Preface to the Second Edition

It has been eight years since the Lakshmanjoo Academy's last publication of Swamiji's translation of the Vijñāna Bhairava—The Manual for Self-Realization. I am pleased to introduce our latest edition, which now includes additional footnotes, an elaborate appendix, an index, and free downloadable audio. In this edition, footnotes within quotation marks are Swamiji's own words from published texts and/or the USF archives. All other footnotes are the editor's notes. I am confident that this edition will afford the reader more clarity and understanding of the 112 contemplative practices of the Vijñāna Bhairava.

May Swamiji's blessing continue to shine upon you!

Preface to the First Edition

In this audio study set, the fully Self-realized master, Swami Lakshmanjoo, translates and elucidates 112 paths towards Self-realization, which are revealed by God (Bhairava) to His beloved consort (Bhairavī) in the seminal Kashmir Shaiva text, the Vijñāna Bhairava. Having dedicated his whole life to the philosophy and practice of Kashmir Shaivism, Swamiji was uniquely qualified to reveal this oft misinterpreted and misunderstood text.

For more than half a century, scholars and aspirants from all over the world came to study the Vijñāna Bhairava under Swamiji's guidance. All have acknowledged Swamiji's invaluable contribution to the clarification of this esoteric text. In his classic, Zen Flesh, Zen Bones (1959), Paul Reps dedicated the fourth chapter on "Centering" to Swami Lakshmanjoo¹. Lilian Silburn first met Swami Lakshmanjoo in 1948. Over a period of ten years she studied a number of text on Kashmir Shaivism under Swamiji's direct guidance. In 1961, she published Le Vijñāna Bhairava in French.² In 1979, Jaidev Singh studied this text word by word with Swamiji. He dedicated his publication, the Vijñānabhairava or Divine Consciousness, with the following words: "With profound respects to Swami Lakshmanjoo who unsealed my eyes."³

PREFACE

In 2002, *Vijñāna Bhairava—The Practice of Centering Awareness*⁴ found its way into the market place. This book was compiled from my preliminary transcript of Swamiji's lectures, which was unedited and incomplete. This transcript was unfortunately misappropriated and given to two independent authors for publishing without my consent. Any intelligent reader will see that, by comparison with the present publication it is incomplete and fraught with mistakes.

These revelations of the Vijñāna Bhairava were recorded at various times between 1973 and 1984. The recordings include Swami Lakshmanjoo's initial rendering of the verses and the practices they prescribe along with further clarifications and explanations. These additional clarifications were given at the request of some of Swamiji's devotees, who continued to have difficulty understanding certain verses and associated practices. It is because these recordings were made at different times and with different equipment that the audio quality varies throughout.

I have chosen to publish Swamiji's translation and commentary on the Vijñāna Bhairava as an audio study set because I am convinced that the subtleties of this divine revelation will be better conveyed by directly listening to the voice of a realized master. The accompanying transcript has been edited for the purposes of clarifying technical terms and concepts as well as for the purposes of making Swamiji's revelation more accessible to the native-English speaker.

The transcript itself has been kept as close as possible to the original spoken word. On a few occasions, where deemed necessary for clarity, I have added additional words within square brackets. Words within rounded brackets are Swamiji's own words. Also, very occasionally a word here or there has been amended for the sake of the flow of the English. Numerous footnotes have been added to help in the study of this text, all of which are Swamiji's own words unless specified as an "editor's note" or simply a text reference or a literal translation of a Sanskrit word.

To further assist the adept in the comprehension of this text, each dhāranā, or meditation, has been separated into individual audio tracks. At the behest of Swamiji, each verse has been presented in the transcript in the original Devanagari followed by the Romanized transliteration.

The original Sanskrit text used by Swamiji was the Vijñāna Bhairava, published in 1918 as Volume 8 in the Kashmir Series of Texts and Studies (KSTS). Even though this particular volume contains a commentary, partly by Kṣhemarāja and partly by Shivopādhyāya, Swamiji chose to use it only as a reference for the original verses.

I am sure you will find Swamiji's revelation of the Vijñāna Bhairava to be profoundly inspiring and illuminating.

May Swamiji's blessing shine upon you!

Acknowledgements for the second edition

First of all, I would like to thank my wife Denise, my son Viresh, my daughter Shanna, George Barselaar, Claudia Dose, Stephen Benson, and Michael Van Winkle, all of whom made the success of this project possible. They all proved to be invaluable in the preparation of the transcript and audios for the publication of this new edition of the Vijnāna Bhairava. George Barselaar and Stephen Benson worked tirelessly on the first edition, listening over and over to the audio recordings, reading and re-reading the transcript, and making many valuable suggestions. I would like to thank my son Viresh for his masterful editing and additional footnotes in this second edition. His efforts will no doubt give the reader a much greater comprehension of this difficult text. I would also like to thank our very talented graphic designer, Claudia Dose, who provided the beautiful art work for the new cover. My sincere thanks to our audio expert, Michael van Winkle, who tirelessly worked polishing the original audio recordings, many of which were practically inaudible. Lastly I would like to thank my wife Denise who not only worked on the first edition, but made valuable editing suggestions for this second edition.

SWAMI LAKSHMANJOO

The Author

Swami Lakshmanjoo was born in Srinagar, Kashmir, on May 9, 1907. He was the most recent and the greatest of the long line of saints and masters of the Kashmir Shaiva tradition. From his early childhood, Swamiji spent his life studying and practicing the teachings of this unique and sacred tradition. Having a complete intellectual and spiritual understanding of the philosophy and practice of Kashmir Shaivism, he was a true master in every respect.

Being born with a photographic memory, learning was always easy for him. In addition to possessing a complete knowledge of Kashmir Shaivism, he had a vast knowledge of the traditional religious and philosophical schools and texts of India. Swamiji would freely draw upon other texts to clarify, expand, and substantiate his lectures. He could recall an entire text by simply remembering the first few words of a verse.

In time, his reputation as a learned philosopher and spiritual adept spread. Spiritual leaders and scholars journeyed from all over the world to receive his blessings and to ask him questions about various aspects of Kashmir Shaiva philosophy. He gained renown as a humble devotee of Lord Shiva and as an accomplished master (siddha) of the non-dual tradition of Kashmir Shaivism.

Throughout his life, Swamiji taught his disciples and devotees the ways of devotion and awareness. He shunned fame and recognition and did not seek his own glory. He knew Kashmir Shaivism was the most precious jewel and that, by God's grace, those who desired supreme knowledge would be attracted to its teachings. His earnest wish was for Kashmir Shaivism to be preserved and made available to all humankind.

In 1990, during his stay in Nepal, Swamiji translated Abhinavagupta's unique commentaries on the Paramārthasāra and the Bhagavad Gītā. During his explanation of the sixth chapter of the Bhagavad Gītā, Swamiji gave a rare glimpse into the full-ness and glory of his own experience:

I was smoothly going on with my practice and abruptly saktipāta (grace) came and threw all its force in me. It was tīvra tīvra (super-supreme) saktipāta. And then it happened and I was newborn. I became so great. I don't mean to boast but this is what happened. I was newly reborn. And, because I had to become Bhairava, I had to experience all of the states of yoga. And it happened, everything happened. I had all experiences; and cidānanda also, *jagadānanda*⁵ also. Everything happened. You can't imagine the ways of saktipāta.⁶

On the 27th of September, 1991, Swami Lakshmanjoo left his physical body and attained mahasamādhi, the great liberation.

5 Cidānanda and jagadānanda are the final stages of the seven states of tūrya, also known as the seven states of ānanda (bliss). See Appendix for explanation of the seven states of ānanda. See also Kashmir Shaivism—The Secret Supreme, 16.113-115.

INTRODUCTION

Kashmir Shaivism is so rich and detailed in its theology and soteriology that it has been aptly described as “the mystical geography of awareness.” It includes a highly developed system of spirituality that emphasizes not only the intellectual understanding of its philosophy but also the direct realization, the direct experience, of its truth.

For the Kashmir Shaiva, the very nature of truth, its defining characteristic, is that it is both limited and unlimited, atomic and universal. The human intellect, however limited, is capable of seizing the reality which transcends and envelops it. Such is the proclamation of God (Bhairava) to His beloved consort (Bhairavī) in this forthcoming text, the Vijñāna Bhairava.

Kashmir Shaivism offers many different practical approaches to the realization of the ultimate reality. These approaches vary depending upon the ability of the seeker. In the Vijñāna Bhairava, Bhairava sets out one hundred and twelve techniques of spiritual practice to be used by an aspirant eager to realize the divine universal reality. These secret practices are revealed by Bhairava as He answers the questions posed to Him by Bhairavī, the Divine Mother.

The narrative begins with Bhairavī, feigning ignorance, telling Bhairava that, even though She has heard all the various theories and explanations of the nature of reality, She still has doubts and is not completely satisfied. She implores Bhairava, “What is the real essence of the way we have to tread? Please, O Lord, remove My doubts entirely.”

Bhairava answers by telling Bhairavī that She has asked the question that is worth asking. He says it is a question—a secret question—that is the real essence of all

INTRODUCTION

Tantras. He then continues by explaining that all the processes illuminated in the Tantras are not meant for great or highly elevated souls, but for those who are not completely developed. He emphasizes that all these processes are just to begin with: "You begin with them and then leave them aside." This is because, in reality, the supreme state is not achieved by the support of the means (upāya). These practices are only capable of assisting the aspirant to meet God half-way, and the rest happens automatically by the independent grace of Bhairava. But it is important to understand that even the mere thought or desire to practice is a sign of God's grace.

All of the means exist within the world, which is bound by time, space, and formation, while the supreme state, the state of Bhairava, is beyond the limitation of space, time, and formation. The state of Bhairava is beyond thought and cannot be perceived by the thought-full mind. Bhairava is the state of unlimited universal subjectivity which can't be found as such. Why? The real state of Bhairava is the state of the knower and therefore, cannot be known; It can't be found because It is the perceiver, not the perceived. When you have a desire to perceive this state, you can only perceive It when It comes down one step lower in the state of Bhairavī, i.e., the state of the known and the world of the means.

So, in answering Bhairavī's question—"What is the real essence of the way we have to tread?"—Bhairava will teach Her one hundred and twelve ways to enter in the universal and transcendental state of consciousness. And, as Swamiji explains, because Bhairavī is Herself the way, all of these ways, these means, reside only in the field of Bhairavī (śakti), not in the field of Bhairava.

But what is the relationship of Bhairavī to Bhairava? Is Bhairava superior to His śakti, Bhairavī? To answer this, Bhairava tells us in verse eighteen that, "Just as there is no differentiation found between energy and the holder of energy, so also there is absolute unity between Bhairava and Bhairavī." And so, because of the unity of Bhairava and Bhairavī, you can experience the identity between the energy and the holder of energy by entering in the state of energy, Bhairavī. Ignorance, for Kashmir Shaivism, is not the absence of knowledge; rather it is said to be non-fullness of knowledge. The Kashmir Shaiva tells us that knowledge is always present in our life but it is limited differentiated knowledge. He argues that every limited being must have some knowledge because no one could exist without knowledge. On the other hand, real knowledge, which is unlimited, is Self-knowledge. It is undifferentiated (nirvikalpa) and identical with consciousness. Being identical with consciousness, it is the essence of reality.

The means (upāyas)

The method of traveling from limited individual consciousness to universal God consciousness depends on the ability of the aspirant, and Kashmir Shaivism has revealed three categories of means to achieve this. The first and highest means is called sāmbhavopāya. The second means, for aspirants with medium qualifications, is called sāktopāya. The third means, called ānavopāya, is regarded as inferior.

Abhinavagupta tells us in his Tantrāloka that the aspirant should always try for the highest and best thing first. Failing that, he should try for the next best, and so on. Thus, in the Tantrāloka, Abhinavagupta has defined and explained the highest upāya, sāmbhavopāya, first. His descriptions of sāktopāya and ānavopāya follow.

Drawing from the Mālinīvijaya Tantra, Abhinavagupta defines sāmbhavopāya as that upāya wherein the aspirant achieves entry (saṃāvesa) into supreme consciousness just by the grace of his master, without adopting any process. Swamiji tells us that in this upāya you maintain awareness in thought-lessness. You do not use thought (vikalpa), mantra, or any other aid to meditation. It is also called icchopāya, the path of the will.

→ Sāktopāya is defined as that upāya where the aspirant achieves mystical entry (samāveśa) through contemplation of that mental object which cannot be spoken or recited. Swamiji says that, in this upāya, you maintain awareness in the “organic” world, the world of the five organs of cognition (jñanendriyas) and the three internal organs of mind, ego and intellect (antahkāranas). It is also called jñānopāya, the path of knowledge.

→ Ānavopāya is defined as that upāya where mystical entry takes place through concentration on parts of the body (sthāna prakalpanā), contemplation (dhyāna), recitation (varna), taking the support of the breath (uccāra), and mantras.⁷ Swamiji says that, in this upāya, you maintain awareness in the “elementary” world, the world of the five great elements (mahābhūtas). It is also called kriyopāya, the path of action.

In Kashmir Shaivism, though the means may be many, the goal is only one—mystical absorption (samāveśa) in the sāmbhava state, the same reality found in sāmbhavopāya. What is the sāmbhava state? The sāmbhava state is where the yogi becomes instantly established in God consciousness. For the Kashmir Shaiva, every absorption in the reality of God consciousness is, in the end, the absorption of the sāmbhava state, because in sām-bhavopāya, unlike sāktopāya and ānavopāya, the yogi has nowhere to go. Instead, he only has to be in his own nature. This is real mystical absorption.

What determines which upāya the aspirant is qualified for? The secret is the strength of awareness. As Swamiji explains, firm strength of awareness means to possess such power of subjective consciousness that the practitioner’s one-pointed subjective awareness is not overshadowed either by objective experience or by thoughts. In the experience of the limited subject, the act of thinking or perception typically overshadows the subject, the perceiver, so that one is aware only of the thought or the perception and not the actual perceiver.

⁷ Tantrāloka 1.167-169, translation and commentary by Swami Lakshmanjoo, original audio recording, Universal Shaiva Fellowship archives.

INTRODUCTION

Thus, human beings generally live their lives completely in the objective or cognitive worlds. Although we might say, "I am seeing a butterfly", in actual fact, the "I" is eclipsed by the act of seeing and what remains is "seeing a butterfly." In other words, the subject is lost in the act of perception. Because "I-consciousness" is the basis for all thought and perception, it must be present for any thought or perception to take place. Yet it is eclipsed in such a way that, in the act of thinking or perceiving, it is not a part of conscious awareness. As we saw above, in the first two verses of the Shiva Sutras, this is the nature of ignorance, i.e., being overshadowed by the world of diversity and not knowing one's real universal nature. Developing strength of awareness means, gaining the ability to think thoughts and experience perceptions without losing Self-awareness.

Śāmbhavopāya ಶಾಂಭವೋಪಾಯ:

In order to succeed in śāmbhavopāya, the yogi must possess firm strength of awareness so that he does not need any support to maintain his awareness of Self. Shaiva masters tell us that, in śāmbhavopāya, the aspirant has only to continuously maintain the thought-less (nirvikalpa) state. For this reason, śāmbhavopāya is said to be the most refined upāya. Here, the aspirant must reside in the subtlest state of awareness, just at the starting point of any sensation, perception, or thought.

When you fix your awareness at the very first start, when desire is about to flow out, it has not flown out, it is about to flow out, that is śāmbhavopāya.⁸

⁸ Vijñāna Bhairava, commentary on v98.

INTRODUCTION

This starting point (prathamābhāsa) is found just at the beginning of any sensation, perception, or thought, before it has become determinate. In this upāya, the aspirant, by maintaining the thought-less state, resides in this first starting point of perception or thought simply by willing it. This yogi has developed such strength of awareness that he has only to will this to happen and it is accomplished. The Kashmir Shaiva points out that, because in sāmbhavopāya, the yogi has only to maintain thought-lessness, he has nowhere to go and nothing to do. Residing in the thought-less state is the means (upāya) and the end (upeya), as Swamiji says, “The means exists in the state of the meant.” Therefore, in sāmbhavopāya, there are no means separate from what is to be achieved. The yogi just wills to be there and he is there in his own subjective awareness, maintaining the continuity of thought-lessness.

In this state, the yogi, maintaining unbroken thought-lessness, is waiting at the threshold of universal consciousness. Having accomplished this much, there is nothing left for him to do. This state is significant because, up to this point, the yogi has depended primarily on self-effort. Swamiji tells us that, from this point onwards, the entry into universal God consciousness is automatic. Kashmir Shaivism holds that it is only by the grace of God (śaktipāta), in the form of the grace of the master, that Lord Śiva is revealed. When the disciple, by maintaining thought-lessness, reaches the entrance of the sāmbhava state, he is said to be capable of receiving the master’s grace.⁹ Here, Swamiji explains that it is this grace that carries the disciple to absorption in universal God

⁹ “Abhiṣiktah svasaṁvitti devībhirdīkṣitaśca sah. How he achieves without masters and without sāstras? For that he [Abhinavagupta] says, his own internal energies of Lord Śiva, śakti cakra, have initiated him.”—Tantrāloka 4.42, translation and commentary by Swami Lakshmanjoo, original audio recording, Universal Shaiva Fellowship archives.

consciousness.¹⁰

Śāktopāya शक्तोपायः

It is the nature of the world of particularity and diversity that causes our lives to be filled with a myriad of sensations, perceptions, and thoughts. Each of these ābhāsas, or appearances, has a beginning and an end. Every sensation, perception, and thought that comes into being, exists for some time, and then comes to an end. This, Shaivism teaches, is the nature of existence. Every moment of our lives is filled with this flux of creation, preservation, and destruction.

For the contemplative, the most important thing to bear in mind is the momentary gap or junction between the end of one sensation, perception, or thought and the beginning of another. Within the gap itself shines the universal undifferentiated reality of God, which is the eternal substratum and life of the differentiated universe.

Unlike śāmbhavopāya, śāktopāya requires the support of cognition and action. In śāktopāya, the aspirant achieves absorption in God consciousness by concentrating on the supreme Being as found in the junction between any two successive thoughts or any successive two actions. As the junction exists everywhere, any thought or action is fit for this practice, e.g., while raising your arm and putting it down, between two steps, between the waking state and the dreaming state, between the dreaming state and the state of deep sleep, between the outgoing breath and the incoming breath. Between every successive set of cognitions or actions, a gap or junction exists and is observable. In this practice, the aspirant has to maintain an uninterrupted and continuous awareness of the junction (sandhi). The Shaiva masters call this process “centering” (madhyam dhyātvā):

¹⁰ Kashmir Shaivism, The Secret Supreme 5.34.

INTRODUCTION

Madhyam dhyātvā: concentrate on that center, and while concentrating on that center, be established in that center . . . and in making yourself established in that center, the reality of God consciousness is revealed.¹¹

Through developing this intensity of awareness, the yogi will be able to maintain unbroken awareness, for it is only by maintaining unbroken awareness in a chain-like manner that the yogi will be able to discover the reality of the gap. Without this intensity of awareness, the aspirant will not be able to achieve the purpose of sāktopāya, and would then have to resort to āṇavopāya. On the other hand, for the capable practitioner of sāktopāya, even the practices that belong in āṇavopāya can be utilized.

Swamiji tells us that the goal of the sāktopāya aspirant is to develop an ever-increasing firmness of awareness, making himself capable of receiving the guru's grace. When the yogi reaches this state, he is said to be in that state that is described as "being at the feet of the guru".¹² This aspirant, being established in the fullness of God consciousness, is now fit to achieve absorption in universal God consciousness. When this yogi receives the grace of the guru in sāktopāya, he reaches that state of mystical absorption, which is one with the supreme mystical absorption (saṁvēśa) existing in the sāmbhava state.

Āṇavopāya

Āṇavopāya, which is considered inferior to the other two upāyas, is so named because it is the means concerned with āṇu, the individual soul. In āṇavopāya, the aspirant needs support and help from all sides to focus, maintain, and strengthen his awareness. We have seen how the sāktopāya aspirant, who has developed more strength of awareness, needs the support of two successive cognitions or actions in order to become established in the universal center. In sāmbhavopāya, the aspirant has developed such strength of awareness that he needs only to will to seize the universal center of thoughtless-ness, and it takes place. So, the āṇavopāya aspirant needs every support, the sāktopāya aspirant needs some support, and the sāmbhavopāya aspirant needs no support.

11 Vijñāna Bhairava, commentary on v61.

12 Kashmir Shaivism, The Secret Supreme 5.35.

INTRODUCTION

In āṇavopāya, the aspirant needs the help of many different processes to aid him in maintaining and strengthening his awareness. He may employ concentration on breathing (uccāra), concentration on experience through a particular sense organ (karana), meditative contemplation (dhyāna), or concentration on some particular place (sthāna prakalpanā). All of these various practices may be undertaken together or separately as an aid to developing awareness.

Uccāra, concentration on the breath, is a fundamental practice in āṇavopāya. In uccāra, the aspirant concentrates on the flow of the breath and, in particular, on the point between the outgoing and incoming breath and the point between the incoming and outgoing breath.

In karana, the aspirant maintains one-pointedness through his senses. The sense of sight, however, is the most important. For example, the aspirant may go on gazing at a particular object without blinking his eyes. In this process, he should try to maintain an unbroken chain of awareness. When that perception vanishes, as it will when he enters into the vastness of the center, this practice is complete.

Meditative contemplation (dhyāna) is another practice in āṇavopāya. There are many different forms of dhyāna. To meditate on the lotus in your heart, or on the meaning of a mantra such as “so’ham” or “Śiva” are forms of dhyāna. In this practice, the aspirant concentrates on these sounds, locations, or forms, while thinking and reflecting upon their meaning. It is said that contemplation on the meaning of spiritual words is a higher form of contemplation than the contemplation of an object with form. Anytime an aspirant uses mantras in his practice, it is considered dhyāna, and it is not uncommon to find dhyāna combined with uccāra and karana, as in the practices of cakrodaya and ajapā gāyatrī, which are described below.

Sthāna prakalpanā means, concentration on some particular place. In the lower, ordinary form of sthāna prakalpanā, the aspirant must concentrate on different points in the body. In Kashmir Shaivism, there are three main places for concentration: between the eyebrows, the pit of the throat, and the heart. In the higher, more refined practice of sthāna prakalpanā, the aspirant must see the vastness of this universe represented in the span of a single breath. Swamiji explains that, in this higher form of āṇavopāya, the aspirant must discover where each aspect of reality is found in the span of one breath. The “reality” that Swamiji is describing here is said to encompass the realm of the gods (devās), the locations of the protectors of the world (lokapālās), the astronomical locations, and including but not confined to the location of the dawn, sunset, midnight, and so on. All of these points and positions are to be located and concentrated on in the span of one single breath.¹³

Of the countless practices that are found in āṇavopāya, there are two practices that stand out as most typical: cakrodaya and ajapā gāyatrī. Both of these practices incorporate uccāra, concentration on breath, dhyāna, contemplation with mantra, and karana, which here refers to one-pointedness through the sense of sight. Furthermore, depending on the advice of the aspirant’s master, sthāna prakalpanā may also be included.

In the practices of cakrodaya and ajapā gāyatrī, uccāra (concentration on the breath) functions as the central element. In both of these practices, the yogi follows the movement of the breath, seeking to become aware of the center between the outgoing and incoming breath, and the center between the incoming and outgoing breath, while also maintaining awareness of the flow of the breath in the total breathing cycle. However, here, predominance is given to the beginning point and the ending point of the breathing cycle.

¹³ Kashmir Shaivism, The Secret Supreme 5.38.

INTRODUCTION

These two practices, however, differ in one important respect. In ajapā gāyatrī, the yogi maintains a slow and silent movement of the breath, while, in cakrodāya, he maintains a slow movement of the breath along with the sound of breathing. In both of these practices, along with breathing, the aspirant mentally repeats the mantra given to him by his master.

The aspirant in these practices must endeavor to maintain full awareness in the center between the two breaths. Swamiji specifies that this awareness must be lively and enthusiastic—indeed, it should be “continually fresh, new, and filled with excitement.” Certainly, the practice should not become routine-like. The yogi should be excited by his practice.¹⁴

Through the strengthening of awareness in āṇavopāya, the aspirant will enter into this center between the two breaths. At this point, his practice will become śāktopāya, and eventually he will enter into the mystical absorption (samāveśa) of śāktopāya. Finally, the yogi will attain the mystical realization of śāmbhavopāya.

It is important to realize that, although there are different upāyas, all of these upāyas lead the yogi to the same state of transcendental consciousness. The difference in the upāyas is that āṇavopāya takes longer, śāktopāya is a shorter way, while śāmbhavopāya is the quickest. Although the means are different, the end to be achieved is one.¹⁵

In his revelation of this Vijñāna Bhairava, Swamiji identifies and explains the means (upāya) associated with each of the one hundred and twelve practices that are taught to the Goddess, Bhairavī.

INTRODUCTION

Mokṣa

One might ask whether sāmbhava samāveśa, the mystical absorption in the state of Śiva, is equivalent to mokṣa, liberation. In fact, it is not. It certainly must exist if mokṣa is to occur, but it is not its defining characteristic. Abhinavagupta tells us in his Tantrāloka that “Mokṣa only exists when your being becomes absolutely independent (svatantrātmaka).”¹⁶ What is this “independence” that Abhinavagupta specifies as the necessary condition of mokṣa? We have seen above that it is repeatedly declared that the essential characteristic of Lord Śiva is his independence. It is explained that Lord Śiva created this universe by means of his independence. Śiva’s independence means complete unbridled freedom—freedom to will, freedom to know, freedom to do.

According to Abhinavagupta, a yogi can only be said to be liberated when he possesses this absolute independence (svātantrya). For a yogi to be independent, nothing must be able to limit him or overshadow his Universal consciousness. This means that this yogi must experience the same state of Universal consciousness, the same absolute independence, in the external world as he does in the mystical absorption of the sāmbhava state. From the Trika Shaiva point of view, until he attains this state, he cannot be said to be absolutely independent or to have attained complete mokṣa (liberation).

Swamiji, in discussing the supreme mystical absorption of sāmbhava, explains how the yogi’s internal mystical trance becomes fused with and transforms his external experience (vyutthāna). He tells us that this process begins when the yogi is experiencing the state of internal mystical awareness, when he is relishing the fullness of his internal God consciousness (nimīlanā samādhi). At that moment he is pulled out of the internal world into the world of external experience (unmīlanā samādhi). His eyes open and he experiences the world. But this external experience is different; it is now filled with the oneness of universal God consciousness. He may experience a chair, but the experience of this chair is filled with universal God consciousness. He may see a tree, and the experience of the tree is filled with universal God consciousness. Everywhere he looks, whatever he sees is filled with universal God consciousness. Then again, his eyes close and he is drawn inside. And again, after a few moments, his eyes open and he is drawn outside experiencing the world filled with the oneness of God. He cannot stop this process. Even though the yogi may try to stop this process, he cannot. This process of going from inside to outside, back inside, and again outside is automatic and continues for some time. This is the process known as krama mudrā.

*"One moment you are inside experiencing the bliss of the rise of cit kūḍalinī and then the next moment you breathe out and your eyes are open and you are experiencing the world filled with ecstasy. This process of coming out and remaining in continues and, each time it occurs, it is filled with more and more ecstasy. This process is called krama mudrā."*¹⁷

In clarifying this process, Swamiji tells us that this yogi experiences the fusing of his inner and outer worlds in the oneness of God consciousness. He says that the yogi's I-consciousness, his universal I-consciousness, is diluted in consciousness-of-this, consciousness of the external world, and consciousness-of-this is diluted in I-consciousness. Here, the fullness of I-consciousness absorbs "this-ness," external objectivity, and produces the oneness of internal mystical trance (samādhi) and external experience (vyutthāna). The nature of this yogi and the external world become one, and the yogi experiences them as being completely united, one with the other. There is absolutely no difference between them.

The process of krama mudrā results in the absolute oneness of universal Consciousness and the outer world, and this absolute oneness is the state of absolute independence. The yogi, in this state, experiences that the internal world of mystical trance and the external world are absolutely the same. This independence and absolute oneness gives rise to the state of jagadānanda (universal bliss).¹⁸

To explain the state of jagadānanda, Abhinavagupta says, "My master Śambunātha described jagadānanda as the state that is completely unencumbered, where bliss (ānanda) is found shining, where it is universally strengthened by the supreme I-consciousness of God, and where the six limbs of yoga-bhāvanā, dhāraṇā, dhyāna, pratyāhāra, yoga, and samādhi—are no longer used or required."¹⁹

This aspirant, whose being has become absolutely independent (svatantrātmaka) and who possesses the state of jagadānanda, is said to be a jīvan mukta, a being who is liberated while living. In his Bodhapañcadaśikā, Abhinavagupta tells us that when the aspirant attains real knowledge of reality, which is the existent state of Lord Śiva, that is final liberation.²⁰ What is this real knowledge? Real knowledge exists when the aspirant comes to understand that this whole objective universe of diversity and duality is just a magic trick, the play of Lord Śiva.

*"The Lord himself is the great magician. He has placed this trick before us . . . and, although we are undifferentiated, it seems that we are differentiated from each other."*²¹

INTRODUCTION

That does not mean, however, that it is a trick that creates an unreal world. For the liberated Trika Shaiva yogi, the world does not disappear, as the teachers of Advaita Vedānta proclaim. Nor is the goal of the Shaiva the Sāmkhyā world-oblivion of kaivalya (isolation). For the Shaiva, this objective world, being Lord Siva's creation, is just as real as Lord Siva. The trick lies in the fact that, by Śiva's play, he causes the limited individual to experience this world of diversity as the only reality. Real knowledge exists when the aspirant becomes one with universal God consciousness, which is the same as attaining perfect Self-knowledge. In possessing real knowledge, he knows that the world of differentiation is not actually different from Śiva, the supreme reality.

The cycles of bondage and liberation are both one with Lord Śiva. It is only his trick that we think that some souls are bound in ignorance while others are elevated. As only Lord Śiva exists, there is not any second thing that could cover or bind him. It is only his play that we think that this covering of diversity actually exists as a separate reality. There is not a second being or reality. His trick, therefore, is our trick. Why? Because we are Lord Siva. We have concealed ourselves in order to find ourselves. This is his play, and therefore it is our play.

Anupāya

The ultimate reality is clearly illuminated by the concept of anupāya. The Sanskrit word an-upāya literally means "no-upāya." We have already seen that, in Kashmir Shaivism, there are three upāyas: sāmbhava, sākta, and āṇava. In addition to these three upāyas, another called anupāya is also mentioned. As the name implies, anupāya is not actually an upāya, for in anupāya there are no means. The one who resides in anupāya has only to observe that nothing is to be done. Just to "be" is enough. In anupāya, the aspirant experiences that everything is filled with his own God consciousness. In fact, anupāya is the unexplainable reality of the liberated aspirant. In anupāya, the yogi is filled with the realization that they were never ignorant, and are therefore not now liberated. They know that nothing was lost and nothing is gained. What could they have been ignorant of and what are they liberated from? They experience that it was their own play, their own trick, that they appeared ignorant before and appear liberated now. They truly know that they are Śiva and that this world is their own divine playground.

INTRODUCTION

Vijñāna Bhairava

The Vijñāna Bhairava is one chapter in the Rudrayāmala Tantra. And another chapter in the Rudrayāmala Tantra is the Parātrīśikā.¹ This chapter² is from the Bhairava point of view. These are not Rūdra sāstras nor Śiva sāstras.³ These are Bhairava sāstras-monistic, pure monistic.

You already know there are three upāyas, three means. One is superior, the other is medium, and the third one is inferior. The inferior one is called “āṇavopāya”, the medium is called “śāktopāya”, and the superior is called “śāmbhavopāya”.⁴ (अनुपात + अनउपाय)

1 Commonly translated as “The Thirty Verses on the Supreme”, “Abhinavagupta has changed this name to Parātrīśikā. Parātrīśikā is the supreme energy which is the kingdom of three energies, the explanation of three energies (parā, parāparā, and aparā). This is the kingdom of three energies here.” Parātrīśikā Vivaraṇa, with the commentary of Abhinavagupta, translation and commentary by Swami Lakshmanjoo (original audio recording, USF archives, Los Angeles, 1982-85).

2 The Vijñāna Bhairava.

3 Rūdra sāstras are mono-cum-dualistic, the Śiva sāstras are dualistic, and the Bhairava sāstras are purely monistic.

4 “The word “upāya” in Kashmir Shaivism is used to indicate the means to enter into Universal God Consciousness from individual consciousness. . . . It is important to realize that though there are different upāyas, all lead you to the state of one transcendental consciousness. The difference in these upāyas is that āṇavopāya will carry you in a long way, śāktopāya in a shorter way, and śāmbhavopāya in the shortest way. Although the ways are different, the point to be achieved is one.” Kashmir Shaivism-The Secret Supreme, Swami Lakshmanjoo, ed. John Hughes, (Universal Shaiva

Śāmbhavopāya is just to maintain awareness in thoughtlessness. When you maintain awareness in the organic world⁵, that is sāktopāya. When you maintain awareness in the elementary world⁶, that is āṇavopāya (that is breath, breathing, mantra, recitation of mantra, and all these—these are called āṇavopāya).⁷

When you are just in a concentrative mood—that is being in the organic world, without the recitation of mantra, without breathing exercises—that is sāktopāya. When you are maintaining awareness in thought-lessness, that is śāmbhavopāya (superior, supreme). [In āṇavopāya], you have to put the adjustment of other sources also: sources of breath, sources of mind—everything is there. This is āṇavopāya. In sāktopāya, there is only mind, the functioning of the mind. In śāmbhavopāya, there is not mind also. In śāmbhava, you have to discard the functioning of the mind. It is not mind, it is just to dive in the un-minded state. That is śāmbhavopāya. If you put only the mind, not other sources, that will be sāktopāya. If you put adjustment of the breath, adjustment of a mantra, adjustment of all those things (worship, pūjā), that is āṇavopāya.⁷

Fellowship, Los Angeles, 1985-2003), 5.33-40. For a detailed explanation of the upāyas, see Introduction (pp.xxix-xli).

5 Swamiji uses the word “organic” to refer to the five organs of cognition (jñānendriyas: smell, taste, sight, touch, and hearing), in the sense of the energy of seeing and the energy of hearing, etc., along with the three internal organs (antahkaranas: mind, ego, and intellect).

6 Swamiji uses the word “elementary” to refer to the five great elements (pañca mahābhūtas—earth, water, fire, air, and ether).

7 “Śāmbhavopāya is also called icchopāya, as it is the means which exists in icchā śakti. The means which exists in jñāna śakti is sāktopāya and is called jñānopāya. Āṇavopāya is called kriyopāya because it is the means which is found in kriyā śakti.” Kashmir Shaivism-The Secret Supreme, 5.33-40.

“[Lord Śiva’s] energies are the means; [His] energies have become the upāyas. The energy of His will is explained as śāmbhavopāya, the energy of knowledge is sāktopāya, and the energy of action is āṇavopāya. The energy of action is breathing exercises, reciting mantras, reciting ślokas (hymns), and pūjā (worship). All these are in action, in the world of action. So, all these things are included in āṇavopāya and they will carry you to the state of Lord Śiva. And [the energy of] knowledge, this is sāktopāya. Perceiving, middle-ing, centering, all these are in the world of sāktopāya. They will also carry you to the state of Lord Śiva. And [the energy of] will is the first start of each and every action. O Lord (deva), what is the real essence of the way we have to tread (kim rūpam tattvato deva)?

And you have to see [for] yourself which way is sāmbhavopāya, which way would be āṇavopāya, and which would be sāktopāya. That you have to see [for] yourself in this book.⁸

This is one sentence, an exclusive sentence.

O Lord, what is the real essence of the way we have to march, we have to tread?

Tattvato means “in reality, the real essence.”

Is the way of that to tread on the fifty letters¹² and return? Is this the way of śabda rāśi kalā, the way we have to make the journey from ‘a’ to ‘kṣa’ and return from ‘kṣa’ to ‘a’ again? Is this the way? [Pārvatī] puts this question: Kim śabda rāśi kalāmayam tattvam? Or, kim vā navātma bheda, or is it navātma bheda, is it the journey of the nine states? The journey from one state to the second, from the second to the third, from the third to the fourth, from the fourth to the fifth, to the sixth, to the seventh, to the eighth, to the ninth, and then back again to the first, is this the way?

The nine states are [to be explained now]. The first state is prakṛti. The original source of the material world is prakṛti. Puruṣa is the individual soul who treads on that material world (this is the second). The third is the kañcukas, the five kañcukas, the five coverings of puruṣa—the five kañcukas.¹³ You have not to go in the depth of the letters here. [These are the] kañcukas: kalā, vidyā, rāga, kāla, and niyati. Then the fourth point is māyā. Māyā is the personified will of the supreme will.

There is a difference between prakṛti and māyā. Prakṛti is the original source of the material world, māyā is the personified will of the supreme Lord, the supreme Self. This is the difference between māyā and prakṛti. Otherwise, the function of prakṛti is just like the function of māyā. Only, the personified will of the supreme Self is māyā where[as] the original source of the material world is prakṛti. Prakṛti, puruṣa, the kañcukas, and māyā—these are four.

Then you have to tread again in the pure state of knowledge, that is suddhavidyā. The pure state of knowledge and action, that is īśvara. Establishment in knowledge and action, that is sadāśiva. And the universal energy is Śakti and its holder is Śiva.

These are the nine states. This is navātma bheda. This is navātma bheda when you keep before you the theory of states.

When you keep before you the theory of [letters], then those [letters] are respectively: 'h', 'r', 'ks', 'm', 'l', 'v', 'y', 'nūm'.¹⁴ These are navātma bheda from the mantric point of view. You have to tread on this field of mantra, the mantra field.

And [with regard to] states, [you must tread] the field of states from prakṛti to Śiva and back to prakṛti with His glory. When you tread from prakṛti, you are not glorified. When you return from Śiva, you are glorified with garlands and with Śaivism and with Śiva-thought and everything—everything comes with you.

13 Kalā (limited action), vidyā (limited knowledge), rāga (limited desire), kāla (limited time), and niyati (limited place). See also Kashmir Shaivism-The Secret Supreme, 1.7-8.

14 Or na plus 'ūm'. The nūm of the Navātma mantra consists of "na" plus "ūm", i.e., two syllables, which when separated make up the total of nine (nava) syllables of the mantra. [Editor's note]

Is this the way of navātma, . . .

Bhairave means “in the Bhairava āgama¹⁵”. Bhairavā krtau [means] “for entering in the state of Bhairava”. “Bhairavā krtau” is *naimittikī saptamī*¹⁶.

. . . bhairavā krtau, for entering in the formation of Bhairava? Or, triśiro bheda bhinnam vā kim vā śakti trayātmakam, or just as in the Triśirobhairava [Tantra]¹⁷ it is said, “You must tread on the three energies from parā, parāparā, and aparā, and then return again”?

From aparā to parāparā, from parāparā to parā, from parā to parāparā, and then from parāparā to aparā again, this is the reality of the journey in Shaivism.

Is that the way (this is the asking of Devī¹⁸), or nāda bindumayam vāpi kim candrārdha nirodhikāḥ, is this the way to travel: from nādā to bindū, from bindu to ardhacandra, from ardhacandra to nirodhikāḥ, from nirodhikāḥ to nādānta, then śakti, then vyāpinī, and then samanā? Is this the way? Or, if this is [not] the way, then You tell Me clearly what is the real way I have to travel.

Nāda means—first you have to begin traveling, begin the journey, from nāda-nāda means ‘a’, ‘u’, and ‘ma’ (a-kāraśca, u-kāraśca, ma-kārah). This is nāda.¹⁹

Then bindu. One-pointed perception in the movement of breath while reciting this mantra, ‘aum’, that is bindu.

Then ardhacandra. Ardhacandra is that state of movement of aum-kāra where there is no breath, without breath. Ardhacandra is without breath. Breath stops ¹⁶ The seventh or locative case.

there.

Then nirodhikā, the establishment of the stoppage of breath. In ardhacandra, there is an apprehension of breathing again, but in the nirodhikā state, there is no question of the breathing way. Nirodhikā is the complete establishment of breathless-ness.

Then comes the state of nādānta, entrance in the soundless state of sound. This is the soundless state of sound. Nādānta means, when you enter in that sound which is soundless, soundless sound.

