्येदं देहमास्थितम्॥८२॥

By having an audience with Vyāghreśvara, no one falls in miseries. This position is achieved by the yogīs and none else. This is the place where the arrogant, valorous Daitya, who was the thorn for the gods, was killed by me in the form of a tiger. I live here perpetually. There were two Daityas known by the names of Utpala and Vipala, who had earlier been cursed by Brahmā that they were to be killed by a damsel. Because of this, both of them were killed with the throw of a bull at my command. Their bodies had usurped this place.

आदावत्राहमागम्य प्रस्थितो गणपैः सह।
ज्येष्ठस्थानमिदं तस्मादेतन्मे पुण्यदर्शनम्॥८३॥

I had earlier arrived here with my gānas. Then I stayed here. Because of this, the vision of this place is quite meritorious.

देवैः समंतादेतानि लिङ्गानि स्थापितान्यतः।
दृष्टापि नियतो मर्त्यो देहभेदे गणो भवेत्॥८४॥

The gānas have consecrated the liṅgas all round there. By visualising the lord through these liṅgas, the concerned person, surely becomes the gāya of Śiva after his death.

पित्रा ते शैलराजेन पुरा हिमवता स्वयम्।
मम प्रियहितं स्थानं ज्ञात्वा लिङ्गं प्रतिष्ठितम्॥८५॥
शैलेश्वरमिति ख्यातं दृश्यतामिह चादरात्।
दृष्टैतन्मनुजो देवि न दुर्गतिमतो व्रजेत्॥८६॥

Realising that this place is beneficial and pleasing to me, a liṅga was established by your father Himavān, the king of mountains. It is also known as Śaileśvara. May this be seen with respect. O gentle goddess, by visiting this place, no one can face disaster or get destroyed.

नद्येषा वरुणा देवि पुण्या पापप्रमोचनी।
क्षेत्रमेतदलंकृत्य जाहन्या सह सङ्गता॥८७॥

O goddess, the river Varuṇā is quite auspicious, which relieves a person of all his sins. After decorating this place, the river Varuṇā joins the Gaṅgā.

स्थापितं ब्रह्मणा चापि सङ्गमे लिङ्गमुत्तमम्।
सङ्गमे श्वरमित्येवं ख्यातं जगति दृश्यताम्॥८८॥

At the confluence of these rivers, Brahmā had established a Sivaliṅga which is known in the world by the name of Sarigameśvara.

सङ्गमे देवनद्या हि यः स्नात्वा मनुजः शुचिः।
अर्चयेत्सङ्गमेशानं तस्य जन्मभयं कुतः॥८९॥

By having a bath at the confluence of these divine rivers, a person is purified. In case, he worships the Sarigameśvara Sivaliṅga thereafter, there is no danger of the rebirth.

इदं मन्ये महाक्षेत्रं निवासो योगिनां परम्।
क्षेत्रमध्ये च यत्राहं स्वयं भूत्वा ग्रमास्थितः॥९०॥

This region is considered by me to be the great abode of the yogīs. I am established in this region as a self-born one.

मध्यमेश्वरमित्येवं ख्यातः सर्वसुरासुरैः।
सिद्धानां स्थानमेतद्धि मदीयव्रतधारिणाम्॥९१॥

योगिनां मोक्षलिप्सूनां ज्ञानयोगरतात्मनाम्।
दृष्टैनं मध्यमेशानं जन्मप्रति न शोचति॥९२॥

The place has been glorified as Madhyamesvara as popularised by the gods and the asuras. In fact, this is the dwelling place of the Siddhas, who perform the vratas. This is also the dwelling place of the yogins, desirous of achieving mokṣa, as well as the noble sages who follow the path of achieving the knowledge. At the vision of Maheśvara here, a person does not think about his rebirth.

स्थापितं लिङ्गमेतत्तुं शुक्रेण भृगुसूनुना।

दृष्टैनं नियतः सद्यो मुच्यते सर्वकिल्बिषैः।
मृतश्च न पुनर्जर्तुः संसारी तु भवेत्ररः॥९४॥

This liṅga was established by Śukra – the son of Bhṛgu, because of which, it earned the name of Śukreśvara. It is worshipped by all the Siddhas as well as the Gods. On a vision of this Sivaliṅga, a person who exercises self-control, is relieved of all the sins. A person, who meets with his death here, is never reborn in this world.

चतुःक्रोशं चतुर्दिक्षु क्षेत्रमेतत्प्रकीर्तिम्॥९९॥

In earlier times, a Daitya, who was the thorn for the gods, took from of a jackal,

Because of his having been blessed by Brahmā, he could not be captured by anyone. O Pārvatī, that jackal was ultimately killed by me. Because of that, I am known as Jamībukeśvara. I am, therefore, popular among the gods and the demons as Jamībukeśvara, who offer their salutation to me. With the vision of this Śivaliṅga, all the desires of a person are fulfilled. Therefore, O Pārvatī, I have described to you this liṅga, in which I always live. I am also going to speak out another secret to you, which you please listen. These liṅgas have been established as per the rotation of the planets starting from Śukra. You have a vision of the liṅgas which fulfil the desires of all. The region is said to have spread in four kośas on all the four sides.

योजनं विद्धि चार्वगि मृत्युकालेऽमृतप्रदम्।
महालयगिरिस्थं मां केदारे च व्यवस्थितम्॥१००॥
गणत्वं लभते दृष्टा ह्यस्मिन्मोक्षो ह्यवाप्यते।
गाणपत्यं लभेद्यस्माद्यतः सा मुक्तिरुत्तमा॥१०१॥

O goddess with pleasant limbs, the area which is spread in a yojana, bestows eternity after death. When a person dies in this area, it makes him eternal. You take it from me that a person, after having a vision of me at this place in Himālaya, earns mokṣa. The mokṣa achieved here is better than the one achieved at Kedārakṣetra.

ततो महालयात्तस्मात्केदारान्मध्यमादपि।

केदारं मध्यमं क्षेत्रं स्थानं चैव महालयम्।
मम पुण्यानि भूलोके तेभ्यः श्रेष्ठतमं त्विदम्॥१०३॥

O lady with a pleasant face, the region of Avimukta is greater in glory than the Kedāra region, Madhyamakṣetra, besides the auspicious region of Mahālaya. It is most auspicious of all the three regions.

Avimuktakṣetra is the most sacred of all.

यतः सृष्टास्त्वमे लोकास्ततः क्षेत्रमिदं शुभम्।
कदाचित्र मया मुक्तमविमुक्तं ततोऽभवत्॥१०४॥

Ever since the creation of these lokas, I have never left this region of devotion since then. Since, I never left this place, it has came to be known as Avimukta.

अविमुक्तेश्वरं लिङ्गं मम दृष्टेह मानवः।
सद्यः पापविनिर्मुक्तः पशुपाशैर्विमुच्यते॥१०५॥

At the vision of the Avimukteśvara liṅga, a person is at once relieved of all his sins. He is also relieved of all the bondages of life.

शैलेशं सङ्घमेशं च स्वर्लीनं मध्यमेश्वरम्।
हिरण्यगर्भमीशानं गोप्रेक्षं वृषभध्वजम्॥१०६॥
उपशांतं शिवं चैव ज्येष्ठस्थाननिवासिनम्।
शुक्रेश्वरं च विष्णुतां व्याघ्रेशं जंबुकेश्वरम्॥१०७॥
दृष्ट्वा न जायते मर्त्यः संसारे दुःखसागरे।

By having a vision of Śaileśa, Saṅgameśa, Svaralīna, Madhyameśvara, Hiranyaśarabha, Goprekṣa, Vṛṣabhadhvaja, Upaśānta Śiva, Jyeṣṭhasthāna, Śukreśvara, Vyāghreśvara or Jamībukeśvara, a person is never reborn in the ocean of miseries.”

सूत उवाच

एवमुक्त्वा महादेवो दिशः सर्वा व्यलोक्यत्॥१०८॥
विलोक्य संस्थिते पश्चादेवदेवे महेश्वरे।
अकस्मादभवत्सर्वः स देशोऽज्ज्वलितो यथा॥१०९॥

Sūta said—

After thus speaking, lord Mahādeva glanced on all the sides. When Maheśvara – the lord of gods, had a glance on all the sides of the place, that place became bright at once as earlier.

ततः पाशुपताः सिद्धा भस्माभ्यङ्गसितप्रभाः।
माहेश्वरा महात्मानस्तथा वै नियतव्रताः॥११०॥

बहवः शतशोभ्येत्य नमश्वकुर्महेश्वरम्।

 तस्य तां परमां मूर्तिमास्थितस्य जगत्प्रभोः।
 न शशाक पुनर्द्रष्टुं हृष्टरोमा गिरींद्रजाम्॥११४॥

Thereafter, hundreds of Siddhas, who were devoted to Paśupati Śiva, having been bathed with ashes, who were great souls devoted to lord Maheśvara, and who always observed the holy rites, arrived there and offered their salutation to lord Maheśvara. Then, they observed the lord of the yogas and started dhyānayoga – the path of meditation, attentively. They took the support of their respective souls and were so observed in their own souls as if they were absorbed in lord Maheśvara himself. Even as they stood by, the consort of Umā – lord Śiva, the lord Puruṣa, assumed the greatest of the physical forms. He stood as though towards the close of the worlds in order to make the entire world be present at one place. The goddess Pārvatī, the daughter of Himālaya, feeling thrilled, could not look at the lord of the universe, who had indeed assumed greatest of his physical forms.

ततस्त्वदृष्टमाकारं बुध्वा सा प्रकृतिस्थितम्।

 नीललोहितमूर्तिस्थं पुनश्चक्रे वपुः शुभम्॥११८॥

Then she realised that the form which has not been seen before by anyone, which was found in Prakṛti and as such Parameśvara adopted that form of Prakṛti with the power of yoga. Then she visualised the form of the noble soul. Then the yogīs, who were absorbed in meditation, of merging (laya) entered the heart of Puruṣa. They burnt all the seeds of the mundane existence by recalling the splendid bīja (seed) of the five-syllabled mantra. Thereafter, the lord established his divine and holy form which dispels all the sins and which had earlier revealed in his Nīlalohita image.

तं दृष्ट्वा शैलजा प्राह हष्टसर्वतनूरुहा।
 स्तुवती चरणौ नत्वा क इमे भगवन्निति॥११९॥
 तामुवाच सुरश्रेष्ठस्तदा देवीं गिरींद्रजाम्।

Observing him, Pārvatī, who was thrilled completely, offered her salutation to him, bending her body and eulogising him at the same time. Then, she said— “What is all this, O lord?”

श्रीभगवानुवाच

The lord said—

O beautiful one, these are the excellent Brāhmaṇas who have faith in me and are devoted to me, practising the yoga in various ways and performing my vratas. Because of the glory and greatness of this region and because of their devotion in me, they achieve my blessing from my worldly body.

Therefore, this sacred land is inhabited by Brahmā and other gods, besides the people of learnings well versed in the Vedas, the excellent Brāhmaṇas, the ascetics and the mendicants. O goddess, on the fourth and eighth days of both the fortnights of the month, lord Mahādeva is adored in Vārāṇasī. Especially on the days of solar and lunar eclipses, on the full moon day, on the first day of the month of Kārtika, on the first days of all the months, besides at the start of the Ayana (Uttarāyaṇa and Dakṣiṇāyaṇa), all the tīrthas dwell in Gaṅgā at Vārāṇasī. The Gaṅgā is thus served by them. Then Gaṅgā, the auspicious daughter of your father Himālaya, descends from my head and starts flowing towards the north. The same auspicious Gaṅgā is present in my abode. It flows towards the auspicious region. O lady with the pleasant face, you listen to the holy places (which are located over the banks of this holy river).

These tīrthas, among the hundreds of holy places, are famous by the names of Kurukṣetra, Puṣkara, Naimiṣa, Prayāga with enormous water and Drumakṣetra. O goddess, the auspicious river flows touching all the auspicious centres on all the sides. The gods, the R̄sis, Sādhyas, seasons, rivers, tanks and the seven oceans, besides the divine gods and the holy places always meet over the banks of the Gaṅgā on all the festive occasions. After having a vision of Avimukteśvara and Triviṣṭapa and reaching the auspicious place of Kālabhairava, the people are relieved of all the sins. All the auspicious rivers reach Vārāṇasī on all the festive occasions and join the river Gaṅgā here.

There are pleasant sites in this place as well around it, of which Avimukta is the best and most auspicious place. It removes all the sins. The Sivalingas in Kedāra as well as Mahālaya, Madhyameśvara, Pāśupatiśvara, Śaṅkukarneśvara, Gokarneśvara, Drumacanḍeśvara, Bhadreśvara, Sthāneśvara, Ekāgra, Kāleśvara, Ajeśvara, Bhairaveśvara, Īśāna, Orṅkāra, Amareśa, Mahākāla, Jyotirliṅga, Bhasmagātraka and others, are all known as my auspicious places. Other places are also on earth, the number of which is sixty eight. Besides them, all other well-established shrines arrive at Vārāṇasī for me, during the holy festive occasions. In this way, the mysterious secret has been revealed.

तेनेह लभते जंतुमृतो दिव्यामृतं पदम्।
स्नातस्य चैव गङ्गायां दृष्टेन च मया शुभे॥१४०॥

Therefore, a person who dies here, attains the divine immortal region, in case, he takes ablution in the Gaṅgā and then visits me, O auspicious lady.

A person at once achieves the benefit equal to that of hundreds and thousands of sacrifices, what could be more astonishing than this? O excellent lady, of all the important shrines on earth and the mountains, Avimukta is the greatest of all. You should well understand whatever has been said by me. The sin mentioned in the Vedas is recounted by the Brāhmaṇas by uttering the word ‘Avi’. The holy place is called Avimukta because it is free from Avi or the sin and is served by me.

After thus speaking, the lord of the universe again spoke— “O goddess of the gods, Avimukta is my dwelling place, you have a view of it carefully.” Thereafter, the lord of the Umāpati, together with Pārvatī, went round Śrīsaila. Then he started living there with Umā permanently. Because of his having the prowess to move everywhere, the lord of the Devas, the soul of all, identical with Sat and Asat, arrived at Śrī Parvata together with the goddess. Then he, the lord of the living beings, pointed out to her the following holy centres of images.

Kundīprabha — the divine and great

Vaiśravaṇeśvara, Āśāliṅga, Deveśa, the divine Baleśvara, the great Rāmeśvara, that has been installed by Viṣṇu, lord Kuṇḍaleśvara at the sides of the southern gates, the excellent Tripurāntaka stationed near the eastern gate, the image which increased the size along with the mountain and was bowed to by the chiefs of the Devas, what is well-known in the three worlds as Madhyameśvara, Amareśvara, the bestower of boons, formerly installed by the Devas, lord Gocarmeśvara, the wonderful shrines of Indreśvara, the huge image of Karmeśvara, purposely installed by lord Brahmā. O eternal lady, the holy Siddhavata is my perpetual residence. The divine and splendid Ajabila is consecrated by Aja himself. There itself in the divine Bileśvara, my divine sandals are lodged. In the centre of the mountain Śṛīgāṭa, the image of Śṛīgāṭakeśvara is installed by Śrīdevī. It is in the form of Śṛīgāṭaka. Mallikārjuna is my splendid residence.

The same shrine of Rajeśvara is installed in succession of means of Rajas. The Gajeśvara, the image of Vaiśākha and the unchanging Kapoteśvara are there. O fair lady, now you have a look at the splendid tīrtha of Koṭīsvāra, which was formerly resorted to by crores of ganas of Rudra and which is superior to all the shrines at Vārāṇasī.

There is a shrine known by the name of Alāṅgrha. The lord thus spoke once— “O Brahmā, this has been established by you at the outset, together with the other sages.” After saying thus, they stayed in the same abode as a result of which the place came to be known as Alāṅgrha.

O goddess well-versed with the holy places, there is another tīrtha there which has the Vyomaliṅga and which is known as Kadambēśvara, which was established by Skanda himself.

The liṅga of Gomaṇḍaleśvara was established by Nanda himself. O lady with beautiful face, over the bank of Devahṛada, you have a look over the auspicious shrines established by the gods. O goddess, there is a place known as Hārapura, where your hāra or a garland had fallen. For the benefit of the people, the place was established as Hārakunḍa. O excellent lady, your father had established the image of Acaleśvara at Rudrapura over the mountain.

In earlier times, I had decorated Brahmā there with the sages. O goddess, Cañḍikeśā – your daughter, established Cañḍikeśvara. The Ambikā-tīrtha established by Ambikā is an excellent place. A Rucikeśvara temple is also built there. The stream of the water is of white colour there. O goddess, the devotees, who worship me in these holy places, they enjoy all the pleasures with me. A Brāhmaṇa, who meets with the end of his life at Śrīśaila, he is relieved of all the sins. Undoubtedly, as one achieves salvation by meeting his death at Avimuktakṣetra, similarly, a person achieves salvation, after his death at this place. O goddess, a person who takes his bath here by applying ghee over his body, he surely achieves my Sāyujya.

In case, the ablution is made with twelve palas of the sacred material of worship, it should be known as Abhyaniga. In case, it is made of a hundred palas, it should be known as snāna. Two thousand palas of the material are said to constitute a Mahāsnāna. The devotee bathes my liṅga at the outset with cow's ghee. Then, he consecrates it with other materials. Thereafter, he washes it with water. The benefit of performing a hundred yajñas is attained with the mere rite of wiping off the liṅga. By bathing it, the benefit of performing ten thousand sacrifices is attained. By worshipping it, the benefit of performing a hundred thousand sacrifices is achieved. The benefit of those who sing and play with instruments of music is infinite. By means of great bath (Mahāsnāna), eight times the benefit of bath is acquired. In case, a devotee is desirous of performing the rite of ablution by means of water alone, he may do so with fragrant scented water with devotion. The ointment should be of twenty five palas of the material used.

शमीपुष्पं च विधिना बिल्वपत्रं च पङ्कजम्।

The devotee should use Śamī flower, leaves of wood apple tree and the lotuses, in an appropriate manner. He can use other flowers as well, but the wood-apple leaves should not be left out.

A devotee should worship lord Mahādeva with four measures or eight dronas of flowers etc. The food offering should be ten or eight dronas.

शतद्रोणसमं पुण्यमाढकेपि विधीयते ।

In case, the devotee is a Brāhmaṇa, having no wealth, he shall attain the same benefit and merit as with the worship of a hundred dronas, even when he worships only with ādhaka measure. There is no doubt about it.

The devotee should keep himself awake during the night by playing on various musical instruments like bherī, cymbals, murājā, timirā, pāṭaha etc. He should produce other types of sound too while praying at the same time. He, in association with his servants, wife, sons, relatives and other kinsmen, should circumambulate the liṅga offering the prayer— “O lord of the Devas, O Śiva, you kindly forgive me for all my sins. Forgive me for the lack of materials used in the adoration, faith and rites.” After saying this, he should immediately start japam of Rudra, besides other mantras of peace. Thereafter, he should repeat the bija of the five-syllabled mantras and by so doing, he attains benefit as is achieved by visiting of the holy places and performing sacrifices there. By so doing, he attains the same goal as one achieves by his death at Vārāṇasī. Similarly, he should also attain the closeness of lord Śiva. For the sake of adoring me, these rites should be performed carefully by my devotee. In case of his failure to do so, he cannot be treated as my devotee.

Listening to the words of lord Śiva, the goddess Pārvatī went to Vārāṇasī and adored Avimuktesvara liṅga offering milk and ghee to it. Then, she reaching the Mandara mountain, adored the great Rudra besides performing tapas for him. She then built a temple over the beautiful cave, where lord Śiva had bestowed the position of a chief gāṇa to Andhaka – the son of Hiranyakṣa. Thus, I have narrated to you the entire story exhaustively.

The one who reads the glory of the Avimukta region, or listens it, or recites the same to the auspicious Brāhmaṇas who have overpowered their sense organs, he achieves the fruit of performing all the yajñas.

Sūta said—

I shall tell you in brief, as to how Andhaka was subjugated over the Mandara mountain? How did lord Śiva shower his grace on him and how did he achieve the boon? In earlier times, Hiranyākṣa got a son who was as valorous as his father. He gained enormous strength with his tapas. By the grace of Brahmā, he achieved immortality. He then enjoyed the pleasures of all the three worlds. He conquered Amarāvatī – the city of Indra, without much efforts and then frightened Indra.

The Daitya also harassed Nārāyaṇa and other gods, who were beaten, imprisoned and also thrown out.

In this way, Andhaka, the great Daitya, tortured the gods variously and usurped the beautiful cave of the Mandara mountain, as per his own desire.

Then all the gods, together with the Sādhyas, approached lord Śiva and submitted to him— “Andhaka, the lord of Daityas, has shattered us with his weapons. We have lost our prowess before him. Therefore, all our limbs have been shattered.

When lord Śiva came to know of the torture of the gods at the hands of Andhaka, then the lord proceeded towards Andhaka's abode. At that particular place, Indra, Brahmā, Viṣṇu and other gods, and the Brāhmaṇas surrounded lord Śiva from all the sides and shouted slogans of his victory. Folding their hands against their crowns, they offered their salutation to the lord Śiva, honouring him at the same time.

Lord Mahādeva reduced millions of Daityas to ashes and then pierced his trident in the belly of Andhaka, as a result of which the Daitya was fainted. When lord Śiva pierced his trident into the belly of Andhaka, all his sins were burnt out. Then Brahmā, observing this, offered his salutation to lord Śiva and shouted in delight. All the gods also thundered aloud. The ascetics started dancing in delight.

The gods showered the rain of flowers over lord Śiva. All the three worlds were delighted at the subjugation of Andhaka.

With the flames of the trident burning a corpse, Andhaka thought in a Sāttvika manner.

"I had tortured Mahādeva in my earlier birth and in this birth, I have been burnt out by him. I had not adored Mahādeva in my earlier birth and I have received the reward of it during my present birth. Otherwise, it could never happen like this. A person, who at the time of his death, remembers Rudra even once, he achieves his closeness. Then what is the use of recalling him again and again? He is the one, in whom Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Indra, besides all other gods take refuge. Therefore, everyone should take refuge with him." Thus thinking, Andhaka felt delighted at heart. He then felt complete satisfaction.

Then he offered prayer to all the gāṇas, besides lord Śiva or Īśāna or Mahādeva, who had placed him in such a condition. Then Andhaka offered prayer to lord Śiva who removes the miseries of all.

The gods were then tortured by the cruel king of the Daityas, known as Hiranyākṣa. They were killed as well. Then the gods, with their faces having been faded out, went to Viṣṇu – the oppressor of the Daityas, with Brahmā. They offered their salutation to lord Viṣṇu, lowering their heads and conveyed to him the news of the imprisonment of the earth. On hearing this, lord Viṣṇu took to the form of yajña-varāha, as he had resorted to at the time of the emerging of the īriga. He killed the Daitya king Hiranyākṣa and other Daityas with his sharp and curved tusks. Thereafter, lord Viṣṇu became resplendent with his lustre.

As in the start of the kalpas earlier, he entered the nether regions and brought back the earth out of the ocean and made her seated in his lap. Then Brahmā, the best of the gods, accompanied by Indra and others, eulogised Viṣṇu – the lord of the Devas, with words choked with great emotions—“Salutation to the perpetual Varāha, with curved fangs and the staff. Salutation to Nārāyaṇa who is identical with all. Salutation to Brahman, the greatest soul. Salutation to the creator of all. Salutation to the holder of the earth. Salutation to the destroyer of the enemies of the gods. Salutation to the creator and the chiefs of the Devas and the chastiser of all. You are Aṣṭamūrti having eight cosmic bodies and having infinite forms. You are the primordial god and are known as Ananta or the eternal beings. Everything has been created by you. O lord of the gods, be pleased. O lord of the world, O Varāha, O Viṣṇu, be pleased. O Viṣṇu, you fulfil our desires. All the prominent Daityas with their sons and the servants had been killed by you in a moment, with half of a hundred millionth part of the tip of one of your curved fangs.

Thus, both the goddess of speech and Brahmā eulogised Viṣṇu variously. Then they offered their salutation with the gods, to Viṣṇu. Thereafter, Brahmā received various boons from Viṣṇu. Brahmā was himself born out of the navel of lord Viṣṇu.

अथ तामुदधृतं तेन धरां देवा मुनीश्वराः।

All the gods and the sages offered their salutation to the earth which had been brought back by lord Viṣṇu.

They said— “O Dharaṇī, O bestower of the boons, you have been rescued with ease by the Varāha alone, who has been the form of Viṣṇu. You are quite virtuous. O earth, O everlasting earth, you are a cow. You bear all the people in the world. You remove all our sins.

At these words of the gods, the goddess Earth said— “O Brāhmaṇas, those who apply the dust emerging from the scratching of earth over their body, with the fang of Varāha, reciting the mantra, they are relieved of all the sins. Such a person enjoys long life and his body remains healthy and has sons as well as the grandsons. After his death, he enjoys with all the gods. After the exhausting of his karmas, he is reborn on earth.

When lord Viṣṇu, discarding the body of boar with fangs, was consigned into the ocean of milk, then the earth carrying the curved tusk of Viṣṇu, started shaking again with its weight. The earth then stabilised slightly sinking below.

यदृच्छया भवः पश्यन् जगाम जगदीश्वरः।

Per chance, lord Śiva was observing this of his own accord. He found the curved tusk of Varāha lying there. Then he picked it up for using it as an ornament. Then lord Śiva wore it over his vast chest and at the end of the matted locks of hair. When the gods so found lord Śiva, the god of gods, so decorated with it, they praised him immensely with Indra. Thus, at the end of the time of dissolution, lord Viṣṇu, playfully, re-established the earth. Had lord Śiva – Mahādeva, not adorned his limb with the curved fang of Viṣṇu, Brahmā and other Devas, sportingly, then how could the Brāhmaṇas attain salvation? Therefore, lord Maheśvara wears the curved fang as his ornament.

Subjugation of Narasimha

ऋषय ऊचुः

नृसिंहेन हतः पूर्वं हिरण्याक्षाग्रजःश्रुतम्।

कथं निषूदितस्तेन हिरण्यकशिपुर्वद॥१॥

The R̄si said—

It has been heard that Hiranyakaśipu – the elder brother of Hiranyakṣa, had been killed at the hands of Nr̄simha. How was he killed by Narasimha? You kindly narrate the story to us.

सूत उवाच

हिरण्यकशिपोः पुत्रः प्रह्लाद इति विश्रुतः।

धर्मज्ञः सत्यसंपन्नस्तपस्वी चाभवत्सुधीः॥२॥

Sūta said—

Hiranyakaśipu had a son named Prahlāda, who was quite well known. He was quite a religious minded person, besides being truthful, a mendicant with a great wisdom.

जन्मप्रभृति देवेशं पूजयामास चाव्ययम्।

सर्वज्ञं सर्वगं विष्णुं सर्वदेवभवोद्भवम्॥३॥

तमादिपुरुषं भक्त्या परब्रह्मस्वरूपिणम्।

ब्रह्मणोधिपतिं सृष्टिस्थितिसंहारकारणम्॥४॥

Ever since his birth, he was firmly devoted to the eternal, omniscient Viṣṇu – the lord of the Devas, who is omnipresent, cause of origin of all the Devas, the primordial Puruṣa, having the form of Brahman, the overlord of Brahmā and who is the cause of creation, sustenance and annihilation.

सोपि विष्णोस्तथाभूतं दृष्ट्वा पुत्रं समाहितम्।

स्तुवन्तं प्राह देवारिः प्रदहन्त्रिव पापधीः।

न मां जानासि दुर्बुद्धे सर्वदैत्यामरेश्वरम्॥६॥

The enemy of Devas observed that his son was frequently repeating the name of Govinda and Nārāyaṇa, offering salutation to the lord. He found that his son was devoted to Viṣṇu. The demon of sinful wisdom, looked at his son as though he would burn him and uttered— “O boy of wicked ways, you are unaware about me. I am the lord of all the Daityas and the Devas.

प्रह्लाद वीरदुष्पुत्र द्विजदेवार्तिकारणम्।
को विष्णुः पदाजो वापि शक्रश्च वरुणोथ वा॥७॥
वायः सोमस्तथेशानः पावको मम यः समः।
मामेवार्चय भक्त्या च स्वल्पं नारायणं सदा॥८॥

O valorous Prahlāda, O my wicked son, I am the cause of the agony to the Brāhmaṇas and the gods. Who is Viṣṇu? Who is the lotus-born Brahmā? The gods like Indra, Varuṇa, Vāyu, the moon, Īśāna and the fire god, cannot equate me. Therefore, you should adore me with devotion. Don't utter the name of Nārāyaṇa.

प्रह्लाद जीविते वांछा तवैषा शृणु चास्ति चेत्।
श्रुत्वापि तस्य वचनं हरण्यकशिपोः सुधीः॥९॥
प्रह्लादः पूजयामास नमो नारायणेति च।
नमो नारायणायेति सर्वदैत्यकुमारकान्॥१०॥
अध्यापयामास च तां ब्रह्मविद्यां सुशोभनाम्।
दुर्लभ्यां चात्मनो दृष्टा शक्रादिभिरपि स्वयम्॥११॥
पुत्रेण लंघितामाज्ञां हरिण्यः प्राह दानवान्।
एतं नानाविधैर्वध्यं दुष्पुत्रं हंतुमर्हथ॥१२॥

In case, you have the desire to live on earth, then, O Prahlāda, listen to me carefully. Even on hearing the threatening words of Hiranyakaśipu, Prahlāda continued to adore lord Viṣṇu and recited the name of Nārāyaṇa repeatedly. He taught the sons of the Daityas to utter Namo-Nārāyanāya (salutation to Nārāyaṇa) and also taught them the Brahma-vidyā. The Daitya king

Hiranyakaśipu observed that his son had disregarded his command, which is difficult to be disregarded even by Indra and the other gods. Then, he said to the Rākṣasas— “You kill my wicked son, who is worthy to be killed because of various reasons.”

एवमुक्तास्तदा तेन दैत्येन सुदुरात्मना।
निजघ्नुर्देवदेवस्य भृत्यं प्रह्लादमव्ययम्॥१३॥

At the command of the wicked soul, the Rākṣasas tortured Prahlāda, who was the disciple of Viṣṇu.

तत्र तत्प्रतिकृतं तदा सुरै-
दैत्यराजतनयं द्विजोत्तमाः।
क्षीरवारिनिधिशायिनः प्रभोर्निष्-
फलं त्वयं बभूव तेजसा॥१४॥

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, whatever the torture was extended towards the son of the Daitya king, became infructuous because of the grace of lord Viṣṇu, who was sleeping in the ocean of milk.

तदाथ गर्वभिन्नस्य हिरण्यकशिपोः प्रभुः।
तत्रैवाविरभूद्धंतुं नृसिंहाकृतिमास्थितः॥१५॥
जघानं च सुतं प्रेक्ष्य पितरं दानवाधमम्।
बिभेद तत्क्षणादेव करजैर्निश्चितैः शतैः॥१६॥

Then, in order to shatter the pride of the Daitya king Hiranyakaśipu, lord Viṣṇu himself appeared in the form of Narasiṁha. He cast a compassionate glance at Prahlāda – the son of Hiranyakaśipu. In order to kill the Daitya king, he tore out his body with his sharp nails.

ततो निहत्य तं दैत्यं सबांधवमघापहः।
पीडयामास दैत्येन्द्रं युगांताग्निरिवापरः॥१७॥

Thereafter, lord Viṣṇu, the destroyer of the sins, killing Hiranyakaśipu with his kins, troubled all the prominent Daityas like the fire of the time of dissolution.

नादैस्तस्य नृसिंहस्य घोरैर्वित्रासितं जगत्।
आब्रह्मभुवनाद्विप्राः प्रचचाल स सुव्रताः॥१८॥

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the entire world was frightened with the roar of Narasiṁha. All the three lokas with Brahmaloka were shaken.

दृष्टा सुरासुरमहोरागसिद्धसाध्या-
स्तास्मिन् क्षणे हरिविरिच्छिमुखा नृसिंहम्।

तं तुष्टुबुः सुरश्रेष्ठा लोका लोकाच्चले स्थिताः।
सब्रह्माकाः ससाध्याश्च सयमाः समरूद्धणाः॥२१॥

Finding Narasiṁha in anger, all the Devas, Asuras, Nāgas, Siddhas, Sādhyas, Viṣṇu, Brahmā and other gods, lost their patience and the prowess. In order to save their lives, they fled to different directions. When all of them fled away, then lord Narasiṁha with a thousand forms, the creator of all, then stood there covering all the feet, arms, eyes, with the sun, moon and fire as his eyes, besides his Māyā. Then all the gods, who were at the Lokāloka mountain, praised lord Nṛsiṁha together with Brahmā, Yama, Varuṇa and eulogised Narasiṁha.

स्थूलं सूक्ष्मं सुसूक्ष्मं च शब्दब्रह्मयः शुभः।
वागतीतो निरालंबो निर्द्विष्टो निरुपप्लवः॥२३॥

“You are Brahmā, greater than the greatest. You are greater than the great tattva. You are the greatest of all the flames, you are the supreme soul, pervading the world. You are gross as well as subtle; you are smaller than the smallest and resemble Śabda-Brahman; you are beyond the limit of the speech. You are not depending on anyone else. You are free from the struggle, impediments and calamities.

यज्ञभुग्यज्ञमूर्तिस्त्वं यज्ञिनां फलदः प्रभुः।
भवान्मत्स्याकृतिः कौर्ममास्थाय जगति स्थितः॥

You are the partaker of the sacrificers of the sacrifices. You are the lord who bestows fruits on the performers of sacrifices. You assume the form of a fish. You are stationed in the universe after assuming the form of a tortoise.

वाराहीं चैव तां सैंहीमास्थायेह व्यवस्थितः।
देवानां देवरक्षार्थं निहत्य दितिजेश्वरम्॥२५॥

You have assumed the form of a boar and a lion for the protection of the Devas and for the killing of the lord of the Daityas.

द्विजशापच्छलेनैवमवतीर्णसि लीलया।
न दृष्टं यत्त्वदन्यं हि भवान्सर्वं चराचरम्॥२६॥

On the pretext of the curse from a Brāhmaṇa (Bhrigu), you incarnated on earth playfully. Nothing is beyond you. You represent the entire mobile and immobile universe.

भवान्विष्णुर्भवान् रुद्रो भवानेव पितामहः।
भवानादिर्भवानन्तो भवानेव वयं विभो॥२७॥

You represent the form of Brahmā, Rudra and Viṣṇu. You are the beginning and the end. O lord, you are all pervading.

भवानेव जगत्सर्वं प्रलापेन किमीश्वर।
मायया बहुधा संस्थमद्वितीयमयं प्रभो॥२८॥

You are the form of the whole universe. O lord, what is the use of useless talk? You are unique and appear in several forms due to your own Māyā.

स्तोष्यामस्त्रां कथं भासि देवदेव मृगाधिप ।

न जगाम द्विजाः शांतिं मानयन्योनिमात्मनः ।
यो नृसिंहस्तवं भक्त्या पठेद्वार्थं विचारयेत् ॥३०॥

How can we offer prayer to you? O lord of gods, O Narasimha, you are quite resplendent. O Brahmā, though Narasimha was eulogised variously, but he never became peaceful. He, feeling pride of his being a lion, remained disturbed. (Though he appeared as a lion), but he could not be pacified even after eulogising him as a lion. A person who recites the prayer of Narasimha or narrates it to the Brāhmaṇas, he is honoured in the abode of Viṣṇu.

श्रावयेद्वा द्विजान्सर्वान् विष्णुलोके महीयते ।

In the meantime, all the gods went to Śiva, together with Brahmā and Indra. They narrated the performance of Narasimha to him in detail, praising him at the same time. All of them took refuge with lord Śiva for the sake of their own protection. He is the cause of their protection. At that point of time, lord Śiva was sporting with Pārvatī over the Mandara mountain, being served by Gandharvas, Siddhas, Apsarās as well as his own gaṇas. The exceedingly frightened Brahmā offered prayer to Śiva with other gods.

ब्रह्मोवाच

Sūta said–

At the prayer of the gods, lord Śiva, smilingly, assured protection to them and said– “I shall surely kill him.” Thereafter, Indra and other gods with Brahmā offered their salutation to lord Śiva. Thereafter, lord Brahmā and all the gods returned to their respective abodes. Soon thereafter, Śiva took to the form of Śarabha and reached the place of Narasiṁha. Śiva, in the form of Śarabha, killed Narasiṁha. After his killing Narasiṁha, Śiva was adored by the goddess. Then Viṣṇu, discarding his Narasiṁha form, reverted to his original position. Thereafter, he left the place slowly. Śiva too, after his having been eulogised by the gods, left the place. Anyone, who reads this prayer for Śiva or listens to it, he surely goes on to the Śivaloka and enjoys all the pleasures with lord Śiva.