Then the establishment of 'aham' is Śakti in the state of supreme oneness—vyāpinī and samanā.

त्वं व्यापिनीति सुमनात्वं
कुपट्टीती

Is this the way?

Vā (or) cakrārūḍham anackam vā kīm vā śakti svarūpakam, or you have to travel on that universal energy which is moving in such a velocity that moveless-ness takes place (that is anackam).

Anackam means “without movement”. Cakrā rūḍham means “in the wheel of movement”, anackam, without movement.

That energy, that *svarūpa*²⁰ of energy, is that the way to make yourself established in that state?²¹

20 Lit., self (sva) form (rūpa), Swamiji often uses the word “svarūpa” in the sense of “nature”.

21 Additionally, Swamiji notes that, “[Cakrā rūḍham anackam vā] is not a separate question. This is regarding the same course; this is one course of mantra, recitation of mantra, starting with gross and ending with nothing, ending with ‘automatic’. [After nirodhikā], then it will be anackam, cakrā rūḍham anackam: cakrā rūḍham śakti svarūpakam and anackam śakti svarūpakam. Cakrā rūḍham is the first state of that, the first subtlest state, after nirodhikā, and the last one is anackam, which cannot be [recited]. There is no recitation. It goes on within one’s own nature. It is the intensity of movement in such velocity that it appears without movement. [Then] it will go to nādānta, cakra rūḍham; anackam will go in the cycle of śakti. Śakti is that kīm vā śakti svarūpakam, energy, it is just energy. [This mantra] takes the formation of energy afterwards (śakti svarūpakam). And onwards also [to] vyāpinī, samanā, and

Manual for Self Realization

She puts these questions before Lord Siva.

JOHN: There are so many words in Shaivism that have a different meaning than their ordinary meaning. Anacka means “without vowels” literally, isn’t it?

SWAMIJI: Yes.

JOHN: And you have translated this as “movement-less movement”.

SWAMIJI: Yes.

JOHN: Can you say to us why this word means “movement-less”?

SWAMIJI: Movement, because it is *spanda*²²; “movement-less” because there is no vikalpa, there is no thought.

JOHN: Yes, but why does the word “anackam”, which usually means “no vowels”, why is it in our Shaivism it means “movement-less-ness”?

SWAMIJI: For instance, you have to utter ‘ka’. For instance, for some time, just say ‘ka’. You cannot utter ‘ka’ if there is not an ‘a’ in the end. ‘A’ is found in the class of ‘ac’²³. “Aiun rlik eoñ aiauc”²⁴—that is “ac” (“ac” is vowels). So when there are no vowels, you can’t utter it. So it is why he says, “anackam”.²⁵

JOHN: But you have translated this as “movement-less wheel of movement”.

SWAMIJI: Because there is no movement, you can’t utter it.

When you recite ‘ka’ without ‘a’, it is just practice, it is just one-pointedness. It does not move in the outside circle of the uttered letters.

She has risen in the wheel, She is moving in the wheel—the sakti—but in the movement also, She is not moving at unmanā.” Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

²³ The set of vowels.

²⁴ The first four sūtras of the Aṣṭādhyāyī, Pāṇini’s classical text on Sanskrit grammar, which denote the vowels from ‘a’ to ‘au’.

²⁵ That is, without (an) vowels (ac).

all. That is anacka.

But it cannot be without movement because then it will be *jada*²⁶, you will have to nominate it as jada, just like a rock. It is not a rock. It is all-consciousness.

So, there is some movement, and you cannot observe that it is moving. In movement, it is not [moving]; in the movable, it is not moving. Spanda and aspanda—in spanda, it is aspanda; in aspanda, it is spanda—both.²⁷

JOHN: And that's what this is? This cakrā rūḍham is to enter into the movement-less quality of letters?

SWAMIJI: Yes, cakrā rūḍham means, in other words, [that] in all the *māṭrkā cakra*²⁸, you'll find in each and every letter the same state—in the cycle of māṭrkā cakra.

JOHN: So, in the movement of these letters, the movement is what?

SWAMIJI: It is immovable-movement.

JOHN: Immovable-movement.

JAGDISH: So these cakras are mantras or other states?

SWAMIJI: Cakra is māṭrkā cakra. Māṭrkā cakra is the collection of all letters from 'a' to 'kṣa'. It is not śat cakra here.²⁹ [Devi's question continued]: Cakrārūḍham..

JAGDISH: . . . anackam vā.

SWAMIJI: . . . kim vā śakti svarūpakam, what is the svarūpa of śakti in that cakra-cakrārūḍham anackam.

JOHN: So, She is saying, "Is the nature of śakti to be found in this . . . ?"

SWAMIJI: No. Śakti is *bas*³⁰, the means. Śakti is the pathway on which you have to tread. Because later on He will 26 Inert, insentient.

27 "It is the intensity of movement in such velocity that it appears without movement." Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

28 The collection of all letters.

29 Śat cakra refers to the six (śat) cakras in the body.

30 Swamiji often uses this Hindi word, which means "that is all" or "enough".

Manual for Self Realization

say, “śaivī mukham ihocye”³¹ Saivī means śakti; mukham is the pathway. It is said that the pathway is śakti. You have to sentence your mind to Lord Śiva through that pathway (*Pārvatī śakti*³²). Not Pārvatī who is residing in Kailash.³³

JOHN: Oh, She wants to know what is the pathway in this cakrārūḍham, in this movement-less wheel of movement.

SWAMIJI: Yes, yes.

JAGDISH: And śakti svarūpam . . .

SWAMIJI: Kim vā śaktisvarūpaka.

JAGDISH: . . . means?

SWAMIJI: The svarūpa of śakti. Is this the śakti, that anacka? Is this the formation of śakti?

JAGDISH: Or . . . ?

SWAMIJI: If She is cakrārūḍham, if She is anacka, or if She is only śakti, only energy, the embodiment of energy.³⁴ This is the question of Devī.

परापरायाः सकलम्

There are three energies. In fact, these śaktis are three-fold, triple śaktis—one is parā, another is parāparā, and the ³¹ See verse 20.

third is aparā.³⁵

[Devī]: Parāparāyāḥ sakalam aparāyāśca vā punah (sakalam means “in the cycle of functioning³⁶”), if parāparā is existing in the cycle of functioning or [if] in aparā also the cycle of functioning is continuous, what lies in parā then?³⁷ Parāyā yadi tadvatsyāt, if parā also holds the [same] cycle of functioning, how parā will be called supreme?

This is another question.

Because sakala rūpa means, that which has kalanā. Kalanā means, that which can be observed, that which can be perceived, that which can be heard, that which can be seen, that which can be touched. When there is sensation, any sensation, wherever there is sensation, that is sakala rūpa.³⁸

When there is no sensation, only the supreme existence of God consciousness, that is parā.³⁹ It is without sensation, because sensation remains only there where the sensation is felt by the feeler. God consciousness is not felt, it is your own Self.

Because, for instance, you are John. You don't feel John 35 As explained in the Trisirobhairava Tantra: parā (supreme), parāparā (medium), and aparā (inferior).

36 That is, affected by the elements of the material world.

37 “If the sakala rūpa (functioning) of parā is just like the sakala rūpa of parāparā or just like the sakala rūpa of aparā, then where is the supremacy of parā found then?” Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

38 Sakala literally means, consisting of parts, divisible, material. “Sakala is where there is some sensation—it may be in form, it may be in space, it may be in time. Only these three things exist: space, time, and form.”

“In rūpa, there are two things to be noted: mantra and form. By ‘sauh’ you can feel that when you are rising. It is that state where you are rising from up to down. That is the particular state of the formation of that mantra. And ‘sauh’ is the mantra. Its mantra is ‘sauh’ and its state is that movement of rising down.” Ibid.

See Appendix for an explanation of the mantra ‘sauh’.

39 “It has no space, it has no time, it has no form in the state of parā because [parā] is your own Self.” Ibid.

every now and then because it is your own nature, it is your own svarūpa. You can feel Jagdish, you can feel Jeremy, you can feel all others, but you cannot feel yourself always. Why? Because it is your own self. This is the case with parā also. In parā, the Self is already in the state of knower-ship, not the known. The Self is not known in the state of parā. Knowledge resides only in parāparā and aparā. In the parāparā state, knowledge resides, and in aparā also, knowledge is . . .

JOHN: So there is sensation in parāparā?

SWAMIJI: You can feel the state of God consciousness in parāparā and in aparā. You cannot feel the state of God consciousness in parā—it is your own Self.

śāntim no labhate mūḍho yataḥ śamitum icchati /⁴⁰

Śānti, that duffer yogi does not achieve the absolute peace of God consciousness, because he wants it! As long as the urge is there, it is useless. As long as it becomes your nature, then it is right. It must become your nature, it must not become your [desired] object.

That is what we feel in the state of parā.

Parāyā yadi tadvat syāt, if, in parā also, You will explain that it is felt, paratvam tad virudhyate, where is *paratva*⁴¹ there? Paratva is finished, paratva is absolutely vanished, it is nowhere to be found. This supreme state of God consciousness is nowhere. Then paratva is as good as parāparā or aparā.

This is the question of Devī.

न हि वर्णविभेदेन
देहभेदेन वा भवेत् ।
परत्वं, निष्कलत्वेन,
सकलत्वे न भावयेत् ॥ ६ ॥

40 From the Aṣṭāvakra Samhitā, 18.39.

41 The suffix “tva” denotes “the quality of”, i.e., the quality of parā.

na hi varnavibhedenā dehabhedena vā bhavet / paratvam, niṣkalatvena, sakalative na bhāvayet⁴² // 6 //

This is a misunderstanding of Pārvatī. She wants to clarify it.

Na hi varṇa vibhedenā deha bhedenā vā bhavet, paratvam. Paratvam cannot exist when there is varṇa vibheda or deha bheda, the differentiated-ness of letters or the differentiated-ness of bodies. As long as differentiated bodies are concerned and differentiated varṇa mala is concerned (the cycle of letters is concerned), paratva is not found. Paratva cannot exist when there is differentiated-ness in varṇas (letters) or bodies (bodies means svarūpa).⁴³

Varṇa vibhedenā, deha bhedenā, paratvam na bhavet. If paratva will be accepted there, then it won't be niṣkala, you can't nominate it as *niṣkala*⁴⁴. Paratva is sakala, paratva becomes sakala, when there is differentiated-ness of varṇas and differentiated-ness of bodies (svarūpas). Sakalative na ca bhavet, if there is sakalatva, paratva won't be accepted there in sakala. Sakala cannot be niṣkala and niṣkala cannot be sakala.⁴⁵

This is a misunderstanding of Pārvatī. But, in fact, sakala can be niṣkala and niṣkala can be sakala because of our theory of that pathway of traveling when we reach that aham

⁴² Swamiji corrected “sakalative na tad bhavet” to read “sakalative na bhāvayet”.

This will be adjusted to krama mudrā. Krama mudrā is automatic, it is not to be done—it appears. You are not doing [it]. It is not your choice. It is not anybody’s choice. It appears like that. It happens. Krama mudrā is the real point [and] for this is this two-fold way of aham and ma-ha-a. The pathway is through sauh and pindanātha.” Ibid. See Appendix for an explanation of krama mudrā, and sauh mantra.

When you digest this whole, along with Śiva, in the individual, that is aham bhāva. We are situated in aham bhāva at present. And when [the individual] is digested in the supreme nature of God consciousness, that is ma-ha-a bhāva. Ma-ha-a is the introverted course and [aham] is the extroverted course. [They are] one and the same thing. You may be an individual, no worry; you may be universal, no worry. Whatever forms, any form of the Lord, [be they] in the divided formation of mantras and forms or in the undivided formations of mantras and forms, whatever formation [of the Lord] You find explained in all Tantras, tad asāratayā devi vijñeyam śakra jālavat, that is all bogus. That is written only for writing only, not to be understood; it is not worth understanding. It is only deception or delusion. It is deception, tat asāratayā, because it has no sense, it has no meaning in the background.

For instance, śabda rāśi (the fifty-fold journey), or the nine-fold journey⁴⁹, or the three-fold journey⁵⁰, or the eleven-fold journey⁵¹, all these are bogus. It has no essence in it.

Tad asāratayā devi, that has no essence there. You must know that this is only deception or delusion and nothing else. Not only this much.

This is only māyā. This is the expansion of māyā. All these states and all these processes are just like a dream. Or, gandharva nagara bhramam, just like a wrong conception, just like an imaginary city in the sky.

48 Although some readings have “indra jālavat” (the net of Indra), Swamiji preferred “śakra jālavat”, which he said conveys the same meaning since Śakra is another name for the god, Indra.

49 Navātma bheda.

50 Triśiro bheda.

51 A-u-m-bindu, ardhadandra, nirodikā, nāda, nādānta, śakti, vyāpīni, and samanā are the 11 phases of sound. The 12th sound unmanā is not included since it is supreme (parā) and the actual state of God consciousness.

There is a wrong conception when you feel that there is an imaginary nagara (city) in the sky. That is gandharva nagara.

Then the question arises there: Why are these ways put in the Tantras then? What is the fun in putting them in these Bhairava āgamas?

It is something else.

Then what is that?

Etā, these ways established in the Tantras are bāla vibhīṣikā, just for diverting ignorant boys from bad actions.

You terrify those boys by saying that, “If you do such and such action, this ghost will eat you. Don’t do this! This ghost, he will eat you just now. Don’t do this action. Keep quiet.”

DEVOTEES: [laughter]

SWAMIJI: This is bāla vibhīṣikā. And this terrifying process is functioned for whom? Not for great souls, highly elevated souls, [but] for those who have aprabuddhamatī, whose intellect is not developed, [not] well-developed.

Or, mātṛ modaka vat sarvam pravr̄tyartham udāhṛtam, [if] you have to take a dose of medicine, a medicine dose which is not sweet, it is sour, it is not tasteful, you do not like to take it, then what does your mother do? She puts something sweet in your mouth first and [then] says, “Take [the medicine] now.” Just as a mother directs her son for doing something good by giving him some sweets first (mātṛ modakavat sarvam, that is the modaka, the sweet offering of a mother), pravr̄tyartham udāhṛtam, just to begin with, these processes are just to begin with, but not to dive in those processes. These processes are nothing! You have not to tread on those processes. It is just to begin with (pravr̄tyartham udāhṛtam, the meaning of pravr̄tyartham udāhṛtam is, it is just to begin with). You begin and, leave them aside, and then go on the right path.

JOHN: Well then why, if it is not unspeakable, do we say that this is all bogus, this, all this talk, these theories, this law, this way, this way, so many fifteen-fold ways, thirty . . . ? Why do we always say, "This is bogus, there is no path, there is no . . . ?"

SWAMIJI: We don't say this is bogus. Why should we say it is bogus?

JOHN: Doesn't Lord Śiva just say here in the beginning that it is bogus, all these theories?

JAGDISH: Etaḥ bāla vibhiṣikāḥ.

SWAMIJI: Yes, in that state, because there are means. Actually, [Bhairava] is not achieved by the support of means, in the actual way of understanding.

JAGDISH: It is only pravr̥tyartham.

SWAMIJI: Pravr̥tyartham. Māṭr̥ modakavat sarvam pravr̥tyartham udāhṛtam, you just have to take this dose of the mixture, and mother wants you to take that dose of the mixture, which is very . . .

DENISE: Terrible taste.

SWAMIJI: . . . terrible taste, and she first gives you one piece of candy to taste, and then this [medicine]. So this is that candy, these means.

JOHN: But what's the terrible medicine?

SWAMIJI: The exact medicine is that medicine where you have to do nothing. It is terrible, you can't do that. You have to digest it with these upāyas, these means, with some support in the beginning, and that support is these one hundred and twelve ways. There is no way to achieve that, actually. One hundred and twelve ways are just in place of sugar candy.

What is the right path? He puts that now.

This state of Bhairava is beyond the limitation of space, time, and formation. It has no space, It has no time, It has no form—It is beyond that, beyond these three (dikkāla kalana unmuktā). Deśa uddeśa aviśeṣinī, there is no uddeśa or deśa, [there is no] nomination of the seat of Lord Śiva.

Vedantic TRUTH
 Do you know where Lord Śiva resides? In Śivaloka. Śivaloka is the residence of Lord Śiva in the heavens, and the residence of Lord Śiva in this universe is [Mount] Kailasha. He lives on the top of Kailasha. This is all humbug!

Dikkāla kalana unmuktā, there is no deśa (neither space, nor time, nor form) and there is no uddeśa (nomination of his particular place)—deśa uddeśa aviśeṣinī.

Vyapadeṣṭum aśakyāsau, this state is, in fact, indescribable, It can't be described. Akathyā paramārthatah, in reality, It can't be told. Antah, internally It happens; It is filled with your own ecstasy, your own ānanda. It is beyond the apprehension of vikalpa (vikalpa unmukta gocara), beyond thought.

Yāvasthā bharitākārā bhairavī bhairavātmanah, that state, which is filled, always filled, always full, that state of Bhairavī, [which] is that full state of Bhairava, is, in reality, to be known as absolutely pure, and absolutely filled with universal existence (viśva pūraṇam).⁵⁴

That state is not the object of vikalpas, It can't be perceived by vikalpas (thoughts). You can't perceive It through the mind. [It is] vikalpa unmukta gocara, It is not vikalpa gocara as you are vikalpa gocara to me. With vikalpas, I can understand you, but you can't understand That state through vikalpas. Vikalpa unmukta gocara, It has gone above the cycle of becoming the object of vikalpas-vikalpa unmukta gocara. [Bhairavī] has gone above [becoming] the object of thoughts. You can express It but you cannot feel It just like we feel in this-ness, objectivity. For instance, you have the information of the Tantrāloka. If you have the information of the Tantrāloka and you need the Tantrāloka book to explain—you take the support of the Tantrāloka book and you explain the words of the Tantrāloka—that is vikalpa sahita gocara. It is not vikalpa unmukta gocara because it is in that state of subjectivity, which is attached to objectivity. This [state of Bhairavī] must be in pramiti bhāva (that is vikalpa unmukta gocara).

JOHN: Pramiti bhāva.

SWAMIJI: Pramiti bhāva is the state of that pundit, that scholar, who does not take the support of the Tantrāloka. I will show you, I will make you understand more vividly. For instance, I understand, I know, the Tantrāloka. For the time being, I know the Tantrāloka [but] I have no books. I don't remember any śloka (verse) in my mind. In my mind, I don't remember any śloka, but whenever somebody asks me [about] some śloka, bas, [the explanation] comes out. Where was that śloka residing in my brain? Where? In the nirvikalpa state. That is pramiti bhāva.⁵⁵ That state is of Pārvatī. That state is of that Universal Consciousness where there are no objects of vikalpa. [On the other hand], this is the object of vikalpas, when you take the support of a book.

⁵⁵ “Pramiti [bhāva] is that state where subjective consciousness prevails without the agitation of objectivity. The state of pramiti is without any object at all. In other words, when he is residing in his own nature, that subjective consciousness is the state of pramiti.” Kashmir Shaivism-The Secret Supreme, 11.81. See Appendix for an explanation of pramiti, pramāṭr, pramāṇa and prameya bhava.

This state of Bhairava that is already sung in the body of the Tantras, yāvasthā parigīyate (parigīyate, sung), that state is in Its supreme way (pararūpena), [and It] is the state of Bhairavī (parā devī).

In other words, the real state of Bhairava is the state of Bhairavī. Whenever you explain, whenever you find out, what is the real state of Bhairava, you can't find it out because the real state of Bhairava is, in fact, the real state of the knower. It can't be found [because] It is the [finder]. The real state of Bhairava is the perceiver, It is not perceived. You can't perceive that state. When It is perceived, when there is a desire in you to perceive It, you can perceive It [only] when It comes down in the state of Bhairavī. So that is the way. When you tread on the level of Pārvatī, then you are treading on the path. This is the journey we have to do, the journey we have to do in the field of Pārvatī, not in the field of Bhairava [where] there is no journey. He is the knower of everything, so It can't be found, that state cannot be found. That state can only be found when It comes down one step lower at the state of Pārvatī.

So, now, here we will describe one hundred and twelve ways to enter in the universal and transcendental state of consciousness. One hundred and twelve ways will be explained in this book, and those one hundred and twelve ways will reside only in the field of Pārvatī. It can't reside in the field of Bhairava because Pārvatī is the way.

This is what he puts down [as] the foundation stone for entering in the consciousness of the one hundred and twelve ways.

Evaṁvidhā bhairavasya yāvasthā parigīyate, this state of Bhairava, which is sung in the Tantras, is really the supreme state of the Goddess, Pārvatī (sā parā pararūpena, in Its supreme way is parā devī prakīrtitā).

But is there any difference of supremacy? Is there a difference of supreme-ness between Lord Śiva and Pārvatī? This is what he explains now.

शक्तिशक्तिमतोर्यद्वत्
अभेदः सर्वदा स्थितः ।

अतस्तद्धर्मधर्मित्वात् परा शक्तिः परात्मनः ॥ १८ ॥

*śaktiśaktimatoryadvat abhedaḥ sarvadā sthitāḥ / atastaddharmadharmitvāt
parā śaktih parātmanah // 18 //*

Just as between energy and the holder of energy there is no differentiation at all to be found—always there is abheda, there is unity, unity between energy and the holder of energy (śakti and Śiva), there is no differentiated-ness—in the same way, tat dharma dharmitvāt (tat dharma means, all the aspects of Lord Śiva—tad dharma; tat means Lord Śiva, of Lord Śiva), all the aspects of Lord Śiva are held by Pārvatī Herself (tat dharma dharmitvāt).

— “Dharmi” is the holder of all aspects. Dharmi, who is dharma? Pārvatī. Tat dharma, all the aspects of Lord Śiva are held by Pārvatī.

So, parā śakti parātmanah, that supreme energy is the energy of the supreme Lord. There is no difference in any case.

na vahnerdāhikā śaktih vyatirikta vibhāvyate / kevalam jñānasattayām prārambho'yan pravesane // 19 //

Because, when there is a fire (for instance, there is a fire), its energy is *dāhikā*⁵⁶, [and dāhikā's] energy is *pācikā*⁵⁷ [and] 56 Burning.

*prakāśikā*⁵⁸. All these energies are owned by fire, but those energies—lightening, giving light, burning, heating, all these energies are produced from fire—but these energies are undifferentiated with fire. From fire, these energies are not different from fire. That is what he says: na vahner, from fire, dāhikā śakti, the energy of burning, burning energy, is not vyatirikta (separated) vibhāvyate (found), it is not found that it is separated.

Kevalam jñāna sattāyām prārambho'yam praveśane, it is just to enter in that state of fire, i.e., to put a kettle on it or to put fuel on it (dāhikā, prakāśikā, and pācikā). It is just to enter in the state of fire, i.e., to put fuel and to put that kettle [on it].

So, [in the same way], it is just to enter in the *jñāna sattā*⁵⁹ of Lord Śiva. You have to enter in the jñāna sattā of Lord Śiva, and [although] you are maintaining the nāvatma mantra and all these [processes], these are nothing. [They are] only prārambha, just to begin with.

*śaktyāvasthāpravistasya

śaivī mukhamihocaye // 20 //*

When you enter in the state of energy and leave your individual state (you have not to enter in the state of energy for always), you have to throw off the individual state and enter in the energy to enter in the universal state in the end. Because, unless you [throw] off your individuality, universality will not rise, universality won't take place.

So you have to enter in the state of energy first (śakti avasthā pravishṭasya), then afterwards, yadā nirvibhāgena bhāvanā bhavet, when you feel that undifferentiated-ness comes in your consciousness—undifferentiated between energy and the holder of energy—tadāsau śivarūpi syāt, at that very moment, this *sādhaka*⁶⁰, his *bhāvanā*⁶¹ becomes one with Lord Śiva.

So, the path is Śakti, the path is not Śiva (śaivī means Śakti). Energy is mukham, the path is iha, here, ucyate, explained. Energy is the real path you have to tread.

O dear Pārvatī, just like with the light of your candle or torch (dīpasya ālokena, by the light of your torch, or candle, or by the rays of the sun), all the differentiated points of desa (space) are known, are understood, in the same way, Śiva is being understood by Śakti, by His energy. Energy is the means by which you can understand and enter in the state of Lord Śiva.

The commentary after verse 23 is by Śivopādhāya, though Swamiji added that, "Śivopādhāya was just a Śaivite-cum-Vedāntist. He was not an actual Śaivite, not a pure Śaivite." Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

Ūrdhve means “from upwards”.

The movement from upwards (i.e., from the heart to dvādaśānta⁶⁷) is prāṇah (prāṇah means, the outgoing breath). Adhah, from dvādaśānta to hrdaya (the heart) is jīvah (jīvah means, the in-going breath).

The outgoing breath is represented by ‘sa’ and the ingoing breath is represented by ‘ha’. So ‘sa’ and ‘ha’, visargātmā parā uccaret utpatti dvitaya sthāne; utpatti dvitaya sthāne, [these are] two starting points. From the heart, there is one starting point, and from bāhya dvādaśānta, there is another starting point (that is utpatti dvitaya, two starting points). There, visargātmā parā uccaret, this supreme energy, which is full of visarga⁶⁸, appears. And by this process, bharanāt bharitā sthitih, bharitā sthiti, bhairavasya sthitih syāt, one becomes 66 Contemplation.

67 A technical term in Kashmir Shaivism, literally meaning “twelve finger spaces.” In this case, it refers to bāhya dvādaśānta, the starting point of breath outside (bāhya) the body, twelve finger spaces from the center of the eyebrows.

68 The vowel, ‘ah’, which is represented by a colon in the Sanskrit alphabet, literally means “emission” or “flow”.

Vijñāna Bhairava

one with Bhairava, bharanāt, because of its fullness.

This upāya, this means, is connected with āṇavopāya. It can't be sāktopāya or sāmbhavopāya. It is āṇavopāya because it is functioning in the objective field of consciousness.

Ūrdhve, you have to take the breath [out] from the heart to dvādaśānta, and take it in from dvādaśānta to the heart again, and recite prāṇa and jīva. "Recite prāṇa" means, recite 'sa', the letter 'sa', and "recite jīva" [means, recite] the letter 'ha'. And, in these utpatti dvitaya, in these two starting points, you have to recite visarga and 'ṁ'-kāra. The visarga of 'sa' will be recited in the outward dvādaśānta, and the 'ṁ'-kāra of 'ha' will be recited in the heart. When you take your breath inside, [the recitation of 'ha'] will end in 'ṁ'⁶⁹. When you take it out, [the recitation of 'sa'] will end in visarga—'sah'. And, in these two starting points, if you concentrate, you will become one with Bhairava because of its fullness.

“Bhairavi” is āmantranām.⁷¹

O Bhairavī, O Pārvatī, here, You have not to recite ‘so’⁷² or ‘ham’. It is without the recitation of ‘sa’ and ‘ha’. It is only awareness that functions here.

It is why this is sāktopāya. This can’t be ānavopāya because you have to maintain awareness only, no recitation of mantra. Only you have to [inhale] and [exhale] breath and Madhye nirvikalpatayā, when You establish one-pointedness in the central path, the central vein (suṣumnā; madhye means, in suṣumnā, in the central vein), when You maintain one-pointedness in that central vein (nirvikalpatayā)—then what happens?—marut rūpā śakti, this energy of breath neither goes out nor enters in (na vrael na viśet) because madhye vikāsite, this central vein is vikāsite, it is already illuminated. And by this process, bhairava rūpatā bhavati, one becomes one with Bhairava.

This is śāmbhavopāya. This is not śāktopāya. It is more than śāktopāya because there is only *nirvikalpi bhāva*⁷⁵ and one-pointedness in that central vein, no recitation of mantra and no objective field of consciousness.

This is a practice with a little effort, what you call “hatha yoga”.

When You take Your breath inside, when it reaches the point of the heart, just [retain it] for a while, and take it out afterwards—after stopping there, take it out afterwards—and when it reaches at the point of dvādaśānta outside, then stop, just wait, don’t take it in again rapidly—just wait.

This is what He says here.⁷⁶

You have to hold it only for ten seconds outside and ten seconds inside with each and every breath. Recitā satī kumbhitā, pūritā satī kumbhitā, yadā bhavet prāṇa śakti. Tadante, in the end, what happens? Sāntanāma asāu sāntah, the state of sadāśiva . . .

Sānta nāma means, the state of *sadāśiva*⁷⁸; sānta means, sa-vargasya antah-sa-kārah. Sa-kāra is the representative letter of *sadāśiva*⁷⁹ (sa-vargasya antah sānta, sānta nāma).

. . . sānta nāma, the state which is nominated as sadāśiva, which is sāntah, which is appeased, . . .

Sāntah means . . . [this] next "sāntah"⁸⁰ does not mean this is sa-vargasya antah. Sāntah means, the appeased state, full of peace, appeased, sāntah. "Sāntanāma" means sadāśiva, the state of sadāśiva which is sāntah (sāntah means, absolutely appeased, calm).

. . . that is prakāśate, revealed, tadante, in the end, śaktyā, by this way of prāṇa śakti, by this process of prāṇa śakti, this way.

You have to take [the breath] out and hold it for some time, [then] take it in and hold it in the heart for some time, and go on practicing like this. And in the end, what will happen? The state of sadāśiva, which is the completely appeased form of suarūpa, will be revealed by this practical prānā śakti, energy ⁷⁸ See appendix for a list of the 36 elements.

⁷⁹ Sānta (sa-antah) in the third line of the verse means, sa-vargasya antah, the last letter in the class of letters beginning with sa, i.e., śa, ṣa, and sa. In the theory of mātrikā, the letter 'sa' represents the pure element known as sadāśiva.

⁸⁰ Swamiji is referring to the second occurrence of the word "sāntah" that appears in the last line of the verse.

So, it is āṇavopāya sentenced to sāktopāya. Because, as long as there is kumbhakā, that is āṇavopāya. You have to hold the breath, so you have to be aware of holding breath then. There is mind, there is the functioning of the mind there. [The mind] is not dead there, so there is āṇavopāya. And when you reach that appeased state of sadāśiva, then it is sāktopāya. So, it is āṇavopāya sentenced to sāktopāya.

DEVOTEE: What is the difference here between the experience of sadāśiva and the experience of Śiva or Bhairava?

SWAMIJI: Sadāśiva is Bhairava, but Bhairava is that state of sadāśiva which is when you don't return in this body. Sadāśiva is as good as Śiva, but in the body. As long as the body is there, that is Bhairava's state of sadāśiva. Śiva means the state which is of Bhairava only, in the solo way. "Solo" is just only Śiva. The not-solo state of Śiva is sadāśiva.

DEVOTEE: He is in sadāśiva.

dehapāte tu paramaśiva bhaṭṭāraka eva bhavati /⁸¹

After leaving this physical frame, then he becomes one with that Śiva, solo.

JOHN: But can you experience this Śiva in this life?

SWAMIJI: Yes, yes, but it is sadāśiva.

JOHN: But why would he be in sāktopāya only then? That's what I don't understand. If that is highest state . . . ?

SWAMIJI: Because there is kumbhakā, you have to hold the breath.

JOHN: But after gaining that sadāśiva, there is no more holding breath then?

SWAMIJI: Then it is sāktopāya.

Manual for Self Realization

JOHN: But why wouldn't that be sāmbhavopāya?

SWAMIJI: Sāmbhavopāya it can't be because it has come by holding the breath.

JOHN: But they're both realization?

SWAMIJI: Yes, both realization. As long as there is holding of the breath, it is an inferior way of process. And, by that inferior way, he goes to that supreme way, and that will be only sāktopāya. From āṇavopāya, you cannot fly to sāmbhavopāya.⁸²

JOHN: But I thought that you also, after leaving sāktopāya, must pass through sāmbhavopāya; that sāktopāya is not the end.

SWAMIJI: No, sāktopāya is not the end.

JOHN: It is end?

SWAMIJI: No, it is not the end.

JOHN: You must go through sāmbhavopāya?

SWAMIJI: Yes, it will go. After reaching that sāktopāya, then he will automatically go in sāmbhavopāya in the end.

Bas. After “śāmyantīm”, you should put a comma.

Ā mūlat (mūlāt means *mūlādhāra*⁸³), right from mūlādhāra (ā mūlāt: ā, right from, mūlāt, mūlādhāra), tām cintayet, you should realize Her nature, realize the nature of the Goddess, parā.

How?

Kiranābhāsām, just like filled with varieties of rays—kiranābhāsām. Sūkṣmāt sūkṣmatarātmikām, first it is gross, then it becomes subtle, then it becomes subtler, subtler, subtler, subtlest, in the end it becomes subtlest (that is “sūkṣmāt sūkṣmatarātmikām”). And you should *cintayet*⁸⁴, you should find out tām, that śakti, śakti of parā śakti.

You should not refer to prāna kundalinī, cit kundalinī, or śakti kundalinī here.⁸⁵

83 “Mūlādhāra is that part of the body where sexual excitement takes place. The rectum is not the place for that—it is mūlādhāra, it is above the rectum.” Tantrāloka 15.77, (USF archives).

84 Swamiji explained that “cintayet api” does not mean “meditated upon” in the sense of dhyāna or bhāvana. He said, “You must be aware there also; when you achieve that state of kundalinī, you have to be aware. You [must] be there, you make yourself present there. You don’t ignore your awareness. You just be aware of what it is going on.” Vijnāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

85 See Appendix for detailed explanation of kundalinī. See also Kashmir Shaivism-The Secret Supreme, 17.117-124.

You should cintayet, find out, tām, that sakti, dviṣatkānte śāmyantīm, at the point of dviṣatkānte (dvādaśānta; dviṣatkānte means dvādaśānta), . . .*

JAGDISH: Ūrdhva dvādaśānta? Which one is this?

SWAMIJI: There is nothing, no question of ūrdhva dvādaśānta or other dvādaśānta. Any dvādaśānta will do. When it rises from mūlādhāra cakra, there are so many dvādaśāntas. It may rest in *nabhi*⁸⁶, it may rest in the heart, it may rest in the throat-pit.

* . . . bhairava udāyah, [the rise of Bhairava] is absolutely vividly found there.

It is not always that it must go to brahmarandhra.⁸⁷ In fact, the state of brahmarandhra is held everywhere in all the cakras. That is what He refers [to] in this dhāranā: ā mūlat kiraṇābhāsāṁ; kiraṇābhāsāṁ, just like flowing of rays up, above.

GEORGE: Is he saying to hold that in mūlādhāra or that's just giving the concept that it's to be held everywhere?

SWAMIJI: No, mūlādhāra is the point; mūlādhāra, how you reach mūlādhāra. You cannot reach mūlādhāra just while talking. You have to meditate, meditate in continuity, and then your breath goes down in the central vein, in the pathway of the central vein, then it touches mūlādhāra.⁸⁸ From that mūlādhāra is the appearance of parā sakti. And that parā sakti takes the formation of sometime in prāṇa kundalinī, sometime cit kundalinī, and sometime parā kundalinī. That is another thing, that is another question. But you have to understand that this is parā sakti, parā sakti rising from mūlādhāra. Then there is no breath. And the more it rises, the more it becomes subtle. It becomes more subtle, so breath has no room there to exist. Breath has already stopped at the time of going inside, in the pathway of the central vein (suṣumnā). And when you find, when you experience, this parā śakti rising from mūlādhāra just like the fountain of kirana (rays), rays of cit (consciousness), if it rests at nābhī, bhairava udayah, you will find the state of Bhairava existing; or [at] the heart, you will find the state of Bhairava; or [at] the throat pit, [you will find the] Bhairava state; [at] this [*bhrūmadhya*⁸⁹, you will find the] Bhairava state; and at the top also⁹⁰, [you will find] the Bhairava state. This is one technique found in this.

88 "When you stop your breathing, then what happens next is that your breath immediately rushes down in the central vein. Your breath is 'sipped' down and you actually hear the sound of sipping. The gate of the central vein (madhya nādī) opens at once and your breath reaches down to that place called mūlādhāra, which is near the rectum." Kashmir Shaivism-The Secret Supreme, 16.112. See also Self Realization in Kashmir Shaivism, 5.106-107.

JAGDISH: What upāya is this, sir?

SWAMIJI: It is āṇavopāya mixed with śāktopāya. Āṇavopāya in the beginning. Āṇavopāya will end in this sipping course [down] to the *mūlādhāra*⁹¹—that is āṇavopāya. From that [point onwards], it is śāktopāya. It is not sāmbhavopāya. Sāmbhavopāya begins from krama mudrā. It is just like opening and closing, opening and closing, opening and closing, automatically.⁹²

89 Between the two eyebrows.

90 Brahmarandhra.

91 Mūlādhāra is a cakra at the base of the spine near the rectum. It is the resting place of kundalinī.

92 “You experience the rising flow of cit kundalinī as filling the whole channel from mūlādhāra to brahmarandhra. Here again you abruptly breathe out and your eyes are open. This lasts for only a moment and then you are again inside, without breathing, experiencing the rise of kundalinī. Then again you breathe out and again your eyes are open and for a moment you feel that the outside world is full of ecstasy and bliss. This happens again and again. One moment you are inside experiencing the bliss of the rise of cit kundalinī and then the next moment you breathe out and your eyes are open and you are experiencing the world filled with ecstasy. This process of coming out and remaining in continues and, each time it occurs, it is filled with more and more ecstasy. This process is called krama mudrā.” Kashmir Shaivism-The Secret Supreme, 17.120.

Now, this is a *cakrodaya*⁹³:

उद्गच्छन्तीतिडूपां
 प्रतिचक्रं क्रमात्क्रमम् ।
 ऊर्ध्वं मुष्टित्रयं यावत् तावदन्ते महोदयः ॥ २९ ॥

udgacchantīm tadidrūpāṁ praticakram kramātkramam / ūrdhvam muṣṭitrayam yāvat tāvadante mahodayah // 29 //

This is the pathway of āñavopāya.

Udgacchantīm tadit rūpām (it is another technique), another technique is tadit rūpam (tadit rūpām, just like lightening), when you feel that it is just like lightening, and it is rising from mūlādhāra. Prati cakra, and it is prati cakram kramāt kramam, it rests again and again, again in each and every cakra (in the navel cakra it rests, here, here, etc.). It shoots upwards (udgacchantīm), it takes the formation of shooting. It shoots upwards just like the streak of lightening (tadit rūpām). And it shoots—it does not shoot straight from mūlādhāra to brahmarandhra—it shoots prati cakram, in a successive form.

This is the formation of prāṇa kundalinī again.

Sometimes it shoots straight from mūlādhāra to ūrdhva dvādaśānta. It is there cit kundalinī. Sometimes it shoots from mūlādhāra, prati cakram kramāt kramam, [in a] successive way up to each and every wheel in the body. For instance, it shoots from the mūlādhāra cakra to the cakra of the navel. And from the navel it shoots again to heart. [From the heart] it shoots again to throat. From the throat it shoots again to bhrūmadhya, and from bhrūmadhya it shoots again

Prati cakram kramāt kramam muṣtitrayam (muṣtitrayam means *dvādaśānta*⁹⁴), all these are shooting in the span of dvādaśānta. Because, from mūlādhāra to the navel, this is the span of dvādaśānta, twelve finger spaces. Twelve finger spaces is from mūlādhāra to the navel, from the navel to the heart is twelve finger spaces, from the heart to the throat is twelve finger spaces, from the throat to [bhrūmadhya] is twelve finger spaces, and from [bhrūmadhya] to [brahma-rāndhra] is twelve finger spaces. So all these spaces, the span of spaces, are called dvādaśānta. And this dvādaśānta is called ūrdhva dvādaśānta in the end. Ūrdhvam muṣtitrayam yāvat, it rises only muṣtitrayam (dvādaśāntā; ūrdhvan means ūrdhva dvādaśānta here). When, [in] the end (ūrdhva dvādaśānta), it rises, it reaches, [to] the state of ūrdhva dvādaśānta (ūrdhva dvādaśānta is brahmarandhra), tāvat ante mahodayah, there the sādhaka experiences the great rise (udayaḥ; udayaḥ means, the state of the divine nature). Ūrdhvam muṣtitrayam yāvat tāvad ante, there, in the end, mahodayah, the supreme bliss of Lord Śiva shines.

DEVOTEE: Is it more usual in the rise of prāṇa kundalinī to get as far as bhrūmadhya cakra only, and then unusually to go on to *sahasrāra*⁹⁵?

SWAMIJI: No, if it is functioned properly, then it will go to sahasrāra.