Description of Śarabha form

ऋषय ऊचुः

The R̄si said—

What were the valorous deeds performed by lord Mahādeva, the destroyer of the universe, taking to the terrific form of Śarabha? You kindly narrate the same to us at length.

Sūta said—

At the request of the gods, the compassionate Śiva, for the purpose of killing powerful Narasimha, took a decision. For the purpose, lord Śiva remembered Virabhadra.

The terrific Virabhadra who could destroy the universe at once, appeared before lord Śiva, smilingly. He was the lord of crores of gāṇas who were laughing aloud. He was in the form of a lion and was jumping here and there. He was surrounded by all other warriors, who had never been seen earlier. He was quite delightful. He was playing a ball with highly patient Brahmā. He was being offered salutation by the warriors. He resembled the fire flames rising at the time of the dissolution. He had three shining eyes. The crescent decorated his matted locks of hair and he had weapons in his hand. His fangs were curved like the crescent moon, which were quite sharp. His eyebrows resembled the rainbow. His terrific humkāra deferred the quarters. His size resembled the blue cloud or the mountain of collyrium. He had terrific beard and moustaches. He had a terrible form. He was wielding the trident with his long arms which could conquer all. Even Virabhadra was astonished by observing his own prowess. Then he prayed the lord Śiva— “O soul of the universe, what is the cause for summoning me? You give me a command and be compassionate on me.”

Lord Śiva said—

The gods are facing an untimely danger. The fire of Narasimha is burning. You extinguish this fire which cannot be extinguished otherwise. First of all, you make him understand by assuring him. In case, he is not pacified, then you display before him my terrific form. After which, you should destroy the smallest as well as the biggest with your lustre. O Vīrabhadra, this is my command and it is your duty to carry it out. Make him realise the factual position and bring him before me. When so commanded by lord Śiva, the lord of gāṇas took to his peaceful form and then speedily reached to the place where Narasimha was present. Reaching there, Vīrabhadra explained everything to Narasimha. Like a bosom born son, Vīrabhadra spoke these words to Narasimha.

Vīrabhadra said—

“O lord Viṣṇu, you have incarnated for the happiness of the world, having been engaged by the great Parameśṭhin for the purpose of sustaining the living beings. In that form, you have saved enormous creatures as a fish. You moved about in the vast ocean-like sheet of water in earlier times, after tying of the boat to your tail. You held the Mandara mountain in the form of a tortoise. Then the earth was lifted up in your boar form. With the Narasimha form, you have killed Hiranyaṅkṣa. Again, Bali was bound by you as a dwarf or a Vāmana and you measured the earth with three steps. You alone are the unchanging lord of all the living beings. You displayed your prowess whenever any misery befell over the mankind. You alone are the unchanging lord of all the living beings. You incarnate on earth and free the world from ailment. You are the lord who is immensely attached to Śiva and you are unparalleled.

After having been so mildly addressed by Vīrabhadra, Narasimha became more blazed than his earlier form and extended further wrath.

Lord Narasimha said—

O dear, you return to the place from where you have arrived. I shall surely destroy the mobile and immobile beings. To perform the task of destruction is not in the hands of anyone else. I rule everywhere. No one rules over me. All the living beings work within their limits by my grace. I am the lone instigator and the restrainer of all the Śaktis. O lord of gaṇas, you should well realise that everything which is glorious, such powerful and energetic in the world, is only the display of my splendour. Those who are conversant with the realities of the deities, are aware that I alone am the greatest deity. Brahmā, Indra and the other Devas, who possess powers, are my parts alone. Brahmā – the four faced deity, emerged out of the lotus from my navel in earlier times. The bull-bannered lord Śiva emerged out of my forehead. The creator possesses the Rajoguṇa well. Rudra is called Tāmas. I am the restrainer and controller of everything. No deity is of any higher status than myself.

I have a status superior than any one else. I happen to be the independent lord of all. I am the performer, destroyer, besides being the lord of the universe. This is my highest resplendence. Who would listen to your advice? Therefore, you should take refuge in me and getting reassured, you return to your place. O Bhūteśvara, you understand my high ideals. O Virabhadra, I am the death incarnate. In fact, I am the death for the death itself. I am the cause of the death of death. I am presently engaged in the destruction of the universe. O Virabhadra, you treat me death for the death. The gods remain alive by my grace.

Virabhadra said—

Are you not aware of lord Śiva – the bearer of the Pināka bow? By entering into the useless controversy, you will only invite your destruction.

You are Prakṛti, while Śiva is Puruṣa. Śiva is lodged in you. This is not natural. The five-faced Brahmā emerged out of your navel.

सृष्ट्यर्थेन जगत्पूर्वं शङ्खरं नीललोहितम्।

Brahmā, who was engaged in hard tapas, conceived blue-throated Śiva, the ancestor of the universe, for the purpose of the creation.

तल्ललाटादभूच्छंभोः सृष्ट्यर्थं तत्र दूषणम्।
अंशोह देवदेवस्य महाभैरवरूपिणः॥४२॥

Then he produced Śiva from his forehead for the purpose of creation. Śiva is not at all at fault in this case. I, in the form of Mahābhairava, am the part of lord Śiva.

I have been entrusted with the duty of killing you. I possess the related prowess of Śiva. In this way, tearing out the asuras, you are overpowered with arrogance and are thundering becoming conscious. The bestowing of kindness over the wicked people results in evil only.

यदि सिंह महेशानं स्वपुनर्भूत मन्यसे।
न त्वं सष्ठा न संहर्ता न स्वतंत्रो हि कुत्रचित्॥४५॥

O Narasiṁha, you consider lord Śiva – Maheśa, to have been born after you. Therefore, you are wrong. You at no stage are the creator, destroyer or protector.

Like a potter's wheel, you are inspired by the force of lord Śiva, the carrier of the Pināka bow. Even today, your skull of the tortoise incarnation is stuck upon in the throat of Śiva. O foolish one, why don't you understand this? Have you forgotten that Skanda, born of his own amīsa, had pulled out your curved fangs partially. Therefore, O Viṣṇu, you were deceitfully burnt out at the tip of his trident. In the yajña of Dakṣa, your head was cut off by me when you took the form of yajña. Even today, the fifth head of Brahmā is the same which had been cut off by me, who was born out of the lotus emerging out of the lotus from your navel. Therefore, his prowess is quite limited. You were defeated in the war with the mantras used by Dadhīca, scratching your head. How could you forget all this?

O carrier of cakra, cakra alone is the weapon used by you. Thanks to its strength. But from where did you receive it? Who made it? You have forgotten all this. I have snatched all your people from you. Overpowered with sleep, you rest in the ocean. The prowess of Rudra is projected even over the tip of the blade of grass. Though you yourself and fire are all pervading and powerful on all the sides, but both of you had been confused before the prowess of lord Śiva. Still with the glory of the tejas of Śiva, you could not visualise him.

Only the people with solid intelligence are in a position to visualise the great forms of Viṣṇu, Indra, Yama, Varuṇa, which are quite solid. You were born out of the belly of the moon. You are, therefore, Kāla, while Parameśvara is Mahākāla. Maheśvara is Mahākāla. Therefore, you are going to fell prey to the burning flame of lord Śiva. He being the carrier of the solid bow, is indestructible. He is a great warrior and is above the universe. He destroys the danger of fever. He is the lord of all the animals, birds as well as the gods. Neither you, nor the four-faced Brahmā, are the rulers of the universe.

Thus thinking deeply, you stop your soul with your own soul, otherwise the death will fall over you in the same way as the vajra falls over the mountain. You will fall a prey to the anger of Mahārudra.

At the words so spoken by Virabhadra, Narasimha was overpowered with anger. Then he thundered and tried to capture Virabhadra using his strength. At the same time, the terrific lustre of Śiva, which could terrorise the world, appeared in a horrible form.

It was not of golden colour and was not born of the sun, moon or the fire. It neither resembled the moon nor the lightning. This form was related to Śiva alone and was quite charming.

Then all the lustres were absorbed in the lustre of lord Śiva and Virabhadra emerged out of it.

He then took to the simple but deceitful form of Rudra. Then, the Paramēśvara appeared in the form of a destroyer.

The gods shouted the slogans of victory, while others uttered benevolent words, quite loudly. All the gods and others stood there to have a view of the situation. Then, Virabhadra took to a form with thousands of arms. He was adorned with matted locks of hair as well as the crescent moon over his head.

All his tree eyes were filled with anger, resembling the bulls of fire. His lips and teeth became quite clear. Then he uttered a loud humikāra.

At the sight of Virabhadra, Narasimha lost all his strength and prowess. His position was turned like a firefly under the sun rays. Then, Virabhadra bound Narasimha, with the tail with the help of his wings and tightened his arms around his body. Then he whirled him and shooked him with his wings clutching him at the belly and the feet. Then he hit him at his chest. As the bird of prey lifts up a serpent and flies high into the sky, similarly, Virabhadra lifted up Narasimha. He was followed by the Devas and the sages and went out of sight. Sometimes, he lifted up Narasimha and sometimes, he let him fall down. Flying high up in the air, he wounded him with his wings rendering him unconscious. Devas followed the excellent Virabhadra, lord of the universe, who carried Narasimha in the sky. They offered prayer to him. Even when Narasimha was being carried away, the Man-lion in his helpless state, eulogised Śiva with hands joined with reverence. His pitiable condition was visible over his face. He eulogised lord Śiva in elegant and graceful words.

Narasimha, then prayed to lord Śiva, by reciting his hundred and eight names.

Then he said— “Wherever, O lord, I am overpowered with ignorance and great arrogance, then every time you should protect me, removing my ignorance and the darkness.”

The delightful Narasimha, then offered prayer to lord Śiva. Then Virabhadra said— “O Viṣṇu, you indeed are a weak long. You have been defeated at the end of your life.” Then Virabhadra skinned off his body which was now life with bones and then reduced him to a mere face.

Devas said—

O Virabhadra, all of us including Brahmā, have been enlivened by you, by your mere sight like the trees by the clouds. You are the deity by whose fright the fire burns, the sun rises, the wind blows. You are the death who destroys the five elements. O lord, the expounders of Brahman say that you are Sadāśiva, beyond the digits, unmanifest, the greatest firmament and Bhava – the source of all.

O Parameśvara, who are we to understand you – the sole support of the universe? You are aware that we are unable to describe the beauty of your form.

O lord of the ganas, you protect us in all the calamities. You are the one with eleven souls, you are the personified Śiva.

O Śiva, by visualising several types of your similar incarnations, no further doubt about you remains. You have unmeasured forms resembling the black berries over the ridges of the mountains. Please withdraw this form, let it not frighten the world.

द्वे तनू तव रुद्रस्य वेदज्ञा ब्राह्मणा विदुः।
घोराप्यन्या शिवाप्यन्या ते प्रत्येकमनेकधा॥१०६॥

The Brāhmaṇas well-versed in the Vedas are aware of the fact that Rudra has two types of bodies, viz., Ghora and the pleasing one. Each one is manifold.

इहास्मान्पाहि भगवन्त्याहतमहाबलः।
भवता हि जगत्सर्वं व्यासं स्वेनैव तेजसा॥१०७॥

O lord, your great strength is beyond obstruction. Therefore, you protect us here. Indeed, you are all pervading in the world in the form of your splendour.

ब्रह्मविष्णवीर्द्वचंद्रादि वर्यं च प्रमुखाः सुराः।
सुरासुराः संप्रसूतास्त्वतः सर्वे महेश्वरः॥१०८॥

O Maheśvara, all of us being the prominent gods, viz., Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Indra, Soma and others, have emerged out of you.

यतो बिभर्षि सकलं विभज्य तनुमष्ठाः।
अतोस्मान्पाहि भगवन्सुरान्दनैरभीष्मितैः॥११०॥

O lord, you maintain the world by dividing yourself in eight forms viz., Brahmā, Indra, Viṣṇu and Yama (and others). You are the supporter. You protect all the gods by bestowing the suitable gifts.

उवाच तान् सुरान्देवो महर्षीश्च पुरातनान्।

Then Virabhadra spoke to the gods as well as the ancient R̄ṣis. As the water in the water, milk in the milk and ghee in the ghee are absorbed when poured together, similarly, Viṣṇu gets absorbed in Śiva. This is the form of Narasimha which has become so arrogant with prowess.

जगत्संहारकारेण प्रवृत्तो नरकेसरी।
याजनीयो नमस्तस्मै मद्भक्तिसिद्धिकांक्षिभिः॥११३॥

Then Narasimha was erected by the destroyer of the world for the purpose of destruction. Those who seek my grace, for them Narasimha is adorable.

एतावदुक्त्वा भगवान्वीरभद्रो महाबलः।

The valorous Virabhadra, thus speaking, disappeared from the scene, in full view of all those present there.

Since that time, lord Śiva uses the skin of Narasimha as his costumes. The skin of lion was added to the garland of skulls worn by Śiva around his neck.

ततो देवा निरातङ्काः कीर्तयंतः कथामिमाम्।

Thereafter, the gods who smiled with surprise, were freed from the terror and narrating the story, retired to their respective abodes.

Killing of Jalandhara

ऋषय ऊचुः

वक्षुमर्हसि चास्माकं रोमर्हण सुव्रत ।

The R̄si is said—

O Romaharṣana, O excellent sage, tell us as to how could the destroyer of the eyes of Bhaga, having matted locks of hair, lord Śiva, killed the Daitya king Jalandhara who was as strong as Indra himself? You kindly narrate the related story to all of us.

Sūta said—

An Asura was born in the ocean who came to be known as Jalandhara. He resembled Yamarāja. He amassed enormous prowess by means of tapas. He overpowered in war not only all the Gandharvas, Yakṣas, Nāgas and Rākṣasas, besides the gods, but also overpowered Brahmā. After conquering Brahmā and the gods, he even went to Viṣṇu, the god of gods. Both of them fought together for long throughout the day and night.

Ultimately, Jalandhara defeated even Viṣṇu. After defeating Viṣṇu – the lord of gods, it was only Śiva who was yet to be defeated. It was therefore quite appropriate to defeat him as well. The Daitya thought— “I have conquered everyone in the war. Only Śiva is yet to be defeated. O Dānavas, after defeating Nandī, the leader of the gaṇas and Śiva, I shall distribute to you the positions of Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Indra and others.” On hearing the words of Jalandhara, all the degraded Daityas ready to face the death and sinful Dānavas started roaring aloud. Accompanied with those Daityas, the valorous Jalandhara, mounting over the chariots, horses, equipped with all the weapons, marched for a war with lord Śiva.

Lord Śiva spotted the Dānava king from the peak of the mountain Meru. He had already known from others that Jalandhara was beyond killing. Then Śiva, the destroyer of the eyes of Bhaga, the lord of the three worlds and their protector, tried to honour his words, given to Brahmā. He was accompanied with Brahmā, Ambā and Nandī, besides his ganas. Then he spoke smilingly—“O lord of asuras, which are you going to achieve by waging the war?

You, be ready to die with the shooting of the arrows by me, which would reduce your body to pieces. Therefore, you get ready to die at my hands with pleasure.” Hearing the harsh words which could tear the ears, the leader of the asuras army replied to Śiva, the lord of Devas—“O lord of gods, O bull-bannered one, having long arms, it is no use talking. O Śiva, I have arrived here to fight with you the war with the weapons which have the lustre of the moon-rays.” On hearing his words, the trident-bearer lord, casually withdrew with his big toe the terrible cakra over the surface of the oceanic water.

कृत्वार्णवांभसि सितं भगवान् रथाङ्गं
स्मृत्वा जगत्रयमनेन हताः सुराश्वै ।
दक्षाधकांतकपुरत्रययज्ञहर्ता
लोकत्रयांतककरः प्रहसंस्तदाह॥१७॥

After drawing the sharp cakra over the surface of the water, lord Śiva thought that his action would bring all the gods of the three worlds to death. Then, the killer of Dakṣa, Andhaka, Antaka, Tripura and destroyer of the yajña of Dakṣa, smilingly spoke.

पादेन निर्मितं दैत्य जलंधर महार्णवे ।
बलवान् यदि चोद्धर्तुं तिष्ठ योद्धुं न चान्यथा॥१८॥
तस्य तद्वचनं श्रुत्वा क्रोधेनादीप्तलोचनः ।
प्रदहन्त्रिव नेत्राभ्यां प्राहालोक्य जगत्रयम्॥१९॥

“O Jalandhara, O Asura, in case, you are in a position to lift up the cakra drawn by me with my big toe over the surface of the water, you can start the war against me and not otherwise.” On hearing the words of Śiva, the asura king started burning with rage. His eyes became red. With his eyes getting red in anger, he glances at all the three worlds as if he would burn the three worlds with his looks.

जलंधर उवाच

Jalandhara then said—

“O Śiva, I shall lift my iron club and shall kill both you and Nandī. As Garuḍa kills the water snakes, similarly, I shall destroy the three worlds with gods. I am competent enough to kill all the mobile and immobile beings, besides Indra. O Maheśvara, who is there on earth to escape death from the arrows shot by me?

बालभावे च भगवान् तपसैव विनिर्जितः ।

During my childhood, I had conquered the lord with my tapas. I had conquered valorous Brahmā, the sages, the chiefs of the gods, during my youthful age.

In earlier times, I had conquered in a moment, all the mobile and immobile beings and burnt them with the three lokas. O Rudra, have you defeated any god with the performance of the tapas by you?

इंद्राग्नियमवित्तेसवायुवारीश्चादयः ।

As the smell of Garuḍa – the king of birds, cannot be tolerated by snakes, similarly, Indra, Agni, Yama, Kubera, Vāyu, Varuṇa and others cannot tolerate my presence.

O Śiva, there is none on earth or in heaven who could face the strength of my arms. O lord of gaṇas, in order to remove the itches of my arms, I go to the mountains, attacking them at the same time.

गिरींद्रो मंदरः श्रीमात्रीलो मेरुः सुशोभनः ।
घर्षितो ब्राहुदण्डेन कंहूनोदार्थमापत्॥२६॥

Mandara – the lord of Mountains, Nīla, the beautiful Meru, all had been attacked by me in the past. Any mountain can fell when I tries to rub it over my arms.

गङ्गा निरुद्धा ब्राह्म्यां लीलार्थं हिमवद्दिरौ ।
नारीणां मम भृत्यैश्च वज्रो बद्धो दिवौकसाम्॥२७॥

I, with the use of my arms, had blocked the water of Gaṅgā over the Himālaya mountain. My servants captured the women of the heaven and lodged them in jail.

वडवायाः मुखं भग्नं गृहीत्वा वै करेण तु ।
तत्क्षणादेव सकलं चैकार्णवमभूदिदम्॥२८॥

I obstructed the oceanic fire inserting my hand in it and made it infructuous. At that point of time, all the oceans became one.

ऐरावतादयो नागाः क्षिताः सिंधुजलोपरि ।
सरथो भगवान्निंदः क्षितश्च शतयोजनम्॥२९॥

I had thrown away Airāvata and other elephants in the oceanic water. I also threw away Indra with his chariot to a distance of a hundred yojanas.

उर्वश्याद्या मया नीता नार्यः कारागृहांतरम्॥३०॥

I imprisoned Viṣṇu with Garuḍa and Nāgapāśa. I put Urvaśī and other damsels in jail.

कथंचिल्लब्ध्यवान् शक्रः शाचीमेकां प्रणम्य माम् ।
मां न जानासि दैत्यैर्दं जलंधरमुमापते॥३१॥

Offering his salutation to me, Indra got back Śaci, with great difficulty. O lord of Umā, you are not aware of myself – the lord of the Daityas, known as Jalandhara.”

सूत उवाच

एवमुक्तो महादेवः प्रादहद्वै रथं तदा ।
तस्य नेत्राग्निभागौककलार्धधैर्ण चाकुलम्॥३२॥

Sūta said—

At these words of Jalandhara, lord Śiva, making use of the sixteenth part of his third eye, resembling the fire flame, burnt the chariot of Jalandhara.

Then the Daitya king, having been surrounded by Daitya army, comprising of horses, elephants and Nāgas, having no companion, escaped death from the fiery glance of lord Śiva – Tripurārī. The silly and weak-minded asura then spoke to the lord of the Devas thus.

किं कार्यं मम युधि देवदैत्य-

"What purpose can be served in the battle by the mutual clash of the gods and the asuras? I alone am competent to destroy all of them in a moment. I am not at all afraid of fighting. O Īśa, this is my earnest desire. Therefore, O enemy of Kāma, Dakṣa, Yajña and Tripura, in case, you have strength enough to fight with my warriors, with the help of your prominent bhūtas and the monkey-faced Nandī, then you keep on fighting with me."

इत्युक्त्वाथ महादेवं महादेवास्तिनंदनः ।
 न चचाल न सस्पार निहतान्बांधवान् युधिः॥ ३६॥

After thus speaking to lord Mahādeva, he did not move from the spot, nor did he bother for the kins killed in the battle.

दुर्मदेनाविनीतात्मा दोष्यामास्फोट्य दोर्बलात् ।
 सुदर्शनाख्यं यच्चक्रं तेन हंतुं समुद्यतः॥ ३७॥

Influenced with his arrogance, the harsh-natured Daitya, clapped his hands and then seized the Sudarśana cakra, using which he tried to kill Śiva with the same.

दुधरिण रथाङ्गेन कुच्छेणापि द्विजोत्तमाः ।

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, he placed the cakra over his shoulders with much effort, but was reduced to pieces with the same.

कुलिशेन यथा छिनोद्विघा गिरिवरो द्विजाः ।

पपात दैत्यो बलवानञ्जनाद्विरिवापरः॥ ३९॥

As an excellent mountain falls with the fall of a vajra over it, similarly, the powerful Daitya, fell down dead like the mountain of collyrium.

At the same time, the place was covered with the terrible blood of the Daitya. At the command of lord Śiva, the flash and blood of the asura, reached the terrific hell and was transformed with the deep pit of blood. On seeing Jalandhara killed, all the Gods, Gandharvas and the servants, uttered lion's roar and cried— "Very well done, O lord." The one who reads or listens to this tale of the subjugation of Jalandhara, or narrates it to others, he will surely attain the leadership of gaṇas.

Viṣṇu's receiving of Cakra, reciting

ऋषय ऊचुः

How did lord Viṣṇu receive Sudarśana cakra from lord Śiva? You kindly narrate the relevant story to us.

Sūta said—

Once there was a great war fought between the prominent gods and the asuras, for the destruction of the living beings. The gods, having been upset with the attacks of śaktis, clubs, mūśalas, arrows, spears, were wounded. Then the gods getting terrified and kneeling down, fled from the battlefield.

Then the defeated gods, with a painful heart, approached Viṣṇu, the god of gods, and offered their salutation to him.

तान् समीक्ष्याथ भगवान् देवदेवेश्वरो हरिः ।

After offering their salutation, the gods stood aside. Finding them there, Viṣṇu – the god of gods, spoke to them thus.

वत्साः किमिति वै देवाश्युतालङ्करविक्रमाः ।

“O gods, where from have you arrived with such a great panic? You tell me all this.”

happened earlier.

भगवन्देवदेवेश विष्णो जिष्णो जनार्दन ।
दानवैः पीडिताः सर्वे वयं शरणमागताः॥८॥

They said— “O lord Viṣṇu, O god of gods, O Janārdana, having been terrified from the Daityas, we have arrived here to take refuge with you.

त्वमेव देवदेवश गतिर्नः पुरुषोत्तम ।
त्वमेव परमात्मा हि त्वं पिता जगतामपि॥९॥

O Puruṣottama, O lord, O lord of gods, you are the only strength for us. You are the supreme soul. You are the creator of the three worlds.

त्वमेव भर्ता हर्ता च भोक्ता दाता जनार्दन ।
हंतुमर्हसि तस्मात्त्वं दानवान्दानवार्दन॥१०॥

O Janārdana, you are the feeder of the world, destroyer as well the bestower. Therefore, O destroyer of the Dānavas, it would be appropriate for you to kill them.

Because they have achieved the boons, therefore, they cannot be killed with these miraculous weapons which are possessed by Viṣṇu, Brahmā, Rudra, Yama, Kubera, Soma, Nirṛti, Varuṇa, Vāyu, Soma, Agni, Surya, Īśāna, etc., besides the other horrible weapons which shake the enemy and make the enemy powerless. O lotus-eyed one, they can not be killed because they are protected because of the boons received by them. They cannot be killed (by ordinary weapons). You kindly procure the cakra emerging from the solar disc, which had been assembled with the bones of Dadhīca – the son of Cyavana. By your grace, the Daityas have already procured your dandā, the bow and other weapons. In earlier times, the terrific cakra had been developed by Śiva – the enemy of Tripura, for the destruction of Jalandhara. You kindly kill the Daityas with the same weapon.

वाचस्पतिमुखानाह स हरिश्चक्रभृत् स्वयम्।

These Dānavas can be killed with the same weapon and not with hundreds of other weapons.” Listening to the prayer of the gods, the lotus-eyed lord Viṣṇu, then said to Brahmā and other gods.

श्रीविष्णुरुचाच

Lord Viṣṇu said—

O gods, presently, I shall approach lord Śiva, with all of you and shall then perform your task. O gods, the cakra which lord Śiva had made earlier for the killing of Jalandhara, will be procured by me, after which, I shall kill Dhundhumukha and six thousand other asuras. In this way, I shall kill all the Daityas in a moment.

Sūta said—

After thus speaking to the best of the gods, lord Viṣṇu then remembered lord Śiva, adoring him at the same time. For the purpose of adoration, a Sivalinga of the size of the Meru mountain was installed over the excellent peak of Himālaya. At once, Rudra sūktas were recited, while bathing the Sivalinga. Then he adored the Sivalinga offering the fragrance. The linga was the form of flame and was quite beautiful. He offered prayer to Rudra. Thereafter, adoring the fire, he bowed before the same with reverence. His each and every name was recited in combination with Praṇava and ending with namah. Of the thousand names of Śiva, the first one was Bhava. Each and every name was adored with the offering of a lotus flower. Using the yajña sticks, starting from Bhava, he performed homa ten thousand times. At the end of each name, he also uttered the word Svāhā. As we say Om bhavāya svāhā. Thereafter, he started the prayer starting with the names like, Śambhu, Bhava, Isāna, starting from Bhava.

सूत उवाच

एवं नामां सहस्रेण तुष्टव वृषभध्वजम्॥१५९॥
स्नापयामास च विभुः पूजयामास पङ्कजैः।
परीक्षार्थं हरे: पूजाकमलेषु महेश्वरः॥१६०॥
गोपयामास कमलं तदैकं भुवनेश्वरः।
हृतपुष्पो हरिस्तत्र किमिदं त्वभ्यचितयन्॥१६१॥

Sūta said—

In this way, lord Viṣṇu, reciting a thousand names of Śiva, worshipped the bull-bannered lord. Then lord Viṣṇu, bathed lord Śiva and adored with him the lotus flowers. In order to test the devotion of Viṣṇu, lord Śiva, concealed one of the lotus flowers. With the disappearing of the lotus flower, Viṣṇu thought—“How has it happened?”

ज्ञात्वा स्वनेत्रमृद्धृत्य सर्वसत्त्वाबलंबनम्।
पूजयामास भावेन नाम्ना तेन जगद्गुरुम्॥१६२॥

Finding the disappearing of a lotus, Viṣṇu (who is known as having lotus like eyes) took out one of his eyes and then worshipped lord Śiva who is the refuge of all, besides being the preceptor of the universe. He worshipped the lord uttering his last name.

ततस्तत्र विभुदृष्टा तथाभूतं हरो हरिम्।
तस्मादवतताराशुं मण्डलात्पावकस्य च॥१६३॥

Then finding Viṣṇu in that condition, Śiva at once, descended in the fire altar.

कोटिभास्करसङ्काशं जटामुकुटमण्डितम्।
ज्वालामालावृतं दिव्यं तीक्ष्णदण्डं भयङ्करम्॥१६४॥

शूलटङ्गगदाचक्रकुंतपाशधरं हरम्।
वरदाभयहस्तं च दीपिचर्मोत्तरीयकम्॥१६५॥
इत्थंभूतं तदा दृष्टा भवं भस्मविभूषितम्।

Finding the lord of gods there, Viṣṇu was highly pleased and he offered his salutation to the lord. Śiva was wearing the crown of the matted locks of hair over his head and was resplendent like the crores of suns. He looked quite divine and was surrounded by the fire flames. He looked horrible with his sharp teeth. He held in his hand a trident, a battle-axe, club, cakra, spear and the noose as attributes. He then displayed his hand which bestows the boons. He was clad in the tiger skin as his upper garment. He had applied ashes over his body.

हष्टे नमश्वकाराशु देवदेवं जनार्दनः॥१६६॥
दुद्धुवुस्तं परिक्रम्य सेंद्रा देवास्त्रिलोचनम्।
चचाल ब्रह्मभुवनं चकम्पे च वसुंधरा॥१६७॥

The delightful Viṣṇu offered his salutation to lord Śiva; Indra and other gods, went round lord Śiva. Brahmaloka was shaken at this. The earth was shaken too.

ददाह तेजस्तच्छंभोः प्रांतं वै शतयोजनम्।
अधस्ताच्चोर्ध्वतश्वेव हाहेत्यकृत भूतले॥१६८॥

The lustre of Śiva burnt everything upto a distance of a hundred yojanas all round and the thundering sound echoed over the entire earth.

तदा प्राह महादेवः प्रहसन्निव शङ्करः।
संप्रेक्ष्य प्रणयाद्विष्णुं कृताञ्जलिपुर्टं स्थितम्॥१६९॥
ज्ञातं मयेदमधुना देवकार्यं जनार्दनं।
सुदर्शनाख्यं चक्रं च ददामि तव शोभनम्॥१७०॥
यदूपं भवता दृष्टं सर्वलोकभयङ्करम्।
हिताय तव यत्नेन तव भवाय सुव्रता॥१७१॥

Then lord Śiva found Viṣṇu standing besides him who was smiling with folded hands. Lord Śiva said— “O Janārdana, I have well understood the task of the gods. I give over to you the graceful Sudarśana cakra. O excellent one, this indeed is meant for your welfare as well as for your own purpose. O Viṣṇu, I took to this terrific form, which has just been witnessed by you.

शांतं रणाजिरे विष्णो
देवानां दुःखसाधनम्।
शांतस्य चास्त्रं शांतः
स्याच्छांतेनास्त्रेण किं फलम्॥१७२॥

O Viṣṇu, to remain inactive in the battlefield, is the cause of misery for the people. The weapon of a peaceful person is also peaceful and no solution can be found with a peaceful weapon.

शांतस्य समरे चास्त्रं शांतिरेव तपस्विनम्।
योद्धुः शांत्या बलच्छेदः परस्य बलवृद्धिदः॥१७३॥

The prowess of a warrior declines with the peaceful approach in the field and the strength of the enemy increases.

देवैरशांतैर्यदूपं मदीयं भावयाव्ययम्।
किमायुधेन कार्यं वै योद्धुं देवारिसूदन॥१७४॥

You just think over the eternal form of mine, which has just been witnessed by the gods. O destroyer of the enemies, a single weapon is of no use in a battle.

क्षमा युधि न कार्यं वै योद्धुं देवारिसूदन।
अनागते व्यतीते च दौर्बल्ये स्वजनोत्करे॥१७५॥
अकालिके त्वधर्मे च अनर्थे वारिसूदन।
एवमुक्त्वा ददौ चक्रं सूर्यायुतसमप्रभम्॥१७६॥

O destroyer of the enemies of the gods, a warrior should not forgive in the battleground. Do not use this cakra for the removal of your weakness. The cakra should also not be used over your own people or at an inappropriate time. When the evil and atrocities come to an end, even then, it should not be used.” Thus speaking, lord Śiva handed over the cakra to Viṣṇu. The cakra was resplendent like the ten thousand suns.

नेत्रं च नेता जगतां प्रभुर्वै पद्मसन्त्रिभम्।
तदाप्रभृति तं प्राहुः पद्माक्षमिति सुव्रतम्॥१७७॥

Then Śiva – the lord of the three worlds, also returned one eye to Viṣṇu, which resembled a lotus flower. Since then, Viṣṇu is known as Padmākṣa.

दत्त्वैनं नयनं चक्रं विष्णवे नीललोहितः।
पर्स्पर्शं च कराभ्यां वै सुशुभ्यामुवाच ह॥१७८॥
वरदोहं वरश्रेष्ठ वरान्वरय वरमुत्तमम्।
भक्त्या वशीकृतो नूनं त्वयाहं पुरुषोत्तम॥१७९॥

Giving over the eye as well as the Sudarśana cakra to Viṣṇu, Śiva touched the body of Viṣṇu with his auspicious hands and said— “I am the bestower of boons. You ask for the selected boons. Surely, you have won me over with your devotion.”

इत्युक्तो देवदेवेन देवदेवं प्रणम्य तम्।
त्वयि भक्तिर्महादेव प्रसीद वरमुत्तमम्॥१८०॥

At these words of lord Śiva, Viṣṇu offered his salutation to Śiva and said— “O Mahādeva, let me always remain devoted to you. You always remain pleased with me. Be pleased with me and then grant me the boon.

नान्यमिच्छामि भक्तानामार्तयो नास्ति यत्प्रभो।
तच्छ्रुत्वा वचनं तस्य दयावान् सुतरां भवः॥१८१॥
पर्स्पर्शं च ददौ तस्मै श्रद्धां शीतांशुभूषणः।
प्राह चैवं महादेवः परमात्मानमच्युतम्॥१८२॥

I do not beg for anything else. I need nothing. O lord, there is no other desire of the devotees.” Listening to the words of Viṣṇu, the compassionate lord Candraśekhara, touched the body of Viṣṇu and bestowed on Viṣṇu, his own devotion.

मयि भक्तश्च वंद्यश्च पूज्यश्चैव सुरासुरैः।
भविष्यसि न संदेहो मत्प्रसादात्सुरोत्तम॥१८३॥

Then Mahādeva said— “O best of gods, by my grace, you will always remain devoted to me. You will surely be adorable by the demons and the gods alike.

When Satī, the daughter of Dakṣa with beautiful eyes and the goddess of the gods, denouncing her parents, would be born as Umā – the daughter of Himavān, then, O Viṣṇu, you would give her to me as your sister at the command of Brahmā. Then the people would adore you as my kin.

मां दिव्येन च भावेन तदाप्रभृति शङ्करम्।

At that point of time, you with a divine and friendly feelings, feeling delighted, would glance at me as if I be your friend.”

Thus speaking, Śiva disappeared. Then lord Viṣṇu, in the presence of the sages, prayed to Brahmā— “O Brahmā, born of a lotus, the divine prayer offered by me is quite graceful. whosoever would read it or listen to it, or would read out to an excellent Brāhmaṇa, he shall receive a piece of gold with a single recitation.

अश्वमेधसहस्रेण फलं भवति तस्य वै।

He will also receive the fruit of performing a thousand horse sacrifices. By reciting the thousand-named stotra of Śiva and with auspicious vases of water whosoever would bathe Rudra, he would achieve the reward for the performing of a thousand yajñas. He would be adored by the gods and lord Śiva would be pleased with him.” These were the words spoken by Brahmā to Viṣṇu in reply— “Be it so”. Thus speaking, both the gods returned to their respective places. Therefore, O Brāhmaṇas, a sinless person, whosoever would adore Śiva, reciting the thousand names, he would achieve the final beatitude.

The origin of the Goddess

ऋषय ऊचुः

The R̄ṣis said—

“O highly intelligent Sūta, you have narrated the episode of the birth of the goddess. Now, you kindly speak out about the birth of the goddess as the daughter of Mainā, besides the destruction of the yajña of Dakṣa. How was the goddess given over to the lord by lord Viṣṇu? You tell us all about the same.

How was she married to lord Śiva? You kindly relate the relevant episode to all of us today.” On hearing their words, Sūta, who was well-versed in the Paurāṇika tales, spoke out the story of the birth of the goddess before them.

Sūta said—

In earlier times, this story was narrated by Brahmā to Nandī. Nandī then repeated the same story to Sanatkumāra. The intelligent sage Sanatkumāra than narrated the same story to Vyāsa. I had heard the same story from the sage Vyāsa. I shall narrate the same story to you in detail.