DEVOTEE: You said that prāṇa kundalinī takes place when there is desire also for siddhis.

SWAMIJI: Yes.

DEVOTEE: Otherwise cit kundalinī.

SWAMIJI: Otherwise cit kundalinī.

DEVOTEE: So under what circumstances would the rise of prāṇa kundalinī take place and then go on from bhrūmadhya to sahasrāra cakra?

SWAMIJI: No, when it rises from mūlādhāra cakra to each and every cakra, it shoots upwards, then eight great powers ⁹⁴ Muṣtitrayam literally means three (trayam) fists (muṣti), which is equal to twelve finger spaces (dvādaśānta).

Manual for Self Realization

are possessed by that sādhaka / yogi.⁹⁶

DEVOTEE: But it says, that is when it goes to bhrūmadhya cakra.

SWAMIJI: No, when it goes from each and every cakra.

DEVOTEE: If it only gets to bhrūmadhya cakra?

SWAMIJI: No, it can't be. It won't go only to bhrūmadhya cakra. Or it will go straight from mūlādhāra to ūrdhva dvādaśānta, then no powers [are attained].

DEVOTEE: It is not only bhrūmadhya.

SWAMIJI: No, not bhrūmadhya. You have misunderstood there. It is not bhrūmadhya only. When [it rises to] bhrūmadhya cakra, it has to go through all these other cakras (from mūlādhāra to the navel, from the navel to the heart, from the heart to the throat, the throat to bhrūmadhya).

JOHN: But can it stop? It can stop at bhrūmadhya though.

SWAMIJI: It is not in [the yogi's] power. It can't be stopped. He can't stop, the sādhaka cannot stop.

JOHN: But the rise could stop, the rise could stop at any point.

SWAMIJI: Yes, yes, when there is some defect.

JOHN: It could stop here, it could stop here.

SWAMIJI: It can stop, it can stop by itself, and the sādhaka will get perturbed, worried what has happened.

DENISE: Why? Because of some defect?

SWAMIJI: Because of some defect of this process. There has been some defect in the process of this practice. When the process is quite clean and flawless, then he will go straight to bhrūmadhya, and from bhrūmadhya to sahasrāra.

JOHN: You said in one lecture that if the sādhaka still had desires for worldly attainments and that it would stop at bhrūmadhya cakra and stop there.

SWAMIJI: Yes. It will not start from bhrūmadhya, it will end in bhrūmadhya.

JOHN: End there, end there . . .

SWAMIJI: It will end in . . . it doesn't go up then if there is more flaw, more flaw, . . .

JOHN: Yes, more flaw.

SWAMIJI: . . . more defect in the processes. More defect, more attachment for worldly pleasure.

JOHN: Then that sādhaka would have lots of power but no realization.

SWAMIJI: No realization. Realization won't happen.

DEVOTEE: So he would not be in *śuddhadhvā*⁹⁷ when he experienced bhrūmadhya cakra.

SWAMIJI: No.

DEVOTEE: What level of consciousness is he at? When kundalinī has risen that far, he is already . . . ?

SWAMIJI: This will end in mantra pramāṭr bhāva, not mantrēśvara bhāva.⁹⁸

DEVOTEE: He will fall from this?

SWAMIJI: He won't fall. He will never fall!

DEVOTEE: He has partial enlightenment.

SWAMIJI: One who has entered in the path of kundalinī, he will never fall. He is always on the path. He will never fall, but he won't gain anything.

GANJOO: He won't gain the reality.

SWAMIJI: He won't gain in this life, anything.

DENISE: Even by further practice he won't gain anything?

SWAMIJI: Further practice, if he does. It is never [too] late. In the twenty-eighth [verse, the yogi] feels the divine nature in each and every cakra. Here, [in this verse], he experiences [the divine nature] in the end.

⁹⁷ Śuddhadhvā here refers to the three pure elements (śuddha tattvas) above māyā: śuddhavidyā, īśvara, and sadāśiva.

JAGDISH: In the twenty-ninth.

SWAMIJI: Twenty-ninth, yes.

JOHN: But the question is, is this sāktopāya sentenced to sāmbhavopāya, or is this āñavopāya?

SWAMIJI: No, this is āñavopāya sentenced to sāmbhavopāya.

JOHN: Āñavopāya sentenced to sāmbhavopāya.

SWAMIJI: Sāmbhavopāya. Because *mahodayah*⁹⁹ will rest in sāmbhavopāya, and this succession will be of āñavopāya.

⁹⁹ The great (mahā) rise (udaya) of the supreme bliss of Lord Śiva.

Dhāraṇā 7

क्रमद्वादशकं सम्यग्

 स्थूलसूक्ष्मपरस्थित्या मुक्त्वा मुक्त्वान्ततः शिवः ॥ ३० ॥

kramadvādaśakam samyag dvādaśākṣarabheditam / sthūlasūkṣmaparasthityā muktvā muktvāntataḥ śivah // 30 //

Now, there is a successive way of āṇavopāya. This is a successive way of āṇavopāya, complete āṇavopāya—successive way of āṇavopāya.

There are twelve parts of these successive states (krama dvādaśakam), that is, twelve-fold kramas, twelve-fold successive processes. And that twelve-fold is (in the commentary you will see¹⁰⁰): one is janmāgra, mūla, kanda, nābhi, hṛt, kaṇṭha, tālu, bhrūmadhya, lalāta, brahma-randhra, śakti, vyāpiṇī. These are the twelve-fold successive points.

When one rises from janmāgra (janmāgra means medhra kanda; medhra kanda is the opening of the rectum), mūla[dhāra] is higher than that, kanda is higher than that (where one gets conceived, in that womb¹⁰¹), higher than that is the navel, higher than that is the heart, higher than that is the throat, then the palate, then bhrūmadhya, then lalāta (the forehead), then brahma-randhra, then śakti (after brahma-randhra, there is śakti; śakti means that force which breaks that *randhra*¹⁰² and penetrates that randhra to move outside [in] the universal sphere of ether), then, when one enters in that universal ether, there is *vyāpinī*¹⁰³. These are the twelve-fold successive kramas, successive stages. And [in] these successive stages, you must put in these [the corresponding vowel from the] twelve vowels (dvādaśa āksara bheditam), the twelve svaras, *sānta varjam*¹⁰⁴, but not r, rī, l, and lī (without r, rī, l, lī, only the twelve vowels for these twelve states¹⁰⁵), sthūla sūkṣma para sthityā, by processing it for functioning [with] the grossness of [inferior] awareness, [with] medium awareness, and [with] supreme awareness (subtle awareness). The grossness of awareness is dhyāna, medium awareness is spanda mānatā, and subtle awareness is jyoti rūpatā-dhyāna, spandana, and jyoti rūpatvam. Muktvā muktvā, after leaving the dhyāna of these twelve, you go in its movement¹⁰⁶, and after establishing one's consciousness in that movement, you leave that movement and establish yourself in the flame¹⁰⁷ of these twelve successive states, then one becomes one with Śiva. So, this is the ascending process.

100 Śivopādhyāya's commentary.

101 "These are all three together, [janmāgra, mūlādhāra, and kanda], one over another." Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

102 Opening.

JOHN: What does it mean to insert these letters in these vowels? What does it mean to insert these svaras in these vowels—these twelve svaras?

SWAMIJI: You see, these states must be converted into vowels first.

JOHN: How do you convert them?

SWAMIJI: Because these states are gross. For instance, there is the rectum. Don't go to the grossness of this state, go to the letter 'a'. This is 'a', [but] 'a' has no meaning there, so it will come into that subtleness. When you enter in those subtle twelve movements of these twelve states, you have to put dhyāna first, and then spanda mānatā, and [then] jyoti rūpatā. It is a kind of laya cintanā (to put one in another, one in another, one in another¹⁰⁸), and in the end, antataḥ śivah, in the end only Śiva will be revealed.

103 Pervasion.

104. The sānta bijas (r, rī, l, and lī) are to be varjam (excluded).

105 The twelve svaras (vowels) are: a-ā-i-ī-u-ū-e-ai-o-au-m-h.

106 Spanda mānatā.

107 Jyoti rūpatā.

108 Laya cintanā means to absorb grosser awareness into subtler awareness.

So it is a successive way of āṇavopāya. It is an inferior way of āṇavopāya, because it is a successive way. You have to see janmāgra and recite its mantra ‘a’, you have to see mūla[dhāra] and recite ‘ā’, [and so forth], and, in the end, you will go to ‘aḥ’ (visarga), [which corresponds with] vyāpinī. And then you have to take dhyāna of these, then spanda mānatā, and then jyoti rūpatā.

JOHN: How do you function these three?

SWAMIJI: Dhyāna means, first with breath. You see, when there is breath, it is gross.

JOHN: In and out, in and out.

SWAMIJI: Then it is like that. [Then] this movement of the in-going breath and the out-coming breath takes the form of spanda mānatā.¹⁰⁹ You can understand it when you practice it. You can't understand it without practice.

JOHN: But what is the flash in jyoti, this burning in the fire of . . . ?

SWAMIJI: That is fire. That is realization. After that, realization takes place.

DEVOTEE: When he experiences spanda mānatā, is it already an automatic process?

SWAMIJI: It is automatic.

DEVOTEE: This is *citta pralaya*¹¹⁰, in the moving of the breath?

SWAMIJI: It is about [to be] citta pralaya. It is not citta pralaya yet. Citta pralaya will come in jyoti rūpatā.

JOHN: Burned in that.

SWAMIJI: When he enters in jyoti rūpatā, then [it is citta pralaya].

DEVOTEE: But in citta pralaya, the two breaths are drawn down.

SWAMIJI: They have not drawn, they are moving, [but] only in one point.

DEVOTEE: They are waiting.

¹⁰⁹ Vibration.

¹¹⁰ Lit., the dissolution (pralaya) of thought (citta). For a further clarification of citta pralaya, see Kashmir Shaivism-The Secret Supreme, 3.26-27.

SWAMIJI: They are waiting.

DEVOTEE: This is like nirodhikā.

SWAMIJI: *Nirodhikā*¹¹¹. They are moving without any span of space. It is only due to concentration, the power of concentration. When there is not the power of concentration, then the breath will go up to the thirty-sixth finger space. There is one-pointedness developed by and by, this is the power of one-pointedness that the [span of] breath becomes shorter and shorter, and shorter and shorter—the in-going breath and the out-coming breath. It goes shorter and shorter, and in the end, it moves only on one point. That is spanda mānatā. And afterwards, what happens? Jyoti rūpatām, then shines forth that reality of Lord Siva.

DEVOTEE: Is that the rise of kundalinī, that jyoti rūpatā?

SWAMIJI: This is not kundalinī. This is not kundalinī, kundalinī is finished. Kundalinī is finished in the twenty-ninth śloka. This is the thirtieth śloka. It is another way.

DEVOTEE: You mean, there can be the attainment of realization without the movement of cit?

SWAMIJI: It is not necessary that always there must be kundalinī, the rise of kundalinī. Without the rise of kundalinī, realization takes place.

¹¹¹ Nirodhikā is the complete establishment of breath-lessness. See verse 4.

This is the way of āṇavopāya without succession. The former was the way of āṇavopāya with succession. This is the way of āṇavopāya without succession.

*Tayā*¹¹², by that energy of prāṇa (breath), you must fill your body up to brahmarandhra, and then, after having suspended the prāṇa śakti, after having suspended the moving of breath by bhrūkṣepa setunā, . . .

[In this practice], you have to concentrate on the center of the eyebrows. That [concentration] is there [like] a “mound” or a “bank”¹¹³. Bhrūkṣepa means bhrū bhedana, just to put one-pointedness between the two eyebrows.

. . . when you put that one-pointedness between the two eyebrows, while you are moving your breath inside and outside—then what happens?—by putting your one-pointedness between these two eyebrows, mūrdhāntam āpūrya, you fill your whole body up to the brahmarandhra with this breath, and bhaṅktvā, after doing that, the movement of prāṇa śakti is suspended, suspended for the time being, and after it is suspended (the prāṇa śakti, when it is suspended), then you must see that your mind becomes absolutely un-minded (nirvikalpaṁ manah krtvā). Then sarva urdhve, in that supreme state of Lord Śiva, sarvagodgamah (sarvagodgamah means, all-pervadingness shines), he becomes all-pervading in that supreme [state].

This is the way of āñavopāya because you have to practice with breath.¹¹⁴ As long as there is a breathing exercise, it is āñavopāya. It can't be śāktopāya, it can't be śāmbhavopāya.¹¹⁵ It is not kumbhakā, it is one-pointedness. You have to stop your breath by one-pointedness. You have not to stop the breath by holding it. If you hold your breath, that is kumbhakā. If your breath is held automatically by one-pointedness, it is this practice.

GANJOO: By concentration.

SWAMIJI: Concentration not; only concentration won't do.

JOHN: Strength of awareness.

SWAMIJI: Strength of one-pointedness. [To John]: How is . . . ?

JOHN: . . . *manas*¹¹⁶ made nirvikalpa?

SWAMIJI: By one-pointedness (bhrūkṣepa setunā). He has put that bhrūkṣepa setunā, you have to keep your mind attentive between these two eyebrows, just [by] one-pointedness. Don't let it move even for half a second (that is bhrūkṣepa setunā). It becomes setu, it stops, it rejects, the breath. It rejects breath, it doesn't allow breath to move onwards. It is why He has called it "setu". *Bhrūkṣepa*¹¹⁷ is setu, [like] a mound.

GANJOO: Bund.

SWAMIJI: Bund.¹¹⁸

¹¹⁴ Breathing here is normal, not extra hard.

Sikhipakṣair (sikhipakṣair means, the wings or feathers of a peacock), just like the wings or feathers of a peacock (you see, the feathers of a peacock are filled with various colors, multicolored; citra rūpair means, with various formations), in the same way, maṇḍalaiḥ (*maṇḍalaiḥ*¹²⁰ means, the five-fold organs of the senses¹²¹), the five organs of the senses are just like the wings or feathers of a peacock.

JOHN: Jñānendriyas?

SWAMIJI: *Jñānendriyas.*¹²²

What you have to do with these five-fold organs when the five-fold organs are functioning on their own objects? What you have to do is to think that that object that is perceived by the eye, or the object perceived by the ear, or the object perceived by the nose, or the skin, touch, or the tongue, all ¹¹⁹ Swamiji said to place a comma after “dhyāyataḥ”.

¹²⁰ Lit., with the circles.

¹²¹ On another occasion, Swamiji also interpreted the five voids (śūnya pañcakam) as the voids between the five states of consciousness: wakefulness, dreaming, deep sleep, turya, and turyātīta: “These five voids represent just the state of God consciousness, because the state of God consciousness is the life of all these five states. When you concentrate on one [void] wholeheartedly, it will make a circle (mandala) and take you to the same goal.” Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

these objects, you must know that it is only sūnya, only void. It has nothing in it. It is only a void. Sūnya pañcakam dhyāyataḥ, you must concentrate on all these just like sūnya, five-fold voids.¹²³ Anuttare sūnye hrdaye praveśo bhavet—then what happens?—you enter in that supreme heart which is full of voidness, and that supreme heart is Lord Śiva Himself. Śikhipakṣaiścitrarūpair maṇḍalaiḥ sūnyapañcakam dhyāyataḥ. [The yogi] anuttare sūnye hrdaye praveśah bhavet, he enters in that *anuttara*¹²⁴, the supreme heart, sūnya.

It is absolutely pure śāktopāya.

DEVOTEE: How can he see with the ear?

SWAMIJI: You have not to see with the ear, you have to hear with the ear. You have to see with the eyes, you have to hear with the ears, smell with the nose, taste with the tongue, touch with the skin. You must concentrate simultaneously on [the void while experiencing each of] these five, that it is nothing, it is only a void and nothing else. Then, you have to forcibly concentrate that these are nothing, [that] these objects are nothing—“What I see is nothing, what appears to me is nothing, what I hear is nothing, what I touch and what I get [as] the sensation of smell, it is nothing, it is only sūnya.” It is only seeing as energy—just seeing only, hearing only, bas, not to analyze that. When I see Denise, bas, I see Denise, I don’t see the formation of Denise. I see only, it is 123 “The theory of sūnya pañcakam is to understand that, ‘The whole universe is my Self’. The essence of sūnya pañcakam, it is not that, ‘I am in the body’, ‘I am down below my body’, ‘I am on the top of my body’, ‘I am in the center of my body’, ‘I am in the right side of my body’, ‘I am on the left side of my body’. This is not sūnya pañcakam. [Sūnya pañcakam means], the totality of universality, to feel the Universal svarūpa everywhere. That is Universal.” Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

124 Though it appears only once in the verses of the Vijñāna Bhairava, the word “anuttara” is a very important term in Kashmir Shaivism. In this verse, anuttara means, the supreme heart of Lord Śiva. In other texts of Trika, anuttara is used variously to signify Parabhairava, svātantrya, the supreme Self, and the unparalleled state of consciousness represented by the first Sanskrit letter, ‘a’. See also Shiva Sutras—The Supreme Awakening, Swami Lakshman-joo, ed. John Hughes (Universal Shaiva Fellowship, Los Angeles, 2002), 95-96.

By adopting this means (īdr̥ṣena kramena), yatra kutrāpi cintanā, wherever you will put this one-pointed thought of awareness—you may put it on voidness, you may put it on some wall, you may put it on some consciousness of your favorite disciple¹²⁵—svayam līnā varapradā, this giver of boons, that energy of Lord Śiva, is revealed there, there and then. It is revealed in that voidness, which has been practiced. It is revealed in that wall, which has been practiced. It is revealed in that heart of the disciple, and that disciple will be also illuminated at once.

*Dhyāna*¹²⁶ is more gross than *cintanā*¹²⁷.

samketānādare śabda-nīthamāmarśanām paṭhiḥ / tadādare tadarthastu cinteti paricaryatām // 128

125 “Pare pātre” means, any disciple. He may be pure or impure. Although Śivopādhyāya interpreted pare as nirmala (pure), Swamiji said that this interpretation is not correct.

126 Meditation.

127 One-pointed reflection.

128 Tantrāloka of Abhinavagupta, 4.103.

Vijñāna Bhairava

When *samketa*¹²⁹ is put aside and you concentrate on that *śabda*¹³⁰ (that is dhyāna and *pāṭha*¹³¹), tadādare tadarthastu cinteti paricarcyatām, just to maintain that, you have to do that concentration of that one-pointedness—that is cintanā. So cintanā is more subtle than dhyāna.¹³²

Śūnye kudye pare pātre, [the yogi] may concentrate this one-pointedness on any void—voidness of the sky, or kudye (on some wall), or pare pātre (on some heart of a disciple)—[then] this varapradā, this giver of boons (varapradā; pradā means, giver of vara, boons), the boon-giver, the energy of Lord Śiva, *svayam līnā*¹³³, sphurati, It is revealed.

This is also śāktopāya because you have to concentrate on something. When you have to concentrate on something (it may not be with mantra or with breath or with anything), when you have to concentrate on something, it becomes śākta. It will be automatically śāktopāya. It can't be śāmbhavopāya.

129 Conventional meaning or linguistic indication.

130 Here śabda is used in the sense of a sound, word or mantra used for meditation.

131 Recitation.

132 “One-pointedness is held by both dhyāna and cintanā, but dhyāna is gross while cintanā is subtler.” Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

133 Having absorbed (līna) oneself (svayam) in the concentration of one-pointedness.

What you have to do next in this next practice?

Tiṣṭhan mīlita locanah, you have to sit in some posture with your eyes closed (tiṣṭhan mīlita locanah, sit in some posture and keep your eyes absolutely closed).

Kapälāntar mano nyasya, put your mind, establish your mind, fix your mind, in the skull of your brahmarandhra, in this skull. Kapāla antar, in the skull, in the vacuum of the skull, you must put your mind.

And what you have to do? In that skull—it is not just only to put your mind inside that skull—you have to see that there is fire shining all around—in your kapāla, in that skull. In the vacuum of the skull, there is fire going on, shining, flaming, flames of fire.

This way, when you think krameṇa (successively), manso dārdhyāt, when the mind becomes fully established in this way of process, lakṣayet, he observes uttamam lakṣyam, the supreme aimed consciousness of Lord Śiva.

Lakṣyam means, aimed, supreme aimed, aimed consciousness. That is lakṣyam. Lakṣyam is the goal that is aimed at. That supreme aimed thing is being revealed.

This upāya is sāktopāya, complete sāktopāya.

JOHN: What is this flame in the head, this fire, this illumination in one's body? Is that imagination?

SWAMIJI: It's not imagination.

JOHN: Is that *vikalpa*¹³⁴?

SWAMIJI: No, it is not imagination. That is fire. There is the fire of cit (consciousness). There is the fire of cit (consciousness) that is produced in ūrdhva kundalinī, dhāman of cit kundalinī.¹³⁵ Laksayet lakṣyam uttamam is That! The supreme target of Lord Śiva is revealed.

134 Thought.

This is complete śāmbhavopāya.

JOHN: To have awareness of this madhya nādī by this madhya nādī, what does that mean?

SWAMIJI: When you reach madhya nādī, your individual body won’t reach, your individual consciousness won’t reach there. Madhya nādī will reach there. Madhya nādī is realized by madhya nādī, not by any other agency. There is no other agency than madhya nādī. In madhya nādī, . . .

Dhāmāntah (dhāma means, the pupil of the eye by which we see, perceive form), you must agitate it with pressing, like this [Swamiji demonstrates]. When you agitate the pupils of the eyes by pressing them with the fingers, . . .

This is also āṇavopāya. It can't be śāktopāya because there are so many things to be done.¹⁴⁶

. . . dhāmāntah (dhāma means that pupil), antah, inside, kṣobha sambhūta, when you agitate it by pressing—what do you find?—sūkṣmāgni tilakā kṛtim, you will find a subtle formation of a flame before you, before your eyes. The subtle formation of a flame takes place before you. Bindum, and that bindu, that one-pointed flame, when you concentrate on that one-pointed flame, which has come out from the agitation of these two pupils of the eyes, . . .

These are called “pupils”?

It is not by touch, it is not produced by touch, it is just sound with bliss, it is a blissful sound." Dhāraṇā 16

Now, He will explain another way of process, which is āṇavopāya and sentenced to sāmbhavopāya. That is the thirty-ninth śloka.

Bhairavi, O Pārvatī, pranavādi samuccārāt, . . .

There are three kinds of pranavas—Vedic pranava, Śiva pranava, and Māyā pranava. Vedic pranava is ‘om’, Śiva pranava is ‘hūm’, Māyā pranava is ‘hrīm’. ‘hrīm’ is called Māyā pranava from our Shaiva point of view, and ‘hūm’ is called Śiva pranava, and ‘om’ is called Veda pranava. Just recite these, any of these. You may recite ‘om’, you may recite ‘hūm’, or you may recite ‘hrīm’ (Veda pranava, Śiva pranava, or Māyā pranava).

. . . pranavādi samuccārāt, You must recite it in this way—*plutānte*¹⁵³. You must not recite just like ‘om’—not like that. Plutānte, You must end it in pluta: ‘Oooooooooooooommm’, like this [Swamiji demonstrates]. In the same way, You must recite ‘hūm’ and You must recite ‘hrīm’. Any of these mantras You may recite. When You recite it, in the end, You must concentrate on the voidness of that sound, where this sound merged in the end. The sound is finished afterwards, and there You must concentrate, there You must contemplate.

Śūnya bhāvanāt parayā śūnyayā śaktyā, and, by that supreme awareness of voidness, [the yogi] enters in the transcendental void state of Siva. Sūnyatāmeti bhairavi, he enters in the transcendental state of Lord Śiva, transcendental void state, voidness.

Pranavādi samuccārāt plutānte śūnya bhāvanāt. Only there is a touch of āṇavopāya in the beginning, just to start with, but in the body of this process, it is all pure śāktopāya.¹⁵⁴

¹⁵⁴ This dhāraṇā has a touch of āṇavopāya at the beginning because a mantra is to be recited first.

Dhāraṇā 17

*yasya kasyāpi varṇasya

śūnyākāraḥ pumānbhavet // 40 //*

At the beginning of uttering any mantra ('om' or 'sauḥ'¹⁵⁶ or any mantra, whatever is found in your thought in Shaivism), at the beginning of utterance of the *mantra*¹⁵⁷, or at the end of uttering this mantra, when you are going to recite the mantra and when the recitation is over, at these two places, . . .

When you are just [about] to recite—you are not reciting [as ¹⁵⁵ Swamiji suggested to add a comma after "śūnyayā". This results in the understanding that, śūnya śaktya anubhāvayet, that śakti is the means. As has already been explained, these processes are all based on Śakti (Bhairavī), these processes are not based on Śiva (Bhairava). As it has been said, śaivī mukham ihocaye, śakti is the means. This is true even in śāmbhavopāya.

¹⁵⁷ "It is not to be recited. It just just to think that you will recite, it is just to hold the energy of reciting the mantra." Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

yet], you have [yet] to recite, you are going to recite—there, at that place, or, [when] the recitation is over, at that place, that is pūrvāntau-pūrvakāle antakāle ca-purvāntau, at the beginning and at the end, you must anubhāvayet, contemplate on that, that nothingness.

In the beginning of uttering any mantra, what is there? Nothing? There is some force only, there is some energy.¹⁵⁸

And, by maintaining awareness on the void (that is sūnyayā), sūnyayā, by maintaining the awareness of voidness, this person who is reciting, who does this process, asau, that person becomes bhavet sūnyākāraḥ, his svarūpa, his formation, becomes the embodiment of voidness, and that is Lord Śiva. That is the state of Lord Śiva. That is viśvottīrṇā avasthā.¹⁵⁹

This is sāmbhavopāya.

158 This energy is icchā prasāra, the initial flowing of icchā, the energy of will.

159 The transcendental (viśvottīrṇā) state (avasthā).

Take those string instruments, e.g., a sitar, or vina, or that violin . . .

DENISE: With string.

SWAMIJI: . . . with string (that is also a string instrument). For instance, when you play on that string, this sound should not be stopped. Do you understand? For instance, this is a sitar, [and] when I do like this [Swamiji demonstrates], you should not do like this and stop the sound [by putting your hand across the strings]. You should let the sound . . .

JEREMY: Prolong.

SWAMIJI: . . . prolong as long as it can. That is dīrgheṣu krama samsthiteḥ; krama samsthiteḥ, in succession, it must be long. This sound must travel on a long pathway.

GEORGE: Continuum.

SWAMIJI: Continuum: “Hmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmm”—like this.

Dīrgheṣu krama samsthiteḥ ananyacetāḥ, now, the sādhaka—what he has to do?—he has to just put uninterrupted awareness on that sound—when that sound absorbs, his mind also absorbs, along with this sound.

JOHN: The sound disappears, you mean.

SWAMIJI: Disappears. Because it will disappear—that sound.

GEORGE: And his mind disappears also.

SWAMIJI: His mind also disappears, and para vyoma vapur, he becomes one with Lord Śiva (*cidākāśa*¹⁶⁰).

It is sāmbhava.

JAGDISH: What is “pratyante”, sir?

SWAMIJI: Pratyante, in the end.

JAGDISH: In the end of that . . .

SWAMIJI: In the end of that fading away of that sound.

JAGDISH: It ends in śūnya, in the end.

SWAMIJI: Not śūnya. Paravyoma . . . paravyoma, supreme [void], supreme God consciousness.

It is sāmbhavopāya.¹⁶¹

¹⁶⁰ The ether (ākāśa) of consciousness (cit).

¹⁶¹ “In these sounds [of stringed instruments], you will find separate sounds, but if you go into the depth of this hearing, you will see that collectively one sound is proceeding from the instrument, one collective sound. This can be heard by anyone, [but] only the man with awareness can rise with the sound. It can be heard by anybody but you have to maintain that awareness. And that collective sound is dīrgha (long), without any successive movement. It is continuous, without breakage, although it is krama samsthiteḥ, successively [sounded], because the player puts that finger successively on those strings. The one who is one-pointed on that one collective sound, after contemplating on that collective sound, pratyante, in the end, para vyoma vapur bhavet, he becomes one with cidākāśa, one with the supreme ether of consciousness. This is sāktopāya touching sāmbhavopāya. As long as he is seeking that collective sound in those differentiated sounds, that is sāktopāya. When he has found that collective sound, he is in sāmbhavopāya. [This] sāmbhavopāya practice, it is nimīlanā. Afterwards, that krama mudrā will take place and then he will enter in unmīlanā samādhi.” Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives). See Appendix for an explanation of krama mudrā and nimīlanā and unmīlanā samādhi.

Dhāraṇā 19

Now, next will be āñavopāya rising to sāmbhavopāya. Forty-second [verse]:

पिण्डमन्त्रस्य सर्वस्य
स्थूलवर्णक्रमेण तु ।
अर्धेन्दुबिन्दुनादान्तः:
शून्योच्चाराद्भवेच्छिवः ॥४२॥

pindamantrasya sarvasya sthūlavaranakramena tu / ardhendubindunādāntah
śūnyoccārādbhavecchivah // 42 //

[Swamiji also gives the following alternative reading for the second half of the verse:]

पिण्डमन्त्रस्य स्थूलवर्णक्रमेण तु ।
बिन्दुर्धचन्द्रनादान्तः:
शून्योच्चाराद्भवेच्छिवः ॥

bindvardhacandranādāntah
śūnyoccārādbhavecchivah //

This process is āñavopāya rising to sāmbhavopāya. First āñavopāya and [then] he rises to the sāmbhava state.

Pinda mantras are those mantras where vowels are found only in the end. [Where] the vowel is found only in the end, that is pinda mantra, e.g., ‘klim’. ‘Sauh’ is also a pinda mantra because ‘sa’¹⁶² is a consonant and ‘auh’ is in the end, ‘auh’ is actually in the end (‘au’ and visarga is in the end). That is . . .

GEORGE: Vowel.

SWAMIJI: . . . that is a vowel, where the vowel is in the end.

¹⁶² Here, ‘s’ is pronounced without an ‘a’.

The vowel must not be in the center or in the beginning.

JAGDISH: Consonant must not come after these?

SWAMIJI: No, the consonant is first. Those are pīḍa mantras.¹⁶³ You'll see everywhere pīḍa mantras like this. There must not be a vowel in any case between one consonant and another consonant. For instance, there is "namah śivāya." There is 'n' (that is a consonant), after 'n' there is an 'a'.

JAGDISH: That is vowel.

SWAMIJI: That is a vowel [in between the consonants], so it cannot be a pīḍa mantra.

JAGDISH: And then again a consonant.

SWAMIJI: And then again a consonant. When there are [only] consonants in the beginning and ending in a vowel, that is a pīḍa mantra. This is the difference between a pīḍa mantra and ordinary mantras.

By utterance, śūnya uccārāt, pīḍa mantrasya sarvasya sthūla varṇa kramena, by uttering them from their grossness (first utter them in their gross state), then carry that grossness in its subtle state, and then in [its] subtlest state.

For instance, utter 'aum'-kāra. When you utter 'aum', this is also actually a pīḍa mantra, although it is not a pīḍa mantra. 'Aum' is not a pīḍa mantra because it has got vowels also in-[between] consonants, and pīḍa mantras are those mantras without vowels [except at the end]: 'h', 'r', 'ks', 'm', 'l', these are pīḍa mantras.¹⁶⁴ 'Aum' is not a pīḍa mantra, but here, Shaivism has recognized this as a pīḍa mantra. When you recite 'aum', this is sthūla varṇa krama: "a-u-m", this is the recitation of 'aum'-kāra in its grossness. Then ardhendu bindu nādāntah, . . .

In place of "ardhendu bindu nādāntah", put this reading also, at the same time: "bindvardha candra nādāntah". Add this reading also of this śloka: "bindvardha candra nādāntah śūnyoccārād bhavet śivah."

When you recite ‘aum’, ‘aum-kāra, you recite ‘aum-kāra in its grossness, and that grossness ends in ‘ma-kāra (“a-u-ma”). That grossness is over. Then comes its subtleness—bindu ardhacandra. This is its subtleness—bindu and ardhacandra. Bindu is—I will show you—bindu is this and ardhacandra is this [Swamiji illustrates]. This is the subtle formation of [aum-kāra]. Then up to nādānta (nādānta means, nāda, śakti, vyāpinī, samanā, and unmanā, too), that is its most subtle formation.

‘A-kāra, ‘u-kāra, ‘ma-kāra are the gross formation of ‘aum-kāra. Bindu ardhacandra is the subtle formation of ‘aum-kāra. Nirodhinī, nāda, nādānta, śakti, vyāpinī, samanā, and unmanā are the subtlest formation of ‘aum-kāra.¹⁶⁵

And, when you recite ‘aum-kāra, and while reciting ‘aum-kāra, you enter in the unmanā state (the unmanā state is that state of ‘aum-kāra where the mind is over, the functioning of the mind stops altogether—that is unmanā), when you reach [unmanā], reciting this ‘aum-kāra, if you reach to the topmost point of unmanā, . . . *

DEVOTEE: Simply, this is just śāmbhavopāya?

SWAMĪJĪ: It is āṇavopāya rising to śāmbhavopāya. Because first he has to recite ‘aum-kāra, and after recitation of ‘aum-kāra, he has to rise more and more and more and more to its subtle formation, and from that subtle formation, he has to rise to its most subtle formation.¹⁶⁶

165 “First, you have to recite [the piṅḍa mantra]. It is sthūla varṇa kramena tu, this is the flux of gross words in vaikarī. Then ardhendu, bindu, nādāntah, up to bindu it will go to madhyāma. Nādānta, it will go to pāśyanti. And then śūnya, it will go to parā. That is how we have to recite it. It is not the recitation of mantras to be recited for centuries and centuries and nothing will happen.” Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives). See also Kashmir Shaivism-The Secret Supreme, 6.41-46.

166 After producing these four sounds [a-u-m and bindu] there are other sounds which are not spoken, which are not uttered. After om you have to go in ardhacandra, then you have to get entry in nirodhikā, then nāda, then nādānta, then śakti, then vyāpinī, then samanā and then unmanā. Where unmanā is situated, there you find the actual position of God consciousness. So there are twelve

* . . . and by śūnyoccārāt, by the utterance of voidness, or by the trance of voidness, . . .*

“Utterance” means, trance. You have not to utter this voidness. Voidness is to be felt. That is, the feeling of voidness is “to utter” voidness. You have not to utter voidness, you can’t utter voidness. You can utter words (letters you can utter), but you can’t utter voidness. You have to feel voidness. That is śūnya uccāra, to “utter śūnya”. So, *uccāra*¹⁶⁷ is here a feeling, not an uttering.¹⁶⁸ letters in the cycle of the reciting of prāṇava.” Parātriśikā Vivarana, (USF archive).

* . . . bhavet-śivah, he becomes one with Śiva.

167 Swamiji explained that uccāra here is equated directly with samāveśa (the trance of one’s own nature), but not in its highest form as found in the Parātrimśikā, because here the aspirant is treading on a path, the path of sāmbhavopāya. That uccāra explained in the Parātrimśikā is not a path. Swamiji says, “Śūnyoccārat, by the utterance of unmanā, by the feeling of unmanā, you enter in the state of Lord Śiva, you become one with Lord Śiva, and when you become one with Lord Śiva, that is the real uccāra found in Parātrimśikā.” Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

168 Uccāra is held by feeling that śūnya, voidness. However, this feeling is not of the senses, it is felt internally. That is called rtambharā prajñā. It is the feeling of prajñā (wisdom), it is not the feeling of the senses. This rtambharā prajñā is not my word of Shaivism, it is the word of Patañjali. He says there in his Yoga darśana that this prajñā is full of actuality, full of truth, filled with ṛt (satyam)–rtambharā tatra prajñā. (Paraphrase taken from Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio, USF archives). See Yoga Sūtras of Patañjali, 1.48.

Dhāraṇā 20

Now, next will come āñavopāya sentenced to śāmbhavopāya. This is another process.

निजदेहे सर्वादिकं
 युगपद्मावयेद्वियत् ।
 निर्विकल्पमनास्तस्य
 वियत्सर्वं प्रवर्तते ॥ ४३ ॥

nijadehe sarvadikkam yugapadbhāvayedviyat / nirvikalpamanāstasya, viyatsarvam pravartate // 43 //

Just sit in some posture, just like this [Swamiji demonstrates]. Sit in some posture and close your eyes, and feel that, “From my right side, from the left side, from the front, from the back, there is nothing”. It is just to imagine that, “Around my body, there is nothing. It is all voidness—right, left, front, and back.”

Nija dehe sarva dikkam, all-round, yugapat, you must simultaneously, bhāvayet, concentrate on, viyat, voidness. Nirvikalpamana—how you must concentrate on that voidness?—by remaining nirvikalpamana, by remaining deprived of all thoughts, deprived from all impressions in your mind. Don’t put any impression or any thought in your mind. Don’t let any thought come in your mind and see that from all your sides of your body, there is only a vacuum, nothing. This thought of voidness, in the beginning, you have to maintain this thought of voidness.

DEVOTEE: So this is āñavopāya in the beginning?

SWAMIJI: It is why I told you it is āñavopāya sentenced to śāmbhavopāya.

DEVOTEE: What about the body?

SWAMIJI: Because it is āñavopāya, in the beginning it is āñavopāya. You have to feel that you have got a body, and afterwards, you have to feel that you have got, . . .

DEVOTEE: No body.

SWAMIJI: No.

. . . you have got sides of your body (right, left, front and back, bottom and top). So it is āṇavopāya. Up to that point, it is āṇavopāya. This is the boundary of āṇavopāya, first, in the beginning. And then, by maintaining that thought-lessness, nirvikalpamana, afterwards, contemplating on that voidness, that voidness dissolves all that grossness everywhere, all around. His body is over, his body is finished, sides are finished, only voidness remains—viyat sarvam pravartate. To him, everything is a vacuum, only a vacuum. And whatever is a vacuum, that is Lord Śiva. Nothingness is Lord Śiva, because Lord Śiva is not this thing, not this thing. What is Lord Śiva? No-thing. No-thing is something, something which is not thinkable, [not] expressible, which is not felt, which can't be felt, which can't be imagined, which can't be known, which can't be sought. That is “nothing”.¹⁶⁹ So, it is āṇavopāya sentenced to sāmbhavopāya.

Dhāraṇā 21

Another process:

पृष्ठशून्यं मूलशून्यं
युगपद्मावयेच्च यः ।
शरीरनिरपेक्षिण्या
शक्त्या शून्यमना भवेत् ॥४४॥

*prṣṭhaśūnyam mūlaśūnyam yugapadbhāvayecca yaḥ / śarīranirapekṣiṇyā
śaktyā śūnyamanā bhavet // 44 //*¹⁷⁰

This is sāmbhavopāya with the slightest touches of ānava-opāya.

Prṣṭha śūnyam mūla śūnyam, now you have to imagine first that, “Above me there is voidness, below me there is voidness (below my body)”, and afterwards just try to find out your body. This is another process. But when you are trying to find out your body, where your body is existing, there is no body, the body is missing. When the body is missing, then this dhāraṇā, this process, will be completed. The body must be missing. You must feel that your body is missing afterwards.

This is just the intensity of maintaining awareness on voidness. When you maintain awareness on voidness intensively above and below, your body will be missing. Just try, just try for half an hour and you will see your body is missing, because, when there is no support for your body, [when] there is a vacuum, where your body will remain? And above, there is a vacuum, there is voidness, so your body will be missing. You must be missing. If it is not missing, then this process is not complete.