लिङ्गमूर्तिः शिवो ज्योतिस्तमसश्चोपरि स्थितः॥७॥

O excellent one, at the request of all of you, I, offering my salutation to Umā and Śiva, am going to narrate the same to you. She is the mother of the universe and is known as Bhagā as well. She is lodged in the image of Liṅga as the threefold pedestal. Liṅga represents lord Śiva himself. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the world was created by both of them. The Śivaliṅga represents the light in the darkness.

लिङ्गवेदिसमायोगादर्धनारीश्वरोभवत्।
ब्रह्माणं विदधे देवमग्रे पुत्रं चतुर्मुखम्॥८॥

With the combination of Liṅga and the pedestal, Śiva is known as Ardhanārīśvara and he produced Brahmā as his son, having four mouths.

प्राहिणोति स्म तस्यैव ज्ञानं ज्ञानमयो हरः ।
विश्वाधिकोसौ भगवानर्धनारीश्वरो विभुः॥९॥

Ardhanārīśvara had the maximum knowledge in the world and he imparted knowledge to Brahmā.

हिरण्यगर्भं तं देवो जायमानमपश्यत ।
सोपि रुद्रं महादेवं ब्रह्मापश्यत शङ्करम्॥१०॥

Lord Śiva witnessed lord Brahmā at birth. Then Brahmā witnessed Rudra, Śaṅkara and Mahādeva.

तं दृष्ट्वा संस्थितं देवमर्धनारीश्वरं प्रभुम्।

विभजस्वेति विश्वेशं विश्वात्मानमजो विभुः ।
ससर्ज देवों वामाङ्गात्पत्तीं चैवात्मनः समाम्॥१२॥

Finding lord Ardhanārīśvara there, Brahmā, having been born of lotus, offered prayer to lord Śiva with sweet words in order to please the lord. The unborn lord Śiva, the soul of the universe, was praised by Brahmā saying— “O lord, O Aja, O Śiva – the soul of the universe, that he should divide himself. Thereafter, lord Śiva created Umā out of his left half as his wife.

श्रद्धा ह्यस्य शुभा पत्नी ततः पुंसः पुरातनी ।
सैवाज्ञया विभोर्देवी दक्षपुत्री बभूव ह ॥१३॥

The beautiful and the ancient lady known as Śraddhā was born as the daughter of Dakṣa.

सतीसंज्ञा तदा सा वै रुद्रमेवाश्रिता पतिम् ।
दक्षं विनिंद्य कालेन देवी मैना ह्यभूत्पुनः ॥१४॥

At that point of time, she came to be known as Satī. She had Rudra as her husband. After some time, she denounced Dakṣa and was reborn as the daughter of Menā.

नारदस्यैव दक्षोपि शापादेवं विनिंद्य च ।

Because of the curse of Nārada, Dakṣa was also forced to denounce Śiva. The arrogant Dakṣa dishonoured the lord of Umā with contempt. When Satī came to know about the misdeeds of her own father, then she, at the same moment, reduced herself into ashes. Subsequently, she was reborn as Pārvatī – the daughter of the Himālaya mountain. She performed tapas for Śiva thereafter. Realising this, at the command of the son of Cyavana, the angered lord Bhaga, reduced to ashes the vast yajñā of Dakṣa. The son of Cyavana came to be known as the intelligent Dadhīca. He conquered Viṣṇu by the grace of Śiva. Then he pronounced curse over the gods and Viṣṇu. O gods, because of the Māyā of lord Śiva, the fire emerging out of the anger of Śiva, all the Devas were burnt to ashes.

Destruction of Dakṣa's sacrifice by Śiva

ऋषय ऊचुः

विजित्य विष्णुना सार्धं भगवान्परमेश्वरः ।

सर्वान्दधीचवच्चनात्कथं भेजे महेश्वरः ॥१॥

The R̄si is said—

How did Dadhīca, the son of Cyavana, conquered all the gods with Viṣṇu, you please tell us?

सूत उवाच

दक्षयज्ञे सुविपुले देवान् विष्णुपुरोगमान् ।

ददाह भगवान् रुद्रः सर्वान्मुनिगणानपि ॥२॥

Sūta said—

In the yajña of Dakṣa, Rudra burnt out all the gods with Viṣṇu and Rṣis.

भद्रो नाम गणस्तेन प्रेषितः परमेष्ठिना।
विप्रयोगेन देव्या वै दुःसहेनैव सुवताः॥३॥

O excellent sages, because of the unbearable separation from Umā, Śiva felt immensely grieved. He, therefore, deputed a gāya named Bhadra.

सोसृजद्वीरभद्रश्च गणेशान् रोमजाङ्घुभान्।
गणेश्वरैः समारुह्य रथं भद्रः प्रतापवान्॥४॥

Then Virabhadra, produced out of the hair of his own body, the lord of the Nāgas, the glorious Virabhadra, mounted over the chariot with them, which was being driven by Brahmā. All of them marched towards Dakṣa. Carrying various types of arms, they mounted over the excellent planes and followed the chariot of Gaṇeśvara Virabhadra. The place of Dakṣa's sacrifice was located at the top peak of the Himālaya, near the place of the origin of the river Gaṅgā. O Brāhmaṇas, this auspicious and well-known place was known by the name of Kanakhala. Lord Śiva had deputed Virabhadra to burn out that place. At that time, there were horrible calamities, indicative of the fear of danger to the world as a whole.

पर्वताश्च व्यशीर्यत प्रचकंपे वसुधरा।

The mountains crumbled, the earth was shaken. The winds whirled to and fro and the ocean was agitated.

अग्नयो नैव दीप्यति न च दीप्यति भास्करः।
ग्रहाश्च न प्रकाशयते न देवा न च दानवाः॥१०॥

The fires did not blaze. The sun lost its lustre. The planets were faded out. Neither the Devas, nor the Daityas, felt pleased.

ततः क्षणात् प्रविश्यैव यज्ञवाटं महात्मनः।

इत्युक्त्वा यज्ञशालां तां ददाह गणपुङ्गवः॥१३॥

Then in a moment, Bhadra entered the sacrificial ground in the company of the gāyas emerging out of his hair. He resembled the black fire. He addressed the immensely illustrious Dakṣa— “O Dakṣa, I have been deputed by Śiva – the Piñaka bearer, for the destruction of your yajña.” Thus speaking, Gaṇeśvara Virabhadra, at once burnt out the place of yajña.

गणेश्वराश्च संक्रुद्धा यूपानुत्पाठ्य चिक्षिपुः।
प्रस्तोत्रा सह होत्रा च दग्धं चैव गणेश्वरैः॥१४॥

The Gaṇeśvara in rage, uprooted the pillars of the yajña maṇḍapa and threw them away. He also threw out the performer and the priest. The Gaṇeśvara burnt everybody present there.

गृहीत्वा गणपाः सर्वान् गङ्गास्तोतसि चिक्षिपुः।

They threw away all of them in the flowing stream of the Gaṅgā. The immensely illustrious Vīrabhadra captured the elephant of the retiring Indra. He, without much efforts, tore out the eyes of Bhaga with his sharp nails. With the administering of his fist, broke the teeth of Pūṣaṇa. He hurt Soma with an axe with the use of his big toe. He even cut off the head of Indra. After cutting off the hands of Agni, besides pulling out his tongue with ease, he kicked his head with his foot.

Vīrabhadra also cut off the daṇḍa of Yama. He also attacked Isāna – the valorous Dikpāla, with his trident. He also killed three thousand three hundred and thirty three gods with their three prominent leaders. He also killed the Rṣis. Vīrabhadra also killed the gods who had been getting ready for fighting a war. Lord Rudra killed all with the use of his swords, arrows and other weapons. Then the immensely illustrious and powerful Viṣṇu, lifted up his club and started a fight with Rudra. There had been a terrific fight between the two.

With the yogic strength of Viṣṇu, innumerable warriors holding śāṅkha, cakra and gadā, possessing divine bodies, emerged out (of Viṣṇu's body). All of them had the lustre of Nārāyaṇa. Vīrabhadra killed them all and also struck Viṣṇu with his club. Thereafter, he struck his chest with his club. As a result of this, Viṣṇu fell down fainted in the battlefield. He got up again. Then, he lifted up his cakra for the killing of Vīrabhadra. In rage, Viṣṇu stood up with his eyes getting red. But the powerful Vīrabhadra made the cakra infructuous in the hand of Viṣṇu. The hand of Viṣṇu carrying cakra became numb and could not move even slightly.

शार्ङ्गकोटिप्रसङ्गाद्वै चिच्छेद च शिरः प्रभोः॥३१॥

At that point of time, Vīrabhadra cut off the Śārṅga bow of lord Viṣṇu, shooting three arrows in three pieces. Thereafter, Vīrabhadra cut off the head of Viṣṇu with the tip of the bow.

The severed head of lord Viṣṇu, inspired with the breath of lord Śiva, was carried to Pātāla and there it entered into the consecrated fire. All the pitchers of the yajñā were destroyed with that fire. All the pillars of the torāṇas (canopies) were enrooted. The entire place of yajñā was burnt out. At the sight of the burning of the place of yajñā, the yajñā god also fled in the sky in the form of a deer. Then the valorous Virabhadra, kicked the heads of Prajāpati, Dharmā, Kaśyapa the universal preceptor, with his sons – Ariṣṭanemi, Aṅgirā, Kṛṣṇāśva and Dakṣa.

Virabhadra also injured the tip of the nose of Sarasvatī – the mother of all, with his nails. He gracefully stood among all as Śiva stands in the cremation ground. At the same time, the illustrious Brahmā arrived before Virabhadra and offering his salutation to him, prayed– “O noble one, your anger is of no use. All the dwellers of the heaven have already been destroyed.

O excellent one, be pleased. Forgive them all including the Gaṇeśvaras who were born out of your hairpits.” Virabhadra was pacified with the influence of Brahmā. At his command, all the lords of the lokas with their respective gaṇas, at the prayer of Brahmā in the sky, all those who had been killed at the command of the bull-bannered Śiva, were brought back to life. The heads of Indra, Viṣṇu, Dakṣa and other seers, as well as the ascetics and others, were returned. The tip of the nose of the goddess Sarasvatī was also returned to her. Those who had been destroyed were also brought back to life. He bestowed boons on all of them appropriately. Since the head of Dakṣa had been damaged, he was playfully given over another pleasant face.

Dakṣa, after regaining consciousness, offered prayer to the bull-bannered Śiva with folded hands. When so eulogised by Dakṣa, the bull-bannered Śiva, bestowed various types of boons on him. Then Dakṣa, the performer of the noble deeds, was bestowed with the position of the chief of the gaṇas. Then all the gods offered prayer to the bull-bannered Śiva. Then lord Nārāyaṇa offered prayer to Śiva with folded hands. Then bestowing his blessings on all, lord Śiva at once disappeared from the scene.

The king Himālaya then performed the name giving ceremony for his daughter, besides the performing of the other rites. When she attained the age of twelve years, then the pleasant faced girl performed tapas. Her younger sister also completed her tapas with her. Both the sisters were of different temperament. The younger sister was also held in reverence by all the people surrounding her. The ascetics praised her performing hard tapas. The elder sister was known as Aparṇā and the younger sister was known as Ekaparṇā. Ekaparṇā had a pleasant face. The beautiful third sister was known as Ekapāṭalā. Pārvatī, the great goddess, with the performing of great tapas, overpowered the mind of lord Śiva.

Tāra then caught hold of the chariot of Viṣṇu and threw it at a distance of a hundred yojanas. After having been defeated by Tāra in the battle, Viṣṇu fled away from the battleground.

Then Tāra, the son of Diti, received boons and strength from Brahmā, a hundred times.

Then Tāra, the lord of the Daitya chiefs, conquered all the gods together with Indra. With the influence of his Māyā, he obstructed the activities of all the gods. Indra and other gods suffered immensely from Tāraka. Though the gods were quite powerful, but because of the sufferings from Tāra – the great Daitya, they had been deprived of their place. They also could find any place of refuge.

Then Rudra – the lord of gods, approached the sage Aṅgiras and spoke to the sage in the presence of all the gods.

“O lord, there is a great Dānava known as Tāraka who is the son of Tāra. He is a great Dānava. He had defeated us in the battle in the same way as a bull defeats a calf.

They have been rendered homeless and have been defeated in the great war. Because of the influence of Tāraka – the enemy of gods, all our terrific weapons have become blunt.

O Bṛhaspati, this Rākṣasa has fought with Viṣṇu for twenty thousand years, but still he could not be killed. The powerful Viṣṇu could not defeat Tāraka in the war, then how could people like us face him in the battle field?" When Indra offered his prayer to Bṛhaspati – the preceptor of the gods, he, in company of all the gods, reached before Brahmā. He was accompanied with the other chiefs of the gods. All of them narrated the entire episode to Brahmā. Then Brahmā, who always removes the miseries of his devotees, listened to them patiently. Then Bṛhaspati said to Indra and other gods.

"I am aware of the misery of the gods. Listen, O gods, Satī, who was born of the body of Śiva, after denouncing Dakṣa, has been reborn as Umā – the daughter of Himālaya. She is adored by all the gods. O excellent gods, you should make all the efforts to attract Śiva towards the beauty of Umā. With the union of both of them, Skanda would be born, who would kill the asura Tāraka without much efforts. He would be the carrier of Śakti, six-headed, twelve-armed, a great warrior, known as Pāvaki, Kārttikeya, Gāngeya, Saradhāmaja, Prabhu, Svāheya, Śākha, Viśākha, Naigameṣa, Senāpati, Kumāra and Mahāsena. He would be adored by all. Inspite of his being a child, he would possess great prowess. He, after killing Tāraka without much efforts, would protect the gods."

This is the advice rendered by Brahmā to the gods. Thereafter, all the gods with Bṛhaspati, offered their salutation to lord Brahmā. Thereafter, Bṛhaspati, with all the gods, returned at the peak of the Meru mountain. Reaching there, they remembered Kāmadeva – the god of love. When Brahmā – the preceptor of the gods, thus, remembered Kāmadeva, he at once arrived there with his wife Rati.

They offered their salutation to him and said— “O Br̥haspati, you have remembered me, therefore, I have reached here. You tell me whatever has to be done by me.” Then Br̥haspati said— “You unite Umā with Śiva today so that Umā sports with Śiva. You find a way out with your wife Rati. You move accordingly. When pleased, lord Śiva would bestow the final beatitude to you. He has already been separated from Umā and would be pleased on getting her back.” At these words of Indra, Kāmadeva offered his salutation to him. Then, Kāmadeva and Rati decided to go to the abode of Śiva.

As a helper, he took Vasanta (spring season) with him and he mentally resolved to unite Umā and Śiva. Finding him there, Śiva smilingly looked with contempt at Kāmadeva. Then Kāmadeva, who stood close to Śiva, was reduced to ashes with the fire flames emerging out of the third eye of Śiva. Observing this, Rati cried aloud. Hearing the lamenting of Rati, the bull-bannered Śiva looked at Rati and spoke the compassionate words— “O gentle lady, it is true that your husband has lost his body and has become formless, but at the time of union, he would indulge in all the activities as before. There is no doubt about it. When the glorious lord Viṣṇu would be reborn as Kṛṣṇa as son of Vāsudeva because of the curse of Bhṛgu for the welfare of all the people, then his son Aniruddha (Pradyumna) would be your husband.” On hearing this, Rati – the wife of Kāmadeva, wearing a serene smile over her face, offering her salutation to lord Śiva in the hope of regaining her lost husband, returned to her abode together with Vasanta.

Sūta said—

The bull-bannered Śiva was pleased with the penance performed by Umā. At the advice of Brahmā, Śiva, for the sake of his sports and for the welfare of the people of all walks of life, married Pārvatī.

The lotus-born Brahmā himself, accompanied with Marīca and other Rṣis, went to the forest to meet Pārvatī.

Śiva is the lord of all the people. We are the servants of lord Śiva, who is the lord of all. The great lord Śiva is going himself to accept you. He is the bestower of boons. O mother, you were created by him alone. Surely, he cannot remain without you. He would surely be your husband.” After thus speaking, Brahmā offered his salutation to Pārvatī again and again and meeting her, he returned with devotion. After the departure of Brahmā, lord Śiva arrived at the hermitage of Pārvatī in the form of a Brāhmaṇa to shower her grace on her.

Finding Mahādeva in the form of a Brāhmaṇa, Pārvatī taking him to be her overlord, mentally offered her salutation to him.

After adoration, lord Śiva, who had arrived in the false form of Brāhmaṇa, was adored by Pārvatī.

Mahātmā Himālaya, observing the family tradition, blessed goddess Pārvatī. Then Śiva, the lord of all the gods, jokingly said to Pārvatī in the presence of all— “O divine goddess, I shall meet you in the place of Svayānivara taking to my pleasant form.” Thus speaking, lord Śiva, casting his divine glance at Pārvatī, returned to his abode. Pārvatī too returned to her abode. Observing the return of Pārvatī, Himavān felt delighted together with his wife Menā. He embraced Pārvatī in delight and smelt her head. Himavān, inspite of his being between Śiva and Pārvatī, publicly declared the holding of Svayamvara of Pārvatī.

The people who arrived to participate in the svayamvara of Pārvatī included :— Lord Brahmā, Lord Viṣṇu, Indra, Agni, Sūrya, Bhaga, Tvaṣṭā, Aryamā, Vivasvān, Yama, Varuṇa, Rudra, ascetics, Aśvinikumāras, Ādityas, Gandharvas, Garuḍa, Yakṣa, Siddhas, Sādhyas, Daityas, Kimpuruṣas, the oceans, the rivers, Vedas, Mantras, Stotras and others, Nāgas, mountains, Yakṣas, Sūrya, planets, three thousand three hundred and thirty three gods, besides other people.

Then the goddess Pārvatī, having been adorned with all the ornaments, was mounted over the plane known by the name of Sarvatobhadra. She was accompanied with the dancing Apsarās. She was praised by the bards, Gandharvas, Siddhas and Kinnaras. Mālinī held a white umbrella over the head of Pārvatī, resembling the full moon of the evening time. Pārvatī was surrounded by the female attendants holding flywhisks in their hands.