So this is śāmbhavopāya. This is the process of śāmbhavopāya with the slightest touches of āṇavopāya.¹⁷¹

And you have to concentrate on these two [voids], top and bottom, simultaneously (yugapad bhāvayet ca yaḥ), śarīra nirapekṣinyā śaktyā, by that energy, which energy is forcing your body to get missed. He is missing; when you try to find out somebody, he is missing. So your body is missing like that (that is “śarīra nirapekṣinyā śaktyā”). Then he enters in that voidness¹⁷² of Lord Śiva.¹⁷³

171 “It is āṇavopāya at first because you must meditate on the two voids defined by your body.” Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

172 Vikalpa śūnya.

173 “Now it is just a dhāraṇā for that voidness. You have to think that your body is nothing, behind this body is nothing, in front of the body is nothing, on the right side of the body is nothing, on the left side of the body is nothing, on the bottom side of the body is nothing, and on the top side of the body is nothing. That is what He says. It is just like you have to imagine that there is nothing outside this body, and this body, inside it, there is nothing—prsthā śūnyam mūlaśūnyam. Yugapad bhāvayet ca yaḥ, you have to concentrate on that voidness simultaneously from all sides—right, left, front, back, up, and below. And then śarīra nirapekṣinyāśaktyā, then you have to put that kind of energy in your mind that this body must also get diluted in that voidness. There will be nothing left. Śūnya manā bhavet, he will enter in that great voidness (that is Lord Śiva).” Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

Simultaneously (yugapat, simultaneously), one should bhāvayet, one should imagine with firmness (sthiram bhāvayet), simultaneously one should imagine that on the upper side of [their] body, where subjective consciousness is existing, it is a void, [and] mūla śūnyam, on the lower side of the body, where the objective field is concerned, there also you should imagine a voidness. On the upper side of your body, where subjective consciousness is prevailing, and on the lower side of your body, where the objective field is existing, and, in the midst of the heart, where the cognitive state is existing, you must imagine that it is all a void. On the upper side, in subjective consciousness, there is nothing; in objective consciousness, there is nothing; and, in the center of the cognitive state, in the heart, there is nothing. And this you should imagine simultaneously, all-round in your body. Then the state of thought-lessness is revealed (nirvikalpa udayastataḥ). Tataḥ, then, nirvikalpa udayaḥ, the state of thought-lessness is revealed.

Dhāraṇā 23

तनूदेशे शून्यतैव

*tanūdeśe śūnyataiva
kṣaṇamātram vibhāvayet /

Actually, samādhi is where there is no mind, when mind does not work. The functioning of mind is just to think of things, which are not concerned with anything. Things which are not concerned with anything, it is mind. This is the actual formation of the mind. The formation of mind is—you don't need it—e.g., "This is paper", "This is [a pair of spectacles]", etc. You don't need [spectacles] but it comes in your mind. "This is [spectacles]", [but] you have nothing to do with those [spectacles]. "This is paper", you have nothing to do with paper, you have no concern with that paper, but it . . .

DENISE: Comes in your mind.

SWAMIJI: . . . comes in [and you consider that] it is your paper. That is the functioning of the mind. Actually, the mind is nothing. If the mind is one-pointed, it is God.

So, this is what He says: tanu deśe śūnyataiva kṣaṇamātram vibha, just for one moment, you concentrate on voidness. Because the mind is actually nothing. It thinks without any [real] concern. "This is a book", "This is a pot", "This is a hand", [but] I have nothing to do with the hand, I have not to utilize anything.

DENISE: It collects useless information.

SWAMIJI: Yes, useless impressions. It creates useless impressions which are not connected, which he has nothing to do with. This is the formation of the mind. And when this [mind] takes [its] end, this [mind] is put to an end, . . .

What?

JOHN: This mind.

SWAMIJI: This functioning of this useless [thoughts]. Sūnyata, in your body, you should just for one moment concentrate on that voidness. The mind is actually void of everything. The mind is very great, the highest, and this is one with Lord Śiva.

. . . nirvikalpaṁ nirvikalpo nirvikalpa svarūpa bhāk, he becomes nirvikalpa (thought-less) and he takes the formation of thought-lessness, and he gets entry in the thought-less state. That is Śiva.

This is śāktopāya sentenced to śāmbhavopāya.¹⁷⁴

¹⁷⁴ “Tanū deśe, at the place where your body is seated, just imagine that your seat is nowhere (kṣaṇamātrām vibhāva). You have to just imagine, “My body is seated nowhere.” With your thought-less state, you have to imagine that, although you are seated, just see that, “I am seated nowhere, my body is seated nowhere”, and discard all your thoughts in your mind. [Then], the state of thought-lessness rises, the nirālambana state of samādhi is obtained.” Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

This is also śāktopāya.

Just imagine that dravyam, the material, deha gatam, that is existing in your body (flesh, bones, and marrow, those are existing in your body), just imagine there is nothing inside.

DENISE: It's hollow?

SWAMIJI: It is hollow there. Then that awareness on the void becomes established. Tatas tasya bhāvanā sā, sā bhāvanā sthirā bhavet, that awareness, that state of awareness on the void, becomes established (sthirā bhavet). It becomes firm and so enters in the nirvikalpa state of samādhi.

This is śāktopāya, pure śāktopāya.

Or, consider this way.

This is one dhāraṇā in the forty-seventh and forty-eighth [verses]. This is only one technique of process.

Dehāntare tvag vibhāgam bhitti bhūtam vicintayet. You have to imagine that your body is enclosed, supported, by your skin, by the skin, na kiñcid antare tasya, and inside there is nothing, it is hollow. You try to concentrate this way. Or, that [previous] way, that all this flesh, bones, and marrow, are nothing but void. Or, concentrate that in your body there is nothing existing. There are only walls, outside walls of skin to make your body, and inside there is nothing existing. [The yogi] who is contemplating this way perceives Lord Śivā (adhyeya bhāk bhavet; adhyeya means the one who is the knower and never the known). He perceives that Lord Śiva.

This is śāktopāya sentenced to sāmbhavopāya.

*hṛdyākāśe nilīnākṣah

Subhage, O Pārvatī, the one whose thought is focused in the ether of the heart (hṛdyākāśe nilīnākṣah, whose thought is focused, centralized, in the ether of the heart, in the voidness of the heart), that heart which is situated between two lotuses therein (up and down; one lotus is facing upwards and the other lotus is facing downwards [and] in-between there is the ether of the heart), and there, [he] whose thought is focused (akṣah means “thought”; akṣah does not mean only “the eyes”), nilīnākṣa, whose thought is melted, focused, without the interruption of thought-fulness, ananya cetāḥ, when he becomes one-pointed in this process, he attains the glory of entering in the kingdom of God consciousness; param saubhāgyam āpnuyāt, he attains the glory of entering in the kingdom of God consciousness.

This is sāktopāya.

JOHN: What is the point of these lotuses, one up and one down? Is that just a simile or a way of speaking?

SWAMIJI: No, they are existing, these lotuses are existing there. One who perceives that in saṁādhi, he perceives these two lotuses: one in the upper side and the other in the lower side.¹⁷⁵

Dhāraṇā 27

सर्वतः स्वशरीरस्य
 द्वादशान्ते मनो लयात् ।

*sarvataḥ svaśarīrasya

 dr̥dhabuddherdridhībhūtamtattvalakṣyam pravartate // 50 //*

Sarvataḥ, from all sides, svaśarīrasya dvādaśānte mano, [focus your mind on] one dvādaśānta in your body. It may be between the two eyebrows, it may be in the heart, it may be the throat-pit-anywhere.¹⁷⁶ Just dissolve your mind in one dvādaśānta with strong alertness (that is dr̥dha buddher). Dr̥dha buddher, to [that yogi], dr̥dhī bhūtam tattva lakṣyam pravartate, that tattva lakṣyam appears, that appearance of the reality of God consciousness appears, which is dr̥dhī bhūtam, which does not get subsided at all.

JAGDISH: Dr̥dha buddhe is . . .

SWAMIJI: Dr̥dha buddhe is sādhakāsyā, the one who is doing this, the one who is practicing like this.

JAGDISH: Yes, sir.

176 “Imagine the vacuum that is perceived by you in-between the two eyebrows. That voidness is found in each and every pore of your body. You have to imagine that for a while, and let your mind melt in that one-pointedness—in each and every point of your body. Actually, those pores in the body are also dvādaśānta. Dvādaśānta is not only in between the two eyebrows, in the throat pit, and in [the heart]. Everywhere there is dvādaśānta! [Take] any point and, bas, be just firm-minded, one-pointed. But you should think that this is the formation of the body, [that] dvādaśānta is only the formation of the body. If you think that the body is separate from dvādaśānta, you are lost!” Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

SWAMIJI: Dr̥dhī bhūtam is the qualification of Śiva—tattva lakṣyam dr̥dhī bhūtam—because the tattva lakṣyam, the appearance of the real nature of his God consciousness, appears in such a way that it does not get vanished, it does not get away from his consciousness. It is dr̥dhī bhūtam, it is firm, that is firm.

JOHN: That is Lord Śiva?

SWAMIJI: That is Lord Śiva.

JOHN: And dr̥dha buddher is the person who has that firm intellect?

SWAMIJI: Dr̥dha buddher is [he] who has got a firm strength of awareness (dr̥dha buddher). For the sādhaka, dr̥dha buddher sādhakāsyā, dr̥dhī bhūtam.

You have to put the mind in dvādaśānta, any dvādaśānta (it may be between the two eyebrows, it may be the throat pit, the heart, or the navel, whatever it is). Bas, there must be one-pointedness just like a flame, the candle flame, without the disturbance of air.

yathā dipo nivātastho neṅgate sopamā smṛtā /¹⁷⁷

Like that, like that, the position of mind must remain like that. Otherwise, there is no possibility, [the yogi] won't get hold of that. And you have to put yourself, your awareness, in that voidness firmly in such a way [that] dr̥dha buddher, your intellect must be firm [and] you must not get moved from that [awareness]. It must be just one-pointed, just like that flame without air, unflickering. Just like this.

And then, dr̥dhī bhūtam tattva lakṣyam, then tattva lakṣya, the appearance of Lord Śiva will also be just like straight; It will not go, It will not move, from [the yogi's] consciousness.

This is śāktopāya, pure śāktopāya.

¹⁷⁷ "Just as nivātastho dipo, when there is a flame and when there is no wind passing, and that flame of that candle, neṅgate, it does not show its trembling movement . . . sopamā smṛtā, you should [understand that] this is an example of how your God consciousness is established in one point." Bhagavad Gita-In the Light of Kashmir Shaivism, 6.20.

Next, fifty-one.

Or, in each and every action, focus your mind in dvādaśānta. Yathā tathā yatra tatra dvādaśānte manah kṣipet, when you are walking or talking, or doing some household work, or doing any other nonsense act, just concentrate your mind on [any] dvādaśānta. Your mind must hold the state of dvādaśānta in each and every act of your daily routine of life. But this must be held in continuity (pratikṣana). Then, one is born anew. One is born anew in days, not in months. Vailakṣaṇyam dinair bhavet, some days will take place and he will be born anew, he will become new, all-round new.

This is āñavopāya towards śāmbhavopāya.

JOHN: Both fifty and fifty-one are āñavopāya?

SWAMIJI: Fifty is śāktopāya. Fifty-one is āñavopāya to śāmbhavopāya.

DEVOTEE: How is the area of dvādaśānta found?

SWAMIJI: For instance, I have put the [spectacles] in my case and I am taking it [out]. Just do all these [mundane] actions in that, in that awareness of dvādaśānta. That state must be held in each and every act, in continuity. If [your awareness] remains in continuity, then you will be born anew in days, not in months. Some days will be . . .

DEVOTEE: . . . enough.

SWAMIJI: Um, yes.

For this sloka, “kṣanair bhavet” is another reading. Vailakṣaṇ-yam, vailakṣaṇātha, something new will happen to him, not in days, [but] in moments—vailakṣaṇyam kṣanair bhavet.

JOHN: And the other reading is, “after some time.”

SWAMIJI: In days, in days, not in months. It won’t take a month. In a few days, you will get that bliss.

JAGDISH: “Kṣīṇa vṛtter” is the sādhaka?

SWAMIJI: Kṣīṇa vṛtter sādhakasya, the sādhaka who is kṣīṇa vṛtter, whose mind is just one-pointed, who has become one-pointed, [this happens] to him, not to that sādhaka whose mind is not one-pointed.

GEORGE: Is dvādaśānta a state or dvādaśānta is the heart?

SWAMIJI: No, dvādaśānta is the center, any center. Wherever you go, if you are talking, put your mind in the center. If you are laughing, put there also your mind in the center. That is to be done. It is not to just only laugh. While laughing, you have to put your mind in the center. While making jokes, put your mind in the center without a break. Because the center, once you have realized [it]—you just breathe in and breathe out and be acquainted with the center—and that center you have to visualize in each and every movement of your livelihood. It must come into your vision. That is . . .

JOHN: State of dvādaśānta.

SWAMIJI: . . . dvādaśānta.

Yathā tathā yatra tatra, it is not only in the pūjā room, the meditation room. While walking, while doing any absurd things, dvādaśānte manah kṣipet, the mind must be centered in dvādaśānta. Any movement, in any movement, not once, not twice, not thrice, [but] pratikṣana, in continuity you have to put that mind in dvādaśānta. Then kṣīṇa vṛtter, his mind will cease to function. His mind will cease to function altogether and he will become a new man in some moments, or in a few days, not months. Then nothing is to be done afterwards. Then his everything is there.

The state of dvādaśānta is not only between the two eyebrows, [or] only [in the throat pit], [or] only in the heart.

GEORGE: That center, any center.

Manual for Self Realization

SWAMIJI: Any center!¹⁷⁸

GEORGE: Yes.

SWAMIJI: Bas, you must visualize it. You must keep it in vision and then put your mind breaklessly [there], without a break, then you will become new within days, or within moments.

JOHN: Big toe?

SWAMIJI: Big toe.

Just imagine that kālāgni, the fire of God consciousness, has risen from that point, the fire of God consciousness has risen—you have to imagine that from that point—and you have to imagine that your whole body has been put to ashes, [that] it is burnt. Svakām puram, your body, pluṣṭam vicintayet, you have to imagine that it is pluṣṭam, fired to ashes. Ante, in the end, śāntābhāsas tadā bhavet, the peaceful state of Lord Śiva is revealed; śāntābhāsas takes place, the peaceful state of Lord Śiva takes place. In the same way, just imagine (vikalpataḥ, you have to imagine; it is a dhāraṇā [based] on imagination) that this whole universe is burnt to ashes. And this imagination should take place in one-pointedness (ananya cetasaḥ pumṣaḥ). This imagination must be just like in a chain formation. It should not be stuck. It should not be cut down into pieces. This imagination must go like a chain.

DEVOTEE: “Vikalpataḥ”, what does that mean, sir?

SWAMIJI: By imagination. You have to imagine, and that imagination will [come true]. Sometimes you say, “Let this dream come true”, [and] this imagination will come into existence afterwards. This imagination won’t remain imagination, it will be true.

JOHN: Only in meditation or in activity like walking, etc.?

SWAMIJI: No, it is just to meditate when you are seated and see that the whole universe is burnt to ashes.

Then, to him, supreme God consciousness (paramaḥ pumbhāvah)—paramaḥ means “supreme”, pumbhāvah (God consciousness), bhavet (takes place)—to him, supreme *aḥam*¹⁸⁰, pumbhāvah, supreme God consciousness, is revealed.

This whole universe, you [must] think that it is all put to fire and it is nothing, only ashes are left. Evam eva jagat sarvam dagdham dhyātvā vikalpataḥ, just imagine (vikalpataḥ means, just imagine) that this whole universe is burnt to JOHN: Ananya cetasah pūmsa.

SWAMIJI: Ananya cetasah pūmsah.

JOHN: That means?

SWAMIJI: Ananya cetasah, by concentrating on those ashes without any break, without any pause, that it is only ashes now left, nothing else. It is just imagination.

JOHN: “Breaklessly”, you mean.

SWAMIJI: Breaklessly, yes.

JOHN: So, the thought doesn't start itself.

SWAMIJI: The thought doesn't start that, “It is still existing”. That should not come.

JOHN: That it is still existing.

SWAMIJI: No [affirmative].

JOHN: It should be confirmed that it is only ashes.

SWAMIJI: Yes.

JOHN: You had mentioned that it's a chain formation in the beginning. It shouldn't be cut. It should be just . . .

SWAMIJI: No, the process must be like a chain, without a break.

JOHN: Without break, this imagination.

SWAMIJI: Concentration.

JAGDISH: So “chain” doesn't mean “succession”?

SWAMIJI: Not succession. “Chain” means “continuity”. When there is succession, there is the possibility [that a] foreign agency will step in the gap. When there is succession, one after another, there will be a gap, [and] it will be filled with foreign matter (foreign matter, i.e., *vikalpa*¹⁸¹). No, only it is just a chain of *nirvikalpa*¹⁸², one-pointed. That is what He says.

svadehe jagato vāpi sūkṣmasūkṣmatarāṇi ca / tattvāni yānti¹⁸³ nilayam dhyātvānte vyajyate parā // 54 //

Actually, your world is your body,¹⁸⁴ and it is attached with your own world. Or, jagataḥ; jagataḥ means, you can concentrate on the world of others, not your world. Svadehe jagato vāpi sūkṣma sūkṣmatarāṇi ca tattvāni yānti nilayam, those elements which are existing in your body or in the body of the universe, sūkṣma sūkṣmatarāṇi ca, you have to think in your body, . . .

Because the body consists, your own body consists, of thirty-six elements, and this whole universe also consists of thirty-six elements. So you can do, you can concentrate, on the world or in your body (svadehe). That is the indication of vāpi. Vāpi means, either you concentrate in your body or you concentrate in the outside *jagat*¹⁸⁵ (jagato vāpi, sūkṣma sūkṣmatarāṇi tattvāni).

. . . yānti nilayam, you have to . . .

For instance, there is earth, the element of earth. The element of earth should be concentrated [upon, and one should inquire] wherefrom this earth has come. There must be some subtle formation of earth. And that too, there must be a subtle formation of *jala*¹⁸⁶, because the subtle formation of earth is jala, and the subtle formation of jala is fire, and the subtle formation of fire is *vāyu*¹⁸⁷, and the subtle formation of vāyu is *ākāśa*¹⁸⁸. In the same way, then the tanmātras and karmendriyas, jñānendriyas, manas, buddhi, and ahamkāra, and prakṛti and puruṣa, and then the saṭ kañcukas, then māyā, then suddhavidyā, īśvara, sadāśiva, and śakti and śiva in the end. The subtlest is Śiva, the grossest is earth.¹⁸⁹

¹⁸⁴ Svadehe.

. . . and, in this body, you must find out that the grossest element existing in your body has to touch its original state of its manifestation, wherefrom it has manifested.

[For example, earth] manifests from jala, and, in the same way, you must find out jala, you must find out agni, you must find out vāyu, [and] ākāśa. And, in the same way, you must find out where is śakti, wherefrom śakti has risen. In the end, you will find Śiva.

Yānti nilayam, by this process, [the elements] become dissolved in one another.

JAGDISH: Is this śāktopāya, sir?

SWAMIJI: It will be śāktopāya and āṇavopāya also, because there is so much, so much botheration. As long as botheration is concerned, it is śāktopāya and āṇavopāya. It can't be śāmbhavopāya. Wherever there is botheration, it is either śāktopāya or āṇavopāya. Without botheration is śāmbhavopāya. And total negation of botheration is *anupāya*¹⁹⁰. That is found in the second āhnika of the Tantrāloka.

JAGDISH: So, “tattvāni” here are the thirty-six elements?

SWAMIJI: Tattvāni, thirty-six elements.

JAGDISH: Not the five states of the individual?

SWAMIJI: No, no, no, that is incorrect. I saw that written in 186 Water.

187 Wind or air.

188 Ether or space.

“Svapna svātantryam”¹⁹³ is the real reading of Lord Śiva in the Vijñāna Bhairava.

This is the Kingdom in the dreaming state, how you attain the Kingdom in the dreaming state. The dreaming state is the cause of our being involved in repeated births and deaths. If our dreaming state is living, then the repeated births are there, movement in repeated births are living. Movements in repeated births are due to our dreaming state.¹⁹⁴

If you, in your dreaming state, only dream that you are doing *abhyāsa*¹⁹⁵, there is liberation, there is no rebirth, you won't be born again. This is the certificate of your being liberated.¹⁹⁶

¹⁹³ He attains absolute independent power (svātantrya) in the dreaming state (svapna).

¹⁹⁴ Viz., puryaṣṭaka (“the city of eight”: mind, intellect, ego, and the five tanmātras). “The subtle body causes rebirth, because the subtle body will carry you here, there, and everywhere; from heaven to hell, and from hell to the body of a bird, worm, bug, cow, beast, dog, human, and a rock also. In the subtle body, impressions are stored.” Tantrāloka 16.149, (USF archives).

What is the certificate?

JOHN: That you dream that you are doing abhyāsa.

SWAMIJI: Yes.

Pīnām ca durbalām śaktim dhyātvā dvādaśa gocare. You have to do this practice first. Pīnām means "with sound". You have to breathe with sound, durbalām, very slowly (durbalām means "very slowly"). Produce this breath very slowly, move your breathing very slowly, and put sound in it (that is pīnām). It must be gross, i.e., your ear must hear the sound of your breath, the movement of your breath. That is pīnām ca durbalām. Saktim means prāṇa śakti, the energy of breath.¹⁹⁷

Dhyātvā dvādaśa gocare, and you must not [ignore] the center also (dvādaśa gocare means, this center, this center, or the heart, any, any), the energy of breath should be focused in a dvādaśānta. Dvādaśānta prevails in three places: either in the heart, or in the throat, or between the two eyebrows. [Choose] one out of these three. Put your concentration of 195 Meditation.

196 "Because when your meditation is strengthened totally, just when you enter the dreaming state (that is the subtle body), you'll enter in samādhi. It is sure!" Tantrāloka 16.149, (USF archives).

197 "In the practice of cakrodaya, the breath is to occupy a minimum of space. At the time of practice, you must be able to hear the sound of the inhaling and exhaling breath. The sound of your breathing should be loud enough so that even those sitting near you can hear it. There are two various understandings (vidhi) of how cakrodaya is to be practiced. Some say that the breath is to be inhaled and exhaled by the throat. Others say that the breath is to be inhaled and exhaled by the heart. Those that say that the breath should be inhaled and exhaled by the heart are wrong. It is a very dangerous and deadly procedure to adopt. To practice in this manner will produce such a powerful and intense heat that the heart is adversely effected and severely damaged. You will die in as short a time as a few weeks. The practice of cakrodaya, therefore, must be practiced by inhaling and exhaling by the throat, not by the heart." Self Realization in Kashmir Shaivism – Talks on Practice, 2.47-48.

breath on any of these, either between the two eyebrows, or this throat pit, or the heart.

And the remaining thing to tell you [is that] you must be postured in some posture (āsana) first, and then lie straight flat, flat straight¹⁹⁸, and go on doing this practice.

This energy of breath should be functioned in such a way that it produces sound and it is lengthened more and more and more and more, so that your consciousness is held permanently.

JOHN: You say you sit in a posture first and then lay down?

SWAMIJI: Yes, go on doing this practice for a while, and when you find that you are giddy, giddiness has come for taking a rest, go on doing this practice and lie flat. But that giddiness has to come, it must come, and it will come.

GANJOO: And if it is started while lying flat?

SWAMIJI: While lying in the beginning? Then you will go only into the dreaming state. You won't find this [svapna svātantrya]. It must be developed in a posture first for some time, some particular time. It must be developed in a [sitting] posture (āsana) without leaning, and then, when you find giddiness, then [you may lie down flat] with this practice.

JOHN: What is this giddiness? It's a kind of drowsiness?

SWAMIJI: Drowsiness, drowsiness. But you must not stop this functioning of practice while laying down.

Then what will happen? Ananya cetasah, by doing this thought-lessly¹⁹⁹, ananya cetasah, with one-pointedness, dhyāyan, just when he concentrates like this, hrdaye praviśya, when he is situated in hrdaya, in the real heart (either in the throat-pit, or between the two eyebrows, or the heart—all these three places are called “the heart”), and in that heart, dhyāyan, the one who practices this in continuity and praviśya, while entering in the dreaming state (praviśya means, “entering” in the dreaming state), svapna svātantryam āpnuyāt, he attains the power to rule in svapna also, in the dreaming state. As soon as he enters in that dreaming state, he knows that he has entered in the dreaming state, he is not unconscious of that. And when he enters in the dreaming state, it is for him to decide what ¹⁹⁸ Viz., śavāsana or corpse pose.

¹⁹⁹ That is, without allowing fluctuations of various thoughts.

dream he will see. If he wants to see Lord Śiva in the dream, Lord Śiva will appear before him. If he wants to see something, worldly things also, he will dream that. Anything, whatever he wants to dream, he will dream.²⁰⁰ He becomes the holder of the power in the ~~dreaming state~~ also, not only in wakefulness.

JOHN: So, this isn't a way to enter into that gap?

SWAMIJI: Yes.

JOHN: This is the way.

SWAMIJI: Yes, because he enters in turya, and finds the dreaming state in turya, and is conscious of that dreaming state, and he can dream whatever he likes.

DEVOTEE: If he falls asleep when he lays down?

SWAMIJI: He has to.

DEVOTEE: Then why . . . there will be no sound [of his breath] then when he falls asleep?

SWAMIJI: No, there will be sound in the dreaming state also.

DENISE: It will continue.

SWAMIJI: It will continue because he has practiced that. You will see. You try for two hours. You sit in one posture doing this practice and then lie down, and you will do the same practice unconsciously in the dreaming state also. Although you won't enter in that svapna svātantrya in the beginning, but you will be practicing in the dreaming state also. You will see that you are practicing in the dreaming state. You will see that dream, too. In the dreaming state, you will see in dreaming that you are practicing, [that] you are breathing deeply.

Praviśya hrdaye, when he enters in hrdaye (hrdaye means puri tattva), . . .

²⁰⁰ “Perfect svapna svātantrya is when you see Lord Śiva existing before you.” Spanda Kārikā of Vasugupta, with the Nirṇaya (commentary) of Kṣemarāja, translation and commentary by Swami Lakshmanjoo (original audio recording, USF archives, Los Angeles, 1975), 3.2.

Puri tattva is a place where we go first.²⁰¹ We touch that and are thrown in the dreaming state. We touch that and are thrown in the dreamless state. We touch that and are thrown in wakefulness.

JAGDISH: Puri?

SWAMIJI: Puri tattva. There is that point, there is that point between sleep and waking, between waking and sleeping, between waking and dreamless state. There is that point [called] puri tattva. When you touch it [and maintain awareness of it], then you can change your position of your being. If you are wakeful, you'll get entry in the dreaming state [and remain wakeful]. If you are in the dreaming state, you will get wakeful in the dreamless state. If you are in the dreamless state, you will get wakeful in wakefulness, you'll be awake in *jāgrat*²⁰².

. . . that is puri tattva, that is *hṛdaye, hṛdaye praviśya*²⁰³. “Hṛdaye” means there that *hṛdaye*²⁰⁴.

JOHN: That's the real heart.

SWAMIJI: And when you are doing this practice, pīnām ca durbalām, [when] you are doing this *cakrodaya*²⁰⁵, you are ²⁰¹ “Between in the three states of the individual subjective body, waking, dreaming, and deep sleep, there is a gap. This gap is a junction between the waking state and the dreaming state. There is also a junction between the dreaming state and dreamless sound sleep and there is a junction between sound sleep and the waking state. These transitions take place automatically within every human being.

“This junction is only a gate, the entrance to turya. . . . This junction is known to be the start of turya. In entering this junction, the aspirant enters into another world. It is not wakefulness, nor is it the dreaming state, nor is it sound sleep, but a fourth world.”

Kashmir Shaivism-The Secret Supreme, 16.107-109.

202 Wakefulness.

203 Entry into the heart.

204 That is, puri tattva.

Manual for Self Realization

doing this cakrodaya and you touch that [puri tattva], then you will enter in that vastness of God consciousness. Although it is not yet quite clear (in the beginning it is not quite clear), but it is vastness.

Even the guru's grace (guru kṛpā) will not help a seeker unless [the seeker] is determined and fully devoted to maintaining awareness and concentration." Self Realization in Kashmir Shaivism, 2.44.

*bhuvanādhvādirūpeṇa
cintayetkramaśo'khilam /

This dhāraṇā is also śāktopāya towards sāmbhavopāya.

The gross formation of the world is bhuvanādhva, the subtle formation of the world is tattvādhva, and the subtlest formation of the world is kalādhva.²⁰⁶

Just take the gross formation of the world and make it enter in its subtle formation of the world through imagination. Take the gross formation of the objective world in its subtle formation and take that subtle formation of the objective world in its most subtle formation. Sthūla sūkṣma para sthityā, by making the journey successively from gross to subtle, and from subtle to subtlest, ante, in the end, manolayah, [the yogi] transcends the state of the mind, he becomes un-minded. That is his samādhi.

Sthūla is bhuvanādhva, sūkṣma is tattvādhva, and para is kalādhva. Take these successively one in another, one in another, and, in the end, you will find that the mind transcends its state, the mind becomes un-minded.

²⁰⁶ “In Shaivism, this objective universe is said to be threefold because it is composed of three paths (adhvans). These adhvans are gross (sthūla), subtle (sūkṣma), and subtlest (parā). The gross path is called bhuvanādhva (118 worlds), the subtle path tattvādhva (36 elements), and the subtlest path kalādhva (5 circles).” Kashmir Shaivism—The Secret Supreme, 2.11.

Dhāraṇā 34

asya sarvasya viśvasya paryanteṣu samantataḥ / adhvaprakriyā tattvam śaivam dhyātvā mahodayah // 57 //

This is also another way of dhāraṇā, a supreme dhāraṇā. Just you have to put some addition to it.

Just sit or stand outside in your garden and imagine that around you this whole universe is existing, and there you see adhva prakriyā (adhva prakriyā, according to the Tantrāloka's eighth *āhnika*²⁰⁷), that how great is this universe, how wide and vast is this universe. And below, also what is there? And above, what is there? All these one hundred and eighteen worlds, just imagine these one hundred and eighteen worlds around you, above you and below you (below your body). And you have to imagine that, "This whole universe is my own God consciousness." Just imagine that, "I am pervading in each and every part of this universe of one hundred and eighteen worlds."

This is adhva prakriyā. This is a technical term—adhva prakriyā. Prakriyā means "path of adhvan"—adhva prakriyā. Prakriyā means "journey", the journey of adhva, the universal path.

JOHN: This is sāktopāya?

SWAMIJI: Yes, this is sāktopāya, supreme sāktopāya.

Just imagine the vastness of the universe and think that,

²⁰⁷ The eighth āhnika (chapter) of Abhinavagupta's Tantrāloka describes the measurement of the one hundred and eighteen worlds (bhuvanās), the beings (rūdras) who rule these worlds, and how these worlds relate to each of the thirty-six elements (tattvas).

“This whole is only the kingdom of God consciousness there, the kingdom of My-consciousness, Self-consciousness, I-consciousness.” And that mahodayah (mahodayah means, God consciousness) is revealed in the end.

This is adhva prakriyā. At many places you have read, “na prakriyā param jñānam”, there is no other supreme knowledge than prakriyā knowledge.²⁰⁸ This is prakriyā knowledge.

When prakriyā knowledge takes place, . . .*

Prakriyā knowledge means this knowledge that, “This whole universe is my own Self, the expansion of my Self.” This is pure sāktopāya.

JOHN: This is the state of sadāśiva?

SWAMIJI: Yes, “*aham sarvam*²⁰⁹”.

*. . . śaivam tattvam adhva prakriyayā dhyātvā mahodayah, God consciousness is revealed, supreme God consciousness is revealed to him.

²⁰⁸ Tantrāloka 8.11, (USF archives).

²⁰⁹ “I (aham) am everything (sarvam)”, viz., “aham idam”.

Dhāraṇā 35

Now another one:

O Pārvatī, just imagine, just think, that this universe is with no substance and is only a vacuum. Viśvam etat mahādevi śūnya bhūtam vicintaye, it is only a vacuum, there is nothing (e.g., you perceive this, that this is a key, [but you imagine that] this is not a key, this is nothing, this is only a vacuum). And in that vacuum, establish Your mind firmly.

Tatraiva ca mano līnam, let Your mind melt in that vacuum, in that great and vast vacuum. Tataḥ, then [the yogi] is befitting in entering in that vacuum, in that supreme vacuum. When he establishes, or makes his mind melt, in that vacuum, then he becomes worthy of entering in that supreme vacuum of God consciousness.

This is sāmbhavopāya with some slight touches of sāktopāya.

JOHN: This is more sāmbhavopāya?

SWAMIJI: This is more sāmbhavopāya. The next is pure sāmbhavopāya.

JOHN: Pot?

SWAMIJI: Some pot, jug, or tumbler, or anything.²¹⁰ Focus your sight on it for a while. Focus your sight on it with one-pointedness and imagine that it is only a pot without the substance of its outside, [that it is without] that circle, or mud, or that copper, or glassware. There is nothing. It is only a pot to hold, and outside, there is nothing to make it in its shape (bhittis tyaktvā).

GANJOO: Without material or shape.

SWAMIJI: Without material or shape.

DEVOTEE: An idea only?

SWAMIJI: Not an idea. Just look on that pot [and] imagine it is only a vacuum, [that] there is nothing, no covering of that mud or earth.

DEVOTEE: You just imagine the shape.

SWAMIJI: Only shape, only shape without this substance. This is śāmbhavopāya.

Ghaṭādi bhājane dr̥ṣṭim, or just imagine [that] someone sitting before you, just imagine that this [person] is a shape but there is no substance of the body, it is only a vacuum. Ghaṭādi bhājane dr̥ṣṭi bhittis tyaktvā, you must discard all these bhittis (bhittis means, the supports of that shape).

²¹⁰ Ghaṭa (a pot) refers to any object.

DENISE: Yes, the characteristics.

SWAMIJI: Yes, characteristics and shape.

Tat layam tat kṣaṇād gatvā tat layāt tanmayo bhavet, and at that very moment when he enters²¹¹ in that vacuum of that pot, he enters in the vacuum of God consciousness, just there and then.

This is sāmbhavopāya.

JOHN: This is done with the eyes closed?

SWAMIJI: No, eyes open, eyes open, wide open.

DEVOTEE: There is no sāktopāya.

SWAMIJI: This is not sāktopāya here. It is only sāmbhavopāya because you have to see nothing, you have to look and see nothing, just only go on seeing. What is seen? Only a vacuum—there is nothing.

JOHN: That's like seeing the reflection and understanding that the reflection has no substance.

SWAMIJI: There is no substance, yes.

DEVOTEE: Can we say that it is a creation of my thought?

SWAMIJI: Huh?

DEVOTEE: It is creation of my thought.

SWAMIJI: Whose?

DEVOTEE: Of my thought?

SWAMIJI: Whose thought?

DEVOTEE: My thought.

SWAMIJI: Who are you?

DEVOTEE: I am seeing the pot, but if there is no pot . . .

SWAMIJI: This is the creation of the thought of God consciousness. Don't put "I", because as soon as you put "I", the body will make you limited. Your body will make your "I" limited. Think it is only the God consciousness of "I", I-God consciousness. It is not "I" in "my" consciousness, it is not in "my" consciousness, it is in God consciousness. That "I" is in God consciousness. That is universal.

Concentrate on these two objects and reside and rest in-between the two objects. When you perceive [these spectacles], after perceiving this object, [then] you perceive this paper; when you perceive [these spectacles], and [when] this perceiving of this object is over and this perceiving of this paper has not yet come, that is madhyam, that is “in-between”. Put your consciousness there. Madhyam dhyātvā, concentrate on that center. And while concentrating on that center, be established in that center. And when you are established in that center, simultaneously leave the impression of these objects altogether. Leave the impression of all these two objects altogether, and in making yourself established in that center, the reality of God consciousness is revealed.

JOHN: This is sāktopāya?

SWAMIJI: This is sāktopāya. In Tantrāloka also you will find that this [practice] is sāktopāya.²¹²

While entering in the center of these two objects, you have to take the support, every now and then, of these two objects. For instance, while you concentrate on that center, this center will disappear, and you have to take the support of these two objects again; and then again and again, see this and see this, see this and see this, and see what is in-between, and focus your mind in the center, and when that center is established well, then you have to discard the impression of both these objects and be established in the center, and then the Universal center will be revealed.

[Or], take the support of breathing in and breathing out for establishing your center. When the center of these two breaths is established well, then leave the breath aside and enter in that center, and that Universal center will be revealed. There you will enter in the sāktopāya state. That is not sāmbhavopāya.

Dhāraṇā 39

भावे त्यक्ते निरुद्धा चित्

*bhāve tyakte niruddhā cit naiva bhāvāntaram vrajet / tadā tanmadhyabhāvena vikasatyati bhāvanā // 62 //*²¹³

There are two readings in this dhāraṇā.

One dhāraṇā is, just look at one pot (bhāve atyakte).²¹⁴ When you look on that one pot, go on looking at [that] one pot, don't think of any other thing. Go on thinking of this pot, don't think of this paper, or cardamom, or any flower, or anything [else]. Go on concentrating on that pot, and niruddhā cit, establish your thought (cit is there, "thought"²¹⁵), your thought must be established in that one object (objective consciousness). Naiva bhāvāntaram vrajet, don't go to [the thought of] any other object. Don't go at all to any other object. Keep your consciousness alive there. [Your awareness] must not be dead.

When you are fed up with seeing [an object] again and again, [then] your consciousness [of that object becomes] dead and your consciousness wants to see another object because you want to see something new. But don't do that. It must not be dead. Keep it alive. This one objective consciousness should remain alive. If it is not [kept] alive, it [will become] dead [and then] the dhāraṇā is over, [then] there is no dhāraṇā. You have to keep it alive for the time being. Naiva bhāvāntaram vrajet, [at] no cost . . . you must not go to [the thought of] any other object.

²¹⁴ Or any object.

²¹⁵ Cit is generally translated as "consciousness".

Then the reading is there: tanmaya bhāvena, then you become one with that object. When you become one with that object, [when] objective consciousness melts in your subjective consciousness, [then] that subjective consciousness [with] the mixture of objective consciousness (that particular objective consciousness and your subjective particular consciousness of that object only) enters in that Universal consciousness.

JOHN: This “keeping alive” means having that as your sole object of attention.

SWAMIJI: Attention only on that object.

JOHN: Any time that slips and [another] thought comes, or anything comes, . . .

SWAMIJI: [If] any other thought slips in, finished, the dhāraṇā is over, the dhāraṇā is not complete. So this consciousness must be kept alive.²¹⁶

Now, another reading of this [verse from the] Vijnāna Bhairava.

Or (there is another explanation of this śloka), bhāve tyakte, look at this object²¹⁷, go on looking at this object full of your life-full awareness, go on looking at this object, and when you are aware of that and when you perceive it well, leave it. [Then] try to find another object, [but] don’t look at another object. Leave this object [with the intent of] perceiving another object, [but] don’t go to [the perception of] another object at all. When you leave this [previous] object and you don’t [yet] reach [the perception of] another object, . . .

You travel only up to [the intent of perceiving] another object [but you] don’t enter in the kingdom of another object. Leave the kingdom of this object, the previous object, [but] don’t enter in the kingdom of another object.

²¹⁷ Any object.

. . . [then] roam in the center.²¹⁸ Leave [the previous object] for good [but] don't enter [the perception of] another objective kingdom. And tanmadhya bhāvena, so, [when] you roam in that center, the center of tanmadhya bhāvena, vikasati, [then] blooms forth ati bhāvanā, the supreme state of God consciousness.

JOHN: So, one practice is āṇavopāya and the other is śāktopāya?

SWAMIJI: No, one practice is śāktopāya and another practice is śāktopāya.

JOHN: Both?

SWAMIJI: These are both śāktopāya.

JOHN: But why? That one when you have the support of one object, why would that be śāktopāya?

SWAMIJI: When there is the support of the [perception or knowledge of the] objective world, it can't be āṇavopāya. Āṇavopāya is when you take the support of mantra, when you take the support of breath, when you take the support of dhāraṇā, place, all these things. When [these activities] are united, that is āṇavopāya.²¹⁹ When [there is] only [the knowledge or perception of an] objective support, and that God consciousness is meditated on, that is śāktopāya, that can't be āṇavopāya.²²⁰

218 "So you can post your mind there, in-between [the perception of] two objects." Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

219 "United" in the sense of when you combine mantra, breathing, contemplation, and awareness on some particular point in the body, it is practice in āṇavopāya.

220 "The means which exists in jñāna śakti is śāktopāya and is called jñānopāya. Āṇavopāya is called kriyopāya because it is the means which is found in kriyā śakti." Kashmir Shaivism-The Secret Supreme, 5.39.

Kuhana prayoga is one kind of trick. This is a trick:

By tickling in the armpits, when somebody tickles you in the armpits, both armpits, and you laugh, you laugh wildly without any limit, and there you have to see where this laughing comes [from].

If actually this laughing was blissful, why [would] you hate it? So there is something unknown to you that makes you laugh. Otherwise, you are worried by that. Are you not worried? Why do you laugh? You ought to have wept. [But] you don't weep, you laugh.

So You must find out the source of that laughing, and [when You do], there and then, *mrgeksane*²²⁵, O Devī, the supreme bliss shines forth, by which bliss Your own Self is revealed (yena tattvam prakāśate)—[by remaining] aware of the tickling act.

DEVOTEE: At the moment of tickling.

DEVOTEE: Swamiji, then it takes two people to do that sādhanā?

DEVOTEE: Can't you tickle yourself?

SWAMIJI: Then [you] won't laugh. Tickling must be done by somebody else.

DEVOTEE: [Is this] āñavopāya still?

SWAMIJI: No, this is sāktopāya. This is sāktopāya [because] here is no mantra, there is no recitation of mantra, no breath, no breath procession, only observation of that source of that laughing.

225 Here, Bhairava addresses Devī as “O Fawn-eyed one.”

prathate paramam sukham // 67 //*

Sarva sroto nibandhena, by checking slowly all the flows of the cognitive senses, sarva sroto nibandhena ([sarva] sroto means, all the flows of the cognitive senses), by checking them śanaiḥ, slowly, . . .*

But how can this checking be done? He puts that, prāṇa śakti ūrdhvayā, by the elevated energy of prāṇa. Because, if the elevated energy of prāṇa is not functioning, these flows of the cognitive senses can't be checked. These flows of the cognitive senses will be checked only by adjusting the elevated energy of prāṇa śakti, not the individual energy of prāṇa śakti. The elevated energy of prāṇa śakti means one-pointed prāṇa śakti, when the prāṇa śakti is without the movement of thought.

DEVOTEE: Is it in madhyā dhāma?

SWAMIJI: It is not in madhyā dhāma. It is madhyā dhāma in the outside world,²²⁶ not in suṣumnā, not in the central vein.

DEVOTEE: Where is this madhyā dhāma in the outside world?

SWAMIJI: Madhyā dhāma is everywhere, if you are aware.

DEVOTEE: So, when it says, "with prāṇa śakti elevated", it simply means, the time of centering?

226 The universal center.

SWAMIJI: Yes.

DEVOTEE: Then why does that mean that prāṇa śakti is elevated? Because She is brought to one-pointedness?

SWAMIJI: When there is one-pointedness in prāṇa śakti, that prāṇa śakti is elevated. And then that prāṇa śakti is already existing in suṣumnā, in madhyā dhāma.

DEVOTEE: Already existing in madhyā dhāma?

SWAMIJI: Yes, functioning in madhyā dhāma. It is not functioning in the individual field of life. When one-pointedness is prevailing in prāṇa śakti, that prāṇa śakti is not simple prāṇa śakti, it is elevated prāṇa śakti.

DEVOTEE: How is the flow of the cognitive senses . . . how is it checked?

SWAMIJI: By the elevated energy of prāṇa, the checking is done of the cognitive senses.²²⁷ GANJOO: Is this prāṇa śakti the prāṇa of the movement of breath?

SWAMIJI: Breath, yes, yes, yes. Breath, ordinary breath. That breath without any movement of thoughts.

DEVOTEE: Breath is still going in and out? It is real breath?

SWAMIJI: Yes, yes, real breath.

DEVOTEE: Is it not prāṇa kūḍalinī?

SWAMIJI: No, it is not prāṇa kūḍalinī. It is prāṇa śakti, energy of prāṇa. When there is one-pointedness in that prāṇa śakti, that prāṇa śakti, that is not suṣumnā.

DEVOTEE: That point is madhyā dhāma.

SWAMIJI: That point is madhyā dhāma.

DEVOTEE: But that's not suṣumnā? I thought madhyā dhāma meant suṣumnā?

SWAMIJI: The outside field.

DEVOTEE: Outside field madhyā dhāma—anywhere.

SWAMIJI: Everywhere, everywhere!

²²⁷ “Checking slowly all the flows of cognitive senses, all the five flows, all at once—śabda, sparśa, rūpa, rasa, and gandha. When one-pointedness prevails, then all the cognitive senses are already merged in that one point. That is “checking”, when they merge in oneness.” Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

*. . . then kundalinī rises (pipīla sparśa velāyām). Time comes when pipīla sparśa takes place, [when] you feel the sensation of the movement of an ant moving from the bottom to the top in your body. And there, paramām sukham prathate, supreme bliss is revealed, supreme bliss takes place.

DEVOTEE: What is the difference between this rise of kundalinī and the rise of prāṇa kundalinī, which you describe at other times?

SWAMIJI: Here, this breath does not enter in madhyā dhāma.

DEVOTEE: It doesn't enter in madhyā dhāma?

SWAMIJI: No, because it resides in madhyā dhāma, [so] where shall it enter? It is already residing in madhyā dhāma, in the external world.

DEVOTEE: Swamiji, we are not clear on that at all. Why, if prāṇa is centered outside, should it not also lead to entering susumnā?

SWAMIJI: If it has already entered, if it is already in susumnā, why to make it enter in somewhere else?

DEVOTEE: Because this is external madhyā dhāma?

SWAMIJI: Bas, external and internal madhyā dhāma are one.

DEVOTEE: That means it does enter susumnā?

SWAMIJI: It has entered, it has entered already. It has entered universal susumnā.

DEVOTEE: Your body and your mind and everything is just . . . This point, this madhya dhāma in the outside world, means that you are in complete harmony with everything . . .

SWAMIJI: Yes.

DEVOTEE: . . . and once you achieve this complete harmony of everything . . .

SWAMIJI: You are in madhyā dhāma.

DEVOTEE: . . . you are there.

SWAMIJI: Yes.

DEVOTEE: But from the point of view of realization, what is happening to prāṇa? What is happening to prāṇa that moment of centering?

Manual for Self Realization

SWAMIJI: Kundalinī takes place; just kundalinī rises at once.

DEVOTEE: There is no stopping of breath?

SWAMIJI: No.

DEVOTEE: What upāya is this?

SWAMIJI: This is also āṇavopāya but sentenced to sāmbhavopāya.

JOHN: So this centering, this is that centering between two steps, that kind of centering in terms of that madhyā dhāma?

SWAMIJI: No, not two steps. There are no two steps. It is checked simultaneously, all the flow of senses, by prāṇa śakti.

JOHN: By centering, by having that higher prāṇa śakti.

SWAMIJI: Yes, higher prāṇa śakti, by maintaining that higher prāṇa śakti.

JOHN: But that higher prāṇa śakti comes about through centering, external centering, madhyā dhāma?

SWAMIJI: No, by thought-lessness, by one-pointedness. For instance, when you breathe, or breathe in and out, you breathe in and out without any thought, without any impressions of outward movements. That is the energy of prāṇa śakti. Prāṇa śakti becomes śakti.

DEVOTEE: From *citta vṛtti*²²⁸ to śakti, from vṛtti to śakti?

SWAMIJI: Yes, now you have come to the point.

DEVOTEE: But why does that not lead to the sucking down of the breath?

SWAMIJI: It is already sucked.

DEVOTEE: But it is moving. You said it is moving?

SWAMIJI: It is moving, but the basis is madhyā dhāma.

DEVOTEE: This is with open eyes?

SWAMIJI: Yes, open eyes.

JOHN: So then if your attention is on breath so much that it becomes one-pointed . . .

SWAMIJI: There is no attention.

JOHN: But one-pointedness is gained.

228 Fluctuations (vṛtti) of thoughts (citta).

SWAMIJI: One-pointedness is gained while breathing.

DEVOTEE: That leads to the rise of kundalinī?

SWAMIJI: That leads to the rise of kundalinī. That is pipīla sparśa. And that kundalinī rises very minutely there.

DEVOTEE: Very?

SWAMIJI: Minutely, not in an abrupt [way], not in a flash.

DEVOTEE: Is this prāṇa kundalinī or cit kundalinī?

SWAMIJI: No, this is cit kundalinī. It is cit kundalinī, but the rise of cit kundalinī takes place very slowly here, not in a flash. It is why He has put, pipīla sparśa velā, the movement of an ant.

DEVOTEE: If there is succession, what does he experience on the way between. What is this successive form of cit kundalinī? This goes through the cakras?

SWAMIJI: No, no cakras.

DEVOTEE: Then how is cit kundalinī realized gradually? I don't see how cit can be realized gradually. Surely cit can only manifest Itself.

SWAMIJI: You will see when it flows like that. You will see by yourself.

DEVOTEE: But that movement is the movement of nimīlanā?

SWAMIJI: It is not in a flash.

DEVOTEE: It is movement of nimīlanā?

SWAMIJI: It is movement of nimīlanā, but firm movement of nimīlanā.

DEVOTEE: What is weak movement of nimīlanā?

SWAMIJI: In a flash. When it rises in a flash, then it is the weak movement of kundalinī. Yes, you scratch your head [laughs]!

DEVOTEE: You always told us that instantaneous revelation of cit was the highest.

SWAMIJI: That was the highest, yes.

DEVOTEE: So how are you saying this is lower?

SWAMIJI: But it is lower than this.

DEVOTEE: But this is in āṇavopāya.

SWAMIJI: Yes, āṇavopāya also will take you there, will carry you there.

JOHN: Why is it in āṇavopāya?

SWAMIJI: Because breath has to be recited, breath has to be taken in and out. In sāktopāya, there is no breath, there is no breathing exercise. In āṇavopāya, there is a breathing exercise. There is a breathing exercise here.

DEVOTEE: But this moves quickly to sāmbhavopāya.

SWAMIJI: Sāmbhavopāya quickly, without touching sāktopāya.

It starts in āṇavopāya and ends in sāmbhavopāya.

JOHN: So this one-pointedness is gained through breathing?

SWAMIJI: This one-pointedness is meant for those who are elevated sādhakas, elevated yogis. It is not done by everybody. It can't be done by everybody. This āṇavopāya is superior āṇavopāya. It is thought-less. It is why it carries you from āṇavopāya to sāmbhavopāya—straight.

DEVOTEE: Swamiji, the concentration, is it on just prāṇa itself, not just prāṇa inside but prāṇa in everything? Like prāṇa in a leaf or prāṇa . . . ?

SWAMIJI: No, it is not that. It is just breathing, ordinary breathing.

JOHN: So you just breathe and center yourself?

SWAMIJI: No, just center yourself and then breathe.

JOHN: First you center yourself . . .

SWAMIJI: . . . and then breathe, in that center. That is the elevated energy of prāṇa śakti.

JOHN: That seems a very high state to center yourself.

SWAMIJI: Yes, exactly.

Now He puts another process. It is sāktopāya.

Make your mind rest between the energy of will and knowledge. Give your mind rest between the energy of will and knowledge (icchā and jñāna; vahni is will, viṣa is knowledge).

Or, between the rise of sex excitement and the appeased state of that act; when the rise of sex excitement takes place and when that excitement is appeased. When the rise of sex excitement takes place, that is vahni, that is the state of vahni. And when the sex excitement is appeased, that is viṣa.

JOHN: “Appeased” means “fulfilled” or just “taken away”?

SWAMIJI: No, when it is sāntā.²²⁹

DEVOTEE: This is vyāpti kale?

SWAMIJI: Vyāpti kale.²³⁰

DEVOTEE: This is kāma in viṣa tattva?

SWAMIJI: Viṣa tattva, yes.²³¹

²²⁹ Appeased, pacified, tranquil, calm, free from passions, undisturbed.

²³⁰ The moment of pervasion.

²³¹ “Kāma kalā is the technique of grasping the moment of union (saṃghatṭa) of the senses and their objects. Viṣa tattva is the state of being where you are either given to expansion or to the state of contraction. In Shaivism, the word “viṣa” is explained in two ways. The word “viṣa” means, literally, “poison.” When you are in the

Make your mind rest between these two states: between the energy of will and knowledge, or between the rise of sex excitement and its appeased state.

Smarānandena yujyate, [the yogi] is united in smarānanda (smarānanda means the *samghatṭa*²³² of Śiva and Śakti) and attains the state of supreme ānanda. That is smarānanda.

Smarānanda here does not mean the ānanda of the sexual act. Smarānanda [literally] means, it is kāmānanda, it is the bliss of, the joy of, the sexual act. But, in fact, here you must not take it that way. You must see “smarānanda” is the ānanda risen in the union of Śiva and Śakti.

DEVOTEE: Rudrayāmala?

SWAMIJI: [Yes], Rudrayāmala.²³³ This is śāktopāya also.

DEVOTEE: But this ānanda is the highest ānanda. It leads eventually to jagadānanda through krama mudrā.

SWAMIJI: It is not jagadānanda. It is cidānanda.²³⁴

DEVOTEE: Cidānanda-nimīlanā.

SWAMIJI: Yes, it is nimīlanā.²³⁵

sexual act (viṣa tattva) and you are elevated and situated in the expansion of your nature, then at the very moment of union, you will gain entry in kundalini. If, however, you are given to the sexual act, then this sexual act will cause you to fall. This is also viṣa tattva, but in this case you are carried away from your nature. So, in viṣa tattva, when, in that act, you do not get entry into your nature, that act is poison for you. For those who are elevated, this same poison is actually ecstasy (amṛta).” Self Realization in Kashmir Shaivism, 5.102, footnotes 13, 14.

232 Union.

233 “Rudrayāmala means, the copulation of Rūdra and Rudrāṇī. This is the transcendental language of love of Śiva with Pārvatī. This is the real language of love.” Parātrīśikā Laghuvṛtti, with the commentary of Abhinavagupta, translation and commentary by Swami Lakshmanjoo (original audio recording, USF archives, Los Angeles, 1982).

234 See Appendix for an explanation of the seven states of ānanda.

235 “All of the states of turya from nijānanda to cidānanda comprise the various phases of nimīlanā samādhi. With the occurrence of krama mudrā, nimīlanā samādhi is transformed into unmīlanā samādhi, which then becomes predominant. And when

When you are not married, you [can] put your mind rested between will and knowledge. When you are married, you can put your mind in [between] the beginning of sex excitement and in the end when it is appeased.

DEVOTEE: Only if you are married?

SWAMIJI: Yes.

Kevalam vāyupūrṇam vā, and don't let your breath move out. There, you must not let your breath move out. If you let your breath move out—after this act or after this state—if you leave your breath out and in, you are gone, you have not achieved anything. You have to maintain the breath inside. You won't die. There, you won't die.

DEVOTEE: But this is not kumbhakā?

SWAMIJI: This is not *kumbhakā*²³⁶. It is automatic kumbhakā—automatic.

DEVOTEE: Nimilanā.

SWAMIJI: Nimilanā.

DEVOTEE: Then how will it work in will and knowledge?

SWAMIJI: Will means icchā, knowledge means jñāna. For instance, this is a handkerchief [Swamiji demonstrates]. “What is this?”—this is will. “This is a handkerchief”—this is jñāna. Between these two movements, you must make your mind rest. Your mind must remain there.

DEVOTEE: That is, soon after will, it must stop.

SWAMIJI: Soon after will, it must stop; and, before knowledge, it must stop.

DEVOTEE: So it should not move to knowledge, rather?

SWAMIJI: Yes, it should not move to knowledge [but] it should come out from will. This is between.

DEVOTEE: The point between nirvikalpa and *savikalpa*²³⁷?

SWAMIJI: Yes.

DEVOTEE: When we see firstly and say, “What is this?” this unmīlanā samādhi becomes fixed and permanent, this is the state of jagadānanda. See Appendix for an explanation of krama mudrā, nimilanā and unmīlanā samādhi.

²³⁶ Retention of breath.

²³⁷ The point between thought-lessness (nirvikalpa) and thought-fulness (savikalpa).

SWAMIJI: This is will. When you see, “This is a handkerchief”, that is knowledge, that is jñāna. Don’t come to that. Move out from that, “What is this?” Move out from that state. You have to move out from that. Which? That perceiving state that, “What is it?” You have to come out from that state [of will] and not to reach that state [of knowledge]. There you have to put your mind [to] rest.²³⁸

DEVOTEE: It means, almost the first impression?

SWAMIJI: First ālocana, prathamābhāsa.²³⁹ It is just prathamābhāsa. But it is not actually prathamābhāsa. If it were actually prathamābhāsa . . . when actual prathamābhāsa takes place, it is without support. [Here], you have to take support also. So I have put this [dhāraṇā] as sāktopāya. You have to take support of these two first. Before resting your mind in sāmbhavopāya, you have to take support of these two movements first—the support of will and the support of knowledge, where you see the gap in-between for resting. That is sāmbhava; where you rest, that is the sāmbhava state. As [long as] that resting place takes place by these two supports, it is sāktopāya, it won’t be sāmbhava.

DEVOTEE: So, simply seeing the handkerchief, because the cognition goes out, that is will?

SWAMIJI: You have not to see the handkerchief. “What is it?”—that is the movement of will. “This is a handkerchief”—this is the movement of knowledge. So, you have to find out the movement in-between. Come down from that will, [but] don’t reach that knowledge. Look at this movement also [Swamiji demonstrates]. There are two movements. I want to join these two fingers. They are not yet joined. When I am about to move for joining, that is will. When it is joined, it is knowledge. But this movement must not take place. You have to come down from this movement, the first movement, [but] you have not to reach this [second] movement. That is “*ālocana*²⁴⁰”. That is sāktopāya because it is through these two supports of movements.

238 It is nirvikalpa, thought-lessness.

239 Ālocana and prathamābhāsa refer to the initial flow of objective perception or sensation. “Prathamābhāsa means the appearance of God consciousness in universal objectivity.” Festival of Devotion and Praise—Śivastotrāvalī, Hymns to Shiva by Utpaladeva, Swami Lakshmanjoo, ed. John Huges, (Universal Shaiva Fellowship, Los Angeles, 2014). Chapter 9, verse 5.

JOHN: So then, in any perception, the first moment of perception is nirvikalpa, and then automatically that savikalpa comes. And so that moment between, . . . ?

SWAMIJI: . . . that is nirvikalpa.

DEVOTEE: That is nirvikalpa, but when you go straight into that nirvikalpa moment, into that ālocana, . . .

SWAMIJI: That is sāmbhavopāya.

DEVOTEE: . . . that is sāmbhavopāya. Here you are trying to find the moment between these two points?

SWAMIJI: By support. [With] support, that is sāktopāya.

²⁴⁰ Lit., seeing, perceiving.

Now, these two ślokas—from my point of view—these two are not dhāraṇās (from my point of view). Some saints say that these two ślokas are also two processes, separate processes of sādhanā—these two ways. These are sexual.

JOHN: Sixty-nine and seventy.

SWAMIJI: Sixty-nine and seventy.

The direct way of the sex act is first (sixty-ninth) and the indirect way of the sex act is the seventieth śloka.

JOHN: Direct way is sixty-nine.

SWAMIJI: Sixty-nine is the direct way of the sex act.

When you are united with each other (śakti samgama) and when saṃkṣubdha śakti, when your other female partner is agitated, āveśa āvasānikam, at the end of that agitation²⁴¹, whatever joy is experienced by these partners, that joy has got a similarity to that supreme realization of Lord Śiva.

It is just like that joy. It is not processed, it is not to do.²⁴² It is just a simile—what kind of joy you perceive in samādhi. You perceive that kind of joy.

Or, you perceive that kind of joy [of] samādhi when you think of this sex act (by lehana; lehana means, thinking of kissing or embracing, or all these acts). But this thinking is to be done not by-the-way, bharāt smrteḥ, it is to be done in an intensive way, because if you don't think of this act in an intensive way, you won't get that joy. Although there is not your other partner, sakti abhāvepi, [even] if the other partner is not there, by only thinking in an intensive way, that ānanda rises, that ānanda (that bliss) of that sexual bliss takes place, which is just like the ānanda of your state of samādhi.

This is not a process. These two are not dhāraṇās from my point of view, but some professors of these books say that this is also a dhāraṇā, [that] this must also be functioned like this. Here, from my point of view, this is not a dhāraṇā.

[Bhairava] puts the similarity of *brahma sukha*²⁴³, how brahma sukha can be taken. What sort of bliss you get in samādhi? You get the blissful state of samādhi, just like this bliss.

DEVOTEE: But other ācāryas including Abhinavagupta²⁴⁴ have taken it as a dhāraṇā here.

SWAMIJI: If you ask me, I won't agree, I have got a disagreement with that, in this point. [These two verses are] only just to show you what kind of bliss and joy you perceive in samādhi. And the Vijñāna Bhairava will tell you that this is not a process. The Vijñāna Bhairava, this book itself, will tell you in the seventy-first śloka that this was not a process, [that] this was only a similarity.

241 That is, the climax or orgasm.

242 Nothing is to be done apart from simply acknowledging the intensity and divinity of sexual joy.

243 The joy (sukha) of Brahman.

244 Abhinavagupta quotes this verse as a dhāraṇā in his Īśvara Pratyabhijñā Vivṛti Vimarsinī.

Dhāraṇā 46

आनन्दे महति प्राप्ते
दृष्टे वा बान्धवे चिरात् ।

ānande mahati prāpte drṣte vā bāndhave cirāt / ānandamudgatam dhyātvā tallayastanmanā bhavet // 71 //

Now, this is a process. Now, the process of the sex act He will explain to you.

Here, [in the previous two verses], there was no process at all. There was only to enjoy the sexual act. The enjoyment of the sexual act was to be enjoyed—finished! There was no process. Is there a process written? Now He will tell you what we have to do there in the sexual act.

*Ānande mahati prāpte*²⁴⁵, when that supreme bliss takes place in the sexual act, or drṣte vā bāndhave cirāt, or [when] your own dear, dearest one, is seen after a long interval of period (when you see your dearest one, who has been out of sight for so many years, and you have seen him), when you see him, at the very first moment, you are filled with that joy. This is like that [sexual] joy—drṣte vā bāndhave cirāt.

What you have to do there in these two states—in the sexual act (in the enjoyment, in the joy, the rise of joy, in the sexual act; when the rise of joy takes place in the sexual act) or when the rise of joy takes place when you see your dearest one after a long interval of period?

There you have to do ānandam udgatam dhyātvā, you have to find out wherefrom this joy has appeared. Just find out from which point this joy has appeared. Situate your mind there with full awareness, and then you will attain that nirvikalpa state of samādhi.

This is the process of the above two ślokas.²⁴⁶

Or, drṣṭe vā bandhave cirāt.

Tat layah tanmanā bhavet. Tat layah, the one who has melted in that, the one who has absorbed himself in that, he becomes one with that, his thought becomes one with that (tanmanā bhavet). [His thought becomes one with] udgac-chantam, where it rises.

DEVOTEE: At the moment of rising?

SWAMIJI: At the very moment of rising.

JOHN: So he maintains his awareness and puts all his attention on that, . . .

SWAMIJI: Yes.

JOHN: . . . on that bliss.²⁴⁷

SWAMIJI: And when he recognizes that udgama sthāna, recognizes the place of the source, tat layah, he must melt his energy in that, he must melt his awareness in that, [and] he becomes one with that; then he will become one with that (tanmanā bhavet).

DEVOTEE: Which upāya is this?

SWAMIJI: Which upāya? This can be śāktopāya or śāmbhavopāya even.

²⁴⁶ In the previous two ślokas (69-70), there was no process (upāya), but if one is to apply a process (upāya), then this verse (71) teaches the process which is to be applied for both the direct sexual act (verse 69) and indirect sexual act (verse 70), i.e., “to find out wherewith this joy has appeared.”

²⁴⁷ He maintains awareness, not on the bliss itself, but on the source of the bliss.

Or, take some sweet dish, put some sweet dish before you, or a sweet drink.

Jagdhī means, a sweet edible thing. Pāna means, a sweet drink. It will be *kṣīra pāna*²⁴⁸ or it will be *vīrapāna*²⁴⁹, anything you like. What[ever] is delicious to the drinker or eater. Whatever you like most [to eat], eat that. Whatever you like most to drink, drink that.

And, at that moment, what is to be done is told here: jagdhī pāna kṛtollāsa rasānanda vijrimbhaṇāt, when you are full of that blissful taste while eating or while drinking [and] you [have] merged yourself in that blissful taste, bhāvayed bharitāvasthām, don't think [of] yourself as an individual being; consider yourself, or imagine that you are, all-full, all-round full (bhāvayet bharitāvasthām). Pūrnā avasthām bhāvayet, you must imagine that you are situated in the supreme and full state of Lord Śiva (*mahānanda*²⁵⁰).

It is śāktopāya.²⁵¹

248 A sweet milk drink.

249 Lit., “heroic-water”, viz., a spirit.

Gītādi viṣaya āsvāda. Now take musical instruments, a music performance (gītādi viṣaya; that is also viṣaya, that is also our diet, our diet through the ears, an aural diet).²⁵² Gītādi viṣaya āsvāda, the yogi whose mind is focused in the unparalleled ecstasy while experiencing these songs (gītādi viṣaya āsvādā), asama saukhyaikatātmanah (asama saukhya means “unparalleled [bliss]”; asama means “unparalleled”, sukha means “bliss”), when he is united, has become one, with that unparalleled bliss there, . . .

I think this way you should understand it: when the yogi tanmayatvena manorūḍheḥ, becomes one with that sound of a song, and when his mind is absorbed in the one collective sound of a song (not different [sounds], and you have to put your mind on that collective sound there), . . .*

DEVOTEE: That nāda.²⁵³

SWAMIJI: The nāda that prevails in all the seven svaras (pañchamam, gandhāram, . . . what is that? There are 252 Swamiji said that “gītādi” (songs, etc.) includes poetry.

... when he concentrates on that collective sound, there in that string instrument, ...

He touches all the seven strings; simultaneously he touches all the seven strings, and one collective sound is produced from seven sounds, and you have to put your mind on that collective sound, only one collective sound, where seven sounds are produced. Don't put your mind in a successive way on each and every sound of these seven svaras.

DEVOTEE: But Swamiji, when music is being played, it is not often that you hear a collective sound. In any rāga, you hear one note after another. Sometimes they will be collective notes.

SWAMIJI: But still then you hear.

*... when that collective way is being functioned, there you have scope to enter in samādhi.

DEVOTEE: But elsewhere here it said that the yogi can enter in samādhi through perceiving that sound, which is not a sound in any sound.

SWAMIJI: Elevated ones are capable of doing that.

DEVOTEE: Even this is in śāmbhavopāya, isn't it? When you listen to that collective sound?

SWAMIJI: Then it goes to the śāmbhava state, but [the practice itself] is śāktopāya because there is support.

*yeśāṁ na tanmayībhūtiste dehādinimajjanam //

These are the sayings of Abhinavagupta himself in the Tantrāloka.

Yeśāṁ na tanmayībhūtih, those who have no capacity to find that collective sound there in that music, te dehādi

²⁵⁵ Tantrāloka, 3.240.

nimajjanam avidanto, they have no technique, they have no way in hand, [of] how to absorb their individuality in universality. They have no capacity of that. Tva hrdaya iti, so they are without heart, they are *jada*²⁵⁶.

DEVOTEE: Abhinavagupta says you can rise very high with that collective meaning that is suggested in poetry.

SWAMIJI: For elevated souls.

DEVOTEE: Sahṛdayā, only for vīras.²⁵⁷

SWAMIJI: It is for elevated souls. They can rise in the ordinary talk of life, this rough talk. In rough talk also they can rise—those elevated souls.

DEVOTEE: But the words in poetry are not the same as the words in real life.

SWAMIJI: Not only poetry, even in ordinary talk also there is scope of rising, but [only] for those who are elevated.

DEVOTEE: But in poetry there is a special power for rising.

SWAMIJI: Yes, rising for those who are a bit elevated. For those who are fully elevated souls, they can rise in ordinary talk also (e.g., in hearing bad names) *adivāda*²⁵⁸, for them, for those elevated souls, not for everybody.

This is śāktopāya.

If your mind is situated peacefully in working in the garden, put your mind there; don't go in the prayer room for prayer. Going in the prayer room at that moment is a sin for you, and working in the garden is the right way for you.

Wherever your mind is fixed, attracted, put your mind there; yatra yatra manas tustih, manas tatraiva dhārayet, there you must fix your mind. Don't go anywhere else. Don't think that this is an impure act.²⁵⁹ That is a pure act for you [whereas] the "pure" act is an impure act for you.

When sleep has not yet come (anāgatāyāṁ nidrāyāṁ, when sleep has not yet taken place), prāṇaṣṭe bāhya gocare, and when wakefulness is over—wakefulness is over and sleep has not yet come—there, if, by your mind, you realize that state in-between, the supreme energy of God consciousness will appear to you.

This is sāmbhavopāya. This is the sāmbhava state because there is no support.

DEVOTEE: This is not that emerging of awareness into that moment of sleep that takes place in cakrodaya, which you describe in the seven *ānandas*²⁶¹? Not that moment—same moment, but here it is in sāmbhavopāya.

SWAMIJI: Yes, it is sāmbhavopāya.

DEVOTEE: But here he experiences no drowsiness?

SWAMIJI: No, no drowsiness.

DEVOTEE: No drowsiness at all?

SWAMIJI: No, it is not drowsiness here, it is just awareness. It is only when awareness is developed in such a way that you are aware of that entering in the dreaming state.²⁶²

²⁶¹ See Appendix for an explanation of the seven states of ānanda.

²⁶² With reference to āṇavopāya and gaining the fitness for this sāmbhavopāya practice, Swamiji said: “The only way to experience this junction is to concentrate on any center of the heart while breathing, while talking, or while moving about. You must

If you maintain that awareness when you are to be operated on in a surgical theater and you are given that chloroform, you can't be affected by that chloroform—if you maintain that awareness. Those people cannot be prey of this chloroform because they are always aware. How can they forget their Being?

DEVOTEE: He is aware even in sleep.

SWAMIJI: Aware in sleep, in-between sleep. He knows where this wakefulness has ended and the dreaming state has started.

DEVOTEE: But he goes into the dreaming state?

SWAMIJI: He doesn't go into the dreaming state.

DEVOTEE: He never sleeps?

SWAMIJI: He never sleeps.

DEVOTEE: Because he is always aware at that point?

SWAMIJI: Yes. It is that point which gives you rest, and that relaxation of going to sleep is because of entering through that channel.

DEVOTEE: But he doesn't go to sleep, he doesn't lie down . . .

SWAMIJI: But he enters in that channel.

DEVOTEE: But he comes out? Or he stays there but he does not enter sleep?

SWAMIJI: No, he doesn't enter sleep.

DEVOTEE: He can then, he may walk, he may . . . ?

SWAMIJI: No, he can't walk; at that moment, he can't walk.

DEVOTEE: At that moment. But then does he enter sleep or not?

SWAMIJI: No, he doesn't enter sleep.

DEVOTEE: So he is still awake and aware?

concentrate on the center. You should watch the center of any two movements, any two breaths. Concentrate on that junction. After some time, when that concentration is established, then, whenever you go to bed to rest, you will enter the dreaming state through that junction. In this case, though, you will not enter into the dreaming state. Instead, you will be aware at that point, at that junction. This junction is only a gate, the entrance to turya." Kashmir Shaivism—The Secret Supreme, 16.108.

SWAMIJI: He is not aware of the body.

DEVOTEE: Is the body asleep?

SWAMIJI: Yes. The body is not there. He doesn't see his body, he doesn't see his body, he doesn't see dreams, but he is aware of his Being.

DEVOTEE: But, from a medical point of view, the body is asleep.

SWAMIJI: The body is not there—for him.

DEVOTEE: For him it is not, but from the point of view from others?

SWAMIJI: For others, the body is there.

DEVOTEE: The body is sleeping?

SWAMIJI: The body is not sleeping.

JOHN: No, the body is not sleeping. This is nimīlanā samādhi. The body doesn't sleep.

SWAMIJI: Actually, the body is not sleeping. Every other person will observe that he is in samādhi, that he is in samādhi, [that] he is looking like this.

DEVOTEE: But the . . . is missing, body is missing at that time?

SWAMIJI: He does not see his body.

DEVOTEE: He is not body-conscious.

SWAMIJI: He is not body-conscious. He is conscious of the Self.

DEVOTEE: His body will require rest?

SWAMIJI: But this is the real rest. The turya [state] is the real rest. That center is the real rest. It is the turya state.

Just imagine that the whole *ākāśa*²⁶³ is filled with the effulgent light of the sun.

It is outside, it is a dhāraṇā done outside, and [also] a dhāraṇā done in your room at night. Put the bulb on, the light on, and go on concentrating and putting your eyesight on that light of the bulb, and don't think of any other thing in-between, [and] you will enter in samādhi. Only see the light of the bulb without that glass [encasement]. The enclosure of glass you must ignore, [and see] only the light in the room. Or, [see] only the light of the sun in the whole ether, atmosphere.

JOHN: That doesn't mean you should look at the sun like you are looking at the bulb?

SWAMIJI: No, you have to look at the light. It is just imagination.

DEVOTEE: Also flame here—dīpa.

SWAMIJI: A flame in the room, dīpa is in the room. The sun is outside in the garden. In the garden there is an exercise [and] in the room also there is an exercise.

DEVOTEE: So by *ādi*²⁶⁴, He means "the light bulb"?

SWAMIJI: Yes, bulb also. The light [of the sun] is there, just have some acquaintance with that light and bas, think that—263 Ether, space.

264 Ādi can mean, "beginning with" or "etcetera".

[by] internal *drṣṭi*²⁶⁵—the whole atmosphere is filled with light. Or, look at the light of the bulb in the room, and just have acquaintance with that light for some time, and close your eyes, and see that the whole room is effulgent, filled with that light.

DEVOTEE: Swamiji, can we do it in moonlight?

SWAMIJI: Moonlight is not said here.

DEVOTEE: You look at the light and then close the eyes. You don't just continue looking at the light.

SWAMIJI: No. Continue not. It is not [looking at it] in continuity. It is just imagination. Just look at it, have acquaintance with it, know it, remember it, and get lost in it.

DEVOTEE: This is sāktopāya?

SWAMIJI: Yes, this is sāktopāya.

DEVOTEE: But not very . . . not the highest sāktopāya, because it is very much with support.

SWAMIJI: Yes, it is [with] support.

DEVOTEE: Highest sāktopāya is that one described in that śūnya pañcakam?

SWAMIJI: Śūnya pañcakam or “this whole universe is my own Self.”²⁶⁶

These are the five states of the five saints, five ancient saints, five states of schools, schools of five, . . .

DEVOTEE: Schools of thought.

SWAMIJI: . . . schools of thought of five ancient [types of] saints. The five ancient [types of] saints are: jñāna siddhas (saints risen from knowledge), saints risen from *mantras*²⁶⁷, saints risen from melāpa (yoginī melāpa)²⁶⁸, and saints risen from enjoyment²⁶⁹, and saints risen by thought-lessness (nirvikalpa)²⁷⁰.

DEVOTEE: Isn't thought-lessness in all those?

SWAMIJI: Yes, in the end.

DEVOTEE: So why is it made a special category?

SWAMIJI: Thoughtlessness: to begin and end in thoughtlessness. The process begins in thought-lessness and ends in thought-lessness. Śāmbhava siddha is the highest. Śāmbhava siddhas are the highest producers [among the five] schools.

DEVOTEE: This, the śāmbhava siddhas.

SWAMIJI: Śāmbhava siddhas. [The five siddhas are]: jñāna siddhas, mantra siddhas, melāpa siddhas, śākta siddhas, and śāmbhava siddhas.

²⁶⁷ Mantra siddhas.

²⁶⁸ Melāpa siddhas.

²⁶⁹ Śākta siddhas.

²⁷⁰ Śāmbhava siddhas.

Jñāna Siddhas

Now for jñāna siddhas, those who have become elevated by knowledge of books. They have got the final position of the mudrā that is called karaṇkini. Karaṇkini is that position of your body when your body is flat on the ground, . . .

DEVOTEE: Like a corpse.

SWAMIJI: . . . just like a corpse, a dead body, without any movement. They lie down and have no movement in the end. That is karaṇkini mudrā. This karaṇkini mudrā was from ancient times, innumerable ancient times, functioned by jñāna siddhas, for those saints who were siddhas from knowledge.

DEVOTEE: They maintain enlightenment—does this mean only from śāstras?

SWAMIJI: Only from śāstras.

DEVOTEE: Without a guru?

SWAMIJI: With a guru. With a guru everywhere, without a guru nowhere. Without a guru nowhere, with a guru everywhere.

DEVOTEE: But isn't it explained in the Tantrāloka that there are enlightened people without gurus—samsiddhika? *Svasamvid devibhiḥ dīkṣitah*²⁷¹.

SWAMIJI: Sva samvid devī is the guru there—*svasamvitti devibhirdīkṣitah*²⁷². So there is the guru.

Mantra Siddhas

The krodhani posture is [the mudrā] of those who have become siddhas by mantra yoga, by the recitation of mantras; those ancient saints who have attained siddhi powers by the recitation of mantras. Those are called mantra siddhas. For them, the ending posture of the body is krodhana. Krodhana is that posture of your body when you are posed in the furious position of the body.

DEVOTEE: What is that position?

271 Initiated by devīs (goddesses).

272 “Abhiṣiktaḥ svasamvitti devibhirdīkṣitaśca sah. How he achieves without masters and without śāstras? For that, [Abhinava-gupta] says, his own internal energies of Lord Śiva (śakti-cakra) have initiated him.” Tantrāloka 4.42, (USF archives).

SWAMIJI: Anger. You make your face furious, without movement, wide-open eyes, wide-open mouth, wide-open teeth. And they lie down and rest in that oneness of awareness. That is krodhana, the posture of krodhana.

DEVOTEE: This is a dhāranā?

SWAMIJI: This is the ending dhāranā of mantra siddhas. They end in that.

DEVOTEE: And karaṇkinī is the ending dhāranā of jñāna siddhas.

SWAMIJI: Jñāna siddhas.

DEVOTEE: And what do they attain through this mudrā?

SWAMIJI: Oneness of Lord Śiva.

DEVOTEE: They experience kundalinī, cit kundalinī?

SWAMIJI: Yes, cit kundalinī.

DEVOTEE: And *krama mudrā*²⁷³ and everything?

SWAMIJI: Everything.

DEVOTEE: *Jagadānanda*²⁷⁴ . . . in that position?

SWAMIJI: Ūrdhva kundalinī.²⁷⁵

DEVOTEE: Why is there niyama of position here when it is this high? Why is there restriction of position here when it is so high?

SWAMIJI: This is what they do in the end and rise.

DEVOTEE: But they can rise without doing that?

SWAMIJI: Not those [siddhas, because] they have risen like this. By mantras you have to put that [krodhani mudrā] because, by the recitation of mantras, your body has become more attached to you, to your soul. So you have to shatter it out by krodhā, by wrath, by the posture of wrath.²⁷⁶

Melāpa Siddhas

And there is bhairavī. Bhairavī is another posture [mudrā] for those who have become saints by melāpa, by the union of ²⁷³ See Appendix for an explanation of krama mudrā.

²⁷⁴ See Appendix for an explanation of the seven states of ānanda.

²⁷⁵ See Appendix for an explanation of kundalinī.

²⁷⁶ “The word ‘krodhā’ does not denote wrathfulness in the present context. Here, it simply has reference to krodhā mudrā, a kind of posture in yoga, and has nothing to do with your anger.” Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

Nidrā jagaryor madhye adhirūhya daśāṁ parām, that is a dream, that is the dreaming state, when sleep has not yet come and the wakefulness is over. There, a yoginī appeared to him.²⁷⁷ That is melāpa. Yoginī melāpa takes place there.

Yoginī melāpa does not take place just [while] we are sitting here. A yoginī will come during the night [in a dream] and embrace me, or kiss me, or give me some filthy thing to eat, or . . . because whatever they give is divine. You must consider everything divine, whatever they give.

DEVOTEE: Nothing can bring you down?

SWAMIJI: Nothing can bring you down. If they give you filth to eat, you must eat it. While eating, you will find the nectar in it, but it will appear to you as filth. Yoginī melāpa takes place there.²⁷⁸ That is bhairavī. Bhairavī mudrā is meant for those [melāpa siddhas] in the end.

JOHN: What is bhairavī mudrā?

SWAMIJI: Bhairavī mudrā is to keep your eyes wide-open without twinkling, and your mouth also wide-open. Bhairavī mudrā is actually a combination of bhairavī and cakita mudrā. Bhairavī mudrā is a combination of bhairavī and cakita mudrā. *Antar lakṣyo bahir drṣṭih*²⁷⁹—that is bhairavī mudrā: just keep your eyes wide-open, and [keep] your breath in a fix (“should I move it out or should I take it in?”), not going out, not coming in. This state of the mudrā you will come to know in cakita mudrā. Cakita mudrā is the pose of astonishment.