Jayā, holding the garland of divine flowers in her hands, stood there, while Vijayā stood besides Pārvatī holding a fan in her hand. Then lord Śiva, being bull-bannered, playfully appeared as a child. Lord Śiva slept in the lap of the goddess. Finding a child in her lap, the gods asked Pārvatī—“Who is this child?” All of them were immensely surprised.

बज्रं क्षेत्रं न शशाक बाहुं चालयितुं तथा ।

Indra – the killer of Vṛtra, raised his arm holding vajra to attack the child, but his arm was static and could not move.

Yama could not lift his staff. O leading sages, Nirṛti could not release his sword, Varuṇa could not use the noose and the wind god could not make use of his staff of banner.

The following gods lifted their weapons, but could not make use of them. Soma lifted up his iron club, but stood there motionless. Then Kubera, the most excellent among the staff bearers, lifted up his staff and remained motionless. The Rudras too lifted the tridents, the Ādityas lifted their thrashing rods and the Vasus their mudgaras (iron clubs). All the dwellers of heaven were at once rendered motionless by the lord.

Similarly, the heaven dwellers were also rendered motionless by the lord of the Devas. Shaking his head, Viṣṇu lifted up his discus and was about to strike. The hair on his body became erect. He could not hurl the discus, nor could he move his arm.

The lord also curbed their strength, splendour and the yogic power. Though the gods were infuriated, but they were stunned and became motionless. Brahmā was highly dejected and he mediated on Śiva and then realised that it was lord Īśāna, lying in the lap of Umā.

स बुद्ध्वा देवमीशानं शीघ्रमुत्थाय विस्मितः।

On realising that, lord Brahmā felt surprised. He at once rose up, offered his salutation at his feet and eulogised him.

He eulogised the lord repeating the ancient Sāman songs, holy names and other secret appellations— “You are the creator of all the three worlds, you are the instigator of Prakṛti, you are the cosmic intellect of all the worlds. You are ego and Īśvara. O Īśa, you alone make the elements and the sense organs function. I am the ancient one who had been created out of your right side. O lord of great arms, lord Nārāyaṇa was created from your left side. O cause of creation, the goddess Prakṛti always adopts form and nature of your wife and becomes the cause of the universe. O Mahādeva, salutation to you. Salutation to the great goddess. O lord of the Devas, it was through your favour and at my behest that these subjects, Devas and others were created and deluded by your yogic power. You grant them favour. Let them regain their lost glory."

Sūta उवाच

Sūta said—

Thus offering prayer to lord Śiva – the lord of the Devas, the lotus-born Brahmā spoke to the gods who had been rendered motionless.

The three-eyed lord Śiva was pleased with him. Then, at the request of Brahmā, lord Śiva restored all the gods to their original positions.

तत एवं प्रसन्ने तु सर्वदेवनिवारणम्।
वपुश्चकार देवेशो दिव्यं परममद्भुतम्॥५४॥

Thereafter, Śiva, getting pleased, added further lustre to their bodies which became divine and wonderful. All of them were relieved of their miseries.

With the lustre of Śiva, all the gods, including Indra, the moon, sun, Brahmā, Sādhyas, Nārāyaṇa, Yama and Rudra, prayed for the sight by which they could visualise his true form, which they otherwise could not see. Śiva then bestowed the divine sight to all of them, as a result of which, they were able to visualise everything correctly. Then Śiva also bestowed the divine sight to Bhavānī and Himālaya. Then the gods, together with Indra, Viṣṇu and Brahmā, visualised Śiva. All the gods offered their salutation to Śiva and Pārvatī. Besides, Himavān and all other sages also bowed in reverence to lord Śiva. Siddhas, Cāraṇas and other dwellers of the sky, showered the rain of flowers from the sky.

The divine Dundubhis were sounded. The sages offered prayer to lord Śiva. The Gandharva chiefs sang the songs, while the apsarās performed the dance. The Gaṇeśvaras were delighted, besides the goddess Pārvatī. The delightful Pārvatī placed the fragrant divine garland of flowers over the feet of lord Śiva. The Devas including Brahmā, Yakṣas, Nāgas and Rākṣasas shouted— “Well done, well done”, offering salutation to lord Śiva, with their heads touching the ground.

पातालचारिणशैव सर्वलोकनिवासिनः ॥ ३४ ॥

The prominent gaṇas, who usually roamed about in the nether region and those who stayed in the entire worlds and those resembling crores of suns, arrived there.

तुंबरुनारदो हाहा हृष्णैव तु सामगाः।
रत्नान्यादाय वाद्यांश्च तत्राजग्मुस्तदा पुरम्॥३५॥

The musicians like Tumbaru, Nārada, Hāhā, Hūhā and Sāmaganas arrived there carrying their musical instruments and jewels.

ऋषयः कृत्सशस्तत्र देवगीतास्तपोधनाः।
पुण्यान्वैवाहिकान्मन्त्रानजपुर्हृष्टमानसाः॥३६॥

The sages and ascetics were delighted in their minds and recited the holy mantras of the marriage and the divine songs.

तत एवं प्रवृत्ते तु सर्वतश्च समागमे।

When the people from all the places had thus assembled, Viṣṇu himself led the daughter of the lord of mountains into the place of marriage. She was fully bedecked and had smiles on her face. Then Brahma spoke to Viṣṇu – Nārāyaṇa – the lord of the Devas, in the assembly.

भवानग्रे समुत्पन्नो भवान्या सह दैवतैः।
वामाङ्गादस्य रुद्रस्य दक्षिणाङ्गादर्हं प्रभो॥३९॥

“O lord, you were born out of the left side of Rudra along with Bhavānī and the other deities, while I emerged from his right side.

मन्मूर्तिस्तुहिनाद्रीशो यजार्थं सृष्ट एव हि।
एषा हैमवती जज्ञे मायया परमेष्ठिनः॥४०॥

Of course, Himavān was created for the purpose of sacrifice. Therefore, he is my own form. The daughter of Himavān was born by the grace of Brahmā.

श्रौतस्मार्तप्रवृत्त्यर्थमुद्घाहार्थमिहागतः।
अतोसौ ज्ञगतां धात्री धाता तव ममापि च॥४१॥

Mahādeva is the creator of both of us.

Pārvatī is the mother of the three worlds. Therefore, lord Śiva has arrived here to perform the ceremony as laid down in the scriptures and to perform the marriage ceremony.

अस्य देवस्य रुद्रस्य मूर्तिभिर्विहितं जगत्।
क्षमावग्निखेंद्रसूर्यात्मपवनात्मा यतो भवः॥४२॥

The world has emerged out of the forms of Rudra. The earth, Agni, water, sky, wind, the moon, the sun, and Hṛit, are the eight forms of Śiva and the world has emerged out of the same.

तथापि तस्मै दातव्या वचनाच्च गिरेर्मम।

तव पाद्मे समुद्भूतः कल्पे नाभ्यं बुजादहम्॥४४॥
मदंशस्यास्य शैलस्य ममापि च गुरुर्भवान्।

Still keeping in view the words spoken by Himālaya and those spoken by me, you hand over the unborn of black, white and red colour, to Śiva. She is quite suitable for him. You yourself represent Prakṛti. The relationship of Himālaya with you and me would be beneficial. During the Padmakalpa, I had been born of the lotus emerging out of your navel. Therefore, you happen to be my father. Himavān is a part of myself. Besides, you are my preceptor as well.”

सूत उवाच
बाढमित्यजमाहासौ देवदेवो जनार्दनः॥४५॥

Sūta said—

Then Viṣṇu – the lord of the Devas, said— “Be it so.”

Then the Devas, Rṣis, lord Śiva and the learned people, got up. Then Viṣṇu, also known as Padmanābha, offered his salutation to all. He washed the feet of lord Śiva with his own hands. Then sprinkled water over his own head as well as the heads of Brahmā and Giriśa. Then he said— “Pārvatī, my younger sister as well the daughter of Menā, is meant for marriage with you.” Thus speaking, lord Viṣṇu handed over the hand of Pārvatī into the hand of Śiva, with water. He also handed over himself with water to Śiva. Thereafter, he spoke to the ascetics well-versed in the Vedas— “Undoubtedly, he is lord Śiva whose Māyā is the whole world.” Thus speaking, lord Viṣṇu, feeling thrilled, offered his salutation to lord Śiva. The Siddhas and Cāraṇas, roaming in the sky, showered flowers over them.

देवदुंडुभयो नेदुर्ननृतुश्चाप्सरोगणाः।
 वेदाश्च मूर्तिमंतस्ते प्रणेमुस्तं भहेश्वरम्॥५२॥

The sound of the playing of the big drums was heard. The Apsarās resorted to dancing. All the four Vedas, taking to human forms, bowed in reverence to lord Śiva.

ब्रह्मणा मुनिभिः सार्धं देवदेवमूमापतिम्।

Brahmā and all others including the sages, then offered there salutation to the lord of Umā – the god of gods. Śiva also cast a shy glance at Pārvatī, but he never felt contented by looking at her. Pārvatī, who was the unblemished beauty, also did not feel contented by looking at Śiva. Then he said to Viṣṇu— “I am the bestower of the boons.”

त्वयि भक्तिः प्रसीदेति ब्रह्माख्यां च ददौ तु सः।

Then Viṣṇu said to Śiva— “Let me remain devoted to you. Be pleased with me.” Thereafter, Śiva bestowed the position of Brahmā. Thereafter, Brahmā said to Śiva— “I would like to perform homa in the fire officiating in the position of priest. In case, you so permit, then let me advance the religious rites further. Let me complete the process which has not yet been completed.” At this, Śiva – the god of gods said— “O best of the gods, you do whatever you want to do.

O Brahmā – the god of gods, I shall act according to your instructions.” On hearing this, Brahmā, the Grandsire, was pleased. He offered his salutation to Śiva and handed over the hand of the goddess Pārvatī in the hand of Śiva. The firegod presented himself on the spot with folded hands. The Vedic mantras appeared there in human form. He, according to the process of the performing of yajña, poured paddy or fried paddy in homa. Then adoring the Brāhmaṇas brought by Viṣṇu, he bestowed boons appropriately. Making them circumambulate the fire flames there and then delightfully entied the knot. Thereafter, Brahmā offered his salutation to Śiva – the lord of Umā. He displayed pādya, sipping water, madhuparka and the cow to the newly weds. Thereafter, Brahmā offered his salutation to Śiva. Thereafter, Brahmā stood close to lord Śiva with all the gods.

भृगवाद्यः मुनयः सर्वे चाक्षतैस्तिलतण्डुलैः।
सूर्यादयः समध्यर्च्य तुष्टुवुर्वषभध्वजम्॥६५॥

Bhṛgu and other sages showered unbroken rice and gingelly seeds. The sun and the rest of the luminaries worshipped and eulogised the bull-bannered lord.

शिवः समाप्य देवोकं वह्निमारोप्य चात्मनि।
तया समागतो रुद्रः सर्वलोकहिताय वै॥६६॥

Śiva, then completed the sacred Vedic rites and imposed the fire on to the Ātman. He was thus united with Pārvatī for the welfare of the worlds.

यः पठेच्छृणुयाद्वापि भवोद्वाहं शुचिस्मितः।

कीर्तनीयमिदं सर्वं भवोद्वाहमनुत्तमम्।

A person, who getting purified, shall read or listen to this episode of the marriage of Śiva or shall recite it to the Brāhmaṇas well-versed in the Vedas, he, achieving the chiefhood of the Gāṇas, enjoys bliss with Śiva. Wherever this episode is repeated to the Brāhmaṇas, Śiva always remains present there. Therefore, O Brāhmaṇas, this episode should be related after worshipping Śiva. O excellent Brāhmaṇas, after the marriage of Kṣatriyas or Brāhmaṇas and after performing pūjā, the episode of Śiva’s marriage should be narrated. The glory of Śiva should also be recited.

कृतोद्वाहस्तदा देव्या हेमवत्या वृषध्वजः॥७०॥
सगणो नंदिना सार्थं सर्वदेवगणैर्वृतः।
पुरीं वाराणसीं दिव्यामाजगाम महाद्युतिः॥७१॥

After performing of the marriage, the bull-bannered lord Śiva, together with the gods, gāṇas, Nandī and Pārvatī, went to the divine city of Vārāṇasi.

अविमुक्ते सुखासीनं प्रणम्य वृषभध्वजम्।
अपृच्छत्क्षेत्रमाहात्म्यं भवानी हर्षितानना॥७२॥

The face of Umā was beaming with delight. Getting comfortably seated besides, Umā enquired about the glory of the auspicious region.

अथाहार्घेन्दुतिलकः क्षेत्रमाहात्म्यमुत्तमम्।

वक्तुं मया सुरेशानि ऋषिसंघाभिपूजितम्।
किं मया वर्णते देवि ह्यविमुक्तफलोदयः॥७४॥

Then lord Śiva – the holder of the crescent moon, described the glory of the Avimukta region. O goddess, adored by the gods, the glory of the Avimukta region cannot be narrated by me exhaustively. This holy region is worshipped by the groups of Rṣis. O Goddess, how could I narrate the reward of the Avimuktakṣetra?

पापिनां यत्र मुक्तिः स्यान्मृतानामेकजन्मना।
अन्यत्र तु कृतं पापं वाराणस्यां व्यपोहति॥७५॥
वाराणस्यां कृतं पापं पैशाच्यनरकावहम्।

एतद्वः कथितं सर्वं कथासर्वस्वमुत्तमम्॥८०॥
यथाश्रुतं मया सर्वं प्रसादाद्वः सुशोभनम्॥८१॥

The sinners, who meet with their end here, achieve mokṣa in the same birth. A person who commits sins at other place, his sins are also washed out at Vārāṇasī. The sins committed by a sinner at Vārāṇasī turn a person into a Piśāca who is then carried to hell. It is better for a person to become a Piśāca, after committing thousands of sins at Vārāṇasī than to attain the position of Indra a thousand times in the heaven without the pleasure of being in the city of Kāśī. No living animal is reborn if it dies in the place where lord Viśveśvara lives. He is the lord of Oṁkāra. He is clad in elephant hide and is ever present. After recounting the glory of the holy centre briefly, the moon-crested lord dismissed the leaders of gaṇas and pointed out a garden to the goddess. It was here that lord Vināyaka, the deity with an elephant face, was born, for creating obstacles in the way of Daityas and for dispelling the same in the way of the heaven dwellers. Thus, the essence of the entire story has been narrated to you. It is a splendid story and I have narrated the same, just as it had been heard by me from Vyāsa.

Rṣis said—

“How was the elephant-faced Vināyaka, the leader of Gāṇas born? What is his power? O Sūta, it behoves you to narrate the relevant story to us.”

सूत उवाच

Sūta said—

O Brāhmaṇas, Indra and Upendra, besides the gods were collected in order to create obstructions in the activities of the Daityas.

The Asuras, Yātudhānas and the Rākṣasas, the performers of evil deeds, besides the others of terrific habits on earth, adore lord Śiva, performing yajñas and charities. In order to perform their activities without obstruction, Brāhmaṇas adore Viṣṇu and Brahmā for achieving the desired boons. Thus, they achieve everything they like. O excellent gods, we shall also be worthy of achieving success always. It behoves you to eulogise him in order to create Vighneśa – the leader of Gaṇas, for creating obstacles for them and for the sake of granting sons to the women and achievement of holy rites by men.

इत्युक्त्वान्योन्यमनवं तुष्टुवुः शिवमीश्वरम् ।
नमः सर्वात्मने तुभ्यं सर्वज्ञाय पिनाकिने॥७॥

After thus speaking to one another, they prayed to sinless lord Śiva. Salutation to the universal soul, the bearer of Pināka and the omniscient one.

Birth of Vināyaka

सूत उवाच

यदा स्थिताः सुरेश्वराः प्रणम्य चैवमीश्वरम् ।
तदांबिकापतिर्भवः पिनाकधृद् महेश्वरः ॥१॥
ददौ निरीक्षणं क्षणाद्वचः स तान्सुरोत्तमान् ।
प्रणेमुरादराद्वरं सुरा मुदाद्वलोचनाः ॥२॥

Sūta said—

When all the gods took their respective seats, after offering prayer to lord Śiva, then lord Śiva, the carrier of the Pināka bow, cast a glance over all the audience present there. The gods whose eyes were soaked in tears, then offered their salutation to the lord.

भवः सुधामृतोपमैर्निरीक्षणैर्निरीक्षणात् ।
तदाह भद्रमस्तु वः सुरेश्वरान् महेश्वरः ॥३॥

After casting a nectar like glance at the gods, he thus spoke to them— “Let all of you meet with welfare.”

वरार्थमीश वीक्ष्यते सुरा गृहं गतास्त्विमे ।
प्रणम्य चाह बाक्यपतिः पर्ति निरीक्ष्य निर्भयः ॥४॥

Then Br̥haspati, the preceptor of the gods, fearlessly offered his salutation to Śiva – his master and said— “The gods have arrived here to seek a boon from you.

सुरेतरादिभिः सदा ह्यविघ्नमर्थितो भवान् ।
समस्तकर्मसिद्धये सुरापकारकारिभिः ॥५॥

You are requested to do something for the creation of obstructions in the activities of the Daityas.

ततः प्रसीदताद्वान् सुविघ्नकर्मकारणम्।
सुरापकारकारिणामिहैष एव तो वरः॥६॥

You do something so that the demons are unable to create any obstructions in our activities. This is the boon desired by us. You kindly bestow this boon with delight.”

ततस्तदा निशम्य वै पिनाकधृक् सुरेश्वरः।
गणेश्वरं सुरेश्वरं वपुरुद्धार सः शिवः॥७॥

On hearing these words, the Pināka bearer Śiva took to the form of Vināyaka or Gaṇeśvara.

गणेश्वरच तुष्टुः सुरेश्वरम् महेश्वरम्।
समस्तलोकसंभवं भवार्त्तिहारिणं शुभम्॥८॥

Then the Gaṇeśvaras as well as the Sureśvaras praised lord Śiva, who removes the miseries of the people of the world.

इभाननाश्रितं वरं त्रिशूलपाशधारिणम्।
समस्तलोकसंभवं गजाननं तदांबिका॥९॥

At his instance, Pārvatī gave birth to Gaṇeśa who had the face of an elephant and who held a trident and a noose in his hands.

ददुः पुष्पवर्षं हि सिद्धा मुर्नीदाः—
स्तथा खेचरा देवसंघास्तदानीम्।
तदा तुष्टुवुश्चैकदंतं सुरेशाः
प्रणेमुर्गणेशं महेशं वितद्वाः॥१०॥

At that point of time, the gods, the Rṣis and the Siddhas, dropped the rain of flowers from the sky. The alert gods offered their salutation to Maheśa and Gaṇeśa offering prayer to them both at the same time.