This is bhairavī mudra. Actually this is bhairavī mudrā because you do not breathe in and out. This is bhairavī mudrā [Swamiji demonstrates]: your eyes are wide-open, your mouth is open, and you don't breathe.

Understand?

DEVOTEE: This is not occurring only at the time of yoginī melāpa?

SWAMIJI: No, it is not. Bhairavī mudrā is the ending point

²⁷⁷ Swamiji is referring to the yoginī who appeared to Maheśvar-ānanda, the author of the Mahārthamañjari.

²⁷⁸ In the dreaming state.

²⁷⁹ Tantrāloka 5.80, (USF archives).

of yoginī melāpa. When the melāpa is over, then you enter in bhairavī mudrā.

DEVOTEE: But, by this melāpa, one is sealed in anupāya.

SWAMIJI: Yes, it is anupāya.

DEVOTEE: This is the highest?

SWAMIJI: All are divine. All upāyas are divine.

DEVOTEE: All?

SWAMIJI: All are divine. This is melāpa siddha.

Śākta Siddhas

Now is lelihāna.²⁸⁰

Lelihāna is just to taste the grape of Kabul. That is a delicious grape of Kabul that used to come in those sealed plates in ancient times, when we were young. Just taste those. At the moment of doing this movement of the lips [Swamiji demonstrates, making a sound with his lips], bas. Now you go to the śloka: that is lelihāna, that is lelihāna mudrā. This mudrā is lelihāna.

What is lelihāna mudrā, the posture of lelihāna?

[Swamiji demonstrates]—this is a mudrā. This mudrā is lelihāna mudrā, when you are filled with the taste of some sweet thing.

DEVOTEE: Licking, licking (lelihāna).

SWAMIJI: This is functioned by saints who are śākta siddhas.

Śāmbhava Siddhas

And in the end is khecarī mudrā. Khecarī mudrā is another mudrā for those who are siddhas in the śāmbhava state, śāmbhava siddhas. Khecarī is meant for śāmbhava siddhas, in the end.

Khecarī mudrā is actually no mudrā. Khecarī mudrā is functioned in each and every act of daily life. For instance, I talk to you. When I talk to you [and say], “How do you do? Are you well?” actually I don’t mean what I tell you. At that very moment, I am elevated, I am residing in the elevated state.

280 Lit., frequently licking or darting out the tongue, lelihāna denotes the enjoyment of tasting.

When I talk to you [and say], “How do you do?” I don’t mean “How do you do?” at that time. I am above, I am in ākāśa, I am in a vacuum. I am talking in a vacuum, I am putting words in a vacuum, I am smelling in a vacuum, I am embracing in a vacuum, I am doing the sex act in a vacuum, I am doing every degraded thing in a vacuum. This is some elevated state. You are not where you are looked at. When you talk, you are talking in the elevation of the talking world, but actually you are not existing there, you are above it. When you are eating, you are not actually eating, you are above it. That is khecarī.

Khecarī mudrā is functioned by those who are sāmbhavas, who have practiced sāmbhavopāya for their whole life and who have established their thought in the sāmbhava state every now and then.

JOHN: So, this is the fullness of ‘sauh’ bija?

SWAMIJI: This is the fullness of ‘sauh'.²⁸¹

DEVOTEE: In this, whatever he perceives, yet he is still aware.

SWAMIJI: It is a bit lower because [Krṣṇa] says, indriyāṇī nidriyārtheṣu vartanta iti dhārayan.²⁸²

DEVOTEE: There is no registration?

SWAMIJI: There is no registration of that (indriyāṇī nidriyārtheṣu vartante). He is above that. It is the state of all the acts of Lord Krṣṇa, what He did in His life. He did all these acts in the sāmbhava state. He was actually situated in the sāmbhava state of life—khecarī. [Likewise], we should elevate ourselves from what we say, we should be above it. That is khecarī. You don’t mean what you mean.

DEVOTEE: You mean you are separate from that?

SWAMIJI: Not separate—above. You are that and above, above it also, above it, too.

DEVOTEE: Residing in both places.

DEVOTEE: You are in and out (svavattīrnā, sarvamāyā).

SWAMIJI: Sarvamāyā.

²⁸¹ See Appendix for an explanation of sauh.

²⁸² Bhagavad Gita – In the Light of Kashmir Shaivism, 5.9.

DEVOTEE: This is that ‘sauh’ bija uccaranam . . .

SWAMIJI: Yes.

DEVOTEE: . . . in which you register everything but you are still your Self.

SWAMIJI: Yes. That is khecarī.

DEVOTEE: That is registering everything as khecarī sāmya.

SWAMIJI: Yes, *khecarī sāmya*²⁸³. That is khecarī.

DEVOTEE: But you don’t go into individual things.

SWAMIJI: No, [into] the individual thing he goes, [but] while going in individual things, he is above that, . . .

DEVOTEE: Pradeśo’pi brahmaṇa sarvam.

SWAMIJI: . . . in each and every movement.

JOHN: He is always universal?

SWAMIJI: Yes.

DEVOTEE: Swamiji, when he perceives one individual thing, he perceives everything. Is that right?

SWAMIJI: Yes.

DEVOTEE: Pradeśo’pi brahmaṇah . . .

SWAMIJI: . . . sārvavarūpyam anatikrāntaśca avikalpyaśca.²⁸⁴

Khecarī is done while sitting, lelihāna is done while sitting, bhairavī is done while sitting, krodhānī is done while sitting, and karaṅkiṇī is done while lying flat, just like a dead body.

Dr̥ṣti kāle ca (dr̥ṣti kāle ca does not mean here, “when you experience these states of mudrās”; dr̥ṣti kāle means, “at the time when you practice these states”), dr̥ṣṭikāle, while practicing these mudrās, parā vyāptih prakāśate, the pervading-ness of supreme God consciousness or universal God consciousness takes place.

This is sāmbhavopāya.

²⁸³ Sāmya means sameness or oneness with khecarī.

This is āṇavopāya-cum-sāktopāya.²⁸⁵

Mṛdvāsane, sit on your soft seat (for instance, just a Dunlop cushion, a Dunlop pillow), sit on that soft seat, and then hasta pādau nirāśrayam nidhāya sphijaikena, sit on the soft seat only on [one of] your buttocks. Hasta pādau nirāśrayam nidhāya, put your hands and feet nirāśrayam, without any support. Only sit on [one of] the buttocks, but on a soft seat. Mṛdu āsane (mṛdu means “soft”; āsana, “seat”), on the soft seat, sphijaikena, while sitting only on [one of] the buttocks, hasta pādau, put your hands and feet nirāśrayam, without any support (nirāya, “put”). Tat prasaṅgena, by doing this act, his individual consciousness rises to the supreme full state of universal consciousness.

DEVOTEE: There is no mantra? Nothing?

SWAMIJI: No mantra. Because, as you have to sit on the buttocks, it is āṇavopāya. As there is no mantra, nothing to be done, it will take you to sāmbhavopāya. From āṇavopāya you will rise to sāmbhavopāya. So I have put it as āṇavopāya-cum-sāmbhavopāya.

²⁸⁵ Later, Swamiji will explain that this practice is actually āṇavopāya-cum-sāmbhavopāya.

Upaviśyāsane samyak, be seated on some seat (it may be hard or it may be soft—it is not written there), upaviśyāsane, be seated on some seat, bāhū kṛtvārdha kuñcita॒, and keep your arms half-curved, not fully curved.

For instance, when you sit on [some] āsana, put your arms half-curved, not fully curved, not like this [Swamiji demonstrates²⁸⁶]—half-curved. Fully curved is this, or fully curved is this. [Your arms must be] half-curved, only half-curved.

DEVOTEE: Half-bent.

SWAMIJI: Half-bent (ārdha kuñcita; kuñcita means “curved, bent”).

And then what do you have to do?

Kakṣa vyomni manah kurvan, find out your armpits, find out the place of your armpits, and see what is there, what vacuum is there. Put your mind and awareness in that vacuum of the armpit, both vacuums of the armpits, and you will enter in samādhi.

[This is] āṇavopāya and sāktopāya.

Find out the vacuum of the armpits and concentrate on that vacuum. You will enter in your own nature (tat layāt)

286 Arms crossed over the chest, the fingers of each hand tucked under the opposite armpits, with the thumbs free, pointing upwards.

when the concentration on the armpits has taken the appeased state, [when] it is over.

Kakṣa vyomni means “[the vacuum of the] armpits”.

DEVOTEE: You say it is a touch of āñava because of āsana?

SWAMIJI: Āsana, yes.

DEVOTEE: Would it be possible to interpret “āsana” just as any seat, not as a particular posture?

SWAMIJI: You see that only a seat won’t do [for it to be] āñavopāya. In sāmbhavopāya also we sit like that. It is not for that [āsana that] it is āñavopāya. It is for this position of the arms [that] it is āñavopāya, because, while maintaining the position of the arms, you have to keep your attention there for some time in order to find out the vacuum, the two vacuums of the armpits.

And when that concentration on the armpits is over, the revealing state of Lord Śiva takes place. Lord Śiva is revealed because that vacuum will carry you there, that uninterrupted concentration on that vacuum. That [concentration on the] vacuum is sāktopāya.²⁸⁷

Bhāvasya means there, strī ādi vastunah.

DEVOTEE: Something like a woman?

SWAMIJI: Something like . . . not every woman—that attractive [woman]! Or—it is not only a woman—an attractive girl, just an attractive girl of seven years old.

DEVOTEE: Something beautiful.

SWAMIJI: Something beautiful, attractive.

DEVOTEE: A painting?

SWAMIJI: Not a painting.

DEVOTEE: Why not?

SWAMIJI: It must be something substantial, full of substance. A painting is only imagination.

DEVOTEE: A flower vase?

SWAMIJI: Flower vase, yes.

DENISE: Some beautiful scenery, like a sunset?

SWAMIJI: No. It must be very near to you, very close, because stabdhām dr̄ṣṭim nipātya ca; stabdhām dr̄ṣṭim, [you have to] put your eyes on it without any movement of the eyelids.

*. . . stabdhām dr̄ṣṭim nipātya ca, and while doing so,

This is śāmbhava.

DEVOTEE: But there is the object?

SWAMIJI: There is not an object, because in the beginning, there is not an object at all.

DEVOTEE: But then why must it be beautiful? Why has it to be beautiful?

SWAMIJI: Only beauty is the object, not the object; the object is not the object, beauty is the object. But beauty is a subtle thing, so it won't catch śāktopāya.

DEVOTEE: But surely, for the man in śāmbhava, everything is beautiful anyway. Why does he need one thing more than another? If he needs that extra support, isn't that bringing it down to śākta?

SWAMIJI: No. Excitement for śāmbhavopāya must be maintained first, then real śāmbhavopāya will take place.

DEVOTEE: Excitement?

SWAMIJI: Excitement. Excitement must take place.

DEVOTEE: The mind must be caught.

SWAMIJI: Caught. How can you catch that mind abruptly? It is done in one instant.

DEVOTEE: So the object of beauty is not important. It is the beauty.

SWAMIJI: It is beauty only that will carry you there.

DEVOTEE: But the beauty is not something in the object?

SWAMIJI: It is only appearing, appearing.

DEVOTEE: It is a way of looking at it.

SWAMIJI: Yes, looking—that *prathamābhāsa*²⁸⁸. Because he has not to look at the girl, he has not to look at her features. Only beauty, beauty is counted there. You have not to touch it, you have not to talk to it, you have not to do anything with it. It is just, look at it and you will enter.

My Swamiji [Swami Mahatābakāk] went to some invitation. There was a marriage function, and tea was served in the room, and Swamiji was seated, and I was also seated. By chance, there was a small beautiful girl with the best ornaments sitting in front of my master, and he went inside²⁸⁹. He was only looking at her and he went inside. And tea was served, and he was nowhere. Who could take tea? He was there, inside. Then afterwards, he came out and he told me that he had held this dhāranā there.

You have to imagine that your skull is as broad as the ākāśa and [that] the ākāśa is situated in your skull (it is just imagination), and bhairavatvena bhāvayet, you should consider that this ākāśa in your skull is full of the Bhairava state (bhairavatvena bhāvayet). Bāhyāloka means svarūpa āloka. Bāhyāloka does not mean all the prakāśa from outside. Bāhyāloka means svarūpa āloka.

DEVOTEE: Internal *tejas*²⁹⁷?

SWAMIJI: Internal *deha*²⁹⁸.

DEVOTEE: Why does he use the word “external”?

SWAMIJI: Bāhya? Because it is bāhya, because the impression is bāhya. In the dreaming state, the impression comes from bāhya. It is āloka. Āloka is the important factor here. Āloka means, when that appears to you, when bāhya appears in the dreaming state. Because you experience that bāhya in your āloka, in your own prakāśa, in your own thought—that is a dream. Bāhya means, the outside world, the āloka of the outside world.²⁹⁹ Where is the āloka of the outside world?

DEVOTEE: In svapna.

SWAMIJI: In svapna. In the dreaming state. You dream only those dreams which you have already seen in wakefulness.

* . . . tamah punah, and then absolute darkness (punah, and then, in the end—punah tamah), . . . *

Tamah means, absolute darkness. That is dreamless [sleep]. When you don't dream at all, that is dreamless susupti.

Kiñcit jñātvā dvaitadāyī, this state of *jāgrat avasthā*³⁰⁰, and bāhyāloka means the state of svapna (the dreaming state), tamah punah, and, in the end, the darkness of the dreamless state. Viśvādi bhairavam rūpam, and that will begin from viśva-viśva, tejas, and prājña. “Viśva” will go to wakefulness, “taijas” will go to the dreaming state, and “prājña” will go to susupti (the dreamless state).

* . . . in this way, after knowing viśva, tejas, and prājña, viśvādi bhairavam rupam jñātvā, you must think that viśva is not separate from Bhairava (the world of wakefulness is not separate from your God consciousness), the world of the dreaming state is not separate from your God consciousness (Self-consciousness), and, in the end, that dreamless state is not separated from the Self-consciousness. After knowing this way (jñātvā), ananta prakāśa bhṛt, he enters in the infinite prakāśa, the infinite prakāśa of transcendental universal consciousness (ananta prakāśa). He enters in the unmīlanā state in an instant—unmīlanā.³⁰¹

DEVOTEE: But first in nimīlanā.

SWAMIJI: First nimīlanā.

DEVOTEE: At what stage is nimīlanā here?

SWAMIJI: Jñātvā.³⁰² Jñātvā will go in nimīlanā and ananta

²⁹⁹ “Bāhyāloka means svarūpāloka: svarūpa āloka, bāhya āloka. It is not Pāṇini’s grammar that can give a solution to this.” Vijnāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

³⁰⁰ Wakefulness.

³⁰¹ See Appendix for an explanation of nimīlinā and unmīlanā.

³⁰² Nimīlanā is knowing (jñātvā) that God consciousness (Bhairava) pervades the three states of waking, etc.

*prakāśa bhṛt*³⁰³ is its fruit. [The yogi] enters in God consciousness in wakefulness, in dreaming, and in the dreamless state.

DEVOTEE: What is the nature of this knowing? How does he know that? What practice is there here? What sort of practice is this? How does he know that waking state, dreaming state, and dreamless state are one with Bhairava?

SWAMIJI: No, it is sāktopāya.

DEVOTEE: Since it is through aham iti parāmarśaḥ?

SWAMIJI: Yes, aham iti parāmarśanam.

DEVOTEE: Self-awareness.

SWAMIJI: *Aham iti parāmarśanam kāryam.*³⁰⁴ And because it is ānava [upāya]. In the beginning, it is ānava, because there are three states, three different states. Where there are three different states concerned, it is ānava, and it will go to sāmbhava in the end.

DEVOTEE: He thinks these in succession?

SWAMIJI: Yes.

DEVOTEE: But, how can he develop that awareness in the prājña state?

SWAMIJI: In prājña? The dreamless state?

DEVOTEE: How does he develop that awareness there?

SWAMIJI: When he enters in the center of the two.

DEVOTEE: Between sleep and . . . ?

SWAMIJI: Sleep and wakefulness, wakefulness and sleep, sleep and sound sleep.

DEVOTEE: He is aware of that point.

SWAMIJI: Yes, he must be aware.

This is ānava sentenced to the sāmbhava state (sāmbhavopāya and its state—unmīlanā).

GURTOO: [In Kashmiri]: We need the next explanation. Bāhyālokas have already explained but brahmālokas you have not explained.

³⁰³ Unmīlanā is bearing or possessing (bhṛt) the eternal (ananta) light of God consciousness (prakāśa).

³⁰⁴ The application (kāryam) of Self-awareness (aham iti parāmarśanam) in the three states of wakefulness, etc.

SWAMIJI:

SWAMIJI: That is not liberation. You will be stuck there. That is brahmāloka.

ERNIE: But then, how can unlimited Brahman . . . how could you be stuck if you were in unlimited Brahman?

SWAMIJI: So you have to go further. [Brahmāloka] is the pathway.

ERNIE: What is further than unlimited?

SWAMIJI: Viśvādi bhairavam rūpam: from viśva, taijas, and prājña,³⁰⁵ this is the Bhairava state, this is all the Bhairava state. It is *kiñcit jñātam dvaitadāyī*³⁰⁶: viśva, and then there is prājña, and then there is taijas. Taijas is brahmāloka. But you have to go further ahead.

ERNIE: No, but you are saying that you go through the limited world (internal), . . .

SWAMIJI: Internal.

ERNIE: . . . then you go through unlimited . . .

SWAMIJI: . . . state of God consciousness.

ERNIE: How could you get stuck in the unlimited state of God consciousness?

 bhairavam rūpameṣyati // 87 //*

Sometimes you see there is durniśā (durniśā means, that night when it is raining tremendously). And that night must not be with the moon. Kṛṣṇa pakṣāgame, it must be a dark night without a moon, without moonlight, because there is some impression of moonlight also in those clouds when there is a moon on that rainy night. When there is no moon, then it is absolutely dark. Evameva, in this way, durniśāyām, on a rainy night, kṛṣṇa pakṣāgame, and in kṛṣṇa pakṣa (kṛṣṇa pakṣa means, the dark fortnight), ciram taimiram bhāvayan rūpam, and this rain must continue for hours, and—what you have to do?—you open your eyes in that darkness. Put off all your lights in the room, open the windows, and see outside with the eyes wide open. Taimiram bhāvayan rūpam, then you must think that this whole atmosphere is full of the *taimira rūpa*³⁰⁸ of Bhairava [and that] it is all Bhairava dancing outside. [Then] bhairavam vapur āpnuyāt, one enters in the state of Bhairava, [the yogi] becomes one with Bhairava.

DEVOTEE: Is it necessary that there should be rain?

SWAMIJI: There should be rain³⁰⁹ because the continuity of that sound of rain, rainfall, will carry you there swiftly. When there is no rainfall, then there will be other sounds also to interfere with your meditation, your contemplation. Your meditation will be carried by the continuous sound of that rainfall.

³⁰⁸ The dark (tamira) formation (rūpa).

This is sāktopāya. This is not sāmbhavopāya.

DEVOTEE: If a yogi was to meditate solely upon the absolute blackness in his room, if he were to go to Sonamarg³¹⁰, somewhere high...?

SWAMIJI: That is also. That can be.

DEVOTEE: But if there is no impression, just darkness, is that of sāmbhavopāya? If there is just void, just darkness, and there is no sound, there is nothing, and he is just aware of that voidness?

SWAMIJI: Then you will be situated in sāmbhavopāya.

DEVOTEE: It's [sāktopāya] because of rain and that sound?

SWAMIJI: Yes, because you have to take the support of that sound. There you are taking the support of sound.³¹¹ Sāmbhavopāya is soundless.

DEVOTEE: No support?

SWAMIJI: No, there is no support.

³¹⁰ Sonamarg is a mountainous area in Kashmir.

Evameva, in this way, nimīlyādau netre, ādau netre nimīlya, first close your eyes. Don't close [them] by pressing your eyelids. Close [them] calmly without pressing your eyelids. Agrataḥ kṛṣṇābhām dhyātvā (dhyātvā is to be [done]; it is [implied] there³¹²), agrataḥ, at first you must think that tamo rūpam bhairavam dhyātvā (kṛṣṇābhām means, tamo rūpam bhairavam, kṛṣṇābhām bhairava), [it is] full of darkness—dark Bhairava!

After closing your eyes, you see nothing but darkness. If you press your eyelids with pressure, then you will see some white spots also in that darkness—that you should avoid. Don't press your eyelids at that moment. Only close your eyelids peacefully, calmly. Then, for a considerable period, you have to meditate on that darkness and feel that this is the state of Bhairava, [that] this darkness is Bhairava, the vacuum of Bhairava.

Then prasārya, then you should abruptly open your eyes and, if you don't see anything before you, then your meditation is successful. If you see again these spots and things in that room or in front of you, then your meditation is not complete, then you have to close your eyes again and meditate on that Bhairava state of darkness. If that darkness persists after opening your eyes, then this meditation is complete, otherwise it is not complete—you must [know] that this meditation has not proved successful.

Bhairavam rūpam bhāvayam, and, after opening your eyes, when you see nothing in front of you, [then] you continue this meditation there also, that, “This is Bhairava.” Outside also is Bhairava, not only inside when your eyes were closed. Outside also is Bhairava, the state of Bhairava.

DEVOTEE: But the yogi is not seeing a particular pot, or . . . ?

SWAMIJI: If he sees particular pots, finished, this is an incomplete dhāraṇā; this process is incomplete [and] you have to repeat it again and again. You have to repeat it again and again so that that contemplation of that darkness prevails for some period.

DEVOTEE: But if he has the idea, “Now I shall open my eyes”, surely that will break his meditation. Would that not break his meditation?

SWAMIJI: It won’t break his meditation, but he must see, he has to perceive, that outside also there is nothing but darkness.

DEVOTEE: Nothing but darkness?

SWAMIJI: Darkness, dark vacuum, nothing. This is [from] the intensity of *bhāvana*³¹³ inside, when your eyes were closed. When it prevails for some period (i.e., that darkness), open your eyes at once and see [that] outside also there must be darkness. If darkness prevails outside also, then you are Bhairava, you have entered in the state of Bhairava.

DEVOTEE: This meditation should not be performed in darkness because otherwise . . .

SWAMIJI: No, not darkness.

DEVOTEE: But when there is light, when you close your eyes, you don’t perceive . . .

SWAMIJI: Light must not be [too bright]. It must not be daylight. The light must be very dim, dim light, because you have to meditate in dim light [for] this practice, in your room.

Bhāvayam stanmaya bhavet, [he] becomes one with that Bhairava state of darkness.

This is sāktopāya.

Here you have to note that you have to meditate on the very starting sensation³¹⁵ of that strike. When you enter in that and contemplate on that, you enter in that supreme state of voidness.

abindumavisargam ca akāram japato mahān / udeti devi sahasā jñānaughah parameśvarah // 90 //

This is śāktopāya with āñava's touch in the beginning.

Abindum avisargam ca akāram japato mahān. Just take 'ah', the letter 'ah', or the letter 'm' in any mantra (in some mantras, the letter 'ah' is recited; in some mantras, the letter 'm' is recited), [but] don't recite there the letter 'm' or the letter 'ah'. Without *visarga*³¹⁶, recite this [mantra] without visarga [or] recite this [mantra] without 'm'.

So it will be the carrier to cakita mudrā, the carrier towards cakita mudrā.

DEVOTEE: Bhairavī mudrā?

SWAMIJI: It is not Bhairavī mudrā exactly. Bhairavī mudrā is when all your organs are wide open. [Here], it is only with the mouth, the recitation of 'a'. You have to recite 'a' without visarga [or] without 'm-kāra'.

DEVOTEE: Internal recitation?

SWAMIJI: No, outside [recitation]. It is not 'a-a-a', it is not long 'ā'. It is 'aṁ' and 'ah'.

So it is only cakita mudrā, the astonishing pose, the astonishing pose when you open your mouth. This is part of cakita mudrā.

DEVOTEE: This is how cakita mudrā is created?

SWAMIJI: Yes, cakita mudrā is created. If it does not happen, when there is nothing so much amusing to you, ³¹⁶ The letter 'ah'.

cakita mudrā won't take place. But you must give rise to cakita mudrā by this. When you open your mouth, just open your mouth, that is all—that is 'a'. Open your mouth abruptly. Don't recite anything because it is only 'a'. It can't be recited because it is without 'm' and without visarga (abindum avisargam ca akāram japataḥ).

[Then] sahasā—O Devī!—sahasā, in an instant, mahān jñānaughah parameśvarah udeti, the supreme Parameśvara³¹⁷ rises, Who is flooded with knowledge (jñānaughah; jñānaughah means, who is flooded with knowledge of God consciousness).

Firstly, there is ānava's touch, but in the end, it is śāktopāya, pure śāktopāya.

DEVOTEE: Cakita mudrā is normally in śāktopāya?

SWAMIJI: Yes, it is śāktopāya. And that cakita mudrā, one [other] cakita mudrā, is in śāmbhavopāya.

DEVOTEE: Which one is that?

SWAMIJI: Automatic, automatic cakita mudrā.

DEVOTEE: Same as Bhairavī mudrā?

SWAMIJI: Yes, the same as Bhairavī mudrā. When you are astonished, when you become astonished by seeing something new [and] you enter in cakita mudrā, that is śāmbhavopāya. When you give rise to cakita mudrā, you are in śāktopāya. [This] cakita mudrā belongs to śāktopāya and that automatic cakita mudrā belongs to śāmbhavopāya.³¹⁸

DEVOTEE: And this is that . . . ?

SWAMIJI: This [dhāraṇā] is śāktopāya, with ānava's touch in the beginning.

DEVOTEE: If the yogi beholds some beautiful thing, . . .

SWAMIJI: Yes.

DEVOTEE: . . . can he not go into the state of cakita mudrā in śāktopāya there?

SWAMIJI: Not beautiful. When it is hideous, when you see some hideous thing, then you will go to cakita mudrā.

DEVOTEE: Hideous?

SWAMIJI: Hideous, furious, terrifying thing. When you see ³¹⁷ Lord Śiva, Bhairava.

³¹⁸ See also commentary on verse 77.

Manual for Self Realization

some terrifying figure, then you will enter in cakita mudrā. [There], cakita mudrā will be produced in śāmbhavopāya.

DEVOTEE: It must not be real fear? If there is real fear, then he is finished. It must be just that flavor of surprise?

SWAMIJI: No, real fear.

DEVOTEE: But if he is really afraid, then he is in vikalpa?

SWAMIJI: No, real fear. For instance, when he sees a lion in front of him, he will go into cakita mudrā. When he goes into cakita mudrā, the lion will not touch him at all [because] he is Bhairava!

वर्णस्य सविसर्गस्य

varṇasya savisargasya visargāntam cittim kuru / sprśedbrahma sanātanam // 91 //

Varnasya savisargasya, [recite] any letter which has got a visarga in the end, e.g., ‘kah’, ‘khah’, ‘pah’, ‘cah’—it has got two bindus in the end.³¹⁹ Any letter, take any letter. Recite this, recite this only once. For instance, ‘kah’: you have not to think of ‘ka’, you have to think of that ending visarga, ‘ah’. That ‘ah’ is not real because ‘ah’ is only when ‘a’ is with this [‘h’].

You have to do varṇasya savisargasya. Take any savisarga varṇa, [any letter] which has got a visarga in the end, [and] visargāntam cittim kuru, just put consciousness in the visarga, not [in] that varṇa. Nirādhārena cittena, the mind will become nirādhāra, the mind will have no place to sit. Because ‘ah’ has got a place . . . as long as ‘ah’ is concerned and as long as ‘kah’ is concerned, there is a place for the mind to get established, but where will that [mind get established in] visarga? The mind has no place to exist. So nirādhāra, the mind becomes nirādhāra, without any establishment. It is not established. The mind becomes without being established anywhere.³²⁰

319 In Sanskrit, the visarga (‘ah’) is written as a colon.

320 Swamiji gives another example by knocking on the desk saying, “This sound will carry you to sāmbhavopāya, the end of this sound. You can’t recite it. Can you recite it? Can you recite the sound of this string instrument? Can you recite the sound of the birds? No, no, you can’t recite it. When that varṇa is recited, it can’t carry you to the sāmbhava state. Only that sound will carry you to JOHN: Visarga is like a soundless letter?

SWAMIJI: No, it is something, it is something. It can be found in consciousness. It cannot be recited. In consciousness, you can experience it, what is ‘h’ [without an] ‘a’. Just recite it! You cannot recite it! Can you recite it? You cannot recite visarga only; pure visarga you cannot recite. Visarga you can recite only when there is upādhi, when there is something attached with it: ‘ka’ or ‘a’ or ‘ca–‘chah’, ‘khaḥ’. Just [try and] recite visarga.

DENISE: ‘Aḥ’ [laughter].

SWAMIJI: ‘Aḥ’ not-not ‘a’.

JAGDISH: ‘A’ is there.

SWAMIJI: It must be only [‘h’]. It is supposed to be kāma tattva.³²¹

GEORGE: Because you can’t recite anything without ‘a’.

SWAMIJI: No [affirmative]. It comes out there at the time of sexual intercourse, that ‘h’ (visarga), only visarga, śuddha visarga, but nobody can catch it, nobody can catch it. All are duffers there.³²²

Nirādhārena cittena, you should keep your mind nirādhāra (without support), then you will enter in the supreme śāmbhavopāya which is not recite-able. When it is an automatic sound [Swamiji knocks on the desk], this sound will carry you to śāmbhavopāya. [On the other hand], ‘om’, this sound, the end of this sound, will carry you to śāktopāya. ‘Om namah śivāya’, this sound too will carry you to śāktopāya. So, this ‘om namah śivāya’ is inferior to this [Swamiji knocks on the table] from the Shaiva point of view.” Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

321 “In the Kulaguhvara Tantra, this visarga is nominated as kāma tattva, the essence of kāma. Kāma means icchā (will); tattva means “the essence” of will. The essence of will is without producing it, when will is not produced. When will is produced, that is desire; when will rises, that is kāma.” Tantrāloka 3.146, (USF archives).

322 Pure (śuddha) visarga. “And when you hear that sound [of visarga] from your beloved, at that moment, if you are a yogi, tatra cittam samādhāya, when you put your mind fully aware on that sound, vaśayet yugapat jagat (Abhinavagupta has put only “jagat”), . . . the whole universe will be under your control if you produce and maintain that awareness on that sound at that moment.” Ibid., 3.147.

Your body is absolutely void, without the sensation of sides. There are no sides at all. That is digbhir anāvṛtam; anāvṛtam, not supported by dik (dik means “sides”).

And this way, when your energy of God consciousness becomes nirāśraya (nirāśraya means, without any support), when your God consciousness is support-less, it remains support-less, that God consciousness reveals to you Her³²⁴ real nature (svarūpam darśayet tada).

This is śāktopāya. This can't be āñavopāya because you have to concentrate on your body, that your body is only a void, nothing else.

When any desire comes in your mind, let it come, let it flow out. As soon as this desire flows out, put an end to it at once. Don't let it function at all. As soon as it begins to function, let this functioning be seized by your force of concentration, awareness. And then, wherefrom this desire had risen, it is dissolved in that point again, and then you enter in that desire-lessness.

DEVOTEE: Is that desire to be resisted, sir?

SWAMIJI: Not resisted—abolished, because it is that point of beginning. It must flow out. That energy, when it flows out, at the point when it flows out—it has not [yet] flown—it begins to flow and then stop it, at that very moment.

This is sāmbhavopāya. This is not sāktopāya. This is sāmbhavopāya because, at that very first start of desire, you enter in the desire-less state, the thought-less state of God consciousness.

I am without desire and without cognition and without the state of the individual state. Concentrate your mind on your will when it is about to flow out; not when it has flown out, when it is about to flow—icchāyām. Or, concentrate your mind on your knowledge when it is about to flow out. When it has flown out, then nothing will come, nothing will happen, you won't achieve anything. Just at that very point when it flows out, put your awareness there, let your awareness be fixed there. When your awareness is fixed on that very first start of desire and knowledge, by your own thought-less intellectual awareness, ātma buddhya ānanya cetā, then the essence of truth is revealed (tatas tattvārtha darśanam; tattvārtha means “truth”, the essence of truth is darśanam, revealed).

It is the next process.

This objective cognition (jñānam means, objective cognition), this field of objective cognition, has no cause to rise. How it rises, it is a wonder. This field of objective cognition is nirādhāram (baseless), it has no support, it is without support. So how it rises? It is a wonder. Hence, it is *bhramātmakam*³³⁰. It is only [that] you feel the rise of this cognition, but objective cognition does not rise at all. The field of objective cognition is rising in you—in the daily routine of your life, objective cognition rises in you always—but in fact, it does not rise at all because it is nirnimittam, it has no cause to rise. How it rises? It has no support. If it is there, so it is an illusion (bhramātmakam), it is only an illusion. The rise of cognition of the objective field is an illusion. It is an illusive perception if this perception is not a real perception.

This is what He says in this process.

In fact, kasyacit na etat, in fact, for those who are not realized souls and for those who are realized souls, for both these classes, this objective consciousness, the question of objective consciousness, does not [actually] arise.

GANJOO: For both of them?

SWAMIJI: For both of them.

GANJOO: In reality?

330 Confusion, perplexity, error, mistake.

Manual for Self Realization

SWAMIJI: In reality, in fact.

Evambhāvī, in this way, when you contemplate and put your awareness like that, you become one with Śiva, one with that universal God consciousness, I-consciousness.³³¹

This is sāktopāya. This can't be sāmbhavopāya.

³³¹ "You have put this illusive I-ness on this objective consciousness. From your birth to innumerable births, you have created this perception of objectivity. Objective perception is not at all established there. I-consciousness is to be taken in God consciousness, and God consciousness will be diluted and merged in universal I-consciousness. There, you are at home." Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

Sarva deheṣu, in all the bodies, [in the body] of an insect, a tiny, feeble insect, and in the body of Brahma—in the body of an insect (kīṭa) and in the body of Brahma—from an insect to Brahma, in all the bodies, the state of consciousness is the same, without any difference. Viśeṣo nāsti kutracit, there is no difference in caitanya (consciousness) in that small [creature], that tiny ant, or germ, or worm, or in the body of Brahma, or in the body of the sun.

So, this way, when any sādhaka puts awareness that cetanā is the same in each and every object, he conquers the duality of the objective world; he rises from duality to the monistic state of God consciousness.

This is also śāktopāya.

When the fire of sex rises in you and the fire of wrath rises in you—when the fire of *kāma*³³² rises in you and the fire of wrath (krodha)—and the fire of lobha, . . .

Lobha is . . .

DEVOTEE: Greed.

SWAMIJI: Yes, greed.

. . . and the fire of confusion (when you are confused, absolutely confused, totally confused), and when you are absolutely intoxicated (mada), and when your body is full of hatred towards the person who is sitting before you (mātsarya gocare)—do you know what to do there?—buddhim nistimitām krtvā, put the awareness of your intellect the same in all these; buddhim nistimitām krtvā, the same and without any interruption of agitation. Don't let your mind be agitated by these (buddhim nistimitām krtvā; nistimitām means, motionless, without agitation). Your mind must remain in an un-agitated state.

DEVOTEE: Within excitement.

SWAMIJI: [With the] rise of excitement, not in the excitement; when the excitement is [about] to rise, at the point of rising; when krodha is just [about] to start, [when] the fire of krodha is [about] to rise.³³³ When it has risen, then [the yogi] is lost; then he is lost and he can't control his mind, he can't control his intellect, he can't control his ego—he is finished! He has ruined all the states of these internal organs. These are internal organs: mind, intellect, and ego. These are also organs. The ego is also an organ.

³³² Swamiji is using “kāma” here in the sense of kāma tattva, or the rise of the sexual impulse (see verse 91).

It is why saints are broad-minded just like the sky, saints are broad-minded just like the ocean. Big tides do not agitate them. Big tides of the ocean do not agitate them. Big flows of these—wrath, kāma, lobha, *moha*³³⁴—do not agitate them. They are the same, they remain the same.

When [the yogi] puts his un-agitated consciousness on the point of [the rising of] these states, that supreme Lord is revealed (tat tattvam avaśiṣyate, that supreme Lord is revealed to him).

This is sāmbhavopāya. This can't be śāktopāya because it is just at the rise of krodha—the rise.

DEVOTEE: There is no thought here.

SWAMIJI: There is no thought.

DEVOTEE: Only awareness.

SWAMIJI: This is the thought-less field.

DEVOTEE: Only awareness?

SWAMIJI: Only awareness, so it is sāmbhava.

indrajālamayam viśvam nyastam³³⁵ vā citrakarmavat / bhramadvā dhyāyataḥ sarvam paśyataśca sukhodgamaḥ // 102 //

This whole universe is a world of magic. This is a magician's world, this is not the real world. Indrajāla mayam viśvam, just imagine that this whole universe is only magic, a magic trick, [that] it has no substance in it, no substance of its own, except God consciousness. This *viśva*³³⁶ is only just a magician's trick.

Do you know who is the great magician? The Lord Himself is the great magician. He has put this trick and placed this trick before us, and we are differentiated in [this universe] although we are undifferentiated. It seems that we are differentiated from each other.

DEVOTEE: Although undifferentiated.

SWAMIJI: Although we are undifferentiated. In fact, we are undifferentiated.

DEVOTEE: But also, in fact, we are differentiated because it's His Self-expression.

SWAMIJI: We are expanded, we are not differentiated. This is only the expansion of one's [undifferentiated] Self, this is not the differentiated-ness of one's Self.³³⁷

³³⁵ Swamiji corrected “vyastam” to read “nyastam”.

³³⁶ Universe.

³³⁷ “Appearance in expansion, not differentiated-ness. This is Shaivism. This whole universe is the vikāsa (expansion) of your own Self. This is not māyā, this is not an illusion. This is only the expansion of your own nature.” Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio

So this expansion, if you perceive [it] as differentiated, in a differentiated formation, that is *indrajāla*³³⁸, that is only the trick played by Lord Śiva to get you confused. You are confused, you don't know what to do there. You think that he is your enemy, he is your friend, she is your daughter, he is your son, he is your . . . , and you are lost in that magician's trick.

Or, imagine that this is only a painting in one's own Self, [that] this whole universe is only a painting of one's own Self (nyastam vā citrakarmavat; nyastam, it is a very well-drawn painting).

Brahmat vā dhyāyataḥ sarvam, or just imagine that this whole universe is not stationary, [that] it is moving. It is moving from one point to another point, from one point to another point. It is moving (bhramat; bhramat means, it is moving). It is in its move. It is not destroyed. When one is dead, don't say that he is destroyed. He has moved from one point to another point. When one is young—a boy, a child—and he becomes [a youth], he moves from childhood to youth, from youth to old age, from old age to death, from death to the next birth. It is movement. So it is only a movie, a great movie, a movie picture.

When one perceives and contemplates this way, then the state of real bliss takes place (dhyāyataḥ paśyataśca sukhodgamah, the rise of bliss takes place).

This is śāktopāya.³³⁹

DEVOTEE: Is this perceived by the mind or by the "I"?

SWAMIJI: You mean the perceiver, who is the perceiver? The perceiver is thought, not mind. Perceiving is the functioning of the mind, but the perceiver is thought. Mind is that individual being who has got differentiated perception.

(USF archives).

338 The net (jāla) of illusion.

339 "First dhyāna and then sākṣatkāra (realization), because there are two states. It is why it is śāktopāya. If it was only dhyāna and [the simultaneous realization of] sukhodgamah, then it would be sāmbhavopāya. [It is śāktopāya] because it is first dhyāna, you have just to contemplate on it, and then perceive it in your perception, and then that real state of bliss will rise." Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

Thought is the desire-less state of that mind. Thought is just nearing that ātmā, the state of ātmā. That is the difference between thought and the mind. Thought is nirvikalpa, the mind is savikalpa.³⁴⁰

340 Thought is thought-less (nirvikalpa) and the mind is thought-full (savikalpa). “*Vṛtti parāmarśa is the mind and śakti parāmarśa is thought. Vṛtti parāmarśa goes [away] when your parāmarśa is developed in full awareness, then it takes the formation of śakti parāmarśa. When that awareness [of śakti parāmarśa] is trodden down, then it takes the formation of vṛtti parāmarśa and you are in the mind, you are roaming in the mind then. Otherwise, you are shining in thought, not roaming in thought. [Either] you are shining in thought [or] you are roaming in the mind (or wandering in the mind).” Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives). Parāmarśa* literally means, seizing or pulling; remembrance, recollection, or reflection. In Kashmir Shaivism, it is used in the sense of “awareness” (viz., vimarśa). So, vṛtti parāmarśa (viz., the mind) is the awareness of the flux (vṛtti) of thoughts and śakti parāmarśa (viz., thought) is the awareness of the energy (śakti) behind the flux.