तदा तयोर्विनिर्गतः सुभैरवः समूर्त्तिमान्।
स्थितो ननर्त्त बालकः समस्तमङ्गलालयः॥११॥

The infant who was born with the union of Śiva and Pārvatī danced before all.

विचित्रवस्त्रभूषणैरलंकृतो गजाननो महेश्वरस्य।
पुत्रकोऽभिवंद्य तातमंबिकाम्॥१२॥

The small child of Śiva with wonderful types of costumes and ornaments, offered salutation to his parents.

जातमात्रं सुतं दृष्ट्वा चकार भगवाभवः।
गजाननाय कृत्यांस्तु सर्वान्सर्वेश्वरः स्वयम्॥१३॥

Glancing at his son, lord Śiva himself performed the birth rites of the child.

आदय च कराभ्यां च सुसुखाभ्यां भवः स्वयम्।
आर्लिंगायाश्राय मूर्धानं महादेवो जगदग्नुरुः॥१४॥

Then Śiva, the preceptor of the world, delightfully, with his own hands, lifted up the child and embraced him. Then smelling his head, he blessed him saying.

तवावतारे दैत्यानां विनाशाय ममात्मज।
देवानामुपकारर्थं द्विजानां ब्रह्मवादिनाम्॥१५॥

“O my son, you have incarnated for the destruction of asuras and for the welfare of the gods as well as the Brāhmaṇas, who are devoted to Brahman.

यज्ञश्च दक्षिणाहीनः कृतो येन महीतले।
तस्य धर्मस्य विघ्नं च कुरु स्वर्गपथे स्थितः॥१६॥

You, while staying in the heaven, create obstructions in the sacrifices performed without dakṣiṇā.

अध्यापनं चाध्ययनं व्याख्यानं कर्म एव च।
योऽन्यायतः करोत्यस्मिन् तस्य प्राणान्सदा हर॥१७॥

You can take out the lives of those who unjustly read or teach.

वर्णाच्छ्वुतानां नारीणां नराणां नरपुङ्गव।
स्वधर्मरहितानां च प्राणानपहर प्रभो॥१८॥

Those who fall from their own varṇa and the men and women fallen from their dharma, should be destroyed.

या: स्त्रियस्त्वां सदा कालं पुरुषाश्च विनायक।
यजंति तासां तेषां च त्वत्साम्यं दातुमर्हसि॥१९॥

O Puruṣottama Viñayaka, such of the men and the women who adore you always, you bestow your Sāyujya (proximity) to them.

त्वं भक्तान् सर्वयत्नेन रक्ष बालगणेश्वर।
यौवनस्थांश्च वृद्धांश्च इहामुत्र च पूजितः॥२०॥

O Bāla-Gaṇeśvara, besides these whosoever young and old are adorable here, besides your devotees should be well-looked after making all the efforts.

जगत्रयेऽत्र सर्वत्र त्वं हि विघ्नगणेश्वरः।
संपूज्यो वंदनीयश्च भविष्यसि न संशयः॥२१॥

By so doing, you will become adorable as Vigna-Gaṇeśvara always. There is no doubt about it.

मां च नारायणं वापि ब्रह्माणमपि पुत्रक।
यजंति यज्ञैर्वा विप्रैरप्ये पूज्यो भविष्यसि॥२२॥

O son, such of the people, who adore me, Viṣṇu and Brahmā, they will adore you first of all, besides the Brāhmaṇas in the yajñas.

त्वामनभ्यर्च्य कल्याणं श्रौतं स्मार्तं च लौकिकम्।
कुरुते तस्य कल्याणमकल्याणं भविष्यति॥२३॥

Such of the people, who shall perform rites for their own welfare without worshipping you first, besides the Vedic and Smārta rites or other worldly performances, they would achieve failure instead of success.

ब्राह्मणैः क्षत्रियैर्वैश्यैः शूद्रैश्चैव गजानन।
संपूज्य सर्वसिद्ध्यर्थं भक्ष्यभोज्यादिभिः शुभैः॥२४॥

O elephant-faced one, O Gajānana, you are worthy of being worshipped by the Brāhmaṇas, Kṣatriyas, Vaiśyas and the Śūdras alike by offering the excellent eatables and food stuffs for the achievement of all the siddhis.

त्वां गंधपुष्पधूपादैरनभ्यर्च्य जगत्रये।
देवैरपि तथान्यैश्च लब्धव्यं नास्ति कुत्रचित्॥२५॥

There is nothing to be achieved by the Devas and others anywhere in the three worlds, without first worshipping you, offering fragrance, flowers and incense.

अभ्यर्च्यर्यंति ये लोका मानवास्तु विनायकम्।
ते चार्चनीयाः शक्रादैर्भविष्यति न संशयः॥२६॥

Those people, those human beings who adore you, are undoubtedly to be worshipped by Indra and others.

अजं हरिं च मां वापि शक्रमन्यान्सुरानपि।
विघ्नैर्बाधयसि त्वां चेन्नार्चयंति फलार्थिनः॥२७॥

In case, those who are desirous of achieving of the welfare do not worship you, you will trouble them variously, even if it be Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Indra and the gods including myself.

ससर्ज च तदा विघ्नगणं गणपतिः प्रभुः।
गणैः सार्धं नमस्कृत्वाप्यतिष्ठत्स्य चाग्रतः॥२८॥

Then lord Gaṇapati created Vighneśvaras and his gaṇas. Then he bowed before the lord and stood in front of him.

तदा प्रभृति लोकेऽस्मिन्नपूजयंति गणेश्वरम्।
दैत्यानां धर्मविघ्नं च चकारासौ गणेश्वरः॥२९॥
एतद्वः कथितं सर्वं स्कंदाप्रजसमुद्दवम्।
यः पठोच्छृण्युद्वापि श्रावयेद्वा सुखीभवेत्॥३०॥

Ever since that time, Gaṇeśvara is being worshipped in this world. Thereafter, Gaṇeśvara created obstacles in the activities of the Daityas. I have thus narrated the story of the birth of Gaṇeśa – the elder brother of Skanda, in detail. Whosoever shall read it, recite it or make others to listen to it, shall always meet welfare.

Description of Tāṇḍava dance of Śiva

ऋषय ऊचुः

नृत्यारंभः कथं शंभोः किमर्थं वा यथातथम्।
वक्तुमर्हसि चास्माकं श्रुतः स्कंदाग्रजोद्भवः॥१॥

The R̄ṣis said—

We have heard about the story of Vināyaka – the elder brother of Skanda. Now you tell me, how did lord Śiva start the Tāṇḍava dance? How did he do it? You kindly speak out the same to us verbatim.

सूत उवाच

दारुकोऽसुरसंभूतस्तपसा लब्धविक्रमः।
सूदयामास कालग्निरिव देवान्द्विजोत्तमान्॥२॥

Sūta said—

A Rākṣasa named Dāruka was born in the asura family and achieved great prowess with the performing of his tapas.

दारुकेण तदा देवास्ताडिताः पीडिता भृशम्।
ब्रह्माणं च तथेशानं कुमारं विष्णुमेव च॥३॥
यममिद्रमनुप्राप्य स्त्रीवध्य इति चासुरः।
स्त्रीरूपथारिभिः स्तुत्यैर्ब्रह्माद्यैर्युधिः संस्थितैः॥४॥
बाधितास्तेन ते सर्वे ब्रह्माणं प्राप्य वै द्विजाः।
विज्ञाप्य तस्मै तत्सर्वं तेन सार्धमुमापत्तिम्॥५॥
संप्राप्य तुष्टुवुः सर्वे पितामहपुरोगमाः।
ब्रह्मा प्राप्य च देवेशं प्रणम्य बहुधानतः॥६॥
दारुणो भगवन्दारुः पूर्वं तेन विनिर्जिताः।
निहत्य दारुकं दैत्यं स्त्रीवध्यं त्रातुमर्हसि॥७॥

He resembled the fire of dissolution which emerges at the time of dissolution at the end of the yuga or aeon. He killed many Devas and the Brāhmaṇas. Then the gods were terrified with Dāruka who took refuge with Brahmā, Iśāna, Kumāra, Viṣṇu, Yama and Indra. On coming to know that the asura could meet with his death at the hands of a female, he was confronted in a battle with a female by Indra and others in the guise of women. Still, they were overpowered by him. O Brāhmaṇas, the gods then approached Brahmā and narrating the entire situation to him, they then proceeded to the abode of Śiva – the lord of Umā. The gods were led by Brahmā. All of them praised Śiva. Brahmā, lowering in reverence to Śiva again and again, submitted to him— “O lord, Dāruka is a terrible person who has defeated all the people. He is destined to be killed by a woman. Therefore, you protect us by killing Dāruka.”

विज्ञसिं ब्रह्मणः श्रुत्वा भगवान् भगनेत्रहा।
देवीमुवाच देवेशो गिरिजां प्रहसन्निव॥८॥

Listening to the prayer of Brahmā, Śiva – the destroyer of the eyes of Bhaga, smilingly spoke to Pārvatī, the daughter of Himavān.

भवतीं प्रार्थयाम्यद्य हिताय जगतां शुभे।
वधार्थं दारुकस्यास्य स्त्रीवध्यस्य वरानने॥९॥
अथ सा तस्य वचनं निशाप्य जगतोरणिः।
विवेश देहे देवस्य देवेशी जन्मतत्परा॥१०॥

“O goddess with a beautiful face, I now request you to kill Dāruka, who is destined to be killed by a woman.” On hearing the words of lord Śiva, Pārvatī entered the body of Śiva. She did so to have a birth from Śiva.

एकेनांशेन देवेशं प्रविष्टा देवसत्तमम्।
न विवेद तदा ब्रह्मा देवाश्चेदपुरोगमाः॥११॥

She entered into the body of Śiva by one amśa, but Brahmā, Indra and other gods, could not know about it.

गिरिजां पूर्ववच्छं भोदृष्टा पार्श्वस्थितां शुभाम्।
मायया मोहितस्तस्याः सर्वज्ञोपि चतुर्मुखः॥१२॥

Finding Pārvatī standing by their sides as before, even Brahmā and other gods were overpowered by her Māyā.

सा प्रविष्टा तनुं तस्य देवदेवस्य पार्वती।
कंठस्थेन विषेणास्य तनुं चक्रे तदात्मनः॥१३॥

Then Pārvatī, entering the body of Śiva, turned herself like the complexion of the poison lodged in the throat of Śiva,

तां च ज्ञात्वा तथाभूतां तृतीयेनेक्षेणेन वै।
सर्सर्जः कालीं कामारिः कालकंठं कपर्दिनीम्॥१४॥

Knowing about it, Śiva – the enemy of Kāmadeva, produced Kālī from his third eye, with a blue throat.

जाता यदा कालिमकालकंठी
जाता तदानीं विपुला जयश्रीः।
देवेतराणामजयस्त्वसिद्ध्या
तुष्टिर्भवान्याः परमेश्वरस्य॥१५॥

At the appearing of Kālī with a blue throat, Vijayaśrī (the goddess of victory), was also produced at the same time. Then, both Pārvatī and Śiva became sure of the defeat of Dāruka.

जातां तदानीं सुरसिद्धसंघा
दृष्ट्वा भयाद्दुदुवुरग्निकल्पाम्।
कालीं गदालंकृतकालकंठी—
मुपेन्द्रपद्मोद्धवशक्रमुख्याः॥१६॥

With the emerging of Kālī with a black throat and issuing fire flames from her mouth, all the humans, gods and siddhas, including Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Indra fled in fright.

तथैव जातं नयनं ललाटे
सितांशुलेखा च शिरस्युद्ग्रा।
कंठे करालं निशितं त्रिशूलं
करे करालं च विभूषणानि॥१७॥

She had an additional eye in the forehead, a crescent moon lodged over her head, the terrific poison in the throat and held a horrible trident in her hand. She was adorned with all the suitable ornaments over all the limbs of her body.

सार्धं दिव्यांबरा देव्याः सर्वभरणभूषिताः।
सिद्धेन्द्रसिद्धाश्च तथा पिशाचा जन्मिरे पुनः॥१८॥

The lords of the Siddhas and the Piśācas were also born with the goddess, who were clad in divine garments and adorned with the divine costumes.

आज्ञ्या दारुकं तस्याः पार्वत्या परमेश्वरी।
दानवं सूदयामास सूदयन्तं सुराधिपान्॥१९॥

At the command of Pārvatī, Kālī – the supreme goddess, killed the terrific demon Dāruka, who used to kill the gods by attacking on them.

संरंभांतिप्रसङ्गाद्वै तस्याः सर्वमिदं जगत्।
क्रोधानिना च विप्रेद्वाः संबभूव तदातुरम्॥२०॥
भवोपि बालरूपेण शमशाने प्रेतसंकुले।

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, the entire universe was in the grip of terror from the anger of the fire of the goddess Kālī. Observing this, Śiva took to the form of a child and was lodged in a cremation ground full of the goblins.

रुरोद मायया तस्याः क्रोधाग्निं पातुमीश्वरः॥२१॥

Then he started crying in order to remove the anger of Pārvatī.

तं दृष्ट्वा बालमीशानं मायया तस्य मोहिताः।
उत्थाप्याघ्राय वक्षोजं स्तनं सा प्रददौ हृजाः॥२२॥

O Brāhmaṇas, spotting the child who in reality was lord Isāna – Śiva himself, Kālī herself was overpowered with his Māyā. She picked up the child, kissed him, smelt his head and held him against her breast.

स्तनजेन तदा सार्धं कोपमस्याः पपौ पुनः ।
क्रोधेनानेन वै बालः क्षेत्राणां रक्षकोऽभवत्॥ २३॥

The child, while sucking milk from the breast, also sucked her anger. In this way, the child became the protector of that area.

मूर्त्योऽष्टौ च तस्यापि क्षेत्रपालस्य धीमतः ।
एवं वै तेन बालेन कृता सा क्रोधमूच्छिता॥ २४॥

Thereafter, the Kṣetrapāla was turned into eight forms. Thus, the horrible anger of Kālī was pacified.

कृतमस्याः प्रसादार्थं देवदेवेन ताण्डवम् ।
संध्यायां सर्वभूतेन्द्रैः प्रेतैः प्रीतेन शूलिना॥ २५॥
पीत्वा नृत्तामृतं शंभोराकंठं परमेश्वरी ।
ननर्त सा च योगिन्यः प्रेतस्थाने यथासुखम्॥ २६॥
तत्र सब्रह्मका देवाः सेंद्रोपेंद्राः समंततः ।
प्रणेमुस्तुष्टुवुः कालीं पुनर्देवीं च पार्वतीम्॥ २७॥
एवं संक्षेपतः प्रोक्तं ताण्डवं शूलिनः प्रभोः ।
योगानन्देन च विभोस्ताण्डवं चेति चापरे॥ २८॥

Lord Śiva – the trident holder, also felt delighted in order to please her. Therefore, he performed the tāṇḍava dance with the goblins in the evening. On the other hand, Parameśvarī, consuming the nectar like dance by her throat, also danced in creation ground with yoginīs, surrounded by the gods from all the sides, including Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Indra. All of them offered their salutation to Kālī. They praised her. Thus, I have described the Tāṇḍava dance of Śiva, briefly. Other people say that the Tāṇḍava dance of Śiva is meant for the yogic bliss.

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, there was an ascetic known by the name of Upamanyu, who was as illustrious as Kumāra Kārttikeya. He, in his childhood, playing in the āśrama of his maternal uncle, consumed a little quantity of milk, though his maternal uncle's son consumed the excellent quality of milk to his full satisfaction, out of jealousy. Finding his cousin taking milk to his satisfaction,

Upamanyu said to his mother— “O dearest ascetic mother, you give me the sweet cow’s milk in the morning, which should be hot and in huge quantity. I offer my salutation to you.”

Then the sweet-tongued mother collected the scattered paddy from the fields. She ground them and created artificial milk. Then she called the boy and gave out the artificial milk to him. After consuming the milk, the boy getting upset, spoke to his mother— “This is not the milk.”

दुःखिता सा तदा प्राह संप्रेक्ष्याद्याय मूर्धनि।

Observing this, the mother smelt out of affection the head of her son and then washed his lotus like eyes with her hands.

तटिनी रत्नपूर्णस्ते स्वर्गपातालगोचराः।
भाग्यहीना न पश्यन्ति भक्तिहीनाश्च ये शिवे॥१२॥

Then she said to him— “There is a river full of gems between the heaven and the nether world. Such of the unfortunate people who are deprived of the devotion of Śiva, cannot achieve those gems.

राज्यं स्वर्गं च मोक्षं च भोजनं क्षीरसंभवम्।
न लभन्ते प्रियाण्येषां नो तुष्यति सदा भवः॥१३॥

Such people cannot achieve the kingship, heaven, mokṣa and the food of milk, without the pleasure of Śiva. Those who always delight Śiva, they achieve such pleasures.

भवप्रसादजं सर्वं नान्यदेवप्रसादजम्।
अन्यदेवेषु निरता दुःखार्ता विभ्रमंति च॥१४॥

Everything is achieved by the grace of Śiva and not by the grace of the other gods.

Where from shall we have the milk? We have not at all adored lord Śiva. O son, whatever we had given to Śiva in earlier birth, the same is to be got back by us. By giving something to Viṣṇu and others, nothing can be achieved.” Listening to the words of his mother, the immensely illustrious son offered his salutation to his mother, while crying. She was feeling extremely painful. Then he said— “O virtuous mother, don't grieve. In case, there is Śiva somewhere, I shall surely get from him the ocean of milk."

तमाह माता सुशुभं कुर्वीति सुतरां सुतम् ।
अनुज्ञातस्तया तत्र तपस्तेषे सुदुस्तरम्॥१९॥

Thus speaking to his mother, Upamanyu, offering his salutation to her, got ready for performing tapas. Then the mother said— "O son, you perform the auspicious tapas completely. With the permission of his mother, Upamanyu performed very hard penances.

हिमवत्पर्वतं प्राप्य वायुभक्षः समाहितः ।
तपसा तस्य विग्रस्य विधूपितमभूज्जगत्॥२०॥

He reached the mountain Himavān and concentrating his mind, consuming air alone, performed tapas, which shook the entire universe.