Then where to put it? We have to put our mind somewhere.

Jñāyatām madhye, You know that the mind must be put in-between these two, where there is the center of pain and pleasure. Where the pain is risen and pleasure has ended, when pleasure has risen and pain has ended, there You must put Your mind, there You must put Your awareness. Then You will see what reality of truth will be revealed to You (bhairavi jñāyatām madhye kim tattvam avaśisyate).

First do practice between pain and pleasure. Then, if you are not successful, do it again, do it again, do it again—one hundred times, one thousand times, in two lives, in four lives, in ten lives, in innumerable lives. DO IT! But do it now, begin it from now.

Ghaṭādau yacca vijñānam icchādyam vā mamāntare. This is a pot. This is a bottle. This bottle is situated in [itself]. This bottle is not situated in my consciousness because, if this bottle would have been situated in my consciousness, then I would perceive this bottle always, [but] I perceive this bottle only when I see this bottle. So, this bottle is [only] this bottle—this bottle is there—and that perception of this bottle is [only] in me. Ghaṭādau yacca vijñānam, in this pot, this *ghaṭa*³⁴³ is there. And icchādyam is in me; icchādyam (thinking of this, desiring for this, making use of this) is existing in my consciousness. The actual existence of this object is there [in the object itself], and this using of this object, or misusing of this object, or perceiving of this object, is in my consciousness. [But] in fact, this [particular] object is not existing at all, and this [particular] desire for this object, or using of this object for some purpose, is not existing in me at all.

Then where is it?

This consciousness is everywhere (sarva gatam jātam). This consciousness of the objective world and this consciousness of the subjective world is not only in these two things—it is everywhere. Because, [if] this objective pot (e.g., this bottle) would be only there [in itself, we must account for the fact that] when I go to dream, I will see this bottle again. And [so] this bottle is there [in my dream], this bottle is in my bedroom also (I am perceiving that bottle also), so it is everywhere. This bottle is everywhere and this desire is also everywhere. Only this is a trick of that Magician that it has [been] put in only two places. The re-placement of these, from individuality to universality, is to be done by the sādhaka. We have to re-place it in its real way—I mean, in our consciousness. In our consciousness, we have to re-place this object in each and every object.

In the prathamābhāsa state, in the first start of this consciousness, there is no difference between [spectacles] and a bottle. And you have come to know, [according to] that *Pratyabhijñā*³⁴⁴ school of philosophy of Shaivism, that there is no difference [between] specs, the formation of specs, and the formation of this bottle, in that point. So specs is a bottle, a bottle is specs. I am Dina Nath Ganjoo, Dina Nath Ganjoo is myself.

So, sarva gatam jātam, my individual consciousness is universal consciousness. Actually, individual consciousness is universal consciousness, and one object is the universal object. Eka pramātā viśva pramātā, all individuals are one universal Being. Iti bhāvayan, when you contemplate with full awareness in this way, you become all-pervading. Then you don't find your body only at one place. Your body is everywhere and your objective world is everywhere.

This is also śāktopāya.

I mean, the mode, the way, in which we perceive, and the way in which this objective world is perceived, that way is the same in each and every being. Grāhya grāhaka samvittih, the knowledge and the mode of knowledge of the objective world and the subjective world is the same in each and every being. Only there is one exception in yogis, in realized souls, that the contact of objectivity and subjectivity is different in them. The contact of objectivity and subjectivity in yogis is divine. They remain fully aware in each and every act of this daily routine of life, the daily routine of action, the daily routine of vyavahāra.

When you see your wife, you are excited. When you see your enemy, you are not excited; the flood of wrath begins to rise in your mind because you want to hate this [enemy], you want to remove that [person] from your sight. This sambandha (this contact) of objectivity with your subjectivity is inferior. And yogis have not this kind of contact. They have got divinity in each and every contact.

And [ajñānāt is when] you want to assimilate that point in that book, but that [understanding] power is not there; only curiosity remains.

What happens in the end?

Go in that curiosity only. Just meditate on that curiosity in which you are floating without understanding anything. Citta layena vā, then your mind will not function.

Sampradāyam, this secret (sampradāya, secret trick), the technique of the pathway, O Devī, I am explaining to You vividly, perfectly.

Kaivalyam jāyate sadyo netrayoh stabdhamātrayoh. Just keep Your eyes open [but] don't see anything. [If You] keep Your eyes wide open [but] don't see anything, You will get freedom from repeated births and deaths, You will achieve the state of *mokṣa*³⁴⁷. Netrayoh stabdhamātrayoh, don't move the eyelids [and] go on looking but don't perceive anything.

³⁴⁷ Liberation.

This is one technique of sāmbhavopāya.

Another technique in the same way is: samkocam karnayoh krtvā hyadhodvāre tathaiva ca. Hyadhodvāre is the opening of the rectum. You squeeze it (samkoca; samkoca is just to squeeze it inside), and, at the same time, with your fingers, you close the opening of your ears—at the same time. Squeeze that organ of the rectum with the breath and close your ear openings with your fingers (samkocam karnayoh kṛtvā, that is closing your ears with your fingers, hyadhodvāre tathaiva ca, and—adhodvāre means, that rectum—you have to squeeze that rectum with the breath at the same time). Anackam ahalam dhyāyan, and then go on meditating on that sound which is neither a vowel nor a consonant (anackam means “vowel-less”; ahalam means “consonant-less”). You just see. It is easy. It is a practical thing. That sound in continuity you hear.

GURTOO: Like a stream flowing.

SWAMIJI: Like a stream. But you can't utter it, you can't utter that sound. You have to meditate upon it [and] viśed brahma sanātanam, you will get entry in that supreme eternal Brahma³⁴⁸.

This is sāmbhavopāya.

Kūpādike mahāgarte, just go and stand on the top of the well, mahāgarte sthitvā, which is a deep well. Upari nirikṣanāt, put your sight down to the bottom of that well and don't think anything; avikalpa mateḥ, don't let any other thoughts get entry in your mind. Sadyah, at that very moment, instantaneously, citta layah sphuṭam, your mind will not function. *yatra yatra mano yāti bāhye vābhyanṭare'pi vā /

Or, there is another technique. I will tell you another technique.

That is, yatra yatra mano yāti, keep your mind loose, keep your mind absolutely loose; don't control it, don't put any effort to control it. Keep your mind loose [in the] outside objective world and [in the] inside objective world. The outside objective world is when you perceive all these outside objective objects, when you perceive outward objects. And there are inward objects also, that is, sukha, duḥkha, . . .

GURTOO: And moha.

SWAMIJI: . . . moha. Sukha, duḥkha, moha, *viṣāda*³⁴⁹, all that, or excitement of sexual joy, that internal [excitement], those are internal objects. Keep your mind loose from both sides, internally and externally (yatra yatra mano yāti bāhye vā abhyantare api vā). Bāhye means, in the outside objective world. Abhyantare [means], the inside objective world. The inside objective world is grief, sorrow, sadness, joy, etcetera—these are also objects.

Tatra tatra śivāvasthā, when you put [your mind] loose and see that this is only the expansion of God, the expansion of your own consciousness, and that your consciousness is pervading outside, in the outside objective world and the inside objective world, where that state of Śiva bhāva will go? It is there!

It is śāmbhavopāya.

³⁴⁹ Pleasure (sukha), pain (duḥkha), delusion (moha), and depression (viṣāda).

yatra yatrākṣamārgena caitanyam vyajyate vibhoh / tasya tanmātradharmitvāc-cillayādbharitātmatā // 117 //

Or, there is another technique. It is a technique concerned with śāktopāya.

Yatra yatrākṣa mārgena, whatever you perceive through the channels of your perceptive organs, yatra yatra vibhoh caitanyam vyajyate, from every side you will find the presence of jñāna, the presence of perception, pure perception (that is, vibhoh caitanyam; vibhoh caitanyam means, the consciousness of the Lord). The consciousness of the Lord is found in each and every perception, through each and every channel of your organic world.³⁵⁰

Tasya tanmātra dharmitvāt, because, you must find out at that moment, when you perceive a pencil, when you perceive some object through your organs, when you perceive that, bas, just know that this perception exists on the basis of consciousness, on the basis of God consciousness. So, the [basis] of this perception is God consciousness. The aspect of perceiving smell, the aspect of perceiving the sensation of touch—śabda, sparśa, rūpa, rasa, and gandha—basically, the [basis] is caitanyam, the consciousness, God consciousness. God consciousness is handling in these perceptions. The basis is God consciousness.

³⁵⁰ Organic world refers to the five organs of cognition (jñānendriyas: smell, taste, sight, touch, and hearing), in the sense of the energy of seeing and the energy of hearing, etc., along with the three internal organs (antahkaranas: mind, ego, and intellect).

Vijñāna Bhairava

So, cit layāt, just dive deep in that consciousness. At the time of perceiving these objects, don't perceive [these objects]; go on, dive deep in that consciousness, which is the basis of all these perceptions, [and] bharitātmatā, you will become Bhairava, you will just become Bhairava.

This is śāktopāya.

DENISE: As if you are reliving it.

SWAMIJI: Yes, as you are perceiving that. Drṣṭe deśe manas tyajet; manas tyajet, you should put that mind there. “Tyajet” does not mean you should leave that. Focus that mind [in the memory].

There is another technique. That is, the intensity of love for God, the intensity [of devotion]—bhakti udrekā.

When there is the intensity of love, you can't understand anything else in this world. When there is the intensity of love for God, you won't recognize Viresh³⁵³, you won't recognize John, you won't recognize your body, you won't recognize anything in this world. Viraktasya, vairāgya (detachment) appears from all sides except for that intensity of love of God.

Bhakti udrekāt, by the intensity of love for the Lord, viraktasya, when detachment rises in your mind, yādrśī jāyate matih, and that position of your intellectual cycle at that time, the state of that intellectual cycle of yours, is [no longer] intellectual, is [no longer] the element of intellect in you, sā śaktih śāṅkarī, that is the energy of God consciousness. That intellect is transformed in the energy of God consciousness, and you should perceive that this energy is the real energy. [By] detachment, being detached from all sides because of the intensity of love towards the Lord, bhāvayet, you will find out that tataḥśivah, you will become one with Śiva.

This is śāmbhavopāya, the technique of śāmbhavopāya.

Vastvantare vedyamāne śanair vastusu śūnyatā. When you perceive something (e.g., you perceive this stand), at the time of the perception of this stand, don't think of this stand, think of what you have perceived before that (that is vastvantara; vastvantara is, another object which you have perceived already, before that). At the time of perceiving this present object, don't perceive this present object, go to that previous object. Vastvantare vedyamāne śanair vastuṣu śūnyatā, by doing this technique—what will happen?—you won't find, you won't perceive, anything in this world. You won't perceive anything. Śanair vastuṣu śūnyatā, all objects will melt in nothingness, by and by. Tāmeva manasā dhyātvā, and, through your mind, focus on that nothingness, how all these objects are dissolved in nothingness in the end.

Because, when I perceive Stephanie, [and] then I perceive Ellen, at the time of perceiving Ellen, I must perceive Stephanie. At the time I am perceiving Ernie, I must perceive Ellen. So it works like this, that everything becomes dissolved in nothingness. You don't perceive anything. When you perceive a pencil, you perceive this [previous object]; at the time of perceiving this, you perceive this; at the time of perceiving this, you perceive this. So you will neither perceive this, nor this, nor this. There will be only śūnya, nothingness. Nothingness will appear in you, in the cycle of the objective world—śanair vastuṣu śūnyatā tāmeva manasā dhyātvā.

[Then] vidito'pi, after going in the cycle of perception also,³⁵⁴ you will enter in the appeased position of God consciousness (praśāmyati; praśāmyati is the appeased state of God consciousness where there is nothing).

This is sāktopāya.

paro'stītyadvayā gatiḥ // 124 //*

This is sāktopāya. This is another technique of sāktopāya.

Sarvatra, you have to think sarvatra bhairavo bhāvah sāmānyeṣvapi gocaraḥ, [that] in ordinary (sāmānyeṣu means, in ordinary, ignorant persons also), in ordinary, ignorant persons also, when they act in their daily routine of life (they talk with each other, confidentially, in public, and everything), whatever they talk, they talk on the basis of God consciousness.

“Where are you going?” “I will do that.” This is the gocari bhāva of God consciousness [that] they have, [that] they have possessed. They have possessed the perception of God consciousness at the time of their daily routine of hānādānādi vyavahāra, the daily routine of life. Because, in each and every point of your daily routine of activities, daily activities, God consciousness is not ignored. Sāmānyeṣu api, in ignorant persons also, it is gocaraḥ, it is known.

It is also said in Vedānta:

*utainam gopā adrśannutainamudahāryaḥ /
utainam viśvā bhūtāni sa drṣṭo mr̥dayāti nah //*³⁵⁵

God is realized by everybody. God is realized by ignorant people. God is realized by those who have nothing to do with God—they have realized that God. And those who are only engrossed in the activity of household activities (they know nothing else), they have also realized God. So, drṣṭah, he is realized; from all sides he is realized. Let him elevate us.

355 See Vijñāna Bhairava, KSTS vol. 8, p109.

In the same way, He says, sarvatra bhairavo bhāvah sāmānyeṣvapi gocarah, in ignorant persons also, this is realized. The Bhairava bhāva (the state of Bhairava) is realized by ignorant persons also.

Because you must dive deep in this [so] that na ca tad vyatir-ekena paro asti, there is nothing existing outside that God consciousness. By realizing that, advayā gatiḥ, you'll get entry in that oneness of God consciousness.

This is śāktopāya.

When there is some object to be meditated upon, that will be sāktopāya or ānavopāya. Here it is sāmbhavopāya; the one hundred and twenty-seventh śloka is the technique of sāmbhavopāya.

Yat avedyam, that which is not an object, that which has not come in objectivity, [and] yat agrāhyam, that which is not realized, perceived (that which is beyond perception, that is agrāhyam), [and] yat śūnyam, that which is void, it is nothing, [and] yat abhāvagam, [that] which has melted in absolute nothingness, tat sarvam bhairavam, that is Bhairava, that is the state of Bhairava. This is the state where you begin with sāktopāya and end in śāmbhavopāya. This technique, the one hundred and twenty-eighth [verse], is just to begin with sāktopāya and end in the śāmbhava state.

Nitye nirāśraye śūnye vyāpake kalanojjhite bāhyākāśe. This ether, just meditate upon the ether. Which ether? This *bāhyākāśa*³⁵⁸, that blueish-ness [of the ether]. In fact, this blueish-ness also does not exist there. You feel that blueish-ness, but it is just nothingness. This [ether] is not a blue color. This is nitya (eternal), it is always eternal. It won't be affected by Skylabs³⁵⁹. Nirāśraye, it has no ādhāra, it is not based on some support, it is support-less (that is nirāśraye). Śūnye, it is void, absolutely void. Vyāpake, and it is all-pervading, everywhere you find the state of ākāśa. Kalanojjhite, and there is nothing to be perceived in that, in this ākāśa.

When you go on realizing and diving deep in the state of this bāhyākāśa, put[ting] your mind on this bāhyākāśa, a time will come [when] you will get entry in that ākāśa which is beyond this bāhyākāśa. That is the supreme voidness of God consciousness.

So, at the time of entering in the supreme void of God consciousness, that is the śāmbhava state. Till then, it is ³⁵⁸ Lit., external (bāhyā) ether (ākāśa).

³⁵⁹ That is, it won't be affected by external phenomena.

Vijñāna Bhairava

sāktopāya because there is some support. In voidness, there is some support (i.e., that blueish-ness), but that blueish-ness also fades when you get entry in that supreme voidness of God consciousness.

Yatra yatra mano yāti, just leave your mind free, let it go wherever it goes. Wherever it wants to go, let it remain free (yatra yatra mano yāti). Tat tat tenaiva tatkṣaṇam parityajya, for instance, if it goes to these [spectacles], your mind goes to the specs, at that very moment, don't let [your mind] perceive those specs, tell [your mind] to do something else. Then [when your mind] will go to a book, tell him to do something else. Don't let [your mind] stay at the perception of the book. Let [your mind] go to something else. Parityajya, you should just push it from that point. Wherever the mind moves, push it on[to] [an]other object. And from [the] other object, push it to another object. Just disperse it. Just don't let it remain at one point. Tat tat tenaiva, tenaiva, by that very mind, tat kṣaṇam, at that very moment [of perceiving an object], parityajya, you should let it abandon that [perception]. Anavasthityā, so you should keep your mind anavasthita (anavasthita means, you should not let it remain at any point, rested). You have to leave your mind free, but follow your mind. You have to follow your mind. If it goes to one point, just don't allow it to function there. Tell it to go somewhere else, tell it to go somewhere else, tell it to go somewhere else, so it will remain without any support. When it becomes support-less, nistarāṅgastato, [the yogi] will get entry in the state where there are no tides, the tide-less state of God consciousness where there are no waves. That is the nirvikalpa state, the sāmbhava state.

So this is . . . here, you have to begin with sāktopāya and end in the sāmbhava [state].

*bhiyā sarvam ravayati

Just find out the meaning of “bhairava”. When you want to find out the meaning of “bhairava”, you have to explain these three letters of “bhairava”: “bha”, “ra”, and “va”. “Bha” means, threat, fear. “Ra” means, screaming, crying. “Va” means, all-pervading, present—the presence of God consciousness. There you find the presence of God consciousness. When you scream [to God] in fear, God is there.

BRUCE: Does it mean the intensity of that experience?

SWAMIJI: The intensity of that fear. The fear that [causes one to scream], “O God, protect me! I am finished! I am ruined!”

BRUCE: Why is it at that moment that God consciousness is more accessible?

SWAMIJI: Because when you want It . . . when you scream, you want It. It means you are screaming for wanting the support of God. You just scream and God is there.

ERNIE: But then why wouldn’t it be also available to you if you didn’t cry, if you were afraid, but didn’t . . . ?

SWAMIJI: But you don’t want to have It. There, you don’t want to have It. When you scream [for It], you want to have It. When you cry [for It], you want to have It. There is the urge for having That support. If you don’t scream [for God], there is no urge for having that God to support you.

³⁶⁰ Swamiji corrected “bhayā” to read “bhiyā” and “sarvado” to read “sarvago”.

ERNIE: So really, this is just about fear.

SWAMIJI: Fear, yes.

ERNIE: This technique is just about fear.

SWAMIJI: When you are afraid, He is your refuge.

BRUCE: But you don't . . . it's not a mental; you do not think that you want Him and then you scream. It's automatic.

SWAMIJI: No, it is just the explanation of "bhairava", what is the state of Bhairava. "Bhairava" means, when you are afraid and scream [to Him], He is there. Vyāpakaḥ means, He is pervading, He is there.

Iti bhairava śabdasya, when you find out and when you want to explain, discriminate, the state of Bhairava, this word "bhairava", samtatoccāraṇāt, in continuity, you will become Bhairava. When you become yourself Bhairava, what fear is there?

This is sāktopāya.

This is śāktopāya ending in the śāmbhava [state]. Ending in śāmbhava is, tad dhyāna preraṇāt śamī, when you get that blissful sound state of appeasement, perfect appeasement, where you have nothing to do—that is the perfect state of appeasement, that is the śāmbhava state.

Now, you have to begin with śāktopāya. That is, aham mama idam ityādi pratipatti prasaṅgataḥ. “Prasaṅgataḥ” here [does not mean] “by prasaṅgataḥ”, it [means] “in prasaṅgataḥ”. Prasaṅgataḥ means, in all these prasaṅgeṣu, in all these happenings. Which happenings? “I am Lakshmanjoo”, “Mine is Denise”, “Viresh is my son”, “Stephanie is my disciple”, all these things. These (pratipatti means “perceptions”), all these perceptions, in the state of all these perceptions, when you keep your mind support-less (nirādhāram), . . .*

Without Viresh, without your friend, without your husband, without your wife, you should keep your mind away from these perceptions—“This is mine”, “This is not mine”. You have to remove personal I-ness from all these things: “This is mine”, “This is not mine”, “This is my money”, “This is not my money”, all those things.

ERNIE: Discrimination.

SWAMIJI: Discrimination, discriminating perceptions. And ³⁶¹ Swamiji corrected “nirādhāre mano yāti” to read “nirādhāram mano kṛtvā”.

your mind, you have to keep your mind nirādhāram, without this attachment, without the *ādhāra*³⁶² of these discriminating perceptions.

* . . . tad dhyāna preraṇāt, by this way, nirādhāram manah krtvā, by this way, if you induce your mind to do this kind of perceiving, śamī, you will get the appeased state of the blissful state of God consciousness.

This is the sāmbhava [state].

362 Support or basis.

Nityo vibhuḥ nirādhāraḥ vyāpakah ca akhilādhipah. God is eternal, God is all-pervading, God is support-less, God is vyāpakah, everywhere found, akhilādhipah, He is the ruler of each and every object of this world (akhilādhipah).

Just try to find out these things that I am speaking. I am speaking: “God is eternal, God is all-pervading, God is support-less, God is everywhere, and God is the ruler of each and every object.” And these words, pratikṣaṇam dhyāyan, just meditate upon [them]. You meditate in continuity on these words: eternity, all-pervading-ness, support-less, everywhere (being everywhere), and the ruler of each and every object.

Śabdān pratikṣaṇam dhyāyan kṛtārtho'rthānurūptah, by concentrating on its meaning in this way (arthānurūpataḥ means, when you concentrate on these words in this way), kṛtārthaḥ, a sādhaka gains his desired object and becomes purposeful.

You know “purposeful”?

The purpose, for that purpose he had come here, [and] it is done. With what purpose he was sent here in this field of repeated births and deaths, it becomes purposeful.³⁶³

This is śāktopāya.

*atattvam indrajālābhām-

There is another technique. This is a technique of sāmbhava. And that technique, the previous one, was sāktopāya. This is sāmbhava [upāya]. When there is nothingness, it is sāmbhava—I told you once, when there is nothingness. When there is some support for the time being, this is sāktopāya. When there is support, all-around support, up to the end, this is āṇavopāya. So you can find out yourself what is sāmbhava, what is sākta, and what is āṇava, if you keep your alertness, awareness there.

Idam sarvam avasthitam, whatever you find in this world, in the one hundred and eighteen worlds, whatever you see, whatever you perceive in these one hundred and eighteen worlds, it is atattvam, there is nothing, in fact. It is just a joke. Atattvam indra jālābhām; indra jālābhām, it is just like the net of Indra (that is māyā; māyā means just [that] it has no substance in it). So, this way, you find [that] all these one hundred and eighteen worlds, the one hundred and eighteen worlds, it is a joke. There is no one hundred and eighteen worlds. In its place, there is only God consciousness always shining, and this God consciousness appears in the state of the one hundred and eighteen worlds.

Idam sarvam avasthitam atattvam, it has no basis to it. There is no substance in it. And indra jāla, it is just like indra jāla, the net of Indra. The net of Indra is just like māyā, [and] māyā is just a joke.

Kim tattvam indrajālasya, what do you mean by “indra

Manual for Self Realization

jāla"? Just find out what is indra jāla, just find out [that] these one hundred and eighteen worlds [are] just like indra jāla, and analyze that indra jāla, what is indra jāla. It will end in God consciousness if you meditate on it; it will make you achieve that blissful state of sāmbhava.

आत्मनो निर्विकारस्य

*ātmano nirvikārasya

 atah śūnyamidam jagat // 134 //*

“I know it.” “I don’t know it.” “I know it.” For instance, I tell you to read it and explain it to him. Can you do that? [If] you won’t do it, so it is not knowing, it is not knowing. I will tell Nilakanth Gurtoo to explain it. He will read and explain it. That is knowing. But, in fact, the soul, the nature of your Self, is nirvikāra, it is without changes, it has no changes (it has no vikṛti). So, actually there is neither knowledge nor lack of it. Here you find the lack of it [and] here you find knowledge, but it is all a joke. It is a kind of change in you. There is some change in you [when] you can’t understand. There is some change in him [when] he can understand. So this is change. Wherever there is change, it is ignorance; as long as there is change, say, change of perception. When there is one-pointed perception, that is reality. That is neither knowledge nor ignorance. That is what He says here.

Ātmano nirvikārasya, the Self, the real Self, is nirvikāra, it has no vikāra, these changes. Because actually jñāna and kriyā are unnatural. They are not natural. It is not your nature. Jñānāyattā bahir bhāvā, these (knowledge and action) are adjusted only in outward objectivity, the outward world of the cycle of objectivity (bahir bhāvā jñānāyattā, they are adjusted with knowledge and action).

ERNIE: This is not a technique then. This is just information.

SWAMIJI: No, it is a technique. It is a technique through the mind, through perception. You have to find out what is knowledge [and] what is action. For instance, you can't understand anything. Just try to see that not-understanding state [and] you will get entry in God consciousness. When you understand and just find out how I have understood, you will get entry in God consciousness. This is a sāmbhava technique.

Manual for Self Realization

ERNIE: Because there is no support.

SWAMIJI: There is no support because it is sūnya; it is neither knowledge nor action.

Atah sūnyam idam jagat, so [the yogi] finds the whole universe dissolved in sūnya, voidness.³⁶⁴

It is sāmbhava.

³⁶⁴ Mahā sūnyā, supreme voidness.

न मे बन्धो न मे मोक्षो

*na me bandho na me mokṣo jīvasyaitā vibhīṣikāḥ /³⁶⁵
pratibimbamidam buddher-jaleṣviva vivasvataḥ // 135 //*

“Na me bandho, I have no bondage.” “Na me mokṣo, I am not liberated.” “I am neither bound nor liberated.” This liberation and bondage is just attributed to the jīva, the individual soul, and to him, these two perceptions (being in bondage and being liberated) are vibhīṣikāḥ, they make him terrified—he grumbles, he jumps.

ERNIE: Even the knowledge of liberation?

SWAMIJI: Yes, liberation. “I am liberated. I am liberated!” What is that? It is also bondage. It is also ignorance. Knowledge and liberation is attributed to those who are individuals; and they get change in bondage and in liberation.

Pratibimbam idam buddher jaleṣviva vivasvataḥ. If you are bound in this cycle of the world, that is bondage, and [if] you are liberated from the cycle of the world, you are liberated. You should find out that this knowledge—being elevated and being liberated or being bound in this cycle of the world—this bondage and liberation is just a reflection in the limited intellect. It is a reflection in buddher (“buddher” is the limited intellectual element).

On the contrary, it is not a reflection in unlimited God consciousness. In the mirror of unlimited God consciousness, that reflection is something else—that is sāmbhava. When you find out [that] this whole cycle of one hundred and eighteen worlds is reflected in God consciousness, that is something else. But when you find, when you perceive, this reflection of this world in your intellect, in your limited intellectual state, this terrifies you. Because, e.g., you will ignore Samdu's son and you won't ignore Viresh. This is the reflection of that in that limited cycle of buddhi, in the intellect (that is buddhi).

And that is samvit. What? Unlimited. The unlimited cycle of jñāna is samvit, God consciousness. When you find out it is a reflection in God consciousness, then there is neither attachment nor detachment for Viresh. Then you are muktah, you become *jīvan muktah*³⁶⁶.

So, pratibimbam idam buddher, this makes you sad when you find out this reflected in your limited intellect, not in unlimited samvit (knowledge).

Jaleṣu iva vivasvataḥ, just as in various pools or various streams of water, you find the reflection of the sun in varieties (e.g., somewhere you'll find the sun being cut if the water is flowing; if the water is stationary, you will find it stationary—the reflection of the sun), in the same way, these things happen in the individual reflection, in the individual cycle of the intellect. When there is the individual cycle of the intellect, it is bondage, it will give you fear. It will give whom fear? Jīvasya. Jīvasya, who is an individual.

So, you have to find out [that], “Na me bandho na me mokṣo, neither I am bound nor I am liberated.”³⁶⁷

So this is sāktopāya.

366 Liberated while embodied.

Dhāraṇā 110

इन्द्रियद्वारकं सर्वं

*indriyadvārakam sarvam

 svasthaḥ svātmani vartate // 136 //*

This is the technique of śāktopāya ending in the śāmbhava [state].

Indriya dvārakam sarvam sukha duḥkhādi saṁgamam. When you find pleasure, you find pain. All these things happen in this world—pain, pleasure, sorrow, sadness, excitement, all those things. Indriya dvārakam, it is through your organs, it happens only through your organs. When your organs are functioning in a limited way, you find sometimes pleasure, sometime pain, sometime sorrow, sometime excitement, sometime ego, all this. Iti indriyāṇi, leave aside the functioning of your organs. Be above the organs, be above the state of the organs, [and then] svasthaḥ svātmani vartate, you'll remain in your real nature of God consciousness.

This is śāktopāya ending in śāmbhava [state]. This is also a technique of wisdom, not a technique of sādhanā [in activity].³⁶⁸ This is a sādhanā in wisdom, in understanding, a practice in wisdom.

Dhāraṇā 111

ज्ञानं प्रकाशकं लोके

*jñānam prakāśakam loke ātmā caiva prakāśakah / anayorapṛthagbhāvāt
 jñānī jñāne vibhāvyate // 137 //*³⁶⁹

Jñānam prakāśakam loke, in this world, knowledge is that thing which makes you understand things. Jñānam prakāśakam loke, knowledge is the only thing that makes you understand things in this world. Ātmā caiva prakāśakah, but that individual soul is also that element which makes you understand things. So, there are two things: one is knowledge and one is the holder of knowledge (ātmā is the knowledge-holder, where knowledge is resting).

Where is knowledge resting?

GURTOO: In ātmā.

SWAMIJI: In ātmā.

So, there are these two substances: one is knowledge and one is ātmā. Knowledge makes you understand things in this world and ātmā also makes you understand these things.

So, in this way (this is also a technique of wisdom, a technique of understanding), you have to understand what is knowledge and what is ātmā. Anayor aprthag bhāvāt, ātmā and knowledge are actually one. So, jñānī jñāne vibhāvyate, the ātmā you will find resting in knowledge and knowledge you will find resting in the ātmā—vice versa.

ERNIE: That's sāmbhavopāya?

³⁶⁹ Swamiji corrected this verse from that found in the original text, which reads: jñānam prakāśakam sarvam sarvenātma prakāśakah / ekamekasvabhāvatvāt jñānam jñeyam vibāvyate // (KSTS vol. 8, pp121-122).

Vijñāna Bhairava

SWAMIJI: No, because it is wisdom. You have to find out, so it is sāktopāya.

ERNIE: But last time it was wisdom.

SWAMIJI: No. [The last technique was the] wisdom of nothingness. [Here] it is the wisdom of something.

ERNIE: This is knowledge and ātmā.

SWAMIJI: Yes.

Dhāraṇā 112

मानसं चेतना शक्ति- mānasam cetanā śakti-ātmā ceti catuṣṭayam /

yadā priye parikṣīṇam
tadā tadbhairavam vapuh // 138 //

Mānasam (mind), cetanā, śakti, and ātmā—these four—iti catuṣṭayam, these are four substances. One is the mind. The mind is the organ of differentiated thoughts. The organ of the differentiated cycle of thoughts is the mind, when you have the differentiated cycle of thoughts. Cetanā is differentiated perception. Differentiated perception, cetanā, is a kind of intellect. Śakti is the energy of breath, breathing in and out. So, mind is the organ of differentiated thoughts, and the organ of differentiated perception [is cetanā], and the energy of breath [is śakti], and ātmā [is] the limited ego—iti catuṣṭayam, these are four.

These four have ruined the nature of a man. These four have actually destroyed and ruined everything that we have, the treasure we had. It is looted by these four substances. Which substances? Mind, differentiated perception (the intellect), and the energy of breath (when you breathe in and out, this is the ruining center), and ātmā (the limited ego).

Yadā priye parikṣīṇam, when You leave it aside, O dear Pārvatī (yadā [priye] parikṣīṇam), tadā tad bhairavam vapuh, then You will find the state of Bhairava shining all around. So, You have to leave these things—don't breathe!

In the technique of the āñava cycle, the purpose of breathing in and out is just to ignore the breathing in and out, because the time will come when you breathe in and out, breathe in and out, [and then] the breath will stop. It stops and you get entry in that central vein.

And differentiated perception: when you put that one-pointedness in differentiated perception and make your intellect feel that differentiated perception is a wrong perception—it is a wrong notion, it is a wrong notion, wrong notion, wrong notion—[then] there will be undifferentiated perception. And undifferentiated perception is attributed to Śiva. And differentiated thoughts will become undifferentiated thoughts, only one thought of mind. So, the mind will become mind-less, differentiated perception will become undifferentiated (they will reside in the undifferentiated state), the energy of breath becomes breath-less, and ātmā (ego) becomes unlimited Being. That is the reality of the śāmbhava [state].

BRUCE: This practice is śāmbhavopāya?

SWAMIJI: Śāmbhavopāya, yes.

End of 112 dhāraṇās.

The techniques are finished. In the Vijnāna Bhairava, all techniques, one hundred and twelve techniques, are finished.

These are upadeśas of the nistarāṅga state. And these techniques I have explained to You—one hundred techniques plus twelve more (dvādaśa abhyadhikam, plus twelve more)—so, one hundred and twelve techniques I have explained to You, [and] yat jñātvā, by the knowledge of these techniques, You will become filled with knowledge.

He and Bhairava are one. There is not the least difference between him and Lord Śiva.

Vācā karoti karmāṇi, he does things by speech, not by doing. He says [something] and that is done. Whatever he says, it is done (that is vācā karoti karmāṇi; karmāṇi vācā karoti, by speech he works).

In samādhi, you can experience this melāpa (the gathering) of siddhas and yoginīs. They gather before the sādhaka who is in samādhi; they gather before him and they bestow on him all the boons they can.

Kurvan api ca cestitam, although he is doing all his daily routine of life, he becomes absolutely jīvan mukta, liberated.

श्रीदेवी उवाच śrīdevī uvāca

Now, Devī puts a question before the Lord:

*idam yadi vapurdeva

³⁷¹ On the contrary, Swamiji said, “Devānām priyah, the one who is loved by the devās, that is death. [When the] devās call him back to their abode, his life is over.” Vijñāna Bhairava, additional audio (USF archives).

O Lord, if this is the svarūpa, [if] this is the essence of supreme energy, then where recitation and the recited one will stand? There will be no recitation of any deity and no deity who is to be recited, whose name is to be sung, whose name is to be remembered.

So, there is neither recitation . . . not japya, not japa. Japa means “recitation”, japya means recitation for whom . . .

GURTOO: . . . the recitation is done.

SWAMIJI: Then these two are gone. These two are not existing there, in this situation. If this is the real situation of supreme energy, [then] what have You put in these one hundred and twelve ways, one hundred and twelve processes?

Now, Bhairava explains to Devī:

 japaḥ so'tra svayam nādo mantrātmā janya īdrśah // 145 //*

One and a half ślokas to be kept together.

O Devī, this is the outward tradition of japa, dhyāna, pūjā, worship, all, etc. This is the outward tradition meant only for gross sādhakas (sthūlesu eva sādhakeṣu vartate; sthūla means “gross”), [for sādhakas] who have not that subtle strength of awareness, [of] maintaining that subtle strength of awareness. But [sādhakas] who have that strength of that subtlest awareness, for them, bhūyo bhūyah pare bhāve bhāvanā bhāvyate hi yā, contemplation which is done, bhūyo bhūyah, in continuity, pare bhāve, in that supreme state, yā bhāvanā bhāvyate, the contemplation which is done there, that is real japa, that is their real recitation. And this way You should know the embodiment of the universal is Bhairava Himself. [That is the real] mantra to be recited.

Bhāvanā means, contemplation, meditation, in continuity. Bhūyo bhūyah is not “again and again”. Bhūyo bhūyah means, just like in a chain-like way. “Again and again” [it is] not. When you put [contemplation] again and again, then there is a pause. There should not be a pause.

DEVOTEE: Chain-like.

SWAMIJI: Chain-like contemplation, just like the flame you see in movement of a candle, without any pause. In that way you should meditate. You should not meditate with pauses. If you meditate with pauses, everything is finished, nothing will be achieved.

That is real recitation where you get the flow of nāda yourself; nāda, automatic; automatic nāda flows out. Nāda means, the real I-consciousness.

And the japya (japya means, the deity for whom you are reciting) is mantrātmā, is the full[-ness] of universal “I”—mantrātmā (mantra means, universal “I”).

Now, He puts what is dhyāna:

ध्यानं हि निश्चला बुद्धि- र्निराकारा निराश्रया ।
न तु ध्यानं शरीराक्षि- मुखहस्तादिकल्पना ॥ १४६ ॥

dhyānam hi niścalā buddhir-nirākārā nirāśrayā / na tu dhyānam śarīrākṣi-mukhahastādikalpanā // 146 //

Meditation means when your intellectual awareness becomes one-pointed and attached to formlessness; not only formlessness but support-less-ness (nirāśrayā, without any support).

If you contemplate with support . . . for instance, to meditate with support is just to meditate between the two breaths, just to meditate between the two eyebrows, just to meditate between one point and another point. This is meditation with support. But you should meditate without any support. Just take hold of that—finished. Maintain awareness there. That is nirāśrayā.

That is dhyāna. That is the real meditation. That is real contemplation. Na tu dhyānam śarīrākṣi mukha hastādi kalpanā, that is not meditation where you meditate on the body of the deity, or aksi, the organs of the deity, or the *mukha*³⁷² and hands [of the deity], and so on. This is not dhyāna. Dhyāna is that when you are attached with niścalā buddhi, without form and without support.

And, what is pūjā, real worship?

पूजा नाम न पुष्पाद्यै- र्या मतिः क्रियते दृढा ।

372 Face.

निर्विकल्पे परे व्योम्नि सा पूजा ह्यादराल्लयः ॥ १४७ ॥

pūjā nāma na puśpādyairyā matih kriyate dṛḍhā / nirvikalpe pare vyomni sā pūjā hyādarāllayah // 147 //

Pūjā nāma na puśpādyair, worship is not done with flowers, with *ghee*³⁷³, with all those things that you gather from the market and the garden. That way you can't do the real pūjā, the real worship.

Real worship is that where your intellect is firmly established (kriyate dṛḍhā, where your intellect is firmly established) in the supreme voidness of thought-lessness. And where that intellect is firmly established in the thought-less and supreme voidness, the supreme voidness of cidākāśā (consciousness), that is real pūjā, hyādarāt layah, where one merges, one gets expired, with great respect, with great honor (hyādarāt layah, you are expired with honor). You expire your everything, you lose your everything, not with dishonor, not with hatred, but with honor. With honor, you expire in that supreme thought-less state of cidākāśā.

In these one hundred and twelve ways, anyone who is attached to one of these (atra ekatama yuktisthe), to him, any state, whatever is found to him, whatever is experienced by him, that state is filled with the Bhairava state. That is the real satisfaction you get from worship; sātra ṭṛptir, that is the real satisfaction of worshiping. And hence, this satisfaction is atyanta pūrṇatā, supreme fullness.

Mahā śūnyālaye, when in that agni, when in that fire, the fire which is situated or established in the great voidness, in the fire of the great voidness, in that fire, when all the five elements of your body, and all the sensual engagements of your body, and all your senses along with your mind, are offered in that fire, that is the real *homa*³⁷⁵, that is the real havan (yāga), where awareness is the spoon, [where] awareness is the spoon of the offering.

You mean, “spoon”? That “sruk”.

DEVOTEE: Sacrificial ladle.

SWAMIJI: Yes, ladle, sacrificial ladle.

³⁷⁴ While commenting upon this verse, Swamiji gave the reading of “sa homaḥ sruk ca cetanā” as an alternative. This reading is also found in KSTS vol. 8, p132, commentary, line 6.

³⁷⁵ Oblation or sacrifice.