प्रणम्याहुस्तु तत्सर्वं हरये देवसत्तमाः ।
श्रुत्वा तेषां तदा वाक्यं भगवान्पुरुषोत्तमः॥२१॥
किमिदंत्विति संचित्य ज्ञात्वा तत्कारणं च सः ।

दृष्ट्वा देवं प्रणम्यैवं प्रोवाचेदं कृताञ्जलिः ।

क्षीरार्थमदहत्सर्वं तपसा तं निवारय ।
एतस्मिन्तरे देवः पिनाकी परमेश्वरः ।
शक्ररूपं समास्थाय गंतुं चक्रे मर्ति तदा॥२४॥

The excellent gods then bowed in reverence to lord Viṣṇu and apprised him of the factual position. Listening to their words, lord Viṣṇu thought— "What is all this?" After deep thinking, he understood the cause of it and at once proceeded on to Mandara mountain in order to have an audience with Śiva. Viṣṇu also offered his salutation to Śiva, lowering his head and said— "A Brāhmaṇa boy, with the performing of tapas, has burnt out everything for the sake of the ocean of milk. You better stop him." Listening to the prayer of Viṣṇu, lord Śiva – the carrier of Pināka bow, then resolved to go to Upamanyu in the form of Indra.

अथ जगाम मुनेस्तु तपोवनं
गजवरेण सितेन सदाशिवः ।
सह सुरासुरसिद्धमहोरगैरमर-
राजतनुं स्वयमास्थितः॥२५॥

Then Śiva, the lord of gods, mounted over the white elephant and reached the hermitage of Upamanyu, accompanied by the gods, Asuras, Siddhas and the Serpents.

सहैव चारुह्यं तदा द्विपं तं
प्रगृह्य वालव्यजनं विवस्वान् ।
वामेन शच्या सहितं सुरेन्द्रं
करेण चान्येन सितातपत्रम्॥२६॥

He was mounting over the elephant as Indra, with Pārvatī as Śacī. The sun stood to the right holding a fan. The white umbrella was held by him in his left hand.

राज भगवान् सोमः शक्ररूपी सदाशिवः ।
सितातपत्रेण यथा चंद्रबिंबेन मंदरः॥२७॥

Lord Sadāśiva, in the form of Indra, with the white umbrella, appeared as Indra with Śacī and the Mandara mountain looked like the solar disc.

आस्थायैवं हि शक्रसमस्वरूपं परमेश्वरः ।
जगामानुग्रहं कर्तुमुपमन्योस्तदाश्रमम्॥२८॥

Thus lord Śiva, taking to the form of Indra, reached the cottage of Upamanyu, in order to bless him.

तं दृष्ट्वा परमेशानं शक्ररूपधरं शिवम् ।
प्रणम्य शिरसा प्राह मुनिर्मुनिवराः स्वयम्॥२९॥
पावितश्चाश्रममश्यायं मम देवेश्वरः स्वयम् ।
प्राप्तः शक्रो जगन्नाथो भगवान्भानुना प्रभुः॥३०॥

Seeing lord Śiva in the form of Śakra, Upamanyu then offered his salutation to the lord, thinking—“My cottage has been purified with the arrival of Indra here, the god of gods.”

एवमुक्त्वा स्थितं वीक्ष्य कृताञ्जलिपुर्टं द्विजम्।
प्राह गंभीरया वाचा शक्ररूपधरो हरः॥३१॥

Finding the Brāhmaṇa boy so uttering, he spoke to Upamanyu gracefully, who stood there with folded hands.

तुष्टेस्मि ते वरं ब्रूहि तपसानेन सुब्रत।
ददामि चेप्सितान्सर्वान्धौस्याग्रज महामते॥३२॥

The lord said—“O Suvarṇa, the elder brother of Dhaumya, I am Indra, the lord of the three worlds. I am adored by all the three worlds. I am pleased with your tapas. You ask for anything you desire, which would be given to you.”

एवमुक्तस्तदा तेन शक्रेण मुनिसत्तमः।
वरयामि शिवे भक्तिमित्युवाच कृताञ्जलिः॥३३॥

At these words of Indra, the intelligent ascetic said—“I am desirous for the devotion of Śiva.”

ततो निशम्य वचनं मुनैः कुपितवत्रभुः।
प्राह सव्यग्रमीशानः शक्ररूपधरः स्वयम्॥३४॥

On hearing the words of the sage, Śiva, in the form of Indra, was annoyed. He said to Upamanyu in anger.

मां न जानासि देवर्षे देवराजानमीश्वरम्।
त्रैलोक्याधिपतिं शक्रं सर्वदेवनमस्कृतम्॥३५॥

“O Devarṣi, you do not know me. I am Indra, the lord of the Devas.

मद्भक्तो भव विप्रर्षे मामेवार्चय सर्वदा।
ददामि सर्वं भद्रं ते त्यज रुद्रं च निर्गुणम्॥३६॥

O Brāhmaṇa sage, you be devoted to me and worship me always. I shall bestow everything on you. Let you meet with welfare. Discard Rudra who is devoid of virtues.

ततः शक्रस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा श्रोत्रविदारणम्।
उपमन्युरिदं प्राह जपन्पञ्चाक्षरं शुभम्॥३७॥

Listening to the words of Indra which were painful for the ears, Upamanyu, reciting the Pañcākṣara mantra, said—“Om Namah Śivāya.”

मन्ये शक्रस्य रूपेण नूनमत्रागतः स्वयम्।
कर्तृदैत्याधमः कश्चिद्धर्मविघ्नं च नान्यथा॥३८॥

I believe that some degraded deity has arrived in the form of Indra. This is not otherwise.

त्वयैव कथितं सर्वं भवनिंदारतेन वै।
प्रसङ्गादेवदेवस्य निर्गुणत्वं महात्मनः॥३९॥

By denouncing Śiva, you have highlighted his virtues. You have spoken of everything by denouncing Śiva. In this context, you have termed the lord of gods as the one who is devoid of virtues.

बहुनात्र किमुक्ते न मयाद्यानुमितं महत्।
भवांतरकृतं पापं श्रुता निंदा भवस्य तु॥४०॥

What is the use of excessive talk. I think that I must have done some bad deeds in my earlier birth. You have termed him as the one devoid of virtues. As a result of this, I had to hear the denunciation of Śiva.

श्रुत्वा निंदां भवस्याथ तत्क्षमादेवसंत्यजेत्।
स्वदेहं तं निहत्याशु शिवलोकं स गच्छति॥४१॥

By listening to the denouncer of Śiva, the concerned person should be killed at once. Besides, one should also end his life thereafter, and by so doing, he reaches the place of Śiva.

यो वाचोत्पाटयेज्जिह्वां शिवनिंदारतस्य तु।
त्रिः सप्तकुलमृदधृत्य शिवलोकं स गच्छति॥४२॥

A person who denounces Śiva from his mouth, his tongue should be pulled out and by so doing, he himself and his twenty one generations, go to the abode of Śiva.

आस्तां तावन्ममेच्छायाः क्षीरं प्रति सुराधमम्।
निहत्य त्वां शिवास्त्रेव त्यजाम्येतत्कलेवरम्॥४३॥

Leave aside my desire for milk, I shall kill you and then destroy my own body.

पुरा मात्रा तु कथितं तदध्यमेव न संशयः।
पूर्वजन्मनि चास्माभिरपूजित इति प्रभुः॥४४॥

The words spoken to me by my mother were undoubtedly true. We people did not worship Śiva in our earlier births.”

एवमुक्त्वा तु तं देवमुपमन्युरभीतवत्।
शक्रं चक्रे मर्ति हन्तुमथर्वास्त्रेण मंत्रवित्॥४५॥

By thus speaking fearlessly, Upamanyu, who was well-versed in the mantras, then resolved to kill Indra with the Atharva weapon.

भस्माधारान्महातेजा भस्ममुष्टिं प्रगृह्ण च।
अर्थर्वास्त्रं ततस्तस्मै ससर्ज च ननाद च॥४६॥

Then the illustrious Upamanyu, took out some fist full of ash out of the heap of the ashes and sanctifying it with the Atharva-mantra, threw it at Indra, uttering a loud roar at the same time.

दग्धं स्वदेहमाग्नेयों ध्यात्वा वै धारणां तदा।
अतिष्ठच्च महातेजाः शुष्केऽधनमिवाव्ययः॥४७॥

Then the illustrious Upamanyu, concentrated over the eternal soul of lord Śiva, got ready to burn his body in the fire.

एवं व्यवसिते विप्रे भगवान्भगनेत्रहा।
वारयामास सौम्येन धारणां तस्य योगिनः॥४८॥

Finding the boy indulging in such an activity, Śiva – the destroyer of the eyes of Bhaga, stopped him with the use of Soma- astra.

अर्थर्वास्त्रं तदा तस्य संहतं चंद्रिकेण तु।
कालाग्निसदृशं चेदं नियोगान्वदिनस्तथा॥४९॥
स्वरूपमेव भगवानास्थाय परमेश्वरः।
दर्शयामास विप्राय बालेंदुकृतशेखरम्॥५०॥

Then at the command of Nandī, the moon-astra stopped the performance of the Atharva-astra resembling the fire of the time of dissolution.

क्षीरधारासहस्रं च क्षीरोदार्णवमेव च।
दध्यादेर्णवं चैव घृतोदार्णवमेव च॥५१॥
फलार्णवं च बालस्य भक्ष्यभोज्यार्णवं तथा।
अपूपगिरयश्चैव तथातिष्ठन् समंततः॥५२॥

All round the boy, there appeared thousands of milk currents, the ocean of milk, the ocean of curd, the ocean of ghee, the ocean of fruits, the ocean of various edibles, food stuffs and the mountains of apūpas.

उपमन्युमुक्त्वा च सस्मितो
भगवान्बन्धुजनैः समावृतम्।
गिरिजामवलोक्य सस्मितां
सघृणं प्रेक्ष्य तु तं तदा घृणी॥५३॥

The merciful lord then looked at Upamanyu smilingly and also at the daughter of mountain. Then he looked at the boy Upamanyu with compassion, who was surrounded by his kinsmen, and then said.

भुंक्ष्य भोगान्यथाकामं बांधवैः पश्य वत्स मे।
उपमन्यो महाभाग तवांबैषा हि पार्वती॥५४॥

“Look here, O Upamanyu, you can enjoy with your kins as you like. Pārvatī is your mother.

मया पुत्री कृतोस्पद्य दत्तः क्षीरोदधिस्तथा।
मधुनश्चार्णवश्चैव दधश्चार्णव एव च॥५५॥

आज्योदनार्णवश्चैव फललेह्मार्णवस्तथा ।
अपूपगिरयश्चैव भक्ष्यभोज्यार्णवः पुनः ॥५६॥

You have been adopted by me as my son now. Therefore, the ocean of honey, the ocean of milk, the ocean of curds, the ocean of rice soaked in ghee, the ocean of fruits, the ocean of edibles, food stuffs and baked pies, all belong to you.

पिता तब महादेवः पिता वै जगतां मुने ।
माता तब महाभागा जगन्माता न संशयः ॥५७॥

O sage, your father is now Mahādeva, who is the father of the universe. Undoubtedly, your highly virtuous mother is the mother of universe.

अमरत्वं मया दत्तं गणपत्यं च शाश्वतम् ।
वरान्वरय दास्यामि नात्र कार्या विचारणा ॥५८॥

I have bestowed eternal-ship to you and also declared you to be the permanent lord of the gaṇas. Now you ask for some other boon. Don't hesitate in this respect. I shall grant you everything, whatever is desired by you."

एवमुक्त्वा महादेवः कराभ्यमुपगृह्य तम् ।
आद्वाय मूर्धनि विभुर्दौ देव्यास्तदा भव ॥५९॥

Thus speaking, lord Mahādeva lifted him up with his own hands, smelt his head and entrusted his care to Umā.

देवी तनयमालोक्य ददौ तस्मै गिरीन्द्रजा ।
योगैश्वर्यं तदा तुष्टा ब्रह्मविद्यां द्विजोत्तमाः ॥६०॥

O excellent Brāhmaṇas, then the goddess felt delighted at her son. Pārvatī bestowed the fortunes of Yoga and Brahmavidyā to him.

सोपि लब्ध्वा वरं तस्याः कुमारत्वं च सर्वदा ।
तृष्णाव च महादेवं हर्षगद्दया गिरा ॥६१॥

Upamanyu, on receiving the boons, besides the eternal boyhood, praised lord Śiva in a choked voice.

वरयामास च तदा वरेण्यं विरजेक्षणम् ।
कृताञ्जलिपुटो भूत्वा प्रणिपत्य पुनः पुनः ॥६२॥

He then adored lord Śiva with folded hands again and again. Then he asked for a boon of the eyes without Rajoguṇa.

प्रसीद देवदेवेश त्वयि चाव्यभिचारिणी ।
श्रद्धा चैव महादेव सान्त्रिध्यं चैव सर्वदा ॥६३॥
एवमुक्तस्तदा तेन प्रहसन्निव शङ्करः ।
दत्वेप्सितं हि विप्राय तत्रैवांतरधीयत ॥६४॥

"O lord of the gods, let me have eternal faith and closeness with you." At these words of Upamanyu, lord Śiva smilingly bestowed the desired boons to him and then disappeared in full view of all those who were present there.

Glory of Pāśupata vrata

ऋषभ ऊचुः

दृष्टेऽसो वायुदेवेन कृष्णोनाक्षिलष्टकर्मणा ।
धौम्याग्रजस्ततो लब्धं दिव्यं पाशुपतं ब्रतम्॥१॥

The R̄si is said—

The elder brother of Dhaumya was seen by Kṛṣṇa — the son of Vasudeva, of unqualified activities. From him, he acquired the celestial holy rites of Pāśupata.

कथं लब्धं तदा ज्ञानं तस्मात्कृष्णोन धीमता ।

वक्तुर्महसि तां सूतं कथां पातकनाशिनीम्॥२॥

O Sūta, how was the knowledge acquired from him by the intelligent Śrī Kṛṣṇa? You, therefore, recount the story which destroys all the sins.

सूत उवाच

स्वेच्छया ह्यवतीर्णोपि वासुदेवः सनातनः ।
निंदयन्नेव मानुषं देहशुद्धिं चकार सः ॥३॥

Sūta said—

Although, the eternal lord had incarnated on earth of his own accord as the son of Vasudeva, yet he disposed the human form, and therefore, performed the purificatory rites for the body.

पुत्रार्थं भगवांस्तत्र तपस्तसुं जगाम च ।
आश्रमं चोपमन्योर्वै दृष्टवांस्तत्र तं मुनिम् ॥४॥

For obtaining sons, the lord wanted to perform the penance and for that purpose, he went to the hermitage of the sage Upamanyu and met the sage there.

नमश्कारं तं दृष्ट्वा धौम्याग्रजमहो द्विजाः ।
बहुमानेन वै कृष्णस्त्रिः कृत्वा वै प्रदक्षिणम् ॥५॥

O Brāhmaṇas, on meeting Upamanyu, the elder brother of Dhaumya, Kṛṣṇa circumambulated him thrice and bowed to him respectfully.

तस्यावलोकनादेव मुनेः कृष्णस्य धीमतः ।
नष्टमेव मलं सर्वं कायजं कर्मजं तथा ॥६॥

With the mere sight of the intelligent sage, all the impurities of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, arising from his mental body as well as the physical body, perished.

भस्मनोदधूलनं कृत्वा उपमन्युर्महाद्युतिः ।
तमग्निरिति विप्रेद्वा वायुरित्यादिभिः क्रमात् ॥७॥
दिव्यं पाशुपतं ज्ञानं प्रददौ प्रीतपानसः ।
मुनेः प्रसादान्मान्योऽसौ कृष्णः पाशुपते द्विजाः ॥८॥

O leading Brāhmaṇas, repeating the mantras starting with Agnih and Vāyuh in due order, Upamanyu of great lustre, applied ashes over his body. Then with a delightful mind, the sage gave him the perfect divine knowledge, pertaining to Paśupati. O Brāhmaṇas, it was due to the favour of the sage that Śrī Kṛṣṇa was initiated honourably in the divine rites of Paśupati.

तपसा त्वेकवर्षान्ते दृष्ट्वा देवं महेश्वरम् ।
सांबं सगणमव्यग्रं लब्ध्वान्युत्रमात्मनः ॥९॥

By means of the penance, he saw lord Maheśvara at the end of the year. On meeting the lord together with Pārvatī and the gaṇas, he obtained a son, known as Sāmba, who was quite peaceful.

तदाप्रभृतिं कृष्णं मुनयः संशितव्रताः ।
दिव्याः पाशुपताः सर्वे तस्थुः संवृत्य सर्वदा ॥१०॥

Ever since then, all the divine sages with holy rites, besides the devotees of Pāśupata, stood there surrounded by Śrī Kṛṣṇa.

अन्यं च कथयिष्यामि मुक्त्यर्थं प्राणिनां सदा ।
सौवर्णी मेखलां कृत्वा आधारं दण्डधारणम् ॥११॥
सौवर्णी पिंडिकं चापि व्यजनं दण्डमेव च ।
नरैः स्त्रियाथ वा कार्यं मषीभाजनलेखनीम् ॥१२॥
क्षुराकर्त्तरिका चापि अथ पात्रमथापि वा ।
पाशुपताय दातव्यं भस्मोदधूलितविग्रहैः ॥१३॥
सौवर्णी राजतं वापि ताम्रं वाथ निवेदयेत् ।
आत्मवित्तानुसारेण योगिनं पूजयेदबुधः ॥१४॥

I shall narrate another holy rite that bestows perpetual salvation upon all the living beings. The devotee should make a golden girdle, a shaft-receptacle or support, a gold block spherical in shape and a fan with a handle. Then the man or a woman should make the ink-pot and a pen. He should then have a knife or scissor or a vase. The devotee should dust his body with ashes and give these articles to a devotee of Paśupati. He

All these persons shall be liberated from their sins along with the members of their families and go to the auspicious region of Rudra. There is no doubt about it.

तस्मादनेन दानेन गृहस्थो मुच्यते भवात् ।

Therefore, by means of the charitable gifts, a householder is liberated from the bondages of the worldly existence. In case, the gifts are donated to the yogins, Śiva gets delighted.

Thus, everything has been properly mentioned to you. The one who reads this or listens to it, undoubtedly goes to the world of Śiva.