यागोऽत्र परमेशानि तुष्टिरानन्दलक्षणा । yāgo'tra parameśāni tuṣṭirānandalakṣaṇā / 150a

And *yāga*³⁷⁶ is there [meant], O Devī, the satisfaction of being united with that final beatitude, final bliss.

Now, what is kṣetra, tīrtha? [It is said that] you must go to a *tīrtha*³⁷⁷ also for removing your sins.

When you get the full trance in the energies of Bhairava, when you enter in the wheel of energies of Bhairava (rudraśakti samāveśaḥ, when you enter in the śaktis of rudra, of Bhairava—that is “śakti samāveśa”), when you get śakti samāveśa, that is kṣetra, that is the real kṣetra (kṣetra means, the sacred spot where worship and all spiritual things are done; that is kṣetra, tīrtha).

There are two [syllables] in “kṣetra”: “kṣa” and “tra”. “Kṣa” means, to destroy; “tra” means, to protect. What is destroyed and what is protected? All sins are destroyed (kṣapanāt sarva pāpānām). Where all sins are destroyed and where you get all-round protection from evils, that is the real kṣetra.

³⁷⁶ Oblation or sacrifice.

³⁷⁷ Place of pilgrimage.

Hence, this kṣetra is the supreme bhāvanā, the supreme state of bhāvanā (bhāvanā means, when you sentence your mind with awareness to one point).

अन्यथा तस्य तत्त्वस्य का पूजा कश्च तृप्यति ॥ १५१ ॥

anyathā tasya tattvasya kā pūjā kaśca tr̥pyati // 151b //

Otherwise, if this was not the real kṣetra, how can that supreme element—I would not call that an “element”—[how that] supreme state of Lord Śiva would be adored or would get satisfaction?

Adoration, satisfaction, only exists in this trance of rudra śakti, when you enter in the energies of Lord Śiva. When you enter in a tīrtha (e.g., in Khirbhavani, in Jvala), you enter only in duality and nothing is achieved there.³⁷⁸

Now, just see what is bath, bathing:

स्वतन्त्रानन्दचिन्मात्र-

*svatantrānandacinmātra-

First, you must feel and experience that your own Self—which is not your individual self but it is universal because of its freedom, because of its felicity, blissfulness, and because of its consciousness—is filled with freedom, filled with bliss, filled with consciousness. And the essence of these three is your Self. And that Self is the universal Self, that is not the individual self. And, that universal Self is found everywhere (svātmā hi sarvataḥ vartate). And in that svarūpa, when you enter in that svarūpa, and when you make yourself enter in that supreme svarūpa, when you make your individual being enter in that universal Self, that is really a “bath”, that is really “bathing”, that is really “taking a bath”.

When you go to the bathroom and put the geyser on and take a bath, that is not a bath. That is only washing your material body.

Take your garden where flowers are there. You cut these flowers just to offer them at the feet of your Lord; or you get *dhūpa*³⁷⁹, *dīpa*³⁸⁰, and *guggul*³⁸¹ from the market and offer it before the feet of the Lord. But actually, these things are the Lord themselves. That flower is the Lord, that [incense] is the Lord (that agarbatti is the Lord), everything is the Lord. And the adorer is the Lord. So the Lord is everywhere.

Kva pūjanam, where adoration will take place? Adoration is not possible. How can you adore the Lord if you are yourself the Lord? How can you offer the Lord anything, if anything, whatever you offer, is the Lord Himself? So there is no way of worshiping [because] He is the worshiper Himself.

379 Incense.

380 Light.

381 Guggul is a type of fragrant resin traditionally used in worship.

*vrajetprāṇo viśejjīva
icchayā kuṭilākṛtih /*

Now, the essence of all these one hundred and twelve ways,
He is putting here:

ब्रजेत्वाणो विशेष्यीव
इच्छया कुटिलाकृतिः ।
दीर्घात्मा सा महादेवी परक्षेत्रं परापरा ॥ १५४ ॥

*vrajetprāṇo viśejjīva
icchayā kuṭilākṛtih /
dīrghātmā sā mahādevī parakṣetram parāparā // 154 //*

When your breath flows out (vrajet prāṇo, when your breath flows out), [and] viśeṣ jīvah, when your ingoing, in-taking breath, enters in, and kuṭilākṛtih, in the way of crooked movement (because from the heart, [the breath] moves in the crooked way to this ether³⁸², [and] from here again, [the breath] moves in a crooked way, it does not move in a straight line—that is “kuṭilākṛtih”—now what you have to do? He says—*dīrghātmā icchayā, icchayā dīrghātmā, . . .

There are three powers in the movement of breath [that are] functioning. One power is that of breath (that is called prāṇa śaktih). Another power is that of the Lord (that is called prabhu śaktih). One power is that of the Self (that is called ātmā śaktih). Prāṇa śaktih, prabhu śaktih, and ātmā śaktih.

Prāṇa śaktih is that energy when you are asleep, when you are unaware of where you are. You go to bed and still this moving of breath takes place unconsciously. That is the energy of prāṇa, that is called “prāṇa śaktih”.

³⁸² Here ether refers to bāhya dvādaśānta, the starting point of breath outside (bāhya) the body, twelve finger spaces from the center of the eyebrows.

Ātmā śaktih is when you control the breath. You stop it, you stop it for some time. This energy is called “ātmā śaktih”.

And when, by the grace of the Lord, this prāṇa enters in your central vein (madhyā nādi), that is functioned by prabhu śaktih. That is the energy of the Lord.

Among these three energies, you have to function . . . not prāṇa śakti. Prabhu śaktih is out of the question; prabhu śakti is in the hands of Lord Śiva, so that thing is absolutely impossible [to function]. Prāṇa śakti is also there . . .

DEVOTEE: Automatic?

SWAMIJI: . . . automatic; but in an automatic way, you have not to breathe in and out.

* . . . He says “icchayā”, by your ātmā śaktih, by your ātmā śaktih you have to breathe in and by ātmā śaktih you have to breathe out. You have not to breathe out and in as it goes on [automatically]. Dīrghātmā, the moving of the breath must occupy more time (that is the meaning of “dīrghātmā”). That is the supreme *kṣetra*³⁸³, and not [only] the supreme kṣetra—more supreme than supreme!

Parāparā means, more supreme than supreme.

अस्यामनुचरन् तिष्ठन्

*asyāmanucaran tisthan

And this is the real adhvara (adhvara means, yāga, havan, sacrificial fire). In this supreme sacrificial fire, the one who is attached in continuity in the recitation of the breath, giving it more span of time, not span of space (duration of time, not space), . . .*

The space [of breath] will be shortened. The more time, the less space; the less time, the more space. When you are breathing violently, it will occupy more space—it will go up to this point [Swamiji demonstrates]. When you are breathing slowly, it will go to this place. So, more time, less space; less time, more space. You have to put . . .

DEVOTEE: More time, less space.

SWAMIJI: . . . less space. Thank you. You have understood it.

Do you know what is “married”? Ātmasāt, he has become one with that energy. And the one who is married this way, he enters and he achieves the state of supreme Bhairava.

By [breathing] out, he utters ‘sa’; by [breathing] in, he utters ‘ha’. In the same way, he recites the mantra of ‘hamsa’, i.e., ‘so’ham’, ‘so’ham’, ‘so’ham’. This ajapa gāyatrī is always existing for him, day and night.

Twenty-one thousand and six hundred times, this [automatic] recitation is done, in twenty-four hours.³⁸⁵

Japo devyāḥ samuddiṣṭah, and this recitation of the supreme energy is available to everybody. Prāṇasyānte sudurlabhaḥ, but, when it is being recited the way I have taught to You, O Devī (I mean, to give it more time and less space), then it is sudurlabhaḥ, it is very *durlabha*³⁸⁶ (prāṇasyānte sudurlabhaḥ), i.e., this japa.

DEVOTEE: What is “prāṇasyānte”?

SWAMIJI: Prāṇasyānte means, when the breath is Awakening, 3.27). The same verse has been included by Jaideva Singh in his edition of the Siva Sūtras, which was prepared under the guidance of Swamiji. A slightly different version of the last line of this verse is also found in the KSTS, vol. 9. In light of Swamiji’s unique interpretation of verses 154-156, the inclusion of this verse is important to complete the flow of meaning.

385 Among all humans.

386 ‘Rare’ or ‘difficult to obtain’.

disconnected with one tuti. Prāṇasyānte means “on the tuti of prāṇa.”

We have classified the space of [one normal] breath in sixteen tutis. One tuti is two finger spaces and one quarter. And, in these thirty-six finger spaces, there are sixteen tutis. Prāṇasyānte means, when one tuti is abolished. When [one] tuti is shortened, when [one] tuti is lessened, only fifteen tutis are there, then that japa is durlabha. So, when you breathe in a lengthy way, then it is durlabha japa. Otherwise, everybody recites for twenty-four hours and nothing has happened, nothing is happening. But, when you breathe in fifteen tutis only, [when] you give it more duration of time and less space, then it will be real japa. And afterwards, what you have to do? You have to lessen again another tuti. Go on with fourteen tutis, and afterwards, only on thirteen tutis. Lessen the span of space. That is real japa. And then you will see, after one or two weeks, you will be born anew, you will get some substantial progress. That is real japa.³⁸⁷ Otherwise, everybody is breathing in and out, day and night—like asses, dogs, bears, beasts.

SWAMIJI: Total surrender. That is "nirvikalpamatīḥ". When you have come to any master and given to him everything, then there is no questioning, then there is complete surrender.

Jai Guru Dev!

APPENDIX

The mantra “sauh”

To begin with, you must understand that in the field of mantras, in the field of sacred words, the mantra that digests these thirty-six elements in its body is “sauh”. It is the supreme mantra. It is not a creative mantra, it is a destructive mantra. Why? Because it winds up the complete cycle of the thirty-six elements. This mantra shows you the trick of how to wind up . . . these thirty-six elements and, in the end, rest in the element of Śiva. So it is not expansion, it is winding up. And this winding up is not actually destruction, it is contraction, just as a giant tree is contracted in a seed.

In this way, the entire universe consisting of thirty-six elements resides in the mantra “sauh”. This mantra is called “the heart*mantra*” because it is the essence of all mantras. How is this so? In the same way that a clay bowl or a clay plate are only produced by changing earthen clay, the essence of this bowl or plate continues to be clay. Or, just as ice and vapor, which are produced by watery substances, are actually water.

So, in the realm of the supreme mantra “sauh”, if you go into the depth of the thirty-one elements from prthivī (earth) to māyā, you will find that existence (sat) is the reality of these elements. All these elements are all existing externally.

After this, you must ascertain that, residing in the second part of the mantra “sauh” is the letter ‘au’, which is superior to ‘sa’, and which contains the elements śuddhavidyā, iśvara, and sadāśiva. These three elements are the essence of knowledge (jñāna) and action (kriyā). They are the embodiment of śakti.

Greater than the letter ‘au’, and residing in the third part of the mantra “sauh”, is the letter ‘ah’, a creative energy which is twofold. This twofold creative energy is comprised of a higher creative energy and a lower creative energy. The higher creative energy is of Śiva and the lower creative energy is of Śakti. This two-part creative energy, above and below, are the two points of the Sanskrit visarga (:).

The first part of the mantra “sauḥ”, ‘sa’, is in the cycle of nara, the second part of the mantra “sauḥ”, ‘au’, is in the cycle of śakti, and the third part of the mantra “sauḥ”, ‘ah’, combining both of the creative energies, is in the cycle of Śiva. So, the Trika system of Kashmir Shaivism is the combination of nara, Śakti, and Śiva.

In this way, this seed mantra “sauḥ” is the supreme mantra. It is above all other mantras including the blessed mantras “aham”, “om”, and “so’ham”. This supreme mantra, which is both universal (viśvamaya) and transcendent (viśvottirṇa), is the essence of Trika.

Krama mudrā

In the Krama Sūtra, it says that a yogi first enters krama mudrā in the introverted state. Then, owing to the intensity of krama mudrā, he emerges from the introverted state and enters into the outer, external cycle of consciousness.

First, from outside, he goes inside, and then from inside he goes outside. This movement of going in and coming out and then again going in and coming out takes place by the force of the absorption (samāveśa) of krama mudrā, not by the effort of the yogi.

Where the yogi travels from outside to inside and then from inside to outside, just to come to the understanding that outside and inside are not different aspects but one, that is krama mudrā.

There is one more thing for you to understand. The one who experiences this state of the absorption (samāveśa) of krama mudrā experiences this whole universe melting into nothingness in the great sky of God Consciousness (cidgagana). Although he opens his eyes and perceives that everything is melting into that state, yet, when he strives to come out of that state, it becomes very difficult for him. As it is very difficult for us to enter into that state, in the same way, it is very difficult for that yogi to come out of it.

But why does he want to come out? He wants to come out for the fun of it, but he cannot come out. The intensity of God

APPENDIX

Consciousness does not let him come out. Yet he struggles to come out. Then for a moment he rises up, and after that he again, filled with intoxication, rests inside. Then, again, he strives to come out. He continues trying to come out and he gets out briefly but then again he is united inside. This happens again and again and this called "krama mudrā".

Self Realization in Kashmir Shaivism, 5.114.

This is an automatic process. It does not come by functioning it. You can't function it . . . Krama mudrā is no mudrā; krama mudrā is automatic . . . [Krama mudrā is] just to observe that state of samādhi in [the external world] also. When it is not so clearly found outside, go again in samādhi and pull it out with that samādhi and see in external world again. And again and again, again and again, you have to [experience] this way of krama mudrā until [you gain] entry in jagadānanda. When jagadānanda takes place, then everything is divine, no [more] krama mudrā.

Tantrāloka 3.263-264, (USF archives).

When you are established in the process of krama mudrā, then you experience that ecstasy in action. When you eat, you are in that bliss. When you talk, you are in that bliss. When you walk, you are in that bliss. Whatever you do, you remain in that Universal state. This is the state of "jīvanmukti", liberated in life. This state is experienced, not by ordinary yogins, but only by great yogins. This is the real state of cit kundalini.

In the actual rise of cit kundalini, you will only get a glimpse of it and then come out. The full rise of cit kundalini takes place only by the grace of your master and by the grace of your own strength of awareness. The experience of establishing the full rise of cit kundalini through the process of krama mudrā can take place in one day, one life, or one hundred lifetimes.

Kashmir Shaivism—The Secret Supreme, 17.120.

The establishment of krama mudrā is called jagadānanda, which means "universal bliss". This is the seventh and last state of turya. In this state, the experience of the universal transcendental Being is never lost and the whole of the universe is experienced as one with your own transcendental I-consciousness.

Kashmir Shaivism—The Secret Supreme, 16.114.

Pramiti, pramāṭr, pramāṇa, prameya bhava

Pramiti bhava is the supreme subjective state, pramāṭr bhava is the pure subjective state, pramāṇa bhava is the cognitive state, and prameya bhava is the objective state.

There is difference between pramāṭr bhāva and pramiti bhāva. Pramāṭri bhāva is that state of consciousness where objective perception is attached. When that state of pramāṭr bhāva is attached with objective perception, that is pure state of pramāṭr bhāva. When it moves to the state where there is no objective perception, there is no touch of objective perception, it is beyond objective perception, that is pramiti bhāva.

Tantrāloka 4.124, commentary, USF archive.

[Pramiti bhāva is an] objectless-subjective state. It is residing in only pure subjective consciousness. It has nothing to do with the object. When there is the objective state also attached to the subjective state, that is not pramiti bhāva, that is pramāṭr bhāva. And when that objective state is connected with the cognitive state, that is pramāṇa bhāva. When that objective state is completely a pure objective state, that is prameya bhāva. And pramiti bhāva is complete subjective consciousness without the slightest touch and trace of this object. In the long run, everything resides in pramiti bhāva; pramiti bhāva is the life of all the three. This is pure consciousness. . . . And that pramiti bhāva is absolutely one with svātantrya śakti . . . it is one with Lord Śiva.

Tantrāloka 11.72-73a, (USF archive).

In fact, this pramiti bhāva is the real source of understanding anything. Whatever you see, it must touch the state of pramiti bhāva, otherwise you won't understand it. For instance, you see [an object]. You'll only know [that object] when this sensation of [that object already] resides in pramiti bhāva, in that super state of subjective consciousness. And the super state of subjective consciousness is not differentiated. From that undifferentiated point of pramiti bhāva, the differentiated flow of pramāṭr bhāva and pramāṇa bhāva flow out.

Tantrāloka 11.62, (USF archive).

It is nirvikalpa, it is a thoughtless state. And in that thoughtless state, it [i.e., all knowledge] must reside, otherwise it is not known. It will be unknown for . . . eternity.

Ibid. 11.68-69.

For instance, when you are [giving a lecture while] reading your book, your consciousness is with an object. When you are giving a lecture without a book, without any support, your consciousness is without an object, it flows out . . . this is the state of pramiti bhāva.

Kuṇḍalinī

Kuṇḍalinī śakti is the revealing and the concealing energy of Lord Śiva. On the one hand, it is the revealing energy and on the other hand, it is the concealing energy. It reveals and it conceals. This kundalinī śakti is not different from the existence of Lord Śiva, just as the energy of light and the energy of heat are not separate from the fire itself. Kuṇḍalinī, therefore, in the true sense, is the existence of Śiva. It is the life and glory of Śiva. It is Śiva Himself.

In our Trika Shaivism, kundalinī, which is that internal serpent power existing in the shape of a coil, is divided in three ways.

- a) Parā kuṇḍalinī–kuṇḍalinī functioned by Lord Śiva.
- b) Cit kuṇḍalinī–kuṇḍalinī functioned in consciousness.
- c) Prāṇa kuṇḍalinī–kuṇḍalinī functioned in breath.

The supreme kuṇḍalinī is called parā kuṇḍalinī. This kuṇḍalinī is not known or experienced by yogins. It is so vast and universal that the body cannot exist in its presence. It is only experienced at the time of death. It is the heart of Siva. This whole universe is created by parā kundalinī, exists in parā kundalinī, gets its life from parā kundalinī, and is consumed in parā kundalinī. When this kundalinī creates the universe, Siva conceals His real nature and is thrown into the universe. When the universe is created, He becomes the universe. There is no Siva left which is separate from the universe.* This is His creative energy. And when kundalinī destroys the universe, Siva's nature is revealed. So, the creative energy for the universe is the destructive energy for Siva, i.e., it is the revealing energy for the universe and the concealing energy for Lord Siva. And the destructive energy for the universe is the creative energy for Siva, i.e., it is the concealing energy for the universe and the revealing energy for Lord Siva.

Parā kundalinī is the supreme visarga of Siva. As you know from studying the theory of mātrkācakra, visarga (:) comprises two points. These points are said to be Siva and Sakti. In the real sense, however, these points are not Siva and Sakti, they are the revealing point and the concealing point.

Cit kundalinī is experienced by yogins by means of concentrating on the center between any two breaths, thoughts, or actions; between the destruction and creation of any two things. The happiness and bliss that you experience here [in cit kundalinī] cannot be described. It is ecstasy beyond ecstasy, just like sexual bliss. In comparing sexual happiness with the happiness experienced in cit kundalinī, however, you will find that sexual happiness is one millionth part of the happiness experienced in cit kundalinī. In addition, simultaneously with the experience of ecstasy, you also realize the reality of Self. You recognize your real nature and you know, "I am only bliss (ānanda) and consciousness (cit)."¹ In the actual rise of cit kundalinī, you will only get a glimpse of it and then come out. The full rise of cit kundalinī takes place only by the grace of your master and by the grace of your own strength of awareness.

Prāna kundalinī also comes about through the process of centering. Prāna kundalinī, however, is only experienced by those yogins who, along with their attachment to spirituality, also have attachments to worldly pleasures. If your desire and attachment is only for spirituality, then cit kundalinī takes place. Whether you experience the rise of kundalinī as cit kundalinī or as prāṇa kundalinī depends on your attachments. If you have attachment for spirituality and also for worldly pleasures, then the rise of kundalinī takes place in the form of prāṇa kundalinī. If you do not have attachments for worldly pleasures and are only attached to spirituality, then the rise of kundalinī takes place in the form of cit kundalinī. There is nothing you can do to determine how the rise of kundalinī will take place. It rises in its own way, depending on your attachments.

Kashmir Shaivism—The Secret Supreme, 17.117-121.

The Seven Perceivers

The first state is called sakala. The sakala state is that state where perception takes place in the objective world and not in the subjective world. In other words, I would call this state the state of prameya, the state of the object of perception. It is realized by its pramāṭr, the observer who resides in this state, in the field of objectivity and its world.

The second state is called pralayākala. This is the state of negation, where the whole world is negated. And the one who resides in this world of negation is called pralayākala pramāṭr, the observer of the pralayākala state. And this pramāṭr, this perceiver, does not experience the state of this voidness because it is actually the state of unawareness. This state would be observed at the time of mūrcchā, when one becomes comatose, which is like unnatural and heavy sleep, like deep sleep devoid of dreams. And the observer, pralayākala pramāṭr, resides in that void of unawareness.

These two states function in the state of individuality, not in the state of your real nature. These are states of worldly people, not spiritual aspirants.

The third state is called vijñānākala pramāṭr. This state is experienced by those who are on the path of yoga. Here, the yogi experiences awareness at times but this awareness is not active awareness, and at other times his awareness is active but he is not aware of that active awareness. This vijñānākala pramāṭr, therefore, takes place in two ways: sometimes it is full of action (svātantrya) without awareness and sometimes it is full of awareness without action.

APPENDIX

The fourth state of the observer is called suddhavidyā and its observer is called mantra pramātr. In this state, the observer is always aware with svātantrya.

The next state is called iśvara and its observer is called man-treśvara pramātr. The word mantreśvara means “the one who has sovereignty on mantra (aham-I)”. This state is like that of mantra pramātr, full of consciousness, full of bliss, full of will, full of knowledge, and full of action, however, this is a more stable state. The aspirant finds more stability here. The mantra for this state is “idam-aham”. The meaning of this mantra is that the aspirant feels that this whole universe is not false. On the contrary, he feels that this whole universe is the expansion of his own nature. In the state of mantra pramātr, he felt that the universe was false, that he was the [only] truth of this reality. Now he unites the state of the universe with the state of his own consciousness. This is actually the unification of jīva, the individual, with Śiva, the universal.

The next state is the state of sadāśiva. The observer of this state is called mantra maheśvara. In this state, the observer finds himself to be absolutely one with the universal transcendental Being. He experiences this state to be more valid, more solid, and deserving of confidence. Once he enters into this state, there is no question at all of falling from it. This is the established state of his Self, his own Real nature. The mantra of this state is “aham-idam”. The meaning of this mantra is, “I am this universe”. Here, he finds his Self in the universe, while in the previous state of mantreśvara, he found the universe in his Self. This is the difference.

The seventh and last state is the state of Śiva and the observer of this state is no other than Śiva Himself. In the other six, the state is one thing and the observer is something else. In this final state, the state is Śiva and the observer is also Śiva. There is nothing outside Śiva. The mantra in this state is “aham”, universal-I. This-ness is gone, melted in His I-ness. This state is completely filled with consciousness, bliss, will, knowledge, and action.

APPENDIX

Unmīlanā samādhi and nimīlanā samādhi

Nimīlanā samādhi is internal subjective samādhi. In your moving through these six states of turya, this samādhi becomes ever more firm. With the occurrence of krama mudrā, nimīlanā samādhi is transformed into unmīlanā samādhi, which then becomes predominant. This is that state of extroverted samādhi, where you experience the state of samādhi at the same time you are experiencing the objective world. And when unmīlanā samādhi becomes fixed and permanent, this is the state of jagadānanda. The establishment of krama mudrā is called jagadānanda, which means universal bliss. This is the seventh and last state of turya. In this state, the experience of universal transcendental Being is never lost and the whole of the universe is experienced as one with your own transcendental I-consciousness.”

Kashmir Shaivism-The Secret Supreme, 16.114-115.

Seven States of Ānanda (turya)

[Paraphrase from Kashmir Shaivism-The Secret Supreme, 16.107.]

The practical theory of the seven states of turya, also known as the seven states of ānanda (bliss), was taught to the great Śaivite philosopher Abhinavagupta by his master Śambhu-nātha.

The first state of turya is called nijānanda which means “the bliss of your own Self.” When you concentrate in continuity with great reverence, with love, affection, and devotion, then your breath becomes very fine and subtle. Automatically, you breathe very slowly. At that moment, you experience giddiness. It is a kind of intoxicating mood. And when the giddiness becomes firm and stable, this is the second state of turya known as nirānanda which means “devoid of limited bliss.” Here the aspirant falls asleep at once and enters that gap or junction which is known to be the start of turya. At that moment the aspirant hears hideous sound and sees furious forms. For example, he may experience that the whole house has collapsed upon him, or he may experience that there is a fire burning outside and this fire will burn everything including himself. He may actually think that he is going to die, but these thoughts are wrong thoughts and he must ignore them. When the aspirant desires to move from individuality to universality, all of these experiences occur because individuality has to be shaken off.

If you continue with tolerance, breathing and internally reciting your mantra according to the instructions of your master, then these terrible sounds and forms vanish and pulling and pushing in your breathing passage begins to occur and you feel as if you are choking, that you cannot breathe. At that point you must insert more love and affection for your practice, and then after some time, this choking sensation will pass.

This state of hideous sounds and forms, followed by the sensation that you are choking and that your breathing is about to stop, is called parānanda, which means "the ānanda (bliss) of breathing." Here, your breathing becomes full of bliss and joy, even though you are experiencing terrible forms and sounds. If you maintain your practice continuously with intense devotion, your breath stops at the center of what we call lambikā sthāna, which in English is known as the "soft palate." This lambikā sthāna is found on the right side near the pit of the throat. Here the aspirant experiences that his breath is neither moving out nor coming in. He feels that his breath is moving round and round, that it is rotating at one point. This state is called brahmānanda, which means, "that bliss which is all-pervading."

Here, as his breathing has stopped, the yogi must put his mind on his mantra and only his mantra with great devotion to Lord Śiva. If he continues this practice with great devotion, then a myriad of changes take place on his face and the apprehension of death arises in the mind of this yogi. He feels now that he is really dying. He is not afraid, he is apprehensive. This is the kind of death which takes place when individuality dies and universality is born. It is not a physical death, it is a mental death. The only thing the yogi must do here is shed tears of devotion and pray for the experience of universal "I." After a few moments, when the whirling state of breath becomes very fast, moving ever more quickly, you must stop your breath at once. You must not be afraid. At this point, it is in your hand to stop it or to let it go.

When you stop your breathing, then what happens next is, the gate of the central vein (madhyanādī) opens at once and your breath is “sipped” down and you actually hear the sound of sipping. Here, your breath reaches down to that place called mūlādhāra, which is near the rectum. This state of turya is called mahānanda which means, “the great bliss.”

After mahānanda, no effort is required by the aspirant. From this point on, everything is automatic. There is however one thing that the aspirant should observe and be cautious about, and that is that he should not think that “everything is now automatic.” The more he thinks that everything will be automatic, the more surely he will remain at the state of mahānanda. This is why masters never tell what will take place after mahānanda.

From the Śaiva point of view, from mahānanda onwards, you must adopt bhramavega which means “the unknowing force.” Here you have to put your force of devotion, without knowing what is to happen next. You cannot use your mantra because when your breath is gone, your mind is also gone, as the mind has become transformed into the formation of consciousness (cit). Here, breathing takes the form of force (vega). It is this vega which pierces and penetrates mūlādhāra cakra so that you pass through it.

When the penetration of mūlādhāra cakra is complete, then this force rises and becomes full of bliss, full of ecstasy, and full of consciousness. It is divine. You feel what you are actually. This is the rising of cit kūḍalini, which rises from mūlādhāra cakra to that place at the top of the skull known as brahmaṇḍra. It occupies the whole channel and is just like the blooming of a flower. This state, which is the sixth state of turya, is called cidānanda, which means, “the bliss of consciousness.”

This force then presses the passage of the skull (brahmaṇḍra), piercing the skull to move from the body out into the universe. This takes place automatically, it is not to be “done.” And when this brahmaṇḍra is pierced, then at once you begin to breathe out. You breathe out once for only a second, exhaling from the nostrils. After exhaling, everything is over and you are again in cidānanda and you again experience and feel the joy of rising, which was already present. This lasts only for a moment and then you breathe out again. When you breathe out, your eyes are open and for a moment you feel that you are outside. You experience the objective world, but in a peculiar way. Then once again, your breathing is finished and your eyes are closed and you feel that you are inside. Then again your eyes are open for a moment, then they close for a moment, and then they again open for a moment. This is the state of krama mudrā, where transcendental "I" consciousness is beginning to be experienced as one with the experience of the objective world.

The establishment of krama mudrā is called jagadānanda, which means "universal bliss." This is the seventh and last state of turya. In this state, the experience of Universal Transcendental Being is never lost and the whole of the universe is experienced as one with your own Transcendental "I" Consciousness.

All of the states of turya from nijānanda to cidānanda comprise the various phases of nimīlanā samādhi. Nimīlanā samādhi is internal subjective samādhi. In your moving through these six states of turya, this samādhi becomes ever more firm. With the occurrence of krama mudrā, nimīlanā samādhi is transformed into unmīlanā samādhi, which then becomes predominant. This is that state of extraverted samādhi, where you experience the state of samādhi at the same time you are experiencing the objective world. And when unmīlanā samādhi becomes fixed and permanent, this is the state of jagadānanda.

In terms of the process of the seven states of the perceiver, the sakala pramātr, or the waking state, is the first state of turya, which is the state of nijānanda. Vijñānākala is the state of nirānanda. Suddhavidyā is the state of parānanda. Īśvara is the state of brahmānanda. Sadāśiva is the state of mahānanda. Śiva is the state of cidānanda. And Paramaśiva is the state of jagadānanda.

In respect of the above experiences, Swamiji once wrote the following poem.

There is a point twixt sleep and waking
Where thou shalt be alert without shaking.
Enter into the new world where forms so hideous pass;
They are passing—endure, do not be taken by the dross.
Then the pulls and the pushes about the throttle,

APPENDIX

All those shalt thou tolerate.
Close all ingress and egress,
Yawnings there may be;
Shed tears—crave—implore, but thou will not prostrate.
A thrill passes—and that goes down to the bottom;
It riseth, may it bloom forth, that is Bliss.
Blessed Being, Blessed Being,
O greetings be to Thee.

For the full explanation of the seven states of ānanda (turya) see Kashmir Shaivism—The Secret Supreme, 16.107.

In the fifth āhnika of Tantrāloka (5.43-45) Abhinavagupta explains God consciousness and the states of turya in relation to the five subtle prāṇas: prāṇana, apānana, samānana, udānana and vyānana.

Nijānanda is no state. It is the beginning point of putting awareness on subjective consciousness, pramātri bhāva. The first state is nirānanda, i.e. when you go inside, inside, inside, inside. But this is not the point to be maintained. You have to rise from that (nirānanda). And the rising point is from parānanda.

When this prāṇana takes place, that is the state of spanda. When awareness resides in śūnyatā (voidness), then the rise of prāṇana takes place and then he enters in another world. And that is the world of apānana vṛtti.³⁹¹

Just close your eyes tightly, just close your eyes tightly—tightly, squeeze it—and you will hear that sound from inside. Don't you hear . . . ? In sexual intercourse also that sound is there. That is the sound of apānana that gives you joy, happiness and entire bliss.

Apānana vṛtti is the supreme ānanda (bliss); that is the next state of yoga called parānanda, the absolute state of ³⁹¹ Vṛtti means the 'established state'. Prāṇana vṛtti is that kind of state of breath which is not moving, i.e., breath without movement. For instance, prāṇana vṛtti means the established state of prāṇa, and apānana vṛtti means the established state of apāna, etc.

APPENDIX

happiness. There, you feel that you have drowned in the sound of that bliss. In this state of apāna vṛtti you feel that breathing in and out is gathered in one point. Not only breath. All differentiated perceptions of the organic field and objective field are also gathered and balled in one point. It is why he sees that this whole universe has fallen down and is shattered to pieces; this whole world, all mountains have fallen down on him, in that apānana vṛtti. And it takes place on the right side here just below tālu (the soft palate). And when you establish your awareness in apāna vṛtti then those fearful forms, fearful apparitions, and fearful impressions that take place in your awareness, they subside.

Now, when you find that everything is completely balled inside peacefully, and there is no breathing in and out, and all the objective and cognitive world is balled inside in one pointedness without fear, then what happens next?

That yogī is absolutely filled with the state of joy, with the state of bliss, and that is the state of samānana vṛtti which is the state of brahmānanda.

Then that fourth state of udānana vṛtti takes place, where the yogī finds this ball is melted in that sound of bliss.

“Shss!”

This very long sound is produced there and this ball is melted inside. Finished. There is no breath; this breathing process is finished. This is the state of mahānanda. And that sound that is not only, “Shssssssssssssssssss,” sound; sexual joy appears there with that sound.

When you are fully established there, and have settled your awareness fully there, then, in that supreme tejas, supreme light, he gets dissolved, he gets melted. He melts for good.

In the process of rising through these states, prāna vṛtti travels to prānana vṛtti, apāna vṛtti travels to apānana vṛtti, samāna vṛtti travels to samānana vṛtti, udāna vṛtti travels to udānana vṛtti, and vyāna vṛtti has to travel to vyānana vṛtti.

And when vyāna vṛtti travels to vyānana vṛtti, this is the fifth state of ānanda called cidānanda. This is the state of mahāvyāpti, the great pervasion, where you pervade this whole universe. But, you don't pervade this whole universe only. You pervade the negation of this whole universe also. When the state of cidānanda takes place nothing is excluded, nothing remains outside, cidānanda includes everything in its being.

Now the sixth state of ānanda is called jagadānanda. This is that universal state which shines in the whole cosmos, and which is strengthened and nourished by that supreme nectar of God consciousness, which is filled with knowledge which is beyond knowledge. Here there is no entry, there is no acceptance of remaining in samādhi or remaining in awareness and so on. That is the state of jagadānanda.

Abhinavagupta concludes by saying, “this state of jagadānanda was explained to me by my great master Śambhu-nātha.”

The fifth āhnika of Tantrāloka also explains God consciousness and the states of turya in relation to the five activities of Lord Śiva (creation, sr̥ṣṭi; protection, stithi; destruction, samhāra; concealing, tirodhāna; and revealing, anugraha-grace).

Creation of God consciousness is in the state of nirānanda. Protecting God consciousness is in the state of parānanda. Destroying God consciousness (it is not destroying God consciousness, it is destroying differentiated God consciousness), is brahmānanda. Concealing of God consciousness is mahānanda, and revealing God consciousness is cidānanda. And jagadānanda is *anākhyā*³⁹², where God consciousness is not felt; it becomes your nature.

Nirvikalpa

In reality, everything, whatever exists, it is in the nirvikalpa state [where] you can't define anything . . . you can define only in the vikalpa state, in the cycle of vikalpa, e.g., when you say, “This is a specks cover”. But it is not a specks cover in the real sense, in the state of God consciousness. It is just nirvikalpa. You can't say what it is, but it is! Samketādi smaranam, when you understand, “This is mine”, “O, this was in my house and this is mine”, this memory takes place in the ³⁹² The literal meaning of anākhyā is unspeakable. Here anākhyā is being used in the sense of “the absolute void which is known in the state of the unknown. It is unknown and at the same time it is known.” Tantrāloka 11.86, (USF archives).

vikalpa state, not the nirvikalpa state. And that vikalpa state cannot exist without anubhavam, the nirvikalpa state.

Nirvikalpa is the cause of all vikalpas; the undifferentiated state is the cause of all vikalpas. . . . It is not something foreign [to vikalpas]. It is their life. It is the life of all vikalpas.

Parātrīśikā Vivarana (USF archives).

Kañcukas* (lit., coverings)

Directly, universal consciousness can never travel to individual consciousness unless universal consciousness is absolutely disconnected. Māyā is the disconnecting element from God consciousness. Kalā (limited action) is the connecting element to that dead being in some limited thing. So he does something by kalā. When he does something, then individuality shines. Otherwise, direct from God consciousness, individual consciousness would never come in existence.

Tantrāloka 9.175-6, USF archive.

Kalā, vidyā, rāga, kāla, and niyati are the limiting connecting rods [between the individual and God].

Swami Lakhmanjoo, Tantrāloka 9.257, USF archive.

For a further explanation of the sat kañcukas (the six coverings), see Kashmir Shaivism—The Secret Supreme, 1.7-8.

[The five pure states of Lord Śiva] take the formation of sat kañcuka in the individual. Because, whatever is manifested in the universe, it is not manifested [as] other than Śiva. The same thing has come out in manifestation; the same thing what existed in Paramaśiva, that same thing is manifested outside also.”

Tantrāloka 6.41, USF archive.

Kalā, vidyā, rāga, kāla, and niyati, these five elements are just offsprings of, offshoots of, māyā. Kalā means, “the capacity of doing something”, vidyā means “the capacity of knowing something”, rāga means “the capacity of some attachment (not universal attachment)”, niyati means “the capacity of the limitation of space”, Kāla means “the limitation of time”.

APPENDIX

Tantrāloka 9.41, USF archive.

These [kañcukas] are pertaining to the individual being. It is why [the grammarian] Pāṇini has also accepted these, the representatives of these [kañcukas as the letters] ya, ra, la, va; these letters as antahstha. . . . And all these [subtle] energies are found, not outside the individual being, but inside the individual being, inside the thought of the individual being, inside the perception of the individual being. So they are named, nomi-nated, by the grammarian [Pāṇini], as “antahstha”. Antahstha means “that which is residing inside of the individual being”. . . . We say that it is not antahstha, it is dhāraṇā [lit., the bearing or support] because it gives life to individual being. The individual being is created, the individual being is glorified, by these five elements (“five” means the five coverings); the glory of his own place, not the glory of Śiva; glorified with his own . . . that limited sphere.

Shiva Sutra Vimarśinī, USF archive.

In [Śaiva] tantras, they are nominated as “dhāraṇā”. These five elements (kalā, vidyā, rāga, kāla, niyati, with māyā) are called “dhāraṇā” because they give life to the individual being; the individual being lives in these five elements. Without these five elements, there was no life to individual being, there was only the sphere of Lord Śiva. If these five elements would not be there, there was no question of the individual being to exist. The individual being lives only on the basis of these five elements. So they are nominated as dhāraṇā. Dhāraṇā means, that which gives you life to exist.

The teachings of Swami Lakshmanjoo are a response to the urgent need of our time: the transformation of consciousness and the evolution of a more enlightened humanity.

The Universal Shaiva Fellowship and its educational branch, The Lakshmanjoo Academy, a fully accredited non-profit organization, was established under Swamiji's direct inspiration, for the purpose of realizing Swamiji's vision of making Kashmir Shaivism available to the whole world. It was Swamiji's wish that his teachings be made available without the restriction of caste, creed or color. The Universal Shaiva Fellowship and the Lakshmanjoo Academy, along with the Kashmir Shaiva Institute (Ishwar Ashram Trust), India, have preserved Swamiji's original teachings and are progressively making these teachings available in book, audio and video formats.

This knowledge is extremely valuable and uplifting for all of humankind. It offers humanity a clear and certain vision in a time of uncertainty. It shows us the way home and gives us the means for its attainment.

THE MANUAL FOR SELF REALIZATION

112 MEDITATIONS OF THE VIJNANA BHAIKAVA TANTRA

THE LAKSHMANJOO ACADEMY BOOK SERIES

Includes free downloadable audio of original lectures (details inside)

In the Vijñāna Bhairava, Bhairavī (the Divine Mother) asks Lord Bhairava (God) to clear Her doubts about the essence of the path towards Self-realization. Compelled by Her sincerity and the simple yet penetrating insight of Her question, Bhairava explicitly reveals 112 contemplative techniques for entering into the state of God consciousness. In this multimedia study set, Swami Lakshmanjoo, an accomplished master of the Kashmir Shaiva school, not only translates the Sanskrit text into English but also lays bare the essential tricks involved in each of the contemplative techniques.

"...Lakshmanjoo shares with me this ancient teaching from the Vijñāna Bhairava.... Shiva first chanted it to his consort Devi in a language of love we have yet to learn. It presents 112 ways to open the invisible door of consciousness. I see Lakshmanjoo gives his life to its practice. Paul Reps—Zen Flesh, Zen Bones

"I express my sincerest gratitude to Swami Lakshmanjoo who unsealed my eyes, and kindly taught this book to me word by word." Jaideva Singh—Vijñānabhairava
